IV Graduate Curriculum Items (App C)
Accepted
Senator Knofczynski: what if we have comments about the report?
Pres. Hampton: take any concerns to the Graduate Affairs Committee.

IV. Old Business
   a. Ad Hoc Committee on Furloughs – progress report
   Sen. Nivens: they had a meeting at noon and have yet to make a final decision.

   b. Constitution & Bylaws Committee – progress report on implementation of voting for amendments to the Constitution and Bylaws through COVE, and the time-line for the voting process.
   Sen. Knofczynski: in conversations with CIS, they need about two working days notice to make electronic voting possible. The goal is to have the amendment process in place by March.
c. Second Reading of Bylaws for Interdisciplinary Studies Committee Bylaws
   (App D)
Approved
Senator Hollinger: motion to amend membership to 2 years.
Approved.

V. New Business
Sen. Scott: by January 15, the Elections Committee intends to have the list of pending vacant senate seats to department heads. We need to get the elections underway by March, with the slate of senate officers available by April; but, that seems a bit late so we’ll encourage earlier development of those slates. This’ll be done by Survey Monkey again. Last year’s memo will go out again. We will need the senators-elect in place before the officer slate is constructed, in case any in-coming senators are to be considered for nominating to officer positions.

Pres. Hampton: Please remind dept chairs that senators need to be avail from 3 – 5 p.m.
the second Monday of each month.

   b. Resolution (App E)
Sen. LeFavi: this resolution has been created in an attempt to address the recurring issue of ex-officio membership and the expressed trepidation of junior faculty to speak freely to this body with ex-officio members present. Additionally, the language tries to reconcile the conflicting sentiments regarding how to react to faculty concern: either vote to remove ex-officio or ignore faculty concerns, neither of which seems most offensive to the whole body. I don’t know if I have this best worded. Then again, too specific language can get difficult as well. So this is what I bring, in the hope this issue can be put to bed.

Sen. Taggert: what does this accomplish that our extant mechanisms do not?

Sen. LeFavi: two things. One, this is specific to the senate. Two, mediator John Kraft says that we really don’t have mechanisms in place for faculty to follow. And this kind of resolution could support the evolution and creation of such a mechanism.

Sen. Hollinger: this seems to be stating the obvious. Also it’s based on a survey that again we said was non-representational. And a survey that was unclear. We do have a grievance committee.

Sen. Carpenter: you’re right, there wasn’t much response. But the ones that did respond clearly feel inhibited. And I tend to go with Bob on this, if something like this increases comfort level – what do we have to lose?

Sen. Mincer: you took the words out of my mouth.
Sen. Craven: who got the survey? Full time, junior, staff? We didn’t see the distribution list. The validity hasn’t been significantly established.

Sen. Knofczynski: I sent it to faculty senators with direction they disseminate to faculty members only. So that’s what I’m assuming was the response.

Sen. Price: seems to me this is not so much a validity of measure issue as an issue of inclusion. And the resolution seems concerned with that.

Sen. Winterhalter: what is, then, the burden on the senate to protect / support all opinion; considering it as a material reality and not philosophical position?

Sen. LeFavi: I appreciate that. It is hard to give this teeth.

Sen. Price: it’ll be difficult to link action to reaction. Any administrator worth their salt knows how to strike blows without leaving bruises.

Sen. Moore: I have some concerns: “we recognize we’re the voice of the faculty…” from the pre amble. Don’t accept a senatorial position if you are not willing to speak. Maybe we should create a mission statement as part of the constitution.

Sen. Childress: what your trying to do is wonderful but if I come in here and run my mouth and it gets back to my dean and there are repercussions how can that be linked? There is a line of inquiry at this campus and it has consequences, no matter what we write.

Sen. Price: perhaps what’s needed here is an accompanying statement from the administrators articulating parallel values.

Sen. Logan: I see this as a step in the right direction.

Sen. LeFavi: this resolution is meant to address real concerns from real people it is not meant to be a legal protection. It is meant to memorialize the obvious.

Sen. Childress: I would feel terrible not to vote for it. If it would help one person.

