I. Purpose

This policy provides guidance on the use of flexible work schedules and flexible workspaces consistent with the University’s efforts in promoting work/life balance for employees.

II. Policy Statement

Georgia Southern University allows teleworking and flextime to employees who fill job classifications/positions that have been designated by the departments as eligible for telework and/or flextime. The Georgia Southern University Telework and Flextime program is an employer option, not an employee right and is appropriate only when it results in a mutual benefit to both the employee and to the institution.

The purpose of this policy is to define the program for teleworking (also known as telecommuting) and alternative work schedules, hereinafter referred to as flextime, and the guidelines and rules under which it will operate. There are significant economic, personal, and production benefits of telework and flextime, but there are a number of potential downfalls. This policy is designed to help managers and employees understand this type of work environment and their associated rights and responsibilities. This policy and its accompanying guidelines provide a general framework for teleworkers and employees approved for flextime at Georgia Southern University. It does not attempt to address the special conditions and needs of all Georgia Southern University employees, nor is it intended to interfere with faculty schedules driven by teaching, research, service and/or clinical responsibilities, which can vary daily.

III. Definitions

Alternate Workplace – A work site other than the employee’s usual and customary worksite (primary workplace). The alternate workplace may include the employee’s home.

Core Operating Hours – Georgia Southern University departments may establish operating hours according to the operating needs of the individual departments during which all full-time employees are expected to work a minimum of 40 hours in a workweek. For employees not assigned to shift work, the core hours for the institution will generally be 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Core hours are the time period during which all regular professional/administrative and staff employees (not faculty) will normally be expected to be present. During this time, all offices are to be open for business, unless administratively and/or programmatically unfeasible. All offices are to be adequately staffed to transact business during these hours and to provide the necessary and appropriate services.

Eligible Employee – An employee, in an eligible position, who has been identified by the employee’s supervisor as satisfactorily meeting performance standards, terms, and conditions of employment of their position. The employee shall have no active formal disciplinary actions on file for the current or immediately preceding review period.

Eligible Position – A position having measurable quantitative or qualitative results-oriented standards of performance that is structured to be performed during a work period that may vary from the core work hours established for a department or school. For teleworking, the position must be structured to be performed independently of others and with minimal need for support and can be scheduled at least one day a pay period to participate in teleworking without impacting service quality or organizational operations. The eligibility of a position for teleworking or flextime may change depending on circumstances.

Flextime – A work period that may vary from the core work hours established for a division or department. Work schedule will include the core hours established above, with the start and end times varying to ensure a 40 hour work week. All schedules will include a minimum of a 30 minute meal break. Options for flextime include 7:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. with 1 hour for lunch, 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. with 30 minutes for lunch, 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. with 30 minutes for lunch, or 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. with 1 hour for lunch. Four 10 hour days may also be considered by the manager when feasible for the department and position.

Teleworking and Flextime Agreement – The signed document that outlines the understanding between the University and the employee regarding the teleworking arrangement. The Teleworking Agreement documents the mandatory policies in effect and the results of any other agreements between the supervisor and the teleworker. The agreement must be signed by both parties and approved by the divisional President’s Cabinet member or their designee, prior to the start of telework period agreeing that both parties will abide by the terms and conditions of teleworking. The agreement must be reviewed and renewed at least every 90 days to ensure that the guidelines for participating in the program indicate continued eligibility and are well understood. A supervisor may elect to revise the agreement when a need arises. In addition, the teleworking agreement should be reviewed and revised if necessary when there is a change in supervisor, job responsibilities, or change in work circumstances or performance. The agreement must have a place where the employee acknowledges that he or she has read and agrees to the terms of the policy and items listed in the agreement. Any employee who teleworks must sign a Teleworking and Flextime Agreement.

Mobile Worker – An employee who travels continuously and whose current work location is his/her home or an assigned office. The duties of these positions generally require the employee to meet and work off-site with clients/customers who are dispersed throughout a geographic territory. For the purposes of this policy, mobile workers are not considered teleworkers.

Occasional Teleworker – A teleworker, who with the approval of his/her supervisor, works at home on an infrequent basis. Approval is usually task or project specific and normally approved at least the day before the employee teleworks. Occasional teleworkers do not telework on a scheduled basis. For the purpose of this policy, occasional teleworkers are considered teleworkers.
Primary Workplace – The teleworker’s usual and customary workplace.

Teleworker – A person who for at least one or more days in a particular pay period works at home, or a satellite office, to produce an agreed upon work product. All teleworkers should complete the telework agreement. A teleworker is not a mobile worker.

Teleworking – Working at a location other than the employee’s usual and customary workplace.

