Appendix B

As a senator, what can I do?

Senators shall have full privileges of the Senate, including but not limited to the following: rights to introduce resolutions, make motions, vote on motions, call for additional meetings, and other privileges as defined in the most current edition of Robert's Rules of Order.

How do I make a motion?

“To make a main motion, a member must obtain the floor ... when no other business is pending and when business represented by the motion is in order. The member then makes his motion, in simple cases by saying, “I move that ...”

(Robert’s Rules of Order, 10th ed., p. 32)

How do I introduce a resolution?

“For more important or complex questions, or when greater formality is desired, he presents the motion in the form of a resolution. The usual wording then is, “I move the adoption of the following resolution ... A resolution or a long or complicated motion should be prepared in advance of the meeting, if possible, and should be put into writing before it is offered.” (ibid.)

How do I get an item, such as a resolution I wish to propose, on the agenda?

According to our by-laws the Steering committee sets the agenda. This committee is chaired by the president of the Senate. (By laws, Art IX, sect A). Members should contact the president or other member of the Steering committee to have an item placed on the agenda,

If I introduce a complex motion or resolution from the floor of the Senate, will it be debated and voted up or down?

Anything you propose is subject to the Senate’s deliberative procedure. Complex motions and resolutions are typically referred to the appropriate Senate committee(s) for review, prior to Senate floor debate and final resolution. Robert’s Rules indicates this is “advisable” (p. 473) although for a less complex motion, committee referral may not be needed.

What if I want to call an additional Senate meeting?

“Special meetings of the Senate may be called by the President of the Senate or when requested by petition of either twenty-five percent of the voting members of the Senate or by fifteen percent of the faculty.” (Senate constitution, Art V, sect A)

CSDS 3450 2240 Normal Speech and Language Development 3-0-3
Prerequisite: ~~Admission to the Communication Sciences & Disorders Program~~ None

Rationale: This course has been moved from the junior year to the sophomore year in the undergraduate course rotation. Council on Academic Accreditation of American Speech-language Hearing Association recommends courses dealing with normal speech/language processes are taught prior to courses discussing disorders of speech/language. The move was made due to this recommendation. The new number better indicates the level of the course and its position within the plan of study and will be taken by students prior to admission in the program.

Rationale: The number of Pre-Business students is growing. These students all intend to finish degrees at other institutions, primarily because we have no business degree. Many of these students came to AASU because they would rather be here, but we are losing them. The applied nature of this program is very likely to keep many of these students at AASU. This would be a very attractive major to absorb some of the growth expected with the completion of the new student housing and the imposition of campus residency requirements.

Resource Needs

With the addition of administrators to the teaching faculty, there are faculty members on campus capable of teaching most or all of the new courses. We might need two part-time faculty members plus additional sections of accounting depending on the growth of the program.

Armstrong Atlantic State University Faculty Senate

FSR 004.09/10

Approved October 19, 2009

RESOLUTION

Whereas we the faculty senate of Armstrong Atlantic State University take into account the myriad constituencies with a vested interest in the university's summer schedule we resolve that the summer schedule follow a 4/4/6/8 scheme, with an option as necessary for 10 week classes.

Whereas the interests of adequate leave time and study abroad commitments have been considered, we resolve beginning dates for the first 4-week term be within the first week of June and ending dates of the individual terms roughly coordinate.

From the Planning, Budget, & Facilities Committee:

Report on the Charge from the Faculty Senate to Write a Resolution on Furloughs and Related Matters.

October 13, 2009

The Planning, Budget, & Facilities (PBF) Committee met on Oct. 9th. The first item on the agenda was the charge from the Faculty Senate to prepare a resolution from the faculty that would address several points regarding furloughs, among them:

- the disparity in financial burden caused by furloughs on 10 and 12 month employees
- calculation of an appropriate reduction in faculty workload relative to the reduction in salaries
- whether the language allowing furloughs will remain in faculty contracts beyond this academic year

Our approach to the resolution was to consider the draft released by the Faculty Welfare Committee with an eye toward making suggestions and/or including our own concerns.

