STRANEER STREWS CASH IN ATLANTA

Carmichael Meets Manicure Girl and Buys Her $500 Worth of Dresses.

PAYS FOR SIXTEEN

NEW SUITS.

Had $134,000 in Wallet and Two Grips Full of Cash—He Takes Chauffeur Abroad.

HOW CARMICHAEL SPENT HIS TIME AND HIS MONEY.

(Atlanta Georgian.) Arrived with two grip sacks full of money, big bills and gold. Took four rooms at the Piedmont to entertain friends. Invited a manicure girl to luncheon and gave her $500 for dresses worthy the occasion. Displeased with her lack of Jewelry, took her out and bought her a diamond ring and a pearl necklace.

Rented an automobile at $5 an hour and paid for it whether he used it or not—total $235.

Bought $1,000 worth of clothing and $50 worth of socks—and paid for them.

Took a fancy to young chauffeur and wired him funds for trip over Europe, to drive Carmichael's car.

This is the true story of A. W. Carmichael, of New York and London; how he came to the Piedmont hotel with two grips full of money, made a manicure girl happy with $500 worth of clothes and a diamond ring and a pearl necklace, so she could honor him at luncheon; took a fancy to a young chauffeur and carried him off for a trip over European roads.

Yes, it reads like a fake, and the reporter who turned it in was advised to go take another nap and forget it. Then he got mad and proved it by witnesses good and true. If you don't believe it,

BRASS BAND TO THE TRAIN

Large Crowds and Great Interest Shown in "College on Wheels."

Arrangements have been made to have a Cornet Band of ten pieces here Monday morning to enliven the great crowds that are expected to meet the College on Wheels. Prof. J. E. Brannen, believing that there ought to be some music to set the thing off in good shape, set out and soon made up the necessary funds to get the band. Mr. J. R. Miller went down to Savannah this morning to look up the band, which is expected to arrive Sunday night over one of the roads, and the probabilities are we will have some music Monday.

The train will arrive at eight o'clock over the Central of Georgia Railway; it will be open to inspection of the public after the announcements are made and not until then. It will be impossible to turn a great crowd into the train without any order at all, and the program will be announced before anybody is expected to enter any of the cars.

Dr. Soule, the president of the State Agricultural College, and in whose charge the train is, sends out a warning to our people not to take up with a number of fakes that are following up the train and claiming to be part of it. The chances are you will find a crowd of slick citizens blow in here tomorrow night and be on hand Monday morning to push war. Dr. Soule wants it thoroughly understood that they have no connection with the train, and the management are not responsible in any manner for them.

Don't fail to be on hand Monday and see the biggest thing on wheels.

go ask the persons involved—there is quite a bunch of them. For Carmichael made Death Valley Scotty's free spending look like doing circus day on twenty cents.

This young Mr. Carmichael arrived on February 15 at the Piedmont and registered from New York. He was a rather good-looking fellow—one of the telephone girls called him "a real pretty man"—about 25 years of age and as pleasant as you please.

He was given one of the best rooms in the house, but it didn't meet his desires. "Give me a whole floor," he remarked to the clerk. "The pay will be all right." But he compromised on a suite of four rooms, though he had little to put in them beyond his hand baggage.

He Meets the Girl.

When Mr. Carmichael had refreshed himself he fancied his nails needed attention and dropped into the manicure parlors in the basement. And there, at one of the tables, sat Louise Whitmore, Mr. Carmichael looked no further.

Miss Whitmore took the little orange wood stick and smoothed her customer's fingers into shape. When she looked up he was looking at her hard.

"How'd you like to take luncheon with me?" he asked. It's an invitation not unknown to manicure girls and it didn't rattle this one out of her seat. She looked Mr. Carmichael over and remarked: "Sure."

Carmichael took another look at his guest-to-be and carefully and tactfully inquired what she intended to wear. The manicure lady remarked that her present outfit was her limit.

"We'll fix that right now," quoth her host. "Go get some real clothes and meet me." Then he extracted a large-sized roll from an inner pocket and peeled off five 100-dollar bills. Miss Whitmore recovered in a moment, demurred another moment—and grabbed the currency. The next day she told her lady friends in the manicure shop:

"You ought to come out to my house in Capitol avenue and have a look. Oh, girls, I've got more swell clothes than Blanche Ring ever dreamed of, and she's some dresser."

And that wasn't all, as the old ladies at the sewing circle say. When Miss Whitmore showed up for the luncheon Carmichael appeared peeved at her lack of jewelry, so he took her down to Moore & Berkele's and bought her a diamond ring and a magnificent pearl necklace. She wore them at the luncheon.

She never went back to trimming other folks' finger nails, but she did stroll into the shop every afternoon for a week and the girls declare she wore a different dress every time, and each one was more gorgeous than its predecessor. The girls say that Carmichael also gave Miss Whitmore's mother a comfortable sum and sent her back to her old home in Kentucky.

$235 For Auto Hire.

Next morning young Carmichael took a fancy for a drive and went to a garage at 247 Peachtree street. From A. L. Belle-Isle he rented a Speedwell car, paying $5 an hour for it and insisted on its exclusive use. He used it all the week, and Charley Belle-Isle, who is only seventeen years old, was always his driver. He tipped Charley from $2 to $5 at the end of every ride, visited various clubs and cafes and never accepted change when he paid his bills, and his total payment for the automobile reached $235. Miss Whitmore was with him on most of his drives.

Sixteen New Suits.

But Carmichael's clothing did not match his expenditures and when he first arrived he went to Mahoney & Manry's tailoring establishment and ordered sixteen suits of clothes—the bill ran well over $1,000—and when the tailor seemed to hesitate a bit Carmichael paid for the whole bill in advance, disdained a receipt and urged the tailor to rush the garments. Then he went to a haberdashery and bought $60 worth of socks of various hues.

"Where does all his money come from?" folks were beginning to ask. They had seen Carmichael spend note after note with no apparent effect on the supply. They haven't discovered the original source yet, but from the young man's visible assets he won't go broke for a while, even if he keeps up his gait. One of his new friends went up to the suite in the Piedmont one evening and this is what Carmichael exhibited, to back up some claim he had made concerning his wealth:

His Visible Assets.

A wallet containing 314 $1,000 dollar bills.

One New York certified check for $45,000.

One suit case practically filled with bills of various denominations, mostly fives and tens.

One Gladstone bag half full of smaller bills and gold coins.

Evidently Carmichael distrusted banks. He visited them only once during his stay in Atlanta. Then he took the two grips of money to several banks in an effort to exchange the smaller currency for 1,000 dollar notes. He couldn't find that denomination in the quantity he desired and went back to the hotel in disgust.

Carmichael left Atlanta as abruptly as he came, and without telling anybody who he was. He mentioned London once or twice and he told some friends he had lived there and had been in the small arms and ammunition business, but most folks who met him were too busy taking the coin to worry about past history. He left Saturday night, saying he was going to Havana, after paying his bills and tipping everybody liberally.

Wires For Belle-Isle.

On Tuesday afternoon Charley

Belle-Isle, his young chauffeur, received a telegram from Carmichael, from Tampa, telling him to go to New York at once, and wiring transportation and $100.

He offered Belle-Isle $25 a week and all expenses, including "spending money," and said he was wanted for a trip through Europe. Carmichael announced his intention of buying a car in New York and shipping it to France, and wanted the young Atlantan as his chauffeur. Belle-Isle leaves Thursday night to meet his new-found friend.

Who is Carmichael, That's the problem. Where did he get his money? That's another. He didn't seem anxious to conceal anything while in Atlanta, mixed freely with the public and gave himself up to a good time. Just why he should come to Atlanta to blow in his fortune while Broadway is still running isn't quite clear. Perhaps he didn't come for that purpose, but he met a pretty manicure girl—and rest of the story has been told.

And the manicure shop has lost one of its very best operators.

BEWARE OF WESTERN CORN IS THE WORD.

Pure Food Inspector Says: Frequently Deadly to Stock When Fed in Georgia. Last Year as Precedent, When Hundreds of Thousands Bushels Corn Were Destroyed Because of "Heat."

Atlanta, Ga., March 1.—A solemn warning is sounded to the farmers and buyers of feed corn in Georgia, by P. A. Methvin, pure food inspector for the state. The warning applies especially to the season just now beginning, when the Western corn shipped in here in bulk begins germinating rapidly under the mild temperature.

Last year hundreds of thousands of bushels of corn in the germinating stage were seized by the state pure food inspector and was not allowed to be sold for cattle and stock feed. He has already stopped several cars this year, and declares that buyers should be on a sharp lookout for now.

Corn from the great Western corn belt is allowed to stand in the stalk through a good part of the winter. It absorbs through the stalk much moisture from the rain and snow, and is then shelled while hard frozen. This moisture is sealed in the grain and no harm is done until mild temperature is reached and continues for some time.

Then the grain begins to germinate rapidly and becomes deadly to cattle, horses and mules as a feed. Grain carrying under 1 per cent of moisture is all right for starch factories or feed for hogs, but is like so much poison to horses and mules. Grain carrying more than 1 per cent of moisture is condemned for any use at all.

As corn is sold by weight, of course, the addition of the moisture weight adds just that much more profit to the Western grain dealers. It is natural to presume, therefore, that they will send out vast quantities of this grain filled with moisture and which germinates quickly.

Mr. Methvin is watching the situation as closely as possible, but as he has the entire state to cover it may be seen how some of this grain might get past his watchful eye. He therefore warns buyers to keep a sharp watch on all purchases.

NEW RAILROAD FOR SOUTHERN COUNTIES.

Valdosta Men Plan to Build a Hundred-Mile Road, Moultrie to Port Gaines. Charter Has Been Granted. Be Known as Moultrie, Ft. Gaines and Western Railway Co.

Atlanta, Ga., March 1.—Citizens of Valdosta plan to build a railroad about one hundred miles in length to connect Moultrie, in Colquitt County, with Ft. Gaines, in Clay County. The line will traverse a rich section in Colquitt, Mitchell, Baker, Early, Calhoun, and Clay counties that does not now enjoy railroad facilities.

The new line, for which a charter was granted today by the secretary of state, is to be known as the Moultrie, Ft. Gaines and Western Railway Company, with capital stock of $100,000. The principal office will be in Valdosta, and the incorporators are all citizens of the Lowndes county metropolis, except W. P. Roberts, who lives in Jacksonville, Fla. The incorporators are: Frank Roberts, A. L. Davis, A. F. Langford, C. E. Davis, W. L. Roberts, D. C. Ashley, Walter E. Davis, W. P. Giddens and D. Ingram, of Valdosta.

The men backing the proposition state that they intend the construction of the line in a very short time. This is another indication of the big development of South Georgia. That country is coming to the fore rapidly, and its advantages are attracting the attention of all the world.

SLOT MACHINES ARE OUT.

It is a source of congratulation to the people of the city that those operating the slot machines have kindly taken them out. The men who have been running these machines have doubtless done so under the impression that it was not a violation of the law, but a recent Supreme Court decision removes all doubt along that line. The Statesboro News has no feelings against any one who has run one and we are sure no one else has. We asked that they be discontinued in the interest of the general welfare of the town and the saving if possible of our boys and young men, and we are glad they have been taken out. We understand that not a single one is being operated in the city now and we hope that they will not be in the future.

PRESIDENT BARRETT WRITES TO FARMERS

"Union City, Ga., Feb. 24.—To the farmers in Georgia, Florida and South Carolina interested in the production of Sea Island Cotton, I hereby issue a call for a meeting to be held at Waycross, Georgia, March 9, 1911, for discussing and devising means to improve conditions with regard to the staple.

"It is imperative, to the best interests of the industry, to guard against over production.

"I am reliably informed that the mills are not taking Sea Island cotton at the normal rate.

"If this is true, a large acreage planted in Sea Island cotton will represent time, money and effort wasted. Labor had much better be expended upon some crop assured of a ready money market.

"It would be folly, in the face of existing conditions, to plant a large acreage in Sea Island cotton during the opening season. Not only would the planters fail to realize the returns of the past, but the probability is they would face a heavy loss.

"It is only through organized effort that measures insuring a properly reduced acreage may be effected.

"To that end, and with the purpose of considering means to increase the present price of this staple, I call the meeting aforesaid.

"All farmers interested in the production of this variety of the staple are urged to be present. Postpone your planting until after this conference. There will be plenty of time then to make ample arrangements for the season.

"Yours truly,
"Charles S. Barrett,
"President Farmers' Union."

Warning to Railroad Men.

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroading. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and in my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." W. H. Ellis Co.

WILL THE FARMER STAND TRUE?

The crisis which means the life or death of the Sea Island cotton industry is fast approaching. The STATESBORO NEWS has been sounding the alarm and pointing out the remedy to save not only the present crop, which at present is more than two-thirds of the production of last year, from being grabbed by the spinners, but the coming crop as well.

There is no doubt but what the spinners have organized to take over the large amount of Sea Island cotton now on hand at a price that spells confiscation, not only to those merchants who have invested in it at what was termed a living price to the producer, but they intend to place the Georgia, Carolina and Florida coast Sea Island grower on a level with the paupers of Egypt. They propose to hold out of the market and use the foreign grown cotton right under our very nose, in competition with our own product, and reduce us to a level with the slaves of a foreign pauperized land.

The last crop was not a large one; it was no more than the world needs, and needs badly, too, and therefore the effort to squeeze the holders into subjection should be resented by every patriotic citizen of this country.

There is one remedy, and one only, and that remedy must be applied within the next thirty days. The remedy is for the farmers to cut the acreage planted in Sea Island cotton to less than half that of last year. When the bankers, merchants and commission men have seen that this is done, they can raise sufficient capital to take every bale of the present crop off the market, and tell Mr. Spinner that you can get our cotton at a living price, but your campaign of confiscation will not work. The hour the spinner looks down the line and sees the acreage cut, he sees a short crop staring him in the face next fall, and he will fall over the other fellow to get our cotton; then the holder and the farmer will all get a living price for their cotton, not only that now on hand, but the coming crop as well.

There is no sense in the spinner reaping 90 per cent. of the finished product, while the producer gets 10 per cent.; there is especially no justice in them even going further and demanding 95 per cent. When flesh they demand two.

ed by President Barrett, of the Farmers' Union, in pursuance of the plans to News, to meet at Waycross on the 14th of this month, to take steps to curtail cotton and take steps to protect the interests of the growers. That this will nt meetings held by the Farmers' Union there is no question; they have and the remedy is in the hands of the men they represent, viz.: The farmers and adjoining counties will be well represented at this meeting.—a county growing one-eighth of the world's crop ought to be represented there, and we are sure it will. But the great work is to be done at home on the farm; cut out half of the acres you planted in Sea Island last year and either plant it in short cotton or food crops. It will be no sacrifice to you to do it.

IF THE FARMER DOES THIS, THE FIGHT IS WHIPPED TO A FINISH. IF THEY FALL DOWN, THEN WE ARE WHIPPED AND ARE PLACED ON A LEVEL WITH THE EGYPTIAN SLAVES.

Men, for one time in your life exercise some sense. Let it stand to your everlasting credit that you actually whipped one fight,—whipped a crowd who are trying to destroy the greatest product of the South Georgia farm.

We have seen a number of men who are willing to put money in the present crop, and lift it from the market. Two Savannah firms say they will finance the holding of a thousand bales each, the buyers and banks in Statesboro and other local banks will do their share. One Valdosta firm will hold two thousand bales. Gentlemen, the remedy is at hand the minute the financial world sees that the acreage is cut and the crop will be small.

Will the farmers do it? We are persuaded that they will.

RAILROAD MEETING AT BROOKLET

Meeting of Citizens Next Saturday to Discuss Plans for Shearwood Railway.

On next Saturday morning a meeting of the citizens of Brooklet and surrounding country will be held to discuss plans looking to the extension of the Shearwood Railway from Brooklet to some point on the Seaboard Air Line and Central of Georgia Railway. The meeting is expected to be a very enthusiastic one, as Brooklet realizes her great need for this road. Her citizens see in this movement something that means great things for their town, and enterprising as they are, it goes without saying that the meeting will be well attended and full of interest from start to finish.

In addition to the people of the town a number of talks will be made by others interested from other points which are equally interested in the extension of this line. At that time definite plans will be formulated that will put the ball to rolling. Remember the day, next Saturday morning, at Brooklet.

FARMERS TAKE UP ROAD EXTENSION

Well Attended Meeting at Harville Yesterday.

Notwithstanding the fact that only two days' notice had been given, and then a conflict in the dates was made, there was a large crowd of farmers out to attend the railroad meeting at Harville on yesterday. After several talks were made subscription lists were opened and a good sized amount was subscribed to the stock of the Shearwood Railway Co. Committees were appointed to go out and solicit subscriptions to the stock and report later. The interest seemed to be all that could be wished for and the farmers seem to be in earnest in their efforts to get better railroad facilities.

EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS

Taft Decides That He Must Have One and Will Call It Before April 4.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS CALLED TO WHITE HOUSE

Democrats Wanted a Month in Which to Prepare for Extra Session, But Taft Will Not Allow That Much Time—Taft Will Be Guided by Republican Advice.

Washington, March 2.—The last vestige of doubt that there will be an extraordinary session of congress called by President Taft to consider the Canadian reciprocity agreement in the practically certain event of the failure of that measure in the present congress disappeared today when it became known that Republican leaders had been called to the white house for a consultation.

"The die is cast," said one of the Republican senators, after returning to the capitol. "Mr. Taft has decided that there must be an extra session, and that he will call it earlier than April 4."

Democrats Wanted a Month.

Democratic leaders wanted a month in which to get ready for a special session, and President Taft was inclined to accede to their wishes. It became known today, however, that the Republicans favored an earlier gathering if there was no way to avoid coming back. Mr. Taft would be guided, it was said, by the wishes of the Republicans. It was announced that a conference would be held on the subject, probably Monday, to decide upon a date.

March 20 was the date talked about today at the capitol.

There was a feeling of confidence among friends of the Canadian agreement that the Democratic house would pass the bill within a week after the convening of the special session.

Democrat to Report Measure.

It was suggested today that Representative McCall's name would not be carried on the bill, but that some Democrat on the new committee on ways and means would claim the right to report the measure and take charge of it on the floor.

There was an impression also that the senate would not delay action for more than a month. This theory was based upon the agreement that the Republican senate would expedite business so as to be ready to adjourn before the Democratic house could submit a general program for tariff revision, and the hope that under such a condition of affairs the Democrats would be willing to postpone their tariff revision plans until next winter, when they would be better prepared to proceed.

HAND OF JUSTICE TAKES POLICE CHIEF

After Fourteen Years, Mostly at Danville, Va., T. E. Stribling, Under Life Sentence, Is Caught.

Sentenced in Harris Co. Stribling Killed Man, He Says, Who Insulted His Sister.

Danville, Va., March 2.—Thomas Edgar Stribling, who for five years has been chief of police at Danville under the name of R. E. Morris, was arrested here this afternoon as an escaped murderer from Hamilton, Harris county, Georgia, prison. In 1897 he was tried for murder, convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. He escaped pending a motion for a new trial.

Stribling coolly and promptly confessed when the requisition papers were read to him. Stribling is married and is the father of ten children.

For the last six years Stribling has been living here, no one for a moment suspected his identity. Efforts were made a number of times to trace up some shady spot in his past life in criminal trials, but not an inkling of his prison career was brought out. He was first employed as night watchman for the Southern Express Company. Five years ago he was elected as a patrolman on the Danville police force and after serving six months was advanced to chief. His advancement was due in a great measure to his cool nerve and fearlessness, though he was criticised severely for his uncontrollable temper.

The election of a chief of police for another term of two years was to be held shortly and it was generally thought that the incumbent would be chosen to succeed himself, although he was bitterly opposed by Police Sergeant Bell.

Stribling, in his official capacity, had many influential friends, and during his residence here had never been charged with any offenses other than those resulting from outbursts of temper.

Stribling shot and killed William Cornett in Georgia, and was being held in prison pending a motion for a new trial. His brother-in-law, who was implicated in the killing, was given a long term, but was pardoned.

DESERTED WIFE AND 2 CHILDREN

Atlanta, Ga., March 2.—G. A. Woodward, who deserted his wife and two children in Augusta on February 15th, to run away with his pretty young cousin, Miss Nellie Coursey, who was a stenographer in that city, was carried back to Augusta with the young woman by Detective A. P. Mathews.

The father of the young woman swore out the warrants on which the two were arrested here. Woodward, who was conductor on the Augusta and Aiken line, was found working in the wholesale department of McClure's Ten Cent Store.

Miss Coursey was arrested in South Pryor street, where she and Woodward had been doing light housekeeping since they came to Atlanta. Both were rather philosophical about the affair. The girl is only 18 and very pretty.

When arrested she was working on some clothing for children. She stated that before she would run away with "George" she made him promise to send half of all he earned to his wife and children in Augusta. She said the clothing would be her contribution to the children for the loss of their father.

"Foley's Honey and Tar is the best cough remedy I ever used as it quickly stopped a severe cough that had long troubled me," says J. W. Kuhn, Princeton, Neb. Just so quickly and surely it acts in all cases of coughs, colds, la grippe and lung trouble. Refuse substitutes. W. H. Ellis Co.

The Place to Buy Cheap

SOME REASONS WHY WE SELL GOODS CHEAP

Because, you don't have to pay for goods the other fellow buys on a credit and fails to pay for.

Because I don't have to pay $75.00 or $100.00 per month for a book-keeper.

Because I don't pay $2.00 a day for a man and mule to deliver goods.

Because I buy for cash and discount my bills; in some instances the discount pays the freight.

Because we don't sell anything on a credit.

Because we have one price for everybody.

Because I own my storehouse and don't have any high-price clerks.

Because I go after bargains and hunt until I find them.

I undersell other merchants on lots of things, and if you stop to think you can see why I sell cheap.

I make a study of how to buy and sell cheap. If you have not been to my store come and look at my stock, and I am sure you will be convinced that we do sell cheap

DR. SOULE ISSUES WARNING.

State College of Agriculture, Athens, Ga., Feb. 28, 1911.

"A number of persons of one kind and another seem to be following the educational train on its tour around the state. Some of these men are selling newspapers, and offering spectacles as premiums. Of course you can judge for yourself what the value of these spectacles may be. My object in writing is to call your attention to this matter specifically for the protection of the people of your community, and also to inform you that none of these people have connection in any manner, shape or form with the State College of Agriculture. I understand that some of them have represented themselves as college students, who are earning their way through school. Others claiming that we endorse what they have for sale. There is not a word of truth in these statements. "Regretting to trouble you, but believing that it is my duty to let you fully understand the situation, I am,

"Very respectfully,

"President."

Attacks School Principal.

A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen, of Savannah, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c. at W. H. Ellis Co.

Washington, March 2.—Senator Terrell will leave Washington for Atlanta next Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. The senator will travel in a private car attached to a Southern train. It is doubtful, however, that Senator Terrell will have recovered sufficiently to be present at the opening of the extra session, which is now practically certain to be called.

FAMINE, PLAGUE SWEEPS CHINA

Pekin, March 2.—Famine and the plague are sweeping over China.

The known deaths from the plague number 30,000 and, according to official statistics, the death rate averages 200 daily. But the officials have little knowledge of the conditions in the interior, or, if they have, they are not permitting the facts to be known.

It is impossible even to estimate the number of deaths that have resulted from lack of food. Dr. Samuel Cochran, an American, who is engaged in the work of relief, writes: "One million people will die before the first crop is harvested. This will be scanty, because the people have not the strength to till the soil, and no animals remain for plowing."

The Chinese are directing their efforts to control the plague, chiefly along the railways and frontiers, for political reasons. Since the recent Russian request for permission to cross the border and quarantine Chinese towns along the Amur, China has been attempting to check the plague along that frontier, but the Russian legation says that this has been done ineffectively, because there are no doctors who are familiar with the modern methods of sanitation.

Physicians engaged in combating the disease are of the opinion that warm weather will kill the germs, although this may bring only temporary respite. It is said by the medical authorities that such an epidemic as the present, which is entirely pneumonic, has not visited the world since the Middle Ages.

Owing to the political questions involved and the presence of foreigners along the railways, the plague in Manchuria is receiving greater attention than the famine, but the death rate from the famine is many times greater than that from the plague. The famine is the result of the destruction of the crops by a fall of 16 inches of rain in two days last August in a district where the people ordinarily have a hard-mouth existence.

So far Japan and America are the only foreign countries that have contributed to aid the sufferers, but even the extensive assistance that has come from the United States is entirely inadequate. It is estimated that 2,000,000 people are without food and are existing on roots, grasses or anything that affords the slightest possibility of nourishment. Those possessing grain guard it night and day.

Missionaries who are distributing relief tell of many tragic occurrences, a man on his way to meet them dying on the road; another falling by the wayside as he was returning to his family with a packet of rice. They describe the people as horrible skeletons, some of them with limbs hideously swollen. From the famine the death rate is several thousand daily.

SEA ISLAND COTTON GROWERS ORGANIZE

Large and Enthusiastic Meeting on Monday—Delegates Elected to Attend Waycross Session.

Immediately after the departure of the Agricultural train on Monday a meeting of the Sea Island cotton growers of the county was held in the court house. The large court room was well filled with determined men whose faces told they meant business.

Col. J. J. E. Anderson, while a lawyer, is also one of Bulloch's largest Sea Island cotton growers, was called to the chair and presided over the meeting.

Hon. R. Simmons was one of the leading spirits of the meeting and gave a rousing speech which was received with the wildest enthusiasm. Mr. Simmons warned the farmers of what a large crop of Sea Island cotton would do for them, as did a number of other speakers, including Col. A. M. Deal, Col. J. M. Murphy, Hon. J. W. Williams and others.

The spirit of determination prevailed throughout the meeting. The farmers seemed to realize the fact that the spinners were organized to grab the present crop. They were awake to the necessities of the occasion and by a rising vote every man in the large audience pledged themselves to abide by the decision of the meeting of Sea Island cotton growers to which the following delegates were elected, all of whom promised to attend:

D. A. Brannen, J. E. Brannen, S. L. Nevils, J. L. Caruthers, J. G. Williams, A. M. Deal, B. D. Hodges, L. V. Simmons, J. N. Atkins, B. L. Anderson, W. B. DeLoach, and several others. The delegation will leave this afternoon for Waycross and go with instructions to urge a resolution that the Sea Island cotton acreage be cut at least one-half throughout the Sea Island belt.

The following committees were appointed to circulate pledges to which all present affixed their signatures pledging themselves to reduce the acreage.

The following are the committees, by militia districts:

44th—S. L. Nevils, A. L. McCorkle, W. B. DeLoach, D. O. Bushy, M. J. Rushing.
45th—J. L. Caruthers, J. S. Riggs, B. J. Atwood.
46th—R. A. Lee, Isiah Parish, E. M. Hendricks.

BIG CROWD MEETS TRAIN

The "College on Wheels" Gets Warm Reception in the Capital of the "State of Bulloch."

Monday morning before "Old Sol" had time to take a peep over the eastern hills, an army of folks were pouring into Statesboro to meet the agricultural train.

THE STATESBORO NEWS had spread the news from one end of the county to the other that "the biggest thing on wheels" would be in town, and the folks decided to come out and see if we were placing the proper estimate on the thing.

A brass band was on hand, as announced in Saturday's paper, and when the train rolled into the central yards was greeted by an immense crowd.

Marching to the strains of "Dixie," the crowd proceeded to the court house square, where the speaking was delivered from the veranda on the south side of the court house, the crowd being entirely too large to get inside the building.

Mayor J. A. McDougald presided and introduced Col. R. Lee Moore, who made a short speech of welcome on the part of the town. Col. Moore said that inasmuch as the city of Statesboro was a wide open proposition, and having no keys to turn over to the visitors, he invited them to look around, and if they saw anything they wanted in Statesboro to take it and carry it off with them. In turn, the citizens of Statesboro believed in the principles of reciprocity, and if they saw anything in the train they wanted they would take it and carry it off with them.

Mr. Moore was glad the train had come, to the best town in the state, as it was only natural to suppose that it would in its tour of Georgia, without taking in Statesboro, would be like a tour of Italy without taking in Rome, like touring through England and not going to London, or touring France and leaving out Paris.

Following Col. Moore, Col. A. M. Deal delivered an address in behalf of the county of Bulloch. He shared with Col. Moore all the glories of the greatness of Statesboro, but added after all, "This great city you have had painted to you is only a small speck on the map of the great county of Bulloch."

He welcomed a visit on the part of the great property making, debt paying people of Bulloch county.

Dr. Hite delivered a short speech and gave out the program of the tour through the train. He was followed by Hon. Thomas G. Hudson, commissioner of agriculture, who made a great speech, which was greeted with close attention from the large crowd present.

The school children, some one thousand in number, were turned into the train while the speaking was in progress at the court house. The crowd was so large that it was impossible for over half of them to go into the train at all, and those who did get in were shown through in haste. The crowd present was estimated all the way from 5,000 to 8,000 people.

Every business house in town had all it could do, and the day was voted a grand success by all present.

HOWARD NAMED ON TARIFF BOARD

Washington, March 4.—William M. Howard of Georgia, who retired from congress as a representative of the Eighth district, was designated by President Taft as the third member of the tariff board.

The members of the revised board will be H. C. Emery, chairman; Alvin H. Sanders, William M. Howard, James B. Reynolds and Professor Thomas M. Page. Mr. Page is a professor of economics at the University of Virginia. Mr. Howard takes precedence of Mr. Reynolds, who is at present a member of the board.

While the tariff commission bill was defeated by filibustering in the house, the tariff board was continued in existence and $200,000 provided for its operation. The board is to make investigations that will aid the president in enforcing the tariff laws, and in recommending changes whenever needed.

Mr. Howard is also a member of the special commission, which will remodel the interior of the hall of the house of representatives, if a change in the manner of seating the members is thought desirable. The defeat of the congressional reapportionment bill in the senate has affected the plans of the commission somewhat, and they may not take definite action until it is known how large will be the membership of the house in the sixty-third congress.

The meeting of the Carnegie peace commission on Thursday will cause Mr. Howard to postpone his trip to Georgia until after that date, as he is one of the trustees of the ten million dollar endowment fund given the commission to aid in the work of establishing universal peace.

MANICURIST'S LOVER OPPOSES HUSBAND.

Garmichael Probably Will Fight for Her Children.

Atlanta, March 6.—A. W. Carmichael, the young man who came here a few days ago, and paid for things with $1,000 bills, then went away to Florida with the Piedmont's prettiest manicure girl, is back in Atlanta. He says he came back for the purpose of denying some of the wild stories that were printed about him when he was here the other day.

But it is thought he came here on account of the movement on the part of O. C. Ryerson, husband of the manicurist, who has filed a habeas corpus petition with a view to recovering possession of his children. These children, Carmichael says, are now in Florida with their mother and grandmother.

He says the girl did not accompany him to New York. Carmichael said he would be here for several days, but declined to talk about his business.

WHAT THE SIXTY-FIRST CONGRESS DID.

Washington, March 4.—Out of the grist of bills that went to the mill of congress in the session that ended today emerge these results, of more or less imperative interest:

Positive Results:

Provision of $3,000,000 for the fortification of the Panama canal. Provisions for two new battleships.

Recodification of the judicial code—regarded as most important for the amelioration of the law's delay.

Creation of forest preserves in the Southern Appalachian and White Mountains.

Providing for the construction of embassy and legation buildings abroad.

Requiring the inspection of locomotive boilers.

Negative Results:

Failure of the Canadian reciprocity agreement in the senate and consequent certainty of an extra session.

Failure of the permanent tariff board bill, which passed the senate, but was killed by a filibuster in the house.

Failure of the resolution to admit to statehood Arizona and New Mexico, which was killed by a filibuster in the senate.

Failure of the proposal to increase the rate of postage on the advertising sections of the large magazines, but provision for a commission to investigate the subject.

Failure of the senate resolution providing for the direct election of United States senators.

Failure of the general age pension bill.

Failure to act on Ballinger-Pinchot investigation reports.

Failure to enact the ocean mail subsidy, passed by the senate alone.

Failure of the effort to unseat William Lorimer as senator from Illinois on grounds of alleged bribery in his election.

A Special Medicine for Kidney Ailments.

Many elderly people have found in Foley's Kidney Remedy a quick relief and permanent benefit from kidney and bladder ailments and from annoying urinary irregularities due to advancing years. Isaac N. Reagan, Farmer, Mo., says: "Foley's Kidney Remedy effected a complete cure in my case and I want others to know of it."

YOUTHS DRIVEN TO HOMES BY AMERICUS CURFEW LAW

Americus, Ga., March 4.—The recently enacted "curfew law" in Americus is working most satisfactorily and both citizens and members of the city council are delighted with the improved conditions.

Where formerly the street corners were occupied nightly by hordes of young boys, smoking cigarettes and indulging in mischief generally, none are in evidence now.

The law works admirably, as the police have positive instructions to arrest any boy or youth under 18 years of age on the streets at night without a written permit from his parents.

RECORD FOR COST AND TIME IN BUILDING BIG TUNNEL.

Los Angeles, March 3.—With world's records broken for low cost and rapidity of construction, the boring of the great five-mile Elizabeth tunnel, the most important feature of the $26,000,000 water project of Los Angeles, was completed yesterday.

It pierces the crest of the Sierra Madre range at a point 67 miles northwest of this city, and has been drilled through 26,780 feet of solid granite.

Work began at both ends of the big bore on October 5, 1907, and went on day and night without intermission to completion.

The work was finished a year ahead of time and $411,800 under the estimate. The total cost after the big bore is faced with eight-inch concrete will be $1,611,600. It has a total capacity of 650,000,000 gallons a day.

WILL THIS COUNTY WIN IN THE GREAT TWO-STATES $15,000 JOINT CONTEST?

Opportunity for Some Reader of This Paper to Secure One or More Valuable Prizes Within the Next Ninety Days.

100 ACRE FARM, OR A $2,250 AUTOMOBILE

This Newspaper and The Augusta Chronicle Have Joined Hands in the Greatest Voting Contest Ever Inaugurated in Georgia or Carolina—Both Papers for the Price of The Chronicle Alone.

This newspaper has just joined with The Augusta Chronicle, the "Sun" of the Carolina, in what is, by far, the Greatest Newspaper Voting Contest ever inaugurated in Georgia or South Carolina, in which over $15,000 in prizes will be given away within the next ninety days.

Full announcement of the details of this great piece of newspaper enterprise is made elsewhere in this issue; see the big display advertisement for further information, and watch our columns, from week to week, for news of the great contest. Also see The Chronicle, from day to day, for the very latest contest news.

Our friends and subscribers may ask how we have managed to enter into a newspaper contest of this magnitude, in which over $15,000 in prizes are to be given away. The explanation is easy—The Chronicle has made it easy.

A short time ago, nearly a hundred of the best business men in Augusta joined with Editor Thomas W. Loyless in the management of the famous old Augusta paper. So anxious are the new owners of The Chronicle to extend the paper's influence and circulation throughout Augusta's territory, that they, at once, authorized the expenditure of $10,000, or more, for prizes, etc., to be given away in a great voting contest to promote The Chronicle's popularity.

The Chronicle's management, then, invited this newspaper, and twenty or thirty of the leading weekly newspapers in its territory, to participate with it in this great contest; the local or county papers to put up the "local or county prizes," while The Chronicle furnishes all of the big capital prizes, state prizes and district prizes, such as:

- A 100-acre farm in Georgia or Carolina;
- A $2,250 Automobile, high-grade 1911 model, five passenger car.
- Three or more 1909 to 1910 automobiles, the best in their class.
- Six $400 high-grade pianos.
- Six $100 diamond rings.
- Six $50 gold watches.
- Six $100 merchandise orders.
- Six full scholarships in the Osborne Business College, Augusta.
- And numerous other prizes.

STRIPLING CASE AROUSES SYMPATHY

Ex-Police Chief of Danville, Va., Taken to Harris County From Fulton Jail by Sheriff Middlebrooks, Saturday Morning. A Movement on Foot for His Parole.

(Atlanta Journal)

That there is something strange about the case of Thomas Edgar Stripling, many are firmly convinced.

For 14 years Stripling, who killed a man in defense of his sister's honor, was at large as an escaped prisoner from the law of Georgia. In 1897 he was put in jail in Harris county and tried and convicted of being killed Y. J. Cornett. He and Terrell Huff, his brother-in-law, were sentenced together to life imprisonment. Before they began the service of their sentences, an application for a new trial was made, on the ground that new evidence had been discovered.

Whatever that evidence was, it was never weighed one way or the other. It might have been sufficient to clear Stripling. But it could come to trial, Stripling, who was worried to the point of desperation about the welfare of his wife and three little children, escaped. Huff, who declined to leave jail, and who, Stripling says, was entirely innocent of any connection with the crime, stayed, and three years later was pardoned.

Identity Not Secret.

During all the time since then Stripling has been at large. He says that he has frequently met old acquaintances from Harris county, and that it was no secret among them that he was the chief of police at Danville, Va., and was passing under the assumed name of R. E. Morris.

The assumed name itself seems to indicate a little something about Stripling's character. It sounds so much like "R. E. Morse," which is equivalent in a factious way among men to "re-morse."

moment to ruin Stripling's chances for re-election. The police board of Danville met Friday night and elected another man to the office. Stripling, alias R. E. Morris, is chief no more.

Why was this? Why was not Stripling arrested years ago, when Harris county first heard of his whereabouts? Nobody knows.

Saturday morning at 6 o'clock Stripling went out from the Fulton county jail at Atlanta, in charge of Sheriff Middlebrooks, of Harris county, bound for the home jail at Hamilton. There he lay, almost helpless against fate, while the law takes its course with him and his wife and nine children make the best they can out of life and struggle along to keep body and soul together. They are in Danville yet, where sympathetic friends are obligated to see that they do not suffer for the necessities of life. Shortly, in all probability, they will come back to Georgia, where Stripling has several brothers and sisters.

One of the brothers, from Albany, is supposed to be in Danville now. Stripling telegraphed for one of them to come Thursday night, to look after the family and to see that they lose as little as possible of the $600 or $700 that Stripling has managed to pay, out of his all too meagre salary, on the purchase of a home in Danville. Stripling was not improvident. The office of chief of police at Danville paid no very princely salary, from the viewpoint of a man with a big family to feed and clothe in these latter days of high prices. But it was going to be raised after Stripling was re-elected to $150 a month, which would have been enough for almost anybody.

One of Stripling's brothers is a railway conductor and lives in Albany, according to Stripling himself. Another, says he, is the sheriff of Dougherty county. One of his sisters lives in Lawrenceville with her husband and family, and two others live in LaGrange. Another lives in Macon, and another in Columbus. Stripling states that all of his people are respected, honorable folks.

Stripling's oldest child is a young lady 21 years old. His youngest are twins, mere babies. One of his children was burned to death in Atlanta in 1895, before the tragedy happened, when Stripling was working for the Atlanta Consolidated Street Railway company. All of the children have been kept in the dark concerning the fate hanging over their father's night and day. The eldest girl, who was a little child when it all happened, remembered it faintly. The others knew nothing.

Mrs. Stripling (or Mrs. Morris, as she is still known there) is reported from Danville as being threatened with nervous prostration. Physicians are attending her. Her neighbors knew little of her, save that she was a good mother. She shunned too much intercourse with her neighbors. She shunned publicity, fearing always what has happened.

Stripling, too, is nearly broken by what has befallen him. He is worried about his family more than about himself. His helplessness galls him. It was in part this same feeling which impelled him to escape from jail, 14 years ago. The years have sobered him, and he has lost the other motive.

He is Almost Glad.

"I felt that I had been outraged," he said, in the tower Friday morning, explaining to a Journal reporter why he took the opportunity to escape. He felt that he had a right to kill the man, under the circumstances, in defense of his own life, which was threatened as well as in defense of the family honor.

Stripling said Friday that he was almost disposed to feel glad that it had happened, that he was under arrest, that the old fugitive feeling was gone. He believed now, he said, that he could ask men to call him by his right name again and make a new start in the world back here in Georgia among his own people. A general belief that Stripling should be pardoned, should be freed to support his family and redeem himself, is prevalent. Mrs. J. K. Otley and Mrs. W. Morris White are both quoted as favoring a pardon. They cite his clear record for 14 years past, and express the belief that he has already expiated his crime of man-killing. They say he has proven that he can be a good citizen and is not a menace to the public safety or welfare. They argue the theory of criminal treatment, declaring that it is not a theory of vengeance but of betterment. Marion Jackson takes the same view, according to coming him the greatest success in the movement that has been taken to secure his pardon. A great reception was also given Stripling at Chipleigh, Ga., en route to Columbus.

A large crowd met the train at the Columbus depot. Stripling was accompanied by his two brothers. He was taken at once to a barber shop, where he was shaved and then carried to the county jail.

It is not known what the next step will be in the case. It is an assured fact that efforts will be made to secure a pardon for Stripling and it is believed that steps will be taken at once.

DESIRABLE CLASS OF SETTLERS.

(Macon News.)
A dispatch under New York date line tells of the landing of 350 Dutch farmers and their families there on their way to the West. These newcomers are said to be the advance guard of eight thousands farmers from Holland, who have been practically driven from that country because of the extortion of the land owners, to find homes in America.
Can't something be done to infuse immigrants of this kind to come to Georgia to settle?
Georgia's fertile soil, genial climate and cheap lands would offer greater inducements to thrifty settlers of this class if properly represented to them, the West can possibly afford.
"These people are not mendicants," as the Baltimore Sun points out, "but all who come bring money sufficient to make first payments on farms and support themselves and their families until they can make crops. The Hollanders are a sturdy race, quiet and orderly as citizens, loving liberty and peace, industrious and thrifty in their habits and devoted to family and home."
Any one who could divert a portion of these people to Georgia would do a good work for the state.

LAME DUCKS SING SWAN SONGS IN CLOSING HOURS OF CONGRESS.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—Scenes suggestive of golden days on the college campus at the final day of "commencement" found their reflection in the house of representatives of the United States congress just before the gray of dawn began stealing into the capitol this morning.
The usually staid and dignified house abandoned all rules to let some golden-voiced tenor or bass or whatever he might have designated his vocal range, sing "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," "Swanee River" or some old-time musical favorite, and generally when a song burst forth, every last soul on the floor tried to work his voice into the melody.
Despite the gaiety, the scenes were marked by the undertone of sadness that comes of partings. Grim old "lame ducks" wore hales forth from naps in cloak rooms to sing their "swan songs." Joseph Gurney Cannon, facing his last day as a towering official figure, greeted the dawn with a sprightliness that might have shamed many a popular soul snoring in some secluded corner of the cloak room.
Ranging through the house chamber and lobbies all night long, the speaker had signed bills now and then, had joked with sleepy representatives over their search for rest, and at 4 o'clock this morning the veteran lawmakers faced the last big day of the big part of his notable career with a vigor that put new life into the tired representatives.
At 4 o'clock, Mr. Tawney, of the appropriations committee, rose to ask for a further conference on the sundry civil bill.
"Mr. Speaker," began Mr. Tawney—
"The speaker is asleep," said some member in an aside to Mr. Tawney. The figure in the speaker's chair galvanized into action.
"The speaker is not asleep," he shouted. "The speaker is very much awake," and his gravel struck the desk with tremendous emphasis. It was an incident of the farrowell night.
Vice President Sherman wandered down the main aisle of the house when the singing was at its height. His appearance among his old associates was the signal for a rush from all parts of the hall.
"A message from the senate," shouted Representative Olcott of New York.
"Speech! speech!" came from various quarters. When the vice president showed no intention of transgressing the already badly broken rules of the house, an enthusiastic voice struck up. "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and the crowd sang it with lusty voices.
Actual business was at a standstill in the house until 3 o'clock. Representative Leominas F. Livingston, of Georgia, defeated for re-election, was called forth as one of the few remaining Confederate soldiers in congress, and bade farewell to his associates, after twenty years of service in the house.
Representative Ralph D. Cole, of Ohio, likewise a defeated member, was hailed before the house in the full regalia of evening clothes and protested that the reason for his defeat was that every school boy in Ohio began life with the idea of coming to congress.
At 3 o'clock the house did a little actual work. It took up the postoffice appropriation bill reported in from the conference committee, and from that time business held attention until 5:40, when a recess was taken to 7:15.
"Just think that lady doctor who died last year owed her dressmaker 20,000 marks."
"Well, what happened?"
"Her husband couldn't pay, so he married the dressmaker."

A COSTLY TRIP MADE TO EUROPE

C. Pulliam, who went abroad a short time ago with $10,000, returned on the Hamburg-American liner President Lincoln peeling potatoes.
Pulliam, who says he is a cousin of the late Henry C. Pulliam, for years president of the National Baseball League, is 5 feet 11 inches in height, broad of shoulders and ruddy checked. After the passengers landed he stood with cap in hand waiting outside the purser's door to be paid off. About 25 cents was coming to him.
"I went to the other side with plenty of money," he said. "I did the usual things that Americans do when they visit Europe. I visited London, Paris and other cities on the continent. Then I took in some of the smaller places. I will never go to Germany again. When I was in Hamburg I went into a place. A very poor portrait of the kaiser hung on the wall. I looked at it some time, and then in doubt, I turned to a German.
"Is that the kaiser?" I asked.
"Yes," he replied very short.
"When I went outside the man was standing there. He came up to me.
"That was my kaiser," he said to me. "What did you mean to insinuate, you American swine?"
"In a minute we were in a fight. I got the best of it and managed to get away.
"I did not go to Monte Carlo. I found in Italy, however, that tourists were losing much money playing American games—dice and poker. Though the men in charge of the bank are Italians, the Americans never seem to get ahead of their own game."
When Pulliam got near the end of swapping his $10,000 for experience he determined to come home, but before he could put his determination into practice his money was gone. He did not want to write to his father, who he said is a shoe manufacturer in St. Louis, so he applied to the United States consul in Hamburg.
The consul might have helped him, but Pulliam says he changed his mind and decided to work his way back to the United States. The President Lincoln was in port, and he found that there was need of some strong young men to peel potatoes.
"My home-coming is certainly different from my going away," he said, looking down on his shabby outfit. "When I left I had a good cabin on the Cunard liner Lusitania."
Pulliam's companion as a potato peeler on the President Lincoln was a thin youth, who admitted he suffered from wanderlust. He had arrived in Madison, Wis.

60 HENS, 1,029 EGGS, 28 DAYS.
(Philadelphia North American.)
Tarrytown, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Johnson, a poultry fancier, of Glenville, made a wager on Feb. 1 that his sixty hens would lay 1,000 eggs during the month of February. Up to last night he had collected 969 eggs, or an average of 35 a day.
Great interest was taken in the contest, and all day neighbors called to get the latest reports. At 10 o'clock this morning it was announced that the thousandth egg had been laid, and Glenville shook with cheers.
The hens wanted to make it a good victory, and at 5:30 tonight, the hour the contest was declared closed, the last hen jumped off her nest, making the count 1,029. Every hen had done her duty on the last day.

BOLD NEGRO THIEF WORKS AT LYONS

After Visiting Vidalia. Two Score Homes Entered by Thief With "Charmed Life."
Vidalia, Ga., March 6.—Word was received here this morning that a negro, whose identity is still unknown, had entered the homes of at least fifteen more citizens of this county last night, taking $35 from the pocket of Harp Collins, near Lyons, while in his house, but further than this no loss had been reported, as he was frightened away from the other places.
Although none has seen the unknown well enough to identify him, it is thought that he is the same negro that was hunted by citizens of this section all Saturday night and Sunday.
The negro seems to have borne a charmed life, having entered houses in this vicinity and fully that many near Lyons. He was chased from several of them with bullets flying after him. On Sunday morning at an early hour he was tracked into a swamp near here, but dodged the posse numbering thirty-five, and came out where he went in, leaving his socks on a log to show that he had gone that way. Later Sunday night he was found in the heart of Vidalia, but made his escape, and the next morning he was heard of at Lyons, from which place he is now being sought.
Bloodhounds were used at Lyons, but the tracks crossed and recrossed so often that the dogs could not follow the trail. That any man could enter as many houses and escape is the wonder of the citizens and the despair of the officers.
Warning to Railroad Men.
Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroading. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and in my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." W. H. Ellis Co.

RAILROADS DECIDE TO WITHDRAW THE NEW FREIGHT RATES.

The Eastern Representatives So Agreed at Meeting Today.
New York, March 7.—The Eastern railroads have decided to withdraw on or before March 15 the increased freight rate tariffs in conformity with the findings of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This was agreed upon at a meeting today of Eastern railroad representatives, called to receive the report of the committee of railroad presidents who appeared before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington yesterday. The withdrawal of the freight rates follows a similar action taken by the Western railroads several days ago.

SELLERS OF THINGS.
By Uncle Walt, Poet Philosopher.
(Copyright, 1911, by George Matthews Adams.)
I do not want to buy a sheep, a hayrack or a ham; I only ask that I may keep my way just as I am. Yet people think they know my needs, and try to sell me junk; and that is why my bosom bleeds, and why this life seems punk. The agents stop me on the street, they hammer at my door; they run me down with tireless feet, they threaten and inspire. I do not want to buy a whale, a circus or a prune; to have no salesmen on my trail would be a priceless boon. I hate to hear men talk of sales, of profit and of loss; they send me dodgers through the mails, and hope I'll come across; they throw big posters on my porch, and also in the yard; when I go out to smoke a torch, it jars me pretty hard. I do not wish to buy a tree, a wart-hog or a snake; if salesmen would but let me be, my heart would cease to ache. And when I do go forth to buy, with wads of shining cash, I'll hunt up men who never try to sell me useless trash. I do not want to buy a trout, a side of bacon cured, or have my back teeth taken out, or have my life insured.

A CYNICAL CHAUFFEUR.
A chauffeur who had just returned to the garage after taking the state's examination to determine his fitness to be licensed was asked by a fellow worker what the questions were, says an exchange.
"One of them was about meeting a skittish horse," he replied.
"I asked what I would do if I approached a horse which showed signs of being afraid of the car and its driver held up his hand to me?"
"What's the answer?" asked a bystander.
"Oh, I had that all right," the chauffeur replied. "I told 'em I'd stop the car, take it apart and hide the pieces in the grass."

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY.

(From the Forum.)
In 1886 Grover Cleveland was President of the United States; Queen Victoria had not yet seen the payment of her first jubilee; William I was German Emperor; Francois Paul Jules Grevy the head of the French republic; Humbert I, king of Italy. They have gone. Four other presidents have entered the White House, two kings have sat on Queen Victoria's throne, two kaisers have held the sceptre of the first warlord. And of all the myriads of human beings who were then living, men, women and children, more than two-fifths have passed away. In 1886 there were fifty-six millions of people in the United States; thirty-three millions of them are left. In the ninety-four millions of the present population. Twenty-three millions have died—the harvest of a quarter of a century. The Boer war has been fought and our war with Spain and in the Philippines. The air has been conquered. The Panama canal has been brought into being. The genius of Edison and the great inventors has made the marvellous commonplace; automobiles, the phonograph, wireless telegraphy, aeroplanes, are among the products of these 25 years. Science has moved forward magnificently; the arts have followed—perhaps a little less conspicuously. New York has more than doubled her population; San Francisco has risen from ruins. There are eight more states in the union, thirty-eight millions more people, fifty-six billions of dollars more wealth. The times change indeed, and the children of time and circumstances change with them. Perhaps it were unkind to suggest that while our imports and exports have doubled, while our population will soon have the same numerical distinction, the cost of living has increased in a corresponding ratio.

ZION CITY PASSES INTO HANDS OF VOLIVA

Payment of $70,000 Freed Dowry's Place From the Federal Courts.
Chicago, March 2.—Zion City, the community founded by the late Alexander Dowry, passed from the federal court into the hands of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer, yesterday.
The payment of $70,000 in Judge Landis' court by Voliva's brokers to Gus D. Thomas, receiver for the estate, placed $1,350,000 property in the hands of Voliva.
From the moment the news reached the city founded by Dowry, there were scenes of joy in the streets. Thousands of horns were brought out and blown as long as the men, women and children behind them could muster the lung power.
The transfer was accepted as the beginning of the long promised "new era," under which Zion's factories and business enterprises are to yield great dividends to the citizens.

ALA. PASSES SMITH LIQUOR BILL BY VOTE OF 58-27

Fixes Licenses and Number of Saloons. Excis. Boards Created to Control Sale of Liquor and Wiley Pure Food Regulations Are Adopted to Govern Quality.
Montgomery, Ala., March 3.—At 8:45 o'clock the house of representatives passed the Smith bill, which regulates the sale of liquor in Alabama, by a vote of 58 to 27. The bill had been considered in committee of the whole practically all day, the prohibitionists leading the filibuster against the measure.
Walker Percy, of Birmingham, offered an amendment fixing the saloon license in Jefferson county at $3,000 and the number of saloons one for every 3,000 inhabitants. It was adopted.
The Smith bill fixes the license in Mobile and Montgomery at $1,500 and in Mobile one saloon to every 750 people and Montgomery one to every 1,000.
Excise boards are appointed to control the sale of liquor and the Wiley pure food regulations are adopted to govern the quality of liquor to be sold.
This measure is said to be the most stringent ever enacted in any state in the Union.

The Place to Buy Cheap

SOME REASONS WHY WE SELL GOODS CHEAP

Because, you don't have to pay for goods the other fellow buys on a credit and fails to pay for.

Because I don't pay $2.00 a day for a man and mule to deliver goods.

Because I buy for cash and discount my bills; in some instances the discount pays the freight.

Because we don't sell anything on a credit.

Because we have one price for everybody.

Because I own my storehouse and don't have any high-price clerks.

Because I go after bargains and hunt until I find them.

I undersell other merchants on lots of things, and if you stop to think you can see why I sell cheap.

I make a study of how to buy and sell cheap. If you have not been to my store come and look at my stock, and I am sure you will be convinced that we do sell cheap

STATE HAS NO DIGHT TO COLLECT PISTOL TOTTING LICENSE.

This Is In Effect Decision Rendered by Judge Freeman, Court Questions Act's Constitutionality.

(Savannah Press.)
Must a person be prosecuted in Georgia for carrying a pistol contrary to the last act of the legislature, which requires that any person so doing must first give bond in the sum of one hundred dollars with the ordinary and pay the fee of fifty cents for registration?

The first prosecution under the statute in this county, and what is thought to be the first in the state, was abruptly terminated in the city court last Friday before Judge Davis Freeman when the constitutionality of the "pistol totting" act was brought into question by the court. If Judge Freeman decides that the act tends to contravene the rights of a person guaranteed by the constitution of the state of Georgia, then Walter Foster, a negro, can go free without a trial in the city court.

Had No License.

Foster was charged with carrying a pistol without a license. The case had scarce begun, with Solicitor-General Walter G. Hartridge prosecuting and Mr. L. G. Harvey defending, when Judge Freeman summarily halted the proceedings. He had occasion to look carefully at the act of the last legislature relating to a person's giving bond to carry a pistol. The thought occurred to the court that there was a chance under the language of the act for the guaranteed rights of a person to be interfered with.

The position of the court is in effect that if a person is unable to give bond of $100 and does carry a pistol and is prosecuted for doing so, then it seems the language of the constitution, that "the right to carry and bear arms shall not be infringed," amounts to naught in that particular case. Accordingly Judge Freeman continued the hearing one week, to give state's counsel opportunity to study the matter thoroughly.

The case is unique for being the first prosecution under the act to come up in this county or in this section of the state. Another peculiar feature of the case is that since the passage of the act last summer not one single person has applied to the Chatham court of ordinary to become a pistol toter. The revenue of that office under the act has been nil. The Foster case will probably stand alone in the state for being the first to issue under the legislative enactment.

TO KEEP THE GIRL

The custom of giving an engagement ring at betrothal time comes down to us from traditional times, and has endured because of its pretty and symbolic meaning. It still has a beautiful significance, and whether you wish a Diamond or some less costly gem, you will find our store the proper place to make your selection.

This is the one time of all that you must be sure you are getting something reliable, and when it comes from us you can rest assured it is good. Our Spring Stock is being selected up to date. Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11th.

The First District Agricultural School and the Eleventh District Agricultural School will meet in a game of ball on each of the above named dates at the

Statesboro Ball Park

These games promise to be the hardest fought ones ever played on the Statesboro diamond, as they are two of the snappiest school teams in South Georgia. One thing that makes it interesting is the fact that they are school teams, another is that they are two of the State Agricultural teams. So come out and cheer the F. D. A. The contest will be as follows: Declaration, recitations, reading, writing, music and spelling contests, while the athletic contest will consist of 100, 200 and 400 yard dashes, and several other feats.

Cordele, Ga., March 8.—Thomas Truluck, who lives five miles east of Cordele, was awakened during the night by groans in his home and going to the room occupied by his son, Sim Truluck, found him unconscious, his skull being fractured, the wound indicating that he had been hit with a heavy blunt instrument. The presumption is that during the early part of the night a burglar had entered the room of Young Truluck and finding him awake struck him across the head, inflicting the wound, and then robbed the house. Young Truluck died today.

HAS BEEN MERE SKIRMISHES

This is the Opinion of a Newspaper Man Who Has Been Closely in Touch With the Situation—Moneyed Men Are Believed to Have Aided Insurrectos in an Uprising Intended to Overthrow Diaz Government.

Atlanta, Ga., March 9.—A newspaper man who has been in the field with the Mexican insurrectos writes as follows from Maria, Texas:

"Is Mexico in rebellion against the rule of President Porfirio Diaz, or are scattered bands of bandits to blame for the upheaval in the sister republic?"

"From my observations in the field I have concluded that the trouble in Mexico is a real uprising of the people against the Federal government, that the sympathy of the people against the liberals, and that men with brains and money are organizing and leading the fight with a determination to win."

"Americans and other foreigners have been treated with exaggerated consideration, and their property respected by the insurrectos."

"In the official proclamation of revolt the provisional officials declare that Francisco I. Madero was legally elected president of Mexico. They declare he was thrown into prison by Diaz, his election nullified, and the will of the people balked. Having failed to change the government by peaceful means, they have taken up arms. Everywhere that I went I found the people wildly enthusiastic for the new order and eager to volunteer."

"I was impressed with a speech made by Calixto Guerra, the insurgent leader in Coahuila, at the village of San Graciano, where forty-one men had been lined up to hear the reading of the proclamation."

"Come with us," he said, "and we can promise you hardships, hunger and possibly death. If we win we can promise you better conditions, a right to vote, a right to hold your head like a citizen of a republic, not to bend your back like a peon slave under an autocratic despotism."

"Of the forty-one men whom he addressed, twenty-one volunteered and nineteen were accepted."

"In Coahuila there are about five hundred men under arms. It is a conservative estimate to say that there are at least 3,000 insurrectos in the fighting line in Chihuahua."

"Up until now it has been the policy of the insurgents to avoid attacking fortified towns, but to win their recruits and spread their propaganda through the rural districts. The leaders have decided that their forces now are large enough to capture the cities and the bands are concentrating on several garrisoned towns."

"In every battle that the insurgents have had with the Federal soldiers, the Liberals have won. This is largely due to the fact that the soldiers are in sympathy with the Liberals. I saw a letter signed by twenty-five rurales, offering to surrender and join the fight against the government. The rurales are the best fighters in the Federal army."

"As to the resources of the revolutionists, it is claimed that 10,000 high power rifles were bought in Europe, shipped to St. Louis, and from that point sent in small lots over the border. More than half of these goods are now in Mexico."

TO CUT IN HALF SEA ISLAND CROP

Is Agreement of Growers. Five States Represented at Waycross Meeting.

Waycross, Ga., March 9.—With three hundred and twenty-two delegates from South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi present, sea island cotton growers today decided to reduce their acreage in sea island cotton fifty per cent, as compared to last season's planting, and further agreed to hold their last season's cotton, not yet sold, until a more satisfactory price can be obtained.

This action, according to a statement of President Charles S. Barrett, will be sanctioned by the National board of the Farmers' Union.

The address of welcome was delivered by Judge T. A. Parker of the Waycross circuit, in a most happy manner. President Barrett responded, stating that the farmers were glad to be here.

R. A. N. Wilson, state lecturer for Mississippi Farmers' Union, delivered an address on co-operative methods for success in the subject on hand. He said one particular reason that Northerners were making such results on their lands in short seasons was because they paid strict attention to scientific methods.

"In the South one trouble is that we have so much politics," he said. "We are all so busy electing county and state officers and then congressmen and senators, and naturally agricultural interests have to take what time is left."

E. Cabiness of Georgia delivered an interesting address this afternoon, containing advice to the farmers, and urging co-operation. He was followed by W. A. Morris of Alabama, chairman of the National Farmers' Union board of directors. Mr. Morris showed where and how co-operative methods give best results, spoke of the influence of the unions the farmers were establishing all over the country.

The executive session following session show that sea island cotton section, resolutions asking investigation of the needs of the world with respect to sea island cotton were adopted, and President Barrett named as this committee: E. Cabiness of Georgia, R. A. N. Wilson of Mississippi, and W. A. Morris of Alabama. They are to substitute what the world future meeting.

Mexico.

"The revolutionists make the charge, which they say is backed by the original writers, orders received by Federal officials, that Diaz has fostered anti-American race riots and sought to fasten the blame on the 'anti-re-electionist party.'"

"The insurgents tell a story from what I know of the organization, the leaders and the money back of the movement, I believe that the outbreak in Mexico should be classed as a real rebellion of the Mexican people against the rule of Porfirio Diaz. I believe that the fighting that has passed has been mere skirmishing to what is to come."

WIRE STRETCHER BREAKS, FATALITY INJURING MAN.

Regular Accident Occurs On a Farm Near Swainsboro—The Victim Married Only a Month Ago.

Swainsboro, Ga., March 9.—Frank Covens, a well-known and prosperous young farmer of this county, who has been married only a month, was fatally injured in a peculiar accident this morning.

He was engaged in building a wire fence, and in stretching the wire the stretcher broke and an iron clamp was thrown violently against Covens, striking him behind the ear.

Covens dropped helpless in his tracks. Persons who were working near him heard a faint cry as he was struck. When they reached his side they found him helpless and feared that he was dead. Physicians from this place were summoned and rushed to the scene.

The injured man is a nephew of Sheriff Fields. He has not regained consciousness, and doctors say that he cannot recover. The young bride is prostrated over the accident.

NEGRO MAURADER KEEPS UP MIDNIGHT VISITS.

Has Recruited a Pal and a Dog, and Visits Near Vidalia.

Vidalia, Ga., March 8.—Two negroes, accompanied by a dog, entered the house of Mrs. Quincy Sellers, who lives on a farm near this place last night, and were systematically searching rooms, when Lee Taylor, who is a near neighbor, and to whom she had gone for protection, put them to flight.

The burglars awakened Mrs. Sellers when they broke open a trunk in a room adjacent to her bed room. Mrs. Sellers, instead of fainting, quietly slipped out of the house in her night attire and ran to the home of Lee Taylor for help.

Mr. Taylor, armed, went to the house and the intruders were leaving as he came up. Both Mrs. Sellers and Taylor are sure that the intruders were negroes, but neither could identify them. Mr. Taylor says that he could have shot a dog that accompanied them, but desisted as this would not have stopped the wholesale house breaking that has been going on in this neighborhood for the last few nights.

The burglars went through the rooms of Mrs. Sellers' home one after another, breaking open trunks, bureaus, and scattering the contents of them over the house in their search for money or other valuables, but so far as can be ascertained nothing was missed. The citizens of this section are thoroughly aroused and demand that some steps be taken to stop the marauding.

On last Thursday night, several houses in Ailey, six miles west of here, were entered and on Friday, Higdon, also in the same community, was ransacked; Saturday night eleven homes in Toombs and Montgomery counties in the Vidalia section, were entered, and in two cases criminal assault was attempted. Sunday night, by reports from Lyons, a dozen or more houses were entered, but up to last night only one negro had been seen at any of these places. It seems now that if the incidents are to be connected the lone bad man has recruited a partner and added a dog to his tag. No arrests have been made in connection with any of the crimes.

