ARMSTRONG ISSUES INVITATION TO PUBLIC FOR OPEN HOUSE

Savannahians are afforded an opportunity to see exactly what Armstrong Junior College has to offer in the line of both school and extra curricula activities as the College holds its second Open House Wednesday, April 18.

Faculty advisor for Open House is Miss Mervin Shivers. Louise Kaufmann is General Chairman.

The steering committee which escorts the visitors around the college in small groups is headed by Margaret Holt. These students are to take the visitors to the different departments which have planned displays.

Invitations were sent to all graduating students of the various schools of the city, the college commission, members of the Board of Commission and numerous prominent business men.

The publicity Committee headed by Marguerite Storer has prepared a pamphlet containing a short history of Armstrong for the visitors. Members of the steering committee will present these pamphlets at the door.

The Home Economics Club, under the direction of Mrs. Olson are displaying their latest Fashion creations and art work. Refreshments will be served in the Home Ec Lab. which will display charts on Foods.

Mr. Foreman M. Hawes, president, is the faculty advisor for experiments to be demonstrated in the chemistry lab. Kate Purvis is chairman of the committee. Members of this committee are: Jop McGinn, Henrietta Kicklighter, Gussie Mosely, Marjorie Chapman, Ruth Gaster, Janet Spillane, and Margaret Claghorn.

The Biology Department will demonstrate the work which the students have been studying during the past year. Chairman of this committee is Tom Lysett.

The Student Forum Committee headed by Beverly Culbertson will have on display United Nations posters. Members of the committee are: Lisette Black, Eloise Penn, Alice Matthews, Ruth Baggs.

The Dance Committee will decorate the auditorium for the dance which will take place Friday, April 20, under the leadership of its chairman, Marguerite Smith.

Other departments include Physics, Typing, Georgia History, Foreign Languages, Physical Education, Library, and Student Lounge.

SOPHS ELECT MARGUERITE STORER TO DELIVER VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

Miss Marguerite Storer, outstanding second-year student at Armstrong Junior College, was chosen by her classmates from the top five sophomore students to serve as valedictorian at the commencement exercises of the college, which are scheduled to take place June 4th and at which 30 will graduate.

Running against Miss Storer were the Misses Lizette Black, Gussie Mosely, Beverly Fay Culbertson and Virginia Danklefs, who constitute the five students in the college with the highest scholastic averages.

Marguerite Storer has a scholastic average which lies approximately half way between an "A" and a "B" and is on the permanent dean's list.

Marguerite is prominent in extra curricular activities. She is managing editor of the Inkwell, the Armstrong paper, and is currently serving as publicity manager for the open house to be held April 18 at the institution. She was active as a member of the Music Club in 1943 and 1944 and was a member of the foreign relations council during those years. She also filled the role of assistant business manager of the Inkwell at that time.

Miss Storer is serving on the layout staff of the "Geechee" the annual, this year, and is also a member of the student forum. She is an able bowler and made the school team for the past season.

Freshman Class Elects Inkwell Heads Muriel Mendel, Mary Gilchrist

On Thursday, April 6, the freshman class elected Muriel Mendel as editor-in-chief of the Inkwell for 1945-46. Mary Gilchrist was named business manager. Other students to serve on the editorial staff are Marie Bright, managing editor, and Patty Felton and John Edwards, associate editors.

Miss Mendel, editor-in-chief, has held editorial office before as she edited both the newspaper and annual at Savannah High School. Miss Mendel entered Armstrong in January of this year and is a member of the Riding Club.

The managing editor, Marie Bright, is on the dean's list for the fall quarter. Miss Felton, associate editor, is the senate representative for the freshman class and made the dean's list for the winter quarter.

Miss Gilchrist, business manager, was chairman of the decorations committee for Homecoming last fall. Miss Gilchrist ran against Miss Jeannette Glynn and Miss Shirley Parish for this office.

