THE REFLECTOR

GEORGIA SOUTHERN COLLEGE

STATESBORO, GEORGIA

That annoying little girl on the front row got a gold star a whole month before you did. And it hurt. All she had done was to keep her desk clean. But the teacher smelled something funny around your desk. (It was last weeks lunch the day you forgot.)

It always seemed that she was able to get away with everything. Such as kicking you when the teacher wasn't looking, but if you kicked back . . .

Feeling like a condemned criminal, you were sentenced to a form of psychological warfare peculiar to grammar schools . . . THE HALL. There you stood, terrified, your most earnest desire was to become part of the wall. You just knew that the Principal would catch you, and then the jig would be up.

But then, like a gift from God, the door opened and you heard your pardon. "You can come in now."

You shared everything. You went everywhere together. You traded him your pet turtle for his baseball cards, but the turtle died and you had to give the cards back. You never fought . . . Well, almost never; there was that time he said that you liked Sally. Just because you threw spitballs at her and then she sent you that icky note didn't mean that you liked her . . .

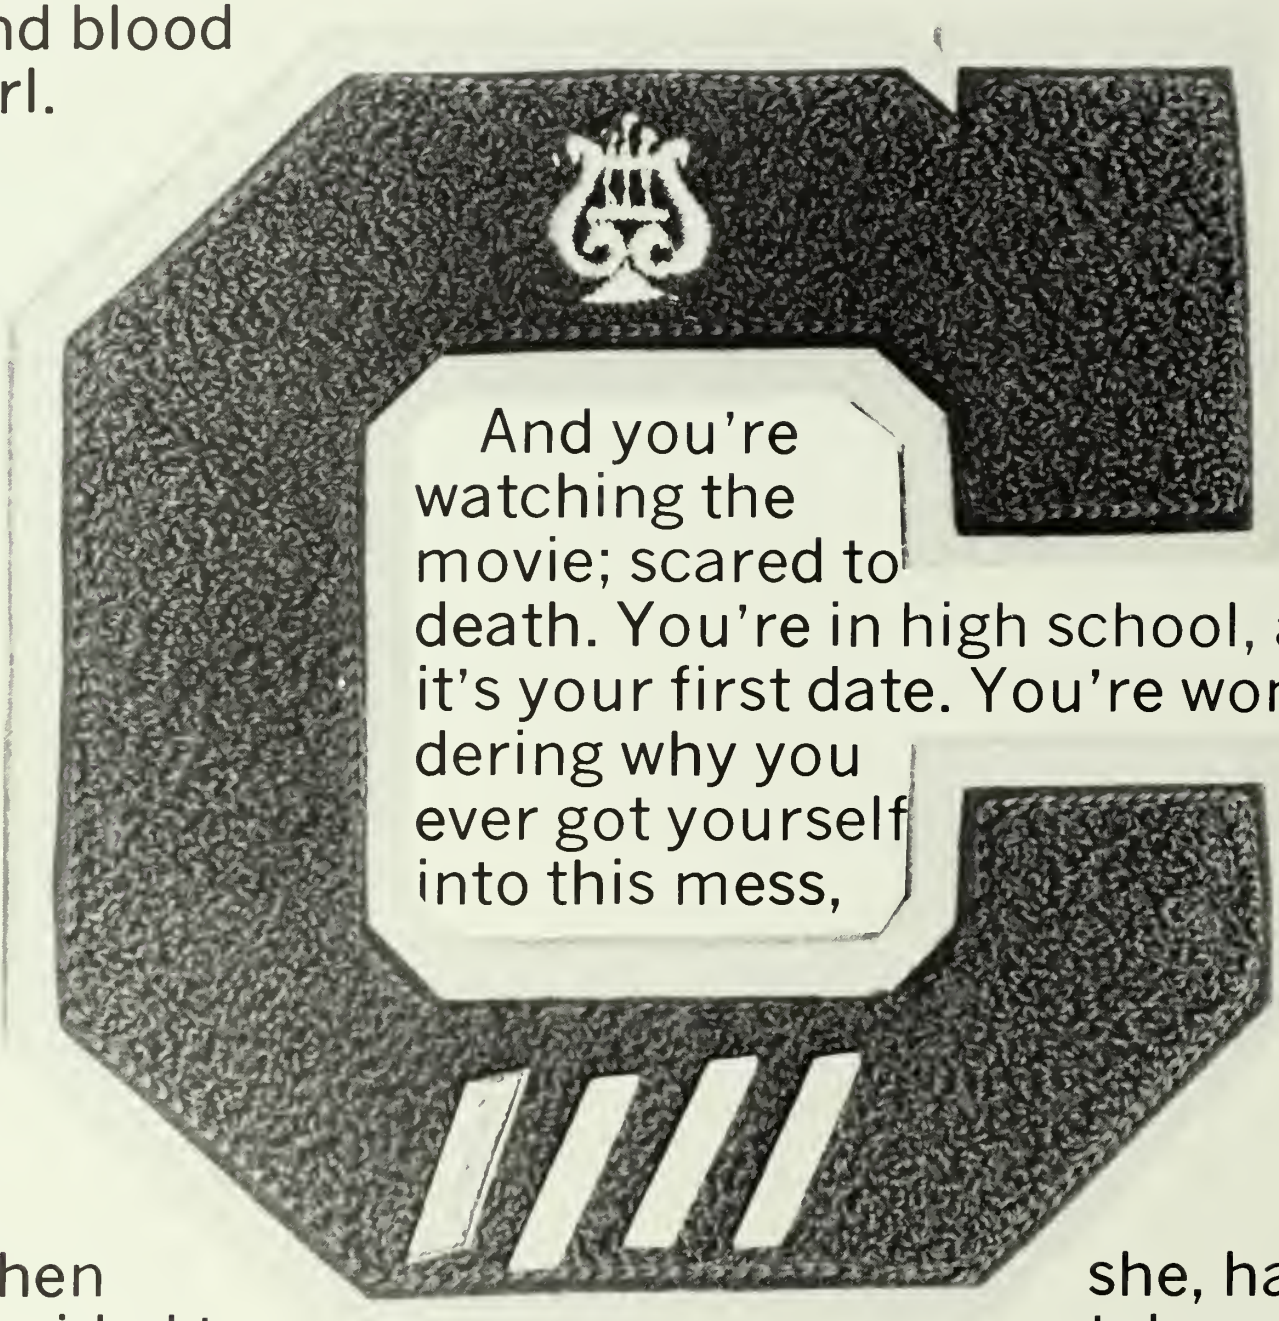
Your most treasured (and well guarded) possession was a dog-eared copy of Playboy stolen from your older brother. You weren't old enough to drive a car, but that didn't stop you from thinking about them. You knew the model, make, and horsepower of almost everyone of Detroit's efforts. You put cardboard in the spokes of your bicycle so it would sound like a motorcycle. You didn't think much about girls. And if you did, you wondered what they saw in things like stuffed animals, and the Beatles.

But if you were a girl, you understood it perfectly. You loved stuffed animals because they were so furry and cute. And as for the Beatles, well Paul had the dreamiest eyes. You couldn't begin to understand what guys saw in those loud, greasy cars.

What you were going to wear tomorrow, and more important, what your best friend was going to wear were much more interesting.

The Beatles Songbook
The Hollyridge Strings

You finally made it! You've thought about it. Dreamed about it. Prayed about it. And now here you are. With girl. A real live, flesh and blood girl.



And you're watching the movie; scared to death. You're in high school, and it's your first date. You're wondering why you ever got yourself into this mess, when she, having decided to take matters into her own hands, says "it sure is a dull movie, can't we do something else?" So you did. You took her home.

Mom and Dad pulled away in the car and there you were, on your own.

As you and the stranger that you discovered was your roomie contemplated each other across the confines of your 2 x 4 room, you were suddenly acutely aware of the feeling that you were a very small fish in a very large pond.

And you came to Southern because it was a small school.

Soon, however, you began to feel more at home as you were introduced to some of Southerns institutions.

Your education was beginning.

Your first lesson begins with the all terrifying, mind rattling experience of registration. This lesson includes late time cards, standing in line for 30 or 40 minutes to be told the class you want to take is closed out, and saying good-by to a close friend — namely money.

As you wearily trudged back to the dorm sadly thinking of your departed "friend", you begin to look at the world around you — the one you just bought.

All of sudden you realize that you've gotten a very nice looking campus for your investment. Your education continues . . .

"Which one?"
"What is it?"
Broccoli casserol
or Southern Surprise".
Southern Surprise?
What's that?".
"That's the surprise".

Having been "surprised" at the cafeteria, you no doubt went in search of a quiet spot in which to contemplate the condition of your stomach. You were sitting under a tree removing sand spurs from your feet when your head was almost removed by a low-flying Frisbee. Welcome to Sweetheart Circle.

Seeking a safer refuge, you wandered toward G.S.C.'s version of the Great Lakes. "Surely", you thought, "I will find rest here. But your reverie was suddenly shattered by a loud, distinct, "Quack". "Quack?", you thought, "But the Health Cottage is up the road."

Presently, a large group of individuals stormed the bank of the lake where they promptly sacrificed one of their number to the murky waters below. Fearing that you might be next, you furtively headed for your suddenly friendly dorm room, and . . .

