Savannah residents came out in force to celebrate the Civil Rights activist Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. day and kick off the official consolidation in Savannah.

The celebration had an extra effervescence this year given the previously mentioned sentiment behind it given that King was assassinated the same year this march is being held.

During the annual downtown parade, the marchers celebrated King’s message of equality, peace, and justice. The event was marked by impressive floats, bands, and local businesses participating.

The most impressive float was a truck containing the names of local businesses and a banner flanked with several representatives. Several student representatives also participated.

The general student body on the other hand did manage to surround the front end of their float with a slew of people. The float was occupied by members of the student government and GSU the Eagle. However, the rear was anchored by merely a few cheerleaders. The effort put forth by the student body was commendable.

The Armstrong consolidation did not inflict any noticeable reaction.

With the continuing their winning-streak and the women’s continuing their losing-streak of 11 consecutive losses, these two squads are progressing in very two different directions. The men are looking to secure a nice spot in the Sun Belt tournament, with seeding being very important.

The women, on the other hand, are looking to find a groove to get back into what has been a lackluster Sun Belt conference season all year. Either way, they could slide into a groove to get back into what has been a lackluster Sun Belt tournament and possibly win it as a wildcard. Either way, go support the Eagles, as both teams play the same teams back to back every time they play, so you can get a feel for both of the season’s ends for a while, so you all have plenty of time to take a drive down to Statesboro and cheer on the action for yourself. Eagles! STAGA

According to the answers, there are three things that can be done.

1. The students will be expected to fit in academic gaps with classes from another campus.
2. The students will be expected to fit in academic gaps with classes from another campus.
3. The students will be expected to fit in academic gaps with classes from another campus.

The answers to the above questions will have to be found by the students. This consolidation was started with the sole purpose of saving money. The various work groups and committees that have been tirelessly working on the details of this consolidation, undoubtedly, sought to mitigate the negative effects. But with change, there is disruption. There will be some faculty that decide to leave the institution. With the blending of administrative staffs there will be no doubt that individuals who lose their jobs will leave. But the main emphasis will remain on the students. The only thing we know for sure is that there will be two Eagles, no more and no less.
Welcome back, students! This is your new Arts and Entertainment Section Editor introducing you to a new section of “The Inkwell.” We’ll be trying out this semester called “What to Watch!” I know it’s not an incredibly creative title, but it’ll do for the time being. What to Watch gives you updates on what’s new in media entertainment, gives you notifications on what you should look forward to watch or play for the month or just gives comfortable suggestions for TV programs you might want to turn your brain off to. We’ll cover a range of mediums here including television, movies, music and even video games. If you would like to make a recommendation about a topic you think should be covered, feel free to write us at the Inkwell office. But, onto the news of this edition of What to Watch.

TV
Returning shows: The upside to holiday break being over is all the shows coming back from their winter hiatus! The usual shows we know and love such as “This Is Us,” “Blindspot,” “Scandal,” and “Grey’s Anatomy” have either come back last week or are back this week. If you’re a fan of shows on the CW, they will be having their nightly superhero shows, “The Flash” on Tuesday, “Riviera” on Wednesday, and “Arrow” and “Supernatural” on Thursday. “Jane the Virgin” will premiere on Jan. 26 and “Legends of Tomorrow” will be back Feb. 12. If you are a fan of period dramas, the second season of the BBC show “Victoria” about Queen Victoria had its U.S. premiere on Jan. 14 and the remaining episodes will be shown on PBS.

New shows to check out: Making a new addition to their mighty superhero shows, the CW debuted “Black Lightning” on Tuesday night. Based on the DC comics hero, Black Lightning is about Jefferson Pierce, aka Black Lightning, a retired superhero who has the power to control electricity while trying to navigate life as a father of two daughters and is forced back into the world of crime-fighting. “Black Lightning” is the first African-American led superhero show on the CW. Despite airing along with other superhero shows, the showrunners have stated it will take place in a separate universe. It will be airing on Tuesdays at 9.