Most of our time went to discussing the disparate percentages used for 10- and 12-month employees when calculating the salary reduction for furlough days, which result from the differing number of work days in 10- and 12-month contracts. The draft resolution, reflecting the position of the Faculty Senate, argues that this is an unfair distribution of the economic burden of furloughs. The counter argument is that there is in fact no disparity between 10- and 12- month salaries when length of contract is factored in. Some committee members argued that the disparity is real, but its true size depends on whether faculty teach summer school and on how many summer courses they teach. Others pointed out that the opportunity to increase income by teaching summer school is not available to all faculty. Some have to teach during summers, some don't have the opportunity, and still others have their choice of teaching one, two, or even three courses. The consensus was that a resolution that attempts to deal with all the possible cases would be nearly impossible to craft, while one specifying a percentage applying to all 10-month faculty, as the draft does, would be inaccurate and therefore ineffective.

On the reduction of workload, the Committee agreed that there is no meaningful way to reduce scholarship requirements in proportion to the income lost to furloughs. The Faculty Welfare Committee draft suggests a 25% reduction in the scholarship requirement, but the PBF Committee does not believe that such a reduction could be implemented. It might be better for the resolution to state simply that furloughs are unfair because faculty workloads can't be reduced, rather than to ask for a workload reduction.

On the final point, inclusion of language allowing furloughs in future contracts, the committee agreed that the language probably will remain. This language was written at the System level, and it is likely that the System will want to retain some flexibility in dealing with any future budget reductions.

The broader difficulty with this resolution is the charge handing it off to three different committees. We on the PBF committee at least do not believe that we can write a resolution that the Faculty Senate will find acceptable. As chair of the Committee, I respectfully suggest that the Faculty Senate itself, or an ad hoc committee thereof, is in the best position to write a resolution that accurately and fully represents its concerns.

Respectfully submitted,

Doug Frazier
Chair, Planning, Budget & Facilities Committee

From the Faculty Welfare Committee:

To President Linda M. Bleicken (please forward to Chancellor Errol B. Davis, Jr.)

RESOLUTION

The faculty of Armstrong Atlantic State University would like to voice the following concerns about the recent implementation of furloughs.

First, the faculty are dismayed by the disparate financial burden which the furloughs impose on 10 and 12-month employees. Adjusted for annual salaries, the pay cut for full-time faculty on a 10-month contract is significantly larger (3.06%) than that suffered by year-round administrators and staff (2.31%). In concrete terms, a 10-month faculty member earning $50,000 annually will lose $1,530 over six furlough days, while a 12-month employee earning the same nominal salary will lose $1,155, a difference of $375. The President should be aware that the impression created by this unequal treatment has been a significant factor in the sharp deterioration of morale among AASU faculty, many of whom remain unconvinced by the oft-repeated talking point that “six days are six days.”

Second, we have been assured that, notwithstanding the economic and budgetary crisis, our teaching will not suffer, and that therefore there will be no furloughs on class days. Also, as more and more classes are taught by part-time faculty with no service expectations, it is likely that the burden of committee work and advising for full-time faculty is going to increase. If neither teaching nor service will be affected, the faculty would like to know what method will be used to calculate an appropriate reduction in faculty workload relative to the percentage reduction in salaries. Is the administration considering a reduction in scholarship expectations for tenure and promotion? With teaching and service unaffected by our 3% pay cut, a 12% (assuming that scholarship makes up 25% of our workload) reduction in scholarship requirements may be appropriate (to be adjusted by college and departments).

In addition, the statement that “teaching will not be affected” is inaccurate at best. Faculty use those non-class days to prepare for lectures, grade papers and tests, advise students, and perform other work directly related to instruction. With the loss of six days combined with increases in service work and class sizes, the time available for class preparation will be diminished, resulting in an unavoidable decrease in teaching quality.

Third, the faculty is interested to learn whether the language allowing for furloughs will be included in faculty contracts beyond the current academic year, and if so, when we can expect the cessation of a budget-reducing method so unsuitable to academic work. We urge the President to involve the faculty and prepare wisely for any future contingency and would like to impress upon her awareness the devastating effects that furloughs have on the institution's morale.

RE: Report on the Charge from the Faculty Senate regarding furloughs

The Student Success Committee was to address the following concerns of the Faculty Senate in regards to furloughs and other matters:

the use of campus data from the last budget reduction (2002), and its subsequent effect on graduation and retention rates, incorporating the following information
the comparison of Full-Time, tenure-track positions eliminated
the increase of Part-Time instruction that occurred
the loss of well-qualified Faculty to other institutions outside the state of Georgia as a result of such reductions.

