HONORARY DEGREES AWARDED BY GEORGIA SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

The Board of Regents approves the awarding of a highly-selective honorary degree, which is conferred by University System of Georgia institutions to recognize individuals of notable achievement in an academic field, the arts and letters, their profession or public service. Since 1996, Georgia Southern University has been privileged to confer Honorary Doctoral Degrees to the exceptional individuals listed below.

BETTY FOY SANDERS	Doctor of Fine Arts	August 11, 1996
THE HONORABLE CARL SANDERS	Doctor of Laws	August 11, 1996
ALLEN E. PAULSON	Doctor of Science	June 14, 1997
THE HONORABLE F. EVERETT WILLIAMS	Doctor of Humane Letters	December 8, 1997
JACKIE ANDERSON STRANGE	Doctor of Letters	June 14, 1998
THE HONORABLE ARTHUR GIGNILLIAT	Doctor of Humane Letters	December 19, 1998
WILLIAM FREEMAN	Doctor of Letters	May 8, 1999
EMMA KELLY	Doctor of Fine Arts	May 9, 1999
EUGENE M. BISHOP	Doctor of Letters	May 13, 2000
HALA MODDLEMOG	Doctor of Letters	May 5, 2007
LUIS A. AGUILAR	Doctor of Public Service	May 11, 2013

EMERITUS FACULTY

President Keel has recommended to the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia that the following faculty members be granted emeritus status upon retirement:

Dr. Randal D. Carlson, Professor of Instructional Technology, will retire July 31, 2014. Dr. Carlson earned a Bachelor of Science in Astronautical Engineering from the United States Air Force Academy (1966), a Master of Science in Astronautical Engineering from Purdue University (1967), and a Ph.D. in Instructional Systems from Pennsylvania State University (1993). At the time of his retirement, he will have provided 19 years of distinguished service to Georgia Southern University. Prior to receiving his Ph.D., Dr. Carlson served for over 24 years in the United States Air Force as a fighter pilot in combat, operational test and evaluation, and tactics instruction. He also served as Assistant Professor of Aerospace Studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (1975-1978), and Professor and Chair of Aerospace Studies at Pennsylvania State University (1987-1990). After graduating with his Ph.D., he served jointly as an Assistant Professor of Education and Principal Information Engineer in the Applied Research Laboratory at Pennsylvania State University from 1993-1995. In 1994, Dr. Carlson was selected as a Fellow in The American Society of Engineering Education Summer Faculty Program at NASA - Langley Research Center. During his tenure at Georgia Southern University, Dr. Carlson focused on using technological innovation and systematic design to improve instruction in education at all levels. He coordinated the Instructional Technology program from 2000-2003 and was Chair of the Department of Leadership, Technology, and Human Development (LTHD) from 2003-2011. During that time, the department grew from 13 to 26 tenure-track faculty members. He led the preparation of LTHD for the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) review in 2007, which resulted in unrestricted accreditation. Program changes that he supported enabled the Counselor Education program to become initially accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP). Additionally, personnel and resource changes he originated enabled the School Psychology program to become initially approved by the National Association of School Psychologists (NASP). A strong proponent of distance learning, he led all LTHD programs to increase their distance education offerings to better teach and serve the candidates in those programs. Since 2006, Dr. Carlson has been a Member of the Board of Examiners for the Georgia Professional Standards Commission. Dr. Carlson served on the Editorial Review Board for the Association for the Advancement of Computing in Education (AACE) Journal and the International Journal on E-Learning. His previous military experience, as well as his expertise in technology applications and assessment and evaluation, led to an invitation to consult with the American Council on Education and the Department of Defense as a Visitor in Military Installation Volunteer Education Review (MIVER) program from 2000-2011. Dr. Carlson has published 7 book chapters, 33 journal articles, and 30 juried papers. He has made numerous presentations at state, regional, national, and international conferences, and was co-principal investigator for two grants worth over $145,000. He has chaired or been a member of numerous University, college, and department committees. In recognition of his meritorious service to his program, department, college, University, and profession, Dr. Carlson has earned the title of Professor Emeritus of Instructional Technology.