ROOSEVELT WANTS HIS SKELETONS MOUNTED.

That Is the Ones He Corralled In Africa.

Washington, D. C., March 8.—Col. Roosevelt, en route from New York to Atlanta, had a short stay in Washington today while the train changed crews. He refused to discuss the movement of troops to the Mexican border or to express an opinion on the resignation of Secretary Ballinger.

"I am not discussing anything now," he replied to questions. The colonel, however, expressed regret that the specimens of animals which he brought from Africa had not been mounted.

"Those specimens which are now lying in the national museum," said the colonel, addressing newspaper men, "were brought there for the American people. They should be mounted and put on exhibition immediately and congress should be prevailed upon to make an appropriation for that purpose."

Secretary of War Dickinson and Surgeon Gen. Wyman of the public health and marine hospital service boarded the train here. They are also going to Atlanta to attend the Southern Commercial Congress.

APPEALS TO FARMERS TO CUT OUT SEA ISLAND.

W. W. Webb Says a Big Crop Means Danger.

Valdosta, Ga., March 8.—W. W. Webb, organizer of the Sea Island cotton growers, has written a letter to the cotton growers warning them against the danger of planting too much cotton during the coming season. He says there is danger ahead for the cotton growers, as he believes that a large amount of cotton is going to be carried over unsold from the past season.

Mr. Webb says: "Forty-five thousand bales, half of the last year's crop of sea island cotton is yet on hand and cannot be sold, even at a low price and the farmers are preparing to plant enough to make it reach 150,000 bales, making a 200,000 bale crop for 1911. Taking into consideration the present prices we could not expect the next crop to open at more than twenty cents and it might drop to nine and ten cents, thus bringing the prices below that of short cotton. Better plant short cotton. There have been more mules, fertilizer and farm implements sold in the sea island belt than ever before, which means an increased acreage of sea island cotton. Brooks, Thomas, Grady, Colquitt, Worth, Irvin and Tift counties are going to come in with a big crop. They have not made any before."

"While I have warned every one of the danger of planting sea island cotton this year, it now seems that every available seed is going to be planted and nothing but a miserable failure will convince a majority of the farmers. Such a failure would be a calamity on our country. If we can get only a few farmers to stop and investigate for themselves and avoid danger, I believe we will have accomplished some good to the few. I have been talking and advising the farmers not to plant sea island cotton this year and the firm reply was: 'I have arranged to plant and I am going to plant.' Only a few will substitute short cotton for long."

We can make as good short cotton as any people. Farmers can make more to let the cotton land grow in grass for hay than in sea island cotton.

"Now I appeal to whomsoever will, to avoid the trouble for it is bound to come this year and the conventional whereas will not change it. Don't get the idea the other fellow will not plant sea island cotton, but determine for yourself not to do so. Better make short cotton at fourteen cents than sea island at nine cents. It is up to the farmers to save themselves the coming year. If there ever was a time when farmers should make hog and hominy it is this year."

Whole Town Wiped Out BY POWDER EXPLOSION IN SOUTHERN WISCONSIN.

Relief Train Is Made Up at Chicago With Doctors, Nurses and Supplies, and Rushed to the Scene to Care for Injured Persons.

Chicago, March 9.—The town of Pleasant Prairie, Wis., a village of about 150 inhabitants, is said to have been almost wiped off the map by two terrific explosions of the Linn-Rand Powder Mills at 8 o'clock tonight.

Advices to the Western Union from Salem, Wis., the nearest town to the wrecked village, say that calls have been received for assistance. All available physicians and nurses are being hurried to the town on a special train which is being prepared in Chicago.

SOUTH NOW HAS ALADDIN'S LAMP

Says Georgia Speaker, J. S. Davis, of Albany, Represents State.

Atlanta, March 8.—In representing Georgia in the list of speakers from the Southern states here this evening in the Southern Commercial Congress, J. S. Davis, of Albany presented an admirable survey of conditions in this state. He declared: "One acre in the South is worth a thousand in Utopia."

Mr. Davis told of the South that was at the close of the War between the States. Then he said: "Now the South has the Aladdin's lamp of today."

Of Georgia's finances, he said: and transportation facilities. He said state and national banks with capital and surplus aggregating $51,000,000, carrying deposits amounting to $165,000,000. More than half of these banks have been established within the last ten years."

Telling of the coal, gold, iron, marble, clay and other mineral wealth of Georgia Mr. Davis said: "The total annual value of Georgia's mineral resources, together with the manufactured products from these resources is estimated at more than $30,000,000."

Mr. Davis told of Georgia's wonderful potential water power and transportation facilities. He pointed out what has been done in the way of manufacturing and his illustration left the conviction that there is need for rapid improvement along this line.

The state's greatest asset, he said, is in her agricultural possibilities. He told in detail of her cotton, corn, pecans and fruits, and said: "But it would be too tedious to enumerate the many products of Georgia that commend it to home-seekers who want ideal conditions and all their concomitants. To those in less favored lands Georgia with equable climate, its fertile soil, the great variety of its products, its healthfulness and the opportunities that hang like clusters of grapes on every hillside and in every valley must appeal with peculiar force."

Twins Birth Sufficient SERVICE FOR THIS JUROR.

So Judge Says He Need Perform No Further Labor for County.

Knoxville, Tenn., March 8.—Birth of twins in a man's home is a legal excuse from jury service. Judge James R. Penland so ruled yesterday in the circuit court.

Bryan Ley, a resident of the seventh district, had been summoned for jury service today. He telephoned the clerk of the court asking to be excused from appearing before the judge. The clerk stated the facts to the judge on the bench and he ruled that the juror had performed sufficient service and instructed the clerk to excuse him.

BALL A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

We understand that the ball given at the Jaekel Hotel last evening was one of the most brilliant occasions known to society circles in some time, in fact it was the climax of a very gay season. The Statesboro News editor was not favored with an invitation to be present a fact that is very much regretted, not only by himself but by the entire staff. We should have enjoyed the occasion very much, feeling as we would that we were drifting along with the popular sentiment of the best people in the city. We learn that the attendance at this ball was even larger than that at a former one which was given some space in these columns, and the social standing of those present; this time was even higher than that on the former occasion. Twenty-five Statesboro young women were there and quite as many young men, and as stated before the ball was a grand success.

The Statesboro News has been much misunderstood in the past the impression prevailing that the news we are doing on this occasion. We simply stated what we knew to be facts, as we do this time.

We stated before that times had changed in Statesboro; the sentiment prevailing here a few years ago against balls, saloons and slot machines does not exist at the present time. The fact that the slot machines have gone out of business here is not due to the fact that there was a great sentiment against them. They went out when they saw indictments by the grand jury staring them in the face. If left to public sentiment they would be running wide open today, as would the saloon, and as does the public round dance.

If there was a law on the statute books against men and women taking charge of a public hotel in which the church people hold a majority of the stock and making merry until late hours of the night for the edification of the traveling men who have turned in for a night's rest they would stop, but there is no such law and hence it goes on; goes on for the reason that a majority of the town wants it to go on, and the best people turn out to it and participate in it.

This fact has been disputed, it has been said that the best people will not go to a ball. Now this may or may not be true, but we have a very serious doubt whether the old church-going edger who sits up in one corner and sheds crocodile tears when the preacher tells him the country is going to hell at a two-forty gallop, and prays loud enough to be heard a mile, and when an issue comes up takes to the woods, with the statement: "It's the newspaper's duty to prosecute this fight and I will hands off." Why, bless your soul, he would be better off if he attended the ball provided they would let him in.

We again repeat the statement that we are not trying to reform the town, we are printing the news; a large majority of the town don't want to be reformed and in our opinion will never be. There is absolutely no sentiment or feeling in the above article. We are printing news, which is the first duty of a newspaper. Its duty is plain to print things as they are and not as the paper would like for them to be.

THIRTY YEARS OLD.

Ten years ago today the Statesboro Star and the Bulloch Herald were consolidated and the Statesboro News was the name of their successor. The Statesboro News was the direct successor of other papers reaching back to 1881, which makes the Statesboro News really thirty years old on this birthday.

In 1884 the present editor of the News was rolling ink with a hand roller, distributing on a white pine board nailed to the wall in an upstairs room, and turning an old Army hand press about the size of an ordinary grind stone, that ground the editorials and the news items that told of the great things that were happening in "The State of Bulloch" at that time. For nineteen years he has been editor of this paper and its predecessors.

In the good old days mentioned in the foregoing we didn't do as much business as we do now, but we had lots of fun and a great deal more leisure. This was before the days of typewriting machines, at least around this neck of the woods, and when the whistle of a locomotive engine would have frightened the natives out of their wits. In those good old days if the country editor could get a bushel of potatoes, a few turnips, and make it through to blackberry time, he was solid for the summer. But those good old days have passed away and now the deadly Saturday afternoon pay roll is a standing menace to our every day existence. We were not bothered much then about the monthly linotype notes falling due or the bill of lading at the bank that stood between us and a ton of paper; we got our little "Patent Outside" from Atlanta for three dollars a week, and that was the largest item on the expense roll. But, alas, those good old times have changed.

The Statesboro News on this good day, marking as it does the passing of the thirtieth mile stone in its life, has many reasons to feel good as it scans its eyes backward over the passing years, and it has many reasons to remember a great many regrets.

At last, summing it all up we are reminded that life is "just one thing after another," but it really is what we make it. The News has witnessed the rise and fall of many a statesman; it has seen this one and that one rise up to command the politics of the county and state—they would all blossom for a season, but the end of them all has been the same.

The News has in its long career, been run through the mill, so to speak; it has bitten the dust of defeat and revelled in the glories of sweeping victories. It has stood aside in order to escape being trampled to death by the marching population that was celebrating over its political downfall, and listened to the roaring flames that were eating away its building and plant.

On the other hand it has ridden high on the wave of political success, witnessing the triumphant election of every man and every principal its columns advocated; it has even been accorded credit for having contributed to the victory of the hour. In turn some of our victories have turned into the bitterest defeats.

The News has seen the town grow from a hamlet that didn't deserve or command the name of "town," to be today one of the large commercial centers of the Wiregrass region. It has seen the fifty cents an acre farm lands grow into the fifty dollar an acre and even more than that. It has seen the wooden shack transformed into the magnificent plate glass front, and the palatial car supplant the wagon train through the county.

The fact that the Statesboro News hasn't been a great money making institution is partly due to the fact that it has given the public one hundred cents on the dollar for that which it obtained from them. It has boomed the interests of others who have sat down and grown fat on its efforts, but in all that it has only done its duty to an appreciative constituency.

The News feel that it has done its share of the boosting and the booming, and accepts as its reward the happiness of witnessing its friends and patrons enjoy the fruits of its labors. We do not want to be understood as being sore over results. We must admit that we have had a fair show and today have the largest patronage ever extended any paper in the county, and the largest of any paper in the First Congressional District with the exception of the two dailies in Savannah. With an equipment the equal of which does not exist in any town of this size in the state, and a patronage better than anything in the wiregrass, outside of the dailies, we are constrained to sit down and be contented with our share and hope for better things in the future; to hope that the next thirty years will find us keeping in touch with the material progress of the age, as it has during the past third of a century. We trust that at that time the Statesboro News will be able to show a larger percentage of profits on its labors and investments than it has during the past thirty years.

THE REVOLUTION MUST NOW END

Washington, March 9.—That the administration has decided to discontinue no longer its reasons for the sudden and unprecedented movement of troops to the Mexican border is indicated by the following dispatch, received from a special correspondent of the Associated Press, who is accompanying President Taft on his journey to Atlanta. The dispatch, dated Charlottesville, Va., through which place the President's train passed at 7:10, is as follows:

"All doubt as to the purpose of the government in sending 20,000 troops to the Mexican border has been swept away. The United States has determined that the revolution in the republic to the south must end. The American troops have been sent to form a solid military wall along the Rio Grande to stop filibustering and to see that there is no further smuggling of arms and men across the international boundary.

"It is believed that with this course of contraband supplies cut off, the insurrectionary movement which has disturbed conditions generally for nearly a year without accomplishing anything like the formation of a responsible independent government, will speedily come to a close.

"President Taft, on his way to Atlanta and Augusta for ten days' vacation, passed through here at 7:10 p. m. He appeared well satisfied with the situation. There is general belief that the rapid movement of troops into Texas and Southern California will so speedily accomplish its purpose that the net results in the end will constitute a valuable lesson in quick mobilization of an effective fighting force that will prove a revelation to the country at large, to the critics of the army in particular and a justification of the diplomatically worded explanations that have been given from official sources in Washington.

"Whatever the inner and diplomatic moves may have been there is no longer any purpose on the part of the administration to cloak the movement of troops with mystery.

"The Mexican government, whether it asked help of this government or not, has been given the greatest assistance. It could possibly have desired. The official note from Washington made public in Mexico City last night assuring General Diaz there was nothing of the movement of troops that should cause uneasiness in Mexico was more than justified by the administration's announcement made today. There is no telling at this time how long the big army sent to the Mexican frontier will have to remain there. It will not be withdrawn until the revolution has been crushed out and until conditions in Mexico are much more stable than they now are believed to be.

"The situation in lower California is said to have caused more concern to the United States than at any other point. It was reported that the revolutionists were exceptionally strong and threatened to set up a government independent of either that of Diaz or of the revolutionists to the East.

"There was little doubt in the minds of these officials that the true meaning of the maneuvers would be known, and the logical interpretation so quickly put upon the movement of the troops unquestionably disconcerted the administration officials from President Taft down.

"The Washington Government unexpectedly found itself confronted by the necessity of throwing an army along the border line of Mexico to stop the source of supply to the revolutionists; to be in a position to invade Mexico at a moment's notice in the event of the death of President Diaz or any other untoward circumstances which might precipitate general fighting or rioting.

"It was represented at the state department that the United States must act, and act quickly, if the Monroe Doctrine was to be maintained. Foreign interests in Mexico, naturally look to the United States for protection under that doctrine. The foreign interests in the republic, however, are not to be compared with the American capital invested there; so after all, the move to bring about more tranquil conditions in Mexico has to do practically with Americans and American interests.

"Protests Have Been Made. "Just what part the Diaz government has played in recent events has not yet been disclosed. From time to time protests have been made to Washington regarding the violations of the neutrality laws along the border. Such protests, however, would not ordinarily call out such a force as has been rushed toward the Mexican frontier during the past forty-eight hours. It is considered probable that the Mexican government may have indicated to European powers its inability to put an end to the disorders so long as success was given in the revolutionist forces in the United States.

"No Longer Any Doubt. "There no longer is reason to doubt that the sudden move on the part of the American government was the result of either unofficial representations of foreign governments regarding the situation in Mexico, or the intimation that several of the European powers were sounding each other as to the desirability of making representations to the United States at an early date. At any rate, the matter was put up to the administration in such a way as to call for the quickest sort of action. The necessity for this speed of mobilization was seized upon by the war department as a heaven-sent opportunity to answer critics both in and out of congress, and that interpretation was put upon the movement.

"There was little doubt in the minds of these officials that the true meaning of the maneuvers would be known, and the logical interpretation so quickly put upon the movement of the troops unquestionably disconcerted the administration officials from President Taft down.

"The Washington Government unexpectedly found itself confronted by the necessity of throwing an army along the border line of Mexico to stop the source of supply to the revolutionists; to be in a position to invade Mexico at a moment's notice in the event of the death of President Diaz or any other untoward circumstances which might precipitate general fighting or rioting.

"It was represented at the state department that the United States must act, and act quickly, if the Monroe Doctrine was to be maintained. Foreign interests in Mexico, naturally look to the United States for protection under that doctrine. The foreign interests in the republic, however, are not to be compared with the American capital invested there; so after all, the move to bring about more tranquil conditions in Mexico has to do practically with Americans and American interests.

DIED WITH REQUEST FOR LAST COMMUNION

Antonio Fogazzaro, Italian Novelist and Author of "Il Santo," Is Dead.

Venice, Italy, March 7.—Breathing out his life in a request for the last communion, Antonio Fogazzaro, foremost of Italian authors, whose sensational religious novel, "Il Santo," was placed under ban by the holy see, died today. The request for the holy office came too late. The writer, who has repeatedly offended the Vatican, died in its asking, and the only duty left to the attending monk was administering of extreme unction.

Fogazzaro had been ill for several days and recently underwent an operation for cancer of the liver. Yesterday he suffered a collapse so complete that the report was sent out that he had died.

An hour before death came, Fogazzaro murmured to a nun who was nursing him, "Bring me the last communion."

From the next room, where he had waited, a Franciscan monk entered, and Fogazzaro's wife, daughters and other relatives and friends knelt sobbing at the bedside. The grief of the others noticeably affected the dying man, who, placing a hand upon the head of his daughter, Maria, said:

"Do not be afraid. I asked myself, for the last communion."

Was Too Late. It was too late, however, for as he spoke Fogazzaro lapsed into unconsciousness, then his heart stopped its beating.

Vicenza, where Fogazzaro was born March 25, 1842, the Venetian provinces, and, indeed, all Italy, are in mourning today. Expressions of grief and condolence have been received by the family from King Victor Emmanuel, Premier Luzzatti, the presidents of the senate and the chamber of deputies and even from the cardinals and bishops, despite the fact that the Italian's writings were considered unorthodox.

Fogazzaro's best known novel, "Il Santo," which appeared five years ago, treated a religious matter in such a liberal manner that it was placed under the ban by the holy see.

He held the first place among Italian novelists, while his works included several volumes of poems. He was an accomplished musician.

The Place to Buy Cheap

SOME REASONS WHY WE SELL GOODS CHEAP

Because, you don't have to pay for goods the other fellow buys on a credit and fails to pay for.

Because I don't pay $2.00 a day for a man and mule to deliver goods.

Because I buy for cash and discount my bills; in some instances the discount pays the freight.

Because we don't sell anything on a credit.

Because we have one price for everybody.

Because I own my storehouse and don't have any high-price clerks.

Because I go after bargains and hunt until I find them.

I undersell other merchants on lots of things, and if you stop to think you can see why I sell cheap.

$100,000 SECURITIES STOLEN FROM BANKS.

George Bancroft, Sr., Was Touched for Big Sum While on Way to Vault.

New York, March 7.—George Bancroft, Sr., a broker, 80 years old, discovered Monday that he was robbed last Thursday afternoon of securities worth approximately $100,000 in the vestibule of the Produce Exchange Safety Deposit and Storage Company.

Last Thursday Mr. Bancroft, as has been his habit for 25 years, placed securities worth that day about $100,000 in a large envelope 10 by 14 square inches, tied with red tape, and bearing the firm's name in the corner. Alone he walked the 200 feet from his office to the Produce Exchange, thence down a flight of steps from the street level entrance to the vaults.

Just as Mr. Bancroft was about to turn the corner at the end of the corridor into the vaults a tall man came running around the corner and collided with him. The compact threw Mr. Bancroft off his feet, and in falling he dropped the envelope.

Envelope No Good.

That was the cue for an undersized young man, who had been leaning against the corridor wall. He stepped up to Mr. Bancroft, assisted him to his feet, and was solicitous to tuck under his arm an envelope. Mr. Bancroft, of course, thought it was the envelope that fell. He went on to deposit as usual. Today when Geo. Bancroft, Jr., his son, unlocked the box he found that the only envelope there contained three old newspapers. A clever substitution had been effected when the elder Bancroft was upset in the vault corridor.

The robbers, it is believed, knew on what day and hour it was the firm's custom to deposit its securities. They knew that

Mr. Bancroft habitually carried them in an envelope of certain appearance, for they provided themselves in advance with so close an imitation that it deceived even the man who of all others should have best known its appearance.

The certificates, easily susceptible included 100 shares of Lehigh Valley, 320 shares of Smelters, 30 shares of New York Central, 290 shares of Brooklyn Rapid Transit, 500 Distillers securities, 60 shares of Steel, common, 10 shares of Atchison, 30 shares of American Beet Sugar, 40 shares of Amalgamated Copper and 100 shares of Missouri Pacific.

No Crooks Allowed.

So bold a robbery in daylight, in the very heart of the city's financial district, shocked the police. Years ago Inspector Byrnes had drawn a dead line across the city at Fulton street, below which he ordered that no crook or pick-pocket should go, on even an innocent errand, under pain of instant trouble with the police.

Having tried the order, the underworld ultimately obeyed, and for years the financial district was the safest place in the world for a man with large sums of money on his person. Messenger boys ran about the street, their pockets utterly stuffed with bills of large denominations.

Engine Crew Injured. Special Train Will Keep Experts on Schedule.

Augusta, Ga., March 8.—The State Agricultural College exhibition train was wrecked this afternoon between Wrens and Matthews, the engineer and fireman being injured.

The party traveling on the train arrived here tonight a little the worse for being in the woods, but none of them are injured. The fireman and engineer were slightly injured in jumping from the engine when it was derailed, but otherwise there were no personal injuries.

The engine, tender and first car on the train were turned on their side by the track, where they are still. The other cars did not leave the rails. Except those cars off the track the balance of the train was brought to Augusta.

The Georgia railroad tonight began making up a special train for Prof. Soule's use and he has been notified by that road that he can proceed on the train's itinerary tomorrow morning as though nothing had happened.

Some of the exhibits were damaged, but investigation shows that it was not to any appreciable extent.

DRY WEATHER

GETTING SERIOUS.

The farmers are feeling pretty blue over the weather situation. There has been no rain in this section in several weeks, and the farmers are fearful they will not be able to proceed much further with their farm work unless rain comes in a short time.

NEW PHONE DIRECTORY.

That the Statesboro Telephone Company is alive in developing the town and county is evidenced by its new directory, now being distributed among its subscribers—which is neat, attractive and instructive. It is also different in many respects from the ordinary directory. Its city subscribers are listed separate from the rural line subscribers, the city subscribers being listed in the front of the book, followed by the rural subscribers, with a notch at the top of the front side which opens the directory to the city subscribers, and the lower notch opens to the rural line subscribers. This makes it very convenient for the subscribers to turn to either city or rural subscribers as desired. The ringing code for rural lines is an entirely new feature in telephone usage—the calling party not only gives the operator the ring, but the line on which the called subscriber is located, and by its use the service will be much improved. Besides the above advantages the manager has printed a number of rules and suggestions which if observed will also add materially in giving good service.

EXCITING RUNAWAY.

The entire eastern portion of the city suffered quite a hair-raising experience last night about eight o'clock, when the rattling of wheels and the clump of horses' hoofs mingled with the cries of women rang out on the calm atmosphere that prevailed at that hour. Adding to the intensity of the occasion was the cry that there was a "dead baby" in the road. The runaway team had dodged an automobile and had thrown one of the occupants of the buggy out as the curve was made, and laying limp and lifeless as he was the impression got out that he was "a dead baby." Citizens pulled on their night shirts and pedestrians ran to the rescue of "the baby," and when a thorough investigation was made "the baby," which was found not to be dead, but a little the worse for wear, and tear-washed about one hundred and sixty pounds and was aged about thirty-five years or something thereabouts.

The horse ran on, the other occupant of the buggy pulling one line and screaming at the top of his voice: "Stop the horse," etc. The one who had dismounted so hastily at the point where "the dead baby" was discovered, is reported to have been hollering at the top of his voice to the horse to "go ahead." The horse was finally reigned up in the hotel shed, where a merry dance was going on, and the "dead baby" was conveyed to his home, being house only about a block away. Examination for wounds failed to reveal any serious injuries except the ailment mentioned above.

Leonard Wood in Washington announcing that the United States warships assigned to patrol duty on the Pacific and Gulf coasts of Mexico had been ordered to call at Mexican ports only for coal and then to withdraw promptly.

This action is deeply reassuring to Senator Limantour. In a recent interview he said that he could consider only the presence of American men-of-war in Mexican waters so far distant from their base at Galveston as part of an unnecessary effort to impress

FIGHT ON COCA COLA IS WAXING WARM

Government Witnesses Present Interesting Testimony Concerning the Drink. Stuart Starts Telling. The Methodist Evangelist Is Excused Before He Gets Very Far.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 16.—Caffeine, a poisonous drug, is sold to the Coca-Cola Company, of Atlanta, in tins of five, ten and twenty-five pounds, and shipped direct to the main factory in Atlanta and to branches of that company elsewhere in the country by the Shaffer Alkaloid Works, of New Jersey, according to Hugo Dubois, secretary of the company acting as selling agents for the Shaffer concern, whose deposition was read this morning in the trial of Coca-Cola in Federal court here. The caffeine is shipped by the selling agents of the Shaffer works. It is paid for by the Coca-Cola Company and shipments are made frequently.

"Merchandise No. 5," which the Coca-Cola people claim is a compound extract of coca and coffee, is purchased from the Shaffer works in barrels of 47 gallons capacity and shipped to the Coca-Cola plants.

A deposition of Edward H. Corey, a Philadelphia street car conductor, read this morning, told of how he had been a victim of the Coca-Cola habit for seven years, drinking it in large quantities, and how he was subject to delirium in his sleep. He was treated in a Philadelphia hospital for extreme nervousness. When Dr. George R. Stuart, of Cleveland, Tenn., a Methodist minister and teacher, who travels over the United States constantly, was giving his observations of the use of Coca-Cola, the defense objected on the ground that he was not a medical expert. A tilt occurred between opposing counsel and Dr. Stuart was excused rather than be made the subject of an embarrassing situation.

Draws on Nerve Forces. Dr. E. E. LeRoy, vice president of the Tennessee state board of health, former state bacteriologist and now a practicing physician of Memphis, declared that from his observation Coca-Cola forces the body to utilize more energy than it normally does and draws this excess of energy from the reserve force of the human system, thereby decreasing that reserve force. Assistant Attorney General Miller propounded a hypothetical question describing insanitary conditions testified to by others as seen in the Coca-Cola factory at Atlanta, to which Dr. LeRoy answered that a syphilis compounded under such conditions was "certain to contain germs."

Upon cross-examination, he declared that the germus themselves would live but a short time in a solution with as great a percent of sugar as Coca-Cola contains, but the spores or "germ seed" would retain their life indefinitely, as would vegetable or garden seed.

Dr. J. T. Searcy, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., state superintendent of the asylum for the insane of Alabama, told of many cases where he had observed people suffering from nervous disorders who were addicted to the Coca-Cola habit.

ENGINEER STOPS TRAIN BEFORE BURNING TRESTLE

Ludowici, Ga., March 16.—Bearing down upon the longest and highest trestle on the Georgia Coast and Piedmont railway, at Doctor's Creek, the regular passenger train was stopped yesterday afternoon, the engineer discovering the trestle ablaze from end to end.

With airbrakes applied in "emergency," passengers were hurled pell mell from their seats. When they discovered that they had been saved by a miracle, they voted the engineer their thanks for his bravery.

This is the third time within as many months that this trestle has been destroyed by fire. Detectives have been ordered to the scene. Trains will be operated to the burned structure, where transfers will be made.

college, Nashville, a student of nervous diseases, declared that caffeine in the proportion used in coca-cola would affect the heart and digestive organs. He declared young people are especially affected by excessive coca-cola drinking. In appearance, he said, victims of the coca-cola habit in extreme cases resemble morphine users. He declared it a habit forming drink and causes impairment of the faculties of the resistance of disease. He told of treating three patients for the excessive use of coca-cola, one of whom was in a hospital for a month.

Dr. Kohler, who was on the stand when the adjournment came Wednesday afternoon, completed his testimony in a short time this morning, going more into detail on some of the points brought out Wednesday.

At noon court took a brief recess.

Kehler Declares Caffeine to Be Cause of Poisoning. Chattanooga, Tenn., March 16.—That caffeine has poisoned people and caused deaths was the statement on the witness stand yesterday afternoon by Dr. L. F. Kohler, one of the corps of experts down here from Washington to testify for the government in the case against Coca-Cola.

Not only has it poisoned people and caused their deaths, but, declared Dr. Kohler, it made one patient's heart so hard that it was impossible to cut it with a knife. It was at this point of Dr. Kohler's testimony Judge Sanford took occasion to issue a rebuke from the bench to witnesses present in the court room who had been in the habit of making remarks to one another concerning testimony being given on the stand. All during the trial the several experts secured by the Coca-Cola Company have been sitting together near counsel for the company and they have been listening intently to the statements made by the experts testifying for the government. Frequently one or two would visibly indicate their disagreement with a witness on the stand and there would be significant smiles and looks.

Dr. Kohler referred to several cases of caffeine poisoning and told how patients who had been given the drug were affected. The severe cross examination of Attorney J. B. Sizor for the Coca-Cola Company failed to break down his testimony. Dr. Kohler was still on the stand when court adjourned at 2 o'clock and took the stand again this morning to complete his testimony.

BANKS SHOW COUNTRY IS PROSPEROUS.

Attention is called to the healthy statements of the various banks in Bulloch county, which show the real condition of the county's finances. Four of these statements appear in today's issue, three appeared in last Tuesday's issue, and there is one to come yet. These statements are called for by the State and National Bank Examiners, who keep a close watch over their operations. Bulloch county now has seven state banks and national bank, which render their statements quarterly with the exception of the national bank, a statement being required from them five times a year.

With possibly one exception Bulloch county now has more banks than any other rural county in the state. This is all in addition to the new private bank which has recently been organized and opened for business here.

THE FIGHT ON COCA-COLA.

The fight has begun to open up on coca-cola. The statement goes out through the press that a physician on the witness stand in the Federal court at Chattanooga stated under oath that there was enough caffeine in two bottles of coca-cola to kill a man, may have been a little wide of the mark, and of course was; if there was that much caffeine in it, there would be lots of dead folks around, but there is no question but what the coca-cola habit is doing greater injury in the state of Georgia than is the whiskey habit. It contains a drug that tears the nervous system all to pieces. In our opinion there has started a big fight on this monster evil.

WOMEN HORSEWHIP YOUNG MEN.

A case of horsewhipping has come to light here over the filing of a case on a charge of assault and battery filed by two Bay District young men, against a lady and daughter, charging them with assault and battery. The circumstances were as follows: The two young men had used their mouths to the hurt of the good name of the young lady in question, and when they refused to stop a quarrelsome mother and daughter, they then a sound thrashing with a "bungee" whip while the husband and father stood aside and saw it well and on. The young men have been to town and sworn out warrants charging the ladies in question with assault and battery. The case will come up for a hearing at the next term of the city court.

KILLED IN MISSISSIPPI.

The remains of Mr. C. G. Brown arrived here from Meridian, Miss. this morning and were taken out to Friendship church cemetery where the funeral and interment was made.

Mrs. Brown, who was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Emmet, came in ahead of the remains, which were delayed by the express company. The deceased came to his death in a railroad accident nearly a week ago. The parties lived at Pooler before they moved to Meridian several months ago.

SOME FARMERS ARE CUTTING ACREAGE.

Some are doing it and some are not. That is about the best information we have on the proposed cut of the Sea Island cotton acreage. All those farmers who have the best interest of their community at heart are cutting the acreage, but there are a lot of fellows who cannot be classed as farmers, who are peeping over into the other fellow's field and seeing that the acreage is being cut by his neighbor, is seeking to take advantage of the situation and slip in a full crop.

Of course every interest concerned have their eyes on him; These fellows, like Cain of old he slew his brother, think they are hiding, but the whole world knows what you are doing. He who is willing to do the right thing and stand shoulder to shoulder for the protection of the Sea Island planter, feels keenly the dagger you are sticking into him; on the other hand the secret hired employ of the spinners combine who are sneaking through the country, know what you are doing, and are smiling at your foolishness, smiling because your act means dollars in the coffers of the combine who has him employed, and cuts the throat of the fool himself who is trying to destroy his neighbor.

Don't do it men. The fight is whipped if you will stand firm and do what the Waycross convention asked you to do otherwise it is lost.

The spinners combine are getting uneasy, they are taking just as little cotton as they can get along with now, expecting of course as soon as the report comes in that the planters have cut the fool again and ignored every appeal that every interest in common with theirs has made to them and failed, that the price will come tumbling down and they will not only be able to buy this crop at a great sacrifice but they will take over the one this coming fall at less than cost of production. This will be glory for the spinners, who are not satisfied with getting ninety cents out of every dollar you make. But it will not be funny to the fellow who has disregarded all those appeals and put in a big crop next year. It won't be funny to the bank he owes a note to when he goes to it and tells them he must be carried over because cotton is so low. But it will tickle the spinners' half to death. The men who will not co-operate with his neighbor in this fight is worse than a slave, he is both a fool and a slave; he is working his fool self to death for some sick rich folks in Massachusetts or thereabout, to sit up and smoke his cigars and drink fine whiskey on, instead of helping his next door neighbor who the Sea Island Cotton Spinners Trust at home, and be able to get an extra truck for Sallie and Betsy and the other gals. But he had rather crawl up to the mill owner and break the best movement in the interest of the farmer that has been put on in some time.

Fortunately, we believe, there are very few of this class in Bulloch; in fact it is a crying shame that there are any. Boys, stand firm now and the fight is whipped. Keep the Sea Island seed out of the land unless you want to put a hand full of them around a hill of corn that will raise a big fine etr and in turn fatten a fine pig this fall.

If you have got to plant cotton, plant short cotton; the acreage devoted to that in the Sea Island cotton belt is not a drop in the bucket. It want affect that market, but every acre planted in Sea Island cotton bears the Sea Island cotton market.

Boys, don't do it.

GROWERS ORGANIZE FOR BUSINESS.

At a meeting held in the Court House, this (Saturday) afternoon, the planters started the ball to rolling by appointing a committee to take up the work in the county and have a man visit every grower and get him to agree to cut the acreage.

The Farmers Union had held a meeting earlier in the day and ordered the Waycross meeting. The one this afternoon was presided over by Mr. W. F. Jones, Messrs. R. Simmons, A. M. Dool, S. L. Newell, N. A. Adams, R. Lee Moore, F. E. Field and others took part in the discussions. A resolution was adopted to raise five hundred dollars to pay the expenses of a house to house canvass of the Sea Island cotton growing sections of Bulloch county, and get signed signatures agreeing to reduce the acreage. The committee appointed to put this matter to a test and start the ball to rolling, and push it to a finish were: These gentlemen held a meeting and Dr. R. Oliff.

These gentlemen held a meeting this afternoon and agreed on plans to push the movement and have a thorough canvass of the county made next week. The meeting was an enthusiastic one and was well attended.

It looks like the farmers mean business for just one time in their lives.

Mr. E. A. Smith has bought the Green Lee Company's city retail business for the coming season. Mr. Smith will serve the homes and business houses from delivery wagons. We understand the prices of last season will prevail.

LIVELY STREET FIGHT.

The eastern section of the business district was enlivened this morning by a lively street fight, engaged in between Messrs. Leon Hall and Francis Hunter.

It seems that Hunter and Hall had been at logger heads over the settlement of an account, and on this morning, when the two met on East Main street, the trouble broke out.

Knives and sticks played a prominent part in the fracas, and for some time it looked as if there was going to be much blood shed. Fortunately the two were separated before any very serious wounds were inflicted.

Hall had some knife gashes in his coat and Hunter sustained a laceration over the head with a board. The fight was considered about a draw.

A large crowd collected around the scene of war before the trouble came to an end.

The parties to the fight were invited to a matinee presided over by his honor the mayor of the city this afternoon and arrangements were made for them to contribute ten dollars each to the benefit of the city treasury.

ATTENTION, FARMERS!

I am again representing the Southern Gypsum Company for the sale of their famous

Pierson Land Plaster.

This is the greatest producer known for Peanuts. You will absolutely have no pops when this is used. The peanut grovers of Virginia and North Carolina use it altogether for growing peanuts, and say they cannot make good, sound peanuts without it. It has been used by hundreds of the best farmers in Bulloch county the past two seasons, who can testify to the great benefits derived from its use. It is used as a top dressing, by sprinkling it on the vines after the peanuts begin to bear.

It is recommended to sow in the evening or early in the morning, or just after a shower, as it is found that much benefit results from its adhering well to the leaves. A gloomy, hazy day is also a good time for the job. Application about 200 lb. per acre. Try it and be convinced that this is the greatest thing you ever used for making peanuts.

I will have some one to represent me at all the principal shipping points in the county. I will make my order about the 1st of May, so get your orders in by that time. Circulars and testimonials sent free on application.

RUNAWAY HORSE KILLS MINISTER

Dr. Key Dies Instantly. Former Outburst College President's Wife Also Hurt.

Columbus, Ga., March 13.—Dr. Howard W. Key, formerly a prominent member of the Methodist ministry and well known throughout the state, was instantly killed this afternoon and his wife very seriously and probably fatally injured by being thrown from a buggy.

They were driving a pony out Tenth street, and the horse, being greatly frightened at a nearby train, swerved suddenly and began to run away, both Dr. and Mrs. Key being thrown out.

In falling Dr. Key's head struck a telegraph pole that had been saved off a foot or so above the ground and he was killed instantly. An ugly gash was cut behind his ear and his face was badly bruised.

Mrs. Key is in the hospital tonight with several ribs broken, and in a condition so serious that the physician cannot yet tell the outcome.

Dr. Key was formerly president of Andrew College at Outburst. He was a son of Bishop E. S. Key of the Methodist Church, South.

Dr. Key was 61 years old and has been one of the most prominent ministers in Methodist in this section of the state for many years. He has not had a regular charge for the last few years. He is survived by the widow and six children. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

JUSTICE IN MEXICO ALL THAT U.S. SEEKS

El Paso, Tex., March 15.—"All the United States demands of Mexico is order, justice and independence," declared Theodore Roosevelt, at a breakfast given in his honor by the Toltec club. The colonel's remarks were the only utterance he has made on the Mexican situation and came as a complete surprise to the members of his party.

Roosevelt led up to his observations on the Mexican trouble by saying that the prosperity of his neighbors was a condition of the prosperity of any man. He declared that honest dealing between man and man was the only certain foundation of prosperity. The same thing was true, he said, of the relations of communities to each other.

Pausing as though to select his words, he then stated that he thought he spoke for all Americans when he said that all the United States demanded of Mexico was order, justice and independence.

Continuing, he declared that this country wished to see all of its neighbors prosper; that his neighbors who knew from experience how the "turmoil" to the South had affected business. He said that this country only demanded of its neighbors that order shall reign in their borders and that order should be established upon justice.

Colonel Roosevelt arrived in El Paso at 7:30. He was greeted by a reception committee from the chamber of commerce and taken to the Toltec club for breakfast. A motor trip around the city followed, the colonel receiving many cheers as he passed along the streets. Then the party hastened to Cleveland square, where a big gathering heard him speak.

Colonel Roosevelt boarded a special car at 10 o'clock to continue his journey to Albuquerque, New Mexico. At that point Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel, and Miss Langdon, a friend of Miss Roosevelt, will join the party. The ladies have been staying at the home of Judge Cooley, of the supreme court of New Mexico, in Silver City.

A Cold, LaGrippe, then Pneumonia.

BIG MOVEMENT OF FERTILIZERS.

Southern Railway Shows 40 Per Cent Increase in Georgia.

(Atlanta Constitution.) That the farmers of Georgia are taking hold of the teachings of the scientists of the State Agricultural college, and are preparing for a season of great activity, is indicated by figures as to the fertilizer movement in the state, just compiled by the freight traffic department of the Southern Railway Company for the period extending from January 1 of this year in comparison with the same period in 1910.

Statistics from the fifteen principal points on the lines of the Southern in Georgia show that in the period named this year there have been shipped to Georgia points 35,712 tons of commercial fertilizers as against 25,697 tons for the same period of 1910, an increase of 10,105 tons, or practically 40 per cent.

By agricultural experts this is regarded as a most favorable indication. It is believed that this increase in the use of commercial fertilizers is due to the determination of the farmers of Georgia to secure a larger yield per acre more than to any general increase in the acreage under cultivation.

BRUNSWICK NEWS UNDER INDICTMENT.

Alleged That Paper Carried Advertisements of Lotteries.

Savannah, Ga., March 18.—The Daily News of Brunswick, Ga., has been indicted in the United States Court here for violation of the postal laws by publishing advertisements of an alleged lottery.

It is alleged that on May 8, 1909, and on different dates in August, 1910, and September 1 and 2, 1910, the News inserted advertisements and notices of lotteries, drawings and gift enterprises made by lot or chance. January 25 last the paper advertised a drawing for a lot at the Brunswick Grand Opera house and that issue was excluded from the mails. An editorial explanation which followed is also contended to have been a violation of the law.

As long ago as December, 1907, it is claimed, the News advertised a jewelry drawing for a Brunswick merchant with the list of winners and was warned at that time that the law had been violated.

I have just opened a first-class pressing club in the rear of my store on West Main street, where I am prepared to serve the wants of the people of the city and community in short order, and guarantee satisfaction in every case. DAVID H. MOFFAT CALLED BY DEATH.

New York, March 18.—David Moffat, of Denver, president of the Denver Northwestern and Pacific Railway and president of the First National bank, of Denver, died suddenly today in his apartments at the Hotel Belmont.

2,000,000 IRISH NOW IN AMERICA

Immigration From Ireland Uniformly Steady During the Last Decade.

Washington, March 17.—Two million in round numbers, is the approximate Irish-born population living in the United States. While these are not the official figures of the thirteenth census, it is a close estimate, based upon the 1900 census and the immigration and emigration of Irish-born immigrants during the ten years following.

Tabulation of the figures of the 1910 census had not progressed far enough to permit the director of the census to give today the number of Irish in the country and it may be three months before the statistics are ready.

There were exactly 1,619,449 Irishborn in the United States in 1900. They were located in every state of the union. New York had the most, there being 425,555 in the Empire State; Massachusetts came second with 249,918; Pennsylvania third with 205,905; Illinois fourth with 114,565, and New Jersey fifth with 94,844.

Immigration from Ireland for past ten years has been uniformly steady, averaging about 37,000 yearly. From June 30, 1889, to January of this year 427,741 Irish immigrants entered the United States. During that time there were many non-immigrant Irish-born entering and leaving the United States.

The population of Ireland, estimated for 1909, was 4,374,158. A census of Ireland will be taken April 1, of this year. On that date in 1901 the total population was 4,458,775, of whom 2,200,040 were males and 2,258,735 were females.

Ireland's population has steadily decreased for sixty years; 1861 it was 5,798,967, a decrease of 11.8 per cent from that of 1851; in 1891 it was 4,704,750, a decrease of 11.8 per cent from that of 1861; in 1891 it was 4,704,750, a decrease of 9.1 per cent from 1881; and the decrease from 1891 to 1901 was 5.2 per cent.

CONDITION UNCHANGED.

The condition of Dr. Holland remains unchanged as far as can be ascertained. The attending physicians state that it is impossible to prophesy just what the outcome of the case will be. They say it is possible that he may recover to the extent that he can go about again, but will never be a strong man, and it may be that he may linger in his present condition for months and months, and then again it may be that the end may come at any moment. The fact that he is able to take nourishment encourages the physicians to think that he will survive for some time at least, though they are slow to give out any news that carries with it a single ray of encouragement.

CARD OF THANKS.

The undersigned takes this method of extending his sincere thanks to the good people of the community for their many acts and expressions of sympathy during the illness and death of his wife. Their kindness will ever be remembered.

Respectfully,
J. S. McKell.

NEGRO GIVEN SOUND THRASHING

There was "something doing" around in the rear of Smith's stables this afternoon, when a sound thrashing with a buggy trace as a tracer was used to a successful finish on John Barnes, a negro well known about town.

It seems that John had used his credit at the store of Mr. E. C. Oliver to the point where it had become necessary for Mr. Oliver to call on him at his house on Hill street and request an order from him on the party Barnes was employed with. The negro at first agreed to sign the order, and went back into his house with the apparent intention of making ready to come up town, but remaining there for some time Mr. Oliver asked if he was ready to accompany him up town; a reply, accompanied by an oath that he wasn't going to do any such thing came in response. Mr. Oliver, resenting the insult the negro gave him, made a dive at him. He was met at the door by the negro, who was full of fight to the running over stage. Mr. Oliver succeeded in landing a few well directed blows on the negro, who got away to come back with an axe in his hand. Mr. Oliver was forced to retreat out of the yard, not being armed. Several attempts were made to induce the negro out and up town before they were successful. Finally Barnes decided to accompany Oliver up to the store, where the order was signed. When this was done, Mr. Oliver took him in the collar and invited him back to the rear of Smith's stables for a further discussion of the matter about the axe. He was taken back and when the oil of a buggy trace had been thoroughly rubbed against the rear end of his anatomy he promised to be a better nigger from this on. It is asserted by those who were present that if he is not a better nigger he will at least be a wiser one.

A CARD TO THE FARMERS
FROM MR. B. R. OLLIFF.

Register, Ga., March 20, 1911.

Did you ever come to realize that Bulloch county alone can to a great extent control the price of Sea Island cotton? Did you know the metropolitan—Bulloch county—produces about one-eighth of all the Sea Island cotton grown in the world? These are facts. Are you tired of producing a staple without profit to you, that takes you more than a year to prepare the soil and grow and house the crop? Well, if you are let's reason together a little about this matter. Will it not pay us more to plant less, and plant more corn, hay and peanuts and raise hogs. The average farmer has to work his children from late summer till mid-winter in order to house his crop of Sea Island. This deprives the children of days that ought to be spent in school, and if the farmers will plant—if we must plant cotton—what we do, let's plant in the short staple. We can gather it by the first of November and then let our children get two months schooling in the fall of the year. Then we can operate the public schools for seven months in each year.

Sure, we want to plant some Sea Island cotton. That is what I am driving at. Let us plant fewer acres and produce fewer bales, and we will get just as much money for a half crop as we will for a "bumper" crop. It is not better to produce five bales at 35c. per pound, than ten bales at 20c. per pound?

It ought to be an easy matter to all come together on this very important subject. Let every man who plants the Sea Island crop his crop in half for this year, 1911, and see if he does not realize just as much from his crop as we do on an average when we plant full crop. Try it and be convinced.

We have a ready market for anything else we can produce. We do not near supply the local markets with things we can profitably produce. Think for a moment how many bushels of Irish potatoes are shipped in to our country. How many tons of hay and how many bushels of corn. It amounts to the thousands and the money is gone from our country. The more money we have here in circulation the better for us and if we all will get to producing all we need for our home uses and less cotton, we will have more, and less worry. We can better control labor and will have less need for it. If you knew you could sell four bales of Sea Island cotton for six hundred dollars, would you insist on growing eight for the same sum? That is what we will have to do if we plant a full crop this season. No two ways about it.

When men volunteer to give their time and money to assist you, will you not yield to reasoning? We all know if it is good for one man to cut his crop, it is good for another. Don't you think that the men who are urging us to cut our crops are thoroughly convinced from experience that our only hope is to supply the demand, not "glut" the market? The spinner says he does not want our staple. We don't. Then why produce it? The spinner does want some and must have it, and if we will grow a little let us fix our price; not the spinner. The farmer has to hand his produce to the buyer and beg him to make him a price. Doesn't this beat the band? Others grow rich off of our produce, and we hand it to them. They allow us just enough to keep living and producing. This is true, fellow citizens, and will continue to be true until we fix a price, and a limit on production. If the world needs a hundred thousand bales of Sea Island, let it inform us of its needs and then let us grow it and

FARE REFUNDED ONE WAY ON PURCHASES OF $24. EACH DEPARTMENT HAS SPECIAL BARGAINS FOR OPENING DAY.

J. B. WHITE & CO., Augusta, Ga.
Opposite Monument Broad Street.

Let us get living prices.

Farm life is mighty fine, but farming at a loss or without profit should cease. It is time and late time for the farmer to begin to get pay for what he produces.

Nothing looks better than a prosperous looking and well-improved farm home situated in front of several well cultivated acres of Bulloch's fine lands. There are many such homes here now, but even they can be improved and others be made like them. It all depends on our uniting into a common brotherhood for each other's protection and thereby protect ourselves. Let us do it this year. Let us do it now.

There will be something doing in Statesboro next Saturday, the 25th, at 10 o'clock a. m. You will be proud you went if you attend. If you plant Sea Island be there.

Very truly,
B. R. OLLIFF.

SHOT BY NEGRO.

On Sunday morning, about two o'clock, at a negro frolic just over the line in Jenkins county, Lewis Jackson, well known in Bulloch county, was shot to death by a negro. Jackson had attended the frolic given by the negroes and is said to have been the only white man present at the time of the shooting. Jackson served a term on the Bulloch county chain gang several years ago.

There was a report in circulation here this afternoon to the effect that a mob had lynched twenty-five negroes at or near Seaboard, near the scene of the above tragedy on last night. One report stated that only one negro had been killed for the murder of Jackson, and other reports gave various other numbers of the killed, but as far as could be learned there was no foundation for the report.

LEWIS JACKSON

He is Confident of Success and Says He is Getting New Assurance Daily of Support. Warns Friends Not to Believe Any Rumors They Hear About His Retiring From the Race. Is in to the Last.

Atlanta, Ga., March 18.—"You may say for me with all the emphasis you can place on the statement that I am still in the race for the United States Senate, expect to continue in it until the legislature settles the question, and furthermore, that I am more confident today than ever before of winning."

This emphatic and unequivocal statement was given your correspondent by Senator Joseph M. Terrell at his home, 121 Juniper street.

Since Senator Terrell was seized with the attack in Washington several weeks ago, there have been persistent rumors afloat over the state that he would retire from the race on account of his condition and through the urgent wishes of his family and physicians. Recently these rumors have gained fresh impetus from various publications and from the whisperings of persons perhaps keenly interested in Senator Terrell's retirement.

Within the past week the Rome

TERRELL OUT FOR U. S. SENATOR

Word Comes Direct From the Senator to the Telegraph That His Health Is Rapidly Being Restored and He Will Fight It Out.

Tribune Herald, with some degree of assurance, stated that an announcement would shortly be forthcoming taking Senator Terrell from the race. As the senator has a brother connected with a Rome Insurance Company, the statement was hedged about with the possibility of basis in some superior information to the editors of that paper.

In order to clear the atmosphere and get down to facts, your correspondent had an interview with Senator Terrell. He was told of these rumors, and how the growing impression of his possible withdrawal from the race might be injuring his chances. He was told that a clean-cut statement from him would remove the doubts and uncertainties, and serve to hold his strength in line.

Senator Terrell said he would be very glad to make such a statement in order to clear away doubts as to his physical condition, and to place his friends on notice all over the state that any rumor, report, statement or hint that he was out of the race for the senatorship was entirely unauthorized by him and was, furthermore, absolutely untrue.

"I am getting well fast now," he said, "and the only trace of my attack is in my leg. This numbness is rapidly disappearing, and I expect to be out without the use of crutches in a week or ten days. I could probably get around now, but prefer to take no unnecessary chances whatever, as there is no need of my doing so, the use of arm and hand has returned, and my general health is better than it has been in years, because I have rested and been on strict diet."

"My attack was as a bolt from the blue sky, because I had no thought or feeling that any such thing was coming on. I know now that it resulted from overwork, and the lack of any outdoor recreations of any kind. I did not even attend any social functions whatever in Washington, and had just been grinding away trying to fit myself for the high duties of my office. So, I suppose, I overtaxed even my great strength, and the collapse followed.

"I am receiving constantly now fresh assurances of hearty support in the legislature, and I am going to win this fight. I believe there is no doubt of that now, and I just want my friends throughout Georgia to know that I am going to be as sound and well as ever soon, and able to care for their interests and the interests of our great state at the national capital.

"It is not my intention to return to Washington at the opening of Congress on April 4th, but I will go up the latter part of April, fit as a fiddle for the work. As this is a new congress it will take two or three weeks to thoroughly organize and settle down to business. I can do no particular good in Washington during this formative period, and the rest here at home will only serve to put me in better condition for the long task ahead.

"I want to repeat with all possible emphasis that I am not down and out, that I am getting well and strong again, and that I am in this senatorial race until the finish. And no rumor to the contrary may be given the slightest credence, unless a statement comes direct from me."

There is no doubt that Senator Terrell is getting well. He looks as clear-eyed, round-faced, and healthy-skinned as in his palmist days, with the exception of a natural bleach from long remaining indoors. He talks clearly and easily, and he seems many of his friends every day without fatigue. His nurses have been dismissed, and the physician is calling only to see that he continues to improve without any setback.

Senator Terrell's statement will clear the atmosphere very much. He removes all doubt as to his intentions in making the race, and so far as appearances and general knowledge go, he is getting sound and well once more.

This announcement probably means in the long run, the elimination of all but two men in the senatorial contest—Senator Joseph M. Terrell and Governor-elect Hoke Smith, and the forces with and back of the governor-elect see this pretty clearly.

Smith may never formally announce, but the impression is general that his forces are being quietly marshaled for the coming fight. And it is going to be some neat scrap, at that.

FAVORITISM BY EXPRESS COMPANIES.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

The well-established fact that strong, systematic opposition to the parcels post system had been engineered by the powerful express companies of the country, working through the country merchants, has long been a matter of common knowledge.

The successful argument used with rural merchants was that if Uncle Sam should begin carrying small parcels at cheaper rates it would benefit the big mail order houses in New York and Chicago.

There was a certain merchant in Moultrie, Ga., who subscribed to this doctrine. He was convinced that a general parcels post would benefit the big city merchant and hurt him. Therefore he opposed it.

But recently he had an awakening. He found that the big merchants were already the favorites of the express companies and were enjoying preferential rates. For instance, a box of collars sent him "collected" cost 35 cents, while the same collars sent "prepaid" cost the manufacturer only 14 cents.

The Moultrie Observer comments as follows upon this incident: "The merchant was curious to know why the discrepancy occurred and made inquiry of the express officials. He was told that the big shippers in the cities had special rates. Of course, if the wholesale house in Baltimore has special rates the big mail order houses of Chicago and elsewhere have still lower rates, for they send one thousand packages where the wholesale house sends one by express. From 35 cents to 14 cents is a pretty sharp discount to give the big merchant

Heretofore it has not been possible to secure a general rate sheet of the express companies. When a man wanted to know a particular rate he asked for it, but the public has been kept in the dark as to the standard rates.

Whereas railroads were required to post up their depots, or to furnish upon application, a full set of their freight tariff sheets, express companies furnished none.

But the latter have recently been placed under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and a searching investigation into rates and methods of doing business is under way.

A general reduction in express charges, now held to be unreasonable, is predicted.

But it strikes the Moultrie Observer with unpleasant surprise that this has been going on, according to information furnished by a home merchant, while such a howl has been raised against preferential treatment and rebates by the railroads.

UNHEARD-OF PRICE FOR TURPENTINE

Spirits Quoted in Savannah at $1 and $1.01 Per Gallon.

Savannah, Ga., March 18.—At the 12 o'clock call at the Savannah Board of Trade today spirits of turpentine were quoted firm, $1.00 to $1.01 a gallon.

This is a hitherto unheard of price and there is no telling now how high it will go before the new crop begins to arrive next month.

The price of rosin is also the highest ever known.

Naval Stores Operators Elated.

Pensacola, Fla., March 18.—Spirits of turpentine leaped to $1 per gallon in today's market. Wholesale operators and factors elated as this increase in price was predicted early this week.

Scarcity of the product is given as the cause and producers are expected to clean out their stocks at the present prices.

Turpentine operators in western Florida are boxing trees and when they begin shipping the price is expected to drop. The production in this section of the state has been exceptionally good.

THE INVASION OF MEXICO? (Atlanta Constitution.) The lack of any authoritative information from the white house or the war department as to the purpose of this government in mobilizing 20,000 American troops on the Mexican frontier was sure to inspire the maker of pipe dreams and the critics of American.

Dispatches from Berlin tell of the publication in practically every paper in that country of sneering comments on the alleged duplicity of America's action, and demands for some unequivocal statement from an official source.

Another publication is to the effect that Major General Leonard Wood, "ambitious to disport himself as a field marshal, and fearing he would never have another chance," induced President Taft to make this demonstration.

A more absurd report could hardly be imagined. The recent expressed in Germany is further confirmation of the most reasonable explanation of the whole movement.

President Diaz of Mexico is an old man. He may die or decide to abdicate at any moment. In that event, the long-sought opportunity of the insurance industry would come.

The present state of unrest and possibility that at any time the Mexican government might cause its inability to protect foreign citizens or property, would bring about a condition where prompt action was necessary.

In such case the United States is the one to undertake intervention to protect the lives and property of its own citizens and those of foreign countries.

The extensive preparations that have been made are sufficient notice to the world that Uncle Sam is on the job and Monroe doctrine is still vibrant with life.

There will be no invasion of Mexico unless it is authorized by congress, or such a condition is brought about as to make immediate action necessary. Then the commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, William Howard Taft, act, and act promptly.

The talk by certain alarmists of an invasion by our army to suppress a revolution against a despotic government is premature and unreasonable. It belongs to the silly season. Should this impression get abroad in Mexico, it will have the effect of preventing the very thing these alarmists seek to bring about. There will be no invasion of Mexico from the hills of Sonora.

The presence of our troops along the Mexican border will do more than anything else to prevent the action that the critics of President Taft's predict.

A Fierce Night Alarm

is the house, suddenly, of a child, suddenly attacked by a croup. Often it averted Lewis Chamblin of Manchester, O., (R. No. 2) for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. NEVADA THROWS DOWN IN GRANTING DIVORCES.

Reno, Nev., March 17.—The popularity of the state of Nevada as a place to secure quick action in divorce cases was increased last night.

The legislature let the bars down further than they have been when both houses passed a bill making a residence of six months the only requirement in divorce actions.

The privilege of leaving the state "when necessary" is to be accorded to all who are establishing a residence.

The bill now goes to the governor.

TYBEE ISLAND IS A GOOD ASSET

(By Harry Stillwell Edwards.)

Just your eye over a map of the Georgia coast, fellow Georgians, and read the names of the islands that shut away the surf from the mainland. There are Tybee, Warsaw, Ossabaw, St. Catharine, Sapelo, St. Simons, Jekyll and Cumberland. Now reflect—there is only one of them reached by railway and only one reasonably certain to remain open to you.

The others are private property and will eventually, in all probability, pass into the hands of the leisure class. Some of them have already, and trespass signs are as thick as hogs in a shallow bay.

The time may come when the Georgian who wants to bathe in the sea, as all good Georgians do annually, and fish, will have to hunt other coasts. Tybee is at present the only hope.

In the modern movement for conservation of nature's gifts that seem to associate themselves with the life of the people, as a whole, the birds, forests, streams and mineral deposits, our coasts have been overlooked and are confronted with a future wherein perhaps 50,000,000 of people will be shut away from nature's greatest and most inspiring work by the private lawn and flower garden.

The same policy that many years ago wisely set aside Indian and other springs in this state for public use should have made the best islands of our coast public property, but did not, and it now rests with the people to do the best thing that remains possible, and do it quickly.

A Glance Southward.

While we have been raising cotton and corn and building skyscrapers on our southern neighbor, Florida, has been laying foundations for a prosperity that cannot be estimated. And she has drawn many thousands of money spenders, home builders and creators of value right through the heart of Georgia, where the climate is better, the soil more diversified and productive and the scenery infinitely more beautiful. Why? And how? By genius, leadership and enterprise.

Look at the Florida coast from Fernandina to Key West and at Georgia's from Savannah to Fernandina! They do not seem to belong to the same age.

If Flagler had had the Georgia islands on the Florida coast he would have tied them together with steel rails and have made them the playground for the whole of the United States and Canada! Flagler followed the modern idea of advertising—read a breakfast food ad and you will understand—he appealed to the senses, knowing that business, good business, would follow!

Georgia's Opportunity.

Georgia must appeal to the senses first and to the business instinct later.

It is up to us to make a showing of something more than building sites, mountain scenery, skyscrapers, farm lands and bumper crops. Get the rich man first. Then show him!

To compete with Florida we have got to give tropical forms, the line of flowers and the ocean surf curling on silver sands under blue skies—and comfort.

These are the things that appeal to the rich, the overworked, the chilled and the weary.

We have been too long offering as inducements the things that people are fleeing from. The lesson taught by Florida and Los Angeles is to restore man to the normal and talk business when he is well or rested. His money works while he rests, and his money and influence will work for the land that brings him life.

Plan for the rich; the others will follow.

A Summer and Winter Resort.

Georgia has some notable resorts but not one that combines the Florida idea. Tybee Island, beyond Savannah, famous already for its splendid surf and health-giving breezes, presents the best starting point for a new movement in Georgia to compete with her southern sister and preserve some of nature's best gifts for her own people.

It is today within a night's ride of 8,000,000 people, and only needs improved approaches and accommodations to become the greatest resort on the Atlantic coast of Atlantic City.

And to begin this movement all communities must lay aside rivalry and back the forces which in Savannah have become operative.

What Savannah Is Doing.

It sometimes happens that men live too near to opportunities to fully appreciate their value, and Savannah has illustrated this truth in its attitude toward Tybee. This great city, the greatest of the South Atlantic coast, and in some respects unapproachable is justly proud of its shaded streets, parks, public roads, buildings, climate and its situation and importance as a port of entry. It has never made a claim that the facts failed to justify; but it failed for generations to realize that Tybee was and is its best asset.

That is, the community failed, some men there were who saw deeper into the future, and some of those built the 18 miles of railway and found the only spot where a locomotive headlight, shines on the ocean wave from Georgia's coast. Others there were who procured the building of Fort Screven, with its modern equipment and object lessons in landscape gardening. And others still who sought to provide places of amusement.

These were desultory efforts and devoid of system. They were not and are not parts of any plan.

But there has been an awakening at last, and Savannah has made spades trumps. Savannah, has caught the Flagler idea, and the new spirit is making itself felt. She has set a pace in public improvements that is absolutely new in the south. Florida excepted. The tourist is obliged to take off his hat to the people who induced the city to sewer, pave and beautify the great extension near the automobile grandstand covering, apparently several hundred acres. For this work stands a striking example of taste and modern progress.

It has been stated that Tybee is Savannah's best asset in the coming fight for tourist business. It is more. Just now it is Georgia's best asset. Tybee's need and the great preliminary is a broad roadway out of Savannah to its surf; not a bicycle path, a tramway, a country road, but a wide boulevard, raised above the possibilities of flood, divided into sections for motor cars, pedestrians and carriages, paved and palmetto-lined; a piece of road building in which the best that is in engineering, science and horticultural art may be combined.

Savannah needs an 18-mile park extension to the surf.

Such an approach to the Tybees would bring to it daily, both winter and summer, the best of Savannah of Georgia, and the tourist class, complete the general plans for motor highways to which all sections are now building and place both mountain and surf in easy reach of the family.

This is an enterprise to which Savannah may profitably devote herself at any cost, but it is not a task for Savannah alone. It is an enterprise that for mixed reasons belongs to the state and the general country.

Savannah to the Surf.

The general government has built and maintains in Fort Screven one of the most important military stations on the Atlantic coast, a station absolutely necessary to the south's greatest Atlantic port and the Georgia interests focusing there.

It is at present an isolated station, approachable only by a single line of railway that a single stray shell in time of war could put out of commission.

The full plan of this great fort with its garrison of four hundred and the modern and expensive equipment demands a military road out of Savannah over fifteen miles of lowland and tidal marsh. Three miles' extension over dry land reaches the Tybee beach. Governmental and local interests combine. Here then is work for the Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Carolina delegations in congress, and work for the people whose representatives they are.

But in the plans for an automobile highway leading out of Boston southward, Savannah is the natural terminus.

It is so with the system of roads developed through the enterprise of the Constitution and other Georgia papers.

Savannah has made it so, through her enterprise in providing a 40-mile race course that has no equal on the continent, and pulling off twice the great annual motor car contest.

To every car owner, present and prospective, the road to the surf appeals like the echo of a dinner horn over a Georgia farm.