Other candidates who were included on the editorial ballot as candidates for office are Emily Buckner, Janet Spillane, Electra Demosthenes, Nelle Hewett, and Marjorie Chapman.

Institute Features Debate Final Program of '44-45

On Monday, April 9th, the Institute of Citizenship presented its final program of the 1944-45 season.

Mr. James R. Young and Mr. John Goette debated as to what our Far Eastern policy should be after the war. Mr. Young was in favor of changing our present policy toward the Far East while Mr. Goette believed that it should not be changed.

Mr. W. Orson Beecher, Director of the Institute, and instructor in social sciences at the college, served as chairman of the debate.

Mr. Young charged that the keynote of our Far Eastern policy, which he called constructive conciliation, is a clumsy instrument and must be eliminated.

Mr. Young further declared that we will not have the support of the Filipinos, Chinese, Koreans, or others in the Far East unless we eliminate the leaders of the Japanese government.

"There is no underground in Japan; there are no individuals who can be trusted; there exists no one at the top in Japan, either in the imperial family or among the business groups whom I would trust."

Mr. Goette declared that we do have a very definite Far Eastern

Hasta La Vista!

Since this is the last issue of the Inkwell to be published by the '44-45 staff, we would like to express our appreciation to the students, faculty, and advertisers without whose help and cooperation the Inkwell would not have been possible. It is planned that the last issue of the present volume will be published by Muriel Mendel, '45-'46 editor, and her co-workers under the supervision of this staff.

We voice another plea for all students to participate in the journalistic aspects of college life. A newspaper is an integral part of any college. Working on the paper affords both pleasure and interest. Both of our publications, the Geechee and the Inkwell, open the door to future success to many students. Work on these staffs not only equips you with the necessary knowledge for newspaper work but also that training, experience, and cooperation so essential to any successful business venture.

At the beginning of the war Armstrong's enrollment decreased drastically due to conscription and other war-time measures. Many changes took place in colleges all over the nation, and Armstrong was no exception. The Savannah Playhouse had to be discontinued, "The College Nut" was closed because of shortage created by war, various faculty members have gone into the service of the country, and the size of the Inkwell has decreased in proportion to its enrollment.

This year Armstrong has twenty percent more students than it has had in several years. We hope that this is the turning point in the decrease of enrollment. It is our sincere hope that a more ardent interest in all student activities offered by the college will also increase.

WELCOME TO

ARMSTRONG'S SECOND
OPEN HOUSE

SKETCHING THE SOPHS

Here's to our Valedictorian, Marguerite Storer (who was the most surprised of anyone after the election). We hear she's got her speech all lined up . . . but Storer just can't decide whether to write it in dramatic monologue or blank verse . . . She is certainly ambitious, she plans to major in both Spanish and French at senior college. Mitty Sto's column is the first thing everyone turns to when the Inkwell comes out—The Inkwell thanks you, the students thank you ('specially Nick).

Marguerite is managing editor of the Inkwell, Member of '45 Geechee staff, one of the 5 outstanding sophomores, a permanent dean's list student, member of the Student Forum, bowling team, and publicity chairman for Open House, former member of the Music Club, last year's assistant business manager of the Inkwell and was on the Homecoming Committee . . . After naming all her activities we are all fagged out . . . How about a weed, Maggie?

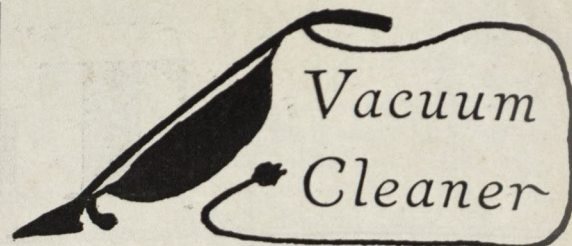

The man shortage doesn't seem to worry Charlotte Rosenthal . . . She's tearing around all week-end with G. I.'s . . . We have it straight from Charlotte that, "She's simply nuts about Uncle Sammy's little boys, and can't stand to stay home on week-ends." . . . She spends all her spare time at Tybee improving her glorious sun tan . . . Charlotte is a whiz at shorthand which is her favorite subject around Armstrong . . . Charlotte has been a member of the Music Club since her Freshman year and worked on both Homecoming and Open House committees.