Dr. Kenneth F. Clark, Professor of Instructional Technology, will retire July 31, 2014. Dr. Clark earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Mathematics from Florida State University (1971), and his Master of Education degree in Mathematics Education from Florida Atlantic University (1974). He earned his Educational Specialist degree in Instructional Computing from Nova University (1981), and his Doctor of Education degree in Curriculum and Instruction from the University of Florida (1986). At the time of his retirement Dr. Clark will have provided 26 years of distinguished service to Georgia Southern University. Prior to joining the University, Dr. Clark was a Visiting Assistant Professor at the University of Florida and before that spent 13 years as a public school teacher in Miami-Dade County, Florida. During his tenure at Georgia Southern University, Dr. Clark spent a semester teaching at the University of Zululand in Natal, South Africa, as part of a faculty exchange program. Dr. Clark was the first coordinator of the Instructional Technology graduate program and most recently was the coordinator of the Educational Specialist degree in Instructional Technology. He was part of a three-person team that transformed the Instructional Technology program into the first completely online program in the College of Education. Since its inception, this program has grown into the largest graduate program in the College of Education. As part of the program Dr. Clark has developed and taught numerous online courses in Instructional Technology. In the area of scholarship, Dr. Clark has authored over 30 peer-reviewed papers and journal articles, 3 book chapters, and 9 pieces of computer software. In addition to his publications, he has delivered over 100 presentations at state, national, and international conferences. All of his work has dealt with the integration of technology into the instructional process, including a number of externally funded grants worth a total of more than one million dollars. Dr. Clark has served on over 40 committees at the department, college, University, and state levels, many of which he chaired. He has served on Doctoral and Educational Specialist committees, mentored new faculty, and served on many public school technology committees. Professionally, Dr. Clark was a member of the Founding Board of Directors of the Society for Information Technology & Teacher Education (SITE), an international association of educators who is interested in the use of information technology and teacher education. He went on to serve on SITE's Board of Directors and was a member of the Editorial Review Board for the Journal of Technology and Teacher Education. In recognition of his many contributions to the program, department, college, University, and profession, Dr. Kenneth Clark has earned the title of Professor Emeritus of Instructional Technology.

Dr. Jonathan Copeland, Professor Emeritus of Biology, will retire on May 31, 2014. Dr. Copeland received his B.A. degree cum laude from Tufts University in 1968 and his Ph.D. from the State University of New York at Stony Brook in 1975. He conducted postdoctoral research in the field of Cellular Neurophysiology at Princeton University where he also worked as an instructor. He was awarded a certificate in Business Administration from the University of Virginia in 1983. Dr. Copeland also completed a M.A.T. in Secondary Science Education at Tufts University in 1992. Dr. Copeland held positions at the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee, Swarthmore College, and Grinnell College before coming to Georgia Southern University at the rank of Associate Professor in 1991. He was promoted to Professor in 1998. Dr. Copeland is internationally known for his research in the area of bioluminescence, especially the behavioral function and neural control of bioluminescence in fireflies. He has studied fireflies from Southeast Asia to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. For many years, Dr. Copeland offered a workshop at the national park about synchronously flashing fireflies and firefly biology in general during his research trips to the park. Many of the park's guidebooks refer to his work on fireflies and the phenomenon of synchronization. Dr. Copeland has published over 60 scientific articles including articles in the prestigious journals Nature and Science. He was the recipient of the University Award for Excellence in Scholarly Activity. He has provided information for many popular press articles in publications for children and adults, from Highlights to Southern Living. Given the popularity of fireflies, Dr. Copeland has provided interviews to many news outlets including the Australian National Radio, BBC, CBS Radio, New York Times, Tennessee PB, and Washington Post. Dr. Copeland is known for his great passion for teaching and facilitating the experience of discovery in students both in the laboratory and the field. For all of his meritorious contributions and service – too numerous to enumerate here, Dr. Jonathan Copeland deserves the title of Professor Emeritus of Biology.

