The LILAC Project: A Study of Student Information-Seeking Behaviors

October 21, 2014

You are invited to participate in a research study. The purpose of the study is to determine the relationship between what students are taught about library and online research and how students actually conduct such research.

Participants will complete a brief questionnaire and then participate in a research exercise that will record them doing research on a topic while talking about what they are doing and why. The study will only take approximately 20-30 minutes of your time, but what we learn from this study may help to improve how students are taught information seeking skills (research skills) in the future, here at Georgia Southern University as well as around the country.
