NEA Ranked as Fastest Growing Company

September 9, 2010

Tom Hughes CEO of National Electronic Attachments Inc., who is an Advisory Board member of the Center for Entrepreneurial Learning and Leadership, has had the business he founded ranked in the U.S. list of fast growing companies again this year. The formal press release is below – congratulations Tom.

Inc. Magazine Ranks National Electronic Attachment (NEA) as the 1609 Fastest Growing Private Company in America

NEA makes the list three years in a row.

ATLANTA, GA (September, 2010) — National Electronic Attachment(NEA), the recognized leader for electronic attachments in the healthcare industry, announces today that once again it ranks in the top 30 percent of fastest-growing privately held companies in the United States. Specifically, NEA ranks 1609 on the 2010 Inc. 5000, Inc. Magazine’s annual ranking of the fastest-growing private companies in America.

“We provide a valuable service that helps the healthcare industry become more effective and efficient by making sure that claims are paid faster and more accurately,” says Tom Hughes, CEO and president of NEA. “Our proprietary software and processes, as well as, our deep domain knowledge around claims, are the key reasons NEA is the industry leader. Our constant innovation to help the business side of the healthcare industry become better is the cornerstone of our continuing growth.”

For more than 30 years, Inc.’s list serves as evidence of the significant accomplishments of America’s top private companies, as well as, a testament to the creativity, resilience and tenacity of America’s top entrepreneurs.

NEA shares this honor with such notable alumni as Intuit, Zappos, Under Armour, Microsoft, Jamba Juice, Timberland, Visa, Oracle and other powerful companies.
