DEDICATION

To you in whose heart we have found enshrined qualities of manhood that have given us a serene vision of life and the beauty of a symmetrical soul; whose loving sympathy has guided our faltering footsteps to refined thinking pointing clearly the goal ahead, we dedicate this book as a token of our love.

J. E. Carruth, A. B., A. M.

FOREWORD

It's just a golden memory book
Filled with faces bright
Wherein you'll love someday to look
With eager keen delight.
'Tis then the loving thoughts will start
Fresh as virgin snow
To warm the corners of your heart
With a tender cheerful glow.
Oh, may you ever keep in mind
The ideals of T. C.
And in this book forever find
Delightful company.

President Guy Herbert Wells, A.B., M.A.

Guy Herbert Wells was born at Temple, Georgia, September 26, 1892, the son of James Charles and Susan Blanche (McPherson) Wells. He entered Mercer University in the fall of 1911 and received his A.B. Degree the spring of 1915. He received his Master's Degree from Columbia in 1925. Since that time he has been doing graduate work at Peabody College for Teachers. June 15, 1916, he married Ruby May Hammond. They have two children, Guy Herbert and Margaret Anne. He was Superintendent of Schools at Lumpkin, Georgia, from 1915-18, Superintendent of Schools at Richland from 1918-22, Superintendent of Schools at Eastman from 1922-26. In 1926 he was elected President of Georgia Normal School, now South Georgia Teachers College. During this time he organized the State School Superintendents' Association and has served as Director of Georgia P.-T. A. He is also a Phi Delta Kappa man and a contributor to Georgia Educational Journal.

Zack S. Henderson was born January 24, 1902, at Gillsville, Georgia, the son of Hollis and Oneida Suddath Henderson. He attended grammar school at Gillsville but received his high school diploma from Maysville High School the spring of 1918. The fall of 1918 he entered Piedmont College getting his B.S. Degree June, 1922. That summer he attended summer school at the University of Chicago. The fall and winter of 1922-23 he taught Math in Piedmont Demonstration School. During the school year of 1923-24 he was coach and science teacher at Plant City High School. For the following two years he was principal and coach at Eastman High School. In the spring of 1927 he was elected Dean of Georgia Normal School, now South Georgia Teachers College. July 2, 1927, he was married to Marjorie Clark of Eastman, Georgia. A little son was born to them August 9, 1930. During the summer of 1924-26-27-28, he attended summer school at Columbia receiving his Master's Degree October, 1928. Since that time he has been Dean of South Georgia Teachers College.

Who's Who in the Faculty

Most Popular—

Most Handsome—

Best Liked Instructor—

MR. HENDERSON:—"He Is a Man."

There's something fine about the man
  To win the student's heart
There's something good in every plan
  He tries or takes a part.

Best All Round—

MISS CLAY:

She's what so many wish to be
But fail to ever really see,
Success is not a golden crown
But in being "the best all round."

Ladies' Man—

MR. HANNER:

He's a dapper fellow we'll all admit and his manner of address
Could not but charm a lady's heart and yet we must confess
That withal he's a prince of fellows and one who's sure to win
A place in the hearts of all he meets whether women or with men.

Best Informed—

MR. CARRUTH:

His store of knowledge stretches wide
And yet it is not all from books supplied,
For he's learned a lot from the school of life
And knows how to cope with its stress and strife.

Most Attractive—

Most Talented—

MISS BRANNEN:

There's something in her manner or it may be in her tact
Or it may be in her way of dress that always does attract.
And those who hear her speaking French or hear her sing or play
Are charmed and stop to wonder at what talent she displays.

Best Sport—

MISS TRUSSELL:

Never too tired to share one's woe, nor too tired to share one's joy
The grayest sky nor the bleakest day never do her annoy.
She has the same good cheer for all she meets and whatever you do or say
You'll find her ever and always a good sport in every way.

Most Athletic—

MISS SIMPSON:

If it's a race or game of ball she's there to take a part,
She's agile in each and game and loves them from her heart.
Yet above this athlete's love of play therein her being shines
A love of playing clean and square and fairness on all lines.

History of South Georgia Teachers College

THE name of the institution at the time of its creation was the First District A. & M. School. The bill establishing it, in common with ten other like schools of the State, was introduced by Governor Joseph M. Terrell as an administration measure.

