BACHELORS HOLD BANQUET TONIGHT

Fifty Persons Expected to be Present at the Annual Hallowe'en Celebration.

Tonight when the spooks begin to prowl the Bachelors Club will be safe from their haunts in the dining room of the Home Economics Department. The occasion that brings the boys together is the annual Hallowe'en banquet. About twenty-five bachelors and as many fair damsels will enjoy this event of the fall social season. The boys are anxiously awaiting the chance to greet their brother bachelors who are invited back for tonight. Among the old men expected to return are: LaFiece Collins, T. E. Roberts, John Ellis Rountree, Bobbie Sasser, Earl Rountree and Walton Usher. The campus members of this organization are: Charles Shafe, Ralph Stephens, Pearce Stapleton, James Wrinkle, Sidney Stapleton, Newton Wall, Eugene Kinney, Aubrey Pafford, Oscar Joiner, Robert Lee Marr, H. H. Olliff Jr., George Thrift, Carl Hodges, J. T. Alexander, Clifford Hale, Charles Munch, Lincoln Boykin and I. D. Nichols. Miss Wood and Miss Bolton are sponsors.

The Bachelors look forward to this banquet as an occasion to strengthen the ties of friend-

STUDENTS ENJOY HALLOWE'EN FETE

Seniors Sponsor Entertainment For Entire Student Body and Faculty.

The Senior Class sponsored a Hallowe'en party for the entire student body and faculty Saturday night, October 29th. All the students met at 7:30 in front of the East Dormitory dressed in Hallowe'en costumes.

A spooky walk ended at the Gynasium. The Gym was decorated beautifully with pines, yellow and black streamers and jack-o-lanterns. Fortune tellers, ghosts, witches and brownies gave directions and added fun and laughter to the occasion.

After a ghost march a short social dance was enjoyed by all. Later nuts, apples and crackers were served.

This is the first school party held this year, and the students are to be praised for their cooperation at the party.

TEACHERS TACKLE ROLLINS NEXT

Supporters Expect Team to Come Back With No Less Than a Victory.

Coach Smith will be driving his men this week with but one goal in sight—to defeat Rollins College next Saturday in Winter Park, Florida.

The Rollins game is one of the big games of the season and the players, the coach, the faculty, the student body, and friends of the school—all want a victory; they expect no less.

The program for the Teachers this week will include two strenuous workouts. There will probably be a signal drill and work on fundamentals today which leaves Tuesday and Wednesday open for long scrimmages. The team will leave Friday morning with twenty-five players making the trip.

The season's edition of the Blue Tide had laid the foundation for a most successful year. To date it has won two games and lost one. (At the time of going to press the team is in Tifton playing the Rams.) The victories were over Gordon Institute and Norman Park by scores of 19-0 and 8-0 respectively. The loss was handed out by G. M. C. 29-7. After the game Friday night in Winter Park, the Teachers have the remaining games at home, meet-

HALLIBURTON LECTURES THRILL TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS

ANNUAL STAFF BEGINS WORK

Theme to be Built Around Bi-Centennial Celebration of Georgia's Beginning.

Work was begun last week on the 1933 Reflector, the college yearbook. Miss Elizabeth Edenfield, of Vidalia, has been elected to the editor-in-chiefship of this year's book, and Mr. Eugene Kinney, of Temple, business manager.

The annual this year, in keeping with the bi-centennial celebration of the state, will be built around the history of Georgia. The college here has been selected by the Bi-Centennial Commission for a part of the pageant and celebration to be held in Savannah next year, and the staff of the Reflector hopes to work the celebration into the theme of the book.

The business staff has already begun work and contracts for photographic work will be let within a few days. The printing, binding and engraving contracts will be let within the next ten days. The complete staff of this year's book follows: Miss Elizabeth Edenfield, editor; Henry Taylor, assistant editor;

Noted Adventurer Favors Student Body By Giving Chapel Appearance.

