

Newsroom

March 27, 2017

Follow this and additional works at: <http://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/newsroom>

Part of the Higher Education Commons

Recommended Citation

"Newsroom" (2017). Newsroom. 466.

<http://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/newsroom/466>

This article is brought to you for free and open access by the Office of Marketing and Communications at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Newsroom by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

MHA Symposium to take place April 12: Dr. Daniel Salinas to present keynote address

MARCH 27, 2017

Students in the masters of healthcare administration (MHA) program have teamed up with Associate Professor and MHA Program Director James Stephens, D.H.A., to host the fourth annual MHA Symposium on April 12. The Symposium is free and open to the public.

Each year, the group brings in a nationally-known and respected speaker in the healthcare field to present to an audience of about 200 people. This year, Dr. Daniel Salinas, M.D., chief medical officer for Children's Healthcare of Atlanta, will share his lecture, "Healthcare value is in the eye of the beholder."

"The two important issues in healthcare and public health right now are patient safety and value reimbursement," said Stephens. "I would encourage all students and faculty to come out to listen to Dr. Salinas. His lecture topic is of great interest in the country right now, and he's a top expert in the country. Gaining knowledge first-hand from a leading expert in this area is a unique opportunity to take advantage of."

Dr. Salinas is a well-known pediatrician and physician leader in the state. He has served as regional vice president and national medical director for WellPoint Inc., as well as vice president and medical director for Blue Cross Blue Shield of Georgia.

The MHA Symposium is funded in part by East Georgia Regional Medical Hospital and the Jiann-Ping Hsu College of Public Health. It will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Nessmith-Lane Conference Center, room 1915.

Georgia Southern University, a public Carnegie Doctoral/Research University founded in 1906, offers more than 125 degree programs serving 20,673 students. Through eight colleges, the University offers bachelor's, master's and doctoral degree programs built on more than a century of academic achievement. Georgia Southern is recognized for its student-centered and hands-on approach to education. Visit GeorgiaSouthern.edu.

Georgia Southern alumni recognized for outstanding achievements

MARCH 27, 2017

(front, left to right) Dawn Cartee, Louvenia Rainge, Chris Rustin, Nick Wiley, Mike Davis, Russell McMurry (back, left to right) Robert Mikell, Teresa MacCartney, Major General Leslie C. Smith, Mychael Knight

The Association presented its 2017 biennial Alumni Awards at a campus luncheon held this past Saturday, March 25.

The following alumni were recognized for outstanding achievements in their respective fields:

Teresa A. MacCartney, Alumna of the Year

Teresa MacCartney has served as chief financial officer for the State of Georgia and director of the Governor's Office of Planning and Budget (OPB) since her appointment by Gov. Nathan Deal in 2012. She began her career in the Governor's Office of Planning and Budget (OPB), later becoming the senior policy advisor for budget and governmental affairs at the Georgia Student Finance Commission. In 2005, MacCartney returned to OPB as director of the Education Division and was promoted to deputy director in 2010. MacCartney serves as secretary of the Board of Directors of the OneGeorgia Authority, vice chair of the Georgia Higher Education Facilities Authority Board and is on the Board of Directors of the Georgia Lottery Corporation and Georgia Higher Education Savings Plan. She is a member of the Georgia State Road and Tollway Authority Board, State Depository Board, Employee Benefits Plan Council, National Association of State Budget Officers' Executive Committee and Georgia ABLE Program Corporation Board. She also sits on the Board of Trustees of the Leadership Georgia Foundation. She earned a Bachelor of Science degree in mathematics and a Master of Public Administration degree from Georgia Southern.

Mike R. Davis, Alumnus of the Year in Professional Achievement

Mike Davis serves as executive director and CEO of the U.S. Golfing Association (USGA) – the seventh in the organization's 121-year history. Davis is the senior staff member of the USGA, responsible for managing all aspect of the Association's day-to-day operations, including core functions, essential programs and human and financial resources. Working closely with the USGA president and Executive Committee, Davis provides overall strategic guidance, serves as spokesperson with internal stakeholders and external constituencies, and represents the USGA's interests within the golf community, courses and clubs, state and regional golf associations, the media, and national and international golf associations. He is also a board member of the International Golf Federation, the World Golf Foundation, Official World Golf Rankings, the World Golf Hall of Fame, and the Captains Club. Davis graduated from Georgia Southern University in 1988 with a bachelor's degree in business administration, and was a member of the University's golf team and Sigma Chi Fraternity.

Major General Leslie C. Smith, College of Business Administration Alumni Award

Maj. Gen. Leslie C. Smith serves as the Deputy Inspector General, Office of the Secretary of the Army. Smith's previous assignment was the Commanding General of the United States Army Maneuver Support Center of Excellence and Fort Leonard Wood. Smith received his commission from Georgia Southern University in 1983 as a field artillery officer. In 1985, he graduated from the University with a bachelor's degree in accounting as a distinguished military graduate and entered the Army as a chemical officer. His awards and decorations include the Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal, Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Army Commendation Medal and Joint Service Achievement Medal. Smith also holds a Master of Science degree in administration from Central Michigan University and a Master of Arts degree in national security strategy from the National Defense University.

Mychael Knight, College of Health and Human Sciences Alumni Award

Since his successful run on the Bravo hit show "Project Runway," Mychael Knight has been excelling in the fashion industry. In addition to being sought after for his design aesthetic and fashion styling for celebrities such as Khloe Kardashian, Jagged Edge, 112, Jennifer Hudson, Tarji P. Henson and Toni Braxton, his designs have been displayed in a variety of print publications including The Atlantan, Elle, Essence, Marie Claire, Ebony, Black Enterprise YRB and The New York Times. His design and creative direction has also been sought from corporations including Starbucks, Louis Glick, Nike and Coca-Cola. Knight earned a Bachelor of Science degree in fashion merchandising and apparel design in 2001.

