In Spring 2013, the Betty Foy Sanders Department of Art will host a new and enhanced sale featuring student work from all disciplines of the department including paper making, graphic printing, graphic design, painting and drawing in addition to jewelry and ceramics. To be introduced at the department's annual ArtsFest event, this student-artist market will take the place of the former Club Mud sale, and will be held twice a year. We invite you to be a part of the exciting new event during ArtsFest, and look for additional student artwork sales to be held in the Center for Art & Theatre.
