Foreign Languages Department Chair subject of University System of Georgia investigation

Every complaint lodged against Eric Kartchner, Foreign Languages Department chair, has been dismissed by the university, according to documents obtained from GS. However, the most recent complaint is currently being investigated by the University System of Georgia. Full Story

The best worst excuses for missing class, as told by GS professors

Some reasons for missing class are weirder, funnier and wilder than the usual “I wasn’t feeling well.” We contacted professors to ask what outrageous excuses they’ve heard from their students. Full Story

Women’s basketball longs for conference win against Lonestar teams

The Eagles will look to get their first win in conference play this season against Texas State and UT-Arlington. The Eagles will have a good chance to win, as neither team is overly dominant in the Sun Belt Conference. Full Story

Campus buildings experience power issues

Campus buildings experience power issues

Some buildings on campus experienced power issues on Thursday. However, the situation has been resolved by Georgia Power. All buildings should have power back.

An advertisement for the Boro Beat app. The main image shows a person's hand holding a smartphone displaying the app's interface. The app screen shows the title 'Boro Beat' and a featured story. To the left of the phone, the text reads 'Boro Beat' in a large, serif font, followed by 'Your Georgia Southern toolkit for all things news, nightlife, and Eagle Nation.' At the bottom left, there is a 'Download on the App Store' button with the Apple logo. At the bottom right, there is a 'GET IT ON Google Play' button with the Google Play logo. The background is a blurred image of a person's arm and hand.
