Green Tip

Reduce Your Food Waste

There isn't a more iconic Halloween decoration than the luminous Jack-O-Lantern, and there are a few ways to make it a green one, too! By using as much of the pumpkin as possible, we can eliminate waste, save money, and reduce greenhouse gas emissions. Roasting your pumpkin seeds is a delicious and nutritious way to use something that you may have discarded.

This video and recipe are some good starting points, but feel free to experiment with the seasonings.

Don't forget to compost your leftover pumpkin guts and eventually your Jack-O-Lantern so they don't end up in a landfill!
