COVID-19 Exposure and Health Alerts

Home > COVID-19 Response > COVID-19 Exposure and Health Alerts

Georgia Southern has a robust system, through our CARES Center for COVID-19 self-reporting, to record self-reported test results and symptoms; to evaluate callers' unique situations; and to support Eagle Nation's COVID-19 related academic, employment and on-campus notification needs.

The information below is presented by Georgia Southern to provide current, relevant information about the status of the COVID-19 pandemic on our campuses as collected through our CARES Center for COVID-19 self-reporting. Please note:

- Except where noted, this information is self-reported.
- The university is legally bound to protect the health and privacy information of individual faculty, staff, and students. Privacy laws prevent us from identifying anyone on this list.
- The totals may include reports from individuals who have not been on campus recently, there may be delays in reporting, and the totals may even include individuals who have recovered.
- Official numbers of confirmed cases of COVID-19 within the state of Georgia (as reported to the Georgia Department of Public Health) can be found online in the COVID-19 Daily Status Report.

As we prepare for the first day of Fall 2021 classes this week, the report below indicates 16 confirmed and 57 self-reported cases last week.

While Georgia Southern's COVID-19 numbers, like the region, state, and country, have decreased significantly since the pandemic started, faculty, staff and students are encouraged to take advantage of our on-going on-campus opportunities to get a COVID-19 vaccination.

University leaders continue to assess internal and external public health and safety factors, operational efficiency, and continuity of curriculum and service delivery to our students. We remain in frequent communication with the Georgia Department of Public Health, regional healthcare administrators, local government and community leaders, and the University System of Georgia.

Georgia Southern diligently tracks and reports both university confirmed and self-reported positive cases to ensure timely contact notification and to mitigate the spread of the virus amongst our population. This report should not be compared to other institutions that report only confirmed positive cases.
