

8-2018

Scholarly Communications Newsletter

Georgia Southern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/scholarly-newsletters>

Part of the Higher Education Commons

Recommended Citation

Georgia Southern University, "Scholarly Communications Newsletter" (2018). Scholarly Communications Newsletters. 1.
<https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/scholarly-newsletters/1>

This newsletter is brought to you for free and open access by the Newsletters at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Scholarly Communications Newsletters by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

Scholarly Communications Newsletter

Georgia Southern University Libraries

Upcoming Workshops for Faculty and Graduate Students September Theme: Plan and Propose Your Research

Data Management Planning for Research & Grant Funding

Many funding agencies and publishers now require that research data be made publicly available as a condition of funding or publication. During this session, we will discuss the basics of data management planning, sharing, and archiving, with emphasis on resources and services available to all faculty and students through the University Libraries. This session is especially appropriate for graduate students and early-career faculty.

Attend either day, in-person or online via WebEx:

Noon – 1:00pm, Tuesday, September 11th
Lane Library, Room 224, 2nd Floor

OR

Noon – 1:00pm, Wednesday, September 12th
Henderson Library, Conference Room, 3rd Floor

RSVP Now!

Building Your Professional Brand

In this workshop, we will review some tools and techniques you can use to make your work stand out against that of other academics and researchers and some ways you can enhance the promotion and dissemination of your work to others in your field. Some examples include: identifiers you can use to distinguish yourself from other researchers; building online portfolios to create awareness of your work; and other strategies you can use to create your own unique research or academic brand.

Attend either day, in-person or online via WebEx:

Noon – 1:00pm, Wednesday, September 26th
Henderson Library, Conference Room, 3rd Floor

OR

Noon – 1:00pm, Thursday, September 27th
Lane Library, Room 224, 2nd Floor

RSVP Now!

For a complete schedule of Scholarly Communications workshops, see our calendar of events.

Scholarly Communications News

- All SelectedWorks profile holders should have received a profile update recently. If you did not receive an email, or if you have any questions about your profile, contact the Digital Commons Team at digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.
- Still don't have a SelectedWorks profile or is your profile out of date? All faculty are invited to create or update their profile by completing this form.

For more information, see here.

Library Resources & Tools

- New York Times: The University Libraries provide access to the full contents of the New York Times Online but you will need to renew your pass annually to maintain unlimited access. For instructions, see this FAQ post.
- Lexisnexis has been upgraded to Nexis Uni.
- IEEE Xplore upgraded to a new search engine on July 31, 2018.
- Keep up with your favorite journals by setting up EBSCO Journal Alerts.

Updates from ICPSR

- Learn more and register for ICPSR's upcoming Data Fair, October 1-5. It's free, virtual, and open to the public with over 10 data literacy webinars.
- Read ICPSR's summer DataBytes Newsletter.
- Read the latest ICPSR Bulletin.

ICPSR

Georgia Southern University is a member institution of the Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research (ICPSR).

For more about the libraries' Scholarly Communications resources and services, see our Scholarly Communications guide or contact Ruth Baker, Scholarly Communications Librarian, at rbaker@georgiasouthern.edu.