STUDENT LIFE

SOUTH GA. TEACHERS COLLEGE

School Gets New Bus (1917)

Georgia Southern College, like all other institutions, is changed by time. First called First District A & M School, it was founded sixty-nine years ago. During that interval of time the school has been transformed from a class enrollment of fourty-eight students to five thousand four hundred fourty-eight students in 1975. For the next ten pages we will glimpse at various aspects of our school's past, and in this way we will hopefully be able to better identify ourselves with the past in order to change with the future.

Perhaps the most noticeable change is the appearance of the campus itself. Growth at GSC has not been destructive, rather a blending of old and new For example, Anderson Hall, Deal Hall and the Administration building were the first buildings constructed, and they are still in use. The Administration building served as classrooms and library in the early days. The library was moved to its own building, Rosenwald Library, in 1938. Next year we will be using our newly constructed library. The cafeteria was soon transfered from the Administration building to another building which also served as faculty housing. This building was located about where the old water tower is today.

Since its establishment, GSC has helped meet Georgia's educational needs. First, it was a Georgia Normal School, the First District A & M School, and its purpose was to teach agriculture and mechanics on the high school level. By 1929 there was an increasing need for teachers; consequently, First District A & M School was transformed into South Georgia Teachers College. The Georgia legislature dropped "South" from the school's name in 1939 making it Georgia Teachers College. The final change to date occured in 1960 when it became known as Georgia Southern College. Incidentally, the mailing address was changed in the same year; prior to 1960 all mail to the college was addressed to "Collegeboro." The school has evolved along with its name, and we are still in the continual process of change.

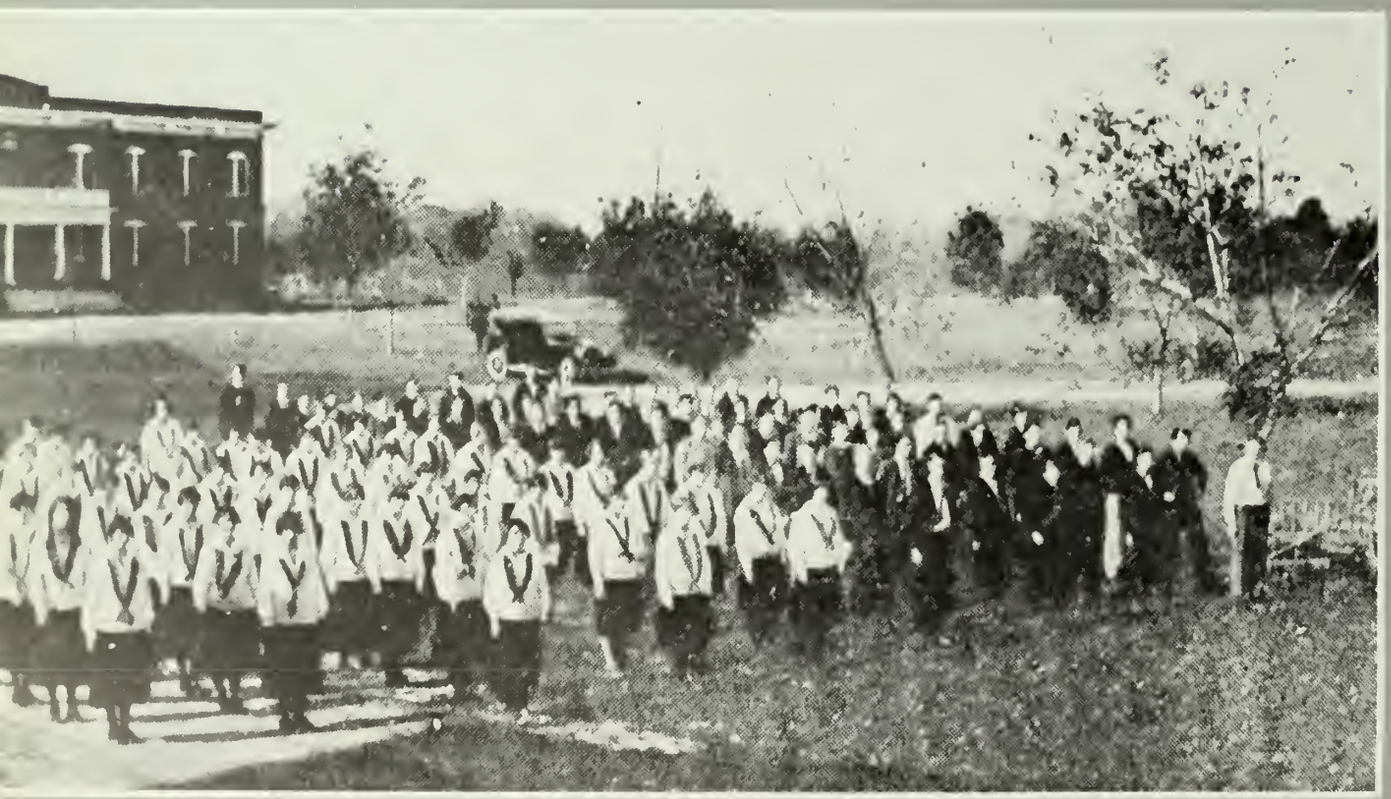
Junior Privileges

1. Girls may go to town in groups of two.
2. Boys may be away from dormitory 2 nights each week, not counting Saturday and Sunday provided they return to campus by 11:00 P. M.
3. Juniors usher for commencement sermon and graduation exercises.
4. Girls may walk to the big road in groups of two before sundown.
5. Girls not required to wear uniform.
6. Juniors sit at head of table.
7. Girls may go to show in town in afternoon in groups of two one day a week, not counting day all go.
8. Girls may have dates every Sunday night.

Senior Privileges

All of the junior privileges and:

1. Boys may be out any night provided they return to campus by 11 P. M.
2. Be exempt from last term examinations provided their daily class average is C or above. Students completing work in summer will count summer term as last term.
3. Girls may play tennis with boys any afternoon.
4. Girls in groups of two may go to town any afternoon except Sunday.



Not only the appearance of the campus itself, but also the whole system of rules and regulations within the school has changed. There was a time when classes were held six days a week, and students were not allowed to leave campus at all. Today, it is almost impossible to imagine mandatory mass calisthenics at dawn every morning, the required uniforms for men and women and attending college for the phenomenal yearly fee of $172. Throughout its history, GSC has been infamous for regulating the social life of its students. Women were allowed male callers "no oftener than twice a month," only with the permission of the Dean of course, and only on Sunday afternoons. The regulations were loosened with time as the school grew. Students were given more privileges; groups of two or three girls were actually allowed to walk to town on afternoons (with proper escorts, of course!), and soon dates were allowed on any weekend. Curfew hours continued to be extended through the years until this year when the curfews were abolished forever (effective next year, 1975-76).

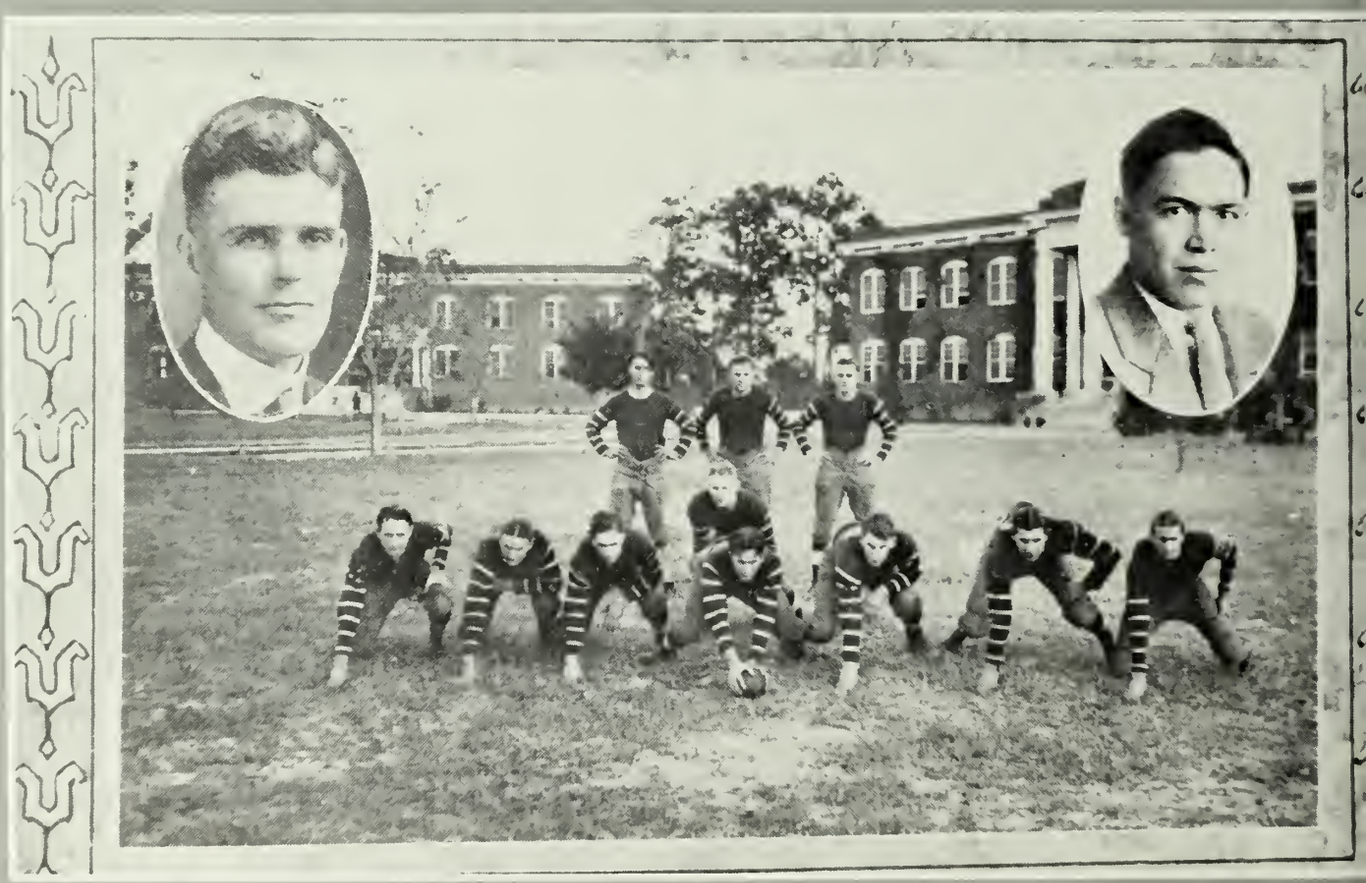
When you're down you're down,
When you're up against
Blue Tide,
You're upside down!

