Robert Boxer Textbook Papers

Finding Aid

Preparer's Notes

This finding aid covers papers given to Henderson Library by Dr. Robert Boxer of the GSU Chemistry Department for an exhibit entitled "The Making of a Textbook." The papers concern the development of a textbook on organic chemistry which Boxer compiled, Essentials of Organic Chemistry. I am leaving the materials pretty much the way I found them. The first set of materials holds all of the materials which were already in folders; the remaining materials were loose. I am not relabeling any of the folders. I apologize in advance for any errors in spelling or description caused by the fact that I know less than nothing about organic chemistry and only slightly more than that about the textbook publication process.

Marketing - Marty Lange

- This file contains an e-mail message from Dr. Boxer to Marty Lange, comparing his textbook with one coming out about the same time, written by someone called Brown.

Exam - Text - Answers

- This file contains photocopies of handwritten answers to test questions for Dr. Boxer's textbook.

Faxes - Tenney, Rossman, Keefer

- This file contains photocopies of faxes about the textbook to Dr. Boxer from Marty Tenney (Textbook Writers Associates), Brittany Rossman (William C. Brown Publishers), and Janelle Keefer (William C. Brown Publishers). [1996]

Cover

- This file contains correspondence and information about the cover art for Dr. Boxer's textbook. [1995]

Correspondence from Disk

- This file contains copies of Dr. Boxer's correspondence about his textbook, printed out from the disk they were saved on. [1991-1996]

Boxer Stuff

- This file contains typewritten notes found in an envelope labeled "Boxer Stuff."

Loose Materials

The remaining materials listed were all originally loose in the box; in other words, they were not in folders. The following materials were all in envelopes.

1991 Reviews

- This file contains a letter from Elizabeth M. Sievers, William C. Brown Publishers, with reviews of the first five chapters of his organic chemistry text enclosed. [1-31-91]

1994 Schedule

- This file contains a letter from John J. Berns, William C. Brown Publishers, with a tentative schedule, reviews and copy enclosed. [1-24-94]

1994 Reviews (1)

- This file contains a letter from Molly Kelchen, William C. Brown Publishers, with manuscript and reviews for the text enclosed. [6-8-94] (Note: The original envelope with the material in it was so big that I had to use two folders to contain it.)

1994 Reviews (2)

1994 Revisions (1)

- This file contains drafts of chapters for the textbook with editorial notes on them and once or twice letters from William C. Brown Publishers employees about the textbook. (Note: The original envelope with the material in it was so big that I had to use three folders to contain it.)

Loose Materials (continued)

This box contains materials which were in loose piles in the original organization. They consist mostly of reviews of material for the textbook as different stages of development. The reviewers were identified by number; the number in the folder title is the number assigned by the publisher.

Manuscript

- This is the original proposal written by Dr. Boxer for the textbook. It includes a list of features which his textbook will have, a proposed table of contents, and a text draft of the book.

Prospectus - Reviewer #2

- This file contains a copy of portions of Dr. Boxer's proposed text, with comments on potential changes.
