Faculty News

Dr. Charles Hodges, assistant professor in Instructional Technology, and M.Ed. student S. Forrest Cowan, published "Preservice teachers' views of instructor presence in online courses," in the Journal of Digital Learning in Teacher Education. The paper was recognized as the "Best Professional Paper" from the 2012 meeting of the Eastern Educational Research Association.

COE Alumni: Tell Us Your "First Day" Stories

COE alumni teach, lead and serve throughout Georgia and across the nation. Whether you've been in your position for many years or just a few, you probably remember something about your first day at work as an educator. Share your story with new COE alums as they embark on their careers by posting on COE's facebook page. You can also send your story to Southern Educator at collegeofed@georgiasouthern.edu. We'll include as many of your stories as we can in upcoming issues.

Alumna Earns Top Principal in State

Second year in a row COE alums earn honor

Dr. Debbie Rodriguez, COE alumna and principal of Taylors Creek Elementary School in Liberty County, GA, has been named the 2012 National Distinguished Principal for the state by the National Association of Elementary School Principals and the U.S. Department of Education. Rodriguez joins COE alumnus Dr. Eddie Pollard who received the honor in 2011. Pollard, also a member of COE's Board of Advisors, is principal of Tyrone Elementary School in Fayette County.

Rodriguez has served as principal of Taylors Creek for 15 years. Under her leadership, the school was selected as a "model" school by the Georgia Partnership of Excellence in Education. Taylors Creek has also been named as a Distinguished Title 1 School for the past nine years. Rodriguez earned her undergraduate and graduate degrees at Georgia Southern and her doctorate from the University of Sarasota.

Dr. Eric Landers, assistant professor in Teaching and Learning, published "Including students with severe disabilities in school-wide positive behavior interventions and supports: perceptions of state trainers," in Research and Practice for Persons with Severe Disabilities.

Dr. Robert Lake, assistant professor in Curriculum, Foundations and Reading, published a book Vygotsky on Education Primer, Peter Lang International Academic Publishers. Curriculum, Foundations and Reading Graduate student Dana McCullough published "Wear Red October 4th to Honor Henrietta Lacks Day" on the Random House webpage, <http://rhimagazine.com>.

Dr. Christine Draper, assistant professor, and Dr. Michelle Reidel, associate professor, both in Teaching and Learning, are conducting a workshop for the National Civil War Institute in Charleston, SC, on "Understanding the Civil War Through Graphic Novels."

Dr. Martha Schriver, professor in Teaching and Learning, is participating in a Teacher Quality workshop, the St. Catherine's Project, working with scientists on turtle nests and developing lessons plans from the experience. Dr. Schriver is traveling to Costa Rica for a National Science Teachers Association grant.

Clinical Supervisors Attend CAMP

More than 125 classroom teachers from COE partner schools representing six school systems honed their skills and shared experiences as clinical supervisors for COE teacher candidates in a day-long "camp" at Nessmith Lane Continuing Education Conference Center last week. CAMP is an acronym for "coaching, assessing, mentoring and preparing," four critical components of the job of a clinical supervisor.

According to Pat Parsons, Director of Field Experiences and Partnerships, classroom teachers who serve as clinical supervisors are a special group of educators. "Our clinical supervisors tend to be the exemplary teachers and the most dedicated," Parsons said. "They want to help mentor our teacher candidates to become the best and most effective teachers they can be during those first critical years in the classroom." COE SOARs This Summer

Summer is one of the busiest times of the year for COE's Student Success Center (SSC) as eager new students fill Georgia Southern's campus for SOAR - Southern's Orientation, Advisement and Registration. SSC staff will help approximately 225 new COE freshmen and transfer students this summer get ready for their first day of classes August 20.

Educators Learn Positive Behavior Framework at COE Conference

COE's second annual Southeast Conference on Positive Behavior Interventions and Support had more than a 50 percent increase in the number of participants, drawing educators nationally and internationally. "The feedback we received pertaining to the conference's practicality and usefulness to everyday professionals was tremendous," said Dr. Eric Landers, assistant professor in Teaching and Learning and the conference director. "The goal of the conference is to ensure that every educator leaves every session with materials to take back to their classrooms," he continued, what he terms the "Conference to Classroom Connection." The conference was held in Savannah, GA, June 4 and 5. Click here for more information on the PBIS conference.
