

Georgia Southern University

Digital Commons@Georgia Southern

Waters College of Health Professions News

Health Professions Publications

3-9-2021

College of Health Professions News

Georgia Southern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/chp-news>

Part of the Medicine and Health Sciences Commons

Recommended Citation

Georgia Southern University, "College of Health Professions News" (2021). Waters College of Health Professions News. 29.

<https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/chp-news/29>

This news article is brought to you for free and open access by the Health Professions Publications at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Waters College of Health Professions News by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

Challenge Accepted

March 9, 2021

With the support of her peers, Rochelle Lee, Ed.D., assistant professor in the Department of Diagnostic and Therapeutic Sciences, has started the new year spearheading a drive to provide food and feminine hygiene products to students on Georgia Southern University Armstrong Campus. After learning at least 500 million women worldwide are impacted with period poverty, the inaccessibility of safe, affordable sanitary products, Lee presented a proposal to her department asking for faculty to donate supplies every month to assist those in need on campus.

“I asked my colleagues to join me in supporting the period pantry for Georgia Southern students on the Armstrong Campus and my colleagues and members of the Waters College of Health Professions Dean’s Office responded,” stated Lee. “There was an overwhelming response in anonymous donations to meet this call.”

In addition to supporting the period pantry, food items were also donated to the food pantry on the Armstrong Campus. The first batch of donations, which filled a two-tier cart, were delivered to the Dean of Students at the beginning of February by Lee, who plans to continue delivering the collected items every month.

Lee has challenged her colleagues to continue to support the food and period pantries on the Armstrong Campus throughout the 2021 calendar year.

Want to join the cause? Donations are currently being accepted and can be placed in the donation bins located in Ashmore Hall room 106.

Posted in Faculty Highlights

Two Georgia Southern Programs Nationally Ranked

March 9, 2021

Georgia Southern University has received national ranking for two programs within the Waters College of Health Professions.

Best Value Schools ranked the Bachelor of Science in Radiologic Sciences with a concentration in radiography degree No. 4 on the list of “Best 25 X-Ray Tech Schools in 2021” and the Master of Science in Sport Management degree No. 6 on the list of “The 30 Best Masters In Sports Management Programs in 2021.” Both rankings were determined based on a school’s yearly tuition and graduation rate.

Housed in the Department of Diagnostic and Therapeutic Sciences, the Radiography program provides hands-on clinical experiences and builds on a foundation of physics, math and science to prepare students for high-tech careers that utilize radiation, magnetism and computers for imaging and medical diagnosis.

Housed in the Department of Health Sciences and Kinesiology, the graduate online Sport Management program is 36-credit hours and designed to provide academic preparation and practical experience in the skills and techniques required to be successful in the sport business and leisure fields.

Posted in Awards and Recognition, General Announcements