Richard Halliburton, youthful adventurer and author, direct from his two-year airplane tour of the world in his "Flying Carpet" thrilled the students here Thursday evening and again at the chapel period on Friday with experiences of his flight with the "Flying Carpet."

Halliburton, brought to the college as one of the several lyceum attractions planned for the students this year, made a hit with the students and faculty. After both his lectures he was besieged with autograph hounds. Halliburton was unusually courteous and spent much time talking to the students.

In his talk on Thursday the adventurer told of the beginning of the tour from California to New York, to Europe and down to Timbuctoo in his gold and scarlet plane, carrying with him an expert pilot, Moye Stephens Jr. In flying from London he told of their flight across France and Spain, crossing the Straits of Gibraltar, to Fez. They climbed over the Atlas moun-

STUDENTS GOING TO B. S. U. MEET

Several of Our Baptist Students to Take Part on Program at Convention.

Several of the student body are planning to attend the state convention of the Baptist Student Union, which is to be held in Cochran November 11 to 13.

Mr. Nicholson, the state secretary of the B. S. U., spent several days on the campus last week. During his stay he discussed the work of the B. S. U. and delegates to the state convention were chosen. They are: Miss Newelle DeLoach, who will sing at the convention; Miss Torrence Brady, who will give violin selections, and Miss Pauline Mincey. There will also be a student speaker from the college who has not been chosen yet.

The purpose of this convention is to encourage the organization of B. S. U.'s throughout the state. All college B. S. U.'s that are now functioning will be represented.

ENROLLMENT LARGEST IN HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE

Increased Number of Boys for Fall Term This Year Considered Remarkable.

With an increase of 154 students over last fall the total enrollment of the college at this time is 448, by far the largest fall enrollment in the history of the college.

Of the 448 students enrolled 208 are boys and 240 are girls. The freshmen more than double any other class with 262, the sophomores have 115, the juniors 45 and the senior class has 24. Of the 262 freshmen, 123 are boys and 139 are girls. There are 268 students taking their meals in the dormitory, 132 boys and 136 girls.

The increase in boys for the fall term this year is remarkable. On October 1, 1931, there were 136 boys enrolled, on October 1, 1932, there were 204 boys and by October 12 of this year the number had increased to 208.

After the spring term students had registered last spring the enrollment reached 333 on May 15, 1932, with 126 boys and 207 girls. Should the spring term of this session increase as much as it did last year, and in all probability it will increase more, the total enrollment for the year should reach well over 500.

In college this year are boys and girls from practically every county in Southeast Georgia, with many from Southwest, Central and North Georgia and quite a few from outside the state. As soon as they can be compiled, tables will be carried in the George-Anne giving the representation from each county and state.

OUR PURPOSE

Today marks the appearance of the George-Anne for the first time this year. In the past the paper has been published somewhat irregularly, but for the remainder of the year we intend to publish it regularly, semi-monthly. In order to do this we need and must have the support of the student body. We are going to endeavor to do our part and if the students are interested, and enthusiastic and willing to contribute, it will follow that we will have a live, wide-awake college paper.

We believe that a college publication fills a worthwhile place on any campus and feel that there is a need and use of an agency of this kind at Collegeboro. All the advantages of a college paper are too numerous to mention, but we shall list below some of the outstanding purposes that will guide us as we publish the George-Anne.

1. To report news, general information and specific regulations.
2. To furnish a natural means of unifying the purpose and sentiment of the school.
3. To stimulate proper school pride and loyalty.
4. To reflect the spirit of the institution.
5. To provide entertainment.
6. To sponsor school activities.
7. To preserve school traditions and history.
8. To focus students' attention on worthy achievements.
9. To develop in students habits of observation, thought and self-expression.
10. To keep patrons and alumni informed about school affairs and interested in the welfare of the college.