To the friends of good roads and modern highways it appeals. To those enterprising newspapermen and clubmen who have sought road development by the around-the-state tours, it appeals. And it appeals not only to the universal sense of proportion and beauty, but to common sense.

For roads that do not lead somewhere that people want to go and go often cannot be maintained.

In the case of Tybee there will be an all the year around demand for the Tybee boulevards; a demand from every Georgian who can afford to travel and from the great stream of winter travelers who, as a rule, have hitherto used only railways in Georgia, and used them to get through.

Here is an enterprise in which all the cities and towns of our section may unite and the entire press engage with friendly rivalry. You may make of the way to Tybee a second Alexandrian avenue of palms, a Champs Elysees, a miniature Riviera, a Persian garden. You cannot afford to make a mistake—the mistake called neglect.

There was a continual pain across my back and hips and in my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. THE INVASION OF MEXICO?

(Atlanta Constitution.) The lack of any authoritative information from the white house or the war department as to the purpose of this government in mobilizing 20,000 American troops on the Mexican frontier was sure to inspire the maker of pipe dreams and the critics of American.

Dispatches from Berlin tell of the publication in practically every paper in that country of sneering comments on the alleged duplicity of America's action, and demands for some unequivocal statement from an official source.

Another publication is to the effect that Major General Leonard Wood, "ambitious to disport himself as a field marshal, and fearing he would never have another chance," induced President Taft to make this demonstration more absurd report could hardly be imagined. The recentment expressed in Germany is further confirmation of the most reasonable explanation of the whole movement.

President Diaz of Mexico is an old man. He may die or decide to abdicate at any moment. In that event, the long-sought opportunity of the insurrectionist would come.

The present state of unrest and possibility that at any time the Mexican government might come to a condition where prompt action was necessary.

In such case the United States is the one to undertake intervention to protect the lives and property of its own citizens and those of foreign countries.

The extensive preparations that have been made are sufficient notice to the world that Uncle Sam is on the job and Monroe doctrine is still vibrant with life.

There will be no invasion of Mexico unless it is authorized by congress, or such a condition is brought about as to make immediate action necessary. Then the commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, William Howard Taft, act, and act promptly.

The talk by certain alarmists of an invasion by our army to suppress a revolution against a despotic government is premature and unreasonable. It belongs to the silly season. Should this impression get abroad in Mexico, it will have the effect of preventing the very thing these alarmists seek to bring about. There will be peace from Campeche to the hills of Sonora. The presence of our troops along the Mexican border will do more than anything else to prevent the action that the critics of President Taft's predict.

is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin of Manchester, O. (R. R. No. 2) for their four children were greatly subject to croup.

"Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. NEVADA THROWS DOWN IN GRANTING DIVORCES

Reno, Nev., March 17.—The popularity of the state of Nevada as a place to secure quick action in divorce cases was increased last night.

The legislature let the bars down further than they have been when both houses passed a bill making a residence of six months the only requirement in divorce actions.

The privilege of leaving the state "when necessary" is to be accorded to all who are establishing a residence.

The bill now goes to the governor.

Cast your eye over a map of the Georgia coast, fellow Georgians, and read the names of the islands that shut away the surf from the mainland. There are Tybee, Warsaw, Osibaw, St. Catherine, Sapelo, St. Simons, Jekyll and Cumberland. Now reflect—there is only one of them reached by railway and only one reasonably certain to remain open to you.

The others are private property and will eventually, in all probability, pass into the hands of the leisure class. Some of them have already, and trespass signs are as thick as buoys in a shallow bay.

The time may come when the Georgian who wants to bathe in the sea, as all good Georgians do annually, and fish, will have to hunt other coasts. Tybee is at present their only hope.

In the modern movement for conservation of nature's gifts that seem to associate themselves with the life of the people, as a whole, the birds, forests, streams and mineral deposits, our coasts have been overlooked and we are confronted with a future wherein perhaps 50,000,000 of people will be shut away from nature's greatest and most inspiring work by the private lawn and flower garden.

The same policy that many years ago wisely set aside Indian and other springs in this state for public use should have made the best islands of our coast public property, but did not, and it now rests with the people to do the best thing that remains possible, and do it quickly.

A Glance Southward.

While we have been raising cotton and corn and building skyscrapers our southern neighbor, Florida, has been laying foundations for a prosperity that cannot be estimated. And she has drawn many thousands of money spenders, home builders and creators of value right through the heart of Georgia, where the climate is better, the soil more diversified and productive and the scenery infinitely more beautiful. Why? And how? By genius, leadership and enterprise.

Look at the Florida coast from Fernandina to Key West and at Georgia's from Savannah to Fernandina! They do not seem to belong to the same age.

If Flagler had had the Georgia islands on the Florida coast he would have tied them together with steel rails and have made them the playground for the whole of the United States and Canada! Flagler followed this modern idea of advertising—read a breakfast food ad and you will understand—he appealed to the senses, knowing that business, good business, would follow!

The policy contained a double indemnity clause for certain cases, one of them being loss of life in an automobile accident. Mr. Jones was killed near the "Isle of Hope" on LaRoche avenue on Sunday, Sept. 4, last year. Proof of death and claim for the $10,000 was filed promptly by the administrators of the estate. But, according to the representations made in the petition the Casualty company denied liability on several grounds. One of the grounds assigned was the fact that the automobile was being operated in a manner that was a violation of the state auto law.

The petitioners examined into the circumstances and came to the conclusion that there were grave doubts whether the terms of the policy had been violated, doubt whether the double liability could be established, and recommended that the claim be settled for $5,000. The company was willing to settle for this amount, and the court approved the action. Hitch & Denmark appeared as counsel for the Jones estate.

Georgia must appeal to the senses first and to the business instinct later. It is up to us to make a showing of something more than building sites, mountain scenery, skyscrapers, farm lands and bumper crops. Get the rich man first. Then show him!

To compete with Florida we have got to give tropical forms, the hue of flowers and the ocean surf curling on silver sands under blue skies—and comfort.

These are the things that appeal to the rich, the overworked, the chilled and the weary.

We have been too long offering as inducements the things that people are fleeing from. The lesson taught by Florida and Los Angeles is to restore man to the normal and talk business when he is well or rested. His money works while he rests, and his money and influence will work for the land that brings him life.

Plan for the rich; the others will follow.

A Summer and Winter Resort.

Georgia has some notable resorts but not one that combines the Florida idea. Tybee Island, beyond Savannah, famous already for its splendid surf and health-giving breezes, presents the best starting point for a new movement in Georgia to compete with her southern sister and preserve some of nature's best gifts for her own people.

It is today within a night's ride of 8,000,000 people, and only needs improved approaches and accommodations to become the greatest resort on the Atlantic south of Atlantic City.

And to begin this movement all communities must lay aside rivalry and back the forces which in Savannah have become operative.

What Savannah Is Doing.

It sometimes happens that men live too near to opportunities to fully appreciate their value, and Savannah has illustrated this truth in its attitude toward Tybee. This great city, the greatest of the South Atlantic coast, and in some respects unapproachable is justly proud of its shaded streets, parks, public roads, buildings, climate and its situation and importance as a port of entry. It has never made a claim that the facts failed to justify; but it failed for generations to realize that Tybee was and is its best asset. That is, the community failed, some men there were who saw deeper into the future, and some of those built the 18 miles of railway and found the only spot where a locomotive headlight shines on the ocean wave from Georgia's coast. Others there were who procured the building of Fort Screven, with its modern equipment and object lessons in landscape gardening. And others still who sought to provide places of amusements.

These were desultory efforts and devoid of system. They were not and are not parts of any plan. But there has been an awakening at last, and Savannah has made spades trumps. Savannah has caught the Flagler idea, and the new spirit is making itself felt. She has set a pace in public improvements that is absolutely new in the south, Florida excepted. The tourist is obliged to take off his hat to the people who induced the city to sewer, pave and beautify the great extension near the automobile grandstand covering, apparently several hundred acres. For this work stands a striking example of taste and modern progress.

It has been stated that Tybee is Savannah's best asset in the coming fight for tourist business. It is more. Just now it is Georgia's best asset. Tybee's need and the great preliminary is a broad roadway out of Savannah to its surf; not a bicycle path, a tramway, a country road, but a wide boulevard, raised above the possibilities of flood, divided into sections for motor cars, pedestrians and carriages, paved and palmetto-lined; a piece of road building in which the best that is in engineering, science and horticultural art may be combined. Savannah needs an 18-mile park extension to the surf.

Such an approach to the Tybee surf would bring to it daily, both winter and summer, the best of Savannah, of Georgia, and the tourist class, complete the general plans for motor highways to which all sections are now building and place both mountain and surf in easy reach of the family.

This is an enterprise to which Savannah may profitably devote herself at any cost, but it is not a task for Savannah alone. It is an enterprise that for mixed reasons belongs to the state and the general country.

Savannah to the Surf.

The general government has built and maintains in Fort Screven one of the most important military stations on the Atlantic coast, a station absolutely necessary to the south's greatest Atlantic port and the Georgia interests focusing there.

It is at present an isolated station, approachable only by a single line of railway that a single stray shell in time of war could put out of commission.

The full plan of this great fort with its garrison of four hundred and the modern and expensive equipment demands a military road out of Savannah over fifteen miles of lowland and tidal marsh. Three miles' extension over dry land reaches the Tybee beach. Governmental and local interests combine. Here then is work for the Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Carolina delegations in congress, and work for the people whose representatives they are.

But in the plans for an automobile highway leading out of Boston southward, Savannah is the natural terminus.

It is so with the system of roads devoted through the enterprise of the Constitution and other Georgia papers.

Savannah has made it so, through her enterprise in providing a 40-mile race course that has no equal on the continent, and pulling off twice the great annual motor car contest.

To every car owner, present and prospective, the road to the surf appeals like the echo of a dinner horn over a Georgia farm. To the friends of good roads and modern highways it appeals.

To those enterprising newspaper men and clubmen who have sought road development by the around-the-state tours, it appeals.

And it appeals not only to the universal sense of proportion and beauty, but to common sense.

For roads that do not lead somewhere that people want to go and go often cannot be maintained.

In the case of Tybee there will be an all the year around demand for the Tybee boulevards; a demand from every Georgian who can afford to travel and from the great stream of winter travelers who, as a rule, have hitherto used only railways in Georgia, and used them to get through.

Here is an enterprise in which all the cities and towns of our section may unite and the entire press engage with friendly rivalry. You may make of the way to Tybee a second Alexandrian avenue of palms, a Champs Elysees, a miniature Riviera, a Persian garden. You cannot afford to make a mistake—the mistake called neglect.

Warning to Railroad Men.

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroad work. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroad work left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and in my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." W. H. Ellis Co.

MUCH INTEREST AT RAILROAD MEETING.

The meeting held at the home of Mr. Morgan Nesmith, near Enal, this morning, was well attended. There was a fairly good sized crowd out, including a delegation from the farmers in the Sink Hole district, as forecasted in Tuesday's issue of this paper. Three farmers present offered to take a thousand dollars worth of stock each and another would take a thousand dollars worth of stock if it went through the Sink Hole district. Mr. R. Simmons was present and is reported to have offered one thousand dollars and fifty acres of fine land at Enal to induce the railroad to come by his property at Enal, which would be on the line running from Brooklet to Claxton. Other offers were made and stock subscribed on the Pembroke end of the proposition. The meeting is said to have been a very satisfactory one.

HAD HIS OWN SON ARRESTED.

On Wednesday Oscar Williams of Portals, was arrested and lodged in jail under a charge of gambling. It is understood that the main witness against young Williams is his father, Dr. W. J. Williams. The young man was finally bailed out by his father and taken home. He is said to have been gambling with some negroes.

FIRE AT BROOKLET.

Today at 11 o'clock the residence of Mr. J. B. Lanier, one mile from Brooklet, was destroyed by fire. The fire originated in the ceiling. It is supposed to have been caused from the stove flue. Only a part of the furniture and personal effects of the family were saved. Twenty-five bales of Sea Island cotton lying a short distance from the burning building was saved from the flames by hard work. Mr. Lanier had a good home, well furnished, and the loss will fall pretty heavy. It was partially insured in the Bulloch County Insurance Co.

YOUNG FEDERAL PRISONER BEGINS 2-YEAR SENTENCE.

(Atlanta Journal.)
With a fortitude remarkable for one of his years, Earl Sumrall stepped from the bright sunlight of Monday afternoon through the portals of the federal prison of Atlanta, where for the next two years he will remain a prisoner, unless the president grants executive clemency.

The prisoner is nothing more than a boy. Small in stature, undeveloped in frame, with a crown of light golden hair and bright blue eyes, and a face that still shows indecisive lines of youth. To those who watched the boy step into the grim entry of the prison it seemed as though a tragedy was being enacted. Their minds fled from the prison to the boyish games they were enjoying, at the same age, and sentiments of pity were heard on every side. Only one distinction from the hundreds of other prisoners garbed in the stripes of felons will be enjoyed by young Sumrall, he is the youngest prisoner who ever began a sentence in the Atlanta prison.

Sumrall arrived in Atlanta Monday afternoon from Shreveport, La., where a few days ago he was declared guilty by a jury of robbing a postoffice at Rose Pine, La., 100 miles from Shreveport, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. He was accompanied by Deputy Marshalls Yansy Collins and H. Kendall.

During the long trip from Shreveport which consumed almost twenty-four hours, the marshalls were quite lenient with the boy, though they did not relax their vigilance, and hardly another passenger on the train knew that the rather somber-faced, neatly dressed youth who sat so quietly in his seat, was en route to a penitentiary to begin a sentence.

When the Southern train rolled into the Terminal station Young Sumrall stepped down with a firm tread and lead the way to the steps leading up to the depot proper. He held his head upright and gave no outward signs of the storm that was undoubtedly within his bosom.

When questioned by a reporter for The Journal Young Sumrall said he had nothing to say. "I am simply a victim of circumstance," he declared. "Understand, I am not guilty of this thing. I cannot see how they convicted me, but I guess I must suffer for the wrongs of others." The trip to the prison did not daunt the young prisoner, and he walked with elastic step, smoking a cigarette, and blowing clouds of smoke, as though he was the most unconcerned person in the world, but beneath it all there was a twitching around the lips that showed the boyish heart was aching, and that it was only by the concentration of his strongest will power that the tear vents were kept closed.

When the walls of the prison loomed before them he studied them carefully for a moment and in that moment and in that moment there was just a suspicion of moisture in the eyes. A brush of the hand swept them in to oblivion, though, and the boy stepped into the prison gates without so much as blinking an eyelid.

The charge upon which young Sumrall was convicted was the robbery of the postoffice at Rose Pine, at which his father is postmaster. The robbery occurred one night about three months ago when entrance was forced to the general store which also serves as the postoffice, and some one, after breaking open the safe, stole several hundred dollars in stamps and currency. After a short investigation, postoffice inspectors arrested Sumrall.

All along he has contended that he was innocent, but the evidence was against him and he was convicted.

DENIES STORY OF UNCLEANLINESS

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 22.—With members of the Coca Cola Company on the stand, the defense in the case of the United States against several barrels and kegs of coca cola began taking the evidence in the Federal court here today.

Judge John F. Candler, of Atlanta, was the first witness. He said he was not familiar with the manufacture of the syrup, but told where the principal ingredients were manufactured. "Merchandise No. 5," the secret formula, he said, was made by the Shafter Alkoid Works of Maywood, N. J.

Judge Candler and the other witnesses declined to state what constituted this "Merchandise No. 5," saying that it was a "trade secret." He stated that he is the second largest stockholder of the Coca Cola Company, his brother, Asa G. Candler, being the largest. He said he had been drinking coca cola for the last twenty years and that his health was good. He admitted that caffeine was used in the manufacture of coca cola, and told where it was purchased. He said that, so far as he was individually concerned, he knew that caffeine as used in coca cola was not injurious to health.

after the melting of the sugar caffeine was added. The product was then piped to the main kettle, where the other ingredients were added. He denied that his negro cook was uncleanly, or that he chewed tobacco while at work.

He said that bottling works people throughout the United States were instructed to strain the syrup before bottling. He was asked by the government attorney why this instruction was necessary if the product was perfectly clean when it left the factory. He did not make it plain why the instruction was a necessity, except as a precaution.

G. L. Mitchell, manager of the manufacturing department of the coca cola plant in Atlanta, testified that he kept the plant in a healthful and sanitary condition. Pressed for a specific statement, he declared that he had the floors cleaned two or three times a week.

The deposition of Dr. L. Shriver, of Maywood, N. J., was read by lawyers for the defense. Dr. Shafter stated that he manufactured the principal product of coca cola, known as "Merchandise No. 5," but refused to state what it contained. He stated that he made caffeine from tea dust or particles of tea leaves, which he sells to the coca cola agents through his selling agency. He stated that he shipped 41,695 gallons of "Merchandise No. 5" to the coca cola people in 1939.

James Gaston, the negro cook for the coca cola people, testified that he did not wear shoes through which his bare feet protruded, as testified by Inspector Lynch, and that he did not chew tobacco. He said he smoked once in a while, but never while "on the job."

The public is taking deep interest in the hearing of the noted case, and at each sitting the Federal court room is filled to its capacity.

COTTON CLAIMS IN THE SOUTH

Atlanta, Ga., March 21.—Benjamin Micoeu, of Washington, D. C., has been in Atlanta in conference with Governor Elect Hoke Smith and Marion Smith, preparing the cases for the cotton claims where the government took the cotton subsequent to June 1st, 1865.

The senior partner of the law firm of which Mr. Micoeu is a member is Secretary Herbert, who was in the cabinet of President Cleveland with Hoke Smith.

Speaking of the recent act, Mr. Micoeu said: "Congressman Bartlett, of Georgia, is given credit for the passage of this act, which removes the statute of limitations on cotton claims where the government took the cotton subsequent to June, 1865. The trouble with these claims grew out of the fact that few holding them could meet the requirements of the first act, which was that they should show loyalty to the Federal government. The Supreme Court of the United States held later on, however, that the general amnesty proclamation of President Johnson restored the rights of citizens and relieved them from the question of loyalty. The difficulty, however, was that before this decision was rendered the statute of limitations had barred these claims. Now the act of Congress just passed relieves them from the statute of limitations. It was adopted in a conference committee at the instance, it is understood, of Congressman Bartlett."

TO INSURE "RICHEST BOY" AGAINST KIDNAPING

Newport, R. I., March 22.—A dispatch from London, stating that Lloyds had been asked to insure a wealthy American child against kidnaping, led to a report here today that the youngster was John Nichols Brown known as "the richest boy in the world." Young Brown, now nine years old, is here under the care of his mother.

According to the London reports, Lloyds was asked to insure the child at a premium of twenty shillings per cent. It was suggested to Lloyds that half of the premium, or ten shillings per cent, should cover any ransom in case of kidnaping up to $10,000. In the proposition it is set forth that the child be always guarded by three men when he went out for exercise. In 1907 John Nichols Brown was hurriedly taken to Europe after word had been received that he might be kidnaped. When the boy attains his majority he will inherit $10,000,000.

The custom of giving an engagement ring at betrothal time come down to us from traditional times, and has endured because of its pretty and symbolic meaning. It still has a beautiful significance, and whether you wish a Diamond or some less costly gem, you will find our store the proper place to make your selection.

This is the one time of all that you must be sure you are getting something reliable, and when it comes from us you can rest assured it is good. Our Spring Stock is being selected up to date. Also, I have added some addition to my optical plant, in the way of new grinding machine. Proper attention to the examination of the eyes.

FACTS IN STRIPLING CASE BY CORNETT KINSMAN.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

Editor Constitution: In the interest of fair play and just simply to inform the public on some statements that Stripling has made. I, one of the nearest of kin to the deceased Cornett, with no undue malice nor rankling animosity against Stripling, being perfectly willing to abide the just decision of the prison commission, but in his many statements Stripling has grossly misrepresented facts, a few of which I wish to correct, and allow me to say that I will state nothing but what I have the proof to offer, either sworn testimony or proper affidavits.

Now, a few corrections. Stripling's first statement when he surrendered at Columbus was that he killed Cornett because he (Cornett) had insulted his sister. Now his sister at that time was married to a man who was capable and willing to defend the honor of his wife. Since then he has shifted base and said that he killed Cornett because of an insult offered his wife. Now, in Sunday's Constitution he says to the public that he killed Cornett because of an insult to Huff's wife, who is also Stripling's sister. Now, as to the whole insult reposition, there is no evidence whatever from any quarter that Cornett ever insulted any relative of Stripling, only Stripling's statement.

Stripling stated that for fear of his life, and because of threats from Cornett, he was forced to lay out two days and nights. Stripling did lay out, it is true, but not in the manner he would have you believe. Very far from feeling the very presence of Cornett, Stripling was seen negotiating with Cornett on the streets of Chichester on the afternoon before the killing that night, and it can be proven by competent witnesses that Cornett even arrested Stripling to place a body on a two horse wagon at Champion's shop. Stripling further states that the immediate cause of his killing

Cornett was that he had to pass Cornett's house in going home from Chichester, and saw Cornett pass the window as if reaching up for something, and he (Stripling) became so enraged that he rushed up and shot him through the window. Now, in the first place, Stripling and Cornett lived on totally different roads leading to Chichester, and it was not only unnecessary to pass Cornett's home, but considerably out of his way. Furthermore, the night Cornett was killed he never reached home until midnight, having talked to one good witness as late as 11:30 o'clock, in whose company he was at the home of a sick relative.

Now, when this unfortunate and much-abused Cornett was found dead in his house on Sunday morning, a thorough search failed to reveal a revolver, pistol or any other firearms; furthermore, one of the jurors who tried Stripling for his life told me—and I can give his name—that the jury did not want to recommend clemency for Stripling, but did for Huff, but that Stripling and Huff were tried jointly and the jury did not know they could recommend one man to mercy and not the other.

Now, I can prove, and dare Stripling to challenge me to do so, that he (Stripling) was a ring-leader in the mobbing of two negroes in Columbus. Even taking one from court where he was being tried.

Now these are a few of the facts this righteous, repentant man was wilfully distorted, in an endeavor to bolster up his side of the case. If the public will inform themselves of the true facts in the case, I am perfectly willing to leave the matter at the bar of public sentiment.

If this man has reformed, and is leading a true religious life, as he says he is, he must, like Judas Iscariot, first leave his Lord's house and go to the gallows, and then he can so knowingly, maliciously and desperately distort the facts as he has done.

Respectfully,
S. R. CORNETT,
Chichester, Ga., March 20, 1911.

FARMERS SHOW INTEREST IN DISTRICT SCHOOLS.

(From the Atlanta Constitution.)

Professor E. C. J. Dickens, president of the First District Agricultural School, located at Statesboro, Ga., made a hurried business trip to Atlanta yesterday in the interest of the school, leaving on the train at midnight. Professor Dickens has made the First District school stand up head and shoulders above the other district schools in Georgia. Its growth and work under his administration for the past few years having been marvelous.

He was here making some purchases for the school and incidentally to investigate the application of an Atlanta boy who is seeking to enter the school. To a reporter for the Constitution Professor Dickens gave an interesting interview on the benefit the agricultural schools hold out to the boys and girls of the state.

"Yes, sir, I believe in the work these district agricultural schools are doing in Georgia," he said. "I believe, in fact, I know, that the farmers of Georgia are aroused on the subject of educating their boys to become farmers."

"All of the district schools are doing fine work. And actual results on the farms of Georgia will be realized this year."

"But you ask specifically about my school.

"Well, you know that Bulloch is a commonwealth in itself. Consequently those people put up about $125,000 to locate the school at Statesboro. Hence, we are located on a 300-acre farm and have two large brick dormitories and a modern brick academic building. In this building we have our auditorium, class rooms, the agricultural, domestic science and domestic art laboratories and our music department.

"I am not boasting when I say that the great reason why our school has grown so rapidly in the last year is due to two reasons, namely, ours is a healthy place and because I have a faculty of competent teachers who are actually doing the work intended for these schools to do."

For instance, there is Professor O. T. Harper, our agriculturist, a graduate of the University college. He is a strong man in his place. There is Professor F. M. Rowan, professor of mathematics and mechanics. He is a born teacher and a strong man. The same thing is true of Miss Josephine Jordan, our professor of domestic science; Miss Ethel Wood, professor of domestic art; Miss Lucy Roberts, of our English department, and Miss Eva Mullens, of our history and drawing department, Miss Ethel Bomar, of our music department, has some thirty girls in her class.

"Now, you see what we are trying to do. We take the position that the farmer's son and daughter should be thoroughly educated and given culture as well as the city folks. We place great emphasis upon work.

"The young man in his overalls or the young lady in her apron is king and queen in Georgia. We want only such students as are willing to work. And I am gratified to know that we have about all we have room for. One hundred and seventy-five students have matriculated since this school year began and if I had room in my dormitory I could have 300.

"If this is not practical education I do not know what is."

The Place to Buy Cheap

SOME REASONS WHY WE SELL GOODS CHEAP

Because, you don't have to pay for goods the other fellow buys on a credit and fails to pay for.

Because I don't pay $2.00 a day for a man and mule to deliver goods.

Because I buy for cash and discount my bills; in some instances the discount pays the freight.

Because we don't sell anything on a credit.

Because we have one price for everybody.

Because I own my storehouse and don't have any high-price clerks.

Because I go after bargains and hunt until I find them.

I undersell other merchants on lots of things, and if you stop to think you can see why I sell cheap.

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY IN RAILROAD CIRCLES

Officials to Inspect Local Lines and Conferences Being Held.

There is an unusual amount of moving about in local railroad circles. Late General Superintendent D. N. Bacon, of the Savannah and Statesboro railway was called to Washington on "purely personal business." Now Auditor W. B. Moore is in New York going via Portsmouth "to testify in a Seaboard Air Line case." Tomorrow, it is said a special train will run over the S. A. & N. and S. & S. railways carrying a party of railroad officials on an inspection tour. It is said that Messrs. W. J. Oliver, owner of the S. A. & N. and General Superintendent Turner of the Georgia and Florida will be aboard the train. The same report stated President John Skelton Williams of the Georgia and Florida to be aboard this train. Mr. Williams was in Savannah a few days ago and is said to have waited there for Mr. Oliver, who was detained in Greenville, S. C. on other railroad matters. Mr. Williams went North, however, sending his private car back via Vidalia to his line.

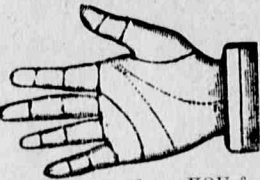

It has been known for some time that the S. A. & N. would be on the market; as it is subjected to an expenditure equal to the operation of a line twice or three times its length.

The Savannah and Statesboro people have had out a weather eye for some time and the Georgia and Florida have also had their eyes upon it. It was reported about a month ago that there would be a consolidation of the two lines and through train service conducted by the Georgia and Florida between Savannah and Augusta would be the result. This report was denied by the officials of all the roads. This did not change the status of the deal, however, as officials always deny all deals up to the very hour of their consummation. There is no secret of the fact that the Savannah and Statesboro would like to take it over, provided they could do so at a price.

The report some thirty days ago was to the effect that there would be "something doing in thirty days." Thirty days have elapsed, and we find an unusual amount of activity, officials going to Portsmouth on "personal business purely," and others going to New York, having been wired to come to "to testify in court," and officials of two other lines making a tour of inspection of all three connecting lines. Now this may be all smoke, and yet there may be some fire where there is much smoke. We will await developments and see.

In the meantime it will be up to local out of town correspondents and Union Depot advocates to get busy and deny the report.

THIS IS THE GLAD

of welcome offered to YOU for next Sunday at the First Baptist Church on North Main street. The pastor will preach on "Inducement of the Spirit through Expectant Prayer," a practical subject in view of the meetings now in progress in the Presbyterian church and those to follow very soon in the Baptist church. We will have no night service Sunday because of the meetings which are now on in the Presbyterian church. And we will hold no evening service so long as these meetings continue.

Ho for Palestine. Come to our Sunday school and take a trip on either the Lusitania or the Mauritania. We are expecting both vessels to land large and happy crowds. There is much enthusiasm. Come and go with us. We take new passengers aboard every Sunday.

MYSTERIOUS GRAVE CLEARED UP.

For the past few days the community around Lower Lotts Creek church have been bestirred by finding a newly made grave at a negro school house near the residence of Mr. W. P. Wilson. The grave was found fresh and Mr. Wilson and his neighbors hearing of no recent death in the community, were not satisfied to allow it to remain without investigation. One odd feature of the case was that the grave was dug north and south instead of east and west as is customary. The ordinary was notified and he in turn notified the coroner, stating to him if he found after investigation there was a mystery to the death of the occupant of the grave he would be paid for the investigation, otherwise the county could not be held for the expense of an inquest. The coroner went out and sure enough found the grave setting north and south as had been reported. This in itself caused the veteran gentleman who holds down the coroner's office to shudder a little and wonder if a great murder mystery lay enveloped in the newly made grave. In looking around he soon found that the occupant of the grave was a negro child whose parents lived across the street, and who had buried it there the 1st Tuesday in this month. It happened that none of the neighbors happened to observe the burial, which must have been a rather quiet affair for the colored population to have conducted not being observed by the neighbors in a thickly settled neighborhood. Coroner Lowe came back into town this morning and reported that the mystery had been fully cleared up, and everybody at once began to breathe easier.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.

Henry Connaway was arrested on Tuesday at Metter and brought in here and lodged in jail on a charge of forgery. A few days previous Connaway presented a check at the Bank of Metter bearing the signature of Mr. J. A. Wallace, for forty-five dollars. Cashier L. H. Sewell detected the forgery and turned down the check. Connaway was admonished a little and allowed to go. He went off towards Still more and soon came back and his arrest was the result. He came to Metter several months ago and engaged in the business of running a pressing club. He will be given a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

The condition of Dr. Holland is only slightly changed. He has been able to work the fingers and toes on the paralyzed side, which is one sign of hope.

The statement of the Citizens Bank of Pulaski appears in this issue. It is a creditable showing as that of other banks of the county.

EIGHT KILLED IN RAILROAD WRECK

Conductor C. J. Parnell of Savannah, is One of Victims of Wreck of Fast Passenger Train Running on Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

TWELVE ARE IN LIST OF INJURED.

Bride Among the Dead. Worst Wreck in South Georgia Since 1888.

Waycross, Ga., March 23.—[La one of the worst railroad disasters ever known in the South Atlantic states eight persons were killed and more than a dozen injured when train No. 95, known as the Dixie Flyer, on the Atlantic Coast Line and running between Chicago and Jacksonville, Fla., went through a trestle over the Alapaha river, forty-nine miles west of here early this morning.

Conductor C. J. Parnell of Savannah, was in the dead. Tonight the last body, that of John T. Watson, of Landa, Wyo., in the cars in the river, was recovered. Had it not been for the wreck Watson would have been a bridegroom today.

Five Cars in Splinters.

His sweetheart, Miss Elize Shipman of Pasadena, Cal., who was on the train with him and to whom he was to have been married at Jacksonville tomorrow, remained at the wreck throughout the day and night, watching the efforts of the rescuers to recover Watson's body.

The first five cars of the train, two express cars, two coaches and a Pullman, piled up on each other and were literally torn to splinters.

The first coach, a steel under-frame car, rammed through the Pullman next to it. The engine crossed the trestle, the engineer hanging on the throttle when his foot rest was torn away. Only the tender went into the river.

Where Parnell Met Death.

The fireman either jumped or was knocked from the engine, death resulting instantly.

Conductor C. J. Parnell of Savannah, Express Messenger Woodward and the colored porter all were killed in the second class coach. Their bodies were badly mutilated and had to be cut from the wreckage.

The wreck was caused by a driving rod. This was whirled around with terrific force, striking the piling and trestle work blows that tore out ties and portions of the supporting frame.

The tender left the track first. The first express car struck a weakened place in the trestle and plunged through, closely followed by the cars behind.

No Time to Jump to Safety.

The wreck occurred on a down grade, the heavy Pullmans behind shoving the cars ahead into the gap caused by the first express car.

No one had an opportunity to jump and most of the passengers were caught while asleep.

A. F. Baumgart, who was killed in the snicker of the first class coach, had left his wife in the far end of the same coach only a few minutes before the wreck. She was injured, and refused for a long time to allow physicians to attend her wounds, saying she wanted to get her husband first.

For miles around the crash was heard, one person at the wreck saying he heard the noise seven miles away and immediately told his family "something had happened on the railroad."

Killed on Wedding Eve.

Although the train carried four sleepers besides the one telescoped, very few passengers were in the end cars. The unknown man killed in the Pullman was on route to Jacksonville to wed; his bride-to-be was a passenger on the same train. She did not reveal her identity to anyone so far as could be learned, but left the scene of the wreck as soon as a relief train arrived.

Engineer Greene cautioned the flagman of the train about a freight train following, and had the first report of the wreck wired to headquarters at Waycross. The first information was meagre, but a relief train with a corps of physicians from the hospital here was rushed to this scene of the wreck.

The passengers who had been transferred and brought on to Waycross, to continue their journey. The injured and as many bodies of those killed as could be found were sent to Waycross shortly after noon.

Rooster Crows in Wreck.

The second special from the wreck arrived at 6 o'clock tonight with the bodies of Conductor Parnell and one of the passengers.

Superintendent R. A. McCranie, Trainmaster S. B. Calhoun, J. A. Wall, Master Mechanic W. J. Pamplin, General Roadmaster McCullough and other officials went to the wreck on a special and will remain there until the line is cleared.

Express officials went to the wreck to look after the express, although the bulk of the packages and other matter in the cars were destroyed. Chickens, eggs, candies, silks and hats were jammed into a general mixture, causing a heavy loss. A crate of moving picture films, containing over a dozen reels, was smashed. From the bottom of one of the express cars sounds of a rooster crowing could be heard above the noise of hammers and engines at the wreck, and when the car flooring was lifted several chickens, including a crippled rooster, were found.

Worst Wreck Since 1888.

Negro workmen temporarily left their work to catch the chickens, but were compelled to surrender them to a special agent of the express company.

The line cannot be opened for through traffic before late tomorrow or Monday as 400 feet of trestle is to be built. The through trains will be detoured via Valdosta pending this work.

The sleeper of the wrecked Dixie Flyer came here early tonight as a part of the South Atlantic Limited, which was operated via Valdosta, twelve hours late. Nine of those injured are receiving attention at the Atlantic Coast Line's hospital here.

Engineer Greene and Mr. Cooper, both of Waycross, were able to go to their homes.

This wreck of the Dixie Flyer is the third accident the train has had since November last, the two previous occurring on the Georgia Southern and Florida road north of Tifton. It is the worst wreck that has happened on the Atlantic Coast Line south of Savannah since March, 1888, when the Florida Special plunged into Hurricane creek, fifteen miles east of Waycross, killing nineteen people, injuring fifty demolishing a number of Pullmans. The Hurricane creek wreck was similar to today's at Alapaha in one respect, the engine got across the trestle without leaving the track.

All Bodies Recovered.

With the exception of the body of Mr. Culppepper of Tifton, all the dead victims of the wreck are at Waycross undertaking parlors. The remains of Mr. Woodward will be taken tomorrow to Jacksonville for interment.

Conductor Parnell's body will go to Savannah tomorrow.

Mrs. Parnell arrived here this afternoon from Savannah, but was not aware of her husband's death at the time. She gave away completely when the news reached her.

Mr. Baumgart's identity was established by his hat which was found with a portion of his skull in a corner of a Pullman berth.

The search for other possible victims has been carried on to such an extent that officials are now positive no other bodies are

PROTECT YOUR FARM FROM FIRE

Why take further chances burning your home and farm buildings to the ground with oil lamps and lanterns? Let me figure on installing for you an electric lighting plant consisting of small gas engine, dynamo and set of "Chloride Accumulator" storage battery cells. A postal card will bring full information.

OUR

is now being opened.

MRS. JOSIE ROGERS

Upstairs in the new Pretorius Building, on East Main Street, has just returned from market with an up-to-date line of Millinery for Ladies and Children, and is prepared to please the most fastidious taste. She has secured the best trimmers and salesladies and will be pleased to have the ladies call.

ATTENTION, FARMERS!

I am again representing the Southern Gypsum Company for the sale of their famous

Pierson Land Plaster.

This is the greatest producer known for Peanuts. You will absolutely have no crops when this is used. The peanut growers of Virginia and North Carolina use it altogether for growing peanuts, and say they cannot make good, sound peanuts without it. It has been used by hundreds of the best farmers in Bulloch county the past two seasons, who can testify to the great benefits derived from its use. It is used as a top dressing, by sprinkling it on the vines after the peanuts begin to bear.

It is recommended to sow in the evening or early in the morning, or just after a shower, as it is found that much better results from it adhering well to the leaves. A gloomy, hazy day is also a good time for the job. Application, about 300 lbs. per acre. Try it and be convinced that this is the greatest thing you ever used for making peanuts.

I will have some one to represent me at all the principal shipping points in the county. I will make my order about the 1st of May, so get your orders in by that time. Circulars and testimonials sent free on application.

AWAKENING IN AGRICULTURE.

The educational train of the Georgia College of Agriculture, which ended its state wide tour last Saturday, has been truly estimated as the greatest propaganda of its kind ever attempted in America. In other portions of the union, particularly in the West, there have been similar and highly successful undertakings; but never before has a movement of this character been carried to such spacious and fruitful proportions.

With its varied store of object lessons in good farming and its staff of skilled educators, the train has gone into 120 counties, has made 165 stops, and in the course of its 6,000-mile journey has dealt with not fewer than 350,000 people, nearly a third of the state's white population.

These facts indicate the scope of this undertaking. The eager and thoughtful interest that met the train wherever it went indicates its results.

This, then, in the Chronicle's opinion, narrows the situation down to Stovall, of Chatham; or, we might say, Stovall, of Chatham, Richmond, Clarke and the state at large; for at least three counties in Georgia are proud to claim Pleasant A. Stovall as a "favorite son," while he is a Georgian in the broadest sense of the term.

It so happens that the political ways of the Chronicle and the Savannah Press have seldom met—generally we have found ourselves in one political camp, while Stovall was in the other—but there has ever been that about him which wins the respect and admiration and, in the end, the friendship of every man, of whatever political faith or faction, with whom he comes in contact; for Pleasant A. Stovall is clean through and through; brilliant to a degree; as fearless and honest as any man living; true as steel to friends and principle; a man without selfishness and without guile.

Knowing him to be such a man, we trust the Chronicle may never be so partisan as not to be able to admit the fitness of such a man for high political honor, whatever our factional differences may have been in the past. We would have to turn no political somersault, nor suffer a wrench of our political opinion to support, heartily and enthusiastically, such a man as Pleasant A. Stovall for the highest office within the gift of the people.

In this instance, indeed, we would consider it not only a duty but a privilege to do so, should he be induced to enter the senatorial race; for we regard him—almost him alone—as a man on whom men of both factions could center and thus bring political order and peace out of political chaos.

We are not amongst those who would at any time purchase "peace at any price," but we do say that, at this particular time, when it can be had so easily and to such good purpose—by taking a man who is, mentally and morally, the peer of any—we should grasp the opportunity.

We do not happen to know the "inside" of the senatorial "game" that is now being played in Georgia—if there be a game—because we have not been discussing or worrying about politics lately; but we have heard it intimated that the program of a certain faction is to bring about a Smith "sample," at the proper time, as they did in the gubernatorial situation a year ago.

This we would be "forced to regard as a serious mistake; and we shall be fair enough to believe that Mr. Smith, himself, is not a party to it just as we now admit—in the light of subsequent information—that he was not a party to the "stampede" which forced him into the last gubernatorial fight.

We shall, also, be fair enough to admit, that, like William G. Brantley, his time for the United States senatorship may yet come. But it is not now. And for the very good reason that he has just been elected governor; holding a commission from the people of Georgia to serve them in that particular capacity for the next two years—which commission he has solemnly accepted, pledging himself to do certain things which the people have entrusted to him.

Moreover, Mr. Smith, himself, stands opposed to a senatorship primary, for the reason that it will, again, bring about another needless political contest before the people; and, for the same reason, would bar him from throwing up the governorship to accept the senatorship and thus forcing an even worse fight before the people.

A HAPPY SOLUTION OF THE SENATORIAL SITUATION.
(From the Augusta Chronicle.)

The Georgia senatorial situation still refuses to "shape-up." And for a very good reason, to wit: Outside of two names—Governor-elect Hoke Smith, on the one side, and Senator Terrell on the other—no one seems to be seriously considering making the race for the United States senatorship; nor does anyone else seem to be seriously considered by the public in connection therewith.

Yet there are many reasons why the people should, at this time, look to other than the two rival politicians in choosing a successor to the late Senator Clay. But we want no better reason than this—political peace and harmony in Georgia, for a time at least. And we believe the people of Georgia would much prefer to settle this senatorial situation on a basis of political peace and harmony, provided the proper man can be found.

Our "aspirants"—no one other than Messrs. Smith and Terrell has been brought forward who would seem to measure up to the requirements; if, perhaps, we might be permitted to mention, by way of exception, two South Georgians, either of whom would preserve the best traditions of Georgia in the United States senate; and, at the same time, give just recognition to a section of the state that has too long been left out in the cold politically.

Unfortunately—and we say it with all due respect for the variety of these is Hon. William G. Brantley, present congressman from the Eleventh district, and the other is Hon. Pleasant A. Stovall, editor and owner of the Savannah Press. The former might be placed in the "Smith camp." But neither is, or has ever been, so partisan as to bar him from being an acceptable peace and harmony candidate for both factions.

From the very best information obtainable, it would seem that Mr. Brantley is to be no longer considered in connection with the senatorship at this time; although, we doubt not, the time will come when he will serve Georgia in the United States senate.

This, then, in the Chronicle's opinion, narrows the situation down to Stovall, of Chatham; or, we might say, Stovall, of Chatham, Richmond, Clarke and the state at large; for at least three counties in Georgia are proud to claim Pleasant A. Stovall as a "favorite son," while he is a Georgian in the broadest sense of the term.

It so happens that the political ways of the Chronicle and the Savannah Press have seldom met—generally we have found ourselves in one political camp, while Stovall was in the other—but there has ever been that about him which wins the respect and admiration and, in the end, the friendship of every man, of whatever political faith or faction, with whom he comes in contact; for Pleasant A. Stovall is clean through and through; brilliant to a degree; as fearless and honest as any man living; true as steel to friends and principle; a man without selfishness and without guile.

Knowing him to be such a man, we trust the Chronicle may never be so partisan as not to be able to admit the fitness of such a man for high political honor, whatever our factional differences may have been in the past. We would have to turn no political somersault, nor suffer a wrench of our political opinion to support, heartily and enthusiastically, such a man as Pleasant A. Stovall for the highest office within the gift of the people.

In this instance, indeed, we would consider it not only a duty but a privilege to do so, should he be induced to enter the senatorial race; for we regard him—almost him alone—as a man on whom men of both factions could center and thus bring political order and peace out of political chaos.

We are not amongst those who would at any time purchase "peace at any price," but we do say that, at this particular time, when it can be had so easily and to such good purpose—by taking a man who is, mentally and morally, the peer of any—we should grasp the opportunity.

We do not happen to know the "inside" of the senatorial "game" that is now being played in Georgia—if there be a game—because we have not been discussing or worrying about politics lately; but we have heard it intimated that the program of a certain faction is to bring about a Smith "sample," at the proper time, as they did in the gubernatorial situation a year ago.

This we would be "forced to regard as a serious mistake; and we shall be fair enough to believe that Mr. Smith, himself, is not a party to it just as we now admit—in the light of subsequent information—that he was not a party to the "stampede" which forced him into the last gubernatorial fight.

We shall, also, be fair enough to admit, that, like William G. Brantley, his time for the United States senatorship may yet come. But it is not now. It is obvious, then, that he cannot now throw up that commission, and, by so doing, precipitate another bitter political fight in Georgia—another gubernatorial contest—following so soon upon the heels of one from the effects of which we have not yet entirely recovered.

In the same sense, Senator Terrell's candidacy involves a heated factional contest—which the people do not want. Such a contest can be easily avoided, and, at the same time, secure for Georgia the services in the United States senate of a man who is as well equipped to serve her in that capacity as any man within her borders. A man whose past record, both as a journalist and as a legislator, may be put under the microscope without finding a flaw; and whose future record, in the United States senate or at home, may be safely placed alongside of the best that ever adorned Georgia's history—Stovall, of Savannah.

SMITH AND BROWN MEN UNITING ON STOVALL FOR THE SENATE.

The name of Hon. P. A. Stovall was suggested as the man to unite all factions in Georgia and at the same time give South Georgia the senator and all the state a statesman in the upper house at Washington. The suggestion came from the Vidalia Advance only a few days ago. It was promptly seconded by the Statesboro News, the Americus Times Recorder, the Savannah Telephone, the Athens Banner and many other papers.

We have seldom seen a suggestion take with such favor. Last Saturday and Sunday saw the Augusta Chronicle, staunch organ of the Brown forces, came out in a big editorial demanding all sides in Georgia lay aside all strife and now unite on Mr. Stovall and thus leave Governor Smith as Governor and Senator Terrell at home. The Atlanta Constitution and Atlanta Georgian gave great display to the mention of Stovall.

From reliable sources the News learns that Mr. Stovall now has a great following among members of the General Assembly. It looks more and more like Stovall to us.

PRISONER IS TRIED BY FELLOW PRISONERS.

Dalton, Ga., March 25.—Friday morning prisoners in the Whitefield county jail set an example which many local people believe the courts would do well to pattern after, for they tried one of their fellow prisoners, sentenced him and then executed the sentence without permitting the convicted one an appeal to another court, as his guilt was established beyond doubt.

The prisoner was Gordon Clements, a young man arrested Thursday night for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. After he was placed in jail he proceeded to whoop things up and prevented the remaining prisoners from sleeping. He was not disturbed until Friday morning, when he was hastily jerked up before a well organized "court of justice," composed of his fellow prisoners. He was permitted counsel and was given a fair hearing; but his guilt was established beyond doubt.

Following his conviction he was permitted to say what he wanted to before sentence was passed, and then the "judge," solemnly pronounced the sentence: "The prisoner shall pay a fine of 25 cents and shall be given 25 lashes across the back."

Ready hands seized him and for a time the old whipping post was revived. One of the prisoners took off his heavy leather belt, and the lashes were administered with a hand none too gentle; for the whipping boss remembered the sleepless hours of the night before.

The fine was collected and put in the treasury to be put to some good use in the future.

MORSE AND WALSH MUST STAY IN PEN

Taft Will Deny Their Appeals for Freedom. Recommendation of the Attorney General Adverse in Both Cases, and Taft Will Be Governed by It—Story That Morse Is Breaking Down Is Denied.

Washington, March 27.—From sources close to the president, it was learned today that the pardon appeals of the two convicted bankers, Charles W. Morse, of New York, and John R. Walsh, of Chicago, undoubtedly will be denied. It is stated that the attorney general's recommendation in both cases is adverse, and that the president will follow his findings.

Reports that Charles Morse, now in the Atlanta penitentiary, is in a critical condition are without foundation, according to an unofficial statement today by the department of justice.

President Taft has had Morse's application or clemency under consideration about three weeks. He also has considered an application for the pardon of John R. Walsh, now in the Leavenworth penitentiary.

Morse is serving a fifteen-year sentence, while Walsh is serving a sentence of five years.

FAILURE OF THE PROHIBITION LAW?

Harper's Weekly for March 18 has a two-page illustration article entitled "The Failure of Prohibition in the South," with the following sub-title: "Public sentiment has proved stronger than law in five states, one of which—Alabama—has already modified her prohibitory law, passed only two years ago, while Tennessee may follow suit."

The article is an admirable mixture of truth, untruth and erroneous implication. For instance, the heading gives the impression that, one by one, the prohibition states of the South will soon repeal their state-wide laws, when, as a matter of fact, nothing is further from the truth. Alabama has repealed its law by making possible a return to the saloon or the dispensary by local option elections. But this repeal was caused by too much prohibition instead of the failure of prohibition.

The first Alabama law was enacted with the sentiment of the state overwhelmingly in favor of it. The legislature followed the first enactment with one many times more drastic, and in addition tried to have a drastic prohibition amendment put in the constitution.

The whiskey interests, taking advantage of the inevitable reaction against the too radical acts of the legislature and raising the cry, "Personal liberty is imperiled and the sanctity of the home menaced," stampeded the people into returning to local option.

Here not the failure, but the excess force of state-wide prohibition caused its downfall. The article, which is written by

Mr. E. Pritchard, bases the probable repeal of the Tennessee law upon the following: "Retiring Governor M. R. Patterson, of Tennessee, in his last message declared that the law had not only proved a failure, but has had a bad effect upon the people of the state."

It neglects, however, to state that the reason why Governor Patterson was at that time retiring was because of his alignment with the opposition to state-wide prohibition, and that this opposition had the bad effect on him of putting him out of politics permanently in Tennessee.

With a prohibition governor and a prohibition combination in control of the legislature, which recently elected a prohibitionist to the United States senate, it is not likely that Tennessee will repeal its state-wide law very soon. Mr. Pritchard then has much to say about "blind tigers," the non-enforcement of the law is the big virtue, and the various means whereby the law is evaded, and herein he tells much truth, though the impression he leaves is false—namely, that because of these things a return to the old liquor conditions is desirable.

Blind tigers and violations of the liquor regulations flourished in the old liquor days also, but the open saloon such as then existed, with its train of innumerable evils, is gone—and this is the momentous fact of prohibition in the South today.

There were violations of the law with saloons and there are violations without them, and there will always be some violations of every law, but the Southern prohibition states vastly prefer these violations with the saloon gone than with it present.

Georgia has prospered under prohibition. It has increased in wealth and population, while Atlanta has leaped into second place among the cities of the South. Exploded beyond repair is the old contention that prohibition hurts business. It hurts only the whiskey business and boosts all others. Atlanta was never in the midst of such business and building activity as it is now.

In Atlanta, moreover, prohibition has decreased drunkenness, crime and disorder. This has been shown by indisputable statistics. And thus it is pre-eminently foolish to say that prohibition doesn't prohibit because all drinking and drunkenness is not stopped. The prohibition laws never tried to do this. So long as whiskey may be legally shipped into a state, that is beyond their power.

But prohibition has killed the old whiskey saloon—an organized force corruptive both of society and of politics; and the law has been enforced, too, as well as could have been expected of any law passed over opposition as strong. Sentiment for its better enforcement is growing everywhere.

As to the prohibition law of this state—with all its faults Georgia will cling to it still.

WILL CONSIDER PEACE PLANS

Washington, March 25.—Members of congress who are beginning to gather here for the special session are apathetic over President Taft's plan for an arbitration treaty with England, France and Japan, which has for its ultimate end a limitation of armaments and world peace for all time.

Judging from the expressions of a few senators who are identified with treaty matters, the upper house will hardly take the proposals so serious as is being done abroad, although the senate may accede eventually to the plea of the president for a ratification of the instruments he may succeed in having drawn up and put through by the state department. More than one senator is inclined to the belief that while an arbitration treaty between Great Britain and the United States might some day prevent a war, treaties, as a rule, are worthless when it comes to demonstration in defense of a country's honor.

President Taft has not yet conferred with any of the senators on his world's peace plans, with the exception of Senator Culloms, of Illinois, with whom he has talked concerning the proposed treaties. Senator Culloms is chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, to which are referred all treaties before the senate takes action on them.

The senator said today that the president would transmit certain arbitration treaties to the senate and he thought that the senate might consider them favorably.

DIAZ CABINET HAS RESIGNED

Believes it Will Contribute to the Re-establishment of Peace, Say They.

WILL ACT ON THEM TODAY

Vice-President Resigns as Minister of the Interior, But Retains Former Title. All the Members Have Been Objectable to Members of the Insurrecto Party.

Mexico, City, March 24.—The Diaz cabinet resigned in a body at a special meeting today. The President deferred action upon the matter for the present.

The reasons given for the action in an official announcement is the belief that it will contribute to the re-establishment of peace and facilitate the reforms which are in contemplation.

Thanks Ministers.

Enrique Creel, minister of foreign relations, presented the resignations in behalf of all of the ministers. General Diaz thanked the retiring members for their efficient and patriotic co-operation in the past, and announced that he would postpone his acceptance or rejection until later.

The resignations included that of Ramon Cerral as minister of the department of Gobernacion, corresponding to the department of the interior in the United States, but not as vice president.

Not one of the men who until today formed President Diaz's cabinet is less than 65 years old and a number of them are much older. With the exception of Enrique Creel, minister of foreign affairs, all have been members of the President's official family for a great many years and this fact alone has been one of the grie-ances of the revolutionists, who have insisted that the chief executive should surround himself with representatives of the younger generation, men more closely in touch with the affairs of the people.

Those Resigning.

Following are those whose resignations were received:

Enrique C. Creel, minister of foreign affairs; Ramon Cerral, minister of interior; Jose Yves Limantour, minister of finance; Olegario Molina, minister of fomento; Justo Sierra, minister of education; Manuel Gonzalez Cosio, minister of war and marine; Leandro Fernandez, minister of justice.

Without exception all of these men have contributed valuable services to their country and to the President, but the popular feeling has been growing against them steadily since long before the beginning of the revolution. Ramon Cerral is not so old that his age can be used as an argument against his usefulness, but ill health during the same period has served the same purpose, especially when it is taken into consideration that the man has not been popular among a great proportion of the people from whose ranks the revolutionists are drawn.

Creel Too Rich.

Enrique C. Creel is not by any means in the decrepit class, but he, too, has fallen under the displeasure of the forces opposing the administration and his age serves as an excuse. What has contributed more than age, however, to his unpopularity among the masses or the fact that he is a rich man and incurred the hostility of many in his own state, Chihuahua. That Mr. Creel is a diplomat was demonstrated in the conduct of his office as ambassador to the United States and his record as a cabinet officer was considered good by the conservative element.

Jose Yves Limantour, who, it is believed to remain, is an old man, but yet regarded as one of the shrewdest and ablest men in the republic. There is an element which will not be pleased at his retention, but there is none who says he should be retired solely on account of his age.

Built Up Schools.

Justo Sierra, minister of education, entered the cabinet many years ago, and to him is due largely the credit for building up Mexico's schools. Towards him objection has rarely been made. The three men against whom the masses have cried "Old age," are Leandro Fernandez, Justo Sierra, and General Cosio. In years gone by these men have accomplished much in their respective offices; but it is an open secret that for the last three or four years their duties have been materially lightened by distribution among subordinates.

The news that the cabinet had resigned spread rapidly throughout the city. In all quarters it elicited favorable comment, but not all would go so far as to repeat the note of optimism sounded in the official statement of the resignations, that it would serve to restore peace.

Arrest Suspects.

Monterey, Mexico, March 24.—Sixteen men were taken from an international train here last night by the authorities and placed in jail in the belief that they were revolutionary sympathizers and attempting to mobilize at this vicinity. Wednesday night six men with tickets from Tamaulipas, Mexico, to San Antonio, Texas, were arrested, and Tuesday the drug net secured four who are said to have come from lower California. Every day for a month passengers have been taken from trains to jail with explanation. The total is believed to have reached into the hundreds.

Expect Reforms. El Paso, Texas, March 24.—Widespread political reforms in Mexico with the abolition of direct federal control of the states, Politics and popular elections of governors of states, are seen by the revolutionary junta here in the announcement of the resignation of the cabinet.

Whether the cabinet's retirement will have the effect of allaying the insurrection the revolutionary leaders would not say. They preferred, they said, to await immediate developments expected at the Mexican capital.

Told the President.

Washington, March 24.—When Secretary Norton was informed by the Associated Press of the resignation of the cabinet of President Diaz of Mexico, he informed the White House to tell President Diaz. The President was attending a luncheon when he heard the news.

Señor de La Barra, the Mexican ambassador, also informed unofficially, said he expected telegrams from his government concerning the resignations.

Not Unexpected.

The resignation of the Diaz cabinet was not unexpected in Washington. The state department for some time has been receiving private advices stating that a change was being contemplated by President Diaz. The Mexican ambassador has admitted that such a contingency was expected this week in Mexico City, but has declined to comment on the situation.

Dr. Vasquez Gomez, head of confidential agency of the Mexican revolution here, expressed pleasure at the news of the resignation of the Diaz cabinet, declaring it was a step in the right direction. He added, however, that the revolutionary party would prefer to wait and see the kind of reorganization that would follow in the cabinet before expressing any opinion on the effect such action would have on the insurrecto movement.

is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it arouses Lewis Chamblin of Manchester, O. (R. R. No. 2) for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. BROKEN IN HEALTH GAYNOR RELEASED Appeared Dazed When Told He Did Not Have to Return to Prison, After Having Taken Pauper's Oath—Will Return to His Home in Syracuse, N. Y., After Spending Night in Hotel.

Atlanta, Ga., March 24.—Decried and broken in health by illness and long time in prison, John F. Gaynor, who with Benjamin D. Greene, was convicted of embezzlement from the government in connection with harbor improvements at Savannah, Ga., took the pauper's oath late today and walked out a free man. The oath released Gaynor, as it did Captain Greene, from an obligation to pay the government the $575,000 fine imposed on them in connection with their prison sentences. It also marked the end of the Greene-Gaynor litigation in the United States courts which has extended over 12 years.

When Commissioner Colquitt announced that he was free, Col. Gaynor acted dazed. "And I don't have to go back to jail any more, eh?" he inquired.

Gaynor turned to leave the stand his attorney, T. B. Felder, asked him where he was going. "To get something to eat," was Gaynor's laconic answer. He will spend the night at a local hotel and leave for his home at Syracuse, N. Y., some time tomorrow.

Gaynor's hearing was brief, only the perfunctory questions necessary to show that he had no money or property concealed, being asked. Several times he forgot himself in his answers. At one time when Assistant District Attorney Erwin sought to identify him as the same man who was indicted, tried and sentenced for embezzlement and other charges broke in with, "Yes, yes, they accused me of so many things that I know but a little about them."

Again when asked about his fortune and the disposition of it he replied that it all "had gone to the devil."

Warning to Railroad Men.

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroadng. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroadng left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and in my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." W. H. Ellis Co.

"Why do they call Washington the city of magnificent distances?" "Because," answered the office seeker, "it is such a long way between what you go after and what you get."—Washington Herald.

"Foley's Honey and Tar is the best cough remedy I ever used as it quickly stopped a severe cough that had long troubled me," says J. W. Kuhn, Princeton, Neb. Just so quickly and surely it acts in all cases of coughs, colds, la grippe and lung trouble. Refuse substitutes. W. H. Ellis Co.

GREENE IS FREE, HAVING TAKEN PAUPER'S OATH

(Atlanta Constitution.) Benjamin D. Greene is free. Hounded by government sleuths for years, tried, convicted and sentenced for the embezzlement of government funds at Savannah, and confined for four years behind the gloomy walls of the local federal prison, the white-haired old man has at last paid to the uttermost farthing the price society has demanded of him, and as the shades of night were falling over the city yesterday evening he walked from the federal building once more a free man.

Last night for the first time in over 12 years, he slept without the overpowering consciousness of impending disaster and today for the first time in almost as long, he walks the streets a free man, afraid to look as one in the face, knowing he has paid the debt the law and society has demanded of him.

"I believe the evidence in this hearing has been such that the applicant should be allowed to take the oath," said United States Commissioner Walter Colquitt late in the afternoon and as he spoke the prison doors forever swung shut behind the white-haired old man.

LIBERTY COUNTY BOY TO TRAINING SCHOOL.

He Robbed the Postoffice Till of $58.40 Last January.

(Savannah Press.) Judge Speer was confronted by a difficult and pathetic case in the United States court yesterday when he received the plea of guilty interposed by Walter Horne, a young white man from Ludowici. The theft was committed last January.

Horne, who is 15 years old, admitted that he robbed the postoffice till at Ludowici of $58.40. His father was postmaster. The father was in court to speak for the boy, and he wept bitterly while the case was under consideration. He stated by way of extenuation for the offense of the lad that when a child Walter was shot in the head and since then has not been altogether mentally responsible.

Judge Speer was sorry for the young fellow, but his duty compelled him to impose some penalty, so he sentenced the defendant to the National Training School for Boys at Washington for one year and a day. The father made full restitution to the government promptly upon the discovery of the loss.

EXPECT RUSSIA TO DECLARE WAR

China's Obstinate Regarding the Freedom of Russian Trade in Mongolia is the Reason for Persistent Rumor.

London, March 24.—Private cables received by London business houses from representatives in the far East today assert that it is expected Russia will soon declare war against China. The rate at Lloyd's to cover risks on the outbreak of hostilities within four weeks jumped this afternoon from five to ten guineas per cent.

China Obstinate.

St. Petersburg, March 24.—An official dispatch to the government from Peking today states that China remains obstinate regarding the freedom of Russian trade in Mongolia, maintaining that Russia is entitled merely to import non-Chinese goods and export products.

The dispatch adds that apparently the Chinese government intends to prolong the negotiations in the hope that Russia will back down.

To Mobilize Troops.

Vladivostok, March 24.—Persistent rumors are current here that a mobilization of troops soon will be ordered. The families of railroad employees on the Russian eastern lines are preparing to depart.

CORDELE GIVES NEW ROAD A PRAISE.

Georgia, Southwestern and Gulf Railway to Begin Extension of the Line at Once.

Cordele, Ga., March 25.—President W. M. Legg, of the Georgia Southwestern and Gulf Railroad, together with General Counsel Col. John D. Naldson, of Bainbridge, and local counsel, appeared before the mayor and city council of Cordele yesterday evening and secured a right of way for the extension of their road to Hawkinsville, a distance of 35 miles. The new road will run parallel with the tracks of the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad until it reaches the city limits and thence in a northeasterly direction to Tiptonville and Hawkinsville. Work of constructing the extension will begin as early as the management of the road can organize its forces. The work of extending the road from Albany, Ga., to St. Andrews Bay, Florida, will also begin at the same time. When completed this road will be another big trunk line from the Gulf coast to the Atlantic seaboard for Cordele.

A BOOK ON STATE STATISTICS JUST ISSUED

Atlanta, Ga., March 24.—A book, which is in the nature of a bulletin from the state agricultural department, containing a highly valuable compilation of facts and statistics concerning Georgia, has just been issued. The booklet which is entitled "Prosperous Georgia: the Ideal Home for All Classes," was prepared under direction of Commissioner T. G. Hudson, and the compilation itself is largely the work of Prof. J. T. Derry, statistician of the department, and Capt. R. F. Wright, assistant commissioner.

It is a publication that should have the widest distribution for it brings out in a concrete way the advantages of the state from an agricultural view point. There are scores of valuable tables and

TRAIN IS HELD UP BY TWO BANDITS.

Thousands of Dollars Stolen From Missouri Pacific Express. Passengers Are Robbed. Regular Dime Novel Hold-Up on Border Between Oklahoma and Kansas.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 24.—Two bandits held up a northbound Missouri Pacific train between Lenapah, Okla., and Coffeyville, Kans., shortly before midnight and escaped with thousands of dollars in registered mail and express packages.

Poses today are scouring the district around the two towns. The men are believed to have escaped to the southward. The men boarded the train at Lenapah and when the train reached the outskirts drew revolvers and forced the crew to take the train still farther out of town, where the men are believed to have had confederates waiting. Bags of registered mail were rifled in the mail car and the safe in the express car was blown. The value of the loot is not known, but it is believed to be great.

ONE OF THREE THINGS WILL HAPPEN

Straws Show That Prediction Made by Statesboro News May Soon Materialize.

The Statesboro News has been forecasting a little for the past thirty days or more on what may happen in local railroad circles. It has believed that certain signs indicate, certain results, and judging from the way the straws are pointing nowadays there is something going to happen.

