Each year, Georgia Southern University awards University Awards of Excellence to faculty and staff who have been identified as outstanding individuals making contributions to the success of Georgia Southern. This year, Hedly “Lee” Broxton has been named the recipient of the staff award for Research.

Broxton has served as the scholarship and research specialist for the School of Nursing since 2014. In his vital role, Broxton assists faculty with securing grants and other financial support used to support underserved citizens across Georgia.

“It is truly an honor to work with such talented faculty, staff and students, and I appreciate their support,” stated Broxton. “I am grateful to be able to serve the School of Nursing in my current role.”