It is with these purposes in mind that we solicit your aid and co-operation. It will be our desire, primarily, to create and sustain interest, loyalty and abundant school spirit. We shall endeavor to promote and boost all activities and movements that seek to make Collegeboro a better place in which to live. We hope that the paper will serve as a medium of expression for the entire student body. We want it to be the voice of the students. We want

TO THE ALUMNI

The institution is indeed fortunate that it has a large band of loyal graduates who are vitally interested in its progress and development. We believe that S. G. T. C. can be named among the colleges from which students have gone out into the world, carrying with them the spirit of the institution. It is our belief that this spirit is alive within you today; with your help, we are going to attempt, through the medium of the school paper, to develop and stimulate this spirit.

We have listed in another column on this page some of the purposes of the paper. We invite your special attention to the last one, "To keep patrons and alumni informed about school affairs and interested in the welfare of the college."

May the George-Anne cause you, in your imagination, to return to the campus and enter again into the various activities. May it be a message to you from the student body. If it does not do this, then it will have failed in serving you as we would have it to do.

WHY GEORGE-ANNE?

Possibly some of you will wonder why this paper has such an unusual name. Therefore, we shall try to explain the reason.

In the dim and distant past a movement was started on the campus to publish a school paper. There was much discussion, pro and con, about a suitable title for the publication. Such names as High-Flyer, Times, Blue and White, etc., were suggested, but none of them seemed to meet the approval of the student body. Finally someone had an "idea." It was suggested that, due to the co-educational nature of the school, the paper should have a name representing both sexes on the campus. It was also suggested that, as the school was in Georgia, supported by the people of Georgia, and most of the students Georgians, the paper should have a name pertaining to Georgia. It was found that the word Georgian could be divided into two names—George-Anne. Hence, the paper was named George for the men and Anne for the women—George-Anne.

The greatest efforts of the race have always been traceable to the love of praise, as its greatest catastrophies to the love of pleasure.—Ruskin.

you to contribute news stories, features, poetry and letters of constructive criticism or suggestions.

The George-Anne is yours. Help us make it a good paper.

MESSAGE TO STUDENTS

(By DEAN HENDERSON)

The first issue of the George-Anne for this year brings us a printed paper. During the last two years the school paper has been printed occasionally. It is planned for the George-Anne to be published every other week for the remainder of the year, by co-operating with the staff it will be possible to give to S. G. T. C. a first class college paper.

The present student body seems to be interested in the success of the college. We have a loyal group of alumni and students. The graduates are interested in the activities of the students who are here for the first time. They think of the days spent among the pines and wonder how well the new students are putting into practice the ideals of the school. This paper will help in keeping them in touch with their alma mater. Our graduates can help in making the printed George-Anne a success by sending the Alumni Editor news about their work and by subscribing to the paper. We miss our old students. We are interested in you and the work you are doing. The George-Anne should keep us informed about each other.

There has been a co-operative spirit among the students this fall. The large number of freshmen has made it difficult for the teachers and old students to know all of the new students. Many of our former students learned to love college life because it was possible for each student to know at least the name of every other student. It may not be possible for one to know all of the other students since the enrollment has increased to so great an extent, but college life will mean more if each person will try to be come acquainted with as many others as possible. Working together, we as students and teachers, should be able to make this a happy and profitable year for ourselves, others and our college.

FRESHMAN

It's good to be a freshman,
Though the things you do are wrong.
It's good to be a freshman,
With no custom of the throng.
Putting chains upon your actions
And a pattern on your mind,
Always tingeing with its color
Everything you seek to find.

It's good to have the freedom
To make mistakes and such,
Though you know you'll have a critic
For everything you touch.
But why should freshmen worry,
Though each be classed a dunce,
For every upper classman
Was but a freshman once.

RULE FOR SUCCESS

From north to south,
If fame you'd find,
Just shut your mouth
And open your mind.

RICHARD HALLIBURTON

In a picturesque and poetic nutshell here is the career of Richard Halliburton, the romantic, literary adventurer, who appeared here last Thursday evening before a large audience.

He swam the Hellespont where Leander and Lord Byron swam.

He climbed Olympus, Stromboli, Vesuvius, and Aetna.

He ran the Marathon over the original course.

He scaled the Acropolis walls at night.

He charged up Mount Parnassus.

He danced through the Vale of Tempe.