As stated in our last issue there is an unusual amount of activity in local railroad circles. The visit of President W. J. Oliver and party looking over the S. A. & N. had been clearly forecasted by this paper. The fact that he went to Savannah and held a conference with the officials of the Seaboard Air Line and Savannah & Statesboro railway, meaning here as he did fresh from a conference with officials of the Georgia and Florida in Augusta and Richmond, means that the Savannah, Augusta & Northern will soon change hands.

Mr. Oliver gave out a statement here that he would either extend the line or sell it. Now that is exactly what we have been saying he was going to do; not extend but sell, or in other words be absorbed. As for extending the line, Mr. Oliver has no more intention of extending it beyond its intersection with the Georgia and Florida than he has of taking wings and flying. The S. A. & N. will soon fill the missing link between the Georgia and Florida line and Savannah.

One of these things is going to happen.

The News makes the following forecast:

First, the G. & Fla. Ry. will buy the S. A. & N. and use the S. & N. for a long time of years, giving us a through line from Augusta to Savannah. In this event all of the S. & S. offices will be abolished in Statesboro.

Second, the Seaboard Air Line will take over the S. & S. and S. A. & N. and put these lines under the supervision of Mr. Varnshaw, superintendent at Savannah, and operate the lines as a part of the Seaboard. If this deal goes through it also means a loss of the general offices of the S. & S. to Statesboro.

Third, the S. & S. will take over the S. A. & N. and give us a through line from Midville to Savannah. All train crews would have to move to Midville, but the general offices would remain in Statesboro.

One of the proposed deals is certainly going through, but we can not say as to the exact date, as the fiscal year with all roads ends on June 30th, and we may expect to hear of the change some time between now and June 30th, 1911.

The visit of Mr. Baoot, who is the operating officer of the S. & S. to Portsmouth, is suggestive at this time. The visit of Mr. W. B. Moore, who is auditor of the S. & S. to New York just at this time, also bears the earmarks that a man was wanted in New York who had on the tips of his fingers the figures bearing on the value and earning capacity of the Savannah and Statesboro railway.

It may be that the consolidation of the lines may be delayed until summer, on account of the fact that June 30th is the ending of

WILL CUT SEA ISLAND ACREAGE

The committee appointed to superintend a canvass of the county, circulating petitions asking the Sea Island cotton growers to agree to reduce their acreage in Sea Island cotton, met in the court house on Saturday and went over the reports. While the work had not been absolutely completed yet the greater portion of the growers had been reached, and the result of the canvass was very satisfactory to the parties in charge of the movement. Nearly 50 per cent as compared with last year's acreage, will be cut off this year. A great many sections are not going to plant it at all, and it is being cut out in every section of the county. In the Sink Hole district, where more Sea Island cotton is raised than in any three other districts in the county the reduction will be forty-three per cent. In other sections it will be reduced more than this. The next two weeks will tell the tale, and all eyes are on the farmers to see if they really mean it.

The Sea Island cotton growers met en masse at the court house at Statesboro Saturday morning at ten o'clock. Chairman A. M. Deal called the body to order. The canvassers of the several districts reported the results of their canvassing. More than six hundred pledges were secured from the leading farmers to reduce the acreage from 15 to 100 per cent, making the general average of 40 per cent throughout the county. It is highly probable the acreage will be cut 50 per cent, as the work is yet unfinished.

A strong sentiment is found to exist among the farmers to erect a manufacturing plant to manufacture Sea Island cotton. Some farmers signifying their willingness to subscribe stock to the amount of $500.00. All seem to be willing to take some. You need not be surprised to find in the near future an up-to-date, well operated Sea Island cotton factory owned and operated by the producers of Sea Island cotton.

SPURIOUS DIMES FLOATED IN TEXAS.

Hundreds of Counterfeit Pieces Discovered Along Mexican Border. Contained Real Silver.

San Antonio, Texas, April 2.—For some time many cities of Texas have been flooded with counterfeit dimes. When these were tested they were found to contain more silver than the genuine coins from the government mints, but the workmanship is poor. The coins were made from Mexican dollars, and these contain more silver than the American dollar.

It is said, too, that the counterfeiters succeeded in getting 15 American dimes out of one Mexican dollar, or, in other words, they could make $1.80 of circulating medium with 50 cents worth of silver.

It is estimated they put fully $10,000 of this spurious coinage into circulation in the past four months. Secret service men have been trying to locate the persons who manufacture these coins, and have been led a merry chase for several months.

Yesterday, however, they were more successful and arrested two Mexicans, Celso and Bernado Pelez, brothers, who reside in El Paso. The fact that the two men were living high and spending a good deal of money caused suspicion to be directed to them.

STORM ALABAMA JAIL AND LYNCH NEGRO.

Man Charged With 'Criminally Assaulting White Woman Is Speedily Strung Up and Body Riddled With Bullets.

Union Springs, Ala., April 2.—Aberdeen Johnson, a young man gro, was lynched on the outskirts of this place early this afternoon by a mob which came from Goshen, Pike county, this state.

The lynching followed the storming of the Bullock county jail here. The sheriff of Bullock was handcuffed and tied in the jail after the mob dispersed with the prisoner.

Johnson was charged with assaulting a white woman who lived near Goshen. After being strung up to a tree his body was riddled with bullets.

The crime was committed a month ago. Johnson was captured this morning about eight o'clock near Union Springs and placed in the Bullock county jail.

News of the capture quickly spread and a mob was formed early this morning at Goshen. They took the Central of Georgia train to Union Springs, arriving there about 10 o'clock. The mob was slow in forming their plan and the sheriff of Bullock county called up the governor at Montgomery immediately but while the soldiers were gathering in their armories there, the mob had stormed the jail and secured the prisoner.

Johnson was charged with assaulting a white woman who lived near Goshen. After being strung up to a tree his body was riddled with bullets.

ALFALFA IS GROWING GOOD NEAR WAYCROSS.

New Settler in Ware County Prepares to Clear Large Acreage For It.

Waycross, Ga., April 2.—At his farm six miles from Waycross, one of Ware's new settlers, W. E. Macey, of a Middle Western state, has alfalfa growing, and is so well pleased with his initial experiment that he is clearing a large acreage of alfalfa.

It has been contended for a long time that alfalfa, one of the greatest foods for stock known, could be raised successfully in South Georgia and some farmers in various sections have from time to time proven this contention. In Ware a number of farmers have grown a little alfalfa, but it remained for the new settlers to grasp the importance of the product.

Mr. Macey is located in a new place recently settled here, among whom are S. E. Couch, J. E. Weaver, D. E. Mudge and C. Honeck.

PLAN TO FLY FROM AIKEN TO CHARLESTON

Aviator Coffey Proposes to Carry a Passenger.

Charleston, S. C., March 30.—Great interest has been stirred up here through the announcement from Aiken that Aviator Frank Coffey, who had charge of the Wright Brothers' aviation school in Augusta, would shortly attempt a flight with a passenger, probably Thomas Hitecock, Jr., the multi-millionaire, who is keenly interested in aviation, from that village to Charleston. Mr. Coffey is reported to have secured information about landing places and wind conditions at Charleston and to have looked after the necessary preliminary arrangements. Should Mr. Coffey carry out his intention, it will be the most notable flight in the South, no other aviator having thus far undertaken to fly so far (130 miles) cross-country with a passenger. It is also stated here that Mr. Coffey plans to make the flight without a stop. Part of the country over which he and his companion will have to fly is very rough and a landing in these places would be very hazardous.

THE LORD INTERFERED AND HE HAD TO RETIRE.

Justice Drons Dead After Saying He Wouldn't Retire Unless the Lord Interfered.

Portland, Maine, March 31.—Death came to Henry C. Peabody, assistant associate justice of the supreme court of Maine, after he had told a companion that although not in the best of health, he had no intention of retiring unless the Lord should interfere.

Justice Peabody died from heart disease in one of the chambers of the supreme court room. He was 72 years of age.

JAS. H. TILLMAN DEAD IN ASHEVILLE.

Former Lieutenant Governor of South Carolina Passed Away at 9:45 Last Night After Long Illness.

Asheville, N. C., April 2.—With only his physician and a young nephew with him at the end, Col. James H. Tillman, the multi-millionaire, who is keenly interested in aviation, from that village to Charleston. Mr. Coffey is reported to have secured information about landing places and wind conditions at Charleston and to have looked after the necessary preliminary arrangements. Should Mr. Coffey carry out his intention, it will be the most notable flight in the most immediately. For many years Col. Tillman was one of the political leaders in South Carolina. He was a nephew of United States Senator Benjamin R. Tillman.

In 1903, following editorial criticisms in the Columbia State, he shot and killed on the streets of Columbia, the editor of that paper, N. G. Gonzales. A jury later acquitted him of the charge of murder. The body will be sent to the old Tillman home, Edgefield, S. C., for burial.

Undesirable Confirmation. Senator John Kern of Indiana, tells this story, says the Indianapolis Star, about his late predecessor, the late Senator Dan Voorhees:

Voorhees frequently made the claim that more Democrats than Republicans had been enrolled from Indiana in the Union army during the Civil War. On one occasion, he made the assertion in connection with a speech in Sullivan county.

"I guess anybody will admit that considerably more than half the people who went into the Union army from Sullivan county were Democrats," he declared, with emphasis.

A Democrat down in one of the front rows had taken a drink or two before he came to the meeting, and he confirmed Voorhees' statements. "Yes, it's true," he shouted. "God damn it, they drafted us."

SOUTHERN LAW PRACTICE.

"It's queer the way the laws in some of the Southern states differ from our laws up here," said Col. Allan T. Brinsmade, just back from a long trip through the South, says the Cleveland (O.) Leader.

"In Norfolk, Va., I sat one day recently beside a federal judge when a criminal case was being tried. The charge was, I think, robbing the United States mails. At 5 p. m. the judge turned aside and, speaking very quietly said: 'The jury will now retire.' 'A recess, I suppose,' I observed.

"No, he said. 'The jury is about to retire to consider the evidence and give its verdict.' 'But you did not charge the jury,' I remarked in a puzzled way.

"We do not charge the juries in this jurisdiction," he replied. "Five minutes later the jury filed in with a verdict of acquittal. From what I had heard of the evidence the verdict would, in all likelihood, have been guilty had the judge charged the jury. 'In Savannah a day or two later I was in a court room where a divorce case was being tried before a jury. The wife, who was the plaintiff, was given the verdict.

"So she gets her divorce," I remarked to a lawyer friend. "'N. now,' he replied. 'In this state when in a divorce case the verdict goes to the plaintiff, the case must be tried again at the next term of court. If the plaintiff wins again the divorce is granted. 'If, however, at the first trial the defendant wins the case is all over. Queen law that, but the judge said it was working well—that after the first verdict in favor of the plaintiff a reconciliation was often brought about.'"

A Specific Order. A nice old lady recently called at the cutlery department of a large Market street store and told a salesman that she wished to buy a good razor for her husband.

"What kind of a razor do you wish, madame?" courteously inquired the salesman as he prepared to show her his wares. "I really don't know," replied the woman. "I suppose I'll have to ask your advice. Tell me what kinds you have."

The salesman forthwith told his prospective customer that he had razors suited to every shaver, whether his beard was downy or strong, and also that the blades were made of various widths and weights. On receiving this information, the old lady pondered the matter and then said:

"Suppose you give me something for a man 62 years old, who weighs 210 pounds."—Philadelphia Record.

The Guilty Party. "Who signed Magna Charta?" asked the school inspector thunderously, says the Housekeeper. The village class sat mute.

"Who signed Magna Charta?" roared the inspector again. "Please, sir," wailed little Billy Smith, "it won't me."

The inspector snorted. The class was the most ignorant it had ever been his lot to examine. He strode from the room and outside met the school-mistress. Angerily he narrated the last incident.

"Who'd you say said that, sir?" queried the mistress. "William Smith," snorted the inspector.

"Bill Smith," repeated the teacher. "Then don't you believe him, sir. It's the biggest liar here. You may take my word for it, he done it."

"Have you any remedy for our over-crowded prisons?" "Yes—look up the honest men instead of the crooks."—Chicago Post.

SEE IS GLAD TO SEE HAREM SKIRT.

One Step Nearer Trousers. Dr. Mary Walker at Semi-Centennial of Donning Pants.

New York, March 30.—Dr. Mary Walker today celebrated a semi-centennial all her own. It was just fifty years ago, according to the newspaper records, that Dr. Mary Walker, then a handsome young woman, adopted masculine attire. Ever since 1861 she has always appeared in public clad in trousers, frock coat and high hat. She has bravely outlived the criticism and merriment caused by her action and her clothes are now accepted as a matter of course by the statesmen at Albany, to whom she is a familiar figure.

When she first began to wear pants Dr. Walker declared that all American women would speedily follow her example. While disappointed in this belief she finds encouragement in the harem skirt, which, she points out, is a revival of the bloomers invented by Mrs. Amelia Jenks Bloomer back in 1864 and which had a short vogue in this country. While the harem skirt is an improvement over skirts, says Dr. Mary Walker, it is not nearly as good as the trousers.

Dr. Walker asserts that corsets and skirts are responsible for much of the disease and sickness in this world, and that men suffer as well as women, since no woman can be perfectly healthy and bear healthy children under the present regime.

That women are free, legally, to adopt masculine attire whenever they wish is the declaration of Dr. Walker, who brands as a falsehood the old story that she had a special law passed by Congress giving her the right to wear pants. All a woman has to do, she says, is to adopt men's clothes and keep on wearing them until the clamor subsides. There is no law to prevent, she asserts.

Women have legs as well as men, declares Dr. Walker, and they ought to have them protected as well as men.

A Fierce Night Alarm is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin of Manchester, O., (R. R. No. 2) for their four children were greatly subject to croup. SPANISH CABINET RESIGNS IN BODY. Premier Canalejas Finds Himself Without His Trusted Advisers.

Madrid, April 1.—The cabinet of Premier Canalejas resigned today.

The Canalejas cabinet was formed on February 9, 1910, and reorganized on January 1 last. Canalejas in forcing religious reforms encountered the bitter opposition of the Catholics, and his course resulted in practical suspension of diplomatic relations between the government and the Vatican. The premier has, however, been credited with the support of King Alfonso. His bill of associations, aimed to regulate the societies, which he refused to submit first to the holy see, was approved last Tuesday. It was to be introduced April 6.

ROPE-SKIPPING CONTEST PROVED FATAL TO GIRL.

Eight Year Old May Tamplin Third Victim in New York in Two Weeks.

New York, March 31.—The third death in New York City, during a fortnight, from excessive rope skipping by school girls, is being investigated by the coroner's office. May Tamplin, 8 years old, is the latest victim. She died late yesterday after engaging with several of her fellow pupils in a rope skipping contest for the championship of her school. She won the honors, hurdling the rope 698 times, but was taken to her home almost unconscious from exhaustion.

"Polley's Honey and Tar is the best quick remedy I ever used as it quickly stopped a severe cough that had long troubled me," says J. W. Kuhn, Princeton, Neb. Just so quickly and surely it acts in all cases of coughs, colds, la grippe and lung trouble. Refuse substitutes. W. H. Ellis Co.

W. J. OLIVER BUYS INTERURBAN LINES. He Will Also Control Lighting Plant of Three Carolina Towns.

Salisbury, N. C., April 1.—A transaction involving $1,000,000 was closed here last night, whereby 51 per cent of the stock of the street railroad, electric light and power and gas companies of Salisbury, Concord and Spencer, N. C., was sold to William J. Oliver, of Knoxville.

The purchase also includes the electric interurban line of 22 miles connecting Salisbury with Spouter, where the Southern railway has large shops.

Mr. Oliver will make extensive improvements to the properties. Report of Purchase Verified. Charlotte, N. C., April 1.—A statement made by the president of the Salisbury-Spencer Street Railway and Power Company verified the statement that W. J. Oliver, of Knoxville, with three associates, have acquired a controlling interest in the systems named in the Knoxville dispatch.

The company, besides owning the city plants in the three towns, own other properties in the places. The statement is further that construction of the interurban road between Concord and Salisbury will begin at once.

Playing the Fiddle. Mgr. James P. Turner, chancellor of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Philadelphia, has a trait in common with the late Archbishop Ryan, which enables him to decline to do something without leaving a sting, says the Philadelphia Times.

Like his late chief, he usually tells a story and then escapes committing himself. Since the balloting for a successor to Archbishop Ryan he has been importuned, cajoled and otherwise up for a word that would give an idea as to what was the result of the balloting. As he is sworn to secrecy he must keep quiet.

To a group of newspaper men he said: "Once there was an assistant to a man who held a responsible position. This assistant took upon himself much of the credit for his employer's popularity. One day he complained, saying: 'I'm tired of playing second fiddle.'"

"The trouble with you is that you are trying to play first violin before you have learned how to play that second fiddle," was his employer's kindly but firm admonition.

MOTOR CAR AGENT IS HORSEWHIPPED.

J. W. Heidt, of Pooler, Severely Beaten by Wm. C. Howland.

Savannah, Ga., April 1.—William C. Howland, a lumber inspector, in the employ of the Granges & Lewis Company, this afternoon assaulted with a horse-whip and subjected to a severe beating, J. W. Heidt, of Pooler, local agent for the Metz runabouts. The encounter took place on a public street, and was witnessed by a large number of people.

Howland and his son, William, were on Bull street in a buggy, when Heidt drove up in his automobile. It is stated by those who witnessed the encounter that the auto bumped into the buggy. It is further stated that Heidt immediately offered to pay for whatever damage had been done, but Howland, senior, got out of his buggy, and, whip in hand, proceeded against the automobile man. Heidt was lashed pretty severely before his opponent desisted.

Heidt was asked by spectators why he did not defend himself. He replied that Howland should take some one his own size to fight. Howland immediately offered the whip to his son, saying: "Here is someone who is your own size." However, the young man did not take up the quarrel.

ATTENTION, FARMERS!

I am again representing the Southern Gypsum Company for the sale of their famous

Pierson Land Plaster.

This is the greatest producer known for Peanuts. You will absolutely have no pops when this is used. The peanut growers of Virginia and North Carolina use it altogether for growing peanuts, and say they cannot make good, sound peanuts without it. It has been used by hundreds of the best farmers in Bulloch county the past two seasons, who can testify to the great benefits derived from its use. It is used as a top dressing, by sprinkling it on the vines after the peanuts begin to bear.

It is recommended to sow in the evening or early in the morning, or just after a shower, as it is found that much benefit results from its adhering well to the leaves. A gloomy, hazy day is also a good time for the job. Application, about 200 lbs. per acre. Try it and be convinced that this is the greatest thing you ever used for making peanuts.

I will have some one to represent me at all the principal shipping points in the county. I will make my order about the 1st of May, so get your orders in by that time. Circulars and testimonials sent free on application.

THE SENATORIAL SITUATION.

Certain newspapers in Georgia, few in number we are pleased to state are trying to create a false impression of the status of the senatorial situation. The few mentioned are those few who are supporting the present incumbent, who is a temporary appointee of the man whom we absolutely controlled.

The effort to have it appear that Gov. Elbert H. Smith is hiding behind a post ready to spring upon the senatorial plan at the first opportunity, does the Governor-elect a great injustice; in fact these statements are printed with their end in view. The men who insist that Hoke Smith is a candidate only awaiting an opportunity to seize the senatorial plum, are the men who know less than any body on this broad universe about Hoke Smith's intentions.

It is who continually parade Gov. Elbert Smith's attitude know less about it than does the average man in the field, and he knows absolutely nothing; the only difference between the two classes of know-nothings is that the one knows nothing and the other knows enough to admit it, and the other fellow is not.

The editor of this paper is as close to the Governor-elect as any man in Georgia; he served on the committee that induced him to enter the last race, in which he won a glorious victory, and he has had the confidence of Gov. Smith ever since. He was with the Governor at lunch on Saturday, and has had frequent conferences with him during the interval when this question has been foremost before the public.

To say that Gov. Smith would refuse the senatorship under any and all conditions, were it tendered him, would not only do him wrong, but the state an injustice as well. Under certain conditions the senatorship were tendered him with any degree of unanimity by the General Assembly, and the affairs of the governor's office were in such shape that they could be turned over without sacrifice of certain great principles to which the Governor-elect has been wedded, he would accept it, and it would be his duty to do so. We are among those who believe that Georgia will be making a good investment when she incurs the expense of another gubernatorial election in order to fill the shoes of Senator Clay in the upper branch of the National Congress with a man of the acknowledged ability of Hoke Smith. Georgia would rank first in the councils of the nation by reason of this fact, and it will be unfortunate if conditions are such that he cannot serve his state in this connection at this time, but this is possible.

If the present extra session of Congress should drag well into the summer and early fall as it is expected to do now, and if it became necessary for the new senator to qualify and go to Washington at once, then Governor Smith would be forced to decline the honor were it tendered him by a unanimous vote of the legislature. If on the other hand he could serve his term as Governor in the fall, in time for the opening of the regular term in December he could afford to accept, otherwise he could not do so. He makes his regretment to his friends. He regrets very much the fact that his name is being used in connection with the senatorship. He fears that this will hinder him somewhat in bringing about the passage of certain important legislation he is pledged to assist in bringing about.

It is really his ambition to serve out his term of Governor to which the people called him. The statement made in certain quarters that he regrets the fact that he was elected Governor is also wide of the mark. The election of Hoke Smith to that office on earth would not have vindicated him as it would have elected him to the office that a mistaken people turned him down for. He appreciates this honor more than he does a commission as United States Senator. He stands today as being absolutely vindicated before his own people and that is the highest treasure an honest man can possess. The Senatorship can take care of itself. Gov. Smith will look well after the office to which the people have called him for the second time. He may or may not go to the Senate this time. If he does he will go there with clean hands and with the good will and endorsement of his people. If he does not go now the people of a great loyal state will call him at another time for this place.

COTTON SPINNERS SQUEALING.

A Memphis, Tenn., dispatch of Saturday last states that "gigantic land deals have been closed by the Spinnings of Manchester, England." The report says that thirty-two thousand acres of cotton lands in the Mississippi Valley have been bought by the English long staple cotton spinners to grow long staple cotton on, in order to meet the "Sea Island Grover's combine of Georgia, Carolina and Florida.

Now this shows us that these people are beginning to wake up and believe that the Sea Island cotton growers are in earnest about cutting down the crop and demanding a decent price for their product. Their agents in the field have doubtless sent reports that have alarmed them a little, and the fact that they are making such a stupendous effort to force the southern Sea Island cotton grower to sell them their cotton at a sacrifice, should leave no room on the part of the farmer to know that it is not a matter of overproduction or a lack of demand for our staple. If they had more cotton stored than they can use, as they claim, then why all this effort to corner some rich Mississippi Valley lands to grow a substitute for that they have failed to buy at their own figures in the Sea Island markets.

In our opinion the Mississippi Delta experiment in raising a staple that will compete with that of the Sea Island cotton grown on the Atlantic coast between Charleston and the Gulf coast of Florida will fail, as all other efforts to grow it have done. They can grow a long staple cotton in Mississippi. It is true, something akin to our Florida, but when they succeed in growing something that will take the place of our best grades of Sea Island cotton then they will have a corner on the long cotton industry and not before.

There is no staple grown anywhere on the face of the earth that can be used in the finer fabrics and in the manufacture of spool cotton in competition with Sea Island cotton grown in this vicinity.

This should serve the farmer with notice of the further importance of cutting the acreage, and in the care of that staple he does grow. The Sea Island cotton grower is confronted with the most powerful and determined foe they have ever encountered, but the remedy is in their hands. Let 'em squeal all they want to, a few trials at raising Sea Island cotton in the boll weevil district of the Southwest will bring the spinners to their knees and make them willing to pay the value of a product which is peculiarly adapted to this particular climate, and which can be grown successfully nowhere else on the face of the globe.

Gentlemen, if you fail to cut your acreage you will find yourselves and neighbors with a big crop of Sea Island cotton on your hands next fall, with no market for it whatever.

The time to meet this condition is now. Two weeks from now, after you have pitched your crops will be too late.

The wise will take heed, when the warning is written in letters so plain that "He who runs may read."

STOVALL'S NOMINATION.

Mighty Good Timber. (Columbia Sentinel.)

The Sentinel believes that Hon. P. A. Stovall, of the Savannah Press, is a mighty good senatorial timber, and would do honor to the state and credit to himself in going to the Senate this time. If he does he will go there with clean hands and with the good will and endorsement of his people. If he does not go now the people of a great loyal state will call him at another time for this place.

The Augusta Chronicle nominates Hon. P. A. Stovall, of the Savannah Press, as a successor to Senator Terrell. The Savannah editor is one of the ablest gentlemen in Georgia political life, and has hosts of friends who would rejoice at his election before the Georgia legislature.

Stand Good Chance. (Savannah Forest Blade.)

Pleasant A. Stovall of Savannah, is being boomed for the United States senate, and his friends think he stands about the best chance of any man in the race.

Stovall for Senator. (Oglethorpe Echo.)

Editor Pleasant Stovall, of Savannah, is the latest meteor to emblazon Georgia's senatorial sky. Georgia could do herself less honor than bestow the senatorial toga upon Pleasant and yet not be dishonored.

Do Himself Honor. (Oglethorpe Echo.)

The time to meet this condition is now. Two weeks from now, after you have pitched your crops will be too late.

The Sentinel believes that Hon. P. A. Stovall, of the Savannah Press, is a mighty good senatorial timber, and would do honor to the state and credit to himself in going to the Senate this time. If he does he will go there with clean hands and with the good will and endorsement of his people. If he does not go now the people of a great loyal state will call him at another time for this place.

DYING HE SINGS

FOR MOTHER.

(From the Washington Post.)
Wilkesbarre, Pa.—With arms and leg burned off by electric wires, and so terribly injured that his death was certain, John Grady, of Nanticoke, this morning sang his mother's favorite song, as he was carried in the house, to prevent her being suddenly shocked and alarmed by his unexpected return.

It was "The Top of The Morn," and when the aged woman came to inquire why he was returning home he told her he had been slightly burned. He saved her from a sudden shock and died 2 hours later.

He was repairing wires when he was electrocuted by a current of 4,000 volts being accidentally turned into the wires. Before he could be released, both arms had been burned off near the elbow and one leg off near the knee. Despite his dreadful injuries he never lost his courage.

Warning to Railroad Men.

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroadings. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroadings left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and in my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." W. H. Ellis Co.

KIPLING'S

WINE SUBSTITUTE.

Rudyard Kipling wrote a story recently for a Philadelphia magazine which dealt with an English woman's club, its meetings, etc., says the Philadelphia Times. In the story Kipling makes the following remarks: "Again the wine was served. Each member partook of the flowing wine. The servants again filled the bottles." The story was read by the local editor. Finding so many references to liquor and drinking, he carefully scrutinized the story once more, deciding that there was too much wine for his publication, whereupon he decided to cable Mr. Kipling. In the cablegram a request was made to the writer to tone down the story, also suggesting that something else be substituted for the wine.

Kipling answered by cable: "Use condensed milk."

Entitled to a Pension.

A Philadelphian who had recently returned from a visit in Washington, put his hand in his pocket during a conversation at the University Club the other night and pulled out a slip of paper, says the Philadelphia Times. "My life is an official in the pension department," he said, "and he told me of some pretty funny applications he used to get. This was one of them, and I thought it was so rich I copied it. Read it for yourselves."

The letter was as follows: "The way I got my war injury was a-ke-tchin' of a hog. The hog were a sow hog and our captain wanted her for forage. We was chasin' the sow, and she crawled threw a hoar be a rail fence—it were a big hoar, and I thot I were about the size of the hog and tried to crawl threw, but I stunk, and tried to wiggle out. I throbbed the shins off and one hit me on my head and necked me senseless. I do not think the sow had nothing to do with my line for duty for I did not catch the hog. Which she never were caught."

BY ALL MEANS BUILD COTTON FACTORY.

(Communicated.)
This is the age of trusts and combines. All the cotton factories of the world seem to work together in harmony. They meet, fix a price to pay for the raw material for their needs and buy it at their price. They realize that their interests are the same, so they combine and control to their mutual good, and to the injury of the producers of the staple.

Every time we farmers start a new crop it is a leap in the dark, because we don't know what the trusts are going to allow us for our staple—especially the long staple crop of cotton.

There is a remedy. It is an easy one if just pushed. Our cotton is worthless till it is spun into thread. Then it is in shape to be of benefit to the consumers throughout the world. We don't any more know what becomes of our Sea Island cotton than a pig knows when Sunday comes. We can't find out. The factories will not allow any one to enter to inspect or find out anything about what becomes of the Sea Island cotton after it gets into the hands of the spinner. They prefer to keep the people who produce the staple ignorant of what becomes of it. They don't want the producer to know anything about what it profits them to spin our cotton into thread and weave it into silk. So long as they can control and run things their way, they have no reason to worry or complain, nor do they. They guard their interests as business men should, probably, and tell no tales out of school.

I don't think that one hundred thousand bales of Sea Island cotton should "glut" the market to the extent that there be no market at all. The spinners know it is made—they know they have the only factories in the world that can use it—they know they will get it for what they want to pay for it, or they think they will. They always have. Those spinners look upon the people in the south of the U. S. A. as being unable to operate and maintain a manufacturing plant of this kind. They think that we are too poor to establish such a plant. They know we have never come together and they think we never will. But if they saw we were really going to put in a big, up-to-date mill right here where it is grow, they would sit up and take notice. They would begin to get good. We would immediately get better prices.

Right here in Statesboro is where we need a Sea Island factory, and I am fully convinced it is coming to be right here. Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars will put in the plant and I believe the farmers of Bulloch county alone will subscribe that amount. Because there is profit both ways to them. Their stock in the factory will pay them big dividends and cotton will sell a good deal higher because of competition. I honestly believe that ten dollars in stock in our factory—notice, I am coming up to the real thing—will cost the farmer less than nothing. Why do I believe it? First, because if the foreign spinner will not pay us a good price for our cotton, we will make it into articles such as the world must have and sell it at a profit. Do this at home. Thereby having two chances where we now have only one.

Where is the money coming from? Right from the farmers themselves. Let every farmer who makes a bale of Sea Island take some stock in the factory. The stock will earn him money. There is money in a cotton factory. Mr. S. L. Nevill stated not long since, he saw an account of dividends declared by some factories up East, and those dividends were twice the amount of the whole cost of the cotton crop for that year. Think of it. Net profit of $14,000,000 with only $7,000,000 invested in material. $14,000,000 all clear profit. It is easy to see that we farmers are not getting what we ought and will get when we get out after it right.

I want every farmer who is not willing to take $100's worth of stock in a Sea Island cotton factory at Statesboro to write me a letter and tell me his reasons. I feel sure I can find more men who will take from ten to fifty dollars of stock than I will find men to take one. At any rate, let us begin to plan and think about this. It is coming before you for your consideration pretty soon.

Very truly,
B. R. OLLIFF.

REMARKABLE $20,000,000 RAILROAD IS COMPLETED.

New Guggenheim-Morgan Line Is 197 Miles Long.

Cordova, Alaska, March 30.—The spike completing the Copper River and Northwestern Railroad between Cordova on the tidewater and Kennecott where the Bonanza copper mountains is situated, was driven today. Trains will be in operation over the entire line within two days and the first ore will be shipped from Kennecott for the Tacoma smelter on Monday or Tuesday next.

Work on the railroad, which is 197 miles long and cost $20,000,000, was begun Nov. 15, 1907. The railroad is owned by the Alaska Syndicate, which is popularly known as the Guggenheim-Morgan Syndicate, which also owns the Alaska Steamship Company and copper mines. Construction of the road was one of the most remarkable engineering feats of modern times.

WAS LORRIMER'S SEAT PURCHASED

Senate Committee at Last Gets to Bottom of Matter. Lorimer's Election Cost Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Springfield, Ill., April 5.—H. H. Kohlsaat, publisher of the Chicago Herald, today told the senate bribery investigating committee that Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester Company, was the man who informed Mr. Kohlsaat that a "slush fund" of $100,000 was put up to elect William Lorimer to the United States senate.

To the first question of Attorney J. J. Healy, Mr. Kohlsaat identified a telegram sent by him to Chairman Helm saying his confidant called at the Record-Herald office and was willing to appear before the committee.

"When I arrived at my office Mr. Clarence Funk called and told me he would be less than a man if he held me to my confidence," testified Mr. Kohlsaat.

All Agreeable.

"Mr. Funk told me that he talked with Cyrus R. McCormick, president of the company, and told him he thought he ought to release me, whereupon Mr. McCormick said:

"Good; that is exactly what I want. I do not care for the consequences to the International Harvester Company."

"I met Mr. Funk about thirty days after the confession of White. He did not seek me out at all. Mr. Funk told me the man who came to him told him they had an opportunity to elect Lorimer with a fund of $100,000. They sent it down and Mr. Funk told me they were looking for reimbursement."

Mr. Funk was the next witness called. His attention was called to a conversation with Edward C. Hines, shortly after the Lorimer election. The witness said:

Cost $100,000 to Do It.

"The conversation took place in the Union League Club house. It was an accidental meeting. He said he had been waiting to see me and we sat in the lounge room. Hines said to me without preliminaries:

"Well, we put Lorimer in, but it cost $100,000 to do it."

"He said: 'We had to act quickly, so that it became necessary for us to put up the money. Now we are seeing some of our friends to get it fixed up.'"

"He gave me to understand that they wanted to be reimbursed, and I asked him why he came to us, and he said: 'You are interested as much as any one in having the right kind of a man in Washington.'"

"I told him that we would have nothing to do with it."

A Flat Denial.

Chicago, April 5.—Edward Hines late today denied absolutely the story told the committee of the legislature which is investigating the election of United States Senator William Lorimer, that he, Hines, had solicited a fund of $100,000 to reimburse those who had "put up" for the senator's election.

Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester Company, confirmed Mr. Funk's statement before the senate bribery investigating committee that the Hines incident had been discussed by officials of the International.

COCA-COLA WINS FIGHT

Judge Sustains the Motion of the Defendants that Caffeine is Not an Added Nor Deleterious Ingredient.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 6.—Judge Sanford took his seat on the bench of the federal court shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon he delivered his opinion in the matter of the motion for peremptory instructions in the case of the United States government vs. 40 barrels and 20 kegs of Coca-Cola, which has been on trial here for the past three weeks.

This motion was argued yesterday, consisting of 5,000 words. In his opinion Judge Sanford sustained the motion on certain points to the effect that caffeine is not an added nor deleterious ingredient, but overruled the motion on points relating to the misbranding feature holding that these were questions for the jury to pass upon.

Thereupon counsel for government moved to dismiss the case without prejudice on the points relating to misbranding. The court then directed the jury to return a verdict for the defense, which was accordingly done. Government counsel entered a motion of appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati.

Mr. McTier is his confidential business manager, and keeps in close touch with him. The party will go from here to Savannah.

CHAMP CLARK WIELDS GAVEL OVER HOUSE

62nd Congress Meets in Extraordinary Session With Democrats Controlling

CLARK GIVEN AN OVATION WHEN HE TOOK THE OATH

There Was a Great Crowd Present When Congress Assembled, and the Interest in the Proceedings Was Intense. Mann Is Named Floor Leader by Republicans.

Political Complexions of the 62d Congress.

The political complexion of the sixty-second congress, convened in extraordinary session, is as follows:

Senate — Republicans 50, Democrats 41, vacancy 1.

House — Democrats 228, Republicans 160, Socialist 1, vacancies 2.

In the sixty-first congress, which adjourned March 4, the senate membership was:

Republicans 59, Democrats 32, vacancy 1.

The house membership was:

Republicans 217, Democrats 174.

The senate vacancy is from Colorado. The legislature of that state has elected a successor to the late Senator Delivered, whose seat now is occupied by Lafayette Young.

The house vacancies are from the ninth Iowa and the second Pennsylvania districts.

Washington, April 4.—The sixty-second congress, called by President Taft in extraordinary session to consider the reciprocity agreement with Canada, got under way today.

The insurgent Republicans of the house in their votes for speaker indicated that they intend to maintain a separate working organization. Fifteen of them voted for Representative Cooper, of Wisconsin. Representative Norris of Nebraska, Madison of Kansas, however, temporarily deserted and voted with the regular Republicans for Mr. Mann. They son Akin, the "Independent Democrat" of New York, also voted for Cooper. Victor L. Berger, of Wisconsin, the only socialist in the house, declined to vote.

Interest in the House.

The interest of opening day centered almost entirely in the house and the routine proceedings of the senate were all but forgotten. The re-elected and new senators were sworn in under the old regime and then a recess was ordered to await the organization of the house and the report of a committee appointed to wait upon the president.

It is not likely that the president's message, which will deal only with Canadian reciprocity, will not be read until tomorrow.

Representative McCall, of Massachusetts, who introduced the bill at the last session of congress to carry the reciprocity agreement into effect, reintroduced his measure today and it was referred to the Democratic committee on ways and means, where it will be sidetracked for a similar measure of Democratic origin.

Speaker Clark, in assuming of office in the house, made an address in which he elaborated the legislative program already outlined by the Democratic caucus.

The threat of the Democrats to balk on the reciprocity agreement in the hope of forcing the senate to act on tariff bills, holds no terror for the senate, for many senators, opposed to reciprocity, have stated that they don't care how long the agreement is held up in the house.

Galleries Were Crowded.

The scenes in the house were filled with unusual interest for house galleries, as also were those of the senate, where the galleries were crowded to overflowing early in the day.

Alexander McDowell, for sixteen years a clerk in the house and about to retire in favor of former Representative South Trimble, of Kentucky, called the house to order and made a valedictory speech in which he thanked the members of past congresses for past favors and thanked the members of the new congress for what they were about to do to him.

William Jennings Bryan and Gov. Judson Harmon, of Ohio, were interested spectators of the organization of the house and were greeted with cheers as they appeared on the floor.

Former Speaker Cannon's appearance was not noticed, but when his name was called as a member of the Illinois delegation there was a round of applause.

After Clerk McDowell had called the house to order, Chaplain Condon offered prayer and the clerk called the roll of states to ascertain the presence of a quorum. Mr. Clark all the while was waiting in his office to be notified that he had been chosen to preside over the house for the next two years. The roll call disclosed the presence of 365 members of a total membership of 391.

Election of Speaker.

Nominations for speaker then went in order. Mr. Clark was nominated by the Republican caucus. Mr. Mann was nominated by the Democratic caucus. Mr. Mann was nominated by Representative Currier, of New Hampshire, chairman of the Republican caucus. The insurgents did not go through the formality of nominating their candidate, Mr. Cooper.

Neither Mr. Clark nor Mr. Mann voted. Mr. Cooper voted for Norris, of Nebraska.

The insurgents who voted for Mr. Cooper, in addition to Akin, New York, were:

Anderson, of Minnesota; Davidson, of Wisconsin; LaFollette, of Wisconsin; Lafferty, Oregon; Jackson, Kansas; Kent, California; Lemont, Wisconsin; Muddick, Kansas; Nelson, Wisconsin; and Warburton, Washington.

When Clerk McDowell announced the vote by which Mr. Clark was elected the house broke into cheers. When Mr. Clark appeared at the main door on the arm of Mr. Mann there was a round of applause.

Mr. Mann cheered for order. "It is a great office," he said slowly, "and filled by a great man. Gentlemen, I present to you your speaker, the Hon. Champ Clark, of Missouri."

Mr. Clark himself rapped for order, this time to stop the applause and then launched into his speech. He frequently was interrupted by applause.

Mrs. Taft, wife of the president, with Miss Helen Taft, Master Charles Taft and Horace D. Taft, brother of the president, occupied the presidential gallery in the house.

Clark Takes the Oath.

When Mr. Clark concluded his address he requested that the oath of office be administered by Representative Taft, of Maryland. The members arose as Mr. Taft read the oath and Mr. Clark subscribed to it. The new speaker brought the gavel down with resounding whack and announced:

"The house will be in order."

When the demonstration subsided members advanced by state delegations to be sworn in. Representative Oscar Underwood was the first, as he led the Alabama delegation. Speaker Clark administered the oath. As the last had been sworn in the speaker called forward the four quakers of the house, who affirm their allegiance to the United States. They were Representatives Butler, Griest and A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, and Houlton, of Delaware.

The election of the officers of the house followed. The veteran Republican officials were proposed by Representative Currier, of New Hampshire, but were defeated with the exception of the blind chaplain. The officers chosen were:

Clerk—South Trimble, of Kentucky.

Sergeant-at-arms—U. S. Jackson, of Indiana.

Doorkeeper—J. J. Smith, of Virginia.

Postmaster—William M. Dunbar, of Georgia.

Chaplain—Rev. Henry N. Condon, of Michigan.

At 1:35 a messenger appeared from the senate to announce the organization of that body and request a committee to notify the president that congress was ready for business.

Speaker Clark appointed Representatives Underwood, Bartlett and Mann as this notification committee.

Certain Leaders Honored.

Before the drawing of seats began Representative Burleson presented a resolution giving to certain leaders of both parties the honor of selecting their own seats. Those favored individuals were former Speaker Cannon, James R. Mann, H. H. Bingham, of Pennsylvania; Seneca Payne Bland, of Pennsylvania; and John Dalzell, of New York, and Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama.

Mr. Edwards also introduced several other important bills. One of these is to return to the people of the South the cotton tax money which was illegally levied on them during the war. Georgia has several million dollars in this claim. With a Democratic House there is reason to believe that this measure will soon be put through. In behalf of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company, the government is asked to pay $41,880.08, this claim having originated while the railroad company was transferring mails for the federal authorities during the war.

The last bill Mr. Edwards introduced is to pay to the estate of James Doyle of Savannah, $2,717.61 for property taken by federal soldiers during the war.

In the matter of securing the sub-treasury the assistance of the Savannah Chamber of Commerce in providing statistics will no doubt be of great value.

One big improvement consists in use of field bakeries. In recent years the commissary department has established schools for cooks and bakers at Washington barracks, at Fort Riley and at the Presidio, San Francisco. The field bakery appliances were tested and found excellent in the camps last summer. Now they have been sent to Texas, and for the first time since the civil war, the troops in service are supplied with bread made through the instrumentalities of the government itself. The bakeries have been shipped to San Antonio, Galveston and San Diego, with competent men to operate them, and they are already turning out bread for the troops.

If an advance were ordered the rations furnished in camp would be largely discarded. The commissary officers would send to the most advanced depot great quantities of bacon and canned meats,hardtack, coffee, sugar and salt. Troops going beyond the advanced depot would carry in their haversacks made up of these articles. In all the fighting of the American armies it has been found that nothing so well serves the purpose of troops when they have days of marching and battling on hand as bacon,hardtack and coffee, and these articles are what the soldiers will eat if they cross into Mexico.

It costs about the same to feed troops whether they are in garrison or in field. The ration this year costs 23.62 cents. This is considerably more than the cost several years ago. The reason is that the cost of living has gone up and the army has felt it as well as the family.

GOING AFTER SUB-TREASURY

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Savannah will be made a sub-treasury if the members of the Georgia delegation in Congress, support a bill that Congressman Edwards introduced today to that effect.

Realizing that Savannah is the most important port along the South Atlantic seaboard, Mr. Edwards has begun an early movement to have Congress make that city a branch of the federal treasury. Two or three years ago this matter was before Congress, and several cities were trying to secure the plum. The fight finally became so warm that the session devoted to anything could be accomplished.

"I am determined to push this bill," said Mr. Edwards. "And I have the assistance of the other members of the Georgia delegation in Congress. I see no reason why I should not be successful. Congressman Underwood of Alabama, will also try for a sub-treasury, but as Birmingham clears through Savannah, the latter city is the logical point for its location."

As Congressman Brantley is a member of the Ways and Means Committee, his influence in behalf of Savannah will be of inestimable benefit. I propose to do all I can to get it for Savannah."

Mr. Edwards also introduced several other important bills. One of these is to return to the people of the South the cotton tax money which was illegally levied on them during the war. Georgia has several million dollars in this claim. With a Democratic House there is reason to believe that this measure will soon be put through. In behalf of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company, the government is asked to pay $41,880.08, this claim having originated while the railroad company was transferring mails for the federal authorities during the war.

The last bill Mr. Edwards introduced is to pay to the estate of James Doyle of Savannah, $2,717.61 for property taken by federal soldiers during the war.

In the matter of securing the sub-treasury the assistance of the Savannah Chamber of Commerce in providing statistics will no doubt be of great value.

One big improvement consists in use of field bakeries. In recent years the commissary department has established schools for cooks and bakers at Washington barracks, at Fort Riley and at the Presidio, San Francisco. The field bakery appliances were tested and found excellent in the camps last summer. Now they have been sent to Texas, and for the first time since the civil war, the troops in service are supplied with bread made through the instrumentalities of the government itself. The bakeries have been shipped to San Antonio, Galveston and San Diego, with competent men to operate them, and they are already turning out bread for the troops.

If an advance were ordered the rations furnished in camp would be largely discarded. The commissary officers would send to the most advanced depot great quantities of bacon and canned meats,hardtack, coffee, sugar and salt. Troops going beyond the advanced depot would carry in their haversacks made up of these articles. In all the fighting of the American armies it has been found that nothing so well serves the purpose of troops when they have days of marching and battling on hand as bacon,hardtack and coffee, and these articles are what the soldiers will eat if they cross into Mexico.

GOOD LIVING FOR UNCLE SAM'S BOYS

Uncle Sam's army in the Southwest is going to be well fed on the border. The commissary department, of which General Henry G. Sharpe is the head, has well-defined plans perfected to that end, says a special from Washington. When the mobilization is over, it will probably be found that feeding the army has been done in better fashion than ever before, when the troops have been called out to the field. To be sure, they haven't actually taken the field, but they are mobilized, and nobody knows what day the orders to head for the border may be given. If the army has to move across the Rio Grande it won't have to go hungry.

For one thing, an admirable emergency ration has been perfected. Already the war department has arrangements whereby it can obtain emergency rations on short notice, if necessary. The perfected emergency rations is put up in a tin box and the allowance for one day weighs half a pound. It consists of chocolate, sugar, desiccated egg and a substance known as nucleo-casien, which is really the proteid of milk. It is rich in food value. Of course, a half pound of emergency ration is not a nine-course dinner at a fashionable hotel. It is not even intended to be the sustenance that troops shall have for any considerable time. It is simply an insurance against starvation.

But the emergency ration is useful only when there is actual service to be done. The problem of feeding the army daily is a much bigger one than to provide the emergency ration. The commissary department has a big task on its hands to provide food supplies for the division of troops at San Antonio, and the brigade at Galveston, and the other forces on the border. Yet it is managed with simplicity. Major Harry E. Wilkins, one of the best commissary officers in the army, is commissary officer in charge at San Antonio, under orders giving him full authority to purchase supplies and take the necessary steps to feed the troops.

While the first ward gave up its usual Democratic plurality, it was not alone from this and the river wards of similar character that Harrison drew his support. His eight years' service in the major's chair drew out many from the ranks his opponent had not counted on and his promise of seventy-five cent gas was said by his managers to have had a great influence with the west side wards, where he showed unexpected strength.

One of the features of the campaign was the vote polled by the Socialist party. Five-sixths of the total precincts in the first indicated that the vote would reach 24,000, a gain of 11,000 over the vote of four years ago. On the other hand the prohibition vote, which had been 5,875 four years ago, dropped to 3,000 this year.

EIGHT YEARS' SERVICE BRINGS MANY TO POLLS.

Then, Too, There Was the Promise of 75 Cent Gas. Prof. Merriam Gives Up Hope After Hearing Early Returns. Socialists Show Gains and Prohibitionists Losses.

Chicago, April 4.—Carter H. Harrison, Democrat, was elected mayor of Chicago today for the fifth time. His plurality, judged by 75 per cent of the returns at first brought in, was about 18,000.

Professor Charles E. Merriam, his Republican opponent, conceded the election to Mr. Harrison at 6:30 p. m., two and a half hours after the polls closed, but declared that the results were such as would give him hope for another contest. In giving up the fight, Mr. Merriam said:

"I am satisfied with the fight we have made. We have presented the issues of decent, honest, economical and progressive government squarely to the voters in a way that cannot fail to help conditions. The battle must be fought not once, but many times, and in the long run it will prove successful. I congratulate Mr. Harrison on his victory and wish him well in his administration."

Returns by wards show that Professor Merriam was given nearly 7 per cent less votes than Buse (Republican) was accorded four years ago, while Harrison ran over 17 per cent ahead of the figures attained by Dunne (Democrat) at that time. The vote reached above 340,000, which is approximately 25,000 more than the record at the same time in the last majority contest.

In spite of this both sides agreed that Merriam lost through failure of the "silk stocking" wards to show the strength expected.

Even in the twenty-fifth ward, where Merriam's candidacy was conceived, failure of Merriam's supporters to vote caused the professor's total to drop far below what had been expected.

Harrison announced as soon as this ward had reported that he had won and prepared a statement. After this ward had reported the result never was in doubt, what had been expected.

While the first ward gave up its usual Democratic plurality, it was not alone from this and the river wards of similar character that Harrison drew his support. His eight years' service in the major's chair drew out many from the ranks his opponent had not counted on and his promise of seventy-five cent gas was said by his managers to have had a great influence with the west side wards, where he showed unexpected strength.

ENGLAND'S HISTORIC ROYAL COACH.
Magnificent Vehicle Cost $375,000 in 1761 and Weighs Four Tons.
The royal state carriage used by the more recent English sovereigns was built about 1761, and was first used for the coronation of George III, says The Queen. It was designed by Sir William Chambers and was considered a magnificent piece of state furniture. It cost 75,000 pounds and weighed four tons.
Three boys adorned with flowers, representing the United Kingdom, stand on the roof, supporting the imperial crown on their heads and holding the scepter, sword of state and other insignia of royalty in their hands. The panels of the upper portion of the coach are of beveled glass and the four lower are of copper painted in enamel.
The wheels are copied from those of the triumphal chariot used in ancient times by the Romans, the harness is made of red morocco leather with ornaments of silver gilt; the reins are of crimson silk and the saddles of crimson velvet embroidered with gold.
The Speaker's state coach is probably the oldest carriage in England, which is still in a condition to be used. It was made in the middle of the seventeenth century, and there is a tradition that Oliver Cromwell once rode in it. The carving on it is very fine and is of gilded oak relieved with a little black. The seat opposite the Speaker is occupied by the chaplain and train bearers. Each Speaker has his coat of arms and crest inserted among the details of the side panels.
Recently a fire broke out at the works of a fine-known coach builder and the glass coach which is said to have been used by many English sovereigns was destroyed. The vehicle had been sent in to be decorated for it had been arranged, so the story goes, that the King should ride in it on the day of his approaching coronation. The coach was familiar to Londoners, for both Queen Victoria and King Edward had made use of it and it was considered to be a fine specimen of a coach builder's art.
State carriages, which came to be used in England about the middle of the sixteenth century, were introduced from Germany and the first coach ever made in England was ordered by Sir Duke of Rutland in 1555. Six years later they were in good use and much rivalry existed in regard to their splendor and the number of horses drawing them. In 1619 the celebrated Duke of Buckingham electrified London by appearing in a coach drawn by six horses, and the Earl of Northumberland, partly not to outdone and partly from the pleasure of making his rival look ridiculous, immediately started a coach drawn by eight horses.

ATTENTION, FARMERS!
I am again representing the Southern Gypsum Company for the sale of their famous
Pierson Land Plaster.
This is the greatest producer known for Peanuts. You will absolutely have no pops when this is used. The peanut growers of Virginia and North Carolina use it altogether for growing peanuts, and say they cannot make good, sound peanuts without it. It has been used by hundreds of the best farmers in Bulloch county the past two seasons, who can testify to the great benefits derived from its use. It is used as a top dressing, by sprinkling it on the vines after the peanuts begin to bear.
It is recommended to sow in the evening or early in the morning, or just after a shower, as it is found that much benefit results from its adhering well to the leaves. A gloomy, hazy day is also a good time for the job. Application, about 200 lbs. per acre. Try it and be convinced that this is the greatest thing you ever used for making peanuts.
I will have some one to represent me at all the principal shipping points in the county. I will make my order about the 1st of May, so get your orders in by that time. Circulars and testimonials sent free on application.

"PISTOL-TOTING" LAW IN QUESTION

DIVERGENT OPINIONS EXPRESSED FROM BENCH.

Savannah Judge Hold the Law Unconstitutional — One Case
Goes to the Supreme Court.
Author of the Law Makes a Statement.

Atlanta, Ga., April 2.—Whether the law enacted by the legislature last June prohibiting the carrying of a pistol without giving bond and securing license is constitutional is a question which has puzzled a number of judges who have tried pistol-toting cases since the law was passed and in several instances widely divergent opinions have been expressed from the bench.
In two or three instances the law has already been held unconstitutional and the question will soon be decided by the supreme court of the state.
So far as is known the first case to be appealed on the ground of unconstitutionality is that of Will Davis, of Rome, who was convicted under its provisions in the city court of Floyd county. His attorneys have appealed the case on ground that the act of 1910 is prohibitory and thus violates the constitution of Georgia.
Held Law Unconstitutional.
Judge Davis Freeman, of the city court of Savannah, has held that the law is unconstitutional, and in a communication to Representative White, of Screven county, the author of the bill, he gives the following reasons for his decision:
"The legislature may say 'how arms may be borne. Your act, I think, provides 'who' shall bear arms, and this is an infringement on the right of the people. It does not seem to me that such a condition precedent to bearing arms as the giving of a bond (which one may not be able to give) can be in any sense construed to be a regulation of the manner in which arms may be borne."

In reply to this position taken by Judge Freeman, and in explanation of the general intent of his act, Representative White says:
"I admit that if a pistol is the arms or one of the arms intended to be included in the constitution, then it would be an infringement, but my contention is that a pistol is not one of the arms embraced within the protective clause of the constitution, and my desire is to have the highest court of our state to so declare as the highest court of other states have already declared, and by this one stroke outlaw the carrying of the pocket pistol altogether.
Who Shall Bear Arms.
"One of the able judges holding that this statute was unconstitutional, places it upon the ground (and this, I presume, is the only ground upon which it could be attacked), that it provides who shall bear arms instead of prescribing the manner in which they may be borne. For the sake of the argument, I admit that if a pistol is the arms referred to in the constitution of this state, this act would infringe upon the guaranteed right to bear such arms—but let us see what the fathers of the constitution had in view when they placed the second amendment to the constitution of the United States.
"The federal constitution provides: 'A well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.' The very next succeeding section refers to the quartering of the soldiers in time of war. This section of the constitution has been so repeatedly held that by now it has become a well-settled principle, to be merely a restriction upon the federal government and not upon the state that it is idle to argue this point. Therefore, the law under discussion could not be in conflict with the provisions of the federal constitution.

"In pursuance of this provision of the federal constitution, our state inserted in its constitution the following clause: 'The right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed, but the general assembly shall have power to prescribe the manner in which arms may be borne.'
"The supreme court of Oklahoma, in the most recent case on this question, held: 'The provisions of Art. 2, Sec. 5 of the Constitution of this state, securing to the citizens the right to keep and bear arms for their common defense, relate to such arms as are used for purposes of war; and does not prevent the legislature from prohibiting the wearing of such weapons as are not used in civilized warfare; and would not contribute to the common defense.' This language referred to a pocket pistol, as do all of the above, and the courts uniformly hold such weapons not to be of use in modern civilized warfare. The Oklahoma court, said further: 'The Act of February, 1875, which prohibited the carrying of any pistol whatever refers to such pistols as are usually carried in the pocket, and of a size to be concealed about the person and used in private quarrels, and not to such as are within the provisions of the Constitution.'
"Mr. Bishop, a very eminent authority, in his work on Statutory Crime, said: 'In reason, the keeping and bearing of arms has reference only to war, and possibly also to insurrection where, in the forms of war are as far as practicable observed; yet, certainly, not to broils, bravado and tumult, disturbing the public repose, or to private assassination and to secret revenge; neither are these in the language of the constitutional provisions now under consideration necessary to the securing of a free state. Neither are the dirks, bludgeons, revolvers and other weapons which are not in use in war, arms.'

"The supreme court of Massachusetts and the supreme court of New York, have held to the same effect, and, as far I am able to ascertain, every court of last resort in every state in the union, where the point has been directly made, with the exception possibly of the state of Kentucky, has held to the same effect; and, in Kentucky, I believe the constitution has been amended since their adverse decision.
"Knowing the great evil that exists in our state from this pocket pistol, pests of society which render the lives of every law-abiding citizen insecure, and knowing that the eminent authorities which I have cited herein had outlawed this modern nuisance, I thought it was about time for our state to take its place along with the other states, and declare that it was not necessary for them to protect the lawless element in the carrying of these murder-kills, in order to preserve a supposed political right.
"As to the wisdom of this act, and the evil that it remedies, I have not space here to discuss. It has been suggested that the proper remedy is to punish the party who carries concealed weapons as if guilty of a felony. In answer to this, I will merely say, at this time, that the punishment would be out of proportion to the crime, and whenever this is true, the law is not enforced. Again, it is not the severity of punishment, but the certainty thereof, which deters the criminal."

ANCIENT COINS WASHED UP BY THE HIGH TIDES.

London, April 4.—The extraordinarily high tide along the Suffolk coast washed up hundreds of gold, silver and bronze coins of early Saxon times in the neighborhood of Aldeburgh. Large quantities of antique bronze rings and ornaments supposed to be relics of the submerged City of Dunwich, were also cast up by the sea.

SEA ISLAND ACREAGE OUT.

From all reports obtainable here the prospects are that the acreage in Sea Island cotton throughout the entire belt will be reduced nearly fifty per cent and that the dreams of the Waycross convention have been realized. The acreage in this county is cut about forty-eight per cent, while still a prospect that it will be cut more. Owing to bad seed the farmers are plowing up Sea Island cotton in some sections, and planting short cotton. The acreage in Tattnall is reduced nearly fifty per cent already and those who plow up and plant short cotton in its stead will bring the cut to fifty per cent. The same condition prevails all over the Sea Island belt.

HARMON A. RIGGS IS PARALYZED.

On Thursday morning while at his home near Register, Mr. Harmon A. Riggs suffered a stroke of paralysis, from which he has completely lost the use of his side. A physician was called in and the needs of the stricken man administered to, but at last accounts he was no better. Mr. Riggs is an old Confederate veteran, and a man of sixty-five years of age perhaps. This causes his friends to feel more concern as to the outcome of the stroke than if he were a younger man.

L. H. HILTON IS SHOT TO DEATH IN DUEL AT SYLVANIA

Prominent Sevecon County Banker and Business Man Is Killed by C. E. Lee, Farmer, in Street Battle.

SLAYER ESCAPES, BUT TELEPHONES.

He's Willing to Surrender. Hilton Used Repeating Shotgun, Lee Used Pistol.

Sylvania, Ga., April 10.—In a duel with shot gun and pistol at 2 o'clock this afternoon, L. H. Hilton, president of the Sevecon County Bank, member of City Council, and one of the wealthiest and most prominent men in Sevecon county, was shot to death by C. E. Lee, a well-known farmer whose home is near Sylvania.

Shots were fired by both men, but Mr. Lee was unhurt, while three shots from his pistol hurled into the body of Mr. Hilton, every one of them in a vital place. Eye witnesses state that the fatal shots were fired when Mr. Hilton was being held by his friends, and at a time when he was helpless further to defend himself.

Lee Escapes.

The shooting occurred in the street, just in front of Hill Brothers' store. Many persons were in the street.

During the excitement that followed the shooting Mr. Lee left the little knot of men at the scene of the fatal duel, hurried to his horse not far away, and left town. Later he telephoned the sheriff that he was ready to surrender and officers left for his home to make the arrest.

At a few minutes before the duel occurred J. J. B. Morrell and the Rev. Norman Kemp were in an automobile which Mr. Morrell recently had purchased and which was just in front of Hill Brothers' store. Mr. Lee walked up and he, with the others, was looking at the new car.

Who Fired First?

Statements differ as to who occurred at the beginning of the fight. Some state that Mr. Lee fired the first shot, others that Mr. Hilton came from the store with a shotgun and club in his hands; that he shot three times before Mr. Lee returned the fire. According to the story Mr. Hilton sent three shots from his repeating shot-gun in rapid succession, but that after the first shot missed him Mr. Lee used the automobile for protection, quickly dodging behind it.

Men came running up, friends of Mr. Hilton and grasped him, stopping his fire. It is stated that Mr. Lee left the cover of the car then and with his pistol drawn walked up to the group of which Mr. Hilton was the center and sent three shots into the latter's body.

Dies Quickly.

Mr. Hilton straightened up, walked several steps and fell. He died within five minutes.

Scores of men came running to give whatever aid they could to the dying man, or attracted by the sounds of the shooting. In the resulting excitement Mr. Lee quickly left the crowd and disappeared.

The story of the duel quickly spread over Sylvania and the county. Scores of men came to see the scene of it and to learn the details of the tragedy which had removed one of the best known men in Sevecon county.

Back of the shooting is a story of ill feeling between the two men which has existed for several weeks. Two weeks ago Mr. Lee had been arrested for the violation of a city ordinance and had been fined $50 in Mayor's Court. He appealed to council, and Mr. Hilton as a member of council, it seems, was favorable to granting a reduction of the fine.

Showed His Pistol.

However, on March 30, Hilton and Lee met in a drug store here, and it is stated harsh words passed between them about Mr. Lee's arrest. Later Mr. Lee, armed, met Mr. Hilton on the street and, it is charged, produced his pistol and harsh words again passed.

After this friends of both men understood that they were armed, and they feared for further and more serious trouble between them. There was not much surprise at their fatal meeting today, but general regret that it had ended with the death of either man.

As soon as it became known that Mr. Hilton had been killed business practically was suspended in Sylvania. Mr. Hilton, as president of the Sevecon County Bank, as prime mover and head of the Optimist Club, the boosting organization of Sylvania, as president of the Sevecon County Cotton Oil Mill and because of his interest in other industries here as well as because of his position as councilman, was perhaps one of the best known men in the county.

City court adjourned out of respect to him and stores all over the city were closed for the afternoon.

Feeling Run High.

Greatest excitement reigned in Sylvania from the time of the shooting until late tonight. A good many wild rumors were heard on the streets, but staid citizens paid little attention to them.

It was expected after Mr. Lee had telephoned to the sheriff that his escape was but temporary and that he was ready to be taken to jail, that no trouble would be met with in arresting him. Considerable feeling was aroused when the story spread that the killing occurred when Mr. Hilton was being held by his friends, who, it is said, thought the shooting had ended and were not expecting Mr. Lee to fire again.

Was Progressive Citizen.

Mr. Hilton leaves his wife and six children. He had been a resident of Sylvania for many years and always had been aligned with the most progressive of its citizens. He was a member of the Order of Elks; he named the "Optimist Club," which was organized recently, more vigorously to boost the advertising of the town's advantages, and he had many business interests here and elsewhere.

He was well known to many Savannahans as he made frequent trips to that city in his own business interest and for Sylvania and Sevecon county.

Says Lee Fired First.

J. Fleischman, a farmer Sylvania, who now lives in Sylvania came to Savannah yesterday afternoon with an account of the killing of Mr. Hilton. Mr. Fleischman is manager of the clothing department of Hill Brothers' store, in front of which the killing occurred. He was at dinner at the time of the shooting and did not see it and his account is based on the accounts of the tragedy by eyewitnesses in the store and others.

According to Mr. Fleischman Mr. Hilton was seen to walk through Hill Brothers' store immediately before the shooting, carrying a shotgun. As he stepped into the street in front of the store he met Mr. Lee.

Mr. Lee fired and Mr. Hilton stepped behind an automobile and returned the fire, both missing Mr. Lee continued to fire and friends of Mr. Hilton ran up to him and disarranged his aim as he fired into Mr. Hilton's back. Hilton was being held, Mr. Lee walked around the automobile and fired into Mr. Hilton's back. The shot struck Mr. Hilton's heart and he died quickly.