The sophomore class inherited another swell "gal" when Ruth Weiss transferred here this fall from the University of Miami . . . "Ricki," as she is known to everyone around Armstrong, has looks besides brains . . . She had all the A. J. C. girls furious when she started sporting her sun tan in February while everyone else was still lily-white . . . We've heard that Ricki is smart in everything, but she is really a whiz at Spanish . . . She can read two pages before the rest of us can even find the place . . . Ricki is another of our morale builders . . . She hasn't missed a dance in months. She is a member of the Radio Club and worked on Open House.

Another of our "chauffeurs" is Marina Capitan . . . Marina is always ready to give anybody a ride in that gorgeous black Buick of hers . . . Marina is nuts about French . . . She has taken five French courses since she's been at Armstrong which is enough to give anybody else a nervous breakdown . . . Marina is planning to enter the University of North Carolina next September . . . She worked on Open House and Homecoming last year and this year.

Gerry Worth, who also transferred from the University of Miami this year, is already known to many of the Armstrong students since she attended Savannah High School before going to Miami for her Freshman year . . . Since Gerry and Ricki live together they are always seen together . . . Gerry's favorite pastime is jitterbugging . . . She, too, sports a gorgeous sun tan—Gerry is a member of the Radio Club and worked on Open House this year.

OPEN HOUSE SOON !

It is a well known fact that gentlemen prefer blondes, but the fact that blondes know what gentlemen prefer has a lot to do with it . . .

Seems prosperous to go out to Hunter Field Hospital . . . Wete caught her a cute little officer who was convalescing (was he too weak to resist). . . . Who's turn will it be next?

Shirley Parrish writes very nice notes in economic class, the only trouble they aren't about economics . . . they're to George O.

Helen Rowland was sporting a cute Naval Officer at the concert the other night and had a repeat performance at the Open House at the DeSoto the next day.

Fools will never cease . . . who were the goofs who went to the Summerlin-Rousseau reception clad in school togs. All ended well by the co-eds following them on to Florida . . . they got back for Ga. Hist.

Oh, Jeanne H. what happened to FRANK . . . You and RAY make a "charming" couple.

Have you heard about Nancy's Bill (you couldn't help but). HE is the one but not the ONLY one.

Did anyone notice the fragrant aroma around the card table at the dance the other night? WHAT we would like to know is WHERE did you get it?

Everyone is out with their binoculars . . . yes looking for the B-29 men that we were promised were coming in.

Tom, quit trying to beat Harry's time. We know a little girl who has her eye on you . . . just come to us and we'll tell you.

Why does Lenora always seem to be attracted to someone else's "catch" . . . the other girl didn't mind as she is a good sport and wasn't interested anyway.

Jack Edwards isn't particular . . . he is seen every day with a different one. To sum it up—he is seen everywhere with everybody.

Is Margie weeping because Austin is leaving town next week?

Due to the numerous protest among the students (one student) we are refraining from boring you with the doings of the people on the staff.

Who was more excited about THAT letter—Nick or Joy?

It's still Bob with Storer.

We heard Pauline remark the other day, "I'm never going to bring my sister to a dance again." She sits at the table with three escorts while Pauline looks on.

All the members of the staff are fighting over Louise's heart-throb—Van Johnson.

Is it Jules or Sonny with Catherine Bliss?

Why did Hinky want the Truck driver to go pick honeysuckle with her the other night?

Who did Beverly send her French book to that is overseas—that's dangerous . . . they get along well enough without being able to speak the language.