Sen. Craven: motion to amend the Resolution by deleting the third and fourth “Whereas” Statements.
Passed. 28 to 0. 3 abstentions.

Sen. Price: Motion to change first “senator” of the third paragraph to “senator or faculty,” And end statement at word “resolution,” and use “unequivocally” only.
Passed.

Pres. Hampton: now to vote on to the resolution itself.
Passed 27 to 4
c. Sen. Nivens: our dept is having issue with Registrar’s inability to wash out students who haven’t had correct pre-requisites. Also, post-baccalaureate transcripts are NOT checked. Remanded to Steering Committee.

VI. Adjournment 4:09

Jewell Anderson

Modify the Following course:
ENGL 5350 U/G Topics in African American Literature 3-0-3

Description: African American literature, with emphasis on historical, philosophical, and cultural contexts. Thematic approach to African American literature, with emphasis on historical, philosophical, and/or cultural contexts. Topics such as the oral tradition, autobiographies, the Harlem Renaissance, literary criticism and theory, religion, migration, the oral tradition, autobiography, popular culture, rhetoric, civil rights, slavery, sexuality, or literary theory.

Rationale: At this time the department’s African American Literature offerings are very limited. With the addition of faculty expertise in the field, the department seeks to broaden its offerings. This modification and addition of these courses represent that intention. With the proposal of the new lower-level survey course, ENGL 5350 can now function as a “special topics” or thematic course in which the instructor can tailor the syllabus to a focused, critical, in-depth exploration of one aspect of African American Literary history. Hence, the change from “and” to “or” in the new course description.

Create the following course:
ENGL 5355 U/G Black Women Writers 3-0-3

Undergraduate Prerequisite: ENGL 2100 or permission of department head

Graduate Prerequisite: permission of instructor or department head

Description: Writing by Black women. Topics may include race, class, and gender; history and society; literary and social criticism; political discourse; or Black feminist theory.

Rationale: This course is needed to address the large field of study devoted to Black Women’s experience globally—as reflected in political, artistic/creative, theoretical, longstanding national curricular trends in Black Women’s Studies, but also to the AASU student body demographic. Course will be included in GWST and AFAS as well. Course has cultural currency and relevancy. Graduate students enrolled in the course will be required to complete a longer research essay showing understanding of a theoretical approach discussed in class. Graduate students will lead a class discussion related to class readings.

CURCAT:
- Major Department: Languages, Literature, and Philosophy
- Can course be repeated for additional credit? No
- Maximum number of Credit Hours: 3
Create the following course:

Students taking the course for graduate credit will be required to complete more extensive research projects than their undergraduate counterparts.
Effective Term:  Spring 2009

Rationale: Our department desires to obtain pre-approval from the national board for our three-course sequence in applied behavior analysis (PSYC 5060U/G, 5061U/G, and 5062U/G) so that students who successfully complete the courses (along with other requirements) would be eligible to apply to take the national exam to be certified as a Board Certified Associate Behavior Analyst (BCaBA). OTHER REQUIREMENTS (6 hours)
XXXX #### Approved elective
MALPS 8200 Comprehensive Project
Master of Arts in Liberal and Professional Studies
Request for program changes

Rationale for changes:

Making GWST 5700G Perspectives in Feminist Theory required in the MALPS Gender and Women’s Studies Track.
The MALPS coordinator and GWST coordinator agree that a cornerstone course in feminist theory is needed if one wishes to earn a degree in Gender and Women’s Studies. This change does not alter the overall number of credits required for the MALPS degree.

Adding ENGL 5355G – Black Women Writers to the MALPS Gender and Women’s Studies Track.
This course broadens the Gender and Women’s Studies track offerings to include a survey of literature written from a minority and global perspective. This change does not alter the overall number of credits required for the MALPS degree.

Adding SOCI 5600 G The Sociology of Gender to the MALPS Gender and Women’s Studies Track.
This course broadens the Gender and Women’s Studies track offerings to include sexuality from a sociological perspective. This change does not alter the overall number of credits required for the MALPS degree.