In Savannah Two Weeks Ago.

In the excitement Mr. Lee mounted a horse standing close by and disappeared.

Mr. Fleischman says the trouble started several weeks ago when Mr. Hilton, who was a member of city council, caused the town marshal to arrest Mr. Lee for an infraction of the ordinance. Two weeks ago, on the day Mr. Hilton came to Savannah with the Sevecon County Commissioners, to appear before the directors of the Savannah Automobile Club with a plea that the run to Charlotte be sent through Sylvania. Mr. Lee met him on the street in Sylvania and after some words drew a pistol and

THIEF TOUCHES SEVERAL HOMES.

On Sunday night the southern section of the city was visited by a bold burglar who entered several homes and stole valuables. The home of Elder F. M. Donaldson was entered and thirteen dollars and fifty cents was carried away. Several other homes were entered and small sums of money and other small articles taken. The negro made good his escape, a track just twelve inches long. A negro fitting this description was seen Saturday afternoon lying around the railroad in the same neighborhood. He is thought to be some escaped convict who was sneaking through the country. At last accounts there was no clue to his whereabouts.

KRUPPS INVENT PROJECTILE TO DESTROY AEROPLANES.

Washington, April 6.—Military experts in armaments and explosives believe that the great danger from aeroplanes and balloons as engines of destruction in war has been met at length by the invention of a new high explosive shell by the Krupps in Germany. Certainly received today relative to the new projectile were eagerly scanned by attacks of the war and newly decorations. The great gun manufacturing plant has just been granted a patent for a new death-dealer which solves the latest military problem—aerial warfare.

The new shell is so delicately constructed that while it resists the air, it explodes upon striking anything heavier, even the gas bag of a balloon or the delicate woodwork of an aeroplane is sufficient to cause an explosion from impact.

WOUNDED TAKEN TO JAUREZ

It Is Feared That an Attack Will Be Made on the City. Reinforcements Are Sent to Chihuahua.

El Paso, April 7.—Eighty-three wounded and a number of prisoners taken by the federalists at Casas Grandes were brought into Juarez today. The wounded lay prone in box cars, but were well cared for by the escort, which numbered about 200. With the latter were two field pieces and two rapid fire guns.

General Eugenio Liss, recently ordered to proceed with his forces from Casas Grandes to Chihuahua, is reported to have left for the latter place.

Twenty-five "soldados," or warmen camp followers, who had become separated from their husbands in the federal ranks, arrived at Juarez today. They walked from Chihuahua, 150 miles, pushing a hand car that bore their meager belongings. Where the bridges were out they forded the streams, carrying the hand car.

United States customs guards report a force of 400 insurgents at San Ignacio, opposite Fort Hancock, east of El Paso. The appearance of this force has revived fears of an attack on Juarez.
Dispatches from Culiacan, the capital of Sinaloa, declare two engagements have taken place near Moopol, and that a number of wounded federal have been brought to Culiacan in ox carts.
Couriers from Agua Alta, near Mojo, brought in reports of an engagement in which it was said forty insurgents were killed by the federal artillery.

Only 150 troops are left to garrison Culiacan and Governor Redo has been directed to maintain a defensive attitude.

BRYAN AND STONE MEET WITH DEFEAT

Sen. Thos. Martin to Lead Democratic Minority in the Senate.
Won Out Over the Leaders' Opposition.

Washington, April 7.—Senator
Thomas S. Martin, of Virginia, will lead the Democratic minority in the United States senate, if he is elected this afternoon, despite the opposition of William J.
Bryan, Senator Stone and a number of party progressives.

At a preliminary parley this afternoon it was agreed that opposition be registered against Mr.
Martin on the ground that a younger man, whose progressive policies had been clearly established, should be named for the place of caucus chairman and minority leader. However, at a second conference of progressives later in the afternoon the election of Mr. Martin was conceded.

It had been agreed at the first meeting that the names of either Senators Culberson or Stone
should be presented in the Democratic caucus in opposition to Mr.
Martin. The Texas and Mississippi senators refused to allow the presentation of their names. This might have had the effect of bursting the bubble of the opposition to the Virginian. Senator Newlands will stand for nomination against Mr. Martin in the caucus, but it is presumed this form of protest will be purely perfunctory.

William J. Bryan explained at the white house today that he was not opposed to the election of Senator Martin as minority leader of the senate, but said that he personally would not vote for Senator Martin if he were a member of the senate.

Mr. Bryan spent almost an hour with President Taft and met a number of the members of the cabinet. He refused to say what subject he had discussed with the president.

REALISM IN ART.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
A local painter spent three months on a painting. He spent a good deal of money on models, but the finished product justified all his expenditures and all his Everybody but one. This lady, whose opinion he valued most,

was the one he took to the ex-

"Which is your picture?" He told her—and waited.
"What is it called?" she wanted to know.
"Wood Nymphs."
"How silly of me to ask!
They're so natural! Why, anybody would think they were really made of wood!"

MILLION DOLLAR GATES STAKE IN CRAP GAME.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 6.—
John W. Gates has been spending part of the winter down at Palm Beach. When he arrived, at the larger of the two hotels there he called for the headwaiter and told him he wanted the best of his staff to serve him. To the old negro who filled these qualifications he gave explicit instructions:

"Now, George, I want to be served well. I want you to bring me always the best of everything.
If your work is satisfactory, I will give you $5 a week extra."

The waiter entered on this contract with enthusiasm and for several weeks drew his salary with regularity. For one lunch, however, much to the financier's disgust, a new waiter turned up.
Mr. Gates demanded an explanation, without getting any intelligible response. He appealed to the headwaiter, with no better satisfaction, further than an indefinite statement that the absent one was waiting on somebody else. Finally George himself was called to his own defense. He put up the following plea:

"I had been agreed at the first meeting that the names of either
Senators Culberson or Stone
should be presented in the Democratic caucus in opposition to Mr.
Martin. The Texas and Mississippi senators refused to allow the

IS HUNTER GUILTY?

It seems that there is some danger of putting away an old man, bent with age, who may not be guilty party in the murder of a woman in Savannah some time ago.

Old man Hunter, husband of the murdered woman, has been convicted and sentenced to pay the death penalty, on a circumstantial evidence. The strongest point of defense is that he was seen at that section of the city at the time the murder was committed. Large rewards were offered for the apprehension of the guilty parties, and the Savannah detective force are slow to admit that they have not solved the mystery that surrounds this case, in the progress of the search for the guilty party or parties. One or two others have confessed to the murder to which Hunter stands convicted, with the gallows staring him in the face, but he has never proven he was guilty, nor have they produced a strong chain of circumstances showing it. He may be the guilty party, but we believe there is great doubt on the subject.

DEAD DEATH NEAR REGISTER.

On Saturday night Mr. J. W. Wise passed away at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Griffin, after an illness of one week with pneumonia. Mr. Wise was married just one week before his death to Miss Etta Griffin. He was sick at the time of his marriage, in fact so ill that he was hardly able to sit up to be married. His condition gradually grew worse until death relieved him of his sufferings.

There was a strange coincidence in connection with his death, but which the community disturbed. It is said that at the minute when the sound passed over the house like a great peal of thunder, but upon examination there was not even a cloud across the firmament. The sound was heard by all those surrounding the bedside.

SHOT AT CHICKEN ROOST.

On last Friday night a young white man was literally torn up with bird shot while advancing towards the hen roost of Mr. Sid Milton about seven miles west of this place. The young man was seen advancing towards the hen house, and Mrs. Milton armed herself with a pistol. At the hen house door she met the young man who made a break to run. Mrs. Milton pulled down on him, emptying the barrels of the pistol without effect. About this time Mr. Milton appeared on the scene with a shot gun. He emptied both barrels, loaded with bird shot, into the young man's back, literally tearing him up from head to foot. He was taken to Pulaski Saturday morning where the shots were extracted. While his wounds are painful, yet they are not dangerous. There has been considerable complaint about chicken stealing in that particular neighborhood, and when seen advancing on the chicken roost Mr. Milton was concerned as to the safety of his flock. The lesson will be one that will probably be remembered for some time.

Will Clear Large Tract.

Col. J. A. Brannen and Mr. W. G. Rains went down to Shearwood on Saturday and made a tour of the property owned there by The Bulloch Land Co., of which they are directors. Mr. Brannen states that several hundred acres will be cleared and put in cultivation at once. He thinks the canal now being constructed thru the property is going to do the work of draining the low lands on the place. When this is done the company will own a very valuable piece of farming property.

HEART OF DALTON PREY OF FLAMES

Dalton, Ga., April 9.—The main business block of this little city was a mass of ruins today as a result of the most disastrous fire that has occurred in North Georgia.

The fire started at midnight in the Hotel Dalton, on the third floor, but the exact cause probably never will be known, as the building was in flames from one end to the other within a few minutes after the first alarm was given. Three and a half hours later the fire practically was extinguished.

As nearly as the losses can be estimated they are as follows:

Loss.	Insured.
Hotel Dalton.....	$85,000
McWilliams Bros three stores.....	$25,000
W. A. Robertson.....	$8,000
Fincher & Nicholas.....	$18,000
Thomas Dry Goods.....	$9,000
Garret Bros.....	$2,000
J. C. Showalter Pastry Baking Co.....	$75,000
Dalton Opera House.....	$18,000
Oglesby building.....	$2,500
	$427,500
	$509,000

Aside from these losses there are many individual losses not yet reported. It is practically certain that the net loss will reach about a quarter of a million dollars. Lack of water pressure was responsible for the fire getting beyond control of the Dalton department.

Practically every telephone in Dalton is out of commission to night.

Plans are under way for the rebuilding of the burned district.

C. V. Downing of Atlanta was the only man injured during the progress of the fire. Downing was seen to climb out of a window of the Hotel Dalton when the building was a mass of flames. A ladder was being raised to take him down and the crowd urged him not to jump. Unheeding the frantic voices he swung from the window, grasped for a water pipe, missed it and went tumbling to the ground. In his descent he struck a mass of telephone wires, which broke his fall, and he landed, badly bruised, but not seriously injured.

Chattanooga's automobile fire engine was hurried to Dalton on a special train, but it was not unloaded. The fire at that time was under control. Immediately after the fire was extinguished firemen and workmen began dynamiting the walls of the Hotel Dalton which were tottering and threatening to fall.

OUTS HIS THROAT IN JAIL CELL.

Secured Razor Blade. W. C. Byrd, Thomas County Prisoner, Probably Will Die.

Thomasville, Ga., April 9.—W. C. Byrd, charged with the murder of C. L. Prince, attempted suicide in the county jail this afternoon. After Byrd had been seen by his dimer the sheriff heard three cries from his cell and rushed up to find Byrd on his cot, bleeding profusely from a large, gaping wound in the neck. Physicians were summoned and examination showed the throat had been cut from ear to ear and the smaller veins severed, but the artery was not cut. The wound was dressed and sewed by physicians.

The only weapon found was a small blade of a safety razor which Byrd said he had kept fast such an emergency for a long time, without the sheriff's knowledge. He had asked for morphine this morning and was despondent about his case in the superior court, next week.

Byrd killed Prince Sunday afternoon four months ago near Broad street when, with two companions, Gunn and Stevenson, and the three were held, Byrd for murder and the two others for complicity.

Byrd is not expected to recover from his wound. He has a wife and child at Fort Valley.

STATE'S WITNESS IN LORIMER CASE IS DEAD

St. Louis, April 10.—Michael S. Link, former member of the Illinois state legislature, who was indicted by a Chicago grand jury for perjury and turned state's evidence in the investigation of the election of United States Senator William Lorimer, was found dead in a bath tub in his home at Mitchell 111, today.

Death, according to the family physician, was caused by apoplexy. He said a blood vessel burst in the brain.

In the grand jury investigation in Chicago Link testified that he knew of a bribery in the Illinois legislature. After a confession made by another member of the legislature and he was indicted on the charge of perjury. Link admitted he had received $1,000. He obtained immunity by appearing for the state.

After his perjury indictment was withdrawn Link issued a statement that he had never accepted a bribe, but that the $1,000 was a gift and that it had no bearing on the Lorimer election.

Link's death occurred on the eve of the resumption of the Helm committee investigation of the Lorimer election, which is set for Thursday at Springfield. A statement was given out Sunday that every member of the former legislature would be subpoenaed.

ROPE AND LEAD

END NEGROES'S LIFE.

From Lawrenceville Jail. Gwinnett Counties Quickly Avenge Farmer's Wife.

Lawrenceville, Ga., April 8.—Shortly after midnight this morning a mob of 200 masked men stormed the jail here and after attacking the sheriff and taking his keys from him secured the negro Charles Hale, arrested earlier in the night for assaulting Mr. C. C. Williams.

They took him to a corner in the business part of the town and, after strapping him up on a tree, riddled the body with bullets.

According to Sheriff E. S. Garner, the crowd was composed of residents of country surrounding Lawrenceville. While the sheriff was patrolling with the ringleaders in the yard of the jail, three others slipped behind and dealt him a heavy blow on the head, rendering him unconscious. They secured his keys and made away with the prisoner.

The assault on Mrs. Williams is said to have been unusually brutal. Her husband, a prominent young farmer, was away from home when the negro slipped into the house yesterday afternoon, and before Mrs. Williams could offer any resistance he seized her and threw her on the floor. In the scuffle almost all the wa-

COL. ROOSEVELT NOT CANDIDATE.

Because He Says He Has Had Everything.

Spokane, Wash., April 9.—Theodore Roosevelt made his first possible declaration regarding his possible candidacy for the presidency at a luncheon given in his honor today by the Commercial Club.

"I am not an aspirant for anything because I have had everything," he declared. "No other man alive has had—I don't know whether I ought to use this simile in the presence of the chaplain, but I am going to take chances—no other man alive has had such a good run for his money."

Why He's Making Tour.

Mr. Roosevelt declared he was making his tour for no other purpose than that which he has already assigned—to thank the people who had elected him to the presidency. He never came to the West, he said, he never would have raised his regiment and never would have become president. In conclusion he said:

"It is the service done, not the title of the place held that counts. And you won't any of you, have to puzzle as to my motives if you will accept my statements at their face value. You have not got anything I want except your respect and good will and all I desire is, so far as the chances arise where I am able to do so, to help you in any movement for the good of our common country."

Gen. Stanley Williams Is Dying and His Band Disappears in Charge on Mexican Front.

BAOLAVA ON SMALLER SCALE.

Twenty Return From Field. Fragment of Shell Lays Their Leader Low.

Mexico, April 8.—Gen. Stanley Williams hurled his little battalion of rebels against Col. Miguel Mayol's 500 regulars on the mesa five miles south of Mexico today.

Fifty insurgents went in to the fight.

Eighty insurgents went in to the fight.

Williams himself was fatally wounded and is now in the custom house here with his head torn by a fragment of an exploding shell. With half a dozen fragments of his fleeing command he was overtaken by a federal shell that fell in their midst and set up a geyser of flame and smoke and fragments of human bodies.

His wagon trains were completely destroyed, together with the stores and live stock he took on his raid yesterday of several ranches.

Took No Prisoners.

Survivors straggling into Mexico tonight declare that the rebels took no prisoners, saying that those not killed by the fire of the federals were slaughtered by bayonets. The federals also, it is declared, fired on the hospital tent and ambulances which accompanied the rebels to the battlefield. Dr. W. B. Larkins, the surgeon in charge and his assistants who reached Mexico with the survivors, appealed to United States authorities to send Red Cross aid to the scene of the battle and save those they could of the wounded.

News of the rebels' repulse was brought by a mounted rebel who, with one arm nearly shot off, fell exhausted from his horse in front of the insurance commander-in-chief, Gen. Salinas and burst into tears.

Tells of Slaughter.

"We have been slaughtered," he cried. "My pal was killed beside me."

Asked who his comrade was, he replied, "Gen. Stanley." Williams was still known as Stanley to his men of the "Independent Division of the Liberal Army," despite the revelation of his real name and the fact that he was a deserter from the Ninth Infantry of the United States army.

Later Williams was brought in alive, but pronounced fatally wounded and taken to the United States army hospital in the custom house of Calexico, across the line.

SHEARWOOD RAILROAD MAY GO TO CLAXTON.

It is likely that the Shearwood railroad, which at first sought an outlet through Brooklet, may go to Claxton. This depends on whether the people of Claxton, and in the country in the 44th district and 134th districts are willing to subscribe liberally to the stock of the road.

It would go through a fine section, and be of great help to the people. The city of Claxton will likely give the road a good amount. The promoters are going to give them a chance to get it.

THOUSANDS SEARCH FOR DEAD WOMAN.

Body Hid in Mill Pond. Is It Murder or Suicide That Stirs Emanuel County?

Stillmore, Ga., April 8.—The whole of this country is stirred with excitement over the reported discovery of the lifeless body of a white woman floating near the pierhead of W. D. Cowart's mill pond, three miles northeast of here. The body was four feet beneath the surface, the head higher than the feet and was moving with the water. Its position shifted and it was seen by Mr. Cowart and two of his sons, but disappeared before effort was made to recover it.

The report spread rapidly and a large crowd soon assembled at the pond. The water is being drawn off in the attempt to find body, as dragging has failed to reveal anything except a hair net.

The description given by Mr. Cowart and his sons is that of a good looking young woman, dressed in black, of medium build and wearing gold-rimmed eyeglasses.

No one of this section is missing so far as reported.

Mr. Cowart's says that a woman's cry was heard at or near the mill house Tuesday night. It is further reported that a strange man and woman were seen in the community late Thursday afternoon going in the direction of the Cowart's pond.

Sheriff Tom Fields and his chief deputy, R. W. Carsey, are here on hand and are being assisted in the direction of the search by Judge H. R. Daniels of Swainsboro.

The citizens of the community have all quit work and have gone to the pond. More than a thousand persons were at the pond today and the search is to be kept up until the unknown victim of murder or suicide is brought to the surface.

SAD DEATH OF MR. CAPE.

Wadley, Ga., April 8.—On last Monday morning, April 3, at his home about one mile from here, Mr. R. R. Carr breathed his last after a short illness of pneumonia. His death was a great shock to the town and country, though hourly expected by the family.

The funeral took place Tuesday at 12 o'clock at the First Baptist church of this place, Rev. R. D. DeWeese conducting the services. After the funeral the remains were interred. Besides the widow he leaves eight children, Misses Eula, Lester, Gordon, Esther, Day and Kermit of Wadley, Mrs. W. H. Woodcock of Statesboro, Ga., Mrs. L. L. Woodcock of Statesboro, Ga., two brothers, Mr. J. Carr of Wadley, Mr. James Carr of Montrose, Ga., one sister, Mrs. E. E. NINETY FEDERALS SLAIN.

They March Into Death-Trap Set by Rebels.

Atlixco, Puebla, Mexico, April 8.—Trapped in a canon six kilometers from Atlixco, a force of 90 federals was almost annihilated last night by a band of rebels. Reports of the battle received here this morning state that almost every man in the detachment was either killed or wounded. The rebel loss is said to have been small.

The rebels were under the command of Antonio Gracia. They were driven from Panquichan, the Mexicans day by day, but not until they had burned several houses of municipal officers, destroyed the village archives and robbed the treasury.

At the order of Gen. Valle, in charge of the federal troops in the state of Puebla, Lieut. Col. Torre Blanca was ordered to pursue the rebels. It was not until evening that he and his men marched into the trap the rebels had set. Almost simultaneously fire was opened by the rebels, who were hidden among the rocks.

From three directions the rebels panned their bullets into the ranks of the federals.

Col. Torre Blanca was one of first to fall wounded but he continued to give his commands and attempted to hold his men steady. The fire of the rebels was returned, but for the most part the bullets of the government troops found lodgment only on the surrounding walls of rock.

Following the battle the rebels disappeared.

LIFE TERMS FOR TWO BROTHERS.

End of Tattall Trial. Wall and Pete Futch Guilty of Murder of John Deal.

Reidsville, Ga., April 7.—Today brought to a close one of the longest and hardest fought cases in the Superior Court, but Tattall and Futch have known for years, when Pete and Wall Futch were convicted of the murder of John Deal on August 21 last, they were sentenced to life imprisonment.

It appeared from the evidence that Deal and some others were on their way to church when they met Wall Futch. Deal and Wall had a little fight, in which Wall had the worst of it. After the fight Deal went on to church and Futch went home for his brother, Pete, and a gun, and returned to the church.

Deal was talking to some of his friends when the two Futches made an assault upon him from behind, said witnesses, Pete hitting him over the head with the gun and knocking him down. Deal rose and grasped the gun, whereupon Pete called to Wall to "cut him loose." Wall Futch obeyed and cut a gash under Deal's eye.

The witnesses declared Deal then tore himself loose from the Futches and turned to run, but when he got on ten steps Pete Futch fired upon him, putting a charge of buckshot through his back and causing his death.

They were captured and had been kept in the Chatham county jail for several months for safety. John R. Cooper, J. K. Hines and Way & Burkhalter were the defending attorneys and P. W. Meldrum and H. H. Elders prosecuted the case.

The trial began Wednesday morning.

82 DISHES FROM CORN.

THE DEMOCRATIC PROGRAM.

(Augusta Chronicle.)

In outlining a plan of work for the extra session of Congress beyond which they will give no consideration, the Democratic majority in the house of representatives has acted wisely, regardless of the criticisms that might be made of some of the skeleton subjects to be acted on.

The fixing of a definite program means that the end of the "hills" intro- sidered, but put in for the fine come purpose of personal advantage of its will be excluded or have guileance, istence. The speeches you will and delivered, or "printed," "home consumption," or on getting not relating to the business assured will be based on should be also. Also, the session.

At the caucus it was decided, head every effort towards enacting the following schedule and no more:

Revise the tariff and pass other legislation affecting the revenues of the government.

Pass the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

Reapportion the house in conformity with the last census.

Pass the resolution providing for direct election of United States senators.

Admit the territories of Arizona and New Mexico to statehood.

Pass deficiency bills that may be required by the exigencies of the government.

Pass legislation relating to the District of Columbia.

About one-half of the above relate to politics more than to the country's general good. The party is pledged to "do something" to the tariff, and that issue, it now seems, cannot be avoided at the special session no matter how strongly political expediency may demand postponement of them.

The investigation of the origin of the Democratic party is legitimate.

In a matter of a resolution providing for the election of United States senators by popular vote, they may find as well as tariff, that the question is not "It is their duty to take looking to the early admission of Arizona and New Mexico states, but they should proceed cautiously as to the first, as the people there insist on the crazy constitution of pure convention drafted.

Unless the members are cautious, they will annihilate their most potent plans for 1912 and instead of creating new ones.

It is probable that the extra session will last longer than appeared necessary at first and it will be followed by a regular one beginning in December. The seas ahead will take some pretty careful sailing from now on.

DEATH OF LITTLE BOY.

What One Rural Georgia Maiden Has Accomplished.

Atlanta, April 8.—Miss Mattie Lou Brannan, 14 years of age, of Putnam county, near Eatonton, exhibited yesterday at the State Normal School in the domestic science department fifty-two corn-fond dishes of her own making. The exhibition of more than half a hundred delicious and nutritious dishes made from corn or corn products attracted a large number of visitors from the city, and many from out of town to inspect the work of the young girl.

Last fall at the county fair in Eatonton she made a similar showing, and was awarded a prize for her versatility of employment of the crop which made Young Joe Stone of Center, Ga., famous, President Branson of the State Normal School requested the little lady to visit the teachers' school and give these "olders" lessons in how to make an almost endless variety of excellent dishes from corn. Nearly all day yesterday there was a constant stream of students and visitors inspecting the tempting and palatable array.

When a medicine must be given to young children it should be pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is made from loaf sugar, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it pleasant to take. It has no superior for colds, croup and whooping cough. For sale by all dealers.

LOCKED IN ROOM WITH RABID DOG.

Policeman Wins in Fight. Drops Pistol, But Pitchfork Lets Out Dog's Life.

Atlanta, April 8.—Summoned to kill a dog supposed to be mad, Policeman Pearson got locked in a room with the animal this morning and had to put up a pretty stiff fight to get rid of the animal.

The dog had run after some little girls in a house at 144 Connelly street and the policeman came in behind. The girls escaped through another door and locked it. The animal then turned upon the policeman, who hesitated to fire his revolver in the house, and when the dog made a lunge for him he dropped his pistol from his hand. The fortunate presence of a pitchfork in the room solved the problem and the dog was soon killed.</

PROHIBITION WAVE AT BROOKLET.

Local option got a very decided set back down at Brooklet on yesterday, when warrants were sworn out for about a dozen operators for retailing without license. The parties who were placed under arrest were almost the entire negro laboring gang engaged in the work on the lined building. The crowd was soon up and placed under guard. One or two broke away and escaped, and three commitments were made this morning.

A warrant was taken out for a negro woman charging her with operating a "find tiger" show, not at home, and it developed that she had gone to Savannah to bring in a lot of new supplies. One of the negroes who escaped at Brooklet met her at Stillson and put her wise to what had transpired at Brooklet. Her suitcase was transferred to the negro who got off at Areola and escaped in the woods with it. Before he disappeared the contents of the case was found to be a large number of half pints. The negro woman came to Averitt's Spar and got off the train there. She has probably been arrested by this time. The negro is still at large with the suit case of whiskey.

The contractors on the school building went to Savannah this morning to look up another force of laborers.

OVER TWO STATES TORNADO SWEEPS

Oklahoma and Kansas Feel Blighting Touch of Cyclonic Wind; Towns Are Swept Away, Many Are Dead, Damage Is Huge.

Topeka, Kan., April 12.—Twenty-three persons are reported dead, at least a hundred injured, two towns practically swept away, scores of buildings demolished and thousands of dollars' worth of property damaged as the result of a tornado that raged in Kansas and Oklahoma today.

The tornado was accompanied by rain, hail and lightning. Many buildings were struck by lightning and burned. Western Missouri, visited by a rain and hail storm, but this section was not in the main path of the tornado.

Telegraph and telephone wires were rendered useless in the worst stricken sections and it is probable that the complete report of the death-toll and the property damage will prove much greater than they now appear.

The tornado levied its greatest toll of dead at Big Heart, Okla., where three persons were killed, many injured, and almost every building in the town wrecked.

Whiting, Kans., was practically wiped off the map. Sixty buildings were blown down, thirty persons hurt and Mrs. David Stone killed.

At Powhattan, Kans., a woman and child were killed.

A high school building was wrecked at Eskridge, Kans., a number of houses damaged, and from fifteen to twenty persons injured.

At Hiawatha, Kans., a school house was blown down, an eight-year-old boy named Pelton, was killed, and several buildings were struck by lightning.

Several persons are known to have been hurt at Netawaka, Kans.

A boy was killed at Maaville, Kans.

The Kansas end of the tornado started near Whiting, and swept in a southeasterly direction for more than fifty miles.

It is thought many more persons were killed or injured than have been reported at this time.

Telegraph and telephone crews are working, now that the storm has abated, to get the wires in shape.

Child Is Killed.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 12.—The St. Joseph and Grand Island depot and box cars at Manville, Kas., were blown over by a tornado this afternoon. A farm house also was wrecked and one child killed, according to information received by the Grand Island office here. Telegraph and telephone wires are down.

At Hiawatha, a little boy named Pelton was caught among the falling timbers of a school house and killed. One of the teachers at the school was injured.

At Germantown, J. E. Rosenholm was struck by lightning and killed.

At Eskridge the greatest damage occurred in the eastern portion of the city. Practically every building in that section is reported to have been wrecked.

Eight Killed at Big Heart.

Big Heart, Okla., April 12.—Three persons were killed and many injured in a tornado which struck Big Heart at 4 o'clock this afternoon, leaving but few houses standing.

The known dead are John Kerns, Fred Hammond and William Marlow.

The tornado swept everything in its path. Houses were blown from their foundations and the occupants were whirled through the air. This town was demoralized and telegraphic communication cut off. Relief trains were started from Avant and Pawhuska.

Big Heart has a population of 100.

Ruinous Sweep of Storm.

Topeka, Kas., April 12.—A tornado traveling in a southeasterly direction, destroyed the town of Whiting, 25 miles north of Topeka, late this afternoon. Sixty houses were blown down and thirty persons injured. Meagre reports received here by long distance telephone tonight indicate that the towns of Powhattan, Netawaka and Eskridge were struck by the same storm. Wires are down and particulars are hard to get.

Eskridge is 25 miles south of Topeka. The storm struck there shortly before 4 o'clock. The high school building was blown down and twenty students were injured.

A woman and a child were killed at Powhattan. Mrs. David Stone, wife of a farmer living near Whiting, was swept from the steps of her home into a neighbor's yard half a mile away. She was picked up dead.

An interrupted telephone message from Netawaka, says persons were injured there. Only one telephone wire is working between here and Kansas City.

George M. Scott, an Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe engineer, who was in Eskridge at the time of the storm, says that at least fifteen houses were blown down. After he left Eskridge, says Scott, he could see the tornado sweeping across the country for a distance of ten miles, overturning houses, barns and sheds in its path. He heard of no one being killed in Eskridge.

Benjamin Resch, a fireman on his engine, was blown out of the cab window and hurled across the street. The only injury he sustained was a slight cut on his head.

While Mrs. Ray Gannum, of Powhattan was sitting in her house, the storm swept the greater part of the building from over her head. She was but slightly hurt.

Two more deaths were reported from near Hiawatha late tonight. Geraldine Meisenheimer, 10 years old, and a small child of Otis Melott are the victims. The Meisenheimer girl sought refuge with three companions in a country school house and the building was wrecked soon afterwards. The dead girl's companions were injured. It is not known how the Melott child met its death.

Man Is Blown a Block.

Joplin, Mo., April 12.—Seven persons were seriously injured and property damage of many thousand dollars was inflicted, and telegraph, telephone and interurban railway service was demoralized for several hours by a wind storm that swept this district tonight.

T. J. Walton was picked up by the wind in the heart of the Joplin business section, carried feet into the air and blown all the entire length of a city street being deposited in the hall

WIFE'S PARAMOUR TAKEN TO POLICE

Wronged Atlanta Man Did No Physical Harm to Home Wreck-er. Is Through With Woman. R. B. Strange and Spouse and J. W. Nix, Principals, Is Late Scandal.

Atlanta, Ga., April 11.—R. B. Strange quietly into a local hotel and without a word to any one proceeded to a room therein. He demanded entrance, and when the door was slightly opened he thrust his foot inside and gained admittance.

He found there his wife, and J. W. Nix, auditor of the Atlantic Compress Company, and who has a family living in a fashionable section of the city. The wife screamed, but Strange told her angrily to stop her noise, as he was going to do no physical harm to either one.

He told Nix to come with him, and as Strange was big and strong and wore a grimly determined air, Nix thought it advisable to comply.

"I'm going to march you down to the police station and turn you over to the authorities," said Strange to Nix. To his wife he said, "you may go your way. I'm done with you for all time. As soon as possible I shall ask the law to release me from my marriage vows."

And he marched Nix out of the hotel and down through the leading thoroughfares to the police station. Nix begged to go by side streets so the attention of the public would not be attracted.

"You go right through the heart of town," replied Strange. "I want just the world to see and I know just what kind of a viper you are."

Threat to Shoot Subdues Him. Strange, with a firm grip on the waistband of Nix's trousers, led his prisoner out Whitehall. Once or twice Nix tried to pull loose, and was told sternly that he would be shot down like a dog if he did not come on quietly. That stopped all demonstration on his part.

With Nix in tow Strange walked into the police station and said: "Look this man up. He is the vilest type of human living. I ought to have killed him, but he may not be altogether to blame as I am willing for the law to take his course."

After surrendering Nix, Strange went to the phone and called up Nix's home. Mrs. Nix answered. Strange told her the entire story. "I am not going to harm your husband, Mrs. Nix," he said. "But I just want you to know what kind of a man you are married to. He has destroyed my home, and you ought to know what kind of a character he is."

Nix is being held at the police station.

"WORLD DO MOVE" AND, ALSO, CHRONICLE'S GREAT CONTEST

Result of Great Voting Contest Will be a Red Letter Mark for City of Augusta.

AIR CASTLE BUILDING ART UNKNOWN TO CONTESTANTS

Strenuous Work Being Done by All the Candidates Who are Full of Ambition and Determination to Succeed.

"The world do move," but not like the Chronicle's Great Contest. Sometimes the world moves so slowly that one would think the hinges were getting rusty; not so with this great contest. This contest is about the fastest moving thing around Augusta, Georgia, or South Carolina. Everything seems to be sufficiently hurried to make the contest move smoothly and rapidly. By April 11th it has gained its present great proportion, and is expanding every day every hour.

The contestants are not building air castles as they are not generally prospective anything substantial. But they have a goal before them, plenty of desire, ambition and energy, and are bound to make the result a great red letter mark for the city of Augusta and all Georgia and South Carolina, where this contest is being carried on.

What is an air castle but a dream? "The expression in thought of desire." There are few things in this world worth having which have not been dreamed about. The telegraph, the telephone, electric light and other things are in evidence. Who thought there would be an electric light, except the college scholars, and the electric light air castle? This world is indebted today to dreamers and builders of air castles for much that we have of convenience, comfort and luxury. Still, all dreams and all air castles are not alike, and candidates in such a contest as the Chronicle is having have no business to think of anything, except reality. They are engaged in a great struggle, a fight (friendly) to gain the most valuable prizes ever offered in a great contest. They have no time for dreams and air castles, and do not look forward to years in the hereafter of regrets and thinking what "might have been."

There will be no sorrow and no sighs connected with this contest as an aftermath, for everybody will be happy, as everybody will win. It is only a fight to see what or how much the winning will be.

Some of them have been waiting an automobile for a long time and have accepted this as the great opportunity of their lives to secure to themselves a beautiful, classy, luxurious car. They have waited for their minds to win that superb Buick or one of the Paige-Detroit, and take their best girls out for a ride in something that belongs to them. They are getting tired of hiring a horse and buggy or some taxicab to ride in—or, perhaps, in want of either of these—of riding in a street car, and purpose giving these sweet girls a real, genuine good time in a car that is owned and operated by them.

Then, there are plenty of them who have their eyes on the fine building lots, the handsome pianos, the beautiful gold watches, the brilliant, pure white diamonds, and other beautiful and valuable prizes.

All these prizes are going to be won by the winners, and will be awarded to the successful candidates, whoever they may be, without the least favor. Thousands of dollars in prizes will be awarded for this exhibition of ambition, energy and effort. The prizes are really well worth striving for, there is not one cheap thing in the list. Everything has the value absolutely as represented.

WOMEN RAISING FUNDS FOR BESSIE TIFT COLLEGE.

Forsyth, Ga., April 12.—Can a woman become an orator? The question has been answered, and proven by Miss Mattie Morris, who is making a tour of the state in the movement for a $360,000 endowment fund for Bessie Tift college, the famous old Baptist girls' school at Forsyth.

Miss Morris though slight of physique, and by no means of the "suffragette" type so often caricatured, has been addressing audiences all over the state, sometimes making three or four addresses in one day, and through her eloquence and the power of her argument has secured liberal subscriptions from every point she has visited. Rev. R. A. Landell, who, with Rev. Mr. Holley, is accompanying her on the tour, is another active worker in the campaign.

The college, which is owned outright by the Baptist church of Georgia, is receiving hearty support from Baptists all over the state. H. H. Tift, the millionaire lumberman, of Tifton, has promised $200,000 to the fund for each $100,000 subscribed by others, and he will soon be called upon for his payment of $200,000.

WITHROW MUST TAKE SENTENCE

Supreme Court Sustains Judge Morris in Case of Fannin County Man.

(Atlanta Journal.)

John J. Withrow, Jr., the Fannin county man who figured in the recent sensational escape of four prisoners from the Fulton county prison, is turned down by the supreme court of the state, and will get no new trial.

Withrow stands convicted in the superior court of Fannin county of murder, the charge being that he killed his wife. Before sentence could be pronounced, his lawyers asked for a new trial. Judge N. A. Morris, of the Blue Ridge circuit, refused to grant the motion, and O. R. DuPre and Goeber, & Griffin, the lawyers for Withrow, appealed.

On the appeal the supreme court sustains Judge Morris, Justice Atkinson writing the decision. The case was made public Wednesday.

Withrow was considerably in the limelight several months ago at the time of the sensational Fulton county jail delivery. With four other prisoners, all charged with serious offenses, Withrow broke jail and was at large for two days.

However, he became tired of dodging officers and finally surrendered to two farmers, asking that they give him half of the large reward which had been offered for his capture. He then returned to the jail in their custody.

In jail again, Withrow declared that he was innocent of the murder charge, that he firmly believed that he would be given a new trial, and for that reason he had been willing to surrender after his escape.

It was through his statements to reporters and to the jailers, that the mystery of the famous jail delivery was finally cleared.

ATTENTION, FARMERS!

I am again representing the Southern Gypsum Company for the sale of their famous

Pierson Land Plaster.

This is the greatest producer known for Peanuts. You will absolutely have no pops when this is used. The peanut growers of Virginia and North Carolina use it altogether for growing peanuts, and say they cannot make good, sound peanuts without it. It has been used by hundreds of the best farmers in Bulloch county the past two seasons, who can testify to the great benefits derived from its use. It is used as a top dressing, by sprinkling it on the vines after the peanuts begin to bear.

It is recommended to sow in the evening or early in the morning, or just after a shower, as it is found that much better results from its sowing well to the leaves. A gloomy, lazy day is also a good time for the job. Application, about 200 lbs. per acre. Try it and be convinced that this is the greatest thing you ever used for making peanuts.

I will have some one to represent me at all the principal shipping points in the county. I will make my order about the 1st of May, so get your orders in by that time. Circulars and testimonials sent free on application.

KEEPING THE WOUNDS FRESH.

The politicians are still trying to play Smith against Terrell and vice versa. They send out periodically from Atlanta "a fresh story about political developments," which is in fact the former story reshaped.

They are again insisting that it will be a fight for the senate between Senator Terrell and Governor-elect Hoke Smith. While this is the termination of the campaign yet, there is nothing new in the situation to make them believe that Gov. Smith is courting the senate. This seems to be a case where the opposition to him earnestly insist that he is a candidate. It looks as if Governor Smith would take some of his political friends into his confidence if he wanted the senate. It goes without saying, he can get it if he wants it. They are slightly mistaken when they say that it "will be a fight to the finish between Smith and Terrell." Why, there will be no fight to the finish in that case. The finish will come ahead of the fight. In a race between these two Gov. Smith would get a two-thirds vote on the first ballot.

There are other candidates who will be voted for and others who will win, before it becomes necessary for the governor to take a hand. In our opinion Hon. P. A. Stovall is the strongest man in the state for this place, with the exception of Gov. Smith. Stovall is receiving hundreds of letters from every section of the state giving him encouragement. He has the pledges of more members of the legislature than any man now in the race, we do not except even Gov. Smith in this, because Gov. Smith is not in the race and will not be in it, and he has asked for no pledges for this place. It is his desire to serve out his term for governor, and he will do so. Mr. Stovall will receive practically a solid vote in Southeast Georgia. He will divide the vote in extreme South Georgia, and will get a majority of the Tenth district. He will also get a good vote all through the state. And it wouldn't surprise us that on the first ballot he received nearly a majority that the large number of those who have expressed themselves for him as second choice will go to him in sufficient numbers to elect him on the second ballot, if indeed he fails on the first ballot.

The press of the state is practically a unit for Stovall. It is a fact that more newspapers are supporting Stovall than all others combined. These papers will keep the justice of his case before the public and he will grow from the jump.

In Stovall the people have a man who is capable and honest, but conservative to the extent that all sides can combine on him and in our opinion if there is a deadlock he will be the logical winner.

There is about as much truth in the line-up for the governorship in the event of Gov. Smith's election to the senate as there is in the report that the governor is courting the senate.

But the political prognosticators have a right to give us the dope; it fills space in newspapers and in the end they may strike the keynote, but there is nothing now to justify the assertion that it is a fight between Smith and Terrell.

LEE CLAIMS SHOT IN SELF-DEFENCE

Says Hilton Shot First. "If I Hadn't Killed Him He Would Have Killed Me."

(Savannah Morning News.) "It was a case of his life or mine and I killed Mr. Hilton before he could kill me."

This statement was made to a representative of the Morning News by C. E. Lee, who shot and killed L. H. Hilton at Sylvan Monday afternoon, yesterday at the Chatham county jail. Lee at first refused to make a statement of the tragedy, but afterwards changed his mind and explained briefly the shooting.

"I shot Mr. Hilton in self-defense," he said. "If I had not killed him he would have killed me. No one is sorrier than I am. I reckon I am the sorriest man in this state today but I had to do it. I did not shoot until he had fired at me three times and was loading for the fourth time. No one had shot him. I reckon that they didn't dare to. He was a desperate man and I was afraid of him."

"Several persons who were near when the shooting occurred begged him not to shoot me and I begged him not to. I ran around the automobile, trying to get away from the shot, which peppered me all over. I am all covered with shot. A lot of it is imbedded in my hands, and in my left leg and in my chest. He shot a bullet off my coat and a hole in the left breast of my coat. If I hadn't had my overcoat on he would have killed me sure, but that I think is what saved me, although I was shot almost to pieces."

"We had never had any trouble before, except a few frays; nothing to make a man kill another for. I don't know what he had against me to shoot me for. Mr. Hilton fired the first shot at me while I was cranking Mr. Morell's automobile for him. I had been trying to keep out of his way all day because I was afraid of him and did not know that he was near me until I heard Mr. Kemp say don't shoot him and then heard the report of his shotgun."

"Right after the shooting I got a horse and rode away from there to get away from the rage of Mr. Hilton's friends. He was a very rich man in Savannah and had lots of friends. When I got home I telephoned to Sheriff Joyner that I would surrender, but couldn't reach him and so sent a man in a hurry to bring him to me. Sheriff Joyner and my attorney, Mr. Overstreet, came for me and brought me here to Savannah because I wanted to be away until after the feeling had died down."

"I know I am a ruined man, whether I go clear or not, and I will lose everything I have. My family will be ruined. I have a wife and three babies, the oldest three years old and the youngest only two months old, who have no one to look out for them but me."

Lee, while somewhat pale, appeared perfectly calm and collected and did not seem much worried over his deed, seeming to take things philosophically. In the afternoon the county physician extracted, over fifty small shot from his hands and other parts of his body, where the charge from Mr. Hilton's gun had hit him.

WANTS MILITARY ROAD FROM SAVANNAH TO FORT.

Congressman Edwards Introduced Bills Asking for Damages During War.

Washington, April 12.—Congressman Edwards today introduced a bill to appropriate $200,000 for the construction of a military road from Savannah to Fort Screven on Tybee Island. The bill went to the committee on military affairs.

The proposed highway is strongly recommended by army officers and the people of Savannah are much interested in its construction. At present the Central railroad furnishes the only means of reaching Tybee from Savannah.

Mr. Edwards does not anticipate action on his bill at this session of congress, but he hopes the introduction of the bill will pave the way for its passage at a subsequent session.

Other bills today introduced by Mr. Edwards include the following: To appropriate $47,000 for improvements at Fort Screven; to pay Abraham Leffler, of Savannah, $15,000 for cotton seized by the Union army; to pay Amos A. Gordon and others a war claim of $20,000; to increase the pensions of George Bath, of Tattall county, and James A. Coyne, of Chatham county, both Indian war veterans; to pay the estate of Charles Evans of Screven county, a war claim of $3,000; to pay the First Presbyterian church of Darien $40,000; to pay the Lutheran Church of the Ascension, Savannah, $16,000; to pay the Baptist church at Sunbury, Liberty county, $5,000; to pay the Jerusalem Evangelical Lutheran church, Ebenezer, Effingham county, $785; a bill asking for a survey of Abbeville creek in Effingham county; a bill asking for a survey of the Savannah river and harbor, with a view of securing a depth of 35 feet.

NO FREEDOM FOR RAWLINGS BOYS. Petition Turned Down. Governor Brown Sees No Reason for Giving Them Liberty.

Atlanta, April 13.—Milton, Jesse and Leonard Rawlings must continue to serve their life sentences in the state penitentiary. Gov. Brown decided that the three boys, convicted of the murder of the Carter children in Lowndes county were not entitled to any pardon.

The Governor called attention to his former statement that the pardon power of the executive is not intended as a court of correction of the findings of the regular established courts. This case, he said, came to him on practically the same presentation of facts as was made before the courts on the occasion of their trial, and he saw no good reason to interfere with the court's action.

The three boys are now working on the road in D. Kab county.

Dublin Man May Die From Knife Wounds. Dublin, Ga., April 13.—Hardy Smith, Jr., who has been connected with one of the cotton warehouses in the city, is dangerously ill at the home of his father, W. T. Smith, from wounds inflicted by a knife in the hands of Frank Wyatt, a carpenter.

The two, with others, were at the pest house on the east side of the river. The two men had had a difficulty and were not friendly. Smith was cut in three places and lost a great deal of blood before being given surgical attention. Wyatt came to the city for a physician and then gave himself up. He is now in jail.

Gards were found by officers, though no arrests for gaming have been made. The physicians state that the chances are good against Smith's recovery, so badly wounded he is.

TRAGEDY TO FOLLOW MEETING

Albany, Ga., April 13.—W. E. Boatright, the Brewton, Ala., man who has been trailing his runaway wife and children and the man who carried them off through three states since the 10th of December, has again been to Albany. He is as determined as ever and says he never expects to rest, even for a day, till he is again in possession of his two little children.

There is a great deal in the case of this Alabama farmer that is pathetic. Arthur McGowan, the man who, Boatright says, broke up his home, cooking his wife to leave for a life of shame. The mother would go only on condition that she be allowed to take her two children along, and to this McGowan agreed. The little boy is 3 years old and his little sister was 20 months old last Sunday. This Boatright told while he was in Albany yesterday.

Boatright was only a few hours behind the fugitives when he reached Albany. He trailed them to this point, but has had difficulty in learning what direction they took from here. He is traveling, as they are, in a buggy. A couple of weeks ago he was within an hour's ride of them, but lost the trail when success seemed to be within his grasp. It didn't discourage him, though, for many previous disappointments had met him since the chase began, and as soon as he could find the trail he began following it again with unflagging zeal.

Boatright says: "Nobody knows what I have been through. No matter where I am or what I happen to be doing, the faces of them two little babies of mine are always before me. They've been creatures, all these months. In rain and cold, day and night, I know how they've suffered, and I'd give my right arm if I could get my hands on them. It ain't revenge that I'm after; it's my babies. I want to get them in my arms, and then I'll be ready to go back to Alabama and try to forget all that's happened. I'll get 'em yet, if they live and I live. It's just a question of time. That's all."

When Boatright started out on his long pursuit last December he had no money in his pocket. From time to time relatives in Alabama have sent him more funds, but when he reached Albany he had just 6 cents in his pocket. He was given a lift by those who took an interest in his case and started out on one of those vague trails which he seems to have an almost uncanny faculty for following.

The fugitives have crossed and recrossed their trail, which has touched various points in lower Georgia and the upper portion of Florida. Why they have not gone direct to some distant state is a mystery. McGowan seems to be dreading Boatright to catch up with him, and Boatright is doing his best. That he will eventually succeed no one who talks with him will long doubt.

When he does the scene will be worth witnessing. There may be a tragedy of one sort or another, in spite of the fact that Boatright says he is not bent on revenge. "I'm only hunting two persons; them's my babies," he says.

To Save Her Name

Somerset, Ky., April 12.—A sensational tragedy was enacted near Greenwood today when Mrs. Maggie Lewis shot and killed her husband, a wealthy merchant and timber dealer.

Mrs. Lewis is alleged to have used a double-barreled shotgun, the contents of both barrels entering Meadows' body.

There were no witnesses to the killing, which occurred in a room in Mrs. Lewis' home. Mrs. Lewis is surrendered and declared she had been compelled to fire upon Meadows after he had addressed insulting remarks to her. The slain man was married, and besides his widow, is survived by several children.

MACON BOY TAKES LIFE IN FLORIDA

Pratt A. Brown Kills Himself With Revolver Shot in Jacksonville. Formerly Well Known.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 12.—Desperation through intemperance painted one of its most tragic pictures here this afternoon, when the body of Pratt A. Brown, a former Macon boy and for one year a member of the local bar, was found in a bed at Little West Bay Street Hotel, right hand still clutching the handle of a revolver which sent a bullet through his brain.

Brown was a son of the late W. G. Brown, a former leader of Georgia's Republican party and for years postmaster of Macon. The son was educated in the law schools of Yale and Columbia Universities and spent several years in the law offices of Joseph W. Choate, 60 Wall street, New York city. The body was shipped to Macon tonight for interment.

He is survived here by a wife and a small child. His marriage took place in New York city while he was living there.

Since his residence of one year in Jacksonville he had climbed to an enviable place among the members of the local bar. His name had a place on many important committees of the Jacksonville board of trade and in the recent discussion on increased freight rates he opposed the movement in one of the most brilliant addresses ever heard before that body.

Written upon the mirror of the little room with a piece of soap was the only reason he gave for his act. "Pleasant the snaffle of courtship, improving the mind and carriage. But the coil who is wise, will abstain from the terrible thorn bit of marriage," it said.

WAS SCION OF NOBILITY; NOT U. S. ARMY DESERTER.
New Orleans, La., April 11.—Gen. Stanley Williams, of the Mexican revolutionary army, who lost his life in a battle near Mexico, was not a deserter from the United States army, according to Capt. Stanley Lewis, formerly an officer of the Arizona rangers, who is in this city.

"General Stanley was a former officer in the Canadian north-west mounted police," said Captain Lewis.

"He was a scion of British aristocracy, with a natural bent for the free life of a 'soldier of fortune.' The surname Williams was a nom de plume he took as a concession to his family."

"I know him very intimately and I am certain he was mistaken for some one else when the statement was made that he was a deserter from the United States army."

PATTEN GIVES $2,000,000 TO FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS.

Chicago, April 12.—Friends of James A. Patten, the wheat king, today announced that he had given $2,000,000 to Northwestern University, to be used in a war on tuberculosis. The gift is a part of Patten's plan to begin a "personal campaign of social service."

Patten is said to have been influenced in his fight on tuberculosis by the death of his brother, who succumbed to the disease recently.

The Humorous Burglar (on his way out, to little Binks as he enters a room in the basement of his house)—"Who, old sport! Little Binks (less heroic than when he started)—"Oh—er—no—I beg your pardon. My mistake. I thought you were in the attic."

DIRECT ELECTION OF U. S. SENATORS.

Rucker Measure Provides for Election For Vacancies. Under Rucker Bill There Would Have Been No Ad Interim Appointment in Georgia.

Washington, April 12.—The popular legislation now to tariff revision to be considered at this session, judged by the number of bills on the subject introduced, is the popular election of United States senators. The bill of Mr. Rucker of Missouri, will be considered in the house tomorrow.

Other measures having the same general purpose were introduced by Representatives Taylor of Colorado, Adair of Indiana, Foris of Oklahoma, Hawley of Oregon, and by Senator Borah, of Idaho, who championed the measure in the senate last session; and Senator Culberson, of Texas.

The measure of Mr. Rucker goes further than any, and provides for elections to fill vacancies where they are now filled by executive appointment. It guards against the objectionable features of the Borah resolution as affected by the Sutherland amendment, and leaves to the state legislatures the control "of the times, places, and manner" of holding elections for senators.

Following is the language in regard to filling vacancies caused by death or resignation:

"When vacancies happen in the representation of any state in the senate, the executive authority of such state shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies, provided that the legislature of any state may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election, as the legislature may direct."

Were this the language of the constitution, today, Gov. Brown would have been required to call an election last November instead of making an ad interim appointment.

WOMAN PEDESTRIAN USES GUN ON INTRUDER.
Savannah, Ga., April 12.—Mrs. Margaret Brown and Mrs. Margaret Cole, the two Savannah women who are walking from this city to St. Louis, Mo., on a wager of $1,000, and for the further purpose of proving to themselves that they are able to accomplish it, are now beyond Wadley on their route to St. Louis. They expect to make Macon by Thursday.

Writing to friends from Wadley, Mrs. Brown says of the first stage of their long journey:

"We have made 107 miles in 45 walking hours. The most we walked in one day was 26 miles. It took ten hours to make that because of the intense heat; we had to walk very slowly through the middle of the day. We take up considerable of our time playing up the little creeks we encounter on our way. We walked six miles in a hard rain on Wednesday, and made three miles in a storm today. We expect to reach Macon Thursday."

"Once since we have been on the road I have had to use my gun to get rid of an intruder. When he saw how quick I could and did shoot, he showed me how fast he could run."

FORGIVENESS FOLLOWS RUNAWAY MARRIAGE.

Miss Holt, of Fitzgerald, Becomes Mrs. Sikes.

Douglas, Ga., April 12.—Yesterday Miss Holt, of Fitzgerald, young daughter of a prominent Fitzgerald turpentine man, and Mr. Aey Sikes of Waycross eluded objecting parents and with the aid of an automobile hurriedly came to Douglas where they were married.

The girl was only 15 or 16 years old and her parents objected strenuously to the marriage on account of her age, and with the aid of officers and a warrant for kidnapping endeavored to stop the marriage, but the young lovers reached Douglas and had the ceremony performed before the officers could reach here.

Later members of the family came down in an automobile, forgave them and took them back home.

TWO-FIFTHS PEACH CROP IS PREDICTED.

Marshallville and Fort Valley Experts Grow Somewhat More Optimistic.

(Macon Telegraph.)
That the Marshallville and Fort Valley fruit orchards will ship about 600 cars, all told, two-fifths of the normal crop, was the estimate made by the leading grovers of that section who were in Macon yesterday. Jacob E. Haslam, Thomas E. Martin and J. J. Murph came up for a business trip and gave out the first really comparatively optimistic statement as to the crop which was so hard hit recently by the early frosts this spring.

They estimate that Marshallville will have 200 cars of a normal 600-car crop and Fort Valley 400 cars of a normal 500-car crop.

At the time of the freeze it was said by some that 75 per cent of the crop had been irretrievably lost. One or two grovers, however, held that later investigation would show that it was not so bad as that.

According to the statements of the three experts yesterday, the more conservative view was correct. Fort Valley last year loaded something over 1,500 cars, but that was an unusually large crop.

WANT EXPRESS OFFICE UP TOWN.

A petition has been numerously signed asking the Southern Express Co. to move their office up town. The paper was signed by practically everybody to whom it was presented.

The people of Statesboro feel that the company ought to give them an up town office. The office at this place is the most important in this section of the state outside of the large cities, and the patronage is increasing daily. They feel that inasmuch as this concession is being given other towns of less importance than Statesboro, that it is getting about time we were getting one up town.

We understand that there is a strong probability that the request will be granted.

WINNERS IN DISTRICT SCHOOL CONTEST.

The contest for the honor to represent the First District Agricultural School in the musical contest of the Accredited High Schools to be held at Pembroke and Swainsboro, was held at the Agricultural School today.

There were ten entries, five in the best piece of music, and five in the scale of music. The winners are:

For best piece of music—Miss Lula Waters, of Statesboro.

For best scale of music—Miss Sallie Thompson of Woodcliff.

Mrs. W. Van Tyler and Mrs. Wilson, of Millen, acted as judges of the contest. Their ruling was announced, stating that the contest was very close between a number of the young ladies, and that the task of determining the winner was not an easy one. The girls all played well and in turn were given hearty applause by the audience that filled the large auditorium.

Miss Waters and Miss Thompson will go to Pembroke next Friday to participate in the contest there, and in May will go to Swainsboro, where they will meet the selections made by all the accredited high schools of the First Congressional District.

HAVING TOO MUCH RAIN.

The old adage that one extreme follows another seems to be exemplified in the present case of a wet spell following a long drought. For weeks the earth was parched for want of rain and planting was badly delayed on account of the dry weather. Now a steady downpour of rain seems to delay the farm work equally as has as did the dry weather.

MUST STRIPLING SERVE LIFE TERM?

Governor Brown Quoted As If to Indicate That Pardon Will Be Denied.

Atlanta, April 17.—"This is not a court of review, and applications for clemency must have features which were not in the trial."

This comment was made by Gov. Brown today when the petition for pardon of Thomas Edgar Stripling came before him for final hearing. It is the belief of many here that the Governor shortly will declare his disapproval of the Prison Commission's recommendation, and Stripling will have to serve a life sentence in the penitentiary, which he fled from after being convicted of the killing of William J. Cornett in Harris county, Georgia, more than fifteen years ago.

It was stated by the Governor's secretary tonight that the Governor was still considering the Stripling case, and that an announcement of his decision probably would not be made for several days.

Shortly after the hearing convened Gov. Brown stated that he saw no need of extended argument.

"I cannot use this office as an opposition establishment to the courts," he said. "It is not a court of review like the supreme court; and it is not a court of correction to the supreme court. I cannot re-try a case that was tried upon the same issues in the court below."

It was mid-afternoon when the arguments in the case were concluded, the Governor announcing that he would reserve his decision until the latter part of the week.

It was pointed out that the Governor's statement was but a reiteration of the Governor's attitude heretofore expressed, and that it had no special bearing on this case.

The statements and arguments made for and against Stripling were in every respect the same as those presented before the Prison Commission when it had the case up on April 6.

The only new feature in the case was the addition to counsel for the Cornett family of J. E. McClelland of Atlanta. The opposition made strong effort to answer the evidence before the Prison Commission, going to show that Cornett's character was bad.

DEATH OF MRS. M. A. JOYNER.

On Sunday afternoon, at three o'clock, the Grim Reaper visited the home of the above named lady.

She was the wife of the late M. A. Joyner, who preceded her about ten years ago. Mrs. Joyner was stricken with apoplexy and only lived eight hours after the stroke. The interment was held on Monday afternoon at Langston Chapel.

She is survived by five sons and three daughters, all of Bulloch county except the oldest son, Mr. M. A. Joyner, Jr., who lives at Tennille, and the youngest daughter, Mrs. Ella Lord, who lives at Bainbridge, Ga. Those residing in Bulloch are Messrs. G. W. O. B., J. O., and A. F. Joyner, and Mesdames Anna Lord and Melie Morris. The family has the heartfelt sympathy of many friends.

HOPES TO BE BIG PEACH STATE

Has a Crop Every Year and Jack Frost, Active Elsewhere, Lets Its Elbertas Ripen.

Little Rock, Ark., April 17.—"Old Jack Frost" has this year played such havoc with the luscious peach elsewhere that Arkansas, the state of the every-year-peach crop, will supply the table of the world. Arkansas raises the famous Elberta.

The state has peach orchards ranging from 2,500 acres down, and this year they will be in their glory. The March frost, which blighted the crop in so many states, was kind to Arkansas, and only in the more open orchards was any damage done. All orchards were visited by the frost, but the damage done was a benefit. It killed off the advanced buds, making the balance of the yield more hardy and giving it time to develop on the tree. Had it not been for the frost the trees would have been overloaded.

At the present time there are 15,000,000 bearing peach trees in Arkansas, with an average value of $5 per tree. These trees will this year produce a crop valued at $25,000,000 and their fruit will go to all parts of the world.

In the last fifteen years Arkansas has never wholly missed on a peach crop, and this has caused the number of orchards to grow very rapidly. During the present year at least 2,000,000 additional trees will be planted.

The Iron Mountain, Frisco and Kansas City Southern Railroads, and their tributaries pass through the fruit sections of Arkansas, and they haul about 2,000 cars of fine Elbertas out of the state annually. In addition to this, the canning factories of the state work up millions of bushels which are too ripe to ship or not up to the standard required by the Arkansas Association of growers.

The present peach shipping points of Arkansas are Hartsell, Van Buren, Greenville, Russellville, Hazlett, Le Queen, Mena, Rickett, Darlene, Fayetteville, Springdale, Rogers, Prescott and Jackson.

Bert Johnson of Highland has 2,000 acres in his peach orchard and ships about sixty five cars of fine fruit annually. He is the largest individual shipper in the state, but R. P. Allen, chairman of the Arkansas Railroad Commission, W. H. H. Shibley and F. H. Smetzer of Van Buren, A. W. Poole, of Ozark, A. J. Phillips of Washington county and hundreds of others have orchards of over 300 acres and are rapidly becoming wealthy.

Snuggled pots are now being freely used in Arkansas and several millions of them were burned during the cold nights of March in northwest Arkansas.

Crop Comes When in Demand.

The Arkansas peach crop comes on the last of July and lasts well through August, hitting the market with its red cheeks made all the brighter by being allowed to ripen on the tree. The Texas and Georgia peaches have gone so that the Arkansas peach at that time has a clear market.

Texas has enough on its hands with a prohibition election, without having to repulse these Mexican fighters.

SHOOT COMPANION OF WIFE'S EVENING STROLL

Herman Murken, of Savannah, puts bullet in shoulder of Dennis McCarthy.

Savannah, Ga., April 14.—When Herman Murken saw his wife and Dennis McCarthy on the street today, after his wife had failed to return home the usual time from a shopping tour, he followed them and, near his home, fired three pistol bullets at McCarthy, one of them piercing the latter's left shoulder.

Murken started to flee, but was caught quickly. It is declared that his wife told him she could not escape annoying attentions from McCarthy. The two men had some trouble before about the wife.

Two weeks ago, Mrs. Murken awakened her husband by her screams, and he pursued a man he saw climbing in a window. He declares McCarthy admitted he was that man.

Tonight a white merchant named Hunt shot a negro through the lungs at his place of business here. The negro may die.

GA. PRESS COMMENT ON STOVALL FOR THE SENATE

Vidalia Advance.

The bravest and clearest Democratic champion in all the South is Hon. Pleasant A. Stovall, editor of the Savannah Press. Polished, clear of malice, no one on earth to punish politically his many editorials of late on the tariff question are models of reason and beauty and indisputable facts. There is a day coming when Stovall's editorials will be regarded as classics on simple pure Democracy. While the boys are casting around for the man to elect to the United States senate, they could do no better than send Pleasant Stovall. He would be a shining light in a Democratic congress. You talk of a South Georgia man, there you are—P. A. Stovall. Eloquent, honest, able and true Stovall would render us good service in the upper house.

Fitzgerald Enterprise.

Yes, the Enterprise made the suggestion a week or so ago. If Stovall was as good a politician as he is an editor, if he was as well known in state politics as men of smaller calibre, he would be generally talked about as a senatorial probability.

Americus Times Recorder.

Col. Pleasant A. Stovall, of the Savannah Press, is suggested for United States senate. The suggestion is one that might well take root and develop into an actuality. Stovall towers up high among the real public men of the state—not the politicians, of course, but the men of thought, character and convictions. We prefer to accept Brantley's views on free-run supplies, but we admire Col. Stovall's earnest advocacy of the way he connects to be best for the country as a whole.

Bryan County Enterprise.

The idea of putting Pleas. Stovall in the senate is a good one and is well received on all sides. It is time this part of the state had a show at it, and we know of no better material. The brilliant journalist and statesman from Chatham would fill the place with great credit, not only to himself but to his large constituency as well.

Rome Tribune.

Stovall, of Savannah, for the United States senate? Pleasant enough suggestion, too—if he is one of "these South Georgians."

Athens Banner.

Hon. Pleasant A. Stovall, editor of the Savannah Press, is the latest to be mentioned in connection with the senatorial toga in Georgia. He is one of this state's most able and representative citizens, and his presence in that august body would be felt for the good of the entire country.

Correspondence Augusta Herald.

Mr. Stovall is a scholar, an orator, a statesman, a legislator, a literary, culture and refinement. His presence in the halls of the United States senate would be a reminder of the days of yore when Georgia's voice was heard above all and heeded by all.

Columbus Tradesman.

The Augusta Chronicle nominates Hon. Pleasant A. Stovall as a candidate for the United States senate. Editor Stovall is an able and popular Democrat, and could command strong support if he were to enter the race.