Dr. Henry A. Eisenhart, Professor of Recreation and Tourism Management, will retire May 31, 2014. Dr. Eisenhart earned his Bachelor's degree (1970), Master of Arts in Geography (1973), and Doctor of Philosophy in Recreation Resource Management (1979) from the University of New Mexico. He spent 11 years on the faculty at Oklahoma University before joining Georgia Southern in 1991 as Professor and Chair of the Department of Recreation and Leisure Services. In 1995, the Department absorbed the undergraduate and graduate degree programs in Sport Management, and his position became Chair of the Department of Recreation and Sport Management. In 2002, the College of Health and Human Sciences reorganized and created a new department consisting of six undergraduate degree programs and two graduate programs. With this reorganization, his position title changed to Chair of the Department of Hospitality, Tourism, and Family and Consumer Sciences. At the time of his retirement, he will have given 23 years of service to Georgia Southern University. During his tenure, he taught a wide range of courses reflecting his diverse educational background. Dr. Eisenhart has published over two dozen articles in refereed professional journals, co-authored a book on economic development, and is recognized as an international scholar in the disciplines of recreation and sport, having given invited presentations in China, Australia, Finland, Canada, Brazil, Greece, as well as many presentations throughout the United States. Dr. Eisenhart's research has focused on the organization and management of sport and recreation agencies and on the social issues of sport in American and international cultures. He has been active in the National Recreation and Park Association; the North American Society of Sport Management; the American Alliance of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance; and the Georgia Recreation and Park Association. He has served on, and chaired, countless university and college committees and was also a participant in the University System of Georgia Faculty Development Seminar which toured Morocco and Spain and studied the influence of the Moors on Spanish Culture. In addition, Dr. Eisenhart served as a consultant to the 2006 Pan American Games in Rio de Janeiro. In recognition of his meritorious contributions and service to the department, college, University, and the profession, Dr. Henry A. Eisenhart is awarded the title of Professor Emeritus of Recreation and Tourism Management.

Dr. Clara E. Krug, Professor of French, will retire May 31, 2014. Dr. Krug earned her B.A. with honors in French, a minor in German, and teacher certification, from James Madison University. She earned her M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in French literature from Michigan State University. She has also studied Italian, Polish, and Spanish. At the time of her retirement, Dr. Krug will have provided the University with 36 years of notable service. Since joining the faculty of Georgia Southern in 1978, she has taught French courses from the elementary to upper-division levels and was among the first in the Department of Foreign Languages to implement proficiency-oriented instruction in her courses. She has presented workshops related to proficiency-oriented instruction in school systems across Georgia, in New Jersey and Rhode Island, at the annual convention of the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages, and at sessions of the College Board's Educational Equality Project. Dr. Krug has published articles related to seventeenth-century literature, Francophone literature, and composition in Dimension, The French Review, and Romance Monographs, and has contributed chapters to books. She has received grants from the Georgia Department of Education, the United States Department of Education, the Georgia Humanities Council, and the National Endowment for the Humanities. A recipient of Georgia Southern's award for Excellence in Service, her contributions include service on Faculty Senate and various Senate and University committees. She served two three-year terms as a member of the Board of the Georgia Humanities Council and a four-year term as a member of the Board of the Southern Conference on Language Teaching. The Georgia Conference of the American Association of University Professors presented her with an award for her contributions to shared governance. She has also received awards for her teaching from the Foreign Language Association of Georgia, the Governor of Georgia, and the Carnegie Foundation. For these and many other distinguished contributions to the department, college, University, and profession, Dr. Clara Krug has earned the title of Professor Emerita of French.