The School was opened to the public February 1, 1908, and has served the State of Georgia as an elementary school, a high school, a Normal College, and a Teachers College. At first no appropriation was made for maintenance, but it was provided that all moneys derived from fertilizer and oil inspection fees were to be used for the maintenance of the A. & M. School system. In 1911 an appropriation bill was passed placing the School on an annual maintenance appropriation.

The School was originally located within the Congressional District and in the town and county making the best offer for its establishment. The people of Statesboro and Bulloch County gave 300 acres of land, installed and furnished lights and water free for ten years and gave $25,000 in cash to secure the location of the School in Statesboro.

From 1918 until August 19, 1924, the School continued to operate as a District A. & M. School. During the greater part of this time the School maintained a special course for teachers. Seventy per cent. of the girls who graduated from the School became teachers. During the four years immediately preceding August 18, 1924, there was considerable agitation throughout Southeast Georgia for the location of a State Normal College in this section of the State. Members of the State Department of Education and of the University of Georgia agreed that there was a vital need for such an institution in Southeast Georgia. The trustees of the institution were convinced that the School could best serve the interests of the people of this section of the State by operating as a Normal School than by operating as a District A. & M. School. Accordingly a bill was passed August 18, 1924, converting the First District A. & M. School into the Georgia Normal School. In the summer of 1929 the name was changed by the Legislature to South Georgia Teachers College. Previous to this time the State had given the School the right to confer degrees. In 1931 the College was given a Class B rating as a four year Teachers College.

The entire plant is now available for the training of teachers and in its present state of development will accommodate about 300 teachers. The trustees have employed a college faculty and established an approved Teachers College curriculum and the School is now training teachers for the public schools of Georgia.

Diamonds

Diamonds are only chunks of coal
That stuck to their jobs, you see.
If they'd petered out, as most of us do,
Where would the diamond be?

It isn't the fact of making a start,
It's the sticking that counts, I'll say;
It's the fellow that knows not the meaning of fail,
But hammers and hammers away.

Whenever you think you've come to the end.
And you're beaten as bad as can be,
Remember the diamonds are chunks of coal,
That stuck to their jobs, you see.

Ravings of a Student of Literature at S. G. T. C.

Hail to thee, blithe spirit!
Out of the night that covers me
Who is the happy warrior?
Wasn't it good for a boy to see?

On this green bank, by this soft stream
Quoth the raven "Nevermore,"
When Earth's last picture is painted
There is a rapture on the lonely shore.

The Owl and the Pussy Cat went to sea
Between the dark and the daylight
The gingham dog and the calico cat,
Fall from the wings of the night.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Sailing o'er life's solemn main
Who never to himself hath said,
"Blessings on thee, little man?"

If I Could Gather Gladness

If I could gather all the gladness
That surrounds me every day
I'd keep it all to banish sadness
From the world of men away.
If I could gather all the sadness
That surrounds me every day,
I'd keep it all, for gladness
Is the thing I'd give away.

ATHLETICS

Athletics

The real root of athletics is to be found in the play and manipulation instincts of man. They are as old as the race. Few, however, until recent years realized the influence that play could have upon the life of the child and adult in fitting him for his place as a unit of society. In the artificial environment of man today the play instinct is very likely to be allowed to decay through lack of knowledge of the place it holds in the life of the race. Someone has said that education to be lasting must act as a fostering agent to the original instincts.

America is one of the youngest countries in the world and yet one of the oldest in recognizing the value of play. It is said that we seek to make play out of every phase of life. And, indeed, this would be no bad ideal. To be able to attack problems with the vim, the determination, the force and clear-sightedness of the athlete who plays for the love of the game alone would insure success for those who could make the grade and quick elimination for those who could not.

Athletics have become a part of our nation, a part of our schools, and a part of our colleges. In athletics the coach or teacher has at his command one of the greatest single character building forces in the world. Although learning may not be transferred, attitudes may and a person's attitude toward life and his work might be changed completely by his athletic activities.

There seems to be no aspect of college life more deeply rooted than interest in athletics. Athletic teams have become the pivot around which college loyalty and college spirit is built. However, the pendulum seems to have swung to the extreme. It has reached the point where winning the game seems to be the primary purpose and commercialism threatens to eat the heart out of the whole system.

The authorities at South Georgia Teachers College recognize this fact. They have not allowed the meaning of athletics to be misconstrued. They have as the purpose of athletics, the using of the psychological background of nature by which to promote the physical, moral, ethical, and social life of the individual. Partly through this influence they hope to send into the world well-rounded men and women, teachers of whom any school might be proud.