Gentlemen may prefer blondes but statistics show that brunets marry more men.

(And if you think this stinks you ought to go by the chemistry lab.)

Institute of Citizenship Presents Noted Speakers on Current Affairs

The Institute of Citizenship, which has proved a tremendous benefit to the Armstrong students and the people of Savannah, was first organized in 1938 under the leadership of former president Mr. Askew. Mr. Askew being very interested in the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Georgia, was anxious to have something of this type at Armstrong. Its first session was held in the college auditorium on February 2, 1939. The aim of the Institute has always been to present lecturers expert in their fields who will contribute something to our understanding of the problems which face us. Just as in its beginning the Institute has continued its policy of presenting experienced lecturers to the students and the public.

The Institute operates under the guidance of Mr. W. O. Beecher, as director, assisted by a steering committee made up of several members of the college faculty. A committee of well known Savannah citizens has helped exceedingly in promoting the work of the Institute.

Its first program of the year was held on October the fifth, when the Honorable C. J. Hambro, eminent Norwegian Statesman, spoke on the "New Aspects of the Peace."

Dr. Hambro presented his views on how to re-educate the German youth in order to instill a feeling of friendship and co-operation with other countries of the world.

On Tuesday, October 31, John Roy Carlson, author of the recent best-seller "Under Cover," appeared as the second lecturer. His lecture was entitled, "The Enemy From Within." Mr. Carlson spent four years investigating subversive Nazi and Fascist organizations in America.

"How We Can Work With Russia," was the title of the address of Admiral William Harrison Standley, on Thursday, November the ninth. Admiral Standley expressed his hopes that Russia and the United States will work more closely together in the post-war period.

Mr. Emil Ludwig, internationally known author and biographer, spoke on "How To Treat the Germans after Defeat" when he appeared as the Institute's fourth speaker on November 23rd.

Mr. Ludwig advocated in his lecture a stern peace which will make the Germans aware that they have been beaten, and not merely retarded in their program of conquest.

In its first two programs of the current year, the Institute presented Mr. Konrad Heiden, author of the recently published "Der Fuehrer," who spoke on January 10, and Mr. Beardsley Ruml, originator of the widely-discussed pay-as-you-go tax plan, who appeared on January 15.

"Germany Tomorrow" was the title of Mr. Heiden's talk, and "A Fiscal Policy for Peacetime Prosperity" that of Mr. Ruml.

Mr. Heiden spoke principally of the disposition to be made of Germany after victory has been won, and in brief of Hitler's part in the present war.

Mr. Ruml stated that through intelligent management of taxation, national debt, public works, and social security, we should be able to assure a proper and just distribution of the benefits to be derived from postwar advances.

Dr. Eugene E. Pfaff, director of the Southern Council on International Relations, was the next speaker.

In his lecture entitled, "The Organization of the Peace," Dr. Pfaff asserted that Russia and the United States must come into a world organization if permanent peace is to be achieved.

"The British Commonwealth and American Defense," was the topic discussed by Sir Norman Angell, British author and speaker, who appeared on the Institute on March 23rd.

Sir Norman declared that the unified power of the United States and Britain are needed to overcome attacks by aggressor nations.

The next speaker, Dr. Mithrapuram K. Alexander of India, lectured on "American Policy in the Far East."

Dr. Alexander declared that in order to have its independence, India must have a date for its freedom, a national election and the formation of a cabinet.

On Monday, April 10, the Institute presented its final program for the year when James R. Young and John Goette debated on the United States' Far Eastern policy. Mr. Goette was in favor of not changing our Far Eastern policy, while Mr. Young was in favor of changing it.

ALMA MATER

Words by Margaret Spencer Lubs and Doris Falk, '39

Alma Mater, through the ages,
Singing thy undying fame,
Will thy sons and daughters cherish

And defend thy golden name.
To each heart thy noble story
And thy calm and stately grace
Herald thine immortal glory.
Armstrong, hail, all hail to thee!

