ABOUT THE COLLECTION

Biographical History:

Porter Wilkins Carswell Jr. (1904-1986) was the son of Porter Wilkins (1867-1905) and Arabella Walker Carswell (1868-1931) and was a lifelong resident of Burke County, Georgia. His family owned a cotton plantation of 3400 acres near Waynesboro, Georgia, named Bellevue. In 1980, the Carswell plantation was the oldest plantation still owned by the original Georgia family. Porter Carswell Jr. was a prominent farmer, civic leader, and politician. He served four terms in the General Assembly.

Porter Carswell Jr. was educated at Waynesboro Grammar School, Academy of Richmond County, Emory University, and the University of Georgia. He married Elizabeth McMaster Macaulay in New York on June 15, 1932. Elizabeth McMaster Macaulay was the daughter of Dr. Hugh Buchanan (1856-1908) and Rosa Moore McMaster (1875-1964) of Burke County. They had one son, Porter Wilkins Carswell III (1933-2005).

Porter Carswell Jr was active in numerous civic, fraternal, and agricultural organizations, including Sons of Colonial Wars, Children of the Confederacy, Waynesboro Rotary Club, and Waynesboro Chamber of Commerce as well as a member of the First Methodist Church of Waynesboro. Carswell was also instrumental in bringing electricity to rural Burke County. In the 1960s, Carswell was the editor of Waynesboro's weekly newspaper, the True Citizen, and served as a correspondent for the Augusta Chronicle. He also wrote articles for other newspapers, such as the Savannah Morning News Magazine.

Biographical history derived from Carswell family finding aid processed by the Georgia Historical Society.

Scope and Content: The collection consists of the papers of Porter Wilkins Carswell Jr (1868-1931) much of which concern Waynesboro and Burke County. Materials include personal and business correspondence, administrative records of civic and fraternal organizations in Burke County including Waynesboro Rotary Club, First United Methodist Church of Waynesboro records, and Rural Electrification Association (REA) materials.
