New Eagle Nation on Parade sculpture will be unveiled Friday, Sept. 9

September 8, 2016

On September 9, an unveiling ceremony will be held for the newest addition to the Eagle Nation on Parade (ENOP) project. The event will be at Howard Lumber and Hardware and will begin at 10 a.m.

The sculpture, commissioned by Arthur and Carol Howard, was designed by Georgia Southern University Betty Foy Sanders Department of Art graduate students, Courtney Ryan, of Columbus, Ga., and Jessamy McManus, of Lilburn, Ga.

Four generations of Howards have worked in the lumber industry processing long leaf, yellow pines in Bulloch County since 1898. The "Legacy of Lumber" eagle is a tribute to the family’s heritage and reflects the evolution of their business—from a small, man-powered sawmill to a technologically advanced, full-line manufacturer and distributor of lumber products in the city of Statesboro.

“It was a pleasure working with Jessamy and Courtney on this project, and they were so easy to work with,” said Arthur Howard. “The eagle turned out fabulous, and Carol and I are so proud of it.”

Ryan is a Master of Fine Arts student working in ceramics at Georgia Southern. She earned her Bachelor of Fine Arts in sculpture and ceramics at Columbus State University. Currently, Ryan is working as a Graduate Teaching Assistant instructing foundations-level Two-Dimensional Design and Three-Dimensional Design classes at Georgia Southern.

McManus is a Master of Fine Arts student studying painting at Georgia Southern where she also earned her Bachelor of Art in 2D Studio Art and currently is working as the Gallery Assistant at the Center for Art and Theatre.

“We are excited about the latest ENOP project designed by Courtney and Jessamy,” said Robert Farber, chair of the Betty Foy Sanders Department of Art. “Through collaboration, these two emerging artists have created a unique sculpture that successfully represents the long history of the Howard Lumber Company and the Howard family’s involvement in the lumber industry in Bulloch County.”

Eagle Nation On Parade is a public art project that salutes the University’s traditions, celebrates the unity of campus and community, contributes to the economic vitality and quality of life in Statesboro while supporting student scholarships.