Many outlets to obtain data were pursued on- and off-campus with varying degrees of success. Data that is available at this time can be found attached to this report, Appendix A, with a color-coded key at the bottom to clarify where the data originated. Please note additional data has been requested but not provided as of this date from on-campus resources. Each bullet item will be addressed below as thoroughly as possible at this time:

• the comparison of Full-Time, tenure-track positions eliminated

Data requested but not available at this time. (Appendix A documents the number of Full-Time and Part-Time Faculty that were employed, versus positions eliminated.)

• the increase of Part-Time instruction that occurred

Records of the number of Full-Time and Part-Time Faculty were compiled with data from the Board of Regents website through the Office of Research and Policy Analysis and Phyllis Panhorst on campus, Appendix A. Data from the Board of Regents website is available for years 2000 and 2004-06 showing the numbers of FT and PT Faculty as well as the percentage of courses taught by FT Faculty, Appendix A. Phyllis Panhorst provided data distinguishing between Full-Time tenure track Faculty, Full-Time temporary Faculty and Part-Time Faculty for Fall semesters from 2004-2009, Appendix A. (Please note these numbers, although fairly accurate, are 'rough' and do not take into account changes that occurred during a semester.) According to the data available, while there is an increase in the number of Part-Time Faculty, there is also an increase in the number of Full-Time Faculty.

- the loss of well-qualified Faculty to other institutions outside the state of Georgia as a result of such reductions.

This data was requested from exit interviews conducted by HR, but has not been provided at this time. It is understood that the reason faculty leave AASU is not compiled in a database – but may reside within individual's records. It is not known if members outside of HR can access this data.

With the data available at this time, a connection between Full-Time positions eliminated, increases in Part-Time Faculty instruction and loss of Faculty to out-of-state institutions because of budget reductions with a subsequent impact on AASU retention and graduation rates since 2002 is difficult. It is possible that with more time and continued cooperation of departments on campus, additional data could be compiled.

Steering CommitteeProposed change to the constitution regarding senate alternates

Faculty Senate Constitution Original Text
SECTION G. Terms and Elections

Senators and alternates shall each be elected for a three-year term. Each department shall have an alternate for each Senator. The alternate may vote only when substituting for the Senator. Should a Senator be unable to fulfill his or her duties, the alternate will replace that Senator for the term. Each department shall adopt a procedure for the recall of a Senator and shall submit the procedure to the Secretary of the Senate.

Each department shall elect its Senators and notify the Secretary of the Senate not later than March 1 of each year. Senators begin their term of service at the beginning of the fall semester following their election to the Senate.

Special elections may be called if a Senator and alternate are not able or eligible to fulfill a Senate term.

Article 1-Section G – Terms and Elections – Proposed changes to Paragraph 1:

Senators shall be elected for a three year term and alternates shall be elected to a one year term. Each department shall have one alternate for each Senator. The alternate may vote only when substituting for the Senator. Should a Senator be unable to fulfill his or her duties, an alternate will replace the Senator for the remainder of their term. Each department shall adopt a procedure for the recall of a Senator and shall submit the procedure to the Secretary of the Senate.

(no changes to the rest of Section G)

Rationale:

There has been confusion over the number of alternates a department should have, this change clarifies, one per Senator. One year terms for alternates encourages the willingness of faculty to serve as alternates, makes it possible for recently retired Senators to become alternates and should facilitate filling vacancies for Senators in small departments.

Section B.

There will be forty Senators. Apportionment will be calculated using the ~~Hill/Henderson formula~~ Huntington-Hill method with each department. . . (rest of section remains unchanged).

Rationale: The Hill/Henderson formula does not exist. Per Dr. Brawner who performed the calculation for the original apportionment of the Senate, the formula used was the Huntington-Hill method.

Proposed Plan to Modify Term Lengths of AASU Faculty Senators

Proposal from the Constitution and Bylaws Committee
October 1, 2009

A reapportionment of the Senate was needed after the departments of Computer Science, Engineering Studies, and Information Technology were combined into one department, ICE. This reapportionment will go into effect for the 2010-2011 school year. As a result of this reapportionment four departments will gain an extra senator while four will lose a senator. This proposed plan declares how this exchange of senators will occur.

Departments Losing a Senator:

ICE With the combining of the three aforementioned departments, the new department ICE currently has three senators. One senator, Senator Katz, is scheduled to complete his term at the end of the 2009-2010 school year. He will not be replaced.