Football Squad

Mathis, tackle, 165 lbs.; Rountree, fullback, 165 lbs.; Tillery, halfback, 150 lbs.; Fields (Captain), end, 180 lbs.; Henderson, end, 175 lbs.; Kettles, center, 180 lbs.; B. L. "Crook" Smith, head coach.

Second Row

P. Thompson, guard, 175 lbs.; Thrift, guard, 145 lbs.; Hagin, quarter, 150 lbs.; Jones, fullback, 167 lbs.; Collins, quarter, 145 lbs.

Third Row

J. Thompson, end, 175 lbs.; Dewberry, tackle, 220 lbs.; Brannen, tackle, 220 lbs.; Donaldson, end, 160 lbs.; Olliff, guard, 174 lbs.

Back Row

Blue Tide Varsity

Fields, captain, proved to be a stone wall on Blue Tide's wing. Many a heavy back has run around the wing of the Blue Tide only to be met by J. D. And the man stopped there, too.

Dewberry is a clean, hard-fighting tackle, plays an aggressive game, and is always dependable when a hole through the line is needed. He should be at his best next year.

Full of fight and never knowing when he is licked expresses Thrift's work on the football team. He is one of the hardest fighting guards that has ever represented the Blue Tide.

Upon Kettles fell the job of passing the ball back as well as backing up the line. A hard fighter and an excellent lineman who has served the Tide through two seasons.

Thompson, a fierce, hard-hitting guard that struck terror in the hearts of his opponents. This is Paul's last year and he will be missed when the 1931 season rolls around.

Brannen's specialty is getting them behind the line before they can get started. This giant stopped them, large or small, and proved himself a great asset to the team.

With every game John gets better. Look out for him next fall. He is one of the fastest men on the team and a deadly pass snagger. Once he gets loose with that apple it's too bad.

T. C. is noted for her big, little men. Hagin made good and held the position well in the games he played. Light, but scrappy, he hit them hard on both defense and offense.

Little, fast, and elusive, that's James Tillery. They say, "Here he comes and there he goes." Once given a foot start he cannot be caught. James has served his team well for four years.

Jones is equally proficient at quarter and fullback. Cool, steady under fire, an elusive ball toter with plenty of ability tells the story of Ed's football for this season. He could always be depended upon when we needed a few yards.

When triple-threat men are mentioned, one thinks of Beasely. He is fast, shifty, and a heady half. He is a deadly passer and is a good kicker, as well as dependable for gains in a pinch.

Resume of Blue Tide Football Season

The Blue Tide began the season minus several stars of the previous year. Due to this handicap the 1930 season was not as successful as the previous one when the Blue Tide was stopped by only one foe. Gone was the brilliant backfield that romped over all opposition scoring almost at will against the Tide's most formidable foes.

To offset the weaknesses of this year's backfield through constant effort and efficient coaching, Coach "Crook" Smith was able to present one of the strongest forward walls ever seen in this section. With Kettles at center, Thompson and Thrift at guards, Dewberry and Brannen at tackles, and Fields and Donaldson at ends, teams found it hard to get those precious few yards through this hefty bunch of warriors that might have meant glory for them.

After Rountree broke his leg in the Newberry game there was very little material left from which a good set of backs could be picked. Jones and Beasely proved to be the outstanding backs that performed well in every game, though the names of Tillery, Thompson, Hagin, and Collins should not be overlooked for it was these lads that ran the smooth interference which made it possible for the long gains.

The outstanding performance of the season was the game put up against Newberry in Savannah which ended in a 0-0 tie. In this game the Tide gained four to one against the big red clad Klan from South Carolina and first downs came in the same proportion. To climax the hard luck which seemed to be our bosom companion that day the Teachers fumbled on the one yard line in the last minute of play.

Piedmont College from North Georgia came to Statesboro with a great record but fell before the mighty onslaught of the determined Blue Tide 7 to 6. In this game the Tide lost a star tackle, Sidney Boswell, for the season through a serious knee injury. "Jay" Bird, that redheaded demon who galloped through all opposition he encountered, was also lost due to a dislocated knee.

Thanksgiving found the Tide at its zenith, it being homecoming day and first annual Thanksgiving class at home for six years, they rolled back the strong Brewton Parker aggregation 26 to 0. This game presented a do or die spirit among the performers and nothing short of the impossible could have held them in check.