Hey! Fight!
Hey! Fight!
Hey team, Fight! Fight!



Athletics has always been an integral part of USC's program. As you can see from the photographs, our athletic program has changed somewhat over the years. Ah for the days when the girls played basketball behind Deal Hall, then known as East Hall, and the football team charged onto the field while the students yelled "Boom! Rah! Blue Tide Blue Tide Rah! Rah! Rah!"

Student involvement was important then as it is now, but it often was shown in different ways. For instance, the students wanted a swimming pool. However, the college could not afford to have one built. The administration agreed to furnish the materials if the boys would supply the manual labor. The boys did the work while the girls provided cool lemonade for refreshment. Granted we cannot hope for such simple solutions today but hopefully the spirit of concern is still present.

CLASS OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

With the election of officers in the freshman class on Friday, September 29th, organization of all the four classes has been completed.

The senior class has selected the following officers: Josephine Murphy, president, James Sullivan vice-president, Rosetree Lewis, secretary-treasurer, Martha Robertson, James Carruth and T. D. McNeil, student council representatives.

J. E. Smith was chosen to head the junior class, with Sadie Fulcher, vice-president; Charlie Munch, secretary; Carolyn Mundy, treasurer; Louise Quantrick and Leonard Kent, student council representatives.

Results of the sophomore election were as follows: Corinne Lanier, president, Edna Bennett, vice-president, Martha Smith, secretary; Alton Settle and John Gaissert, student council representatives.

The freshmen have elected James Chapman, president, Bob Pound, vice-president, John Bowen secretary, and Bobby McLemore, treasurer.

Societies Hold First Meeting

The Stephens and Ogiethorpe literary societies met Thursday evening at 7:15 o'clock, the Ogiethorpe meeting in the training school and the Stephens in the auditorium.

The Stephens' meeting was opened with a song, "T. C.'s Colors." Leonard Kent, president of the society, welcomed the new students. Carmen Brown talked on "What the Stephens has done for me." A saxophone solo was rendered by Shelby Monroe, accompanied by Corinne Lanier. Mary Haven gave a reading entitled, "The Best Road of All." The program was concluded with a vocal solo by M. Y. Hendrix and a piano solo by Leland Cox.

At the Ogiethorpe meeting Charlie Munch, president, extended a welcome to the new students present and introduced the officers and sponsors. Eloise Graham, vice-president, presented the following program: Violin solo, Terrence Brady; "Modern Romeo and Juliet," Annie Mae Hunter and Howell Martin; special music, James and Mary Townsend.

MUSEUM WILL BE OPEN NEXT WEEK

The Anderson Memorial Museum which was formerly located in the lobby of the auditorium, has been moved to the old training school building and will be opened to the public on Thursday.

The museum contains a rare and complete exhibit of birds typical of this section numbering over four hundred. Among the historic relics of importance are a lamp used during the first days of Mercer, a limb from the famous John Wesley Oak at St. Simons Island, a wonder decoration from the renowned Richard Malcolm Johnson school, and rare potteries and stones from various sections of the state.

Within the past year the museum has grown rapidly and has become the nucleus of a rare and growing collection of exhibits. Dr. C. H. Herty, of Savannah, has made arrangements to donate a complete exhibit showing the program of the paper industry.

Dr. DeLoach, who is in charge of the museum, stated that it is for purely educational purposes and the public should feel free to come at all times. He urged that anyone who could contribute to the museum do so.

Intra-Mural League Now Organized

The physical education classes under the direction of Coach Smith have formed an Intra-Mural League.

At a meeting of committees from each team composing the league the following officers were elected: Wilson Wilkes, president; John Gaissert, vice-president; Bill Stewart, secretary and treasurer.

A committee on rules was elected

BUILDING PLANS ARE PROPOSED

BOARD OF REGENTS ALLOT $265,000 FOR TEACHERS COLLEGE BETTERMENTS

Students greeted with much interest and concern the announcement Monday that the South Georgia Teachers College would receive $265,000 for new buildings and repairments. This money will be available as soon as the state board of regents are successful in obtaining $3,000,000 from the federal government for construction in various units of the University System.

Funds asked for this institution are allotted as follows: Water system, $12,500; cottages, $12,500; administration building repairs, $8,000; sewage improvements, $5,151; dining hall repairs, $5,125; new dining hall, $50,000, new science hall, $60,000, and dormitory repairs, $130,000.

Commenting on the proposal, President Wells stated Tuesday that the $120,000 for dormitory repairs would mean the construction of two new buildings and that the administration building repairs would include placement of a dome on that building, making it more attractive and modern.

Other projects included in the extensive construction program adopted by the regents is a special meeting early last week are to aid University schools all over the state. Funds are being sought as a part of the nation-wide public works program and formal request was laid before the state advisory board last week.

The Teachers College allotment was third in the state; the University and Tech each receiving larger sums.

Y. W. C. A. to Sponsor Masquerade Ball

The Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring a masquerade ball to be given at the gymnasium on October 7.

This is a unique party, a new moment in the social life of the college. It is the height of the entertainments that have been given for the new students. Sadie Fulcher, chairman of the entertainment committee, has charge of the program.

Each person attending shall come disguised as a movie star. The affair has all the elements of a success. It is an opportunity to show some hidden talent as well as to provide excellent entertainment.

This entertainment will be one of the many features of the year to be sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Association. Everyone is looking forward to seeing Greta Garbo, Nancy Carroll and others in person.

The Y. W. C. A. will sponsor the next party in the near future.

In reflecting upon all of the evident changes on campus, it is important that we realize some things remain the same. Having already mentioned the present usage of the school's original buildings, it should be known that GSC's students have other links with the past. The long lines in the cafeteria are not new GSC's students have been complaining about that problem for many years. Another common point of woe has been registration, and the frustrations it usually brings.

Since the early years of Georgia Southern students have been enjoying the publications of the "George-Anne" and the Reflector. The Masquers have been active for many years in providing entertainment for the students. To this day we follow many traditions such as the selection of the beauty queen and the lighting of the Christmas tree.

While it is good to reflect upon our school s past, we must continue to look to the future and act in the present. In so doing we can continue the tradition of progress at GSC.

In conclusion we would like to express our appreciation for the generous cooperation given to us by Dr. Zach S. Henderson, President Emeritus, and Mr Leodel Coleman.

Dark Corridors and Bright Lights Broke Up Fall Monotony

October '74 brought with it, as always, the dreaded midterm exams and Statesboro blues. Two events combined, however, to give bleary eyed students a brief, but gratefully received respite. The Ogeechee Fair arrived, with its usual complement of rides, games and hoochie-coochie shows, and GSC students promptly stormed the fairgrounds, gleefully divesting themselves of the pizza and beer money so carefully hoarded all quarter.

Less expensive "entertainment" awaited the stout hearted at the GSC Recreation Department's Haunted House. Ghosts and Goblins lurked in dark corridors, as supernatural hosts guided the unwary to premature heart failure.

