ABOUT THE COLLECTION

Administrative History: Founded in 1906 as a land grant college, the First District Agricultural & Mechanical School was a school for teaching modern agricultural production techniques and homemaking skills. First District A&M within two decades shifted its emphasis to meet the growing need for teachers within the state. Its name and mission were changed in 1924 to Georgia Normal School, as a training ground for teachers. Five years later in 1929, after the development of a four-year curriculum, it was granted full-fledged senior college status by the state, and the school was renamed as South Georgia Teachers College. Ensuing decades found more name and mission changes: to Georgia Teachers College in 1939, Georgia Southern College in 1959, and Georgia Southern University in 1990.

Scope and Content: This collection consists of materials related to the acquisition of land for the First District Agricultural & Mechanical School (Georgia Southern University), campus. Materials span 1906-1916 and include land deeds, correspondence, financial agreements, and other legal documentation. Prominent figures include Bulloch County residents, A.M. Deal, J.E. Donehoo, and Robert Lee Moore.

Acquisitions Info: Gift of Dr. Robert Moore Benson, September 1993.
