THE LATEST NEWS FROM THE INKWELL

Review: Dune: A Faithful Adaptation of a Classic Sci-Fi Novel

The more I read about Denis Villanueve’s “Dune” adaptation the more worried I got.

This adaptation, which has failed before, was going to be a huge budget, a huge cast, with a huge director and HUGE expectations.

I thought it was going to be a huge failure. But it wasn’t!

The Area 1906 Tailgate and Celebrate Photo Story

The University Programming Board (UPB) hosted The Area 1906 Tailgate on Thursday,

Oct.28 in the Student Union Ballroom on the Armstrong campus. Event activities included a giant game of Connect Four, Alien Invasion and a UFO competition.

Armstrong Students Direct and Star in “I And You”

Armstrong’s theatre department performed Lauren Gunderson’s play “I And You” on the weekend of Oct. 28 through Oct. 30, putting on three performances in total. The play, directed by Armstrong student Sarah Lee, was the first of two plays to be performed this semester, with “School Girls; or, the African Mean Girls Play” to be performed at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 16-19 and 3 p.m. on Nov. 20 in the Black Box Theatre.

Access to Period Products on the Armstrong Campus

“Every time you go in the bathroom, there’s never any feminine products...maybe more in the bathrooms.” The student also raised concerns about the prices of period products when she buys them from GusMart.

The George-Anne Inkwell sat down with Cherie Gaume, the Dean of Students Administrative Assistant, and Joseph Anderson, the General Manager of GusMart, to get their perspectives on the issue.

Review: Last Night in Soho

Edgar Wright is one of the most accomplished comedy writer-directors of all time. He has a case to be considered the most influential British filmmaker of the 21st century, but maybe the biggest knock on him was the lack of variety in genre.

However, Wright must have decided that he needed to replace some laughs with scares, and that's exactly what he does with "Last Night in Soho."

Disc Golf Course Coming to Armstrong

The Campus Recreation and Intramurals announced the grand opening of the disc golf course coming to the Armstrong campus of Georgia Southern. Join CRI on November 9th from 3 to 5 p.m. to celebrate the opening and try out the course.

The course will be free and open to the public. Students can check out equipment at the Armstrong Recreation Center (ARC). Students use the practice area to warm up before they hit the course, play each course independently, or pick and choose to create their own 18-hole game.

"We are excited to offer another fun engagement opportunity for our students, faculty, staff and community on campus," says (CRI) Armstrong Campus Director Megan Feasel.
