Dr. F. Erik Brooks, Professor and Chair of the Department of African-American Studies at Western Illinois University and a former professor at Georgia Southern, will visit the Russell Union Theater on Monday, Feb. 9 at 7 p.m. to discuss his 2006 book, “Pursuing A Promise: A History Of African Americans At Georgia Southern University.”

The book recounts the struggles and hardships faced by African-Americans when integrating the schooling systems of the South in general, and integrating Georgia Southern University in particular.
University officials will travel to the State Capitol on Tuesday for the second annual Georgia Southern Day at the Capitol. Representatives from academics, research and athletics will join President Brooks A. Keel to visit with state lawmakers and show them the great things going on at the University.