One Good Band Deserves Another

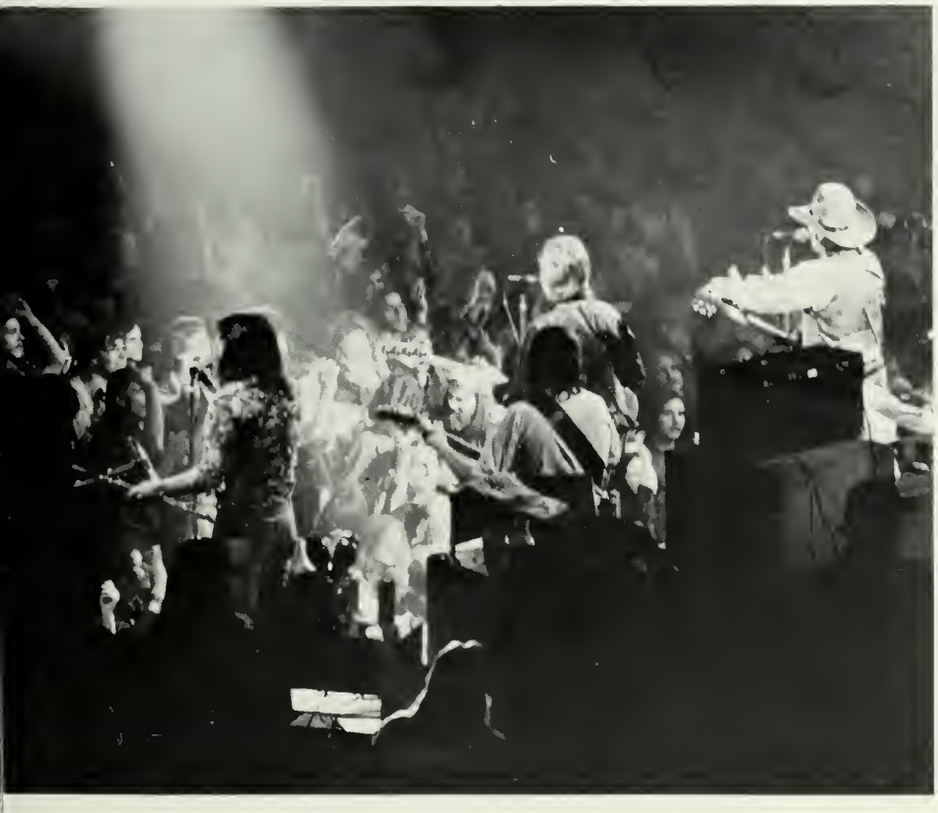
When students remember Fall '74 they will remember not the concerts, but rather THE concert. The CUB, plagued as always by cancelling groups, gained a reputation for quality, but not quantity when it presented The Atlanta Rhythm Section and R.E.O. Speedwagon in concert at the Hanner Fieldhouse. A packed house greeted the two bands as they came on stage to perform the Southern blues which had made them nationally known.

Concerts:

Guess Whos Coming for Winter!

If at first you don't succeed — try try again was the C.U.B.'s motto winter quarter.

First, a rumor was circulated that Seals and Crofts were scheduled, but it was denied by the C.U.B. Then the C.U.B. actually did sign the J. Geils Band, but they cancelled 2 days prior to the concert because of the flu. A somewhat panicky C.U.B. finally secured the Marshall Tucker Band and Grinderswitch. The perserverence of the C.U.B. paid off when a capacity crowd showed up to enjoy the southern blues and rock sound of the bands.



Greek Week

Spring brought with it a traditional activity for the Greeks at G.S.C. The annual "Greek Week" pitted fraternity against fraternity and sorority against sorority. Such activities as tug of war and a chariot race tested the Greeks in skills, endurance, and agility. Trophies were awarded to the victorious Greeks. The week was highlighted with the crowning of a greek goddess — Vickie Post. The week long activities were concluded with Zeta Tau Alpha and Kappa Sigma as overall winners.

Changes . . .

GSC had an unusually large number of changes this year and student sentiment seemed to be supportive of the progress. Of course we will all remember the rotunda and creaky chairs in Rosenwald Library, but hopefully we will not grieve too long. Likewise, some students were apprehensive when the landscapers tampered with mother nature around the lake. Fortunately she still reigns, except in a more structured and lucious manner. There were other additions, such as new tennis courts, handball courts, four new home management houses and our own radio station, WVGS. Also, a student center sponsored by the Methodist Church was constructed. Overall, 1974-75 has been a year of progress for GSC with the improvement of its physical facilities and beautification of the campus.

SLAVE

Musical Staged by Masquers

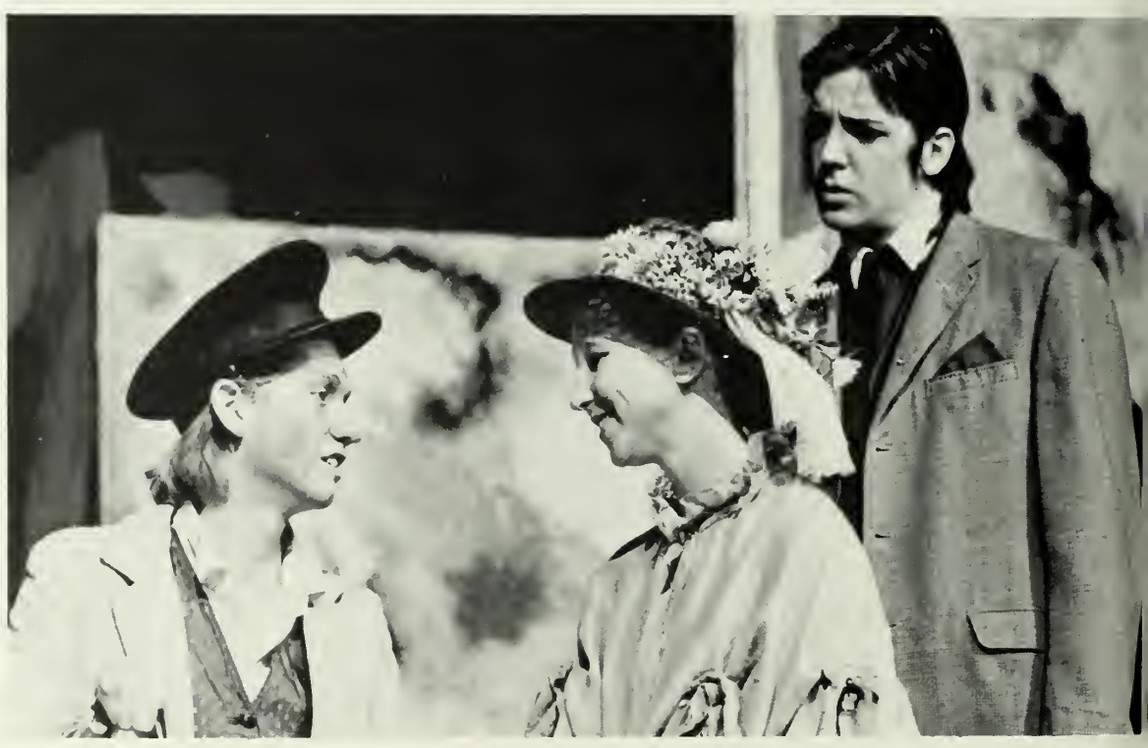
"Three Penny Opera," a musical with a cast comprised of twenty-one students was staged as the Masquers' Fall production. Dr. Robert Johnson directed the Masquers' rendition of Bertolt Brecht's "Three Penny Opera," an adaption from the "Begger Opera," an 18th century English musical.

Mammoth Cast Presents Macbeth

One of Shakespeare's most dramatic historical plays, "Macbeth," was staged by Masquers during Winter quarter. The talents of many GSC student and faculty were concerted in the preparation and presentation of the production. The play was viewed by many neighboring high school students, local residents, as well as GSC students and faculty.

The play lasted approximately three and one-half hours and was thought too long by many. However, considering the extreme difficulty in staging such a demanding drama, the Masquers are to be commended for their presentation of "Macbeth." The powerful drama of Macbeth's unscrupulous rise to power and his inevitable ruin as enacted by the performers will be a memorable experience for those who saw the performance.

Vampires Walk McCroan's Stage



In Spring Quarter this year, the Masquers out did themselves when they presented the exciting and enjoyable production of Dracula. After writing their own production and "improvising" a script, they were able to capture completely the drama and the mood of Bram Stoker's novel. The play was a fantastically blood curdling event, one that will not be soon forgotten.

Student Involvement . . . It Still Lives

Marring the almost unbroken apathy of G.S.C. students was a small, radical group of "doers". These people formed the staffs of the "George Anne," the "CCC," the "CUB," the "Reflector" and other left-wing groups.

The seeds of concern, despite heavy attack from almost every corner, survived, and in some cases flourished. A blood drive drew a large number of student donors, while other students gave up their free time to work with children and visit nursing homes.

Because of this group's existence, the perfect, complete state of uninterest was eluded for at least one more year.

Those Who Watch

The spectators' twisted faces, smiles, and frowns are reflections of the actions of the athletes. Whether it be baseball, basketball, tennis, golf, swimming, or gymnastics the spectator is an integral part of the event. Their mere presence boosts the moral of the individual players and the team as a whole. Their support often makes the difference between a win and a loss.

Coffee Houses Offer Change of Pace

Coffehouses were a welcome diversion of GSC students throughout the year. CUB sponsored a wide variety of entertainment — ranging from country, folk, and bluegrass to hard rock. Weekly performances by both local and professional artists were seen by many in the newly remodeled Williams Center.

"Sing and dance together and be joyous but let each one of you be Alone . . ."

— Kahil Gibran —

As spring quarter ended, another long time Southern institution drew nearer its own end.

The new library perched on the edge of the lake was almost finished and the Rosenwald Library, (that building with the odd front porch on Sweetheart Circle), with its echoing halls and crowded stacks, prepared to close its doors.

Countless G.S.C. students have spent hours on top of hours sweating out term papers, cramming for exams, or just reading the newspaper (or bathroom walls) under Rosenwald's roof.

