Dr. Wood Featured in George-Anne

August 26, 2015

One of our great anthropology professors, Dr. M. Jared Wood, was featured in Georgia Southern's student newspaper The George-Anne. Dr. Wood talked about his love of archeology and the great opportunities our archeology field students enjoy. As Dr. Wood said,

"As a student you take the things you learn and apply them out of the classroom. That's what many students are hungry for." Dr. Wood wants to give to students what his professor gave to him many years ago: appreciation and passion for a subject. "I still get up and love my job. If you integrate what you love into a career, life is good."