Darien Gazette.

In a double-column editorial the Augusta Chronicle comes out in favor of Hon. Pleasant A. Stovall, the brilliant editor of the Savannah Press, for the United States senate. The Chronicle thinks that Mr. Stovall is just the man to compromise on and Editor Loyless is not far out of the way in this suggestion, for the Savannah man is one of Georgia's noblest sons. The editor of the Gazette would be delighted to vote for him for either senator or governor.

Hagan News.

The name of the Hon. Pleasant A. Stovall, of Savannah, is being prominently mentioned all over the state in connection with United States senatorship, and the fact that he is developing a formidable following all over the state should be particularly gratifying to all patriotic South Georgians, and should arouse enthusiasm of every voter in this section of the state, which for the past quarter of a century has been practically isolated, when it comes to political recognition.

In Mr. Stovall, we have all the attributes that go toward the making of a worthy and creditable representative in the nation's highest council.

Atlanta Constitution.

That declaration of Stovall's has brought him to the front in Georgia to an extent that already associates his name very prominently with the senatorial suggestion. Reports from every part of South Georgia indicate that the suggestion of his name has elicited spontaneous response, while his fight for the senatorial primary assures him a state-wide following should he conclude to enter the race.

Hawkinsville Dispatch.

The Augusta Chronicle has nominated Col. Stovall, of the Savannah Press, as a "harmony" candidate for the United States senate, believing he would be acceptable to both factions of the party as well as make a fine senator. As Champ Clark said in regard to himself as a candidate for president, "they might go a heap further and do worse," than to elect the brilliant Savannah editor.

Thomasville Times-Enterprise.

Editor Stovall is the latest serious entry into the senatorial race. His friends are boosting all over the state for the office.

Dublin Courier-Dispatch.

The Augusta has begun a boom for Editor Stovall, of the Savannah Press, for senator. The paper says that Wm. G. Brantley and P. A. Stovall are the only two men who can make the race free from political entanglements of the kind that we have been having in Georgia. If the former does not make the race, we will be delighted to see the latter win. He is a strong man, a good man and would make a splendid senator.

Oglethorpe Echo.

Editor Pleasant Stovall, of Savannah, is the latest meteor to emblazon Georgia's senatorial sky. Georgia could do herself less honor than bestow the senatorial toga upon Pleasant and yet not be dishonored.

Madison Madisician.

The Augusta Chronicle nominates Hon. Pleasant A. Stovall as a candidate for the United States senate. Editor Stovall is an able and popular Democrat, and could command strong support if he were to enter the race.

Swainsboro Forest-Blade.

Pleasant A. Stovall, of Savannah, is being boomed for the United States senate, and his friends think he stands about the best chance of any man in the race.

Columbia Reitor.

In state politics Mr. Stovall has been a conservative force, and though his paper, the Savannah Press, supported Hoke Smith, it was not with such acrimony as to antagonize the opposing faction. There is probably no other man in Georgia whose election as senator would have an effect so harmonizing, and there is no other so worthy the position.

Brunswick News.

They are talking of our brilliant friend, Pleas. Stovall, of the Savannah Press for the senate. Now the party could do a great many worse things than that.

Telfair Enterprise.

Pleasant A. Stovall, of the Savannah Press has been suggested by the Augusta Chronicle as a compromise candidate for the U. S. senate. Mr. Stovall has the ability, honest and other qualifications for this honorable position, but whether or not he will be accepted by all sides and given the position is an unsettled question.

New Black Smith Shop.

The undersigned having opened a new blacksmith shop in the old court house building on West Main street, take this method of asking a share of the patronage of the people who need work in our line.

Columbus Ledger.

The nomination of Hon. Pleasant A. Stovall, editor of the Savannah Press, as a candidate for the United States senate, by the Augusta Chronicle has awakened considerable serious interest throughout the state. The Chronicle is a strong Brown organ, while Mr. Stovall has always been a Smith supporter, and the nomination is thus a remarkable tribute to Mr. Stovall as a man.

Griffin News.

The Augusta Chronicle has begun a boom for Mr. Stovall, of the Savannah Press, for the senate. This is very nice. Mr. Stovall is a very well qualified for the position and is a gentleman worthy of almost any honor. The senatorial situation, however, seems to be a trifle complicated.

BE LIVED BURIED FOR OVER 75 YEARS.

While Digging Grave Bee Thrown Out With Earth. Was Alive.

London, April 15.—In an interesting letter published in the Daily Express, Mr. Thomas Burgess, superintendent of Kensal Rise cemetery, tells a remarkable story of a bee which lived underground for 75 years. He says:

"Two of my men were digging a grave, and when six feet down from the present surface, they came on the original maiden earth, which had been covered since 1836 with earth thrown out at that date while excavating for the foundations and eastwells under our church. In throwing out a spadeful of the virgin mould, under this mound, yesterday, it split up and broke on a board, and a large bumble bee came out of the soil."

"Considering that the ground above was solid, loamy clay and six feet deep, it would be impossible for a bee to get down this depth. Is it possible then that this insect was covered up in 1836?"

"If the answer to this is in the affirmative, then the bee is given to the statement of naturalists, to the effect that no bee lives longer than five years; dromes live from May until August, and workers from autumn until the next spring; and a queen may enjoy an existence of from three to five years."

When a medicine must be given to young children it should be pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is made from loaf sugar, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it pleasant to take. It has no superior for colds, croup and whooping cough. For sale by all dealers.

Will be Much More Valuable.

This digression is simply to show that the state might have used the proceeds from the mansion in any manner it might see fit. However, the committee thought it would avoid trouble to accept a lease proposal and has so recommended.

The committee declined to give out the other bids or the names of the bidders, except to say that the highest cash price offered was $351,000, which is more than $2,500 per front foot, and, further, that there was another lease proposal at a higher figure, but carried with it the privilege of purchasing the property for $401,100 at any time during the lease period, plus $5,000 for each year during which the option lapses. In other words, if the bidder did not choose to exercise the option until the fourth year, he would then have to pay for the property $451,100.

There is little doubt that ten years from now the property will be worth considerably more than $500,000, probably $750,000. If the rate at which values are moving in Atlanta keeps up for any length of time, the latter value will be reached before the ten-year period elapses.

It will be seen, therefore, what interesting possibilities there are in the property for any one who can succeed in getting it for ninety-nine years at from 3.4 to 6 per cent of its present value.

Asa G. Candler is supposed to be behind the movement to acquire the mansion site for business purposes. Mr. Candler owns one-half of the block in which the property is located, and it is natural that he should desire to get control of it. But if he figures in the lease proposal approved by the committee, the fact has not yet come to light.

The committee received no offer of a substitute mansion site which it would consider, so will leave the question of a new executive residence, in case of the present one is disposed of, up to the legislature.

MANSION LEASE ON ROUGH ROAD

Fight in Legislature Probably Will Be Made on Committee's Recommendation.

Atlanta, April 15.—There is a positive belief that the legislature will turn down the proposal looking to the disposition of the executive mansion property on Peachtree street, which was approved by the legislative committee and will be reported favorably to the General Assembly at its coming session.

A 99-year lease with a steady income is a mighty good thing, provided the income is big enough, commensurate with the property's value. But it is recalled in this case the lessee proposes to take the property free of all taxes, through which the state loses approximately $2,000 a year for the period through which the lease is to run.

To recapitulate the proposal, B. M. Grant & Co., real estate agents, representing some person unknown, agree to pay the state an annual rental of $12,000 the first five years, $15,000 for the next ten years, and $22,000 for the remaining portion of the 99-year term.

Putting the present value of the property at $351,000, the highest cash price offered, the committee proposes that the state shall accept for the property 3.4 per cent rental for the first five years, 4.25 per cent the next ten years, 5.1 per cent the next ten years and 6.2 per cent thereafter, without taxes. These percentages are all based on the present value of the property and not upon such increases as it may take on from time to time.

Considering that the tract, 101 by 400 on a central corner, is the most valuable available property in the city today, and considering, too, that several 99-year leases have been made at better prices, location and size of property being kept in view, this looks like a very small rental for the state to get out of the property.

That there is big money in it for the man who gets the lease at this price, there is no question.

It was natural for the committee to prefer a lease proposition to one for sale outright, because if the property is sold, the money received from it would have to go into the state's public property fund, which can be used only for paying off the public debt. But if it is leased the rental can be used for general purposes. However, the legislature has found a trouble in the past in spending the public property fund for general purposes, and there is no reason why it should do so in this case. Ten years ago the question first came up. The state had $300,000 in the public property fund and wanted to use it for general purposes. The problem was finally solved by using this money to pay off interest on the bonded debt, and using the interest money for general expenses, which is one way of beating the devil around a stump.

If the answer to this is in the affirmative, then the bee is given to the statement of naturalists, to the effect that no bee lives longer than five years; dromes live from May until August, and workers from autumn until the next spring; and a queen may enjoy an existence of from three to five years."

THE SHOE IS BEGINNING TO PINCH.

The best evidence of the effectiveness of the organization of the Sea Island cotton growers is seen by the beginning of a systematic equal going out from the ranks of the gang who have waxed fat on the toil of the Sea Island cotton growers of the Atlantic Coast section for the past thirty years.

The Savannah Morning News has given space to two of these equals within the past week, starting them off with an editorial calling attention to the fact that the acreage had been cut a few days previous.

The crowd who have been sitting up consoling themselves in the belief that the farmers didn't have sense enough to act on the appeal to cut out a large part of the Sea Island cotton crop, and repeatedly sneering at the movement; these same fellows have awakened to the fact that they were nursing a delusion and have now adopted different tactics. The communication appearing in the issue of the Morning News of the 13th signed "Sea Island," would add materially to a collection for a museum for the preservation of all kinds of freaks. The man who wrote it either didn't have sense enough to tell a huzzard himself or he was still clinging to the hallucination that the farmers were a set of fools and rascals and couldn't see through the thin lining of his jacket.

The writer of the communication in question issues a big slice of advice to "the poor ignorant farmer," he advises him what to do in this extremity when he has followed off after "strange gods" and been taken in as victims of the "wisdoms of Bulloch." He regrets very much that the farmer has been deluded into selling his cotton to the wild-eyed buyers of the interior at thirty cents and above, he believes that this is the cause of the present refusal of the spinners to enter the market. He pleads with them to return to the custom of "the good old days" when the farmer crawled on his belly to the city commission man and asked him how many bales would he have to contract to ship in the fall in consideration of some advances at twelve per cent interest accompanied by a contract to pay commission, storage, etc., on cotton, whether shipped or not clear, etc. He warns them to stay clear of the interior buyers who have taught them that they ought to have more than twenty cents a pound for their cotton. He calls for a commission to instruct the "ignorant classes," whom he says ain't got sense enough to know how much it costs to raise a pound of cotton, to come and teach them to economize so they can raise it at twenty cents per pound. He calls attention to the fact that there is a great reduction in the price of raw silk, but fails to inform us that there is no reduction in the price of manufactured silk. He tells us that we can now get a fairly good pair of silk stockings made out of our best grades of Sea Island cotton at fifty cents per pair, which shows us that we ought to raise the staple at twenty cents per pound. He neglected also to say how much a pound of Sea Island would bring when manufactured into fifty cent silk stockings. If he had placed a pair on the scales he would have seen them tip the beam at just one ounce, or in other words sixteen pair to the pound. This is just eight dollars per pound for Sea Island cotton, when manufactured into silk stockings at fifty cents per pair; seven dollars and eighty cents for the manufacturer and twenty cents for the producer. Does this strike you as a fair division of the spoils?

This same pound of cotton when manufactured into common hosiery will sell for sixteen dollars per pound; fifteen dollars and eighty cents for the manufacturer and twenty cents for the farmer. That looks like a pretty equal division, don't it? This same pound of twenty cents Sea Island cotton, when manufactured into fine hosiery, will sell for thirty dollars a pound; twenty-nine dollars and eighty cents for the manufacturer and twenty cents for the farmer who has no better sense than to attempt to produce it at starvation prices. This same pound of twenty cents Sea Island cotton when spun into spool cotton brings eight dollars a pound, and they take forty thousand bales of our best cotton to spin it from, too.

There is no other cotton on earth that will substitute the best grade of Atlantic Coast Sea Islands; the attempt to grow it in the Mississippi Valley, where they threaten to plant thirty-two thousand acres will fail, as all other efforts have done. When the Mississippi floods and the boll weevils get through with these fellows they will look about as seedy as some of the boys down this way who have been treading the furrows, pulling the bell line over a mule and making cotton at twenty cents per pound.

But our friend brings another reason why we ought to be satisfied with a reduction in the price of Sea Island cotton. He says to change in the style of ladies' dresses takes so much less material to make them. These fellows state that there are no more men to be dressed and no more women to buy dresses than there were in the history of the world.

The hobbie skirt doesn't hardly frighten the farmer; he is now busily engaged in selling off the hobbie skirt par around his extremities by men who have fattened on his bors for all these years.

The campaign now going over non de plume signatures the Savannah News has for its purpose the knocking of the interior buyers and the local banks and warehouses who have made it possible for the farmers to shake off the "hobbie skirt" placed on them by the speculators of years gone by. Another purpose in view is to scare the present holders into selling their cotton at a sacrifice. But the boys in the woods have waked up and are onto all such attempts as this one.

The men who are growing Sea Island cotton are educated and intelligent; they know a wolf when he comes along with a sheep's hide wrapped around him, and the several communications referred to will prove to be about such an abortion as the thirty-two thousand acre Mississippi Valley plantation threat did. These fellows are the most independent people on earth, they don't have to rush their cotton on the market, they have money and means to hold it with, they don't have to plant it again, they are blessed with a soil and climate where they can grow anything on earth, and they will stand pat, and the spinner had just as well make up his mind to give them a decent price for the product of their labor.

The acreage throughout the Sea Island belt is cut fifty per cent; for the reason that we cannot hope for as good seasons this year as we had last. A short crop means high prices; if not, then you had just as well shut your mouths about the law of supply and demand. The argument that the farmer ought to plant heavy so as to keep the mills running regular and therefore stimulate the price, might appeal to the reasoning of a fool, but it strikes a deaf ear to the man who knows that the larger the yield the lower the price.

Under the conditions prevailing since the advent of the local buyer, the local bank and warehouse, there might have been fewer European pleasure trips enjoyed by certain blood-sucking speculators, but there has been a noticeable increase in the number of comfortable rural homes.

Mr. Spinner, after you have battled with the boll weevil and the lazy Mississippi Valley negro, together with its raging floods, come by and see us and tell us what you think the relative cost of production and manufacture of Sea Island cotton ought to be. We await your coming.

DR. WHITE STRAIGHTENS UP.

Some time ago the newspapers had occasion to discuss some utterances coming from Dr. John E. White, of the Second Baptist church of Atlanta, taking decided position on the side of the dance. The Rev. Dr. came in for a share of unfavorable comment. The current issue of the Christian Index brings a card from Dr. White, in which he strongly disavows the language imputed to him by the Atlanta reporter. This is a matter of great satisfaction to his thousands of friends all over Georgia.

JUDGE AND FORMER LAWYER IN BATTLE

On Athens Docket Now. Judge Brand and J. T. Anderson in Street Conflict.
Athens, Ga., April 17.—Cases were docketed in the mayor's court against Judge C. H. Brand and J. T. Anderson, a well-known real estate agent and former practicing attorney, for alleged disorderly conduct on Clayton street tonight.

At a meeting of the Bar Association Saturday resolutions were passed almost unanimously unfavorable to the suggestion of Judge Brand that the judge of the city court should not receive as large a salary as the superior court judge, and that the solicitor should be put on a salary.

Mr. Anderson, a member of the association, made specially caustic remarks concerning the attack of Judge Brand on the city court system, and these remarks are said to have been the cause of the personal conflict which occurred between the judge and the realty man tonight. They were separated before either was hurt.

The Bar Association was practically unanimous in the opinion that the present status of the city court, remain as it is, and named a committee headed by Judge Andrew Cobb, to go before the grand jury and urge that Judge Brand's suggestion be not carried out. The conflict between the superior and city court has stirred up much feeling here.

ANDREW WATSON MUST SERVE SENTENCE.

The supreme court has handed down its decision, affirming the verdict of the superior court of this county in the case of the state vs. Andrew Watson, charged with the murder of Mr. A. J. Kennedy some thirteen years ago.

Watson has been in jail just one year, having been captured to South Georgia last spring. He was given a trial at the fall term of the superior court and convicted. The jury was kind enough to him to recommend him to the mercy of the court, and this gave him a life sentence in the penitentiary. Watson maintained all the while that he was not the Andrew Watson wanted, and his case was appealed, a new trial being asked for. The supreme court has refused that, and Watson will be sent to the penitentiary in a few days, where he will begin the serving of a sentence that lasts him during his natural life.

Electric Bitters is a priceless blessing to women troubled with fainting and dizzy spells, backache, headache, weakness, debility, constipation or kidney disorders. MERCHANTS HAD FINE EASTER TRADE.
Some of our merchants report a fine Easter trade. Those who catered to the ready-to-wear and millinery trade seemed to have the best of it. The crowds on Saturday didn't seem as large as on occasions of this kind before, but one or two stores report the heaviest business in their history. The Statesboro Mercantile Co. state that the record for the day on Saturday eclipsed anything they had done in any one day since they had entered business. Other houses dealing in the same line of goods did a heavy business. It was noticeable that the great bulk of the business was done on credit, very little cash being exchanged for Easter finery. The week had been a rainy one and this brought out the trade on Saturday in full.

TAKES $4,000 FROM NEGRO.
May Be Part of Loot From Mail Train.
Brunswick, Ga., April 17.—From John Anderson, a negro arrested here today, was taken $4,000 believed to be part of the $10,000 stolen from a registered mail pouch between Tampa and Clearwater, Fla., on March 23. The arrest was made by Postal Inspector Jake Jones.

Four thousand, one hundred and eighty dollars were recovered two weeks ago in the yard of H. H. Horace of Brookville, Fla. Horace says he and Anderson found the money in a stump into which a dog had chased a rabbit.

The stump was near the home of J. J. Abbott, a railroad mail clerk, who was arrested and is under bond to await action of the grand jury.

SEWARD'S FOLLY NO LONGER.

(From "Alaska, Uncle Sam's Treasury Casket," by Roy Crandall in April National Monthly.)
And "Seward's Folly" this land was called for a number of years. Note now the injustice of the appellation. Why, the land paid 50 per cent on the investment the first year that it became a possession of the United States. For the next nine it averaged 100; leaped then to 200, and today is paying not less than 700. When the coal and copper mines have been developed it will easily pay 2,000, or maybe 3,000 per cent.

At the outset the returns from what was believed to be a desolate and barren land came from fisheries and the furs. Salmon canning was then unknown and the catch was small—being worth but $550,000 the first year. It fell off annually for a number of years because the catch could not readily be taken to market points. But the seal skins were appreciated, as were the skins of sea and land otters, beavers, martens and the blue and white fox. They paid us well each year, the land animals being trapped and the seals being clubbed by the Aleut Indian employees of the Commercial Company, which enjoyed a long term concession from the government. For that great privilege it paid a tax to the government of only $3 a skin, but from that paltry tribute the treasury has already received more than $9,785,000, or nearly $3,000,000 more than was originally paid for Alaska with those seal islands.

SHOOT MARSHAL DEAD.
Dixon Boys Kill Ira Lindsey at Kite, Johnson County.
Wrightsville, Ga., April 17.—News has just reached here of the killing of Ira Lindsey at Kite, a station on the Wadley Southern Railway, in the southern part of this county, by Clifford and Sherman Dixon, who live near Wrightsville.

Mr. Lindsey was marshal of Kite, and the Dixon boys were drinking. The officer, it is alleged, insisted that they leave town or he would be forced to arrest them. The trouble began when the officer struck Sherman Dixon with his club and then Clifford and Sherman Dixon both began shooting, several bullets taking effect. Lindsey lived less than five minutes after being shot.

The Dixon boys came to their home near here and telephoned for Sheriff Davis to come for them, as they were ready to surrender. The sheriff and bailiff went for them at once.
Lindsey was of medium build and very strong and could easily have defended himself had he been expecting trouble. He was 35 years old and had a wife and two children. He had been married there for a short while, coming from near Tennille.

The Dixons came from one of the oldest families in Johnson county, Sherman, the oldest, married the daughter of William Anderson, one of the wealthiest planters of the county, two years ago. He has a wife and one child. The younger Dixon was 23 years old and unmarried.

BREATHITT FEUD GIVES GUNS WORK
Lexington, Ky., April 17.—Lawlessness was triumphant in Jackson, Ky., the seat of Breathitt county, on Saturday night, according to persons arriving here by train late today, who brought the first news of the disturbance.
Friends of Jason Deaton, who was killed in a feud fight with the family of Anse White a week ago, "shot up" the town in Western border style, according to reports, riding through the streets and firing pistols into houses indiscriminately.
No one was hurt, according to the information brought here, but as a consequence of the raid a guard about the jail, in which members of the White family are held, has been increased.
Reports continue current that the Deaton faction is planning to raid the jail in an effort to wreak summary vengeance on the Whites.
The persons who gave the information of the situation asked that their identity be kept secret as they feared the effect upon them on their return to Jackson. They also said that none of the newspaper correspondents in Jackson dared send out reports of the occurrence by wire as all had been warned not to telegraph any such items to outside points.

WORK ON VIDALIA DEPOT TO COMMENCE AT ONCE.
Vidalia, Ga., April 17.—The ground for the new union station here was surveyed Tuesday by a surveyor representing the Seaboard Railroad, Macon, Dublin & Savannah and the Georgia and Florida Railroad, and it is said that construction work will proceed as soon as the survey has been finished.
The union station has been under consideration for over a year, in fact it has been needed since the latter railroad was finished through Vidalia, but owing to many other matters in hand, the railroads could not reach this work until the present time.
The plans will call for a station in size and form not unlike the union depot at Cordele, with separate waiting rooms, baggage room, express room, and a large union ticket office, where tickets may be bought over either road.
The old depot will be utilized as freight house, and it has been said that the G. & F. road will have to enlarge their present quarters to take care of their freight business.
Now is the time to paint your house. I have the Paint at right prices.

PRESIDENT BARRETT

Denounces the Fallacy That Opportunities are Fewer Today, and Declares the Farmer Who Does Not Properly Equip His Boy Will Have to Face a Reckoning.

To the Officers and Members of the Farmers' Union: I have no patience with the complaint that, in our day, opportunities for the young man are disappearing.

It is the cry of ignorance or laziness. In every line opportunities are greater, and rewards more promising, than at any time in American history.

The only individuals with cause for grievance are the boys who will not equip themselves for success, in its highest sense, or those parents who are guilty of criminal neglect in seeing that the boy is properly equipped.

During the past several years I have visited every section of this country, and directly and indirectly investigated conditions in practically all branches of commerce and industry.

Everywhere the demand is for young men of ability to do the world's work; and the supply is far below the demand.

The great fortunes that have been made in this country, and the luxuries of the age in which we live, combined with lack of parental discipline, have done one wrong to our boys—many of them have grown to have a contempt for humble beginnings.

That is the secret of the complaint that the "doors of opportunity are closing," and the success is only for the chosen few.

The boy of twenty years ago was willing to work his way to success. He was willing, and anxious, to begin with the most unpretentious labor, and apply himself and deny himself, if he saw rewards at the other end.

The boy of our day—too often—wants to begin at the top instead of the bottom.

He wants to have success ready made for him.

He wants to step into a "snap," an "easy berth," without once reflecting that, save in exceptional instances, such positions are held by men who have demonstrated their fitness by long training, concentration and experience.

The sort of opportunity that matters most is the opportunity for the proper kind of education. And educational advantages are more plentiful, and cheaper, today than ever before.

It is the educated, the equipped men who rule this country, and who reap its greatest rewards in every branch of endeavor.

It is those whose education is insufficient, whose training has been neglected, that feed the army of failures and the band of malcontents.

The boys, or men, who are now complaining of "lack of opportunity" and giving that as an excuse for their indifference, success, would have done no better twenty, forty or sixty years ago.

Conditions have changed, of course. Business is organized upon different lines, competition has grown keener, and the qualifications for success more exacting.

That is why we cannot over-emphasize the value of education, adapting it in every case to the peculiar needs and abilities of the individual.

In the battle for success and distinction, the odds are all on the side of the boy who is equipped. The boy who is not equipped, and who thinks to reach the top without hard work, is practically whipped at the start.

As long as the world lasts, the great fundamental principle of success will survive all changes in business or industrial methods of administration; and that is, you must earn success before you get it. You may complain that you have no chance against the rich man's son, or the young man with "pull" and influence.

If you have kept even a casual watch on the drift of affairs in this country, you will have discovered that today rich men's sons and young men with "pull" are required to "make good" just as he who rises from the ranks.

If the son of wealth can't "make good" they relegate him from the world of active affairs, back to his task of merely spending money, and dwelling in society.

The call ever goes up for ability. It is better paid today than ever before, and those who are anxious to reward it cannot find enough able young men to fill the positions that demand competent handling.

The farmer who does not equip his son for success and for progress is handicapping him, as against the son of the man who is prepared for life's battles.

He must, some day, face a reckoning for sending his boy into the world pre-doomed to failure for lack of preparation.

This does not mean that every boy should be given a college education. I am aware, too, that the financial circumstances of some families militate against their giving their boy the squarest kind of a deal.

But in this day of democratic educational facilities, and medium prosperity, it is indeed a poor farmer who cannot find a chance to at least begin his boy in the right educational path.

And it is a poor boy who is not willing to pay the price of success by hard work, by burning the midnight oil if necessary, instead of cigarettes, in order that he may compete with the other fellow upon terms at least partially equal.

U. S. ULTIMATUM TO MEXICO

No More Fighting on Boundary Line. Formal Notice Is Given Insurrectos and Federals Along the Rio Grande. Battle Is Now Imminent. Patrol to Prevent Mexicans From Crossing Into Arizona Bearing Arms.

Douglas, Ariz., April 15.—Formal notice of the United States government's ultimatum that there shall be no more fighting upon the international boundary line which would jeopardize the lives or property of Americans was today served on both insurrecto and federal leaders on the southern side of the Rio Grande.

With the forces of Antonio Garcia, Senor Balsario, and "Red" Lopez, reinforced to nearly 1,100 men, federal reinforcements are reported to be drawing near, prepared to throw out a line of soldiers around the town. The bloodiest and most desperate battle of the war is believed to be imminent and many families are preparing to flee from Douglas in fear of stray bullets.

Insurrecto leaders declared today that a splendidly mounted and armed force of 1,200 men, most of them cowboys from Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, would cross the international line before night to fight for the revolutionary cause. The insurrectos have thrown up breastworks south of Agua Prieta and established outposts. The federal reinforcements are bringing machine guns with them and several wagon trains of provisions.

Capt. J. E. Gaudier, of the First United States cavalry, who stopped the battle of Agua Prieta after two Americans had been killed in Douglas, has a strong patrol force along the Rio Grande to prevent Mexicans from crossing into Arizona while hearing arms. The rebel leaders declare, however, that their reinforcements will baffle this line of guards.

The war department has issued several sets of orders dealing with the situation in Douglas. The orders relating to the invasion of Arizona by armed soldiers will result, it is believed, in making every Mexican, be he federal or insurrecto, a prisoner of war who crosses the Rio Grande with arms while hostilities are in progress.

One relief corps which is rushed to the aid of the rebels in Agua Prieta is commanded by the only woman officer in the revolution. She is Mme. Talamantes, widow of an insurrecto colonel, who, with his two sons, was taken captive by the federals at Sapulpa, in Chihuahua, and shot to death. The widow, a woman of great wealth, to revenge the death of her husband and children, formed a company of rebels and is marching under the insurrecto flag.

ATTENTION, FARMERS!

I am again representing the Southern Gypsum Company for the sale of their famous

Pierson Land Plaster.

This is the greatest producer known for Peanuts. You will absolutely have no pops when this is used. The peanut growers of Virginia and North Carolina use it altogether for growing peanuts, and say they cannot make good, sound peanuts without it. It has been used by hundreds of the best farmers in Bulloch county the past two seasons, who can testify to the great benefits derived from its use. It is used as a top dressing, by sprinkling it on the vines after the peanuts begin to bear.

It is recommended to sow in the evening or early in the morning, or just after a shower, as it is found that much benefit results from its adhering well to the leaves. A gloomy, hazy day is also a good time for the job. Application, about 200 lbs. per acre. Try it and be convinced that this is the greatest thing you ever used for making peanuts.

I will have some one to represent me at all the principal shipping points in the county. I will make my order about the 1st of May, so get your orders in by that time. Circulars and testimonials sent free on application.

SAYS STOVALL IN SENATORIAL FIGHT

South Georgia Claims Savannah Editor Will Shortly Establish Headquarters.

Atlanta, Ga., April 18.—A South Georgia man is here today, bringing the positive assertion that P. A. Stovall, editor of the Savannah Press, is in the race for United States senator.

The visitor would not allow the use of his name, but is positive in his assertion that Mr. Stovall is a candidate, and that he will shortly open up campaign headquarters in the Kimball residence here. It is intimated that two large rooms have already been looked over and found available for the purpose.

While Mr. Stovall some time ago gave out a statement to a South Carolina paper that he was not a candidate, it is a fact that he has been "feeling out" the situation. His friends, it is said, have written many members of the next assembly, and have also had ambassadors out in certain sections of the state canvassing the vote and the situation.

The South Georgia man declares that Mr. Stovall will have about the solid support of the southern part of the state, and that he will also have adherents in Middle and North Georgia.

GOVERNMENT TO WORK COAL MINING PLANT.

In Order to Secure Scientific Data About Accidents.

Washington, April 18.—A government-operated mine to be run not for profit, but to obtain scientific data, will begin operations about May 1, when the new experimental coal mining plant at Bruceton, Pa., near Pittsburgh, is opened. Scientific men and mining experts will experiment under actual mining conditions to obtain for the United States bureau of mines information which they hope will be useful in the prevention of such terrible loss of life as occurred in the Hancock mine at Throop, Pa., the Banner mine at Littlestown, Ala., and in the disaster at Cherry, Ill.

To combat statements of coal operators that conditions surrounding the tests made in the exterior gallery of the bureau of mines testing plant at Pittsburgh were not the same that would occur in actual mining operations was one of the reasons for establishing this experimental mine.

SOUTH GEORGIA PLACE FOR HOMES.

Says Michigan Homeseeker. He Will Tell of His Find to Friends in Michigan.

Waycross, Ga., April 18.—Georgia, and especially South Georgia, offers to the prospective homeseeker better advantages in climate and soil than can be found in any other section of the country, according to the report made here by William H. Fancett of Calhoun, Michigan.

He came here to investigate after receiving reports from relatives of his who located in Ware county several months ago. He has been in nearly all the farming sections of the country, and is so well pleased that he will recommend to a number of parties in his state now planning to move South that they investigate South Georgia.

GOVERNMENT RESCINDS ITS WHISKY ORDER

No Countervailing Duty to Be Levied on British Spirits.

Washington, April 19.—After several months of negotiation, this government has decided to rescind the order imposing a duty on British spirits. The British government made representations that distillers of English whiskies did not receive a bounty within the meaning of the Payne-Aldrich law.

In reaching a conclusion the treasury department was influenced by the fact that Great Britain has a fiscal policy not only of free trade, but also a lack of artificial stimulus to trade, such as is produced by bounties. Imports of Scotch and Irish whiskies amounting to several million dollars a year, are affected by the decision.

MACON PREACHERS AFTER THE TIGERS

In Eight Churches Next Sunday Prohi Sermons Will Be Preached.

Macon, Ga., April 19.—In eight of the churches of Macon Sunday, the pastors will preach sermons on the prohibition question applicable to the local situation. A determined effort is being made here to arouse a sentiment against a wide-open city, such as Macon is declared to be.

Rev. W. L. Collins, prohibition leader of Macon, will fill the pulpit at the Mulberry Methodist church.

SEABOARD AWARDS $2,500,000 CONTRACTS.

Norfolk, Va., April 18.—The Seaboard Air Line Railroad received bids today for equipment totalling something like $2,500,000, including 1,000 box cars, 200 all steel phosphate cars, 300 cabooses and nine passenger coaches. More than three score representatives of railway manufacturers supply concerns were here.

RAILROAD WINS FIGHT FOR HIGHER RATES.

Washington, April 18.—Advances in rates on lumber made by the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific Railroad, which were suspended by order of the interstate commerce commission, today were permitted to become effective, the commission vacating the order of suspension.

DIES FOLLOWING HIS BATTLE IN THE RING.

TEXAS WOMAN GETS RESULTS

When the Doctor Failed to Help Mrs. Moncrief, She Helped Herself With Cardui.

Belton, Tex.—In a letter written from this place, Mrs. Ethel Moncrief says: "I suffered with womanly troubles ever since I first entered womanhood. The doctors failed to help, so I began with Cardui. From the first, I could see good results, and I kept on taking it. I was relieved of all my dreadful suffering. Cardui has built up my system, and my friends are all surprised to see the good results I obtained. Cardui is as good a doctor as any woman needs. It can't be beat. I cannot praise Cardui too highly."

For more than half a century, Cardui has been used successfully to prevent womanly pains caused by womanly troubles, such as headache, backache, side ache, dragging sensations, etc. It also acts as a general tonic for the weak, tired, worn-out womanly system. Whether seriously sick or simply weak and ailing, take Cardui. It helped a million others. It will help you, too.

FIRE HOSE TO CONTROL UNRULY MAN AT DALTON.

Dalton, Ga., April 18.—With shackles around his ankles, Bob Sney, a well-known, good on Hamilton street, the main business thoroughfare, all Monday afternoon, refusing to work, but afraid to sit down for if he had. Chief of Police Fincher would have turned the fire hose on him.

Saturday night, Sney was arrested at a show for being drunk and was fined by the city recorder. Instead of paying his fine he said he "thought" he would just cut it out at the county jail, and he was placed behind the bars.

Today the officers placed him on the streets to work, but he declined to take hold of a shovel. His ankles were chained together and while no one could induce him to perform labor he will not be allowed to sit down during work hours, and he was told that if he does venture a rest, the water will be turned on him.

There is considerable speculation as to whether Sney will conclude to work.

FUTS THREE BULLETS IN HIS BROTHER IN DISPUTE.

Dublin, Ga., April 18.—In the lower part of this county Andrew Miller was shot three times by his brother George yesterday, two shots striking him in the right arm and the third in the right side. The wounds are not thought to be serious.

The men have been in dispute for some time over timber. Geo. Miller and Cadwell Beacham leased some timber from Andrew Miller. The lease is said to be conflicting, one clause stating that the lease covered all timber, "standing, dead or down," and another clause stated that the lease covered the hill timber. The lessees were cutting some slash timber and an injunction was secured.

The men met yesterday afternoon and began cursing each other. Finally George Miller pulled his pistol and began shooting at his brother. Several gentlemen were standing near, and Andrew Miller ran behind them and the shooting ceased. No warrant will be sworn out by the wounded man, as he stated that he can manage things without the aid of a court.

HE IS HELD FOR ROBBERY PREACHER AND WOMAN.

Columbus, Ga., April 18.—On charges of highway robbery and obtaining money on false pretenses, Graff Allen, a young man was bound over to the superior court today.

In the highway robbery case he is alleged to have taken $5 from the Rev. H. Stevens, a North Highlands minister, and in the other case a lady is the alleged victim.

COURT NEXT WEEK.

The spring term of Bulloch superior court will convene here on Monday, Judge B. T. Rawlings presiding.

The civil docket is said to be a very light one, in fact the lightest in many years. This is partly owing to the fact that the city court takes care of a great deal of this business, and also to the fact that we have had a long area of good times, and most of the old claims have been settled.

The criminal docket will be taken up Wednesday morning, as usual and the court will wrestle with a number of important criminal cases. There are several murder cases to be tried and a number of others of a serious nature.

The grand jury will have on its hands the hearing of the troubles of those who have been troubled by the wrong doers and then they will have to take the regular semi-annual overlook of the county's affairs, etc.

It is probable that the court will last the greater part of the week.

THE LIVING HONOR THE DEAD

Impressive Ceremonies at Foot of Confederate Monument. School Children March and Sing, and Decorate the Shaft to the Confederate Dead.

On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock four hundred school children marched through the Court House square to the Confederate Monument and covered it with flowers. The ceremonies were conducted under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy. Rev. John F. Eden, pastor of the Baptist church, opened the services with prayer, after which the children and large crowd present all joined in singing Dixie.

Rev. M. K. Dennis was the orator of the day. His address was a very fine one, going at length into the details that brought on the war between the states, and the incidents happening through the bloody period of four years that followed its outbreak. He held the undivided attention of the large crowd of people for about forty minutes, after which the services were closed with prayer by Rev. L. A. McLauren, of the Presbyterian church.

The veterans and speakers were the guests of the Daughters at the Utopia, where cold drinks and ice cream was served.

Superior court adjourned for an hour in honor of the occasion, and the banks and schools all observed a holiday.

JOE WOODS IS FOUND GUILTY

For Fourth Time Jury Returns Verdict of Guilty Against Slayer of Wink Mikell. Sentenced to Life Term. Will Ask for Another Trial.

For the fourth time, on yesterday at noon the jury in the case of the State vs. Joe Woods, charged with the murder of Wink Mikell, returned a verdict of guilty with a recommendation that he be confined in the penitentiary during the balance of his natural life. The case was, perhaps, the hardest fought this time of any of the four trials Woods has had. Every inch of ground was contested and the evidence sifted thoroughly by attorneys for the opposing sides.

Solicitor General Alfred Herrington was assisted by Cols. H. B. Strange and F. T. Lanier. The defense was represented by Cols. R. Lee Moore, A. M. Deal and J. E. Anderson. They were assisted by Col. John R. Cooper, of Macon, and Judge J. K. Hines, of Atlanta.

The case was called early on Wednesday morning, when, after discussion over the matter of absent witnesses an agreement was reached to go to trial. A panel of 144 jurors was called and exhausted in securing the jury, the twelve names being secured just before the last of the long list was reached. The jury trying the case this time were:

J. C. Lanier, L. L. Mitchell, D. R. Lee, J. F. Brown Richard Lanier, T. C. Pennington, Arthur McCormick, John G. Trapnell, J. G. Anderson, Remer Barnes, J. C. Wright and John Crumley.

The array of witnesses were about the same as on the previous trials, only one or two new ones being brought up. The state made about the same case they have been making all the while, which in the minds of the jury withstood the strong and determined assault made on it by the attorneys for the defense. The defendant was surrounded during the trial by his father and mother, sister and children, one little white headed boy sitting on his knee and a little girl sitting by his side.

During the long trial the court room was crowded to its full capacity; men who had heard the other trials listened eagerly to hear what was coming this time. After the jury was empaneled, a rumor was set afloat that there were two relatives on the jury, and it is not asserted that this is true, and this may form the basis for another trial. One of the attorneys for the defense stated yesterday afternoon that there would be another effort for another trial; he was satisfied sufficient grounds were in hand to ask for one and this would be done.

It is understood that on the first ballot the jury stood ten for conviction to two for acquittal; the second ballot revealed a unanimous verdict for conviction with a recommendation for life imprisonment.

Public opinion is divided on Woods, there being a large number of people who believe Woods did not intend to murder Mikell, that it was a drunken row and that the shooting of Mikell was not intentional on the part of Woods.

When the verdict was announced, Woods being still in the court room, Judge Rawlings called on him to stand and receive the sentence of the court, which was to serve the balance of his natural life in the penitentiary. After the trial was over his parents, who have expended every dollar they have in the world trying to save him from the penitentiary, started for home, bent under the load of sorrow added to that of their advanced age. It was a sad picture, and there were many who expressed themselves ready to sign a petition for a pardon after Woods had served a while in the penitentiary.

It is now charged that there were two men on the jury related to Mikell, which in itself would be grounds for a new trial.

It is also rumored that the next trial will be held in Washington county. Judge Rawlings believing that the jury list is about exhausted on the case.

JOE HENRY WEAVER CONVICTED

Other Two Weavers Acquitted. Jury Returns Verdict After Being Out Short Time.

The jury in the case of the State vs. Joe, Oscar, and Joe Henry Weaver charged with the murder of Monroe Walker in the quarters at McDougald's Still at Clito last November, returned a verdict yesterday of guilty of manslaughter in the case of Joe Henry Weaver and the other two defendants were acquitted.

It seems that there was a row at the house of Malinda Owens that night; that Monroe Walker had had a difficulty with one of the Weaver boys. This was reported back and old Joe and the two boys returned to the Owens shanty and demanded that Monroe come out. No answer being made Joe told him he had just as well come out, as he knew he was in the house. The evidence was that Monroe and Jim Burns, another negro, went to the door and as soon as the door was opened Joe Henry Weaver opened fire with a shot gun, killing Walker at once.

COOK'S GUILTY OF VOLUNTARY MANSLAUGHTER

Slayers of Sam Waters at Everett's Store Go Up for Long Term.

This afternoon the jury in the case of the State vs. John and Jim Cook, charged with the murder of Sam Waters, returned a verdict of voluntary manslaughter, the penalty on which is in the penitentiary from one to twenty years.

The jury was out only a short time and found very little trouble in reaching a verdict. The case consumed about twelve hours of the time of the court, and was warmly contested. Solicitor General Herrington and Col. H. B. Strange represented the state, while Messrs. Johnston & Cone and J. J. E. Anderson represented the defendants.

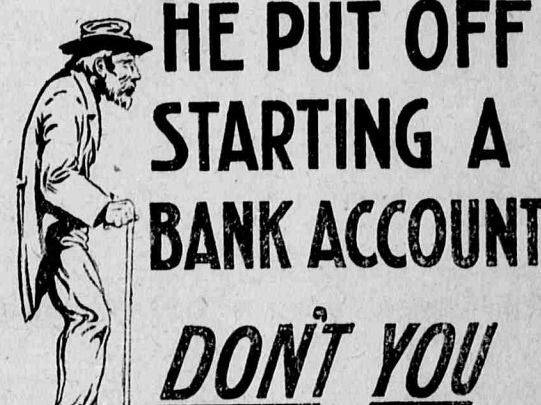

The killing of Sam Waters on the 24th day of December last, at the store of Mr. Joshua Everett, will be remembered by our readers, the circumstances having been published at the time.

It seems from the evidence that whites and blacks alike were engaged in a shooting match, shooting at a spot on the head of a barrel, the prize being a sum of money. Waters was acting as judge, and his decision on one shot was disputed by "Big Jerry Ellis," who jerked the score board out of the hand of Mr. Waters. This was resented by Waters, who knocked Ellis with his fist and then drew his knife. Ellis ran, and Waters turned towards the store. Jim Cook, son of John Cook was standing between Waters and store with a gun in his hand. Cook threw up the gun upon Waters' approach. Waters went on in the store and John Cook came running from behind the store with a pistol in his hand saying that "the poor white people in that community had been running over the negroes every Christmas and he was tired of it." He started in the store after Waters, followed by his son. He was stopped, and Waters soon appeared at the door with a gun in his hand, when the shooting started. Waters fell a victim to the wounds inflicted by a gunshot in the hands of Jim Cook, and a pistol wound at the hands of John Cook. The witnesses were not certain whether Waters shot or not, but when his gun was examined there was an empty shell in it.

Judge Rawlings sentenced John Cook to fifteen years and gave Jim Cook twelve years.

The grand jury will conclude their labors some time during tomorrow (Saturday) morning, and will make their presentments.

Hon. W. F. Slater, of Eldersburg, is in the city.

THE SEA ISLAND SITUATION.

Now that it is an undisputed fact that the campaign for the refection of the acreage in Sea Island cotton has been a success, there is a stronger tone in the spot market. Information reaching us from all over the Sea Island belt is to the effect that the farmers have not only lived up to their pledges but have more than done so. Diligent inquiry throughout the principal long cotton sections justifies the assertion that the acreage is cut fifty per cent.

This campaign has been carried on in the face of strong opposition from without and from certain dissensions from within. Some of those who pose as the farmer's friend and who have made their money out of him, have discouraged this movement, all they could, but it has succeeded in spite of the efforts of the bears from without aided by their agents from within.

The Sea Island cotton grower has learned some sense and he is exercising it. He knows who it is his friend; he knows who it is that made it possible for him to shake off the shackles of the cotton merchant who held him in a grasp that was squeezing the very life out of him; he knows that the local banks and the local warehouses and the local bulks, like Rafe Simmons, and many others of lesser note, have built up the interior market to where the very top of the market could always be obtained in cash, tell them when to sell, and you can't fool the folks any longer.

When men who have stood to the farmers rose up and said, "Boys, the only salvation is to hold what you have got and cut the acreage," they believed them, and the result is we are going to get thirty cents and above for our Sea Island cotton, not only the crop on hand, but the one that will be harvested this fall. The world has got to have our fine grades of Sea Island cotton and no one knows this any better than the man who grows it. He knows that the repeated efforts to substitute it have failed every time they have tried, and he knows all this bluff and bluster about raising it in the Mississippi delta, etc., will fail as has all other efforts along that line.

The boys are getting to the point where you can't fool 'em so easy as you once could. When they see a fellow coming down the pike with a sheep's hide wrapped around him, they have learned to make a thorough examination before they embrace him, for fear they will have a hungry, venomous wolf in their camp. They know who are their real friends and who have done the sheep's hide.

The holders of Sea Island cotton know that the men who buy it at thirty cents per pound and sell it back to us at from eight to sixteen dollars per pound, have no kick coming, they know they are not going so far off that they cannot get back and get some more of our thirty cents per pound in order to send it back to us at eight dollars.

The day is coming when the producer will own the mill and the mill instead of being in Manchester, England, or in Massachusetts will be in the South along side of the cotton fields, the same determination that delivered them from the grip of the foreign speculator will bring the mill to the fields.

RUN WILL PROBABLY GO VIA SYLVANIA.

The Bullock path finding car passed through here this week, looking over the route for the Charlotte automobile run, to be made on May 9th. The route via Sylvania has been selected, provided the Screven and Effingham county folks get their roads in good shape. A car will be run over both that and the Statesboro route on Sunday, and on their report will decide which route it is thought that the present run will operate in favor of the Sylvania route, provided it don't rain too much. If it rains much the water will drive them via Statesboro, but if it rains just enough to temporarily pack the Effingham and Screven deep sand beds and soften the clay on our roads, it will be favorable to the other route. If the scout car takes into consideration that their deep sand will dry out and get loose and heavy in a day or two and our clay roads dry out and get smooth and light before the run, then it will come our way. As a rule they are liable to report them as they find them; in that case they may find them entirely different when the weather conditions change, by the time the run is made.

There are very few people who care anything about whether they come this way or not. The people who have to bear the burden of these fights have never had the thanks of the few who are benefitted by the automobiles coming this way, and therefore, we believe the best thing to do hereafter is to let those who are benefitted make some of the fights and hear some of the burdens. News has stood for the auto route in this way; it has never been bled one penny. It has never even had the thanks of those who are benefitted, who are in the end very few in number, in fact, we hesitate to say, for fear we will get out of the plural numbers in doing so.

"RAZOR BILL" IN TOWN.
"Razor Bill, from over the hills, has never flickered and never will," blew in this morning, and after getting a permit proceeded on the job of catching suckers. He hired a buggy and took the usual stand on the court house square, and the usual number of suckers swallowed the bait. It has been said that there is a sucker born every minute; the author of that assertion must have had Bullock county in mind. A large amount of soap, razors, collar buttons, etc., was worked off at about four prices.

There is a fake in town in the shape of a blind phenologist, who has been engaged in feeling of folks' heads and assuming to tell them what they are good for. He has made one or two lucky guesses by telling them they were good for nothing, etc. This same old fellow was here a few years ago with an organ, posing as a Confederate veteran, playing and singing, later he hung around the saloons and dance halls in Savannah in the same roll. Now he comes to us in a new roll.

WHITE WOMAN FINED FOR SELLING WHISKEY.
In the superior court this week, Mrs. Nora Lanier pled guilty to the charge of selling whiskey and was sentenced to pay a fine of two hundred dollars and costs or serve nine months in the chain gang. The fine was promptly paid. Mrs. Lanier is the wife of Mr. J. D. Lanier, who has been charged before, he having suffered a stroke of paralysis about two years ago while attending court at this place. J. D. Lanier, Jr., also pled guilty to the same charge and was given the same sentence. This was a case where mother and son were both fined on the same charge. The young man also paid his fine.

VETERANS ELECT OFFICERS.

The regular annual meeting of the Joseph S. Cone Camp of Confederate Veterans was held in the Ordinary's office on Wednesday at 11 o'clock, as announced in Tuesday's paper. About 35 members registered, and the regular election was held, resulting as follows:
Commander, S. J. Williams.
First Lieutenant, S. H. Kennedy.
Second Lieutenant, G. R. Beasley.
Third Lieutenant, Z. T. DeLoach.
Secretary, Jacob Roeker.
Color Bearer, W. R. Whitaker.
Chaplain, J. M. Langford.
Sponsor, Miss Inez Williams.
The following were elected delegates to the State Reunion to be held in Rome in the fall:
E. D. Holland, S. J. Williams and Jerry Howard, alternates W. P. Donaldson, H. I. Waters and John Anderson.
It is understood that Messrs. H. I. Waters, John T. Brannen, T. J. Morris and several others will attend the National Reunion to be held at Little Rock next month.

The question of a reunion for the coming summer was discussed and it was decided to have one. An invitation was extended to meet at Ivanhoe, but many of the veterans thought that this would be rather out of the way for the majority of the veterans. Parties present assured them that at the proper time Statesboro would extend them an invitation to hold their reunion here, and a committee composed of Messrs. S. J. Williams and E. D. Holland were appointed to arrange this.

Mr. Editor:
Please allow me a short space in the News to say to the voters of Bulloch, and Georgia too, that I want some man in every community to write a petition to the next legislature, asking them to repeal the dog tax law. I am satisfied that ninety per cent of the people of the state are opposed to such a law. I have a petition with 25 signers, and am satisfied I will get 200. Only four I have asked to sign have refused, and they did not have any dog.

SUSPECTS LODGED IN PRISON CELLS

Los Angeles, April 27.—James J. McNamara and Orrie R. McManigal arrived here at 2:35 p. m. and were locked in cells at the county jail. There was no demonstration.

John J. McNamara arrived at the jail five minutes later. He had been brought by automobile from Raymond station.

District Attorney Frederick stated today that Mrs. Ingelsoll, of San Francisco, told him that James B. McNamara, whom she saw in Pasadena as he left the train there this afternoon, was without doubt the J. B. Bryce whom she knew and who is one of the much-wanted alleged dynamiters.

Los Angeles, Ind., April 26.—Investigation by the Marion county grand jury of the two-sided "dynamite conspiracy" absorbed the attention of its members, official and unofficial today. County Prosecutor Baker announced that the grand jury's inquiry would go thoroughly into the double aspect of the case, as follows:

Has Indianapolis been the seat of a conspiracy of dynamiters, who in two years have caused more than 100 explosions directed against employers of and sympathizers with non-union workers, bringing about millions of dollars of loss to bridges and buildings, and in the case of the Los Angeles Times building explosion, the deaths of 21 persons?

Has there been a conspiracy by enemies of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, to attempt by "planting" dynamite in its office building, to convict it and its secretary, J. J. McNamara, of dynamite outrages, and was McNamara kidnapped from the city last Saturday, with passive consent of the police and Police Judge Collins?

William J. Burns, whose bureau of detectives is employed by a national association of structural iron and steel contractors, and who was arrested last night on the charge of complicity in the alleged McNamara kidnapping, was the first witness before the grand jury today. It is understood he took advantage of his right to decline to testify. Walter Drew and J. A. G. Bader, of counsel for the National Erectors' Association, and W. Joseph Ford, assistant district attorney of Los Angeles, all of whom are charged with the kidnapping and bond to the grand jury inquiry in bonds of $10,000 will also be examined. Police Judge Collins and other officials having knowledge of the circumstances of the extradition of McNamara to California, are also to appear, it is reported.

As Burns stepped into the corridor, after his appearance before the grand jury, a man in the crowd of curious shouted: "You're a damned crook."

"I'm good enough to get' such men as you," retorted Burns, and passed out of the court house with his attorneys.

Hearing that a subpoena had been issued for him, Frank M. Ryan, president of the Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, appeared in the grand jury's ante-room and offered to testify. He was told he would be called later.

Following Burns, two women, said to have lived in a downtown building in which some members of the structural iron workers' union had rooms, were called into the grand jury room and examined briefly and then recess was taken.

Watson Verdict Is Confirmed

The decision of the Supreme Court in the case of the State vs. Andrew Watson, charged with the murder of Andrew J. Kennedy in 1889, has been handed down and has been made the verdict of the Superior Court as required by law. This means that the last hope for Andrew Watson is gone and the penitentiary now stares him in the face. Clerk of the Superior Court Temple has notified the Prison Commission of the verdict and asked for directions. In a short time the Prison Commission will send a guard for the prisoner and take him to some of the camps. Judge Moore stated that he would not be asked for by the Bulloch county authorities. They had rather have some other convict for their share.

Watson still maintains that he is not the Andrew Watson that did the killing.

THE BEGINNING OF THE CIVIL WAR

(Augusta Chronicle.)

Fifteen anniversaries of stirring events of the sixties have revived many controversies over incidents connected with the war. Perhaps the most interesting of these is the one involving the actual beginning of the strife.

History seems to concur in the opinion that the assault on and fall of Fort Sumter in Charleston harbor in April, 1861, was the first actual fighting, and from that incident the war has been dated, though the so-called battle was mostly perfunctory and was pulled off for the sake of honor and expediency more than for a decision which was patent to both sides before a single shot was fired.

Mr. John Foster, of Parkland, Pa., a former Georgian, contributed an interesting view of the subject in a card published in the Chronicle a few days ago, when he raised the question as to the capture of the Augusta Arsenal by the Georgia militia in the latter part of March, 1861, being the first actually armed conflict.

Whatever may be the facts, history seems to have classed that event as a peaceful surrender of occupation. The arsenal never having been manned by more than a handful of ordnance soldiers, serious resistance would have been out of the question, though a perfunctory show of one might have been made.

But students have found that while the first shot may have been fired on South Carolina soil, the first acts of war were committed in Georgia. The occupation of Fort Pulaski by Georgia soldiers acting under orders from Governor Joseph E. Brown, seems to have been the first positive official step in contempt of the federal flag—the first actual exercise of a state's sovereignty against that of the United States government.

We quote from Pendleton's life of Alexander H. Stephens:

"Governor Brown also anticipated Georgia's action (secession) when on January 2d, 1861, he ordered Colonel Lawton, of the First Regiment State militia, to take and hold Fort Pulaski at Savannah, which was done accordingly the next day. This seizure of Fort Pulaski, without resistance on the part of the garrison and without the firing of a single gun, three months and nine days before Fort Sumter at Charleston was shelled and taken by assault, seems to have escaped the notice of the average historian who begins the record of aggressive action with the latter event."

On the same day Fort Pulaski was taken a revenue cutter was seized by "unauthorized persons" but Governor Brown ordered its immediate release.

Perhaps the most aggressive event antedating Sumter was the action of Governor Brown in ordering seized and held merchant ships in Savannah harbor when guns being shipped to Georgia were detained in New York by orders of the governor of that state. This happened in January and February of 1861.

Pendleton's history says:

"On January 22, 1861, the New York police seized two hundred muskets that were about to be shipped to a firm in Macon and placed them in the state arsenal. Governor Brown telegraphed on February 2d, to Governor Morgan, of New York, demanding that the guns be immediately given up to the agent in New York city whom he appointed to receive them."

The New York governor ignored the message, and after confirming its receipt, telegraphed Governor Brown, "I telegraphed Colonel H. R. Jackson to order out a sufficient military force to seize and hold subject to his later instructions, every ship in the harbor of Savannah belonging to citizens of New York."

Three briggs, one schooner and a bark were seized on February 8th. Next day the guns were ordered turned over to Governor Brown's agent, and the boats were released, but when the agent sought them their delivery was withheld. More merchant ships were seized at Savannah. "On February 25th, he notified Gov. Morgan that if they were not released and actually shipped from New York by the 25th of March the detained vessels would on the day he said in Savannah be employed to indemnify the owners of the unlawfully captured arms."

The sale was accordingly advertised, but meantime the guns were released and started on their way South.

These two acts—the seizure and occupation of Fort Pulaski by Georgia troops and the detention of New York vessels, both having taken place before Georgia seceded, were perhaps the first aggressive steps in or toward the war that followed. It is believed that because of these, together with the taking over of the Augusta Arsenal, before the declaration of war that Governor Brown was arrested and jailed immediately following Appomattox, the claim being that he had committed acts of treason in advance of secession and actual hostilities.

Referring to the Fort Pulaski incident, Louis Pendleton says in his interesting history:

"Too little has been made of this incident of the capture of Fort Pulaski by order of a secessionist governor, for if the garrison had resisted even by no more than the firing of a few shots into the air, the war would have begun in Georgia instead of in South Carolina, and three months earlier."

But if it is established that aggressive guns were actually fired at the taking of the Augusta Arsenal it will be proved that the war as defined by actual fighting did begin on Georgia soil.

MAKING PEACE BY TELEGRAPH

Madero and Diaz Are Negotiating by Wire.

It Develops That the Rebels Are Uneasy Over News That Reyes Will Return From Paris. It's Said Reyes Wants to Be President.

El Paso, April 26.—It developed today that Mexican peace negotiations are proceeding by telegraph between Madero's camp and the City of Mexico in order to leave for the commissioners little but technical work. The revolutionists are uneasy over the announcement that General Bernardo Reyes is to return from Paris.

The revolutionists fear Reyes will convince President Diaz that Minister Limiunhu has persuaded the president into granting too many concessions. It is said Limiunhu and Reyes have never been on good terms, and that the latter is predisposed to pick fights in Limiunhu's work.

Objected to Reyes.

When announcement was made that General Reyes was to return to Mexico, President Diaz was informed by telegraph that his presence might jeopardize negotiations. Just what action Diaz took is not known, but Reyes postponed his sailing from May 21 to May 25. Yesterday he again postponed it until May 27.

Reyes is alleged to be ambitious to become president. His influence over the federal army is great. It is feared, justly or unjustly, that he would bring about modifications of concessions, which the government is now willing to make to such an extent that Madero would have no other course than to re-open the revolution.

Informal Agreement Reached.

It may be stated that an informal agreement on most points, such as the election of governors and mayors, payment of debts incurred by the revolutionists, pensions, retention of arms and the like has been reached.

Today telegrams were exchanged with reference to a meeting place for the commissioners. Madero favors the international boundary line here.

He argues that in this way alone will it be possible for him to participate freely in the negotiations and at the same time be able to confer at any time with the underchiefs of the revolution, who will be present.

ANCIENT CITIES IN ARIZONA.

(Philadelphia North American.) Members of the geological survey have discovered the sites of several ancient cities in the San Juan region, Arizona, which prob- ably have been deserted since long before the Christian era. The remains belong to what is called the stone age, which was long before metals were used in the construction of weapons for war or utensils for domestic pur- poses. Many stone axes and mauls were found, but iron was evidently unknown to the dwell- ers of these ancient cities of the west.

"The houses are peculiar. The apartments were dug down into the rocks, and the only en- trance was from the top. Evi- dently these cities were intended as places of refuge in time of war. There are many antiquities of this kind in Arizona, New Mex- ico and still further to the south- west. The great antiquity is shown by the fact that the geol- ogy of these regions has greatly changed since these cities were habitable. There is no trace of water in many of the places, which formerly must have been densely populated; when, of course, that liquid must have been a prime necessity and easily procurable. Young Americans who think of traveling to Nine- vah, Babylon, Egypt and other Eastern regions filled with ruins of ancient empires would do well to look for remains equally re- markable in their own country.

THE BOY AS A YOUTH REFORMER.

(Angusta Chronicle.)

Country boys grown to emi- nence usually attribute most of their success to the days of per- spiring toil they spent at the end of a hoe handle or between plow shares back on the farm. But if nine-tenths of them will delve in- to the memories of youth they will recall that during the period of their apprenticeship to toil they writhed under the lash of such arduous industry. In the sprouting and growing corn they saw nothing but work—and such work as only the most ignorant and unambitious could do. The monotony of the daily grind elim- inated all poetry from the grist, and missing all the beauties of nature, they rebelled against agri- culture, and sought more appeal- ing fields, metaphorically, in the city.

Now, a Harvard professor ad- vances the claim that gardening is the best antidote for the waf- wardness of youth, an opinion concurred in by Luther Burdock, a gifted naturalist and true lover of nature, and doubtless by John Burroughs, also.

The professor says: "The boy with evil tendencies may be served with greater ad- vantage to himself and his future development by being appren- ticed to a gardener or florist than by going into any other line of work."

Perhaps he is right so far as the city-grown boy is concerned, because he finds in the garden a contrast to things accustomed to. If a child can be interested in the mysteries and marvels of plants—or of nature in any way—he isn't apt to go far wrong. There is nothing more enthralling than to see things grow, and it be- comes most fascinating when we reach out our hands and minds and assist nature in developing her products. But it is often dif- ficult to make even an adult com- prehend these ideas; for to most of us plants take life and develop just because they have always done so.

There is one virtue in garden- ing as a corrector on any score. It requires physical exercise, which is always healthful, mentally and otherwise.

MINERS WOULD RAISE QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS

Stands Ready to Levy Tax of Five Dollars a Man—50,000 Members to Help the Structural Iron Workers Fight the Case—Those Who Arrested McNamara Will Have to Produce Ev- idence.

Denver, Col., April 24.—"The Western Federation of Miners stands ready to levy an assessment of five dollars each on 50,000 members as a defense fund for Secretary J. J. McNamara, of the Structural Iron Workers Union." This statement was made today by Chas. H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Min- ers.

"I consider the entire affair a frame-up similar to the one I and my associates were victims of some years ago in connection with the death of former Gov- ernor Steiensenberg, of Idaho," said Moyer.

"The arrest of McNamara shows on its face that it was a frame-up. He was treated ex- actly as we were. He was not given a single show either by the gov- ernor of Indiana or the courts of Marion county.

"The charge that dynamite was kept by McNamara in the head- quarters of his organization is sil- ly. If he was in the blowing up business he would have too much sense to keep dynamite around headquarters. It is very easy to hire Orchards to plant dynamite where the detectives who paid them to plant it can find it.

"The persons instrumental in McNamara's arrest will have to produce good evidence to show why he wanted to blow up the Los Angeles Times when he is a member of the Structural Iron Workers organization.

"Their case might have look- ed better had they arrested a member of the Typographical Union.

"The Western Federation of Miners went through just such a siege. "All unions came to our sup- port and now the Western Fed- eration will reciprocate. We stand ready to levy and pay an assessment of $5 each on a mem- bership of 50,000 or more to help defray expenses of this, the sec- ond great fight that has been started by the enemies of organ- ized labor against its principles. "Detective Burns has simply taken a number of explosions that have occurred over the, employing a few 'Orchards' and worked up a case."

JUDGES REVERSED THEMSELVES.

The result of the musical contest held at Pembroke on Wednesday giving the medals to Claxton and Pembroke over Statesboro and Woodcliff, has caused considerable comment here. The reports of the awarding of the medals carry with it some very unpleasant features.

The Agricultural School entered two young ladies in this contest, both of whom made an excellent showing. In the case of Miss Lula Waters there was a division of the judges, there being five in number. On the first ballot of the judges, after all the playing was over, the award stood three to two in favor of Miss Waters. The other two judges, representing the minority, began at once to plead with the third one to change her judgment on Miss Waters and give it to a young lady from Claxton, notwithstanding the fact that this lady judge had already voted for Miss Waters. She was induced to change her vote to the Claxton young lady, making the vote three to two in favor of Claxton.