Dr. Judith L. Repman, Professor of Instructional Technology, will retire July 31, 2014. Dr. Repman earned her degrees from Louisiana State University, including her Bachelor of Arts (1974), her Master of Library and Information Science (1976), and her Ph.D. in Educational Technology (1989). She began her academic career at Texas Tech University, where she served on the faculty and as Director of the Learning Resources Center for eight years. At the time of her retirement, Dr. Repman will have provided 17 years of distinguished teaching and service to Georgia Southern University. During her academic career, Dr. Repman has been a leader and innovator in distance and online learning in her teaching fields of instructional technology and school library media. At Georgia Southern, she served as Program Coordinator of the Instructional Technology master's degree program when it was selected for inclusion in the Georgia OnMyLine (GOML) state-wide collaborative M.Ed. initiative. As part of her responsibilities, she was active in formulating policies and procedures for offering the first fully-online M.Ed. program in the College of Education, developing online courses, and advising students who enrolled in the program. Dr. Repman served as interim chair of the Department of Leadership, Technology and Human Development (2011-12) and has served on numerous college and University committees. She co-chaired the College of Education's National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) accreditation team from 2005-07. Dr. Repman has a distinguished record of service to her profession, serving in a variety of roles in the American Library Association (ALA) and the American Association of School Librarians (AASL). She was an active consultant with a focus on library resources and distance learning for the Military Installation Voluntary Education Review program of the American Council on Education, making visits to over 20 military installations in the United States and around the world. In addition to serving on site review teams, Dr. Repman provided training for military education personnel preparing reports for these reviews. Dr. Repman was a member of the Editorial Review Board for the Journal of Research on Technology in Education from 1999-2012 and she continues to serve as the Associate Editor for the Library Media Connection magazine. Dr. Repman has been a founding member of the conference planning committee for the Georgia International Conference on Information Literacy, and she also served as the United States co-chair for the Conference on Educational Renewal and School Development in an Era of Cultural Diversity, held jointly with Huazhong Normal University in Wuhan, China (2008). Her scholarship interests focus on the innovative uses of technology for teaching and learning, especially the use of web-based tools for communication and collaboration, and on innovative practices in distance and online learning. Her publications included two editions of an edited compilation of articles titled School Library Management (2007 and 2014), over 50 journal articles, and more than 20 book chapters. She has made numerous presentations at international, national and state level conferences, including many presentations with her students. In recognition of her meritorious service to her program, department, college, University, and profession, Dr. Repman has earned the title of Professor Emerita of Instructional Technology.

Dr. Danette Wood, Associate Professor of Nursing, will retire May 31, 2014. Dr. Wood received her Associate of Science in Nursing (1985) and her Bachelor of Science in Nursing (1990) degree from Regents' College, State University of New York. She earned her Master of Science in Nursing (1992) and Doctor of Education (1999) degrees from Georgia Southern University. After working as a registered nurse for several years, Dr. Wood joined the faculty at Georgia Southern University as an instructor in 1995. In 2000, she became an assistant professor and, in 2006, was tenured and promoted to an associate professor. At the time of her retirement, she will have provided 19 years of distinguished service to the University. Over her career, Dr. Wood published two books, several journal articles, and 28 interactive computer software programs. Her service includes six years as the undergraduate nursing program director. In addition, she provided workshops to nurses in the area hospitals who worked as preceptors for nursing students in their final semester. Dr. Wood was honored as the "American Red Cross Outstanding Disaster Volunteer of the Year" for her work during the 2004-2005 hurricane season. She has been active professionally, providing service as a panel member of the International Nursing Coalition for Mass Casualty Education, Ogeechee Area Center Board Member, and working with the American Red Cross as a Disaster Health Specialist and Volunteer Health Consultant. Dr. Wood is also a recipient of the University's Excellence in Contributions to Instruction Award and the College of Health and Human Sciences Excellence in Teaching Award. Because of her many meritorious contributions to the department, college, University, profession, and the community, Dr. Danette Wood is awarded the title of Associate Professor Emerita of Nursing.

AWARDS OF EXCELLENCE

Georgia Southern's Awards for Excellence Program recognizes and rewards faculty for exceptional achievement and provides continuing opportunities for faculty development. Recipients must be nominated by their colleagues or students and are selected through a peer review process. Each recipient receives a summer stipend to continue instructional, scholarly, or service activities and to develop a mechanism for sharing expertise with faculty, staff, and students.