He made a pilgrimage to the grave of Rupert Brooke, who is buried on a lonely Grecian isle.

In the tracks of Achilles and Alexander he swam three times around the windy walls of Troy.

He swam—almost—the evil straits between Scylla and Charybdis.

He followed to the end of the fabulous trail of Ulysses, with only Homer for his guide and the Odyssey for his book.

He found the Lotus Land—the Cyclop's Cave—the Aeolian island of the winds.

He braved a modern Circe's charms, and looked for sirens in the caves of Capri.

And then—in the summer of 1928—he retraveled the old Cortez trail in Mexico, dove 170 feet into the sacred well of Chicker Itza in Yucatan, and swam the entire length of the Panama Canal.

Halliburton is the only author of two of the most popular travel books of the decade, "The Royal Road to Romance" and "The Glorious Adventure."

He personifies the spirit of romantic, youthful adventure.

HALLOWE'EN

Strange things may happen to one on Hallowe'en, so superstitious folk used to believe; for they thought that witches then rode abroad on broomsticks, elves prayed pranks on sober folk, and the future might be foretold by jumping over a lighted candle.

Many of these strange superstitions have come down to us from our pagan ancestors of 2,000 years ago or more, for our Hallowe'en occurs about the time of the ancient Druidic autumn festival. This was the season of the ancient Roman festival in the honor of Pomona, the goddess of fruit and gardens; so after the Roman conquest of Gaul and Britain, some of the Roman beliefs and ceremonies were added. Later, after the spread of Christianity, November 1st was made a day for honoring all saints and the eve of that day was called "Hallowe'en" (or "All Hallow-Eve"),

CLUBS

POPULAR SCIENCE CLUB

The Popular Science Club began its fifth year with twenty-five old members back in school. At the four regular meetings that are held bi-monthly much interest has been shown in the work and programs of this organization. Miss Malvina Trussell and Mr. W. S. Hanner are the faculty sponsors.

At a recent meeting Dr. R. J. H. DeLoach, of the college faculty, and Byron Dyer, of the State Agricultural Department, were voted in as honorary members. The club is sure that these men can contribute many valuable features to the organization through their knowledge and experience in the scientific field.

The officers of the club for the ensuing year are: President, Oscar Joiner; vice-president, Clifford Hale; secretary, Miss Martha Robertson, and treasurer, George Thrift. Students from the classes in physics, chemistry, biology and meteorology compose this scientific society and the manner in which they are co-operating with the officers and committees is worthy of commendation.

DRAMATIC CLUB

On last Tuesday evening the Dramatic Club was organized. It has long been the wish and aim of the students of the expression department to organize and develop just such an organization on the campus. There has long been a need for it. Only those students who are taking private expression lessons and those enrolled in the public school expression class are eligible for membership.

The club has elected as its officers the following: President, Miss Kathryn Enecks, Rocky Ford; vice-president, Miss Florence Strickland; secretary, Miss Annie Mae Hunter; treasurer, G. C. Williams.

The following people have been named as chairman of committees: Corinne Lanier, entertainment; Almarita Lindsey, program; Ruth Ballard, publicity; Vivian George, state chairman, with Ernest Holland as co-chairman.

Mrs. Jesse O. Johnston, of Statesboro, is a sponsor of the club. The plans of the organization include the production of three big plays during the year and then a number of one-act plays for chapel programs. They intend to study as a group every phase of drama.

The meetings will be held twice a month with one meeting being devoted to the program and business, the other to a program and social combined.

MATH CLUB

The Math Club will hold its regular meeting next Monday night, November 7. There are nineteen members enrolled in the club this year.

A number of bids have been sent out to the new students and the club is planning to send others at the beginning of the winter term.

"The History of Mathematics" has been the subject for the programs at the last two meetings. The Mathematics of Antiquity and Mathematics of the Middle Ages have been discussed. For the regular meeting the program will center around modern mathematics.

The following program has been planned:

Mathematical Quotations — Math Club.

Mathematics of 17th and 18th Centuries—LeLand Cox.