Deleting ARTS 5760G History of Photography and ARTS 5770G Art and Identity
These courses were designed for a specific faculty member to teach and that person is, sadly, no longer with us. There are no prospects for teaching these courses. The department of Art, Music, and Theater will address these courses in their time, and have no issue with them being deleted from the MALPS Gender and Women’s Studies Track. This change does not alter the overall number of credits required for the MALPS degree.

Adding HIST 5540G Topics in US Foreign Relations and POLS 5520G Comparative Judicial Systems to the MALPS International Studies track.
Both courses add new academic elements to the International Studies track. This change does not alter the overall number of credits required for the MALPS degree.

Changed course number from POLS 5230G to POLS 5291G in the MALPS International Studies track.
The home department of this course changed the number already. This change does not alter the overall number of credits required for the MALPS degree.

COLLEGE OF HEALTH PROFESSIONS
The following courses were presented for Health Sciences:

Health Sciences:

1. Add prerequisite:
SMED 5060U – Physiological Foundations of Physical Activity 3-0-3
Prerequisite: BIOL 2081 and BIOL 2082 with a grade of B or better.

Rationale: Faculty members teaching SMED 5060U have consistently found that students do not have a sufficient understanding of anatomy and physiology to perform well in this course. The requirement that students earn a B or better is consistent with other higher-level SMED courses.

Effective Term: Spring 2009

2. Add prerequisite:
SMED 5070 U – Theory and Methodology of Strength and Conditioning 3-0-3
Prerequisite: BIOL 2081 and BIOL 2082 with a grade of B or better and successful completion of SMED 5005U.
Rationale: Faculty members teaching SMED 5070U have consistently found that students do not have a sufficient understanding of anatomy and physiology to perform well in this course. The requirement that students earn a B or better is consistent with other higher-level SMED courses. Additionally faculty teaching SMED 5070U have come to view the information in SMED 5005U as vital to successful performance in SMED 5070U and request SMED 5005U be made an official pre-requisite.

Effective Term: Spring 2009

Perquisites for these two courses effective summer 2009.

COLLEGE OF HEALTH PROFESSIONS
The following courses were presented for Nursing:

After a brief discussion, a friendly amendment was added to change the term Delete to De-Activate

1. Delete De-Activate the following track: Clinical Nurse Leader (CNL).
   Rationale: Interest in the track never developed despite extensive collaboration with area hospitals as it was formulated. Courses were never taught due to zero enrolment. Due to lack of interest, the Graduate Nursing Program Committee has recommended discontinuation of the Clinical Nurse Leader Track.

   Effective Term: Summer 2009
2. Delete De-Activate the following course:
   NURS 8820 (Clinical Nurse Leader I)
   Rationale: This course will no longer be needed once the Clinical Nurse Leader Track is discontinued.

   Effective Term: Summer 2009

3. Delete De-Activate the following course:
   NURS 8821 (Clinical Nurse Leader II)
   Rationale: This course will no longer be needed once the Clinical Nurse Leader Track is discontinued.

   Effective Term: Summer 2009

4. Delete De-Activate the following track:
   Post Masters Pediatric Nurse Practitioner (PNP).
   Rationale: Although there has been occasional interest in the PNP track, no qualified faculty has been found to teach the track since it was originally taught with 2 students by a Family Nurse Practitioner. Additionally, AACN accreditation now expects faculty with a pediatric specialty focus to teach pediatric courses.

   Effective Term: Summer 2009

5. Delete De-Activate the following course:
   NURS 8831 (Clinical Reasoning)
   Rationale: This course will no longer be needed once the Post Masters Pediatric Nurse Practitioner (PNP) track is discontinued.

   Effective Term: Summer 2009

6. Delete De-Activate the following course:
   NURS 8832 (Primary Care of Well Children & Families)
   Rationale: This course will no longer be needed once the Post Masters Pediatric Nurse Practitioner (PNP) track is discontinued.

   Effective Term: Summer 2009

7. Delete De-Activate the following course:
   NURS 8833 (Primary Care of Children with Common Health Problems).
   Rationale: This course will no longer be needed once the Post Masters Pediatric Nurse Practitioner (PNP) track is discontinued.

