WHAT TO WATCH THIS MONTH
Participants ranged from schools of different attractions traveled the parade route. The parade participants who we were still on campus. But what happens next year or the year after that? The name will eventually fade from memory.

The official consolidation is just one of the many steps Armstrong students can take to understand the institution. As students continue to create a career high 17 points while nearly every religious organization in Savannah, and even potential Congressional representatives. Several societies and fraternities made their presence known as did the Armstrong contingent.

The美联航 weather at the MLK Day parade was damp and dreary with a 13 mph wind blowing through the streets. Savannah residents came out in force to celebrate the Civil Rights activist Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. During the annual downtown parade. The celebration had an extra meaning this year because this year marks the 50th anniversary of the assassination of Dr. King. The parade commenced on East Broad Street and concluded quite aptly, on Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard.

The unpleasant weather did not deter many students and alumni participated as well. Unfortunately, the same efficiency would not be seen from the Armstrong college.

To be fair, the College 100 came out with several affiliations. However, the turnout of the general student body only hosted the College 100 by a slim margin. For comparison, the College 100 brought an arsenal of a banner flanked with several members, a truck containing plenty of items, and a group of affiliates tailgating the truck.

The general student body on the other hand did manage to surround the front end of their float with a slew of people. The floats were occupied by members of the student government and GUS the Eagle. However, the rear was anchored by merely a few cheerleaders. The effort put forth by the student body was commendable. Sadly, the Armstrong contingent did not inflict a noticeable reaction.

Peace and Equality: Notions Stronger Than the Elements

DAYLON BONNER
STAFF WRITER

Savannah residents came out in force to celebrate the Civil Rights activist Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. During the annual downtown parade. The celebration had an extra meaning this year because this year marks the 50th anniversary of the assassination of Dr. King. The parade commenced on East Broad Street and concluded quite aptly, on Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard.

The unpleasant weather at the MLK Day parade was damp and dreary with a 13 mph wind blowing through the streets. Savannah residents came out in force to celebrate the Civil Rights activist Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. During the annual downtown parade. The celebration had an extra meaning this year because this year marks the 50th anniversary of the assassination of Dr. King. The parade commenced on East Broad Street and concluded quite aptly, on Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard.

The unpleasant weather did not deter many students and alumni participated as well. Unfortunately, the same efficiency would not be seen from the Armstrong college.

To be fair, the College 100 came out with several affiliations. However, the turnout of the general student body only hosted the College 100 by a slim margin. For comparison, the College 100 brought an arsenal of a banner flanked with several members, a truck containing plenty of items, and a group of affiliates tailgating the truck.

The general student body on the other hand did manage to surround the front end of their float with a slew of people. The floats were occupied by members of the student government and GUS the Eagle. However, the rear was anchored by merely a few cheerleaders. The effort put forth by the student body was commendable. Sadly, the Armstrong contingent did not inflict a noticeable reaction.

Peace and Equality: Notions Stronger Than the Elements

DAYLON BONNER
STAFF WRITER

Savannah residents came out in force to celebrate the Civil Rights activist Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. During the annual downtown parade. The celebration had an extra meaning this year because this year marks the 50th anniversary of the assassination of Dr. King. The parade commenced on East Broad Street and concluded quite aptly, on Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard.

The unpleasant weather at the MLK Day parade was damp and dreary with a 13 mph wind blowing through the streets. Savannah residents came out in force to celebrate the Civil Rights activist Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. During the annual downtown parade. The celebration had an extra meaning this year because this year marks the 50th anniversary of the assassination of Dr. King. The parade commenced on East Broad Street and concluded quite aptly, on Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard.

The unpleasant weather at the MLK Day parade was damp and dreary with a 13 mph wind blowing through the streets. Savannah residents came out in force to celebrate the Civil Rights activist Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. During the annual downtown parade. The celebration had an extra meaning this year because this year marks the 50th anniversary of the assassination of Dr. King. The parade commenced on East Broad Street and concluded quite aptly, on Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard.