Robert (Bob) Mikell, Esq., College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences Alumni Award

Bob Mikell is an attorney with Brown Rountree PC in Statesboro. Mikell serves as second-vice chair of the Statesboro-Bulloch Chamber of Commerce, on the Board of Directors of the Georgia Southern University Alumni Association, and president of Habitat for Humanity of Bulloch County. He is a past chair of the Downtown Statesboro Development Authority and past president of the Bulloch County Bar Association. From its inception, he has led the Statesboro YMCA Steering Committee which has successfully chartered the Statesboro Branch of the YMCA of Coastal Georgia. He is a member of the South Main Revitalization Committee working to improve the Blue Mile corridor between Downtown Statesboro and the campus of Georgia Southern. Mikell was one of three presenters in Durham, North Carolina, in the America's Best Communities competition, in which Statesboro advanced to the top eight in the competition with a chance to win $3 million for the Blue Mile. A summa cum laude graduate of Georgia Southern, Bob Mikell completed the Bell Honors Program majoring in history with a minor in Spanish. He later graduated cum laude from the University of Georgia School of Law.

Chris Rustin, Dr.P.H., Jiann-Ping Hsu College of Public Health Alumni Award

Chris Rustin is a professor of public health at Georgia Southern who previously served as the director of the Environmental Health Section for the Georgia Department of Public Health. He was responsible for supervision and statewide oversight of food safety, land use public swimming pool, spa and recreational water park safety, tattoo safety, tourist and lodging safety, chemical hazards, indoor tanning safety, healthy homes/lead poisoning prevention, entomology and surveillance, and environmental health emergency preparedness programs. Rustin managed and oversaw a staff of 430 Environmental Health professionals at the state, district and county Health Department level. In addition to a Bachelor of Science degree in biology, he holds a master's degree in safety and environmental compliance, and a Doctorate of Public Health with an emphasis in community health.

Dawn H. Cartee, Ph.D., College of Education Alumni Award

After serving nine years as president of Ogeechee Technical College, Dawn Cartee became director of the University of Georgia Center for Continuing Education and Hotel in 2016. She oversees a 300,000 square-foot facility that includes meeting rooms, auditoriums, offices, two restaurants, banquet services and a 200-room hotel. The Center hosts more than 1,700 events each year, drawing about 95,000 participants. She manages a staff of 400 and an annual budget of $23 million. She was named Business Leader of the Year by the Statesboro-Bulloch Chamber of Commerce in 2011 and a Deen Day Smith Service to Mankind winner in 2010. She is a previous College of Education Alumna of the Year. Cartee earned her doctorate in educational administration, an education specialist degree, a master's degree in education and bachelor's degree in business administration, all from Georgia Southern.

Russell R. McMurry, PE, Allen E. Paulson College of Engineering and Information Technology Alumni Award

Russell McMurry serves as commissioner of the Georgia Department of Transportation, a $3.6 billion, 4,000-employee state agency responsible for planning, designing, constructing, maintaining and operating Georgia's state-owned transportation system. Georgia has the 10th largest transportation system in the country. He began his career with the Department in 1990 as an engineering trainee and has served in a variety of roles that include construction project manager, district engineer, director of engineering and chief engineer. He graduated cum laude from Georgia Southern and is a registered professional engineer in the state of Georgia.

Dr. Louvenia A. Rainge, College of Science and Mathematics Alumni Award

Louvenia A. Rainge has crafted a successful career in the dental profession, including being named an Honorable Fellow of the Georgia Dental Association and a Fellow of the Pierre Fauchard Academy and the American College of Dentists. She has earned the Eastern District Dental Society President's Award; the Georgia Dental Association Committee Award, Council on Dental Health; the Augusta Dental Society President's Award; and the Dental College of Georgia Distinguished Alumna Award. After earning her bachelor's degree in biology from Georgia Southern in 1983, Rainge completed the Harvard University Pre-dentistry Health Professions Program and graduated from the Dental College of Georgia.

Eugene (Nick) Wiley, Department of Biology Alumni Award

Nick Wiley is executive director of the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission. He rose through the ranks from a wildlife resource biologist to his current position and serves as president of the Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies and executive director of the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission. A certified wildlife biologist, his work has been published in journals including Journal of Wildlife Management and Conservation Biology. Wiley is chair of the College of Science and Mathematics Advisory Board, a National Conservation Leadership Institute Fellow, a member of the Boone and Crockett Club, and a member of the North American Wetlands Conservation Council. He also previously served on the State and Federal Joint Task Force on Endangered Species Act Implementation. He earned a Bachelor of Science degree in biology from Georgia Southern in 1983 and a Master of Science degree in wildlife management from Auburn University in 1986.

Wiley and Rainge, both COSM graduates, are also from Brantley County, Georgia, and graduated from the same high school there. Rainge was valedictorian and Wiley was salutatorian of their high school graduating class and both chose to attend Georgia Southern.

"Honoring our outstanding alumni is truly a privilege," said Wendell Tompkins Jr. ('87), senior director of Alumni Relations and Annual Giving. "They have distinguished themselves as the best and brightest in their fields, and they represent Georgia Southern in a manner that makes all of the Eagle Nation proud to claim them as our own."

Georgia Southern University, a public Carnegie Doctoral/Research University founded in 1906, offers more than 125 degree programs serving 20,673 students. Through eight colleges, the University offers bachelor's, master's and doctoral degree programs built on more than a century of academic achievement. Georgia Southern is recognized for its student-centered and hands-on approach to education. Visit GeorgiaSouthern.edu.