CSDS This department became a program and is not currently affiliated with any other department, therefore the faculty members in this program are not entitled to representation on the senate according to Article III, Section B of the AASU Faculty Senate Bylaws. Senator Garrity, the one senate member currently serving from this program, is scheduled to complete her term at the end of the 2010-2011 school year, but instead will be excused of her responsibilities at the end of the 2009-2010 school year. She will not be replaced.

MSED This department currently has two senators. One senator, Senator Logan, is scheduled to complete her term at the end of the 2009-2010 school year. She will not be replaced.

LIBR This department currently has two senators. Neither is scheduled to complete their term at the end of this school year, therefore the one with the shorter term left, Senator Anderson, will be excused of her duties at the end of the 2009-2010 school year, terminating her term of office one year early. She will not be replaced.

Departments Gaining a Senator:

AMT, BIOL, MATH, and NURS All four of these departments have one senator completing his/her term at the end of the current school year. Therefore, each department will elect two new senators, each serving a 3 year term.

New Distribution of Term Lengths:

With two senators leaving one year early and being replaced with senators starting a three year term, the number of senators rotating off the senate each year is slightly affected. According to Article V, Section A of the Bylaws, one third of the senators should be newly elected each year. With the above mentioned plan, at the start of the 2010-2011 school year, there will be 12 senators with one year remaining in their term, 13 senators with two years remaining in their term, and 15 senators starting their three year terms.

Proposal for Redistribution of Term Lengths: If so desired, one reasonable option to redistribute the number of senators with 1, 2 and 3 years remaining in their terms to 13, 13, and 14 senators respectively is described here. At the start of the 2010-2011 school year the department of Biology will have one senator with two years remaining in his/her term and two senators starting three year terms. The senator with two years remaining will have their term reduced to one year left and one of the newly elected senators would only be elected for a two year term. This would give the Biology department three senators with one being re-elected each year. It would also redistribute the number of senators being re-elected to the senate to 13, 13 and 14 every three years.

Appendix F

The History Department unanimously requests that the faculty senate clarify the status of its ex officio members. We ask clarification of three issues:

1. Which members of the administration hold ex officio status according to the current constitution?
2. Of those administrators who currently have ex officio status, how many enjoy faculty status as well?
3. If they have faculty status, administrators are already recognized as non-voting members of the faculty (Constitution, article 1, section D) and as such can attend open meetings of the senate (By Laws, article 8, sections A-C). Why, then, are some administrative personnel also given ex officio membership? What is it about the duties and expertise of their office that warrants them sitting as ex officio members? We ask that this be addressed on case by case basis, i.e., a rationale for each administrator deemed to hold ex officio membership.

The Senate Constitution and Bylaws Committee provides the following answers (see Committee minutes of 9/18/09, 9/23/09 and 10/1/09):

1. and 2.

According to Article I, Section F of the Constitution, the following administrators hold ex officio status. Dr. Whitford provided the faculty status information.

VP for External Affairs	Dr. Donahue	Has faculty status
VP for Finance	Mr. Carson	Does not have faculty status
VP for Student Affairs	Dr. McNeil	Does not have faculty status
VP for Academic Affairs	Dr. Whitford	Has faculty status
Assoc.VP Acad.Affairs	Dr. Murphy	No longer in this position
Dean of Health Prof	Dr. Conroy	Has faculty status
Dean of Education	Dr. Wachholz	Has faculty status
Dean of Science & Tech	Dr. Shields	Has faculty status
Dean of Liberal Arts	Dr. Barrett	Has faculty status

Added to the list by VP Whitford:

Assoc. VP for Enrollment Management*

Dr. Watchen Does not have faculty status

*According to the Organizational Chart on the AASU President's web page, this office is in Academic Affairs

With reference to the interpretation of Item #3 on the request from the History Department to clarify the status of ex officio members of the Senate, it was determined that two questions were actually intended. They are:

a) For those ex officio members without faculty status, what expertise warrants their (ex officio) Senate membership?

The Committee agreed that each of the three ex officio members who do not have faculty status brings a unique expertise to the Senate meetings. Mr Carson brings budgetary information. Dr. McNeil brings the student perspective and Dr. Watchen brings information regarding registration and admission.

b) Why are administrators holding faculty status also given ex officio status?

The Committee concluded that it is reasonable to award ex officio status to the administrative office since it is not necessarily true that the occupant of each office will always hold faculty status and the unique expertise provided by the occupant is of value in Senate discussions.