The unpleasant weather at the MLK Day parade was damp and dreary with a 13 mph wind blowing through the streets. Savannah residents came out in force to celebrate the Civil Rights activist Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. During the annual downtown parade. The celebration had an extra meaning this year because this year marks the 50th anniversary of the assassination of Dr. King. The parade commenced on East Broad Street and concluded quite aptly, on Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard.
January 18, 2018

THE INKWELL
ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Microwave Meals for College Students: Mug Omelet

In these chaotic college mornings, it can be pretty tough to get your meals done. But with this easy recipe, you can make a quick and easy breakfast. You can change up the ingredients to whatever you have on hand, as long as you have a mug and microwave. The ingredients are inexpensive to buy at the store and are great for those mornings when you don’t have a lot of time to worry about what you’re going to eat.

Shredded cheese of your choice
¼ tsp of pepper
¼ tsp of salt
Directions:
- Crack eggs into cup and beat with fork until they are mixed.
- Add veggies, meats or cheese of your choice
- Stir and microwave for 2-1 minutes
- Season with salt and pepper
- Let it cool and enjoy!

The reason that mug omelets are so great is because you can change up the ingredients depending on what you want to eat for that day. You can also use the microwave to make an easy sandwich. The ingredients are inexpensive to buy at the store and are great for those mornings when you don’t have a lot of time to worry about what you’re going to eat.

Check our paper next week for another quick and easy recipe to try. Enjoy and have a great semester!

Stock photos of mug omelets.

Weekly Playlist: Making Moves in 2018

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>TITLE</th>
<th>ARTIST</th>
<th>ALBUM</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The High Road</td>
<td>Broken Bells</td>
<td>Broken Bells</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gold On The Ceiling</td>
<td>The Black Keys</td>
<td>El Camino</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I Can’t Like A Buffalo</td>
<td>The Dead Weather</td>
<td>Horsehead</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dim Young</td>
<td>Syrah Rose</td>
<td>What Now</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Everything Goes My Way</td>
<td>Monoready</td>
<td>Everything Goes My Way</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baby</td>
<td>Ariel Pink</td>
<td>Milton Thieves</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Follow Me</td>
<td>The Shades</td>
<td>Follow Me</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Expect The Beat</td>
<td>Willowpark</td>
<td>Expect The Beat</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reward Said</td>
<td>Sunflower Moon</td>
<td>Human Ceremony</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Harness Your Hope: Bidide</td>
<td>Penterrion</td>
<td>Brighten The Corners Now</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

And don’t forget to watch “Black Lightning”!

Scan QR code here to listen!
A Note from the Editor

LILIA MILLER
EDITOR IN CHIEF

Hello Armstrong… campus of Georgia Southern University! What a school year it has been (and will continue to be). As the winter season odds in a new year, 2018 brings new changes and opportunities to grow as a university together.

In my four years at Armstrong, I have grown as a student and a person in ways I couldn’t previously imagine. As the new editor-in-chief of The Inkwell, I hope to lead the paper in an exciting direction that keeps people reading even after I graduate in May.

Initially, I was a staff writer here at the Inkwell. After serving as the arts and entertainment section editor for the last two years, I have happily taken the opportunity to be the editor-in-chief for the last six months of my academic career. The beginning of a new year always serves as a good time to renovate on the past. 2017 was difficult for the university—formerly known as Armstrong. Over the winter, we officially became one of the three campuses of Georgia Southern University.

As a directionless student, faculty, and all you can do is get your sister, and then I would call my mom and dad and I guess I’d try to run. Run with my sister. Because I hope so much, etc.”

Ti Tran
Sophomore

“Think the first thing I would do is get my sister, and then I would call my mom and dad and I guess I’d try to run. Run with my sister. Because I love her so much, etc.”

Ana Rodriguez
Freshman

“I’m sorry, but with the traffic in Savannah, all you can really do is stay put…you’re just going to die… I mean whatever, just count your minutes and just carry on with my day or something. And probably not go to class, obviously…”

John Williams
Sophomore

Check out your new Editors

Hello, fellow students! Initially, I was a staff writer here at the Inkwell. After serving as the arts and entertainment section editor for the last two years, I have happily taken the opportunity to be the editor-in-chief for the last six months of my academic career. The beginning of a new year always serves as a good time to renovate on the past. 2017 was difficult for the university—formerly known as Armstrong. Over the winter, we officially became one of the three campuses of Georgia Southern University.