If you’re a fan of the comedy “Black-ish” that airs on ABC, then you may be interested in checking out the spinoff show airing on Fox called “Grown-ish.” It follows the teenage daughter of the family, Zoey Johnson, as she goes off to college and tries to make her own place in the world away from home. With the same creator on board and a theme we can all relate to, this one will be worth watching.”Grown-ish.”

Microwave Meals for College Students: Mug Omelet

Ingredients:
- Shredded cheese of your choice
- ¼ tsp of pepper
- ¼ tsp of salt
- Directions
  Spray mug with nonstick cooking spray.
  Crack eggs into cup and beat with fork until they are mixed.
  Add in veggies, meats or cheese of your choice
- Stir and microwave for 2 minutes
- Season with salt and pepper
- Let it cool and enjoy!

The reason that mug omelets are so great is because you can change up the ingredients depending on what you want to eat for that day. You can also use the mug to make an easy sandwich. The ingredients are inexpensive to buy at the store and are great for those mornings when you don’t have a lot of time to worry about what you’re going to eat.

Check our paper next week for another quick and easy recipe to try. Enjoy and have a great semester!
Hello Armstrong… campus of Georgia Southern University! What a school year it has been (and will continue to be). As the winter season odds in a new year, 2018 brings new changes and opportunities to grow as a university together.

In my four years at Armstrong, I have grown as a student and a person in ways I couldn’t previously imagine. As the new editor-in-chief of The Inkwell, I hope to lead the paper in an exciting direction that keeps people reading even after I graduate in May. Initially, I was a staff writer here at the Inkwell. After serving as the arts and entertainment section editor for the last two years, I have happily taken the opportunity to be the editor-in-chief for the last six months of my academic career.

The beginning of a new year always serves as a good time to ruminate on the past. 2017 was difficult for the university-formerly-known-as Armstrong. Over the winter break, we officially became one of the three campuses of Georgia Southern University. As a directionless non-traditional transfer student, I remember finding myself self distraught in my advisor’s office, unable to quote a transferable credit. I have previously worked as a server, bartender, mechanic, and welder. I look forward to bringing a new voice to the students.

Growing pains abound. The beginning of a new year always serves as a good time to ruminate on the past. 2017 was difficult for the university-formerly-known-as Armstrong. Over the winter break, we officially became one of the three campuses of Georgia Southern University. As a directionless non-traditional transfer student, I remember finding myself self distraught in my advisor’s office, unable to quote a transferable credit. I have previously worked as a server, bartender, mechanic, and welder. I look forward to bringing a new voice to the students.

Ultimately, as a school and community, I like to believe that we have gained more than we have lost. I look forward to seeing how we as students, faculty and staff thrive throughout this transition.

With all of the changes that are to surface within the next school year, I hope that we can all process it as gracefully and as gracefully as I plan to cross the stage on graduation day.

Happy new year all, let’s sob like the Eagles we’re becoming and rave like the Pirates we once were.
Annual Savannah Tire Hockey Classic A Huge Success

The 20th Annual Savannah Tire Hockey Classic was yet another huge success for the city of Savannah and the colleges that participated. Georgia, Georgia Tech, Florida State, and Florida all competed for the Thrasher Cup once again. Georgia won the trophy last year, and with the rest of the game. Georgia scored three consecutive goals to make the score 5 goals to 4, but Florida State busted out 5 consecutive goals to win the game 8 goals to 7 and eliminate Florida State. It all came down to Georgia Tech v Georgia. Georgia needed a blowout win to even up the goals conceded by both teams, and with the score being 5 goals to 2 with 2:36 remaining, Georgia capitalized on the opportunity at back-to-back Thrasher Cup titles by Senior Alex Carey, playing his final game in Savannah. Savannah scored with 90 seconds left to give Georgia a 2-goals-to-1 victory and the Thrasher Cup by a one goal difference. The Most Valuable Players of this tournament were UGA Graduate Goalie Andrew Webb, who blanked Georgia Tech in the final two periods of UGA’s season, and Georgia Tech Freshman Forward Karl Risley, who led the tournament with 4 overall goals scored. The Savannah Tire Hockey Classic is a great experience for those reading who have a love for hockey, and this event is fun for anyone. If you’re a fan of Georgia, Georgia Tech, Florida, or Florida State, put this event on your calendar next year and...