IV. Process & Procedures

Overview

Telework and/or flextime may not be suitable for all employees and/or positions. Departments may implement teleworking and/or flextime as a work option for certain eligible employees based on specific criteria and procedures consistently applied throughout the department. Members of the President’s Cabinet or their designee will be responsible for designating the positions under their supervision which will be authorized to approve telework or flextime arrangements. Directors, Department Chair, or other management personnel authorized to approve telework or flextime shall hereinafter be referred to as the Georgia Southern University Telework or Flextime Manager for the purposes of this policy.

Provisions Specific to Teleworking

Georgia Southern University Telework or Flextime Managers who choose to consider telework for employees shall be responsible for the following:

1. Establishing expectations for and monitoring of employee performance;
2. Identifying eligible positions suitable for telework;
3. Identifying eligible employees (see Employee Participation);
4. Determining if office-like space is required;
5. Determining if Georgia Southern University equipment will be provided to the employee to use at home (see Equipment and Supplies);
6. Establishing how the teleworker will maintain regular contact with office co-workers and supervisors;
7. Determining how the department will handle restricted access materials, security issues, and taking electronic or paper records from the primary workplace (see Security and Access to Information);
8. Ensuring that practices are consistent and compliant with state, Board of Regents, and Georgia Southern University policy and state and federal law in the use of technology;
9. Ensuring that individual work schedules and reporting for non-exempt employees are in compliance with FLSA regulations and Board of Regents policy;
10. Ensuring that each employee’s request to telework is considered in relation to the department’s operating and customer needs;
11. Requiring a Teleworking and Flextime Agreement (see Attachment B);
12. Ensuring that employees approved for telework record their telework days as “TW” for “Teleworking” on the appropriate institutional leave records.
Conditions of Employment – The teleworker’s conditions of employment with Georgia Southern University remain the same as for non-teleworking Georgia Southern University employees. Employee salary, benefits, and employer-sponsored insurance coverage will not change as a result of teleworking. The employee shall adhere to all policies, rules, and regulations of Georgia Southern University, the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia, and State of Georgia while teleworking. Further, an employee must have the willingness of his/her supervisor to perform the necessary supervisory responsibilities required for teleworking. The employee agrees not to conduct personal business while in official duty status at the alternate workplace.

Teleworking and Flextime Manager Assessment – A successful teleworker has particular traits, a job suitable for telework and a telework site that is conducive to the work assigned. A manager assessment helps supervisors decide whether telework is appropriate for an individual employee. Managers must complete this assessment as a part of the agreement for an employee to engage in telework or flextime. The assessment is provided.

Work Site - No agreement can be made for an employee to engage in regular telework outside of the State of Georgia. Doing so alters the conditions of employment and is not covered under this policy.

Work Space and Work Hours – A defined workspace and defined core work hours are necessary (1) to reduce Georgia Southern University’s exposure to risk, (2) to facilitate proper management of teleworkers, and (3) to ensure work is conducted in a productive environment.

- Work Space: As a condition of permission to telework, the employee must verify that home facilities used for telework purposes are safe and suitable for purposes of the employee’s work. The department may deny an employee the opportunity to telework if the alternate worksite is not conducive to productive work. The department should provide the employee a self-certification checklist, as part of the application to telework. The checklist is necessary to reduce Georgia Southern University’s exposure to risk and liability and helps the employee know if his or her alternate workplace is conducive to productive work. A sample checklist is provided.

- Work Hours: Each employee who teleworks shall develop a work schedule with the employee’s supervisor and the employee’s supervisor must agree in advance to any changes to the employee’s work schedule. Exempt employees will record telework days on the Monthly Record of Leave as “TW” for “Teleworking” to designate the time as work performed off campus under this policy. Non-exempt employees and telework managers must ensure time worked in a telework arrangement is accurately recorded on the timecard as Telework. Non-exempt employees subject to mandatory overtime must obtain approval from their supervisor before performing overtime. A non-exempt employee working overtime without such approval may cause the department to terminate the teleworking option and/or take other appropriate action. The employee must obtain approval in advance from his or her supervisor before taking leave during a designated telework day.

The employee must maintain contact with the office as specified in the work schedule, departmental expectations, and telework agreement. An employee’s activities outside the time of work or outside the place designated for work will be deemed to be in the employee’s own personal time and place, unconnected with work activities.