Thus it seems that Miss Waters won in the musical contest while the Claxton young lady had the advantage of having the most persistent pleading on the part of the judges. In other words, it was a contest between persuasion and music and the former won.

Those who were present say that the Agricultural School girls performed well and were the real winners, though the judgment was taken from them by the persistent persuasion of the minority.

HUGE AIRSHIP DASHED TO PIECES

Accident Occurs During the First Trial of the Lebaudy Dirigible.

NAVAL AIRSHIP DAMAGED.

Besides the Lebaudy Craft One Intended for Coronation Is Broken.

London, May 4.—The government has had the worst of luck with its dirigible airships. The Lebaudy dirigible, which was damaged at Aldershot after a successful flight from Paris last summer, was wrecked at Farnborough on its first trial this afternoon.

A great naval airship, the construction of which has been surrounded by secrecy, designed to take a spectacular part in the coronation naval review was so badly damaged at Barrows yesterday that it cannot be taken out for months.

The Lebaudy met disaster against a clump of trees and is a mass of ruins. Major Sir Abnerman, commandant of the air battalion at South Farnborough, and head of the government's aeronauts, took the airship out this evening with crew of seven in it. It ascended gracefully and traveled smoothly for some time. Finally the airship began to descend and drifting almost helplessly struck the trees, when the bag exploded. One of the crew was badly injured.

The Lebaudy was 337 feet long and the naval airship was 510 feet long.

The Clement Bayard, 300 feet, which also sailed to England from France, is the only dirigible belonging to the government which remains intact. This craft has not been tried since its arrival last fall.

DUBLIN HEIRS MAY GET SLICE BRITISH MILLIONS.

Several in South Georgia Towns Awaiting Outcome of Dispute

Dublin, Ga., May 4.—If the claim of the American heirs to Richard Hazzard proves to be legal, Messrs. Davis S. Thomas J. Richard D. Blackshear, Mrs. L. A. Matthews and Miss Georgia Blackshear of this city, will come in for a large share of money.

The Blackshears here have the family history printed in book form. The author was Mrs. Mary Floyd Hamilton, their grandmother. Her grandfather was Richard Hazzard, of South Carolina, a descendant of the rich Englishman.

It is said that the estate now contested for amounts to something like $90,000,000, the original being about $150,000,000.

As was announced a few days ago, Mrs. J. C. White, of Atlanta, has gone to Europe to lay claim to the fortune left by the English Hazzards.

DESERTS WIFE FOR ANOTHER WOMAN

Lewis Evans, Statesboro Merchant, Takes French Leave—Chase Proves to be Fruitless One.

On Thursday morning, after rifling the cash till in the store of Seligman-Evans Co. and drawing out the cash balance in the First National Bank to the credit of the firm, of which he was a member, Lewis Evans boarded the Savannah & Statesboro morning train for Savannah. Passengers on the train had their attention called to his acts; he seemed nervous and repeatedly asked Conductor DeLoach wasn't there a place near Savannah where he could get off the train and surround the city. He was told that this could be done at the Alabama Junction, just one mile out; he stated that he intended getting off there, but when this point was reached he had noticed that his intention was known to the passengers and after walking to the platform he came back, and disappeared from the Union Station. Soon afterwards an automobile carrying Mrs. Evans and her brother, Mr. Seligman, the other member of the firm arrived in Savannah in hot pursuit of Evans. A thorough search was made, every outgoing train was covered, and the outgoing steamer was watched, but it was later learned that he had succeeded in sailing for New York on a steamer leaving that afternoon, under an assumed name, having disguised himself by dyeing his hair and putting on different clothing.

It is said that he became infatuated with another woman and the trip to New York was for the purpose of meeting her. A letter discovered by his wife revealed this. The amount of the cash taken from the store was fifteen dollars and the amount checked out of the bank was $165.00. Mr. Seligman and sister will get back this morning after a fruitless search for the man who had fled from his business and leaving his wife and one child.

Traveling Passenger Agent W. W. Hackett, of the Central of Georgia Railway, with headquarters at Augusta, was in town yesterday arranging to run a special train from Statesboro to Swainsboro next Friday, May 12th, account of the First District High School contests. The train if run will leave Statesboro after seven o'clock in the morning, going via Stillmore, taking on the Claxton school crowd at Register, reaching Swainsboro a little after nine o'clock, and returning here about six-forty-five in the afternoon. The fare will probably be one dollar and fifty cents for the round trip for adults and half price for children. Definite announcement will be made early in the week.

SEA ISLAND MARKET SHOWS GAINS FOR WEEK.

DEMOCRATS MAKE PROMISES GOOD.

This Is O'Gorman's Text. New York Senator Points to Party's Deeds in 1911.

New York, May 2.—In an address tonight to the National Democratic Club at a dinner in his honor, James A. O'Gorman, the new United States Senator from New York, said in part:

"Today the American people are looking hopefully to the Democratic party for redress against economic and political conditions which weigh heavily upon them and which cannot be successfully defended. There is a growing and widespread public sentiment that the American consumer must be relieved from unjust and unnecessary tribute."

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, Democratic for the first time in sixteen years, has set a splendid example of advancing necessary legislation during the last month. The pledges of the party have been kept and the record of the House is one of achievement.

"In our own state the Democratic majority intends, during this session, to enact laws which will make for economy and efficiency in government, and thus lighten the burden of the citizens of the state. In New Jersey, under the inspiring leadership of Gov. Wilson, the Democratic party in one session of the Legislature has redeemed all the pledges of constructive legislation. These are a few of the achievements of the Democratic party in 1911.

"I believe the people of the land want an immediate downward revision of the tariff. They demand a parcels post. They demand that the Panama canal be fortified. They demand the election of United States senators by direct vote and they demand that the reserved rights of the states be jealously guarded against federal usurpation. I shall support these and all similar measures as they arise."

EX-MAYOR OF N. Y. AT CAMORRIA TRIAL

George B. McClellan Takes a Seat
With Lawyers in Famous Case.

INFORMER'S STORY TOLD.

As Prisoners Curse Abbatemaggio
Repeats History of Cuocolo Murder.

Viterbo, Italy, May 2.—Generale Abbatemaggio, upon whose revelations the state has built its case against the Camorra, was called to the witness stand today to confirm verbally the written confession made for the earlier years after he had been tricked into damaging admissions by the police spy Marshal Capizzuti.

The informer stood the supreme test of his courage well, repeating his statement very coolly and at times eloquently, while he was assailed with the curses of prisoners in the great steel cage. Every statement that he made was denied in chorus and when he concluded, Enrico Alfano, alleged head of the Camorra, rose and shouted:

"Abbatemaggio deserves thirty years in prison."

Abbatemaggio's story of the murder of Genero Cuocolo and his wife is already known. He claimed to have been one of the chosen to commit the actual crime and to have escaped this assignment by feigning illness.

George B. McClellan, former mayor of New York, occupied a seat in the space set apart for the lawyers, when the prisoners started at him until the proceedings opened.

LOUISIANA MAN WARNS FARMERS OF GEORGIA

Declares They Had Better Begin Diversifying Against Boll Weevil

Dublin, Ga., May 2.—Guy T.
Smith, of Monroe, La., spent yesterday looking after the interests of his mother's estate in this county.

He says that the people of Louisiana have not recovered from the panic caused by the boll weevil. The farmers are trying diversification, stock raising, etc., but, truth to tell, have not been able to find a money crop that will take the place of cotton.

Mr. Smith says that the farmers plant early, use an early variety of seed and cultivate fast in order to mature as many bolls as possible before August 1, which time the boll weevil begins work.

He says that the Georgia farmers had better begin preparing for the boll weevil, which will reach here in a few years. So far to plant early and cultivate fast is the only means Louisiana farmers have found to circumvent the pest.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fanciful evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fevers, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid.

But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles fine health ever since." Use this

The Banking Habit

is universally conceded to be a good habit, and a good habit has been defined by someone as "Yesterday's Achievements Taking the

This definition states the exact truth, based upon the experience of thousands of depositors throughout the world.
While you are forming this exis worth living when you have money

HOPES TO VOTE ON FARMER'S FREE LIST

Washington, May 4.—House leaders today expressed the hope that the so-called farmers' free list bill could be brought to a vote on Saturday. Many members are still pressing for time to debate the measure, however, and there may be a further delay. Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee is anxious to get the free list bill out of the way so his committee can go ahead with its proposed revision of schedule K.

The bill deals with the free list of duties on wool and woolsens. The free list bill debate continued today.

The senate met today for the first time since Monday. A fight had been expected over the opening of the Lorimer investigation, following the action of the senate committee on expenditures in voting to for-gably report the LaFollette resolution so far as the expense of an other inquiry is concerned, but Senator LaFollette announced he would not press for consideration, preferring to await the return of a number of senators who are out of the city.

Senator LaFollette is anxious for a record vote on the question whether the Lorimer matter shall be referred to a special committee on elections or whether it shall be referred to a special committee named in the LaFollette resolution and consisting entirely of new members of the senate.

CHINA'S REBELLION SPREADS RAPIDLY

Washington, May 3.—Consul General Bergbolz, of Canton, recommended to the state department by cable today that American gun-boats enter the West River to protect the missionaries in Kwang Tung province. The gunboat Wilmington already is at Canton.

Chicago, May 2.—The Young Chinese Association here gave out today a translation of what purports to be a cablegram recently received from Hu Wai Sung, commander of the "Citizen army" of China, sending "greetings to all nations," and declaring that their purpose was to shake off the yoke of the conqueror and establish a republic.

Hong Kong, May 3.—Late dispatches today state that the anti-Manchu movement has spread from the West River at the west of Canton, to the south and east and to Amoy, in the southeastern part of Fokien province.

have not been molested by the rebels.

Services on the Canton-Kowloon section of the railway leading from Canton to Hong Kong has been abandoned and the British railway officials have been ordered to come to this city tonight.

Vessels are making frequent trips between Hong Kong and Canton, bringing refugees here.
Details of the fighting at Canton confirm earlier reports of the terror with which the troops and the rebels engaged. Queer-looking heads and hairless bodies in western dress are still exposed in the streets. Other bodies show that death was caused by strangulation. The absence of queues, together with the clothing of western fashion makes it plain that the dead were rebels. The bodies of the soldiers killed appear to have been removed.

A son of the viceroy of Canton and a maid were found hidden under a bed in the servant's quarters of the palace which escaped destruction when the home was set afire.

The commander of a Chinese cruiser was killed. Admiral Li, who commanded the local troops in the first two days of the fighting is said to have personally killed ten revolutionists before he was mortally wounded.

Blue jackets guard Shamien and close by are the American gunboat Wilkinson, the German gunboat Huis, a Portuguese gunboat from Macao, and several warships.

EACH COUNTY AS EDUCATIONAL UNIT

Atlanta, Ga., May 2.—That a number of questions of vital importance to those engaged in educational work in Georgia will come before the next session of the general assembly, is the opinion of State School Commissioner
M. L. Brittain.

Commissioner Brittain says that he considers it very probable that included in the legislation will be a bill providing that each county shall be allowed to vote upon the question of establishing compulsory education in the county; a state-wide compulsory measure, and one providing that the county be adopted as the unit of education and abolishing a division of the city from the county in the matter of education.

The commissioner says that the legislature will be asked to devise some method, not yet outlined, for making prompt payments to teachers.

Agriculture Statistics.

The United States Census Bureau has issued four more reports covering the agricultural statistics collected at the recent census taking. Three have reference to the extreme West and one to the East.

Warning to Railroad Men.

E. S. Bacon, 11 East St., Bath, Me., sends out this warning to railroaders: "A conductor on the railroad, my work caused a chronic inflammation of the kidneys, and I was miserable and all played out. A friend advised Foley Kidney Pills and from the day I commenced taking them, I began to regain my strength. The inflammation cleared and I am far better than I have been for twenty years. The weakness and dizzy spells are a thing of the past and I highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills." At W. H.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Makes kidneys and bladder right

After our child had suffered effected a complete cure, and our sentenced last July to a term of from thirty to forty years for brick was sentenced on his own

ASK REDUCTION IN RATES ON ICE

Association of Manufacturers
Files Petition With Railroad Commission. Charges Now Excessive. Repeated Letters to Express Companies Have Been Entirely Disregarded.

Waycross, Ga., May 2.—Asking a general reduction on rates of ice shipments, the South Georgia and North Florida Ice Association, representing over a dozen large ice manufacturing plants of Georgia and Florida, sent to the Georgia railroad commission a petition, giving in detail why the ice companies want lower rates.

The petitioners charge that the commodity rate now in effect is excessive, inasmuch as the ice express company has the ice shipments not only delivered to its offices, but also taken from its offices, thereby relieving it of expense in handling same.

THE EXPRESS PROBE.

The decision of the Railroad Commission to go to the bottom of the affairs of the Southern Express Company will meet with general approval by every body who has ever had any dealings with this monster monopoly. There is no question but what rates are outrageous and the service is as rotten as it is possible to describe. The News has been touched to the extent of several hundred dollars by the rotten service accorded us by the Southern Express Co. They take their own time about moving freight and make just such charges as suits their convenience. We have known it to take two or three days to get a small shipment of paper from Savannah here. Several times by the criminal negligence of this monster in Savannah. The rates ought to be investigated and the service jacked up by the people who are compelled to use the rotten service they put out.

We hope the Railroad Commission will probe them good and deep; they will do a long suffering public a great favor if they will.

AN UNDESIRABLE DISTINCTION.

The state papers are commenting on the fourth verdict of guilty in the case of the State vs. Joe Woods, charged with murder. The fact that he has what few other men ever have handed them in life, the distinction of being convicted four different times for murder, is something that is causing comment. The record is, when a case once falls down, acquittal follows, but it is different in the case of Joe Woods. Four times he has faced a jury of his peers on a charge involving his life; four times he has stood up before the same judge and heard the sentence means to shut out from him the last ray of liberty and hope, for and during his natural life. We repeat, this is a record we will not say enjoyed, but experienced by few men in this state; in fact there is considerable doubt if that record has been equaled by another citizen of Georgia.

AN UNDESIRABLE DISTINCTION.

And yet another trial is asked for. The friends and family of the condemned man have fought long and hard for his release; the attorneys have stood nobly by their post of duty to him. Notwithstanding the fact that the jury has continuously handed out the same verdict, we believe public sentiment has softened; the people have followed his trials, the loss of his wife, and sympathized with him, but the jury give out the same verdict, the witnesses swear the same story, and on it goes.

AN UNDESIRABLE DISTINCTION.

The regular annual picnic of the Agricultural School is being held on the banks of the Ogeechee river, between Cuyler and Meldrim today. Eighty-two tickets were sold.

GIVES HIGH PRAISE TO AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL.

Prof. T. P. Branch, secretary to the faculty of the Georgia School of Technology at Atlanta, was in town yesterday and went out to look over the First District Agricultural School. Prof. Branch insisted on seeing every detail of the school, and made a thorough inspection of everything. When he was through he said: "Well, I came here because I have heard the praises of this school sung all over Georgia, the newspapers and public men are loud in their praises of the First District School, and I was anxious to see if it all was true. I find that every word of praise that has been uttered in behalf of the First District School is true and more so. I had no idea of the magnitude of the work. You cannot quote me too strong."

GIVES HIGH PRAISE TO AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL.

Prof. Branch, coming as he does from a strong state educational and industrial institution like the School of Technology, knows what he is talking about. We consider this one of the strongest testimonials the school has had yet.

GIVES HIGH PRAISE TO AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL.

Governor Brown has given a respite until June 9th to J. C. Hunter, under death sentence for the murder of his wife along with the other women in Savannah about a year ago.

GIVES HIGH PRAISE TO AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL.

Governor Brown expresses grave doubts as to the guilt of the man; in this the governor is right. We have watched the hunter case, and in our opinion the verdict was based on the flimsiest link of circumstantial evidence ever used as a base for a verdict involving human life.

GIVES HIGH PRAISE TO AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL.

In fact there was practically no evidence connecting Hunter with the case, but the verdict seems to come as a vindication to the Savannah detective force, who had failed to fix the guilt of this crime on someone else.

GIVES HIGH PRAISE TO AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL.

A GOOD WOMAN GONE.

On Monday, May 1, 1911, the death angel visited the home of Mr. A. A. Turner and claimed for its victim his beloved and devoted wife.

Mrs. Turner was born Sept. 12, 1851. She was the third daughter of Thos. and Mary Jones, and was married to Mr. A. A. Turner Dec. 16, 1878. To this union were born six children, all of whom are living: Mesdames R. A. Watson, J. E. Webb, A. J. Bowen, Emmitt Alderman, Henrietta and Allen J. Turner.

Mrs. Turner was a devoted Christian, having given her heart to God sixteen years ago. She was a member of Lot's Creek Primitive Baptist church. No one ever stood any higher in the estimation of people than did this goodly woman. She was a friend to everybody and everybody loved her. To know her was to love her. She always gave good advice to her children. Let us pray that they may live so as to meet her in that celestial home where there will be no more tears or sad partings.

All that loving hand and medical skill could do was done for her. She was stricken with pneumonia fever Wednesday, April 26. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Pat Bird and the body was laid to rest in Rosemary cemetery in the presence of a large crowd who had come to pay their last respects to one whom they had always loved.

So Gov. Brown Removes Stigma on E. R. Derry, Aged 77.

A GOOD WOMAN GONE.

Atlanta, May 2.—In order that he might die in the full possession of his right of citizenship, E. R. Derry, 77 years old, has had his disabilities removed by Governor Brown. Derry was convicted of embezzlement in Augusta and served twelve months, several years ago. He stated he is an old man nearing death and wants to die in full possession of his citizenship and with the right to vote. Gov. Brown promptly granted the petition.

DRASTIC LIQUOR BILL IN FLORIDA.

Tallahassee, Fla., May 5.—Following the defeat of a constitutional amendment for state-wide prohibition at a recent election the state senate today passed a drastic bill regulating the saloons of the state, by a vote of 17 to 5.

Among its prohibitive provisions are sale of liquor to habitual drunkards, saloons to close at 8 o'clock and not open until 7 the following morning, to abolish all games and that not more than one-fourth of a pint of any intoxicant shall be sold to a customer, and this to be in a sealed package. The object is to prevent barroom drinking.

It is believed certain that the measure will pass the House and become a law, that body already having signified its attitude towards the sale of whisky.

BOLL WEEVIL REPORTS UNTRUE

(Macon Telegraph.) "Reports that the boll weevil has made its appearance in Crisp county, published in Atlanta and other newspapers of the state today, are without foundation," said W. H. Dorris, mayor of Cordele, the capital of Crisp, who spent yesterday in the city attending to business in the United States court. "I understand that some strange bugs have been discovered in the cotton fields of J. M. Weathers and that specimens have been sent to the state entomologist for classification. Crisp county farmers do not for an instant entertain the fear that it is the boll weevil."

"The boll weevil does not appear until the latter part of July or early in August, when the bolls have begun to mature. It is several years before the weevil is due to hit even the western part of the state, according to the best informed scientists who have studied the problem. I am sure that the farmers of Crisp county will be ready for the pest when it arrives, and that its ravages will be minimized."

"The campaign of the Macon Telegraph," continued Colonel Dorris, "is bearing fruit. Crisp county farmers, who are very progressive as a whole, see the wisdom of the movement inaugurated by your great newspaper. They are availing with much interest the special articles from the weevil-infested territory of Louisiana, and stand ready to make immediate and practical application of the remedies and precautions that have been adopted by the farmers who have experienced the pest."

"Poultry, stock and cattle raising are taking hold in Crisp county. Hog raising has been given a black-eye for the time being by the quarantine established by the commissioner of agriculture on information that cholera has made its appearance in the county. These reports have been exaggerated, although a good many hogs have died of a disease believed to be cholera. The epidemic appears to be under control, however."

LET DE LA BARRA RULE IN MEXICO IS MADERO'S PLAN

Rebel Chief Declares that Only on Condition Diaz Announces He Will Resign Can Insurrection End.

El Paso, Tex., May 4.—The peace commissioners of the Mexican revolutionists formally presented today to Judge Carrabaja, the federal envoy, a statement signed by Francisco I. Madero, Jr., appealing to President Diaz make public the assurances given privately that he intended to resign.

NEW ELECTION THEN WILL COME.

With Peace in Mexico. Many States Suddenly Are Cut Off From World.

El Paso, Tex., May 4.—The peace commissioners of the Mexican revolutionists formally presented today to Judge Carrabaja, the federal envoy, a statement signed by Francisco I. Madero, Jr., appealing to President Diaz make public the assurances given privately that he intended to resign.

After offering his own resignation as president of the provisional government of the republic, Senor Madero suggested that both President Diaz and Vice President Corral resign and that Senor de la Barra, minister of foreign relations, become president until a general election could be held.

Put It Up to Diaz. The statement informs President Diaz that there is no other way out of the present difficulty and that a word from him will bring peace in a few days.

Senor Madero in his statement calls on President Diaz to make public the assurances given privately that he intended to resign.

It was evident that the procedure with respect to the resignation of President Diaz had been the most exacting problem before the commissioners. Rebel leaders tonight declared peace impossible, except as was indicated by Gen. Madero in his statement. On what Gen. Diaz would do, it was admitted by federal representatives and revolutionists alike, rested the solution of the difficulty.

Rebel successes in the southern and the central parts of Mexico, where the resignation of President Diaz is said to be preferred above all other demands for political reform, it is known, caused Gen. Madero to take the stand he did.

Gen. Madero tonight received the following from Mexico City from Francis Figueroa, chief of the insurgent forces in Guerrero: "In personal conference today with Minister Limantour and Minister Gonzales Cosio. With the 8,000 men who compose my army I will unconditionally support the conditions of peace being arranged by you."

LABOR LEADERS ARE PLAYED BY COL. ROOSEVELT

New York, May 4.—Theodore Roosevelt will have a signed article entitled "Murder is Murder," in The Outlook this week, dealing with the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times and the arrest recently made by Detective Burns.

Mr. Roosevelt says in part: "The men responsible for dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building are responsible not only for the wreck of the newspaper of the week, but for the loss of many lives. The arrest was made in consequence of testimony secured by Mr. Burns, who has been Mr. Hone's right-hand man in bringing to justice grafters who violated the laws of the United States in Oregon and grafters who violated the laws of California in San Francisco. He has proceeded with impartial severity against the most influential politicians and the richest business men. It happens that the men whom he has now arrested are members of a labor organization; just as men whom he formerly arrested were members of the Republican or Democratic parties or of great and wealthy corporations."

"It would have been a wicked thing in the former cases with which Mr. Burns had to do for leading Republicans or Democrats to combine to break him down and support the accused belonging to their political parties, and it would have been a wicked thing for capitalists and big business men to make a common cause with the capitalist against whom he proceeded merely because they were capitalists."

"I believe that the country will become alone through the announcement of his intention to retire from power and as soon as all the arrangements you are effecting with the representatives of President Diaz are put into operation."

The conference between Judge Carrabaja, the federal envoy, and the rebel commissioners adjourned late today. Later the Madero statement was made public.

It was evident that the procedure with respect to the resignation of President Diaz had been the most exacting problem before the commissioners. Rebel leaders tonight declared peace impossible, except as was indicated by Gen. Madero in his statement. On what Gen. FARMERS' UNION WANTS REFORMS

Emmanuel County Local Would Tax Wild and Improved Lands Equally.

REPEAL DOG TAX LAW.

County Commissioners T. Be Increased From Three to Five and Bonded.

Swainsboro, Ga., May 2.—The Emmanuel County Local of the Farmers' Union is asking other locals of the state to join it in demands upon the next legislature for specific reforms in the system of taxing wild lands, the abolition of the dog tax law, unification and general increase in the number of county commissioners, and the abolition of the office of county treasurer—the duties and responsibilities of this officer to be charged upon the commissioners. The federal government is asked to compel accurate reports of cotton spinners and shippers. Finally, the union backs a request on the legislature for full initiative, referendum and recall.

Copies of the resolution of the Emmanuel County Local are being supplied to other unions of the state with an urgent request that immediate action be taken. The resolution would require that owners of wild lands be required to give them in for taxtion at their full value and at the same rate as for improved acres. The county commissioners would be increased from three to five, with one of these coming from each of the five road districts into which each county will be divided. The positions of tax collector and tax collector would be consolidated at a maximum salary of $1,200 annually. The position of county treasurer is considered entirely unnecessary. Each commissioner would be required to give satisfactory bond before taking the oath of office. It is claimed that the present system of land taxation places the burden upon the poor man who has put his money into improvements. The dog tax, it is declared, is impotent and should therefore be abolished.

A mass meeting of members of the Emmanuel County Union has been called for next Saturday. Farmers who are not members and business men generally are invited to attend. LEGISLATOR GETS MYSTERIOUS $200.

Florida House Investigating Representative Wall Was Given Money But No Explanation.

Tallahassee, Fla., May 2.—The special investigating committee of the House under a resolution introduced by Representative Wall of Bradford today growing out of an envelope containing $200 and passed to him yesterday afternoon by Messenger Edwards of the House, held first session tonight.

Among those examined were Representatives Lou of Lake, Brown of DeSoto, Wall of Bradford, Senator Baker of the Twenty-ninth, and W. T. Bauskett, the legislative representative of a Jacksonville paper.

The trend of the testimony was in corroboration of the statement made by Mr. Wall in open session this morning. The money was handed him in a Western Union Telegram envelope without a message of any kind. After getting to his boarding house he opened it and made the fact known to his fellow members who testified at tonight's session.

The committee adjourned subject to the call of the chair. The committee will make a full report to the House.

Messenger Edwards was not examined. He will come on later. It was shown in the testimony that he was in favor of a race track.

The event will be styled "The United America 1913 Celebration" and will be under the auspices of the Southern Commercial Congress, uniting all the Southern states in a series of international events and conventions, pageants and excursions to the canal. The committee decided to raise a fund of $200,000 for pageants. The general management of the conventions will be in the hands of the congress.

HOW ONE WOMAN WON
Her Health and Strength Back Again by The Use of Cardui.

Tampa, Fla.—In a letter from this city, Mrs. E. C. Corum writes: "I was all weakened and worn out with womanly troubles. My husband brought me some Cardui as a tonic, and from the first day it seemed to help. I had almost lost my reason, but thanks to Cardui, I did not. Soon, I felt and looked like a new woman. I think the remedy is wonderful. I recommend it to my friends, for I have received great benefit from it. Cardui acts specifically on the weakened womanly organs, strengthening the muscles and nerves, and building them up to health. It helps to refresh the worn-out nervous system and relieves the effects of overwork, both mental and physical. Fifty years successful use fully prove the merit of this purely vegetable, tonic remedy for women. In every community, there live some who have been benefited by Cardui. The beneficial effects of this time tested woman's remedy, soon show themselves in many different ways. Try it."

RED-HOT NAIL BURNS WAY OUT FOR PRISONER.

Athens, Ga., May 2.—Jack Robinson, a ten-year convict, white man, serving time in the county chain-gang of Clarke, effected his escape by means of a red-hot nail, stole a horse from a barn near the camp, saddled him, drove him through the city, passed several policemen and made good his getaway. Robinson had been claiming to be ill for some days and had been in the hospital shack at the camp. Yesterday, though May-day, was damp and disagreeable, he was allowed to have a fire to dry out the air. In the fire he had placed a large nail he had found in some manner. When the nail was red hot he applied it by means of the tongs to the plank wall. The operation was repeated all yesterday till a plank had been eaten away sufficiently to weaken it so that he could break it through and crawl out.

The genuine is in the yellow package always. Refuse substitutes. W. H. Ellis Co.

SHEARWOOD RAILWAY POINTS TOWARD CLAXTON.

At a public meeting held in White's Hall, at Claxton on Thursday, a large number of property owners met and discussed plans for bringing the Shearwood Railway to Claxton. Mr. C. S. Grier was chairman of the meeting and Mr. C. T. Tipton was made secretary.

President J. N. Shearwood, of the Shearwood Railway, was present and made a statement, saying that his road was going to some point on the Seaboard and also to a point on the Central, and put it up to Claxton to come across and take some stock in order to get the Seaboard Air Line end of the road.

Col. J. A. Brannen, attorney for the road was present and delivered a speech to the large crowd present, and states that it looks like Claxton means business. Her property owners and moneyed interest was in force and the interest was keen for the road. They realize that a road tapping that rich section of Bulloch of the Sink Hole and through the upper section of the Bay Districts, means a great deal for Claxton. They agreed to take it up among themselves and begin a campaign for stock subscriptions.

Meetings will be held in the Sink Hole district and Bay District in a short time and stock subscriptions will be asked for from the farmers through the section which the road will run.

OF COURSE, There is nothing too good for your EYES ::

Between old-fashioned spectacle fitting and optical service there is a very wide difference, and this difference counts preservation of sight. Failing or imperfect vision may be due to any of a large number of causes. These causes can be determined only by very delicate, scientific tests, and each eye being tested separately according to correction needed. I provide modern optical service. I learn just what the trouble is and correct it, having lenses specially ground when necessary. My charges for fitting glasses are reasonable. Call and see my new up-to-date optical parlor.

Rev. J. B. Dixon, of Register, was in town one day during the latter part of the week and informs us that one of the greatest revivals ever known in the Register Baptist church is in progress there. Rev. Mr. Dixon, the pastor, is being assisted by Rev. B. G. Smith, of Atlanta, the music is being led by Prof. A. A. THE LINES ARE GROWING THIN.

We present to our readers today the muster roll of the old Bulloch Troops that left this county and went to the front in the early sixties. This is the third muster roll we have printed within the past month. A glance at this one, as well as the others, will show you that most of them have answered the last roll call. As far as we know there are only about twenty of this company left on this side of the Great Divide. The roll given you today gives the names of a great many who were prominent in the affairs of the county since the war.

STATSBORO STANDS FORTY-FIFTH.

In the population of cities in Georgia by the last census we find that there are forty-four cities with a larger population than Statesboro, which places us at number forty-five in the list of cities. This is based on population of male and female, white and colored.

In the standing of the counties it will be seen that Bulloch stands 18th as to white males above the age of 21. This shows that we have a larger white population than the average city or county. It also shows that we have a large white rural population. Take Burke, for instance: Waynesboro outranks us in population and still Bulloch county has nearly three times as many white males over twenty-one years of age as Burke has. This is a healthy state, showing a large white population. The cities in Georgia numbering more inhabitants than Statesboro will be found below in their regular order:

FALLS 1,000 FEET AND IS UNHURT

Asheville, N. C., May 19.—Floretta Lorenz, a triple parachute performer, associated with a visiting show, had a narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon when after accidentally cutting the wrong parachute rope she fell at a rapid rate from a height of nearly 1,000 feet. Had not her parachute caught in the street car and electric light wires in the heart of the city, she would undoubtedly have been killed. In the last half of her descent Miss Lorenz was virtually hanging to one cord of the parachute.

The young woman was carried into a store in a fainting condition but she was otherwise unhurt. She later stated that she carried three parachutes with her and on reaching up to release the balloon wherein she ascended, accidentally cut the ropes of the second and third parachutes which, however, did not open. The unusual weight of the two unopened parachutes added to her own caused her to descend at a rapid rate, and the hundreds of people who gathered in the center of the city saw that the young woman was in danger of alighting on the roof of the postoffice. A sudden gust of wind, however, carried her over the network of trolley and illuminating wires which cross and recross Patton avenue and there were loud cheers from the anxious hundreds when the swinging ropes and then the parachute itself caught in the wires and were firmly held, allowing the thoroughly frightened young woman to drop safely to the street below.

CAME NEAR THE FROST LINE.

What we missed last night approaching the frost line wasn't much. The temperature fell to a degree near frost during the night and some fears were entertained that the growing crops would be nipped, but as far as could be learned this morning no frost had been seen. Of course the fellow who always sees frost will show up soon, but it is safe now that the danger point has been passed. The cold wave felt here has covered the entire South. The forecast is for warmer weather from this on.

Several cars went through to Savannah today to start on the big race Tuesday. They are coming through via the best route.

LEE NOT GUILTY OF MURDER OF HILTON

Screen County Jury Consider Case But Two Hours After Long Argument of Counsel.

Sylvania, Ga., May 18.—After being out but two hours, the jury in the case of C. E. Lee brought in a verdict of not guilty late Thursday evening.

The plea of self-defense, which he offered to combat the charge that he murdered L. H. Hilton during their fatal meeting on the street in Sylvania on April 10, evidently won his freedom.

The argument of attorneys consumed much more time than did the taking of evidence. The argument extended until after ten o'clock Wednesday night from early in the afternoon until Thursday morning, continuing until mid-afternoon.

While the jury was out the general impression seemed to prevail that a verdict would be reached quickly and that it would be favorable to the accused, whose story alone was offered in evidence by the defense.

The court room was crowded during the day and when the verdict was announced, Judge Rawlings had warned the big crowd that there must be no demonstration, whatever the verdict. There was silence as the jury filed into the court room and when the clerk read the verdict freeing Lee.

During the hours of argument a crowd followed the speeches of the attorneys. Judge H. D. D. Twigg and W. W. Osborne of Savannah were among state's counsel, while E. K. Overstreet and Hollingsworth & Thompson represented Lee.

The evidence of the state alleges that Ray brought the girl here with him on the day of the shooting from Montgomery, Ala., and upon her refusal to return to Montgomery with him he shot her.

The defense is insanity and a number of witnesses, including two physicians testified that they consider the defendant mentally irresponsible. The defendant, with sunken eyes and a deathly pallor, sat immovable by his mother's side throughout the entire trial and never for an instant displayed the slightest interest in the development of the state's case, nor did he show any emotion during the prayer of his mother when the entire room so visibly was impressed.

Solicitor S. W. E. Wooten handled the state's case in a masterly manner. Judge S. W. M. Harrell represented the defense.

When court adjourned for the day argument had begun. Six of the array of attorneys have yet to speak, though it is believed the case will reach the stage where Judge Rawlings will charge the jury at noon tomorrow. A verdict is expected by nightfall.

The jury that has Lee's fate in its hands is composed of Messrs. Joe Roberts, Homer Hand, M. N. Anderson, J. F. Herrington, J. N. Williams, U. N. Reddick, R. R. Rountree, I. H. Norman, Lawrence Bryant, J. O. Peppers, George C. Smith and Thomas E. Billings.

The case attracted to Sylvania a large crowd of men who had known Hilton or Lee. The court room was crowded and the testimony followed closely. Judge H. D. D.

Washington, D. He also introduced the following: "That $25,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be appropriated for the establishment of a fish hatchery and fish cultural station for the hatching and propagation of shad, including purchase of site, construction of buildings and ponds, and equipment at some suitable point."

BAPTIST REPORTS MAKE FINE SHOW

Home and Foreign Missions, Sunday School Board and Statistical Reports to Jacksonville indicate healthfulness.

Jacksonville, May 17.—The following reports of the committees on Home and Foreign Missions, Sunday School Board and Statistics, were read before the Southern Baptist convention in session here today.

The preaching of the gospel all over the South, among the negroes, the Indians, the Mexicans in Texas and among the immigrants arriving at Southern ports, has been fruitful during the past church year, according to the report of the Home Mission Board to the Southern Baptist Convention in session here.

This board also looks after the work in Cuba, the Isle of Pines and in the Canal Zone of Panama.

During the last year a general evangelist and 28 assistants have been employed to hold meetings among the churches. In addition to this there have been 1,240 white missionaries and 35 negroes employed, a total of 1,275 missionaries. There have been 3,860 professions of conversion under the preaching of the evangelists. There have 3,082 received for baptism into the churches and 21,142 have been baptized by the white missionaries and 2,642 by the negro missionaries, a total of 23,784.

In the meetings held by the evangelists there have been received into the churches 4,577. The white missionaries have taken in 40,047 and the negroes 4,673, a total of 44,720. One new church has been organized by evangelists and 234 by the white missionaries. Two hundred and eighty-nine houses of worship have been built and 731 Sunday schools have been started.

Foreign Missions. The contributions during the year have been larger than for any other year in the history of the work. The total given by the Southern Baptists for foreign mission work, about 600,000 out of ten contributed to the work; nine-tenths are given nothing at all. Of every dollar contributed 8 cents goes to the missionaries. The remaining 12 cents defrays all expenses in this country. The amount given for the work last year was $510,008. Georgia led all states with a contribution of $74,940. Virginia came next with $61,703. Texas third with $59,705.

The Woman's Missionary Union raised for foreign missions from May, 1910, to May 1, 1911, $127,500, of which Georgia gave $23,725. Virginia $18,463, and North Carolina $13,790.

The board calls attention to need of homes for missionaries in China. Chapels also are needed to better carry on the work.

There are 12 male medical missionaries in the field and during the past year they treated 40,719 patients. Through a legacy left by J. C. Bush, of Mobile, Ala., $10,000 has been added to the endowment of the board.

Sunday School Board. All the profits made by the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention go into the mission work of the denomination. The annual report of the board shows that during the past year it has given in cash to the different departments of the work the sum of $60,821, and in gifts of periodicals and books $8,821 additional. Of this amount $2,500 was given to the Home Mission Board, $2,500 to the For-

CONVICT LEASING GETS HARD BLOW

Florida House 45 to 18, Votes for Abolishing the Whole System.

Tallahassee Fla., May 17.—The House today passed the bill, abolishing the convict leasing system passed the house by a vote of 45 to 18 today.

Speaker Jennings took the floor in an effort to have the bill amended so as to provide for the lease of one-third of the able-bodied convicts while placing two-thirds on the roads after establishing a prison farm for women and infirm men prisoners.

The house considered the amendment and the original bill, as a committee of the whole, but reported without recommendation. The Jennings amendment finally was lost by a vote of 42 to 20. Speaker Jennings voted against the bill on its final passage.

An hour was spent by the House at the morning session in getting the Journal corrected. That Representative Aereo of Osceola might get his name from the record in a vote taken yesterday on the bill to increase the salary of the attorney general, Mr. Aereo said that he did not vote, which changes the result of the bill. The vote was 33 to 32. The reason for this move is said to be the fact that Representative West of Santa Rosa intends running for attorney general and there is a constitutional provision against any member of the legislature holding such position and that he, as legislator, has assisted in creating or increasing the salary of.

A large delegation is here from St. Augustine to urge an appropriation for the next celebration of Ponce de Leon week in that city. An appropriation also will be sought from Congress. It is intended to make the celebration one of national importance.

The House and Senate will adjourn Friday to permit members to visit Pensacola upon the invitation of the Business Men's Association there to see the battleships and other attractions.

A Burglar's Awful Deed may not paralyze a home so completely as a mother's long illness. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a splendid remedy for women.

"They gave me wonderful benefit in constipation and female trouble," wrote Mrs. M. C. Dunlap, of Lead Hill, Tenn. If ailing, try them. 25c at W. H. Ellis Co.

FEAR RAVAGES OF COW PEA BUG. Washington, D. C., May 17.—Fearing that the cotton crop may be damaged seriously if not entirely ruined by the ravages of the cow pea curculio, which has recently made its appearance on cotton stalks in certain portions of Georgia, W. H. Ward and others of Ochopee, Tombs county, Ga., have forwarded to Congressmen Edwards a jar of the parasites which have been turned over to Dr. L. O. Howard, entomologist of the Department of Agriculture, for examination.

These bugs have never before been known to eat cotton stalks, always confining their destruction to the pea vine. It is believed that unless something is done quickly cotton growers will suffer greatly when the parasites spread from section to section.

SENTENCES LADS TO ATTEND SUNDAY SCHOOL. Claxton's Mayor Punishes Mischievous Boys.

Claxton, Ga., May 16.—Mayor Freeman had an even dozen of Claxton boys, ranging in age from 10 to 14, before him Saturday for malicious mischief. He fined each $5 or ten days' work on the streets, but after giving them a good lecture, suspended sentence, giving the boys the alternative of attending both Sunday school and preaching at some of the churches for ten consecutive Sundays.

Not having the necessary $5 the boys accepted the Sunday sentence, each church and Sunday school has been furnished with a register and the boys are required to register their names.

VALUABLE RELICS FOUND IN REVOLUTIONARY HOUSE.

Swords and Uniforms Discovered in East Side Home.

(Savannah Morning News.) Relics found in an old house located at President and East Broad streets, are in the possession of L. Kaminsky of No. 23 Barnard street, and although he has received several offers he refuses to part with them.

The house, which was purchased by Mr. Kaminsky about ten years ago, was formerly a hospital and is supposed to have been used to treat wounded soldiers of the Revolutionary War.

Old Continental uniforms, fallen almost to shreds by age, but some still of uniforms used during this period are highly prized by Mr. Kaminsky. These uniforms are tattered and worn, but in some places marks which appear to be holes made by bullets appear.

In the collection kept by Mr. Kaminsky are two swords, which are probably hundreds of years old. One of these is made after the style of the Turkish scimitar and its edge still holds the temper placed there by the welder.

It is noted with age, but would still prove a formidable weapon if wielded by the hands that used it during the struggle for freedom from England. The other sword is patterned after those used during the Cromwell period in England. Its blade is exceptionally wide and the handle is set with brass.

The swords, with numerous other articles in use during the early history of the United States, were found beneath the steps of the house in a closet-like arrangement, appearing to have been made for concealing valuables. There is another door in the opening which will be opened this week by Mr. Kaminsky, who expects to find other relics hidden behind it. Some old currency, hand-made, was also found in the house.

LONG LEGAL FIGHT OVER COURT HOUSE

Probability in Liberty. Ordinary Announces He Will Decide May 26-27 About Election.

Ludowief, Ga., May 17.—The court house movement has suffered another postponement, as chronicled previously it was stated that a petition containing over 800 names was presented to the ordinary—under the terms of the law a petition containing sufficient names for calling an election was prima facie evidence—but the Ordinary, desiring to satisfy himself, postponed his decision from the date of presentation until May 5. When this time arrived the Ordinary desired another postponement. This time he made it May 13. On this date he was to announce his decision.

In the meantime the Ordinary struck from the petition over 200 names, thereby bringing the petition below the limit required by law.

Those who presented the petition not being satisfied at the action of the Ordinary asked for a postponement until some future time to be set by the Ordinary.

The Ordinary set May 26 and 27 as the date for his decision as to whether he will call the election. In the meantime those who presented the petition have succeeded in re-establishing several names that the Ordinary struck and they believe that they will more than succeed in establishing enough names to make up the required limit. In the meantime the Ordinary has ruled that he will admit evidence from those who submitted the counter petition. It looks from the present indications that the fight for the removal of the county seat will resolve itself into a legal battle that probably will take years to decide.

CHILDREN AND NEWSPEPERS. (New York Sun.) A visiting Englishman who has been investigating sulway conditions says the most remarkable phase of life he has discovered there is not the eternal warfare of the crowds but the number of children who read newspapers.

"To illustrate the point," he said, "let me describe a scene I witnessed the other night—a scene that could not be duplicated anywhere on earth outside of New York. A family consisting of a man, a woman and two children came into the subway at Brooklyn Bridge. The children were aged about 8 and 2 years. The father had bought three newspapers, and when they got settled in the car he gave one paper to his wife, another to the 8-year-old girl and kept one himself. All began to read. At first I thought that on the part of the little girl it was only a case of make believe, but pretty soon she turned a page and said 'Father, I see that the doctors say Caruso won't sing again this winter,' and then I knew she had been absorbed in the day's news along with the rest of the family. I felt kind of sorry for the 2-year-old. He looked lonesome with no newspaper to help pass the time."

PLANTER'S DAUGHTER IS BITTEN BY RATTLESNAKE

Miss Weathers, Tattnall County, Suffers No Ill Effects.

Claxton, Ga., May 16.—Miss Cynthia Weathers, daughter of George A. Weathers, a prominent planter living ten miles from here, was bitten by a rattlesnake yesterday morning while getting some potatoes out of a bank. A sister of the girl ran for her father, who was a half mile away in the field. He hurried to the house and tore down the potato bank and found the snake, two and one-half feet in length, just inside the hole where the girl put her hand to get the potatoes. He cut the snake's head off with a hoe. A small dog ate the snake and lived only a few minutes.

The snake had three rattles, and it is thought that there are many more near there as one was killed on Saturday before only a few yards away.

Several doctors were summoned and Miss Weathers has had very little trouble from the bite. It is thought that she could not have gotten any of the poison as she has suffered no pain and rested well last night.

WARNING TO RAILROAD MEN.
E. S. Bacon, 11 East St., Bath, Me., sends out this warning to railroaders: "A conductor on the railroad, my work caused a chronic inflammation of the kidneys, and I was miserable and all played out. A friend advised Foley Kidney Pills and from the day I commenced taking them, I began to regain my strength. The inflammation cleared and I am far better than I have been for twenty years. The weakness and dizzy spells are a thing of the past and I highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills." At W. H. Ellis Co's.

NO PARDON FOR MORSE AND WALSH

President Taft Declines to Open Prison Doors to Former Ice King and Aged One-Time Banker.

Washington, D. C., May 24.—President Taft denied the applications for the pardon of Charles W. Morse of New York and John R. Walsh, of Chicago, the two most prominent bankers ever convicted and sent to federal prisons under the national banking laws.

Not only did the President refuse to pardon either Morse or Walsh, but he also declined this time to exercise any other sort of executive clemency in these cases or to shorten the sentence imposed upon the two men by the courts by which they were convicted.

In denying the pardons the President took the firm stand that the national banking laws or any other laws must be upheld when they meet the rich man even more than when they affect the poor.

Moral Turpitude.
The record in the Walsh case, the President said, from a consideration of facts in each case, shows moral turpitude of the incidents and dangerous kind, to punish which the national banking laws were especially enacted.

In considering the case of Morse the President said, from a consideration of facts in each case, "I have no doubt that Morse should have received a heavier sentence than Walsh." Indeed, methods taken by Morse tend to show that more keenly than Walsh did he realize the evil of what he was doing.

In his opinion in the Walsh case the President protested against the failure to discriminate between legitimate business and improper gain.

Must Draw the Line.

"The truth is," said he, "that in the mad rush for wealth in the last few decades the lines between profit from legitimate and improper gain from undue use of trust control over the people's property and money has sometimes been dimmed, and the interest of society requires that whenever opportunity occurs, those charged with the enforcement of the law should emphasize the distinction between honest business and dishonest breaches of trust."

The President's denial of the pardon applications of Morse and Walsh does not mean that they must stay in prison until the end of their terms. Walsh began a sentence of five years in January, 1910, in the Leavenworth penitentiary and under the federal parole law is eligible for parole next September. The President's action tonight having no bearing whatever upon the future application for parole. Morse began his fifteen years' term in the Atlanta penitentiary in January, 1910, also. In denying his application the President granted leave to renew it after January 1, 1913. Under the parole law Morse would be eligible for release in 1915.

Resisted Big Petitions.

Both Morse and Walsh made strong efforts to have the President exercise clemency. He was besieged by friends and attorneys of both men. Mrs. Morse got up a monster petition, which was signed by scores of members of Congress and other prominent persons, and former Senator Hale of Maine did much in her behalf. The pleas of ill-health and reimbursement of all depositors in the Morse and Walsh banks were made in both cases.

Both applications were scanned closely at the Department of Justice by Attorney General Wickersham and his assistants and both were read with care by the President himself. His action tonight was in accord with the recommendations of Mr. Wickersham.

FIVE SISTERS BURN TO DEATH.

Mother's Mistake Fatal. Kansas Woman Poured Gasoline Into Oil Lamp.

Union, Kan., May 21.—Five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Roach, of this place, ranging in ages from 7 to 16 years, were burned to death late last night in a fire which started in the Roach restaurant. The parents were badly burned.

The mother of the young girls filled a lamp with gasoline by mistake preparatory to ascending a stairway leading to a second floor room where her daughters were asleep. She applied a match to the lamp and an explosion followed, sending a burst of flame up the narrow stairway. The woman's dress caught fire, but the flames were extinguished by her husband. He rushed up the burning stairs and caught his youngest daughter, 5 years old, in his arms. Calling to the other girls to follow him, he ran to a rear window and jumped to the ground, the little girl safe in his arms.

For some reason the others failed to follow him and in a few minutes the bedroom in which the girls were sleeping was a seething mass of flames. Later their bodies were recovered.

A schoolboy's composition on Patrick Henry contained the following gem: "Patrick was not a very bright boy. He had blue eyes and light hair. He got married and then said, 'Give me liberty or give me death.'"

A DOG AT SIXTY DOLLARS AN OUNCE.

Must Draw the Line.

"The truth is," said he, "that in the mad rush for wealth in the last few decades the lines between profit from legitimate and improper gain from undue use of trust control over the people's property and money has sometimes been dimmed, and the interest of society requires that whenever opportunity occurs, those charged with the enforcement of the law should emphasize the distinction between honest business and dishonest breaches of trust."

BLOODY DUEL ON PASSENGER TRAIN.

Conductor Badly Wounded, But Mortally Wounds A. M. Thompson in Ga. R. R. Coach.

Augusta, May 21.—Capt. C. D. Bailey, conductor on passenger train No. 27 on the Georgia Railroad, which leaves Augusta at 3:20 p. m., eastern time, running between Augusta and Atlanta, was shot on his train half a mile this side of Mesina, and in turn shot his assailant, A. J. Thompson, a well known white farmer of Warren county.

Capt. Bailey was painfully but not seriously wounded, the bullet entering his leg between his hip and knee, and it is believed that A. J. Thompson, his assailant, was fatally wounded.

The shooting arose over the refusal of Capt. Bailey to stop the train at Mesina, a flag station four miles this side of Canak, and an argument resulted. When asked to stop Capt. Bailey stated he could not make a stop without orders and Thompson drew a gun, saying:

"You will stop this train at the muzzle of my revolver."

Capt. Bailey knocked Thompson's hand down, throwing the muzzle of the gun from his grasp as Thompson fired, the bullet entering Capt. Bailey's leg. Thompson then turned to run and Capt. Bailey, who had drawn his pistol in the scuffle, fired and shot Thompson between his shoulders, the bullet penetrating his right lung.

Thompson was turned over to the county authorities at Canak, and Capt. Bailey was taken to the hotel.

TO UNKNOWN DEAD IN REVOLUTION SEA FIGHT.

New York, May 21.—Hundreds of bouquets of flowers are drifting out with the tide, down the harbor and to the ocean tonight, a tribute to the unknown dead among the sailors and marines who lost their lives in naval battles of the American Revolution. Five thousand or more persons in solemn memorial service consigned the flowers to the waters of the Hudson today, while a detachment of coast artillery, Sons of Veterans of the Revolution, fired a salute over the river.

Augusta, May 21.—Capt. C. D. Bailey, conductor on passenger train No. 27 on the Georgia Railroad, which leaves Augusta at 3:20 p. m., eastern time, running between Augusta and Atlanta, was shot on his train half a mile this side of Mesina, and in turn shot his assailant, A. SENATE FAILS TO VOTE ON POPULAR ELECTION.

John Sharp Williams Takes Slap at Senator Root.

Washington, D. C., May 23.—With a warning from Senator Root against experimenting with the constitution and a caution from Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, that the South could not support federal supervision of senatorial election, though favorable to direct popular vote, the Senate spent two hours without action discussing the House resolution for electing United States senators by direct popular vote.

Mr. Root opposed the entire proposition to amend the constitution as to senatorial elections, his special objection being to depriving Congress of the supervision of senatorial elections. He thought popular elections of senators would result in the Senate's deterioration.

Mr. Williams said that Mr. Root, not only "distinguished but notorious" for his ingenuity, had not covered up the motives in retaining supervision of the senatorial elections. With the elections transferred to the polls, said Mr. Williams, and federal supervision retained, there would be exercise of federal control when a senator is to be elected and he expressed surprise that Mr. Bristow, the insurgent Republican senator, should push his Southern

THE SPRING CHICKEN GOT

IN ITS WORK.

If you want to reach the average Georgian approach him through his stomach.

When the Sylvania brethren told the Savannah Automobile Club they were going to have "spring chicken" if they would come their way, the manner those fellows smiled showed the others present that the jig was up.

Seven-and-Effingham didn't have any roads, in fact they admitted this, but they played heavy on the string that promised "em 'spring chicken.' The run was made, the holes were dodged, the stumps were straddled, the sand beds were plowed through, but a shower of roses down the line told them of "the better further on," and that was known to be a shower of "spring chicken." At Sylvania the dried autoists were winced and dined, and many a housewife perhaps by this time wonders why she parted with those springers; she probably asks herself why she did it.

But there are few things in this world that will tell a fellow further than "spring chicken." There are a few, but not many. We have seen ever since the Savannah boys ate the "spring chicken" that their hearts yearned for more of it.

But the latest news from the "spring chicken route" is the grand jury of Seven county recommended that the automobile road be paved and sand clayed from the point where it touches the line of Burke, a distance of some forty miles or more. Inasmuch as this route runs parallel with the Brinson railway its entire length of the county, it will not be used extensively by the farmers or people traveling in private conveyances, and therefore the entire road forces for the next two years in Seven county is to be turned over for the benefit of the Savannah Automobile Club and other traveling automobiles coming through the county.

That's paying a big price for the route. It is paying more than the price of "spring chicken."

The Seven county road forces have been "at work on a little four mile stretch for the past six months, parties coming through that way during the past few days state that it is in worse condition now than it has ever been—almost impassable. If this is the rate the road forces will work on the automobile route forty miles through the county it will take them five years on it and then it will be impassable.

FORTUNE DUE TO DREAM.

"See that man over there who looks like a deacon," asked a man in the Waldorf lobby, says the New York Sun. "Well, that chap has been secretary of a gas company out in Ohio for 20 or 30 years, at a salary that I should say could not have gone beyond $150 a month. He is now in a fair way to become a millionaire, and he owes it to his dogged belief that some land out there that had been condemned as worthless by oil prospectors really contained oil.

"Some say he had a dream about it. Anyway, he spent four years or more getting options on

AGED MEXICAN FORCED TO QUIT BY THE REBELS

Mexico City, May 25.—President Porfirio Diaz is dead! Long live citizen Porfirio!

President Diaz, in a letter read by the president of the chamber of deputies this afternoon, resigned the presidency of the republic of Mexico and at exactly 4:54 o'clock the acceptance of the renunciation by the deputies was announced.

Everyone had expected an uproar and demonstration when the announcement should be made, but within the chamber the words of the president announcing the event were followed by a dead silence. The deputies seemed awed by what had taken place.

In the streets, however, black with people, every street leading to the hall was blocked and news that Diaz was at last no more the president was the signal for the wildest shouting and manifestations. There was no violence nor destruction of property.

The motion was offered to accept the president's resignation. One hundred and sixty-seven deputies voted aye, while two did not express themselves. They were Benito Juarez, a descendant of President Juarez, and Concepcion Del Valle. As their names were bowed the legislators arose and bowed their affirmation.

In similar fashion the resignation of Vice President Ramon Carrillo, now in France, was unanimously accepted, and similarly Francisco Leon De La Barra, late ambassador to Washington, was chosen provisional president. The latter will take the oath of office at noon tomorrow in the yellow parlor of the national palace.

Of scarcely less interest to the popular mind was the practical assumption of military control of the federal district by Alfredo Robles Dominguez, Madero's personal representative.

Personally, Dominguez commands only a small body of local rebels, but the federal garrison is under orders to make no move whatsoever without securing his approval. Senor Dominguez stated that a regiment of 5,000 organized rebel troops into the city within three hours. Their baggage and horses are aboard trains furnished by the government at Cuernavaca, Pachuca and Tlalampantla. He stated that they will remain at their present stations unless they should be needed in this city to control the situation.

Slobbs—Why, is he such a spender?

Slobbs—Spender? Why, do you know what that fellow is doing? He's actually paying his income tax—Philadelphia Record.

is universally conceded to be a good habit, and a good habit has been defined by someone as
"Yesterday's Achievements Taking the Sting from Today's Toil."

This denotation states the exact truth, based upon the experience of thousands of depositors throughout the world. While you are forming this exceptionally good habit, you are accumulating a fund for future use. Life is worth living when you have money in bank—it gets monotonous when you are broke.

STRAIGHT POLITICAL FROM C. S. BARRETT

Union City, Ga., May 22.—"To the Officers and Members of the Farmers' Union: I conscientiously believe I am in a good position to advise the American farmer as to the 19-20th of the men addressing him in any capacity today—and that for the sole reason that I have no political aspirations and never expect to harbor any."
"No man ever gets into politics directly. His 'friends' always drag him in, to hear him tell it, by the hair of the head. But none of my 'friends,' with or without the quotation marks, will get me within looking distance of a political office."
"That is why I feel free to tell you the truth about yourselves—to abuse you, if that is necessary for your soul's welfare and the progress of your family."
"Farmers aren't used to being abused by politicians, or public men—except when the same farmer swats one or the other out of office."
"Nobody so bland as the man out for votes. He may be shrewd enough to see where a word of blunt truth telling would help the farmer more than a ton of flattery—but he generally hasn't the spine. He just lays on sugar, rips the fellow on the finger, and the fellow goes back, handshakes the farmer and ambles the farther into office."
"I've heard some of them express their true sentiments about you when you liked them, however. And they weren't complimentary. They sometimes licked up the word 'd—n' with 'fool.'"
"Therefore, the farmer stands sorest in need of any creature on earth of having the truth told him—the truth told about himself, about his business, his own leaders, politics and politicians. His need in this direction is one of the most pathetic things in our day."
"The politicians have too long played with his passions, used him as a cat's paw and left him worse off than they found him. The time is here for a few homely truths. I haven't spared them heretofore, and I'm not going to now."
"In fact, I'm going to speak more and more plainly as I get older. And if more agricultural leaders would do the same, the so-called 'redemption' of the rural districts would come with a rush. For while the farmer doesn't relish being told the truth at first, he soon cultivates a taste for it—it's so unusual you know. After a while he suddenly finds himself suddenly able to discriminate between the old hypocrite who would lie himself into office and the honest man. Then he looks back to the man who has kept his record clear, and that man stands out in his memory as the shadow of a great light in a weary land."
"Just now I want to emphasize the value to the farmer, the indispensability rather, of scientific distribution of products."
"A great many people are, with honest motive, striving to help the farmer produce more goods at less cost and labor. They really want to help him. And then, there are a few who are urging him on to production that prices may drop and everybody get a lift—except the farmer."
"I read in a current magazine recently of some turkey raisers in Vermont, who thought they were not getting enough for their production. So they began inclosing little notes sewed up securely inside each dressed turkey which read something like this: 'My consumer, I got so much a pound for this turkey. Please write me what you paid.'"
"They followed the same plan in other parts of the country with other products. The answers showed such tremendous difference between the price the farmer received, and that paid by the consumers—many hundred per cent. in some cases—as to be startling."

As a result in many localities the farmers are employing agents to handle their products direct and getting more of what is coming to them.
"The high cost of living is frequently as much influenced by faulty distribution as underproduction."
"This doesn't mean that we've got it in for the merchants, the stores, the bankers, or that we're going to try to put the commercial world out of commission."
"I guess we need the commercial world in our business just as much as badly as it needs us. Some weak-minded brethren among us have indulged in wild threats about 'bulldozing' some special merchant or business. Don't take them seriously. Every organization has its cracks."
"But it is necessary for us and the consumer to simplify the machinery of distribution, to cut out a host of superfluous and parasitic gamblers and many intermediaries between the products of the soil and their consumers."
"No matter how complex the question is, you've got to learn it sooner or later, if you expect to get your just due, whether it's in cotton, or wheat, or corn, or nutmegs."
"Look at the Georgia peach growers, just as an illustration."
"Before they were organized, markets were congested and prices so low many orchard men thought of going out of the business."
"Today organizations have re-deemed the industry, and the average grower comes nearer getting a square deal than ever before."
"What they've done, we must do."
"The farmer must make up his mind to it. The business man must make up his mind to it."
"To accomplish results we must increase our present number of competent and sacrificing leaders. But that is a subject worthy of separate treatment."
"Charles B. Barrett."
"Union City, Ga., May 22, 1911."

RUNNING TO HER BOY MOTHER DROPS DEAD.
Mrs. Agnes Wilson Returned Monday From Funeral of Sister.

From an attack of heart failure brought on by her weakened condition, and the strain caused by a recent bereavement in her family, Mrs. Agnes J. Wilson dropped dead at her home No. 322 Hall street, West.
Mrs. Wilson had been in bad health since January, but her condition had at no time been considered serious, although medical attention had been deemed necessary. The shock of the death of sister, Mrs. J. C. Mock of Statesboro, appeared to have reacted on her weakened condition and caused a relapse. She returned from the funeral Monday in much worse health.
Mrs. Wilson seemed much improved, Tuesday, and went about her household duties as usual, cooking breakfast and attending to the many little things that come up for a housewife to do. Her 5-year-old son, who was standing at the window called to her to come to the window quick.
Not knowing what he wanted

TWO PALATKA WOMEN DROWN

Palatka, Fla., May 22.—Mrs. William Shields and Mrs. John D. Cannon, members of prominent families here, were drowned while bathing in the surf South Beach today. The ladies were among the large crowd going to the beach today on the Red men's annual excursion.
Mrs. Shields was the daughter of Charles Rifeberg, of Palatka Heights and her husband is a well known employee of the Wilson Cypress Company. Mrs. Cannon was the wife of John D. Cannon, who is associated with his brother in the meat business here. She leaves a little girl 3 years of age.
A long distance message states that the bodies were recovered immediately and that a sister of Mrs. Shields came near losing her life in an effort to save her sister.
The bodies were brought to Palatka on the excursion train to night.

LONGEST FLIGHT MADE BY A BIRD.

Golden Plover Travels 2,500 Miles Without Pause or Rest.
Such elliptical migration routes as that mentioned above are rare among land birds, but are used, and on a far larger scale by many water birds, notable among which is the golden plover, says a writer in the National Geographic Magazine. This species nests along the Arctic coast of North America, and as soon as the young are old enough to care for themselves fall migration is begun by a trip to the Labrador coast, where the plover fattens for several weeks on the abundant native fish. A short trip across the Gulf of St. Lawrence brings it to Nova Scotia, the starting point for its extraordinary ocean flight, due south to the coast of South America.
The golden plover takes a straight course across the ocean, and if the weather is propitious makes the whole 2,400 miles without pause or rest. But if tempests arise, it may be blown out of its course to the New England coast and start anew on the advent of fair weather; or it may rest for a few days at the Bermuda, on-third of the way along its course, or at the nearest of the Lesser Antilles, still 600 miles from the mainland of South America. These, however, are emergency stop-overs, to be resorted to only in case of storms. Having accomplished its ocean voyage, it passes across eastern South America to its winter home in Argentina.
After a six months' vacation here the plover finds its way back to the Arctic by an entirely different route. It travels across Northwestern South America and the Gulf of Mexico, reaching the United States along the coasts of Louisiana and Texas. Thence it moves slowly up the Mississippi valley and by early June is again at the nesting site on the Arctic coast. Its round trip has taken the form of an enormous ellipse, with a minor axis of 2,000 miles and a major axis stretching 8,000 miles from Arctic America to Argentina.

IN THE WAKE OF THE MEASLES.
The little son of Mrs. O. B. Palmer, Little Rock, Ark., had the measles. The result was a severe cough which grew worse and he could not sleep. She says: "One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cured him and he has never been bothered since." Group, whooping cough, measles, cough all yield to Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The genuine is in the yellow package always. Refuse substitutes. W. H. Ellis Co.

DESERVED PUNISHMENT.
"Booth Tarkington is very difficult to please in matters theatrical," said a famous Philadelphia novelist, according to the New York Press. "Tarkington was visiting me here during the run of one of his plays, and after dinner one evening we sauntered to the theater. But the door-keeper did not know us and for some little time refused to let us in. Finally, though, Tarkington's identity was established and we were conducted to a stage box."
"The performance wasn't up to much. Tarkington fidgeted in his chair and at the end of the first act he suggested that we go. On our way out I saw my illustrious friend peering anxiously at the lobby."
"What are you looking for?" I said.
"I'm looking," said Tarkington, "for that chap who wouldn't let us in. I want to give him a quarter."