   Effective Term: Summer 2009
The College of Health Profession’s Graduate subcommittee voted to approve the deletion of the Clinical Nurse Leader (CNL) and the Post Masters Pediatric Nurse Practitioner (PNP) tracks along with the courses listed above

COLLEGE OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

Biology

1. Delete the following courses:

Rationale: BIOL 5810G is a course that cannot be used as a biology elective by majors.
BIOL 5810G has not been offered since the 2000-2001 academic year. Dr. Ronald Beumer (retired) taught the course to a small number of area health care professionals who needed graduate credit for job advancement.

Effective term: Fall 2009

Description: The study of devices and systems used to meet the communication needs of students with multiple and severe disabilities.
Rationale: Multiple and severe disabilities most often affect an individual’s ability to communicate. Inability to communicate impairs learning, assessment of learning, and often results in behavior problems. This course will give the classroom teacher the knowledge and skills to design a communication system for this population of students.

8. Change course prerequisites:

a. EDUC 6100 Technology Applications for Teachers 2-0-2

Special Education and Adult Education

1. Create the following course:

   EEXE 7319 Career Development and Transition Planning 3-0-3
   Prerequisite: permission of instructor.
   Description: This course will focus on understanding legal and procedural issues in interventions at the systems level of transition, including the following: identification of exemplary transition practices, issues in transition policies, dropout prevention issues, the vocational service system, ecological transition models, inclusive transition models of transition, self-determination and family involvement models, and continuous evaluation and improvement of transition services.

   Rationale: This course lays the groundwork for the Transition Specialist certificate endorsement by providing an advanced study of federal and state mandates concerning transition planning and preparation for students with diverse learning and behavioral problems as they move on to post secondary education and/or training.
Transition specialists are essential in high schools to coordinate transition services for students with disabilities that lead to positive outcomes for these individuals, especially in post secondary education and job training. Currently, 12.4% of school aged children in Georgia have disabilities. Students of this endorsement will be provided specific knowledge, skills, and competencies to foster and facilitate successful adult outcomes for students with disabilities. The focus is cross-categorical and the program coursework will provide information about current program models and research supporting effective transition planning for students served in special education. Following approval by the University System Board of Regents (BOR), students of this endorsement will receive a BOR certificate for Transition Specialist. Following approval by the Georgia Professional Standards Committee, special educators holding clear renewable teaching certificates in special education will add this endorsement to their certificates.

Effective Term: Spring 2010

From the Ad Hoc Committee on Furloughs.

Please note: committee minutes will be available beginning 3 February 2010 at the Faculty Senate Web Page. Thank you.

To President Linda M. Bleicken (please forward to Chancellor Errol B. Davis, Jr.)

The faculty of Armstrong Atlantic State University would like to voice the following concerns about the recent implementation of furloughs.

RESOLUTION I:

The faculty are dismayed by the disparate financial burden which the furloughs impose on 10 and 12-month employees. Adjusted for annual salaries, the pay cut for full-time faculty on a 10-month contract is significantly larger (3.06%) than that suffered by year-round administrators and staff (2.28%). In concrete terms, a 10-month faculty member earning $50,000 annually will lose $1,530 over six furlough days, while a 12-month employee earning the same nominal salary will lose $1,140, a difference of $390.
The President should be aware that the impression created by this unequal treatment has been a significant factor in the sharp deterioration of morale among AASU faculty, many of whom remain unconvinced by the oft-repeated talking point that “six days are six days.” An often voiced counter is that faculty can work in the summer to make up the difference. While true that some faculty can work in the summer, this is not an option for everyone, nor is it included in the faculty contract. Also, faculty contracted for 10 months, are not eligible for unemployment in the summer and summer sessions are not an option for many. Thus, this is not an equal opportunity response.

Proposed Action I:

Base furlough salary adjustments on percentage of total salary, not on number of furlough days.