Award for Excellence in Contributions to Instruction

The Award for Excellence in Contributions to Instruction honors contributions to the teaching-learning process at the institutional level. The recipient must demonstrate excellence in the classroom and beyond by making contributions to the discipline and to the overall institutional mission. Congratulations to the Award for Excellence in Contributions to Instruction recipients:

Dr. Bryan Lee Miller, Criminology and Criminal Justice
Dr. Karen Z. Naufel, Psychology

Award for Excellence in Research/Creative Scholarly Activity

The Award for Excellence in Research/Creative Scholarly Activity recognizes faculty who excel in their research efforts in addition to fulfilling regular full-time teaching responsibilities. Congratulations to the Award for Excellence in Research/Creative Scholarly Activity recipients:

Dr. Hua Wang, Mathematical Sciences
Dr. Valentin Soloiu, Mechanical Engineering

Award for Excellence in Service

The Award for Excellence in Service recognizes and rewards faculty who use their academic disciplines to provide uncompensated assistance to the community and region, as well as in the academic arena. Congratulations to the Award for Excellence in Service recipients.

Dr. Aniruddha Mitra, Mechanical Engineering
Dr. Melissa Garno, School of Nursing

Averitt Award

The Averitt Award is the highest honor bestowed to graduate students by the Jack N. Averitt College of Graduate Studies. Deserving students are nominated by graduate faculty members and a single recipient is selected in the categories of Excellence in Graduate Research and Excellence in Graduate Instruction. Averitt Award recipients receive a $1000 cash prize, a unique Crystal Eagle Trophy and recognition at the Honor's Day ceremony.

Georgia Southern University and the Jack N. Averitt College of Graduate Studies wish to congratulate the following Averitt Award recipients:

Excellence in Graduate Research

Cameron Cato, M.S. Applied Engineering

Excellence in Graduate Instruction

Aaron Roberts, M.A. English

ACADEMIC DISTINCTION

Graduation with Honors

Undergraduate students, who accomplish a high level of academic achievement, as reflected by their grade point average, receive distinction as follows:

Grade Point Average:
3.5-3.69 Cum Laude
3.7-3.89 Magna Cum Laude
3.9-4.0 Summa Cum Laude

Students graduating with honors are distinguished at commencement exercises by a blue and white honor cord attached to the left shoulder of their gowns. Their distinction is recognized by notation on their diplomas and in their academic transcripts.

NOTE: Since programs are prepared in advance of the receipt of final grades, the listing of graduates and honor recipients may, in some instances, be inaccurate. Also, in addition to GPA, there are other requirements to qualify for graduation with honors. The fact of graduation and the receipt of honors are validated by the students' permanent records which are kept by the Office of the Registrar.

University Honors Program Scholars

The University Honors Program (UHP) offers a special Honors curriculum to a select group of academically talented students. In addition to high academic standards, the Program requires a substantial commitment to community service and experiential learning. The diplomas of graduating University Honors Program Scholars are distinguished by the UHP designation.

University Honors Program 1906 Scholars

The 1906 Scholarship is the most prestigious award for incoming freshmen in the University Honors Program. In addition to their participation in the University Honors Program, these students enroll in a sequence of additional seminars dedicated to service, leadership and research.

THE SYMBOLS OF ACADEMIC TRADITION

The Mace

Leading the Processional of faculty and administration is the Macebearer, the Moderator of the Faculty Senate at Georgia Southern University.

The Mace is a two-and-one-half foot shaft and sphere of cast Everdur Bronze and carved American walnut. This representation of the ceremonial symbol of office and authority was designed and crafted in 1988 by Thomas P. Steadman, Associate Professor of Art. Its angular forms and low-gloss finishes are reminiscent of the medieval battle mace from which the more scepter-like academic mace evolved.

The design of the Mace blends forms suggested by native flora of South Georgia. The magnolia leaves and stems encircling the head of the mace in a double helix symbolize Georgia Southern's link with its region. A small ballast rock, found on the Georgia coast and traced to probable British origin, is embedded in the finial base of the shaft representing the foundation of the institution.