Rosenwald Library

While attending college orientation you were probably told that the average student spends about three to four hours in class daily, and should devote approximately two hours of studying for every hour spent in class. Now those adept at math will immediately realize this leaves at least twelve hours of free time, and most everyone knows the typical student manages a few more than that. What did we do with all those hours? The answers are as numerous as the students.

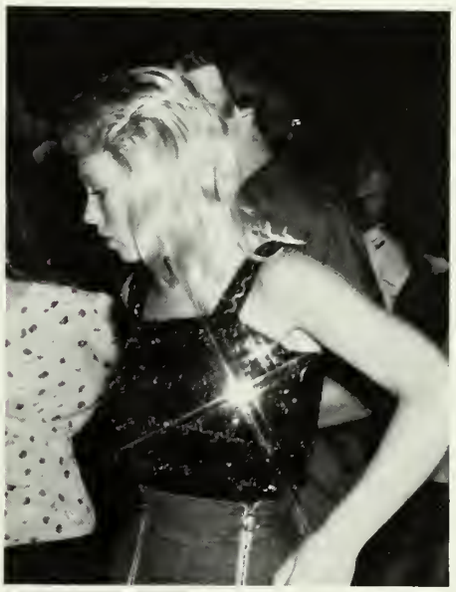
What Do You Do . . .

Miss GSC Crowned

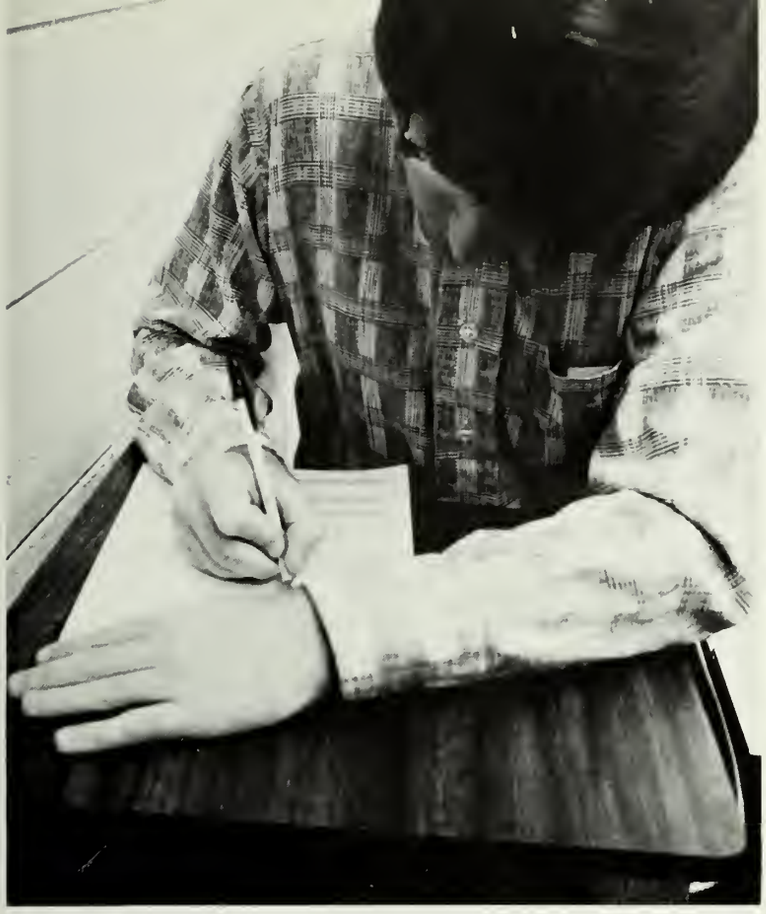
The annual Miss GSC Beauty Pageant was held on March 8. Seventeen contestants from various campus organizations competed for the crown and the chance to enter the Miss Georgia Beauty Pageant. The winner for 1975 was Memory Denise Watson of Phi Mu, the first runner-up was Tina Bonnel, and Joan Williams was selected as friendliest. Miss Watson received a $300 scholarship and will serve as GSC's official hostess for 1975-76.

Cub Sponsors Dance

Something unusual happened at GSC during Spring quarter. CUB sponsored a free dance and everyone came. Well, perhaps not everyone, but it was a great success. Choice, a popular touring band, performed in Williams Center while students boogied, bumped and rocked themselves to exhaustion.



NEDT, NTE, Rising Junior, GRE . . .

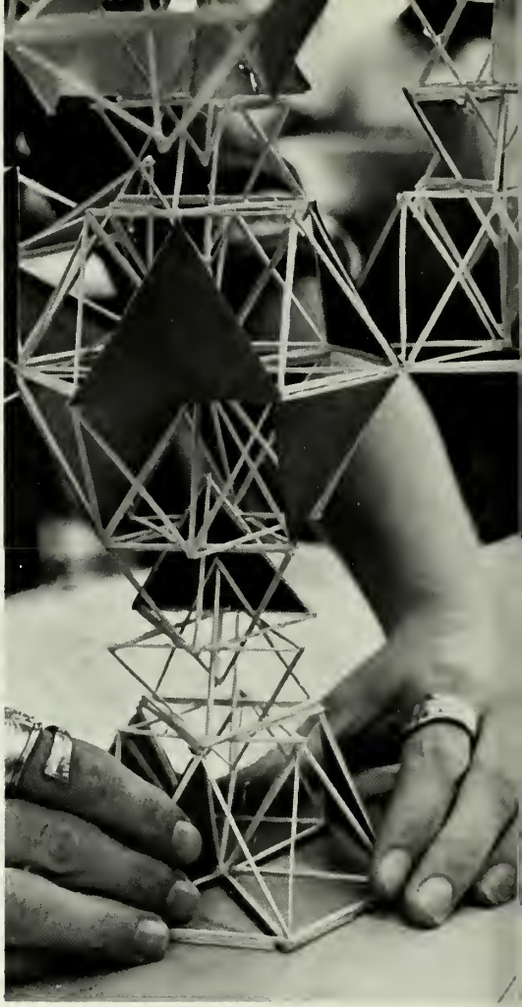


From first grade thru college there was one thing that was always with you — exams. They were inescapable, time consuming and universally regarded with distaste. The end of every quarter always loomed as a week-long ordeal, punctuated with No-Doz, coffee and insomnia.

Globetrotters Net Funds

A special activity rescued Georgia Southern students from the monotony of winter quarter. As a fundraising activity for the proposed J.I. Clements Memorial stadium, the Harlem Globetrotters came to the Hanner Fieldhouse. The show featured the 'Trotters performing basketball's most famous tricks. Also appearing with the 'Trotters were the National Frisbee Champions and a family of acrobats. A crowd of over 5000 thrilled spectators watched in fascination as the 'Trotters "defeated" the Washington Generals. A sum of over four thousand dollars was raised for the J.I. Clements Memorial fund by the event.

Artisans



Creating — that's what its all about. You must be ready to work, able to overcome frustrations and above all willing to experiment. There is something fundamentally elemental about working with your hands and creating. It is part of you . . . it is rewarding.

Lecturers

Dean Rusk and Sam Ervin headed a group of prominent Americans who were guest lecturers on the G.S.C. campus. Joining Rusk and Ervin were Paul Ehrlich and Erich Segal. Segal visited the campus fall quarter and gave a talk on the "History of the Olympics." Dean Rusk presented his lecture Winter Quarter on the topic: The Effects of a Future Nuclear Confrontation. Paul Ehrlich spoke during Spring Quarter on his book — The End of Affluence. Within the week, Sam Ervin gave the keynote address at Dr. Fielding Russell's retirement banquet.

Child of Nature, learn to unlearn!

— Benjamin Disareli

O nature!

Enrich me with the knowledge of thy works;

Snatch me to Heaven!

— Thomson, Seasons

The wonders of nature unfold endlessly, and each moment is a miracle . . .

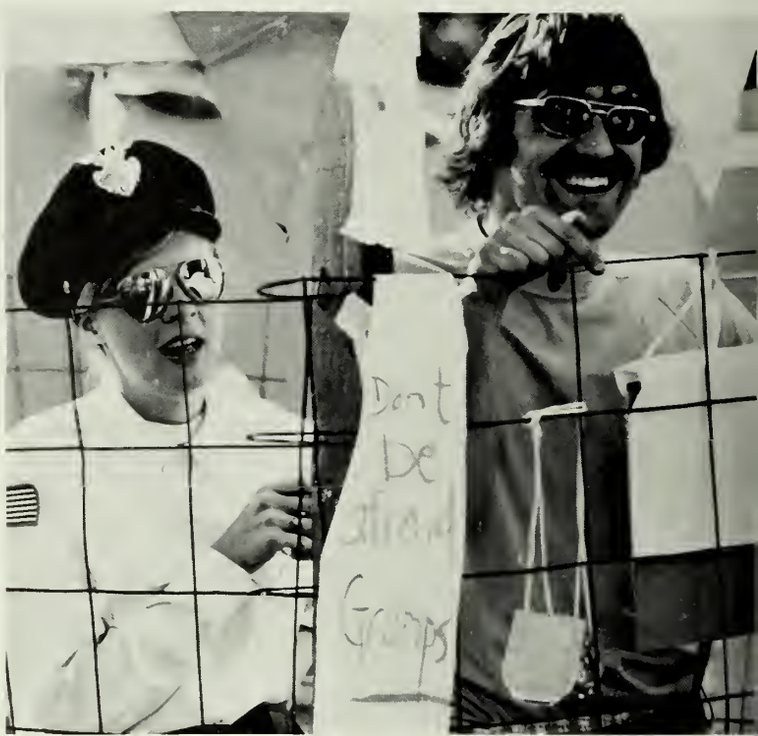
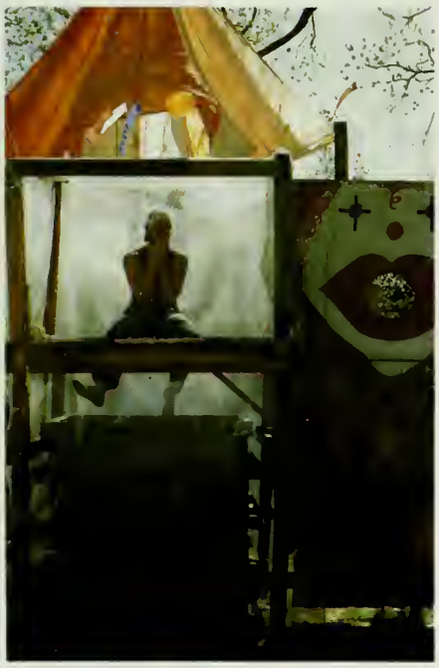
Homecoming, a time to renew old memories and a time to make new ones. A time for tradition, or maybe not.