Glimpses of 19th Century Mathematics—Lena Popell.

The Place of Mathematics in the Present Day School—Elmer Brewton.

Modern Mathematical Songs—Math Club.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The aims of the Home Economics Club are to widen and deepen interest of members in the field of home economics; to motivate and enrich classroom work; to strengthen the bond between the home economics department of the college, the state, and the nation; to help promote the aim of the college; and to promote all-round development of its members.

This club was established on the 19th day of March, 1932. Although a new club on the campus, we intend to make it one of the best. The meetings are held every other Monday night, alternating with the Math Club.

The officers for this year are: President, Martha Robertson; vice-president, Myrtice Alderman; secretary, Carolyn Mundy; treasurer, Marjorie Hatcher; corresponding secretary, Sara Pippen.

meaning the "holy eve" of All Saints Day. Many of the old pagan customs were retained, and so we still crack nuts, and bob for apples, and throw apple peelings over our shoulders, and look in a mirror by the light of a candle in a darkened room, as our pagan ancestors did centuries ago.

Miss Trussell: "Melton, what is wind?"

Melton: "Wind? Let's see, wind is air in a hurry."

ALUMNI NEWS

Dear Jane:—

I asked the Editor of the George-Anne if I might write a letter to you through this paper and thereby save three cents. Teachers are not meaning to cheat Uncle Sammy, but it's just easier—that's all.

Seems I just can't resist telling you a few things about our former students — what they are doing (but not why they are doing it). First of all before I get started on them, let me remind you that this Collegeboro moon is still tantalizing folks. Its admirers will back us up in saying that this moon is far brighter, bigger, and far more dangerous than moons elsewhere. Miss Trussell may remind us that this claim is not entirely scientifically correct.

But I believe I promised to tell you about some of your old classmates, therefore I'll get off of my shining subjects. Just this weekend we had several of our old students on the campus and it was such a delight to see them.

Hubert Dewberry, who is coaching and also principal at Jesup, gave us splendid reports of his work. He says he's being a dignified, worth while citizen and we believe him, because a man with a double chin rarely ever leads a double life.

We also heard fine reports of the progress Dora Smith is making in Jesup (in more than one way).

Lois Burke, Vera McElveen and Earl Rountree breezed in on us Friday and Saturday. Lois is teaching at Woodcliff along with Earl and Vera is at West Side teaching with Talmadge Roberts.

Toombsboro, Georgia, must be a mighty fine place to live because four of our last year students are there. Wilbur Roach and Evelyn Williamson decided that two could live as cheap as one—and of course they decided to do that thing that folks most always do when they get economy in their heads. Wilbur is superintendent at Toombsboro, and has with him M. Y. Hendrix and Florence Brinson.

If you could find time to chase over to Patterson, Georgia, you would surely find Stella Vandalingham and Sidney Boswell playing their part in that community. The last time we saw either of them they were "in the soup." It must have been vegetable soup for it was awfully thick.

Now that I've been kind enough to write this lengthy affair "you go then and do likewise." We want you and every other alumni of this college to write to us and give us the happenings of everybody. You know June will be creeping up

LITERARY SOCIETIES SELECT DEBATORS

During the past few days the debate try-outs have been held. Each society has selected its two best debaters. The Oglethorpe representatives are: Henrietta Doster, of Rocky Ford, and Howell Martin, of Claxton. The Stephens representatives are: Eloise Preetorius of Brooklet, and Eugene Kinnery, of Temples. The subject for debate is: "Resolved, That the United States Should Recognize Soviet Russia."

It is the custom of the two literary societies to sponsor a debate once every three months or each school term. In the past much interest has been shown concerning this feature of extra curricula activities. The debates are a source of much wholesome competition between the societies.

ship and make excuses for breaking the bonds of bachelorhood for a while. Only one other time during the year do the Bachelors allow their motto, "Beware of Women," to be broken. The other occasion is the spring banquet.