Regalia

The history of academic attire is also traced to the Middle Ages when it may have been necessary for scholars to wear gowns and cowls for warmth in the unheated halls of academe of the period. The robes and hoods have evolved as ceremonial garments signifying level of degree, academic field, and the awarding institution.

Today's gowns for baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees are made of a rayon blend, always black. Bachelors gowns have pointed sleeves and are worn closed. The gowns for the masters and specialist degree, also worn closed, have an oblong sleeve with a base that hangs open at the wrist. The doctoral gowns have bell-shaped sleeves which may be worn open or closed. It is the tradition of Georgia Southern to reserve hoods for masters and education specialist degree candidates. These hoods are black, three and one-half feet long, lined with the official colors of the institution, and trimmed in velvet in the color of the degree field.

Caps in the form of mortarboards are made of cotton poplin or a similar material. The tassel is the color which reflects the degree.

The ornamental braided cord draped over the left shoulder of some of the baccalaureate graduates is called a fourragère. The design follows French military tradition and signifies special recognition of baccalaureate students graduating with honors.

Banners

Banners representing each of the eight Colleges, the Center for International Studies, and the University Library are displayed at Commencement. Representation of the Banners signifies the colors of disciplines in the Colleges, and celebrates the University's academic programs.

GEORGIA SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

Georgia Southern University, a Carnegie Doctoral/Research University, is a member institution of the University System of Georgia. It is one of the most comprehensive centers of higher education in Georgia. A residential campus of more than 20,500 students, Georgia Southern is one of the top universities of choice in Georgia for new freshmen and for HOPE Scholars. Students come from 49 U.S. states and more than 90 nations, bringing a broad spectrum of backgrounds, interests and talents to the University community.

Georgia Southern's hallmark is a superior educational experience with all of the benefits of a major university, but the feel of a much smaller college. It is this combination that serves as the foundation for the University's outstanding reputation for academic excellence and focus on its students. At Georgia Southern, our students value a well-rounded college experience, a faculty where professors know their name and their first priority is teaching. In addition, students appreciate a campus environment that encourages learning and growing. With expanding graduate programs and opportunities for discovery, Georgia Southern also embraces its research mission.

The University offers 125 degree programs at the baccalaureate, master's and doctoral levels through eight colleges: College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences, College of Education, College of Business Administration, College of Health and Human Sciences, Jiann-Ping Hsu College of Public Health, Allen E. Paulson College of Engineering and Information Technology, College of Science and Mathematics and the Jack N. Averitt College of Graduate Studies. Georgia Southern is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and has earned special accreditation from professional and academic associations that set standards in their fields.

The University has been named one of the nation's most environmentally responsible "green colleges" by the Princeton Review's Guide to 22 Green Colleges. The University has also been recognized as one of the most military friendly schools by multiple publications including G.I. Jobs and Military Advanced Education. In addition, its outstanding College of Business Administration and Nursing programs continue to be recognized among the best in the country.

Founded in 1906 as a district agricultural school, Georgia Southern's century of history has built a tradition of spirit, pride and achievement. The institution advanced to become a teachers' college, a senior college and in 1990 earned its status as the first university in the southern half of Georgia. Located in Statesboro, a safe, classic Main Street community of approximately 30,000 residents northwest of Savannah, the University provides enriching cultural and educational opportunities to people of all ages, and reaches out to benefit the region and state through research and public service.

Georgia Southern's more than 900-acre campus is one of the most beautiful in the state, featuring gently rolling lawns, scenic lakes and soaring pines. The historic heart of campus is a classic college portrait – buildings of red brick and white columns framed by live oaks and an archway of pecan trees. Beyond the circle of the original buildings, classic and contemporary lines blend in an expanding horizon of new facilities, connected by a paver-tiled walking boulevard called the Pedestrium. During the past decade, the University has witnessed extraordinary development with the construction of new academic, housing and athletics facilities. Continued enhancement and growth of the campus include the construction of the new Biological Sciences Building, and dining and recreational facilities.