With the 1974-75 Homecoming, G.S.C. students and alumni saw old traditions broken and new ones established. The first departure from past practices was the moving of the festivities from Winter to Spring Quarter. The next casualty to the annual events occurred when the parade was dropped in favor of a carnival.

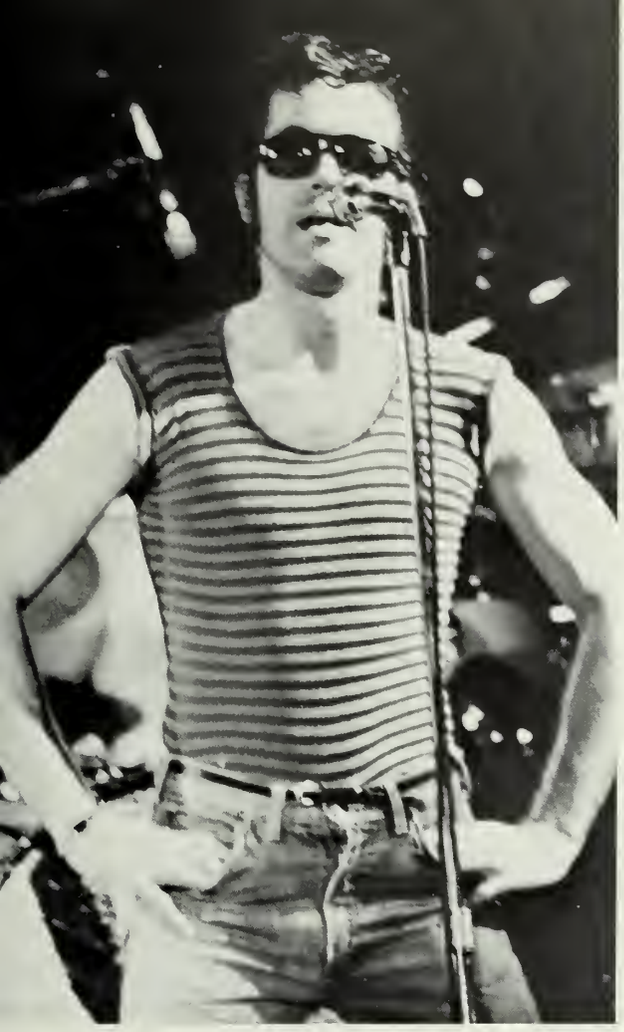
The carnival, held in Sweetheart Circle on a sunny afternoon, featured a bicycle race, a huge cake, and kisses for a nickel. The afternoon proved a tremendous success as students turned out in large numbers to savor the lighthearted atmosphere and Bluegrass music.



Homecoming '75



Music for the Homecoming concert was provided by SHA NA NA. The 50's style rock 'n' roll group packed the Fieldhouse and delivered a top rate, solid performance.



ΔΣΠ
Eagles

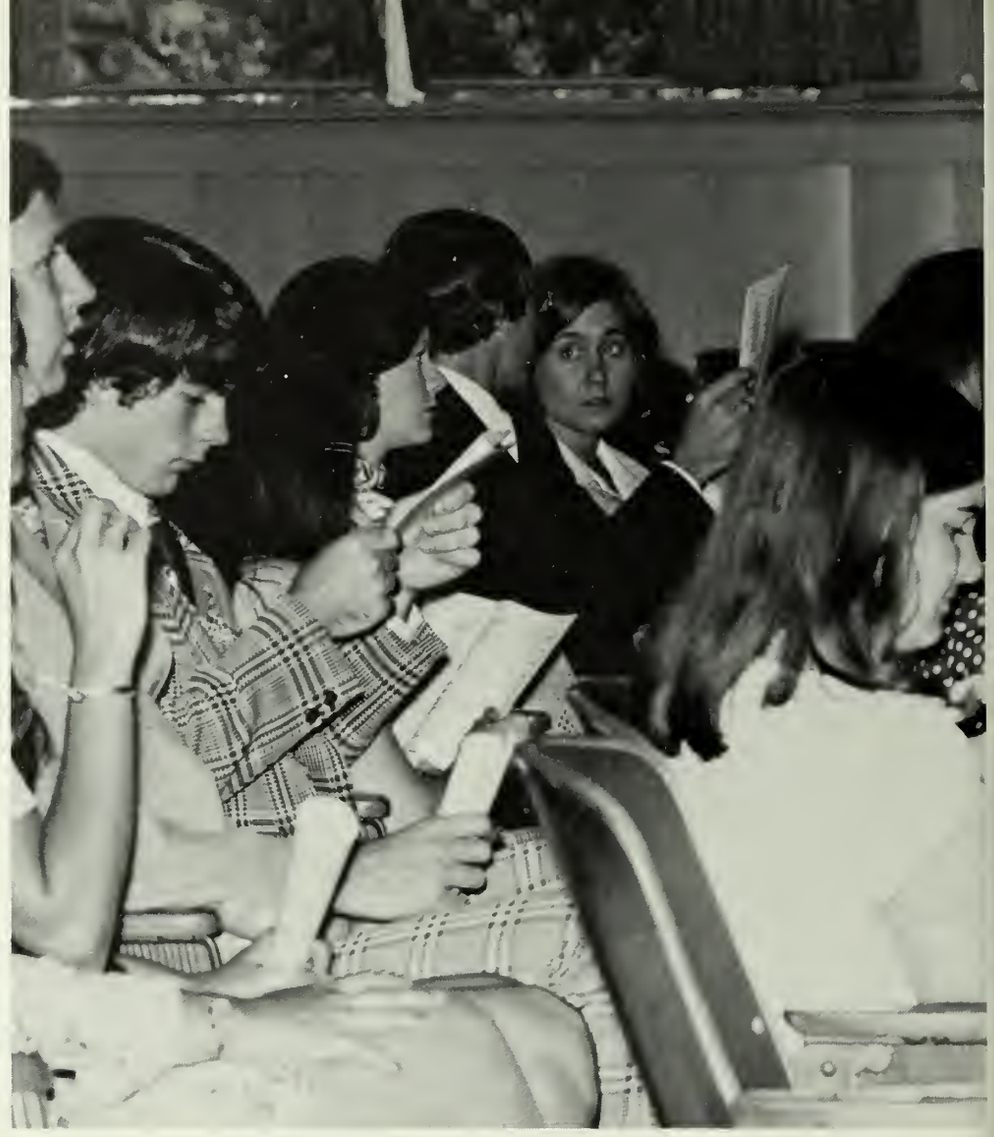
On Saturday afternoon, the Eagles shut out Western Carolina 5 to 0 after Miss Dale Weinkauf was crowned as the 1975 Homecoming Queen.