According to the chairmen of the committees this event bids to be one of the best in the history of the club. The first number on the program is, of course, a toast by the Bachelors, after which President Shafe will give a welcome address. In order that all may get acquainted more quickly there will be an introduction of every person present. After the first course is served, "Bud" Collins, an old member, will make a talk in which he will tell what the Bachelors Club has meant to him. A later feature of the program will be the appearance of a ghost who will tell the guests of their past and future life. This visitor will also bring other forms of amusement. It has been reported that some hidden talent in the Bachelors Club will be revealed tonight during the program.

After the courses have been served and program completed the Bachelors will be content to return to their life of womanless bliss.

on us ere long and all will be set for that wonderful alumni luncheon and then—but we'll save that for a later date. How about it?

Yours for fun,
MORE SLIPS.

Pee Ess—Don't forget to send in your subscription to the George-Anne. Why wait till tomorrow? Remember that today is yesterday's tomorrow.

Societies

STEPHENS' ENJOY COLONIAL PROGRAM

The Stephens Literary Society became old-fashioned last Thursday night. The program dealt with the Colonial period of America.

The first number on the program was a solo by Miss Sara Mooney. She sang, "An Old-Fashioned Garden."

This was followed by a short one act play, "The Silver Lining." The play showed how Fannie Bryce came to write her first novel in about 1775. The part of Fannie was played by Vivian George and that of Richard Bryce by Eugene Kinney. After the play James Hinton sang, "A Cottage Small by the Waterfall."

The program was concluded with a reading by Corinne Lanier, "Ashes of Roses." This was an interpretation of a one-act play.

OGLETHORPES ENJOY HALLOWE'EN PROGRAM

Last Thursday night the Oglethorpes were Hallowe'en-minded. With all the lights out except a few blue lights a ghost came upon the stage to the accompaniment of a slow, ghost-like march. As the music continued in its droll-like beat, witches grouped themselves together in celebration of witches night.

After this entertaining skit a most delightful program was given. A quartet composed of Charles Munch, Howell Martin, Herman Courson and Helen Enecks sang selections. In conclusion Kathryn Enecks gave a reading, "Little Orphan Annie."

Much interest and enthusiasm was manifested at this meeting concerning the approaching debate between the two societies.

SENIOR CLASS PRESENTS PLAY

The seniors presented as their chapel program last Wednesday morning the farce comedy, "That Rascal Pat." The blunderings of the Irishman, Pat, brought many laughs from the students body.

The characters were: Pat, an Irish servant—Eugene Kinney.

Charles Livingston, poor, but ambitious—Ralph Stephens.

Major Puffijacket, an army officer—R. L. Marr.

Laura, his niece—Beula Davis.

Nancy, her maid—Elizabeth Edenfield.

He—You look like a sensible girl, let's get married.

She—Nothing doing, I'm just as sensible as I look.

tains and then flew two thousand miles across the Sahara Desert, where no other civilian airplane had ever been. Their stay in Timbuctoo, lasting for one month, was thrilling. From Timbuctoo the "Flying Carpet" went to Morocco and for two months Halliburton and Stephens lived with the French Foreign Legion. They then made their way back across the desert to Paris, flew over the Matterhorn and Mt. Blanc, and following the route of the Crusaders went to Venice. Crossing northern Arabia the adventurers went to Bagdad and their experiences with the young prince were most interesting. Then they went to Persia, where Halliburton enjoyed no end of adventures with princesses, Persian cats, nightingales and carpets.

Halliburton ended his Thursday evening's address in Persia. On Friday morning he told us of his visit to the head hunters of Borneo. First going to Burma, Siam and Singapore. They spent a month in the heart of the great island, living with and flying with head hunting Dyaks, who had never heard of an airplane before. His thrilling stories of the head hunters he told in detail. From Borneo the flyers sought the Philippines and after several thrilling experiences reached Manila. From Manila the ship brought them back to California.

Mr. Halliburton is the author of several well known books dealing with his adventures, "New World's to Conquer," "The Royal Road to Romance," and others. He came to the college under the auspices of the Alkahest Bureau, of Atlanta.