The boys thought this game closed the season but to help a humanitarian cause journeyed to Savannah on New Year's Day and played a strong team of ex-college stars and with only two days' practice held them to a 0 to 0 score. The proceeds of this game was given over to the cause of the unemployed.

When the '31 season rolls around there will be a few familiar faces missing. Among these will be "Boo" Thompson, "Bud" Collins, James Tillery, "Dean" Henderson, Erle

Love, and Sidney Boswell, who will have received their degrees and will be out bucking the line of life.

Much praise and appreciation is due Coach B. L. "Crook" Smith for his untiring efforts in working and moulding the material into the strong aggregations he has had in his two years at the college. Not only is he capable in football, but basket-ball and baseball as well. He commands the respect of every individual and is a sportsman of the highest type.

High Lights of Boys' Basket-Ball

With one regular and two substitutes returning from last year, Coach "Crook" Smith has developed one of the most formidable quintets ever seen at ole T. C.

After a late start the Teachers opened up by defeating the Speed Boys from Savannah 22-14. This served as a stimulant to the basketeers and the following week they split a two game series with Norman Junior College.

The team continued its good work throughout the season. The only real setbacks of the season came at the hands of the Jewish Educational Alliance in Savannah, one of the best amateur teams in the United States and the Atwater Kent outfit from Jacksonville who have won the Florida State Championship for four years.

After returning from the trip down the coast to Brunswick and Jacksonville the Teachers found that Cochran claimed the Conference Championship. This naturally called for a series of games with them. The flashy quintet from S. G. T. C. journeyed to Cochran only to meet defeat by a score of 32-13. However, with one day's practice they encountered the Middle Georgians again on the home court and nosed out a 26-25 victory over them. A rubber game could not be arranged for the playoff. As the REFLECTOR goes to press the Teachers hold the joint championship with Cochran for 1931.

There were several outstanding men on this memorable squad. With Renfroe, the one-armed wonder at center, Fields and Olliff at forwards and Jones and Thompson at guards they presented a scoring machine of no mean ability. While these men performed well, Red Sanders, George Hagin, Ray Bell, Bobbie Sasser, and Clyde Greenway showed at odd times something worthy of note. Every man filled his position well and the team work they displayed at all times was a large factor in their success.

Intermural Athletics

The girls had intermural athletics throughout the year. The sport of the fall season was Soccer. A lively spirit of play was manifested throughout the practice games and tournament. The Sub-Freshmen and Freshmen were the first of the interclass games. Their score was 2-1 in favor of the Sub-Freshmen. In the second game the Sub-Freshmen did not score, the Sophomores winning 3-0. The next game was between the Sub-Freshmen and the Junior-Senior teams. The score eliminated the Sub-Freshmen by a margin of two points. A tie score of 1-1 was made in the Freshmen-Junior-Senior games. The Freshmen were eliminated by a 1-2 score in the Freshmen-Sophomore game. The final interclass game of the tournament was between the Sophomore and Junior-Senior teams, which brought the Championship score of 4-1 to the Sophomores, who have won this title for two successive years. The success of the Sophomores gave them the privilege of accepting the challenge of the women of the faculty. This was the game of the season. There was keen playing displayed by both sides but the strong Sophomore team emerged the victor winning by a 9-4 score.

The interclass tournaments for basket-ball and volley-ball are to be held in the Winter term and baseball, tennis, and track will be held in the Spring term.

Mr. Turner (addressing the school, began): "As I gaze about me, I see before me a great many bright, shining faces." Just then ninety powder puffs came out.

Mrs. Fullilove: "What beautiful scallops you have on your pies, Ellen!"

Ellen: "Deed honey, dat ain't no trouble. Ah just uses mah false teeth."

Retrospect

WE have completed our work with the REFLECTOR. We hope you will like it. We have tried to portray life as lived here on the campus in such a way as to give the stranger, who should see this book, a definite idea of our college activities. If you should find things to criticize, and you will, remember we have done our best with our knowledge and the materials with which we had to work.

We hope future workers may find some help in this book. We hope they may be able to put out a book infinitely better, recognizing our mistakes and profiting by them.

The Editor would like to thank the members of the staff for their co-operation, without which the book would have been impossible.

We would also like to thank Wrigley Engraving Company and Foote & Davies Company for their suggestions and help at all times.
