Samuel Fakorede Wins Prestigious IEEE Award

November 18, 2016

Samuel Fakorede, a Junior in Electrical Engineering at Georgia Southern, has been selected as an IEEE Power and Energy Society (PES) Scholarship Plus Initiative recipient for the 2016/17 academic year. Two hundred and thirty students from across the USA, Canada and Puerto Rico received this prestigious award. The PES Scholarship Plus Initiative supports the most promising future engineers in power and energy. Recipients are high-achieving undergraduate students in electrical engineering programs who have committed to exploring the power and energy engineering field through both coursework and career experiences.