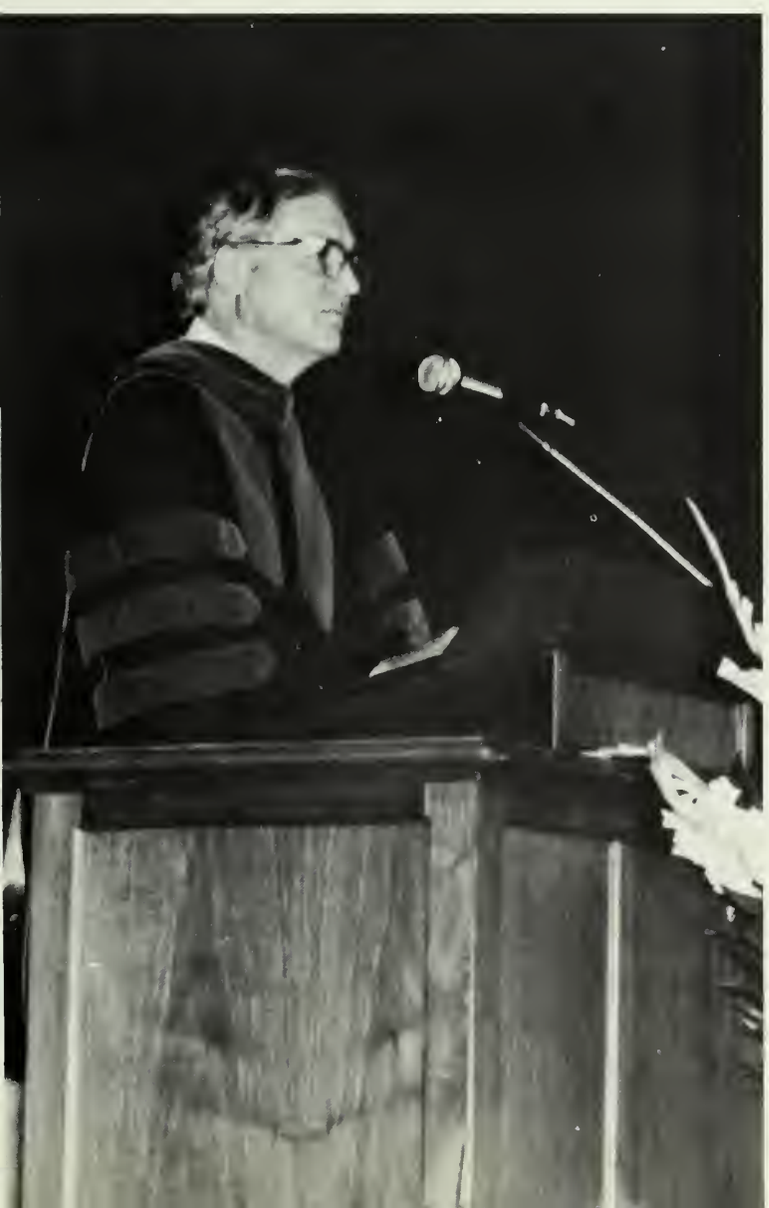
Honors Day

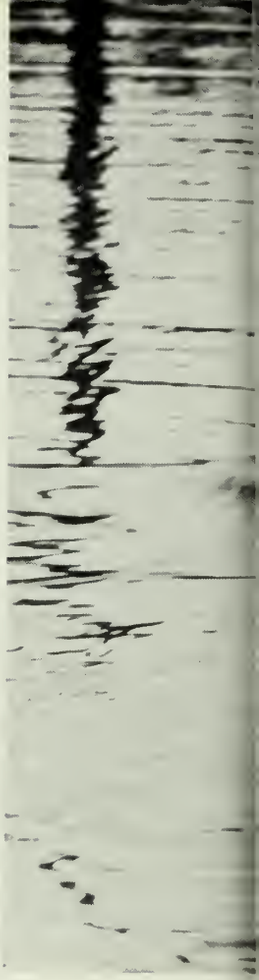
Honors Day '75 saw Dr. George Shriver named Professor of the Year.

A capacity crowd gathered in McCroan auditorium to hear Dr. William Word, last year's Professor of the Year, deliver an address on the state of the economy.

Over 400 students were honored for outstanding scholarship and constructive leadership at the ceremony.

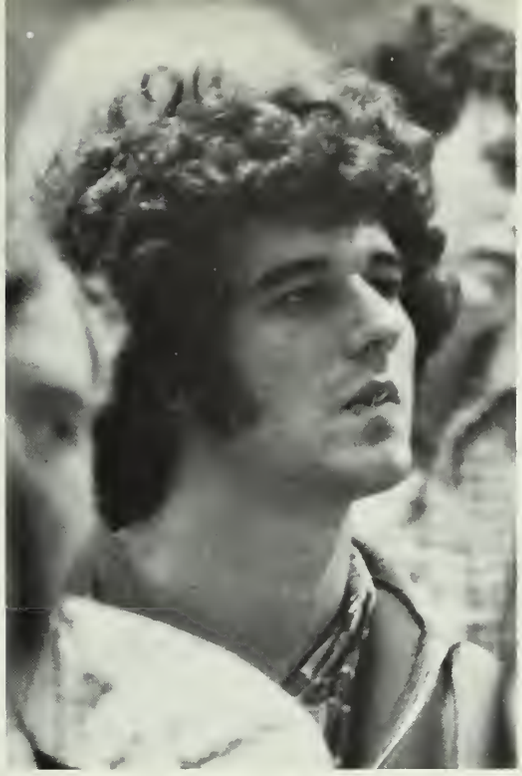






Campus Wildlife

Along with the several thousand students on campus during the year, we have several other special residents. From time to time we have a variety of dogs and cats, turtles and hamsters to keep lonely students company. It certainly is a refreshing sight to look out of a classroom window and see a friendly dog in the lake "romping" with the ducks. They may not be the most practical aspect of GSC — but they do bring at least a little bit of joy to most of the students.



Faces

Students Drown Sorrows

One of the most popular pastimes at GSC is participating in the traditional beer bust. Some enjoy this soothing drink to relieve the tensions and frustrations of campus living, some to forget a particular person's face, and others merely to enjoy. In any case, beer is a steadfast tradition at this school. GSC is truly becoming an institution of "higher" education.

Women's Swim Team Captures Fifth in Southern Championships

Finishing fifth in the Southern Championships is quite an accomplishment for the lady swimmers after only a two year program! Two school records were set: Lola Campbell with a :37 in the breaststroke and a :29 time by Donna Orford in the butterfly.

Don Welchco Leads Season

Coach Buddy Floyd's swim team, in the process of establishing itself as a Southern power in water sports, claimed a 6-4 posting for the 1974-1975 season. The young Eagle swimmers, who did not lose any seniors to graduation, were led by Don Welchco. Welchco, who continued to set records, climaxed the season at the National Independent with a 21.15 time in the fifty yard free style.

Waterpolo Team Ends Season With 8-1 Record

In its' second year of NCAA Competition, Georgia Southern's Waterpolo Team ended its' season with an impressive 8-1 record. Next year's team should be promising with all starting players returning, including members such as Mike Doan, who was selected as a member of the All-American Tournament this season.

Gymnasts Finish 6-1 Season

An outstanding team effort produced a 6-1 record for Coach Ron Oertley's Eagles. The highlight of the season came when Southern took second place in the Peach State Invitationals.

Prospects for next year were bright due to the expected return of Steve Norman, sidelined with a wrist injury this year.

Eagles Win Alumni Game

The First Annual Alumni Baseball Game was held on November 2, 1974, at Eagle Field. The Eagles defeated the alumni 14-4. Even that early in the season the potential pitching power of Pete Manos, Bob Geredes, Barry Beck, and Jack Vandersluys was readily apparent. Among the returning alumni were: Vic Correll — Atlanta Braves, Keathel Chauncey — Texas Rangers Organization, and Ken Szotkiewicz — Cub Organization.

Lady Eagles Upset #1 Berry

Improvement and optimism for the future marked the 1975 season of basketball for the Lady Eagles, as they posted a 10-11 mark, an otherwise good year despite several narrow defeats. The eventful season was highlighted by an early season win over Shorter College 65-61, and a thrilling 89-87 victory over the number one ranked Berry College in the post-season GAIAW Tournament held at Georgia Southern College.

The Eagles had a difficult time finding themselves early in the season with a 1-5 record going into the New Year. Their problem lay in working out their starting five and once a definite working unit was devised, they came on to win three games straight.

Womens Tennis

A young and inexperienced Lady Eagles tennis team finished the 1974-1975 season with a 6-9 record. A difficult schedule took its toll on the G.S.C. netters as they dropped their last five matches. Providing steady performances all season was junior Beth Warren who played at the number one position.

Eagle Netters Finish Second in State

Georgia Southern, winners of 13 of 17 matches during its spring season, continued its tradition as a prominent Southeastern power. A mid-season triumph over an outstanding Wake Forest team proved to be one of the top achievements of the year. The Eagles also made a fine showing at the Georgia Intercollegiate Championships as they placed second in the state.