As a directionless student, faculty, and all you can do is get your sister, and then I would call my mom and dad and I guess I’d try to run. Run with my sister. Because I love her so much, etc.”

Ti Tran
Sophomore

“I’m sorry, but with the traffic in Savannah, all you can really do is stay put…you’re just going to die… I mean whatever, just count your minutes and just carry on with my day or something. And probably not go to class, obviously…”

John Williams
Sophomore

About your News Editor:

DAN HAYES

Hello, Pirates! I mean Eagles, and welcome back to a fresh new semester of learning. I am Dan Hayes, your new News Editor here at the Inkwell. I am a senior English Professional Communications Major with an emphasis in creative writing. After graduation, I plan to come out of college as a freelance writer. I grew up writing scripts and short stories and have since graduated to poetry. I came to Armstrong fall after transferring in from Savannah State University. By the time I graduate, I will have been a Tiger, a Pirate, and an Eagle. I have previously worked as a server, bartender, mechanic, and welder. I look forward to bringing a new voice to the students.

About your A&E Editor:

MADISON WATKINS

Hello, fellow students! After writing for The Inkwell for a year, I am excited to be a part of the team as the section editor for Arts and Entertainment. I am always interested in discussing anything related to movies and television so being able to apply that to a job is exciting. I am majoring in entertainment studies and have been involved in various productions on campus throughout this intense endeavor. Ultimately, as a school and community, I like to believe that we have gained more than we have lost. I look forward to seeing how we as students, faculty and staff thrive throughout this transition.

With all of the changes that are to surface within the next school year, I hope that we can all process it as gracefully and as our school continues to grow and become the Pirates we’ve become and ragged and raving we’ve once been.
The Savannah Tire Hockey Classic A Huge Success

Annual Savannah Tire Hockey Classic A Huge Success

The 20th Annual Savannah Tire Hockey Classic was yet another huge success for the city of Savannah and the colleges that participated. Georgia, Georgia Tech, Florida State, and Florida all competed for the Thrasher Cup once again. Georgia won the trophy last year, and with the final being 7 goals to 2 and an impressive turn out, it did inspire some interesting assertions from the student. An Armstrong student, who chooses to remain anonymous, relayed some of her thoughts concerning the celebration. She expressed some concerns about the celebration of African American figures being “condensed to a day in January and the shortest month of the year.” The celebration of contributions from Martin Luther King, Malcolm X and other notable African American figures should become so ubiquitous that a special occasion is not even needed.

To quote another student, who decided to remain unidentified, Dr. King is “a beacon of hope whose rays were not restricted to just to African Americans.” The words of this student were reflected in the fact that the Savannah LGBT Center was present. While race prejudices plagued his rhetoric, the words of Dr. King could just as easily be applied to bridge divides in other facets of the human experience.

As stated before, the floats and performances from the high schools were collectively the most impressive. Overall, the parade to commemorate Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. did not leave much to be desired. The displays were exquisite and added to a vibrant atmosphere shouldled in a goal to seek feasible consensus. While the Armstrong nation did not have the greatest turnout, those who attended gave a serviceable effort.

For Florida and Georgia Tech taking on Florida, it seemed like a completely different team against Florida, who needed a blowout win to even the score. Florida opened the floodgates late in the second period of play to make the score 5 goals to 1, but Georgia began the third period hot and started to come back. Georgia scored three consecutive goals to make the score 5 goals to 4, but Florida shut down the comeback attempt with a late third period goal to make it 6 goals to 4, with the final being 7 goals to 5.

Day 2 began with Florida State, who was virtually out of Thrasher Cup contention throughout. Florida opened the floodgates late in the second period of play to make the score 5 goals to 1, but Georgia began the third period hot and started to come back. Georgia scored three consecutive goals to make the score 5 goals to 4, but Florida shut down the comeback attempt with a late third period goal to make it 6 goals to 4, with the final being 7 goals to 5.

The Savannah Tire Hockey Classic is a great experience for those reading who have a love for hockey, and this event is fun for anyone. If you’re a fan of Georgia, Georgia Tech, Florida, or Florida State, put this event on your calendar next year and congratulations to Georgia for winning back-to-back Thrasher Cups.