Alma Mater, those before us
Lift thine honor great and strong;
We who follow take their banner,
Rise it with a fighting-song.
Consecrated is thy teaching,
Sacred in thy marble height,
Glorious thy spirit reaching
Ever upward to the light!

Campus Fashion Cues

It's easy to be well-dressed this season, a brief skirt, a hint of a blouse and you're among the best-dressed. It's super for showing off the sun-tan too. At night try a slim black skirt and a backless pink silk top with narrow straps and a flirty peplum.

The figure you cut this season depends on the outline you follow. Perhaps you're lucky and have that enviable figure that can wear all styles. If not, try stripes: horizontal for broadening the shoulders and vertical for slimming the hips. If you're tall wear bold stripes softened by narrow ones; to add height try bold vertical ones with a deep V-neck.

Newest colors are clear turquoise, cocoa, brilliant lime, intense pink, golden and leaf green. Leading manufacturers have on the market make-up to enhance these vivid shades.

To wear with your barely-there outfit, don a featherweight shiny aluminum bracelet like Betsy's to accent that beautiful tan. It's wide enough for your name or newest sayings.

If you're wearing out what's left of last year's spectators and looking for more, send a coupon and size to Wilbur's in Boston, Mass. They have snubby toes and come in brown and white, blue and white, or red and white.

STUDENTS MANIFEST SCHOOL SPIRIT IN NUMEROUS CLUB ACTIVITIES

The numerous clubs offer a varied and interesting choice of activities to students who agree that college life doesn't stop with the class room. The clubs described below are among the many organizations which the college offers to its students.

STUDENT FORUM

The aim of the Student Forum is to promote further interest in international affairs. The forum meets every other Tuesday at four-fifteen, and topics of current interest are discussed. In affiliation with its interest in world events the Student Forum organized a debating team. During the past year the forum presented a quiz program on assembly and sponsored one of the informal dances held every other Friday night. Two of the subjects which have been under discussion during the semester are: Should Germany Be Occupied After the War and Should Universal Manhood Conscription be Enforced. Beverly Culbertson is president of the forum.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club under the direction of Mrs. L. G. Olson, has sponsored numerous activities at Armstrong during the past year. The club was in charge of refreshments for Homecoming and Open House.

The officers are: Comer Hymes, president; Mary Crawford, vice-president; Ray Burton, secretary;

MUSIC CLUB

The Music Club, which is under the direction of Miss Helen Woodward, meets every other Tuesday in the college playroom. At the meetings recorded concerts of classical, semi-classical, and popular music are played.

The president of this organization is Anna Cone.

RADIO CLUB

The year '44-'45 marks the end of the Radio Club's first year as part of Armstrong's activities. The club, under the direction of Miss Mervin Shivers, was organized in October. Several programs have been presented by the club during the school year on the regular assembly days. Among these were a Gay Nineties Show and a sketch on Parliamentary Procedure.

WTOC has allotted 15 minutes every Saturday for the use of the Radio Club. Different types of programs are being planned, among them are quiz programs, debates on topics of interest, and a wide selection of plays.

RIDING CLUB

Miss Gladys Feagin, instructor in mathematics and physics, is faculty advisor of the Riding Club. Members of this organization ride once a week at Ranch Riding School on Fridays. Sarah Kitchens is president of the club.

Committee Announces Schedule of Dances

The Dance Committee has announced the schedule of the dances. These bi-monthly dances are under direction of the various clubs for the spring quarter. This committee is under the supervision of Miss Shivers, and student co-chairmen are Marguerite Smith and Bill Dismer with Pauline Jones as treasurer. The dances and the organizations which will sponsor them are:

April 20—Dance Committee.
April 27—Delta Chi.
May 4—Formal.
May 18—Radio Club.
June 2 — Graduation dance sponsored by Freshman Class.