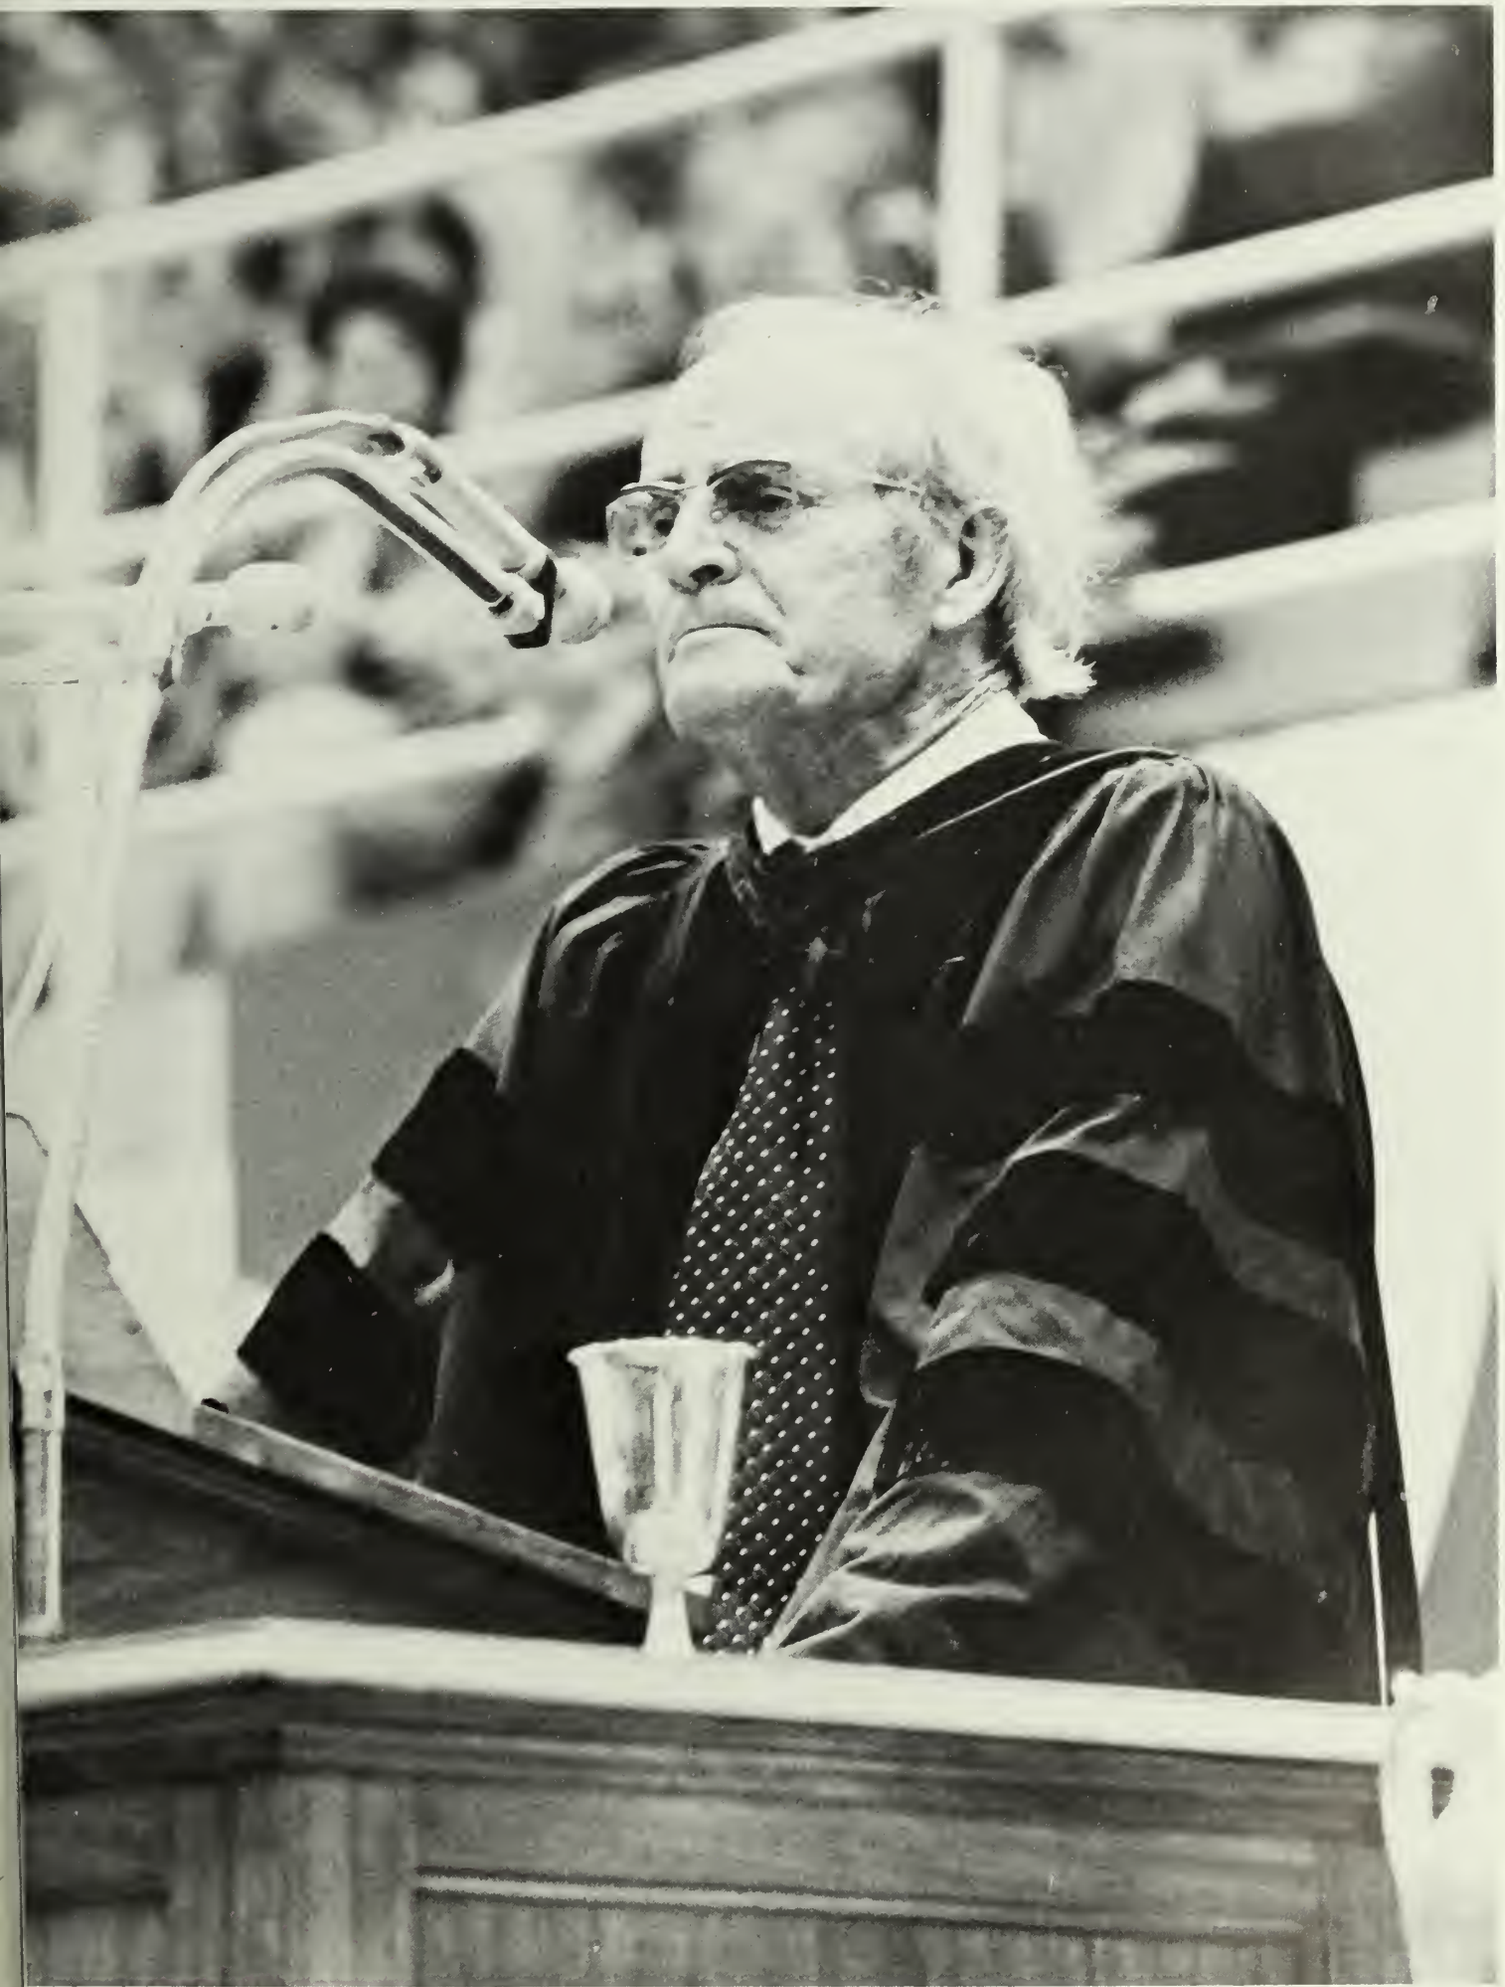
CONCLUSION

And then you put on a black robe, square hat, and walked across a stage to receive a piece of paper — the fruit of four years of labor.

Then you packed your bags and prepared to leave, eager to show the world your hard won knowledge.

Yet even as you packed, a small thought lingered; was this really the end of your education, or were you right back at the beginning?



There is a time-worn, hackneyed custom among yearbook people that the Editor takes the last page of the book for his own, at which time he launches into a long boring essay thanking anyone and everyone for anything.

So with that background information I'll get started.

Choosing those who deserve special recognition in the making of this book is rather difficult — everyone worked hard. Yet, looking back over the missed deadlines, lost pictures, and injured feelings, several people stand out.

Dr. Keith Hickman, our advisor, friend, and co-conspirator, he ran marvelous interference through mountains of administration red tape. Mr. Danny Scott and Mr. Tim Arrington of American Yearbook Company, who helped us in every way possible. Darlo Mock and Suzzanne Taylor, who finally got the Organization section together. My special thanks go to Hunter Publishing Company, who unknowingly provided the idea for the opening section.

And last, but in no way least, my heartfelt gratitude to Brenda Harkins, who slaved all summer to finish this book, even though her own section was finished. Without her it would never have been completed.

I hope you think the time, effort, and money spent on the book you are holding was worth it; I do.

Good luck Joey.
