A NEW JOURNAL

The first issue of a new journal, Phenomenology + Pedagogy, appeared in May, 1983, from The University of Alberta. Max van Manen is the editor. The journal is dedicated to interpretive and critical studies of pedagogical relations and situations. Articles are offered which yield a deep understanding of the way in which those who stand in a pedagogical relationship to children or to others are to live with them and are to be pedagogically present to them. Dialogues, Dissertation Reviews, Book Reviews, Letters, and Editorials will be included in addition to articles. International contributions and consulting editors promise an excellent new journal. For information and rates, write Max van Manen, Editor, Phenomenology + Pedagogy, 4-115 Education North, The University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, T6G 2G5.

SIG MEMBERSHIP, 1983-84

Those who have not yet mailed SIG dues of $5.00 for 1983-84 may do so to: Jean A. King, SIG Secretary/Treasurer. Include your full name, address, and position, and indicate whether you are an AERA member (not required). U.S. currency.

CONFERENCE HONORING MAURITZ JOHNSON, JR.

SIG-AERA - 1983 - ANNUAL MEETING

Montreal meetings, April 10-15, 1983, brought many members and associates to eight SIG sponsored or co-sponsored sessions at AERA. As always, the SIG appreciates the work of panelists, presenters, responders, and chairs. Among them were: William F. Connell, Peter Pereira, Thomas W. Roby, William Knitter, Ilene B. Harris, Ted Aoki, Louise Berman, Norman Overly, Jessie Roderick, Gail McCutcheon, Fred Burton, Karen Zuga, Andrew Hughes, Michael Allard, F. Michael Connelly, Walter Werner, Beverly Gordon, George Willis, Edmund C. Short, Virginia Macagnoni, Elizabeth Vallance, Rager Cunningham, Kelly Stevens, Chris Willmore, B. Robert Tabachnick, William Schubert, George Posner, Ralph Tyler. Planning was done by George Willis, 1982-83 SIG Chair.

The SIG Business Meeting, held in Montreal on April 12, 1983, was the largest in attendance in recent years. New officers for 1983-84 were chosen:

Chairperson: Peter Pereira, School of Education, De Paul University, 2525 North Seminary Avenue, Chicago, IL 60614, (312) 321-6119.

Secretary/Treasurer: Joan A. King, Department of Education, Tulane University, New Orleans, LA 70118, (504) 865-5342.

Membership and financial reports were given, and a review of the year's accomplishments were reported, including the publication and distribution to the membership of the booklet, "Conceptions of Curriculum Knowledge," edited by William and Ann Schubert. The idea of an Invited Address was commended (given this year by William Connell) and another next year was urged. The possibility of another publication during the coming year was also discussed. Items for the newsletter were invited from persons wishing to communicate their work or suggestions to the SIG membership.

RARE COLLECTION OF CURRICULUM GUIDES

Marilyn Winters has drawn to our attention a problem which SIG members may wish to assist in solving. It concerns the need to preserve a rare collection of curriculum guides at Teachers College, Columbia University. The following is an excerpt from her letter to William Schubert.

CONFERENCE HONORING MAURITZ JOHNSON, JR.

On November 4–5, 1983, at SUNY Albany, A Symposium on Curriculum Excellence convened in honor of Professor Mauritz Johnson, Jr., of that university, who is retiring. Professor Johnson was Co-Chair of this SIG in 1973-74. Papers presented at this symposium by Urban Dahllöf, Diane Ravitch, Maurice Eash, Robert Stake, George Beauchamp, Jane Roland Martin, Daniel Duke will be published in a few months, together with responses by Philip Foster, Paul Vogt, Joseph Basco, Edward Kelly, George Posner, James McClellan, and Thomas Curtis. Proceeds will go to a Scholarship Fund named for Mauritz Johnson. Write John Etter, Education Building, SUNY Albany, 1400 Washington Avenue, Albany, NY 12222, in early 1984.

RARE COLLECTION OF CURRICULUM GUIDES

Marilyn Winters has drawn to our attention a problem which SIG members may wish to assist in solving. It concerns the need to preserve a rare collection of curriculum guides at Teachers College, Columbia University. The following is an excerpt from her letter to William Schubert.
The purpose of this letter is to bring your attention to the old and rare collection of curriculum guides from T.C., Columbia. The collection is in a sad state of disrepair, many of the guides are crumbling with age, and, the most disturbing fact of all, is that there seems to be no funds available to repair or even film them. Slowly but surely, the documents are being lost or stolen, a fact which came to my attention while working on my dissertation. Several colleagues suggested that I write to you to see if funds are available to help Teachers College preserve this priceless collection of educational materials.

At present, I have 26 documents in my possession, including the oldest one dated 1871. There are, however, many more in the library at Teachers College. The librarian who entrusted the guides to me, Susan Heintzelman, could provide, I'm sure, all the information you need as to the exact number of guides in the collection.

I would dearly love to see the guides preserved in some manner for the future.

RECENT COMMISSION REPORTS

A search is underway for examples of rigorous analyses of recent commission reports concerning American education. Those which deal with many or all of the reports that have been issued to date and which primarily examine in comparative fashion their curricular findings or recommendations are especially being sought. If you see such an analysis that seems particularly well done, from the point of view of curriculum knowledge and practice, please send a copy or the citation to: Edmund C. Short, 141 Chambers Building, University Park, PA 16802. Thanks.

FROM THE CHAIR

Plans have been completed for the Annual Meeting Program next April in New Orleans. Although membership was down slightly this year, we did not lose any of our allotted space on the program. The SIG is sponsoring, or co-sponsoring, two paper sessions, four symposia, one invited symposium ("Computers in the Curriculum: Visions and Realities"), and two innovative roundtable sessions. It is an exciting program. Details about all sessions will be in the next newsletter, due out in early March.

One of the roundtable sessions, organized by Bill Schubert, deserves special mention now. Ed Short, George Willis, and Bill have agreed to put together a history of the SIG: its origins, activities, and organization. This is an opportunity for us, not only to consider where we have been but also to take a look at where we are going. With this in mind, I have committed myself to putting together some thoughts on the future directions which the SIG might take. If you have ideas about this, I would like to hear from you. Better yet, plan to attend this session and join in the discussion.

I would like to thank Elaine Atkis, Jim Dillon, Ilene Harris, Diana Haitt, Jean King, George Fosmer, Tom Roby, Bill Schubert, Ed Short, Elizabeth Vailance, Tom Vickery, Hersh Waxman, and George Willis all of whom took the time to review proposals for the Annual Meeting. Their thoughtful reviews were of great help in putting together a strong program and are deeply appreciated.