Georgia Southern serves the Coastal Southeast region, the state and the Southeast United States through research and public services that promote educational, economic, cultural and social progress through creative solutions to regional challenges. Research varies from probing the genetic chemistry of disease-spreading parasites for keys to their biological control, to advancing the economic development of the region. Centers for business research and development, rural health, international studies, public affairs, teacher education, rehabilitation technology, water policy and biostatistics involve teams of experts working on regional and community concerns. The University extends educational opportunities through both undergraduate and graduate online degree programs and classes accessible from anywhere in the world with an Internet connection.

Georgia Southern has gained recognition for its nationally competitive athletics program. The University's 15 Division I teams currently compete in the Southern Conference, but the University will join the Sun Belt Conference in 2014. Across-the-board commitment to excellence has resulted in an unprecedented six NCAA Football Championship Series (FCS) football national championships and NCAA participation in men's and women's basketball, baseball, golf, softball, women's tennis, women's track and field and volleyball.

The University also has an active alumni program serving more than 75,000 alumni around the world. Some of the University's prominent alumni include country music star Luke Bryan; Mike Davis, Executive Director of the U.S. Golf Association (USGA); Hala Moddlemog, President of the Metro Atlanta Chamber; and Dan Cathy, President and Chief Operating Officer of Chick-fil-A.

“Freedom”

is a non-releasable American Bald Eagle permitted to Georgia Southern University's Center for Wildlife Education
& Lamar Q Ball, Jr. Raptor Center

In what has become one of the most popular traditions at Georgia Southern University, a flight over Paulson Stadium by an American Bald Eagle concludes the University's Spring Commencement ceremony. The eagle flies over the graduates during the playing of the University's Alma Mater, making him one of only two eagles in the world known to fly during an outdoor graduation event.

Today's ceremony marks the sixth time that Freedom, Georgia Southern University's mascot, has made this ceremonial flight.

Freedom is a male Southern bald eagle that was found knocked out of the nest in Maitland, Florida. Only weeks old and appearing like a “brown ball of fuzz,” it was discovered that the young eagle had an injury to its beak and suffered from an infection. Rushed to the Florida Audubon Center for Birds of Prey, Freedom made a complete recovery from the infection, but the injury to the beak was permanent, preventing his release into the wild.

With the permission of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, Georgia Southern University acquired Freedom in 2004. Today, Freedom serves not only as an ambassador for wildlife and as Georgia Southern's mascot, but as an iconic reminder of the strength and majesty of our nation.

Through the Georgia Southern University Center for Wildlife Education and Lamar Q Ball, Jr. Raptor Center, thousands of visitors young and old are embraced by the power of Freedom. Freedom is one of three American Bald Eagles that call Georgia Southern University home. In addition to the three American Bald Eagles, the Center for Wildlife Education and Lamar Q Ball, Jr. Raptor Center is also home to numerous species of native raptors, reptiles and amphibians. The Wildlife Center, a one-of-a-kind facility to be found located in the heart of a major University campus, is an 18-acre sanctuary that welcomes tens of thousands of visitors every year.

For more information, visit: www.georgiasouthern.edu/wildlife.

Did You Know?

- The bald eagle is found only in North America.
- The bald eagle became the official symbol of the United States of America in 1782.
- Georgia Southern University adopted the eagle as its symbol in 1960.
- The bald eagle owes its name to the Middle English term “balled,” meaning “shining white.” The adult bald eagle's head and neck feathers are all white, giving it the name “balled eagle,” meaning “white eagle.”
- The bald eagle has a wingspan of 6-8 ft., and makes its home along coastlines and large bodies of fresh water.
- Eagles are mature at five years of age.
- Eagles require a 25-mile hunting territory and appear to mate for life (can live as long as 50 years).
- Forty years ago, the bald eagle was nearing extinction with just 417 nesting pairs of the birds known in the United States. Today, the bird has made a remarkable comeback and is now off the Endangered Species List.
- In 1983, no nesting pair of eagles could be found in Georgia. Today, Georgia has more than 150 known nesting pairs throughout the state.