Resolution II:

The faculty have been assured that, notwithstanding the economic and budgetary 危机, our teaching will not suffer, and that therefore there will be no furloughs on class days. Also, as more and more classes are taught by part-time faculty with no service expectations and with the increased enrollment, it is likely that the burden of committee work and advising for full-time faculty is going to increase. If neither teaching nor service will be affected, the faculty would like to know what method will be used to calculate an appropriate reduction in faculty workload relative to the percentage reduction in salaries. Is the administration considering a reduction in scholarship expectations for tenure and promotion? This is an important issue in a time when the university is pushing for more scholarly activities. As salaried employees, we are expected to complete tasks and are paid for completing these tasks; few of us work just nine to five to get our jobs done. As a result, furloughs currently force us to do more work at home or on the weekends, and are nothing more than pay-cuts with a new name. This culminates in the faculty being asked to do MORE for less money. Furthermore, it is patently unjust to increase tenure and promotion expectations during a furlough and travel expense reduction. Thus, it would seem contradictory to increase tenure and promotion expectations when furlough implementation is designed to reduce work load in order to address budget constraints. Likewise, budget constraints reducing travel and educational reimbursement are not supportive of increasing scholarly activities at this time. The administration should officially charge the tenure and promotion committee for the university to reduce the research and service expectations by a commensurate amount, given the furloughs and reduction in travel support for presentations.

The faculty are aware that furlough days can not be on teaching days (or risk university accreditation) and there must be some showing of a reduction of work (real or otherwise) in order to enact the furlough. Many faculty feel that the state government will consider the use of furloughs an acceptable operating practice if the students are not impacted. The senate encourages the administration at AASU to be creative in dealing with these situations. For example, the furlough days considered for 2009-2010 did not include commencement exercises, which are days we are required to work but do not affect instruction and could be justified as following the intent of the furlough program. The faculty are not saying this should be done, just that there are ways to affect the students, their parents and the state government without affecting teaching.

Proposed Action II:

The following suggest creative reduction of faculty workload without impacting instruction
- Reduce expected office hours
- Reduce advising time period
- Add an extra reading day (for a furlough day) and compact the final exam schedule (i.e. students can take two exams per day)
- Make commencement exercises optional for faculty
- Normal scholarship expectations are considered “outstanding” while furloughs are imposed

Conclusion:

The statement that “teaching will not be affected” is inaccurate at best. Faculty use those non-class days to prepare for lectures, grade papers and tests, advise students, and perform other work directly related to instruction. With the loss of six days combined with increases in service work and class sizes, the time available for class preparation will be diminished, resulting in an unavoidable decrease in teaching quality.

Also, the faculty is interested to learn whether the language allowing for furloughs will be included in faculty contracts beyond the current academic year, and if so, when we can expect the cessation of a budget-reducing method so unsuitable to academic work. There is also some concern that the Governor is the one who decides that we need furloughs when our contracts state that the decision is to be made by the President. We urge the President to involve the faculty and prepare wisely for any future contingency and would like to impress upon her awareness the devastating effects that furloughs have on the faculty's morale.

Memorandum

From: Kevin Hampton
President, Faculty Senate

To: Angela Ryczowski, Chair
Peggy Mossholder, Secretary

Charge: A concern has been raised in the Chemistry Department that students are being placed in courses for which appropriate prerequisites have not been met. Likewise, the transcript analyses for students entering post-baccalaureate programs of study have not successfully identified missing prerequisite courses. These issues can have significant consequences on students’ possibilities for success, retention, and graduation.

Your committee’s charge is to examine the issues of prerequisites and transcript analyses with the Office of the Registrar to see if this is an isolated issue unique to the Chemistry Department, or a campus-wide issue. It would be appropriate to consult with the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs as well.

Please bring your findings to the Faculty Senate in the form of a report at the March 8, 2010 senate meeting. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Charge: A concern has been raised in the Faculty Senate that the grievance process at Armstrong Atlantic State University is at best, unclear, and that the Faculty Handbook does not reflect an updated version of the policy since the transition to shared governance on campus.

Your charge is to consult with the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs to determine the timeline and procedure for updating the Faculty Handbook, and to clarify the grievance procedure for faculty at Armstrong Atlantic State University.

Please bring your findings to the Faculty Senate in the form of a report at the March 8, 2010 senate meeting. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.