An employee approved to telework shall be responsible for setting up an appropriate work environment within his/her home. Georgia Southern University will not be responsible for any risk or cost associated with the setup of a home office. Upon request, Georgia Southern University will consult with an employee on any modifications or requirements to operate Georgia Southern University-owned equipment at the home office. An employee will be required to provide Georgia Southern University with a statement within 10 working days of the request to telework confirming that he/she has met the reasonable standards to include health and safety requirements (including an ergonomically sound workstation) and promise to maintain it in the condition for the duration of the telecommuting period.

- Equipment and Supplies: Office supplies (e.g. pens and paper) shall be provided by the department and should be obtained during the teleworker’s in-office work period.

  The employee is expected to use his or her own furniture, telephone lines, internet service and other equipment. Any use of private facilities of the employee will be at the employee’s discretion and not at the behest or expense of Georgia Southern University. This applies to all physical improvements and conveniences as well as services.

In no situation should Georgia Southern University owned equipment be installed in an employee’s home. Georgia Southern University, however, may give written permission for certain equipment, for example computers or cell phones, to be checked out and used at the alternate worksite. As Georgia Southern University equipment is the property of the state, Georgia Southern University must retain the responsibility for the inventory and maintenance of state-owned property following state laws and procedures.

- Expenses: Work related long distance phone calls should be planned for in-office days. At the discretion of the supervisor, expenses for business related long distance calls and cell phone calls, which must be made from a teleworker’s home, may be reimbursed if the reasons and costs for the calls are documented. The teleworker is responsible for the cost of maintenance, repair, and operation of personal equipment.

- Liability: The employee’s home workspace when used for telework is an extension of the department workspace. Georgia Southern University’s liability for job-related accidents will continue to exist during the approved work schedule and in the employee’s designated work location. The teleworker is covered under the State’s Workers’ Compensation Law for injuries occurring in the course of the actual performance of official duties at the alternate workplace.

  If an injury occurs during teleworking work hours, then the employee shall immediately report the injury to the supervisor. The employee, supervisor, and agency should follow the Georgia Southern University policies regarding the reporting of injuries for employees injured while at work.

  The State of Georgia and Georgia Southern University are not responsible for any injuries to family members, visitors, and others in the employee’s home. The teleworker may not have business guests at the alternate workplace.

  To the extent permitted by law, the employee will not attempt to hold Georgia Southern University or the state responsible or liable for any loss or liability in any way connected to the employee’s non-work related use of his or her own home.

  The teleworker is responsible for contacting the teleworker’s insurance agent and a tax consultant and consulting local ordinances for information regarding home workplaces.

Telework Coordination – The Georgia Southern University Telework Coordinator in Human Resources will provide guidance and clarification to departments on telework, act as a liaison between including compliance with policies, procedures, and guidelines.
Security and Access to Information – The teleworker is responsible for maintaining confidentiality and security at the alternate workplace, as the teleworker would at the primary workplace. The employee must protect the security and integrity of data, information, paper files, and access to agency computer systems. All Georgia Southern University policies on Information Technology and Internet and technology use apply to teleworking, as they would in the primary workplace.

Child and Dependent Care – Teleworking is not a substitute for childcare or dependent care. The teleworker shall continue to make arrangements for child or dependent care to the same extent as if the teleworker was working at the primary workplace.

Program Reporting and Evaluation – The employee agrees to participate in studies, inquiries, reports or analyses relating to teleworking at Georgia Southern University’s direction.

Provisions Specific to Flextime

Georgia Southern University Telework or Flextime Managers who choose to consider flextime for employees shall be responsible for the following:

1. Establishing expectations for and monitoring employee performance;
2. Identifying eligible employees (see Telework and Flextime Manager Assessment);
3. Ensuring that each employee’s request for flextime is considered in relation to the department’s operating and customer needs
4. Requiring a Telework and Flextime Agreement.

Employee Participation in Program

Offering the opportunity to work at home or according to a flextime schedule is a management option and is not an employee right. An employee’s participation in Georgia Southern University’s telework and/or flextime program is entirely voluntary. The employee, supervisor, or manager may terminate teleworking or flextime without cause. Teleworking and flextime are work arrangements between an individual employee and his/her supervisor. A supervisor has no authority to require an employee to telework or work flextime unless it was a condition of employment or a requirement of the job description.

Process/Procedures

The teleworker agreement should be discussed and renewed every 90 days, whenever there is a major job change (such as a promotion), or whenever the teleworker or supervisor changes positions. Because teleworking was selected as a feasible work option based on a combination of job characteristics, employee characteristics, and supervisor characteristics, a change in any one of these elements may require a review of the teleworking arrangement

Signed Agreements

Any signed agreement related to this policy must be submitted to hrservice@georgiasouthern.edu. This will include agreements that are renewed every 90 days or any amendments made to agreements already on file.
