Training for Campus Re-Opening

Georgia Southern's Department of Human Resources has prepared the COVID-19 Campus Re-opening training in Building a Better U (BBU). This training is designed to help supervisors identify their role and responsibilities as we return to work. Though this training is geared toward supervisors, we encourage all employees to take it so you are familiar with the information provided about employee work options and responsibilities in making our workplace safe.

The health, safety and well being of our students, faculty, staff and communities will continue to be our utmost priority. We continue to keep the health of our university community paramount to all of our plans.

Though this training will be automatically entered into your Learning Transcript within BBU, please make sure you are entering all training classes you take into BBU using THIS process. You can track your participation in live training events in one location to use as a reporting tool for annual evaluations.
