Influence of Social Motivations on Spectator Consumption Behavior of a Formula One Grand Prix Event

Kevin K. Byon
University of Georgia, kbyon@indiana.edu

Suk-kyu Kim
University of Georgia

Jae-gu Yu
Hanyang University

James J. Zhang
University of Georgia

Chong Kim
Hanyang University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/amtp-proceedings_2013

Part of the Marketing Commons

Recommended Citation

https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/amtp-proceedings_2013/68

This conference proceeding is brought to you for free and open access by the Association of Marketing Theory and Practice Proceedings at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Association of Marketing Theory and Practice Proceedings 2013 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.
Influence of Social Motivations on Spectator Consumption Behavior of a Formula One Grand Prix Event

Kevin K. Byon, University of Georgia
Suk-kyu, Kim, University of Georgia
Jae-gu, Yu, Hanyang University
James, J. Zhang, University of Georgia
Chong, Kim, Hanyang University

The purpose of this study was to examine the relationship between spectator motivation and sport consumption behavior in the context of F-1 events. Respondents were spectators from three Formula One (F-1) races held in Shanghai, China. Through a structural equation modeling analysis, Achievement Seeking and Salubrious Effects were found to be related to repurchase intentions. Three motivating factors (i.e., Achievement Seeking, Entertainment, and Catharsis) were also found to be associated with Word-of-Mouth intentions concerning F-1 events.

Kevin K. Byon is an assistant professor in the sport management and policy program at the University of Georgia. His research interests are sport marketing and sport consumer behavior.

Suk-kyu, Kim is a post-doctoral fellow in the sport management and policy program at the University of Georgia. His research interests are sport marketing and sport economics.

Jae-gu, Yu is a clinical assistant professor in the department of global sport industry at Hanyang University, Korea. His research interest lies in sport marketing.

James J. Zhang is a professor in the sport management and policy program at the University of Georgia. He is the founding director of the International Center for Sport Management (ICSM) at the University of Georgia. His research interests are sport marketing and sport organizational behaviors.

Chong Kim is a professor and dean of the College of Physical Education at Hanyang University, Korea. His research interest is sport marketing.