Brady Gwinn joins Teaching Assistant Program in France (TAPIF)

April 11, 2019

Brady Gwinn is the recipient of the Teaching Assistant Program in France (TAPIF), which offers the opportunity to work in France for a year, teaching English to French students of different ages. She will gain valuable pedagogical and language skills and experience French culture. Brady Gwinn is the second student from Georgia Southern University to be accepted into the TAPIF program, which proves that the French program at Georgia Southern values the language proficiency and intercultural competency. Félicitations, Brady! Congratulations to Brady and all her language instructors for excellent results.