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.
Mobile, Ala.—"I suffered for seven years, with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city. "I felt weak and always had a headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble."
"My husband asked me to try Cardui. I felt better after the first bottle, and now I have a good appetite and sleep well. I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."
"If you are sick and miserable, and suffer from any of the pains due to womanly trouble—try Cardui. Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients that have been found to act curatively on the womanly constitution."
"For more than fifty years, it has been used by women of all ages, with great success. Try it. Your druggist sells it."
N. E. Druggist Co., 112 Broadway, New York City. Cardui is sold by all druggists. See full instructions and 64-page book, "How to Treat Womanly Trouble," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

DIGGING FOR TOMB OF DAVID

In Ancient Jerusalem. Suspended Excavations to Be Resumed This Summer.
London, May 21.—Captain the Hon. Montagu Parker, who has just returned to England from Palestine, has made the following statement to the Times concerning the excavations recently carried out in Jerusalem:
"The purpose of the expedition, which started in 1909, was to find the tomb of David and Solomon and any Hebrew writing that existed of that period. We went immediately to Jerusalem, where we proceeded to carry out excavations. We met with severe opposition from persons in the locality, but being supported by the Turkish government in every possible way, we were able to carry on our work without active interference."
"At the end of four months the weather was so bad that we were compelled to shut down our excavations and return to England. We determined, however, to resume our work in the summer of 1910. On arriving at Jerusalem on the second occasion in the week of August, 1910, we resumed our excavations, but finding that the water from the Virgin's Well was very low we decided to clean the spring out and also the Siloam tunnel as far as the Pool of Siloam, the total distance being 1,700 feet. We found, roughly, about three feet of mud throughout the whole length of the tunnel, thereby proving that all existing surveys were entirely inaccurate, and that the tunnel at no place was deeper than 6 feet 6 inches. By cleaning out the well and the tunnel we increased the supply of water close on 50 per cent, which soon created an enormous amount of satisfaction among the villagers of Siloam, who held a big feast on the occasion of the water first flowing down the tunnel after these operations had been completed."
"Meanwhile we were carrying on operations for the purpose of finding the tomb of David and Solomon and any Hebrew writing that might exist. Unfortunately, however, although our work from a scientific point of view was of extraordinary interest, we were unable to discover any Hebrew writing, notwithstanding that we had found definitely the spot where the City of David and the Jebusite city which preceded it had existed. This Jebusite city was in existence undoubtedly, as was proven from the pottery which we there discovered, certainly 2,000 years before David captured the city. In the view of the Dominican Fathers who established a School of Biblical Studies at St. Etienne, Jerusalem, this discovery is quite the most important that has been hitherto made in Palestine. Publication of full details for the present reserved until the excavations are fully completed."
"With regard to the rumors which have been circulated concerning work undertaken in connection with the Mosque of Omar, nothing can be said until the commission appointed by the Turkish government to inquire into this question has presented its report."
"The work of the expedition has been suspended since April 17, and Capt. Parker, having been in Constantinople himself on his way home and seen the officials of the Turkish government, has definitely arranged that operations shall be resumed on August 1st."

How deeply father is in debt. We look as rich as Carnegie.

Although we must admit we are

Our life is so much broader now. Since father bought a limousine

There were thirty-nine children and grand-children present. Only one member of the family absent, Mr. W. H. Ellis, of Statesboro, who is away from home.

After a regular old-time Bulloch county dinner was served the children assembled on the front porch, where they had brought forth from its hiding place a most beautiful survey, which was presented to the father and grandfather by Mr. O. B. Ruston for the children.

The day was quite a surprise for the aged father, and will ever be remembered by the children and grand-children.

SCHOOL CLOSING NEAR BROOKLET.

The school at Brannen Academy closed on yesterday. There was a large crowd of patrons and friends gathered to witness the closing exercises. Miss Annie Waters has had charge of the school during the term which closed on yesterday. A sumptuous spread was laid before the large crowd. Prof. E. C. J. (Communicated.)

Pulaski, Ga., May 25, 1911.

Editor Statesboro News.

I see in your issue of the 23rd a news item from Stillmore, Ga., headed "Drunk Man Stabbed in School House Row."

Your informant misrepresents some of the facts, therefore, I ask to be heard. I was sitting in the school room just behind Boss Warren, with others that know me, when Warren's brother appeared on the stage acting the part of a negro in a dialogue, when the school cheered him. Then I remarked that he acted the part of a negro well, which Boss Warren took as a slur, I suppose. He turned around to me and said I repeated it he would have me put out. I asked him what was it to him. He rose from his seat, then I discovered he was mad. Some one came to him and said he must not raise any disturbance. He sat down a few minutes, then got up and went out of the house. I remained about five minutes and went out. I met J. H. Flint at the door. He asked me what did I mean by cursing in the house. I replied that I had not. He said Boss Warren said I did. I replied Boss was a liar. His brother heard me and went and told Boss. Then it was that Boss came to me, and taking me by the throat began choking me. Some one jerked him loose. Then it was that he knocked me down and got on me. Then it was I began using my knife, which was a small pearl handle. Your informant told the truth when he said a drunken man started it, but lied when he said I was drunk. I had not touched a drop. I did not curse in the presence of ladies. The cause of the trouble originated when my father reported Boss Warren a year ago for dealing in liquor, the indictment standing against him now. He, Boss, tried on two occasions to raise a row with my father. I desire to say that I think your informant from Stillmore is one of Boss Warren's henchmen, and is merely trying to cover up a multitude of wrongs.

J. BRANTLEY JOHNSON.

The News has just been assured that E. M. Anderson & Son, are to open an up-to-date undertaking and embalming establishment in connection with their hansom and wagon business.

Hoke Smith said: "I tell you, governor, this is a state, and will be with this great state to be chief representative after June 15th."

I would rather be governor. Melton is an honorable young man of such a state, and the News joins his firm much success in his newly chosen vocation.

Perhaps the greatest day in the history of the First Congressional District Agricultural School was that of today, when three thousand enthusiastic friends of the great school and admirers of Georgia's great governor-elect, gathered to pay their respects to both and listen to the closing exercises and hear the splendid address of Gov. Smith.

The medals were awarded during the morning hours, while a steady rain of humanity told the management it was only a question of time when the great auditorium would refuse to hold any more. Men and women stood up for two hours to hear the great speech of the Governor. The stairways were packed to the ground floor, and the lower floor of the building was one surging mass of men and women, more than that the entire face of the grounds were covered.

Every automobile in the city was pressed into service, and every hansom team put to work. Regular runs were made to and from the city, the road leading to the school was almost impassable for several hours, owing to the congestion of the traffic in moving the great crowds.

Governor Smith held the undivided attention of the large audience for one and a half hours;

RE BELIVES IN ADVERTISING.

Among the party of Dubliners here on Friday evening last was Mr. Arnan, manager of the Four Seasons store at Dublin. Mr. Arnan was asked if he believed in advertising as a paying proposition. He stated yes, when intelligently done. He stated that his firm expended about three thousand dollars per annum in advertising.

Now this is about twice as much as the entire city of Statesboro expends with all the newspapers printed here.

The business men of Statesboro are so scared they will spend a dollar in printer's ink, that will not return the next minute, until it frightens them in an inch of their lives when a penny happens to slip through their fingers.

With all the proud boasts of this city we suspect that it is within the range of probability that this one Dublin firm not only spends twice as much money as does in advertising, but does about twice as much business as does this town. This firm probably draws its business further than does this entire town. Therefore it is a great incentive to others to do likewise, and tells in a measure why it is that Dublin and Laurens county are forging so far ahead of Statesboro and Bulloch county. They have left us so far until they can't even look back and see us.

But Statesboro grows some in spite of the folks. Occasionally we see a building go up, but the fellow who puts it up generally has his mind pitched on the fact that the interest from it must come back double fold and that forthwith.

There is absolutely no disposition to stretch out here.

There is not a public enterprise here that is self-sustaining outside of the banks and the stores; there may be some exceptions, but they are few and far between. The biggest business in this town is the business of money lending, and the stock of these concerns pay more dividends and sell for more on the market than anything else.

Statesboro has no board of trade, or any other organization organized for the purpose of boosting things—in fact one couldn't live here long enough to get started.

Here is a town situated fifty percent better than Dublin is, with a better country backing it than Dublin has and yet slumbering to everything that means get up and go ahead.

Swainsboro slept thirty years, but her folks have waked up and got busy. They have seen the interest fade away and the tide of prosperity turn towards other towns, and now Swainsboro is sitting up and taking notice. But Statesboro has gone to sleep.

Sylvania is taking on new airs and bidding for public enterprises, but Statesboro has gone to sleep.

Millen is waking up and reaching out for trade, that once belonged to this town yet the old town hasn't heard about it and continues to snooze.

Graymont is forging ahead, and the wagon trains of Bulloch county farmers who have turned their faces towards the young metropolis of Emanuel would make the average Statesborian business man turn heart sick if he was to happen ever to open his eyes long enough to look around and see the procession move by.

Statesboro is sitting idly by and looking on at a magnificent piece of railroad property traversing the heart of the best section of her territory, with one end pointing north and the other south—both ends pointing away from us, yet no one here has ever thought about it.

There is not a single citizen of this great little city that is building some in spite of the folks, who is turning his hand over to do a single thing in the interest of his town.

The above are unpleasant things to put in print but there is more truth than poetry in them just the same.

BULLOCH AND GOOD ROADS.

Certain automobile enthusiasts and newspapers who have it in for Bulloch county are beginning to criticize this county for her failure to pledge the entire road working forces of the county to the building of highways for the use and benefit of passing automobiles and the encouragement of automobile highways.

Bulloch county people are in favor of good roads and at great expense is now engaged in building roads that will be good for many years to come. With few exceptions our people would like to have as many strangers come our way as they can reasonably induce to come. In other words the latest thing is on the outside of the door and the door stands ajar as far as that is concerned.

But first of all the authorities have to keep in mind the interest and welfare of that great tax paying class of our citizens who contribute the sinews of war that makes it possible for these roads to be built.

Under the system now in vogue the roads have been worked out as far as possible from the centers of trade, wherein the greatest amount of travel is done and the greatest amount of good is accomplished.

While we appreciate the passing of our friends who drive automobiles for business and pleasure through our midst, yet we are frank to say, that if they cannot drive over our roads as they find them, roads on which have been spent the hard earnings of our tax payers, they will have to go elsewhere.

In the meeting on Friday night our Dublin friends were cordially invited to build their highway from Atlanta to the sea through this county, yet there was nothing we could promise them except that which we already had, and that which our well defined and perfectly understood plan would bring.

The automobile roads will be worked when their turn comes, and not before.

The Board of County Commissioners that undertakes to build roads for automobiles at the expense of all other vehicles will be doing their county a great injustice.

We regret very much the fact that with all of our road building we haven't as yet been able to satisfy the Savannah Automobile Club and the Savannah Morning News. There is a marked difference in the tone of the dope issued on the two highways now being planned between the Press and the News, of Savannah. The News, it seems, can find nothing commendable in Bulloch's roads, while the Press accounts have been more liberal toward us. The News paints from day to day an all paved highway through Screven county, when it knows that it will take years of hard work and an expenditure of large sums of money to bring the Effingham-Screven Highway up to the standard of the Bulloch county roads as they now are. The News sees in the condition of Bulloch's roads the only barrier standing in the way of the Dublin route coming this way.

Now this is all right, the people of Bulloch are not worrying over the fact whether either of these routes come this way or not. As AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL HAS FINE CLOSING.

The commencement exercises of the first District Agricultural School have been on since Friday night and have been well attended from day to day. On Sunday Dr. O. P. Gilbert, pastor of the Second Baptist church of Augusta, delivered the commencement sermon to a large congregation of students and friends. The sermon, like all other commencement sermons, was more of an address than a sermon. His remarks were directed to the young manhood and young womanhood of the country, as represented by the large number of young folks who were present. The talk was one of the best we have heard in many years, and those who missed it were the losers by their absence.

On Monday afternoon the display of Domestic Science and Domestic Art was viewed by hundreds of people who went out to look at it. The larger portion of the visitors on this occasion were ladies, this department appealing more strongly to the ladies than any other. Refreshments were served from the Model Home and a magnificent display of domestic art was admired by every lady present. Hundreds of garments made by the girls of the school with their own hands were displayed, and the neatness with which they were made up made some of the mothers wish they had had these opportunities while they were growing up. The exhibition in the Domestic Science Department also met with hearty approval.

On Monday night the graduating class had charge of the exercises, nine in number, following each other in the order of the printed program, they delivered a number of essays and musical selections. A large crowd was out to witness this.

FINALLY CATCHES RUNAWAY WIFE.

Boatright's Chase Ends. Finds His Children After Search of Three States.

Albany, Ga., May 25.—W. E. Boatright, the Alabama farmer who followed his wife and the man with whom he alleges she had run away, back and forth through parts of three states for five months, has at last overhauled them and taken possession of his two little children. These he has taken back to his home, leaving the wife with the man with whom she ran away.

The case is a remarkable one and has attracted a good deal of attention. Pursuer and pursued traveled in buggies, camping out at night and zigzagging back and forth through Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

Boatright carried a rifle wherever he went, but declared he would use it only in case of necessity. What he wanted was his children, who had left him, he could go where she pleased.

Boatright passed through Albany four or five times during his five months' chase, and each time he was but a day or two behind those whom he was following. Several times he missed them by but a few hours. Sometimes the trail was entirely lost, but he always managed to take it up again.

SELL THE PHILIPPINES.

(Savannah Press.)
Colonel Watterston's suggestion that the United States should sell the Philippine Islands to Japan is a pointed one, though it is rather doubtful if Japan would consent to purchase them unless they were put on the bargain counter for her benefit.

There is a great deal of silence on the subject of the Philippines and the public generally hears so little about them and regards them as so distant and vague that our policy in the East receives very little attention. The Republican party appears to desire to keep the grey matter of the public free from all unpleasant agitation on the subject and the Democratic party seems equally reluctant to tackle the matter and thresh it out. The anti-imperialists, apparently, are sleeping peacefully and everything is rocking along to the satisfaction of those who are having their own way. Occasionally the national joke of Hobson and the Japs is lugged out, when times are dull with the paragraphs, and more than occasionally we hear of how dearly the Japs love us.

Considering that the Philippine Islands are the logical expanding ground for the Japanese, who have outgrown their own lands and are bound to get possession of others, it is very pleasant to hear of how much they love and admire the United States. Meanwhile, sure of their kindly intentions, we are spending enormous amounts of money in fortification and modern improvements in the Philippines. The islands are overrun with Japanese spies and there are practically no secrets from them. Many of the natives of the Philippine Islands are so close to the Japanese in appearance and characteristics that it takes an ethnological expert to trace the different racial strains in them, consequently there is no doubt, either of the army or the civil government, into which the spies of Japan find the slightest difficulty in pursuing their investigations.

Insufficiently guarded, and at great distance from our base, surrounded by natives whose nature is essentially intriguing, treacherous and easily moved to antagonism, who are ripe for insurrection and rebellion at any time that a powerful nation shall call them to war against us, our position in the East is, to say the least, one which invites trouble, if not from Japan, then from other nations to whom our presence in the Orient and our influence upon the Orientals is troublesome and abhorrent.

The great wealth of our country and the confidence it engenders that in the ultimate reckoning, no matter what our unpreparedness may be, the United States will win out, is our great protection. But the situation in the East is complex and our policy here is out of harmony with the policy of other nations. Nor is our position in the East in harmony with our own principles of government. We are ourselves violating the spirit of the Monroe doctrine in extending our domain to Asia, while assuming the complete guardianship of this hemisphere.

Happening as though by accident upon this rich find, way around on the other side of the world, we have pursued random and haphazard colonization policies of a highly theoretical character. Little or no general discussion of our policy was even put before the people, and no definite policy seems to be underfoot. News from our Eastern possessions is scanty, although it could not fail to be interesting, and the great American public, the supposed sovereign ruler of the supposed sovereign nation, is not even made aware of the situation in this country. It is comfortably ignorant even that there is a question. The sooner the matter is threshed out and understood and a definite course is agreed upon the better.

GREAT STRIDES BY SOUTH IN IMPROVING HER ROADS.

(Atlanta Constitution.)
That not less than 25,000 miles of road were improved throughout the South in the short period from 1904 to 1909, was asserted by Logan Waller Page, director of the United States office of public roads in an interesting address before the National Good Roads Association at the convention held at Birmingham, Ala., May 23-26, 1911.

The additional miles of road that have been improved make a total of improved mileage of 42,280, or 6.67 per cent of all roads in the South.

"From this," said Mr. Page in his address, "it will be seen that during the brief period of five years the South has increased the mileage of its improved roads by practically 100 per cent, and this, during what might be termed a transition period in the administration of its road affairs."

"One of the potent results of these reforms, and one which gives promise of greater progress in the future, is the interest and enthusiasm which has been aroused in the subject of road improvement in the South. That this enthusiasm is of a substantial character is evidenced by the fact that more funds have been raised by taxation and bond issues for expenditure during 1911 than ever before."

"At the present date, there is available for expenditure in the sixteen Southern states the sum of $40,625,000, or $59 per mile, which is practically double the expenditure of 1904. There will be, however, other large funds available during the year, as many counties are agitating, and will, no doubt, vote large bond issues for road improvement. It is further shown that the South is keeping pace with other sections of the country in the matter of road improvement, by the fact that practically one-third of all funds available for expenditure on roads during 1911 are available in the sixteen Southern states, while in 1904 the other states of the Union expended practically four times as much as was expended in the South."

"Conditions in the South require road improvement more urgently than in any other section of the country, for the reason that the roads are subjected to more continuous heavy traffic as they are nearly always wet by this season, they are up very bad and become almost impassable. In order to have good, hard roads during this period, it is necessary that they be properly graded, drained and surfaced. In the South, conditions are partially protected with ice and snow most of the time during the winter months, which affords a good, smooth surface over which traffic may pass."

To assist this advantage, however, the roads of the South can be improved more cheaply than those of the North. In the South, labor is cheaper, and convict labor can be utilized and the road-building season is longer. Also, a cheaper type of road, in most cases, can be built in the South, as sand-clay roads can be constructed, these answering all the ordinary traffic requirements, and costing only about one-tenth as much as macadam or other roads suitable to Northern conditions."

Moreover, the roads of the South are not subjected to as severe frosts and freezes in the spring and fall as those of the North, and consequently the injury from this source, necessarily makes the cost of maintenance less. So while the South stands in the greatest need of road improvement, its conditions are most favorable for meeting that need."

Mr. Page illustrated how much more cheaply the South can improve its roads, and gave statistics to show how counties with improved roads have greatly increased their population, while those without good roads have lost in population. He also showed how millions of dollars have been saved by the improvement of public highways throughout the South.

"Once the South has a complete system of public roads," he predicted, "it will become the most prosperous section of the United States. Good roads mean more to the South than to any other part of the country, because it is here that the cost of moving crops has been high. The South today is enjoying an era of prosperity and expansion. Improvements are in progress all along the line. Its population is increasing each year; its railroad mileage is being extended; its manufactures are enlarged; its agriculture is each year opening up to new possibilities and bringing new areas under cultivation. In order, however, for this growth to continue, it will be necessary that the roads of the south be improved, population, impeded its railroad development, hamper the enlargement of its manufactures, and restrict its agriculture."

DRAWING A CLEAN LINE.

(Savannah Press.)
To offer applause to the President for the stand he has taken in refusing to pardon two very prominent and influential convicts, would savor of reflection rather than praise since he has simply followed the only course open to an honest and honorable executive, to whom the respect for law and the preservation of honest ideals in our citizenry naturally weigh in the balance against personal sympathy for the shame and the suffering of the criminals.

Mr. Taft, however, in using this occasion to give full emphasis to the lesson which the conviction of these two gentlemen of high finance should teach, showed a keen and true appreciation of the evils of our times and his words will do much to bring a higher tone to public sentiment.

"The truth is," said the President, "that in the mad rush for wealth in the last few decades, lines between profit and legitimate and improper gain, from undue use of trust control over the people's property and money, has sometimes been dimmed, and the interest of society requires that whenever opportunity offers those charged with the enforcement of the law should emphasize the distinction between honest business and dishonest branches of trust."

It has been remarked by historians that the inordinate love for wealth has sounded the death knell of all civilizations. Certainly it is one of the most insidious evils of the United States today.

Walsh and Morse are no more dishonest than many others who now enjoy the prestige and honor which great possessions give—no matter how they have been acquired—but Walsh and Morse have fallen into the clutches of the law and for the sake of society they must not be spared.

The very spectacle of them, painful and appealing as it is, is a necessary example of the logical ending of devious and undefined notions as to the use of other people's money.

Had the President pardoned these two criminals his action would have had a widespread influence for evil, but it is unnecessary to say that the idea of his doing such a thing has never been seriously considered. In so clearly and unequivocally sound a note for clean and honest business, however, he has made the most of a good opportunity to tone up the financial and social ideals of the entire country.

The Banking Habit

is universally conceded to be a good habit, and a good habit has been defined by someone as

This definition states the exact truth, based upon the experience of thousands of depositors throughout the world. While you are forming this exceptionally good habit, you are accumulating a fund for future use. Life is worth living when you have money in bank—it gets monotonous when you are broke.

CONEY ISLAND SWEPT BY FIRE

Damage Is Estimated Between Two and Three Million Dollars.

"DREAMLAND" A MASS OF SMOKING RUINS.

Fire Started at Two O'clock in the Morning and Lasted Over Three Hours. About Two Hundred Buildings Were Burned Down.

New York, May 27.—Coney Island, the playgrounds of New York, suffered the worst fire disaster of its history today. Dreamland, the largest of the amusement parks, was wiped out and about four blocks adjoining, covered with booths, restaurants, hotels, moving picture theaters, and resorts of varied types, were destroyed.

The fire broke out at two o'clock in the morning and was not under control until 3 hours and a half later. The loss will amount to between two and three million dollars.

In all about two hundred buildings were burned, and perhaps two thousand persons—concessionaries and employees—were turned into the streets, homeless and penniless. No lives were lost. The burned area represents nearly a third of the entire amusement city, all of which undoubtedly have gone in the teeth of a strong wind but for the fact that Coney Island, with a high pressure water system, especially designed for fire protection, guarded against a disaster of this kind. The fire was discovered, a tiny blaze, in the tarred scaffolding of "Hell Gate," a scenic railway close to the entrance to Dreamland.

Three Alarms Turned In.

Twenty minutes afterward a frightened watchman had turned in three alarms, one after another, as fast as his thumb could press the key, all Dreamland—ten acres of "gaudy, closely packed buildings—was one blaze. The flames, urged by a strong wind, were visible for nearly fifteen miles. Close to "Hell Gate," where the fire started, was the Bostock Animal Show, and nearer yet the infant incubator, a charity nursery in which were six wee infants and their attendants. The children were taken out in their little glass houses and rushed out of danger by the police.

Then came work of taking out the animals, a costly collection, including several dangerous man-eaters. The animals were in their cages, their roaring could be heard for many blocks above the crackling of the flames and throbbing of the engines. The trainers, lost no time. While the policemen with drawn revolvers stood at the entrance to that night escape, the attendants drove their charges from their cages down the runways into the emergency vans which are always ready. All went well until the transfer was nearly concluded. Then the biggest of the lions, in a panic, broke from his bonds, smashed his way through the barriers and leaped into the streets, all packed by a throng of spectators. He dove straight into the middle of the throng. Concomitant seized the multitude and the crowd rushed pell-mell in all directions in panic.

Fired on Lion.

A mounted policeman came upon the crouching beast in the center of the wide avenue with drawn revolver. Twice he shot and missed the lion, backing away from the glare and the noise of the explosions, and then six more mounted policemen lined up in front of the crowd and opened a fusillade. Backing away, snarling and leaving a trail of blood from many wounds, the lion made his way across the avenue into the dark wooden tunnels of "The Rocky Road to Dublin." In a black corner beneath painted scenery of equatorial Africa he made his last stand. Three final volleys were required to finish him and he sank to the ground riddled like a sieve. To make sure that he was dead one of the policemen pulled down a fire axe from behind the scenery and knocked the skull in two. As soon as the crowd was assured that the lion was no more they rushed in and literally tore the carcass to bits for souvenirs. The first man on the scene took the tasseled tail, the three next divided the long mane, and fifteen men fought among themselves for the honor of possessing one of his teeth.

Meanwhile the escape of the big lion had cut short the work of the animal men and fire was already in the menageries before their work was completed. Sixty of the one hundred and five animals were left to die by fire. The cause of the fire probably will never be determined. In the "Hell Gate" scenic railway working with tar rails had been smearing the causeway to protect the scaffolding against the weather. It is supposed the fire somehow had its origin from the hot tar. Dreamland was worth $2,500,000 and there was less than $500,000 insurance.

Saved Child From Death.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial troubles for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." MASSIVE METEOR FALLS.

GEORGIA PLANTATION SELLS FOR $126,000.

H. C. Bagley Sells 2,100 Tract at $60 an Acre, a New Record Price.

Atlanta, Ga., May 27.—When a Georgia plantation sells for $126,000, or $60 an acre, it sets a new record for the state. That's what H. C. Bagley, the Atlanta insurance man, has received for his 2,100-acre plantation and peach orchard in Sumter county, near Americus. He still retains his other big Sumter county plantation and his tract in Macon county, aggregating 4,000 acres, and he says he will hold on to them.

J. D. Whittle, a wealthy planter of Blackville, S. C., is the purchaser of the property, and will devote it entirely to farming, preferring this to peach growing. The price paid is by far the highest ever given for a Georgia tract of this size, and Mr. Bagley attributes it to the recent advance in development of South Georgia, and to the improvement in the roads of that section. The plantation was his old home place and he parted with it reluctantly, though he made a handsome profit. It has advanced in value from $15 to $60 an acre in his time, besides an almost steady profit from its products in the years he has owned it.

Mr. Bagley, who is a member of the insurance firm of Bagley & Willet, is a good example of the business man-farmer. He devotes the last two days of each week to his plantations, spending the rest of his time in his office and has made a success of both interests. He organized the Georgia Fruit Exchange several years ago, a body which has made it possible for peach growers to market their fruit with a profit.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. It's foolish to fear a fanciful evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bays, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fevers, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy. Only 50c, at W. H. Ellis Co.

A VERY RICH MAN WAS SENATOR ELKINS.

Elkins, W. Va., May 26.—The report if the appraisers of the late Senator S. B. Elkins' will, entered on file at County Clerk Rowan's office, shows that the senator's actual wealth was $4,025,109.04, which is divided as follows:

Money in bank at time of death $117,357.64.
Stock value in 54 corporations, $2,932,298.90.
He had a bond appraisal of nine corporations of $733,900.
He had $12,370 in miscellaneous investments.
Bills receivable, $48,035.
Home property appraised at $64,000.
Real estate, including timber lands, appraised at $117,147.50.
His heaviest holdings were in the coal and coke railway and the Morgantown and Kingwood railway.

BREAKING IT GENTLY.

"P. S.—Poor Jones was inside the suit."

FOUNDATION IS LAID FOR AN AERIAL NAVY.

Washington, May 26.—The foundation of Uncle Sam's aerial navy was laid today when Assistant Secretary Winthrop signed contracts aggregating $13,000 for the delivery at the naval academy by July 1 next of three aeroplanes. These will represent the very latest developments in aerodynamics, being capable of rising from and alighting upon the water or the deck of a ship; of carrying at least one passenger in addition to the aviator, and of being equipped with a 50-pound wireless outfit.

Two of the machines will be of the Curtiss type, one with 8 cylinders and the other four, and the other aeroplane will be furnished by the Wright brothers. Prices range from $27,700 to $5,500. Immediately upon the delivery of the machines a naval school of instruction for aviator will be established at Annapolis under the care of Captain Chambers, who has made a specialty of aerodynamics.

MRS. MCGILL BROKE DOWN

Gives the Real Facts in Regard to Her Case and Tells How She Suffered.

Jonesboro, Ark.—"I suffered a complete break down in health, some time ago," writes Mrs. A. McGill, "to tell of the benefit received from Cardui. 'I was very weak and could not do any work. I tried different remedies, but they did me no good. One day, I got a bottle of Cardui. It did me so much good. I was surprised, and took some more. Before I took Cardui, I had headache and backache, and sometimes I would cry for hours. Now I am over all that, and can do all kinds of housework. I think it is the greatest medicine on earth.'"

In the past fifty years, thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. McGill, to tell of the benefit received from Cardui. Such testimony from earnest women, surely indicates the great value of this tonic remedy, for diseases peculiar to women. Are you a sufferer? Fear not. Write for a free copy of "Cardui is the medicine you need. We urge you to try it."

CHILEANS BURN FLAG OF PERU

Iquique, Chile, May 28.—A mob today attacked the Peruvian Club and burned the flag of Peru. Troops were summoned to quell the rioting and several persons were wounded. The Peruvian consul has resigned and has asked the United States consul to protect Peruvian interests in this place. The actual dispute between Chile and Peru rests on the question of ownership with regard to Tacna and Arica provinces to decide and which a plebiscite of the inhabitants of these provinces has been suggested.

NEW YORK BIGGER CITY THAN LONDON IN 1930.

That's What the Figures Prove if They Keep on Growing in the Same Proportion the Next Two Decades.

(Atlanta Georgian.)
It is written that New York, the metropolis of the new world, is to west from London, the metropolis of the old, the distinction of being the largest city on the globe. Not right away, nor yet soon, perhaps, but statisticians who have in hand the figures of the 1910 British census, issued Thursday, can convince even the most unbelieving that within the next two decades this very thing will come about.
The figures announced Thursday give the British city a population of 2,529,963, an increase for the ten years of 11 per cent.
The 1910 census gives New York a population of 4,766,883, an increase over the 1900 census of 38 per cent.
Figuring that both cities will maintain the same ratio of increase for another ten years London will have a population of 8,050,788 in 1920 and New York will have 6,578,298. By the same method the statisticians put London in second place in 1930 and gives to New York the proud pre-eminence of being the largest city on this whirling ball of mud. The figures show London will have 8,936,375 and give New York 9,078,051.
If New York's present population be added to that of adjacent cities such as Jersey City, Newark, Hoboken, West Hoboken, Elizabeth, Orange, East Orange, N. J., Yonkers, New Rochelle and Mt. Vernon—all practically a part of New York city, each of which has a population of 25,000 or more, the American city will show 5,764,860. With a gain of 38 per cent in ten years the figures would jump to 7,955,506 in 1920, right at London's heels, and in 1930 New York could claim 10,978,598 souls.
And if you don't believe it, just wait until 1930 and see for yourself.

In the Wake of the Measles.

The little son of Mrs. O. R. Palmer, Little Rock, Ark., had the measles. The result was a severe cough which grew worse and he could not sleep. She says: "One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cured him and he has never been bothered since." Croup, whooping cough, measles, colds, all yield to Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The genuine is in the yellow package always. Refuse substitutes. W. H. Ellis Co.

SHALL KEEP UP FIGHT, SAYS MRS. C. W. MORSE.

New York, May 26.—Mrs. Charles W. Morse, wife of the former banker whose petition for pardon was denied last week by President Taft, left New York tonight for Atlanta. She expects to stay there for some time, taking up her residence in the neighborhood of the federal prison, and consulting as frequently as possible with her husband regarding her next course of action.
"I shall keep up the fight without flagging," she declared in the midst of her preparations for departure.
"I have not decided whether to get up another petition. Of course, I am in a position to renew the application for the president's clemency in January, 1913."

President of Association Makes Admission Before Senate Committee.

Washington, May 26.—Under a cross-examination conducted by Senators Stone and Williams, Arthur C. Hastings, president of the American Paper and Publishing Association, admitted today before the senate finance committee at their hearing that this organization was formed for the purpose of fixing the price of print paper.
Mr. Hastings denied the statements made by John Norris, of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, and declared they were not according to facts.

WANT AD RECOVERERS $500,000 OF JEWELRY.

Detroit, Mich., May 26.—A hand-satchel containing jewelry valued at $50,000, lost in Jefferson Ave. two weeks ago, was restored today to Waldo A. Avery, a well known business man, by Anthony A. Selwsky, a bicycle man, who found it in the middle of the street on which it was lost. Despite the fact that Chicago private detectives from Hired by Avery and Selwsky will receive this.

A schoolboy's composition on Patrick Henry contained the following gem: "Patrick was not a very bright boy. He had blue eyes and light hair. He got married and then said, 'Give me liberty or give me death.'"

NOT TO BE MADE LIGHT OF.

(Rocheester Herald.)
Marie Dressler is as famous for her epigrams as she is for her generosity. An actor at the opera house was recalling yesterday one of her justly famous bits of repartee:
Miss Dressler was inviting her friends to a birthday party.
"There'll be a birthday cake, I suppose?" some one remarked.
"Yes, there be a cake, never fear," was the reply.
"And candles, of course?" went on the alleged wit.
"My friend," said Miss Dressler, "this is to be a birthday party, not a torchlight procession."

Foley's Kidney Remedy Acted Quickly

M. N. George, Irondale, Ala., was bothered with a kidney trouble for many years. "I was persuaded to try Foley Kidney Remedy, and before taking it three days I could feel its beneficial effects. The pain left my back, my kidney action cleared up, and I am so much better I do not hesitate to recommend Foley Kidney Remedy." W. H. Ellis Co.

DEATH OF LESLIE RUSHING.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Rushing, of the 44th district, will regret to learn of their dying one day last week. The cause of his death was typhoid fever. He was about one and a half years old at the time of his little son, Leslie, the death of whom was about eleven years old at the time of his death.

By the suggestion of a friend, who is a drummer and sells goods at Statesboro, I came here to fit glasses to such eyes as may be in need of them, and I ask the public not to class me with common traveling cheap eye-doctors who know very little about the eyes, their refractive errors, or corrections, but come and give me a trial on your case, no matter how vision. I make a specialty of all the aristocratic shapes in glasses and mountings, do my own cementing for bifocals, trifocals and everything. Will be pleased to have you call on me at the Cash Corner.

Respectfully,

CITY SCHOOLS TO CLOSE.

The commencement exercises of the Statesboro Institute came to a close last night, the exercises beginning on Sunday when Dr. Talliaferro, pastor of the First Baptist church of Dublin, delivered the commencement sermon to a large and appreciative audience, one that packed the large auditorium to its full capacity.

Dr. Talliaferro delivered a very able discourse and those who missed it missed a genuine treat.

On Monday evening a musical recital was given by Miss Ruth Kennedy, the principal of the music department of the school. Again a large audience greeted and cheered the different selections.

The exercises came to a close Tuesday evening when the diplomas were awarded the graduating class, of two young men and seven young women. After these diplomas were delivered Col. R. Lee Moore came on the stage and in a few well selected words presented to Prof. Mulloy and Miss Maude Akins, assistant principal, two handsome presents from the graduating class.

Hon. Pleasant A. Stovall delivered the commencement address. A large audience filled the auditorium, notwithstanding the fact that the day had been a very busy one in town. Col. Stovall delivered one of the most eloquent literary discourses that has been heard here in some time.

His address was well received and highly appreciated by all who heard it.

This morning the most of the faculty who live in other towns are departing for their homes.

Prof. Mulloy, who goes to Tifton, will remain with us about one week more to close up his affairs here.

PUBLIC BUILDING BILL INTRODUCED.

Congressman Chas. G. Edwards introduced a bill in the lower house of the National Congress on yesterday providing for an appropriation of seventy-five thousand dollars for the erection of a post office building in the city of Statesboro. The building is to be located on the site already secured by Congressman Edwards, and located on South Main street.

Mr. Edwards states that he has strong faith in the success of the bill, and while it may not get through during the present extra session yet he has got it on the way, under consideration, and will be in a position to push it when the regular session opens in December.

The importance of Statesboro demands a good public building, and it is believed that when Mr. Edwards brings the matter properly before the Appropriation Committee, as he will do, we will be included in the next general appropriation bill for public building purposes.

It has long been Mr. Edwards' ambition to build this structure in Statesboro. He has been telling us about it and he will stick to it until he gets it, this means we are going to win when Charlie Edwards gets what he has behind a proposition you can't find for something to happen.

Now is the time to paint your house. I have the Paint at right prices.

Mexico's New President.

Atlanta Journal.

The selection of Senor de la Barra as provisional president of Mexico augurs well for the security of that troubled republic.

There is perhaps no other man so thoroughly fitted to steer the government through its present critical period of transition.

Throughout the revolution he was Diaz's chief adviser. He is familiar with the details of the chief executive's office. For some weeks past, indeed, he has been virtually at the head of affairs. He knows, in logical consequence, the steps that must be taken to keep the government firmly on its feet until an election can be held.

At the same time de la Barra enjoys the confidence of the revolutionary party, and with the masses of the people he is sympathetically popular. He is respected for his gift as a statesman and trusted for his well proved integrity.

The provisional president thus serves as link between the old and the new order. It was the possibility that just this link might be lacking which gave rise to fears that Mexico might not weather its trying transitional season. These apprehensions, however, are greatly allayed both by the self-restraint which the people have thus far shown, following the retirement of Diaz, and by the character of the man who is now at the head of the state.

Senor de la Barra is broadly schooled in matters of government and diplomacy. Though only forty-eight years old, he has played a continuous and important part in his country's development. For five years he was a member of the Mexican congress. He has represented his nation in a number of international conferences and also in Belgium and the Netherlands.

THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE ACTIVE.

Anticipating a fight from the whiskey forces, the members of the Georgia Anti-Saloon League are making themselves heard all over Georgia, and the beginning of a very warm fight seems to be in sight.

It is understood that the whiskey people are fairly well satisfied with conditions in Georgia. They are operating the open saloon in practically all the cities they did business in prior to the passage of the state wide prohibition law in 1907. They are doing an immense job of trade business out of Savannah,

Augusta, Macon and other wholesale centers, and more than that they are shipping a lot of home chemical mixed stuff that never was in a hundred miles of a distillery, cheap, poisonous stuff, sold at a big price to people in the rural districts.

Therefore the saloon interest has nothing to grumble about over present conditions.

But the prohibitionists are far from being satisfied. We have it straight from reliable sources that a campaign will be waged to repeal the present near beer license.

More than that, it is proposed to amend the present state wide prohibition law with a provision that means a change of venue in the trial of liquor cases from communities that are so notoriously soaked with liquor sentiment that a jury cannot be had that will convict in the face of absolute proof of guilt. In other words the offenders are to be brought back to Georgia soil for trial.

Those counties that have openly and wantonly ignored a state statute not being termed as "Georgia soil."

A great army of temperance people, both men and women, will through the legislative halls, and the tiger will be bruised in his lair.

The public generally without regard to whether they believe in the law or not, want it enforced.

There are exceptions to this,

however, in the communities where its sale is licensed in the very heart of the law itself.

The people of the state want a change. They either want the law amended so that it can be enforced without question, whether it is violated in a community where it is not recognized or whether it is in counties where jury men will observe the oath they take as binding when referred to liquor cases along with all other violations of the state's laws.

If it could be amended in the manner named, so that there would be assured a verdict in accordance with the evidence showing the guilt of the violator, we would then have an enforcement of the same; then people would have an opportunity to see whether prohibition was good or not, in which case the law would remain permanently on the books.

Otherwise the law is unsatisfactory and will be changed in some manner.

THERE IS TROUBLE BREWING IN SCREVEN.

It seems that the program to have that "all paved automobile highway from Savannah to Augusta through Screven and Effingham counties" is having a rather rough experience. The grand jury of Screven county have recommended that the entire road forces be put to work on this automobile road. The county commissioners passed an order to that effect. Now that was smooth sailing and let the Savannah

Morning News to almost say it was already done; in fact they made the head lines read that way but the body of the article stated that it was to be only "a near" proposition, not just yet but soon.

But these fellows had not reckoned with that large body of "hay seeds" lying back in the rural sections of Screven county who have a way of expressing themselves in a manner that calls down the house, as it were, and they have learned that there are about as many stumps in the proposition to put all the road forces on the automobile route for a term of years as Harvey

Granger met on the Charlotte

Endurance Run.

The commissioners are beginning to show signs of tender feet, and now it is said the scheme is to be abandoned altogether.

That spring chicken served to the autoists didn't have a very exhilarating effect on the common

"hay seed" who is making himself felt about this time.

But when we look back over the pride of the "all the way paved route for automobiles through Screven to Augusta," and see how far we are away from it we are almost moved to tears.

FARMING LAND AT EIGHTY DOLLARS AN ACRE.

It developed at public sales before the court house door today that Bulloch county farming lands are selling at eighty dollars an acre. A twenty-five acre tract being bid in by Mr. W. S.

Miller from the estate of John B.

Rushing, deceased, at fifteen hundred. This was not the real price, however, Mr. Miller had already bought the land at eighty dollars per acre before the death of Mr. Rushing, and the bid today was for the balance due. The piece of land was partly in cultivation and had a small cottage on it, but the value existed in the real farm dirt there was on the premises.

MADERO, THE DREAMER.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

A vivid word-picture of Francisco

Madero, Jr., the man of the hour in Mexico, is that given by an ex-insurrecto who has recently returned with an honorable discharge to the country. Describing the man upon whom the aroused interest of the world is now focused, he said:

"Madero is a dreamer, an idealist.

I have met and talked with the man dozens of times, and have seen him under every possible test. I ought to know him. His is an odd mixture of the scholar and the Utopian. He lacks decision.

Everybody knows that it was the fall of Juarez that precipitated the downfall of Diaz, and finally crowned the insurgent cause with victory. Yet

Madero was opposed to the final assault that crushed Juarez. He feared bullets flying over the Rio Grande and subsequent American intervention, he was unwilling to accept that chance which decides every military crisis. Only when Orozco and other insurrecto leaders were practically in mutiny against him was he drawn into the attack that settled the fate of the border town. He is patriotic, and I believe, unselfish. But I seriously doubt if he is the strong, double-jointed personality that Mexico needs at this precise moment. And when the insurrecto army finds out there aren't enough jobs to go round under the new government, he is going to be in his greatest danger."

WILSON PRAISES SOUTH'S ADVANCE

Governor at Washington, Commends

Democratic Action on Wool Tariff.

Washington, D. C., June 3.—

On his way home from an extended trip through the West and South, Gov.

Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey arrived here tonight from Columbia, S. C., to remain here until tomorrow afternoon, when he will go in to Trenton.

The Governor had several callers tonight and it is probable there will be some important conferences tomorrow with Democratic statesmen. He commended the action of the Democratic caucus on the wool schedule and said it was a step in the right direction.

From his observations in the West

he said he believed both Democrats and Republicans held party ties lightly. There was a trend in both strongly toward progressivism, he thought, and a demand for direct legislation as a means of getting the government back into the people's hands.

Of the South, Gov. Wilson with enthusiasm commented that the only trouble with the South was in keeping pace with it, owing to its rapid advancement.

A Charming Woman.

for a woman to be charming without

FLEES FROM NATIVE LAND

Once Powerful Mexicans Slip Away to Foreign Shores as Madero's Army Nears Capital—8,000 Men Close to Mexico City—Gen. Diaz Reaches Havana—Gen. Reyes Will Go to Capitol This Week.

San Antonio, Tex., June 3.—Jose Yves Limantour, former Minister of Finance of Mexico, and Guillermo de Land y Escadon, former governor of the federal district of Mexico, passed through here this afternoon en route to St. Louis. They will go to New York and Canada, probably leaving for Europe some time in the fall.

Neither of the refugees was averse to discussing conditions in Mexico. While disclaiming they are exiles, they let it be understood that at the present it was best that they leave Mexico. Both admitted the situation in Mexico now was uncertain, but they hoped to see matters right themselves and the elections conducted in a manner to insure continued peace.

"Mexico has just as great a future as ever," said former Minister Limantour, ex-Gov. Land y Escadon in the statement.

Ex-Gov. Land y said the conditions in the federal district were peaceful. He said former President Diaz and his family would return to the republic.

Madero's Army Near Capital.

Mexico City, June 6.—Under the command of M. Asunzolo, 8,000 men of the "Army of Liberation" are expected to arrive at the outskirts of the capital tomorrow. Ostensibly they are being brought here from Cuernavaca for the purpose of assisting the federalists in maintaining order upon the arrival of Francisco I. Madero, Jr., but if they had not this excuse, doubtless another would be found, for the troops in the South are determined to have a part of the festivities attended upon the coming of the ex-chief of the rebels.

This determination to bring them to the city was reached this afternoon after a conference between Alfredo Robles Dominguez, the military head of the revolutionary forces in the South, and President de la Barra. Word was sent to Asunzolo and at 10 o'clock the march to the capital was begun. They should arrive tomorrow. Instead of entering the capital immediately they will be quartered in Tlalpam and other outlying suburbs. The forces being moved are said to number 5,000 cavalry and 3,000 foot soldiers.

Limantour Off to France. Gen. Bernardo Reyes will not arrive in Mexico City until Thursday, not wishing to enter the capital until after Francisco I. Madero, Jr., who is due Wednesday. Reyes is due at Vera Cruz Monday. It is expected he will go at once to Orizaba and there spend the intervening three days.

This morning Rodolfo Reyes, son of the general accepted the post of sub-secretary of justice. The departure of Jose Yves Limantour, ex-Minister of Finance, appears to have been modeled after that of Gen. Diaz. He slipped away quietly Thursday night and the fact of his going became known here only today. He boarded his private car at Atzacapotzaco, a suburb. Accompanying him were his family and the former Governor of the federal district, Guillermo de Land y Escadon, who also was accompanied by his family. Their final destination is France.

On Sunday night, during the storm that passed over Brooklet, lightning struck the store of Mr. R. H. Fortunately there was no one in the store at the time the building was struck.

It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Mershon, of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and run down. For weak, sore lungs, obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hoarseness, la grippe, asthma, hay-fever or any throat or lung trouble it is supreme. 50c & $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by W. H. MASHERS ARE SENT TO THE WORKHOUSE.

New York, June 5.—A workhouse sentence was the unusual penalty for the male participants in a four street corner fight, imposed in the night court here last evening. "I intend to do everything in my power to put a stop to women being insulted on New York streets," declared the presiding magistrate.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold which settled in my back and kidneys and I was in great pain from my trouble. A friend recommended Foley Kidney Pills and I used two bottles of them and they have done me a world of good." W. H. Ellis Co.

This evening, anchoring off the customs house. The Ypiranga was quickly surrounded by a great fleet of tugs, launches and harbor boats bearing throngs of prominent Cubans and representatives of foreign countries, desirous of paying their respects to the distinguished visitor. Gen. Diaz, his wife and the members of his party were grouped on the captain's bridge as the ship entered, exchanging salutations with those on the flotilla.

The former president seemed to be in excellent health. He decided not to land in Havana. Foley Kidney Pills contain just the ingredients necessary to regulate the action of the kidneys and bladder. Try them yourself. W. H. Ellis Co.

PLOWING THE FIFTY-THIRD YEAR.

Editor Statesboro News:

I will say to the agricultural boys that I am not in the race to try to beat them farming, but am doing my own plowing. Fifty-three years ago my father made me plow, and he made five bushels of corn to the acre, and laid by in August. I have twenty acres in my farm this year, and this is the forty-third crop I have made for myself. I laid by one little patch of corn the twenty-fourth of May. I have twelve acres that is now tasseling. I am now ready to lay it by. Last year I sold one hundred bushels of corn at my crib door for one hundred dollars cash. This year my intention is to get an average profit of fifty dollars per acre on my little farm, and if I get plenty of rain my prospect is good. I am sixty-three years old the 28th of next August. There are nine of us in the family to support. I am selling corn now, and will be able to spare fifty dollars worth of bacon and lard. I am real feeble to plow, but I like it. Go ahead, boys, we have a noble county.

LUMBER YARDS SWEPT BY ELBERTON FLAMES.

Elberton, Ga., June 5.—The plant of the Elberton Planing Mills, together with loads of rough and dressed lumber, was destroyed by fire Saturday. The fire was discovered about 1:30 o'clock and burned furiously for two hours. Good work of the fire department confined the fire to the planing mill building, an old wooden structure, the lumber yards and kilns and the plant of the Sunny South Granite Works.

Several residences nearby caught on fire several times. Mrs. B. C. Peppers and her little baby, two days old, were moved from one of them, and is in a serious condition.

The burned district is about two acres in area along the side-tracks of the Southern and Seaboard Air Line railways. The losses are estimated as follows: Elberton Planing Mill, $15,000. Sunny South Granite Co., $3,000. Peter Berton, $300. No insurance was carried by any of the sufferers from the fire.

Chairman Corker and all the members of the committee are enthusiastic over the proposal of a round-the-state tour in which the participants shall reach Savannah for the big races in November.

This definition states the exact truth, based upon the experience of thousands of depositors throughout the world. WANTS CHANGE TO COM. GOVERNMENT

Atlanta, May 31.—The agitation for commission government for Atlanta is reaching a point where there is a prospect of results.

Atlanta talked about the commission form of government more than a year ago, and then dropped it like a hot brick just about the time the legislative session began.

A few months ago a well-known local dry goods firm began to use heavily of its advertising space in the city dailies in advocating a commission government for Atlanta. The firm spent thousands of dollars in printing editorials on this subject, in big advertising type, and without referring to anything it had for sale. It was a kind of advertising new to Atlanta, and it attracted attention not only here but in other sections of the country.

Now two of the Atlanta daily newspapers have come out editorially for a commission government, and it is believed the other will follow shortly, giving the proposal the backing of a united press.

There is considerable sentiment in Atlanta against it among some of the most prominent citizens, but there does not appear to be any question that, if put to a vote, it would carry overwhelmingly.

There is a certain political element which has more or less power, that doesn't want it, and that element holds its own in the City Council through which a proposed charter amendment providing for any new form of government would have to pass before submitted to the Legislature.

But it is probable a demand will be forthcoming in a few days that the question be submitted to the people, and it is not apparent how the politicians can get around submitting it. And if the people vote for it, it will have to go before the Legislature enactment.

WARNING TO RAILROAD MEN.

E. S. Bacon, 11 East St., Bath, Me., sends out this warning to railroaders: "A conductor on the railroad, my friend caused a chronic inflammation of the kidneys, and I was miserable and all played out. A friend advised Foley Kidney Pills and from the day I commenced taking them, I began to regain my strength. The inflammation cleared and I am far better than I have been for twenty years. The weakness and dizzy spells are a thing of the past and I highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills." At W. H. Ellis Co's.

BE "GOOD."

New York, June 2.—The American Tobacco Company will undertake in all good faith a readjustment of its affairs as directed by the United States Supreme Court, according to an official statement carefully prepared by officers of the company and given out by W. W. Fuller, the corporation's chief counsel.

"The Supreme Court in this case," reads the statement, "has said that the Sherman anti-trust law should be given an application more extensive than has been given in any other case. It has said that the American Tobacco Company is embraced within its terms. My clients, of course, will obey the law as now interpreted and will, in good faith, undertake the readjustment of their affairs under the direction of the Circuit Court of the Southern district of New York, to which court the Supreme Court has remitted the matter for direction."

Said Delaney Nicoll, who assisted in presenting the case to the Supreme Court, for the company: "It is probable that a general plan will be agreed upon for the conducting of the business as directed by the court. We shall prepare a plan which we shall consider undeniably agreeable to the court."

"This will require long planning and attention to detail and it will be long before the full proposition will have been worked out."

MRS. MCGILL BROKE DOWN

Gives the Real Facts in Regard to Her Case and Tells How She Suffered.

Jonesboro, Ark.—"I suffered a complete break down in health, some time ago," writes Mrs. A. McGill, from this place. "I was very weak and could not do any work. I tried different remedies, but they did me no good. One day, I got a bottle of Cardui. It did me so much good, I was surprised, and took some more."

Before I took Cardui, I had headache and backache, and sometimes I would cry for hours. Now I am over all that, and can do all kinds of housework. I think it is the greatest medicine on earth."

In the past fifty years, thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. McGill, to tell of the benefit received from Cardui. Such testimony, from earnest women, surely indicates the great value of this tonic remedy, for disease peculiar to women. Are you a sufferer? Yes? Cardui is the medicine you need. We urge you to try it.

PARDOON SYSTEM URGED BY GOV.

In order to give the state of Georgia some efficient method to examine the cases of prisoners petitioning for pardon and so that the prison commission may be relieved of the work in digging up the records, Governor Joseph M. Brown, so it is understood, will in his farewell message to the state legislature recommend the creation of the office of pardon official.

The pardon official may take the title of assistant attorney or any other title that may be deemed proper, and his duties will consist solely of examining all cases for pardon or commutation brought to the notice of the state and to bringing to the attention of the proper officials the cases which in his estimation are worthy of consideration.

In other words, the duties of the pardon official will be those now exercised by the prison commission and will remove from the commission a function never quite properly placed.

The volume of business has become so great in the office of the prison commission that for this body to devote its time to examining applications for pardon and commutation to any extent detracts from the efficiency of the organization.

Governor Brown has always held that any case for pardon or commutation should come to the state executive only after it had been thoroughly investigated, and he believes that the office of pardon official will be exactly what is needed to secure results in this direction.

It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." IN MEMORIAM

To Little Lesley Rushing.

Died at the home of his grandfather, the late Mr. John B. Rushing, 11 miles south of Statesboro, Ga., Bulloch county, May 16, 1911, Little William Lesley Rushing, aged 10 years, 11 months and 7 days.

The deceased was the oldest and only son of Mr. F. Norman Rushing and Mrs. Pinky DeLoach Rushing. They had recently moved to the late Mr. John Rushing's to care for their aged mother and little sister, who had just been bereaved of a loving husband and father.

Little Lesley was a ray of sunshine in the home, and there is a place made vacant that will long be left in the hearts of those that linger, and carried even down to the grave by loved ones who will so much miss him whom God saw fit in His infinite love to call to that eternal rest, there to sing praise and glorify His great and holy name forever.

He was in bed for 36 days with typhoid fever. Though his loving mother and dear little sister had recently recovered from very severe attacks of the same disease, he had seemed to realize from the time he was taken that death and eternal rest was his portion. He constantly asked for the Bible to be read, and requested the prayers of his dear, loving mother.

It was not only while confined to his death bed that he was a lover of the good things of the Bible, but before he could read but little he delighted in listening to the reading of the Word of God, and so attentive was he that at intervals he would ask for explanations. A good portion of his time was spent at his grandfather DeLoach's, where from a walking babe, he had delighted in staying. Of late years when there, when grandpa would enter the house the little fellow would be off in a moment and come back with grandpa's spectacles and Bible, and request that he read some for him. His last visit from home was to Grandfather DeLoach's only a few days before he taken his bed. At that time he had grandpa to read in Genesis, first chapter, the creation of heaven and earth, etc.

On the day before his death he requested his mother to read for him where the widow's son was raised from the dead by Elijah, found in 1st Kings, 17th chapter, beginning at the 17th verse, also where Elijah and Elisha were parted asunder by the chariot and horses of fire, and Elijah went up into heaven by a whirlwind, found in 2nd Kings, 2nd chapter, from 1st to 12th verse.

He did not seem to suffer but very little, when questioned as to how he was feeling, the response invariably came back: "I feel all right."

He expressed much love for his dear mother, frequently saying: "Mamma, I love you so much and want to live here with you and papa and little sister." He would talk of all his people and friends and want to see them, expressing love and gratitude for them all.

On the afternoon of his death it seemed as though he was doing very well, and his loving mother had sought rest on a bed in the sick room, and asked that she be shown something that would give her increased hope of his recovery, but instead she saw him climbing a falden ladder, and when he had ascended almost to the top, he called back and said: "I will soon be in heaven, and then I will sing and play forever."

He was cared for untiringly by his dear parents, assisted by friends, and for the last two weeks assisted by Miss Carrie Johnson, a trained nurse, who gained much of his love and affection. All that was in human power was wrought, yet medical skill is as naught when the Dear

Savior beckons come to that eternal shore.

His last words on earth were: "Mamma, I love you so much. Send for the doctor and let him tell you that I am going." And his little voice was stilled, but for two hours or more he lay with a beaming smile upon his face.

The physician came and administered, but there was a Most High Physician abiding near, and in just a few moments, at the quiet and calm hour of 8:45 p. m., with a smile upon his lips, his spirit passed peacefully over the river of death, into that great beyond, where all is love.

He leaves to mourn his loss, besides many, many dear kindred whose heart was wrapped in love for him whom God saw fit to call; also a grateful father, to call; also a grateful father, and a very dear little sister.

But why should we weep when we feel that he has breathed his life out sweetly in Jesus, and death is but a drowsy.

So live that when thy summons come to join

The innumerable caravan which moves

To that mysterious realm where each shall take

His chamber in the silent halls of death.

Thou go not like the quarry slave at night,

Scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothed

By an unflinching trust approach thy grave

Like one that wraps the drapery of his couch

About him and lies down to pleasant dreams.

He answered at the angel's call,

With a smile upon his face,

And a look of love that lingers yet,

That time cannot displace.

A heart that lived in love—

When God summoned his soul

To the realms of joy above.

Consign him to rest within the tomb,

Such lives should leave no trace of gloom.

Let nature guard his peaceful sleep,

And stars on high their vigils keep.

We feel the essence of his breath,

The urn may crumble, the flower be dead,

But character its luster will shed.

Sleep on dear son, to us your life

Is like a brilliant crown.

Resplendent as the heavenly stars

That nightly twinkle down.

Your memory will be ever dear,

And we will think of you

As one who gave life

To all that's good and pure and true.

Some may think we'll soon forget thee

And our wounded hearts be healed;

But they little know the sorrow

That is within our hearts concealed.

Forget thee? O, when life shall cease

To thrill this heart of mine;

And not till then shall I forget

One look or tone of thine.

CONVENTION DATE TO NAME PRESIDENT.

Madero Said to Be Certain of Nomination by Party—Vice President Is Not Yet Decided On.

Mexico City, June 9.—Within 15 days a general convention of delegates from all parts of the country representing the political party which has emanated from the revolution will be called here to nominate candidates for president and vice president president to the elections to be held October 8, next.

Juan Sanchez Azcona, private secretary to Francisco I. Madero, announced today that he probably would resign that position within the next few days to direct arrangements for the convention and manage the political campaign that will follow. He declared that unquestionably Madero would be nominated for the presidency, but he was uncertain as to who would be the choice for vice president.

Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez, at present minister of public instruction, was Madero's running mate in the elections last June, out of which the revolutionary quarrel grew, and so far it generally has been taken for granted that he again would be the candidate.

SMITH LISTENING FOR SENATE CALL

Governor Elect in a Receptive Mood, So Say His Friends.

Reported He Has Told Some Supporters He Would Be Willing to Take Senate Place. Battle Royal for Governor Should Be Elected.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

When the legislature, which convenes on June 28, begins itself with the election of a United States senator to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Clay, which is now held by appointment by Senator Joseph M. Terrell, Governor-elect Hoke Smith will be in a receptive attitude, according to statements made by his governor's friends and which appear to bear the label of authenticity.

For quite a while the belief has prevailed in most sections of the state that Governor Smith, while possibly not avowedly a candidate for the United States senate, would nevertheless accept that position if it was conferred upon him by the legislature.

Has Decided to Accept.

According to statements made Saturday by friends of the governor-elect, who claim to be in close touch with the situation, Governor Smith is confident that he can be elected to the senate by a good majority, and having reached that conclusion, has also decided to accept, and it is stated that he has said as much to some of those with whom he has discussed the question.

Governor Smith has made no public statement of his views or his intentions and has declined to discuss the senatorial situation when approached by representatives of the newspapers.

From every section of the state, however, reports come in that the general understanding is that the governor-elect is in the race for the senate; that he believes he can be elected; that he will accept the place if it is offered him and that his supporters in the legislature are marshaling their forces to elect him if they can.

Governor Smith believes he has a majority in both houses of the legislature," said a well-known supporter of the governor Saturday, "and he is convinced that he can be elected to the United States senate. And if he is elected he will serve."

Say Terrell Has Majority.

On the other hand supporters of Senator Terrell assert with much confidence that the senator has a majority in the legislature and are confident that he will be elected to fill out the term which he was appointed to fill by Governor Brown following the death of Senator Clay.

Senator Terrell is now in Washington, but it is stated that he will arrive in Atlanta within the next few days and will open headquarters at the Kimball house and will have personal charge of his campaign before the legislature.

S. G. McLendon, former chairman of the railroad commission, is also in the race for the senate, and is conducting an active campaign in the interest of his candidacy.

While Senator Terrell and Mr. McLendon are the only announced candidates for the senatorship, various other names have been mentioned in this connection, but none have as yet announced for the place. It is understood they are awaiting developments and it is further understood that in so far as a few of the probable candidates are concerned their announcement for the senatorship is contingent upon a positive announcement from Gov. Smith that he would not be a candidate for the position and would not accept it should it be offered him.

Since the governor-elect has made no such announcement, the political prospects of a number of prospective candidates for the senate remain considerably muddled up.

Battle Royal for Governor.

Should it develop that Governor Smith's friends are correct in their poll of the legislature and should he be elected to the senate and resign the office of governor there promises to be a battle royal for the job which his resignation will make vacant.

In anticipation of such a contingency there are already a number of prospective candidates feeling the pulse of the people and there will probably be a half-dozen in the race should there arise a vacancy in the gubernatorial office.

It is practically a foregone conclusion that Thomas G. Hudson, commissioner of agriculture, will be a candidate and his friends are already asserting with much positivity that he will be elected.

Judge Richard B. Russell, of the court of appeals, is also conceded to be a candidate should the opportunity arise.

Dr. L. G. Hardeman, of Jackson county, is also said to have under consideration the question of entering the race.

It has been reported that Governor Brown would also be a candidate for the office should there be a vacancy and some of his friends have informed him that they intend to put him in the race whether he wishes to run or not.

John M. Slater, of Fulton county, president of the senate, is also a prospective candidate should the occasion arise for an election to fill the governor's office. If Governor Smith is elected to the senate Senator Slater, by virtue of his office as president of the senate, to which he will undoubtedly be elected, would assume the office and would be required by law to call an election within 60 days to fill the vacancy.

But whatever aspect the senatorial situation may assume, as the time for the legislative session approaches, it is a very live question and is the topic of conversation where two or more politicians are gathered together.

lecture by Richmond P. Hobson. "Mr. Hobson's talk Friday night was the opening gun of our campaign," said Dr. Broughton to a reporter for the Georgian Saturday. "About six weeks ago we learned that the liquor people were sending lobbyists to the state and were preparing to spend money to defeat the present prohibition law and to pass a local option bill."

"After investigating the matter thoroughly and getting hold of some of their literature which they had sent to legislators of whom they were certain, but who turned against them, we decided ten days ago to fight, as they were trying to take away from us what we had."

"Secretly, but actively, we have worked for these ten days, during which time we have interviewed legislators and senators, and we are now convinced that we win easily, especially from the rural districts, which are almost unanimously in favor of the prohibition of the sale of so-called 'near-beer.'"

"We have, therefore, had a bill prepared for these ten days, during which time we have interviewed legislators and senators, and we are now convinced that we win easily, especially from the rural districts, which are almost unanimously in favor of the prohibition of the sale of so-called 'near-beer.'"

"We are going to pass the bill if Augusta, Macon and Savannah do not like it they can pack up their things and move out of Georgia and create a state of their own."

The Great Commoner Here

The people of our city and county feel highly honored to have had as our guest for one night Hon. Williams Jennings Bryan of Nebraska. And more, to have heard the great orator and statesman and editor of world wide fame deliver his priceless lecture. It was a rare treat indeed to the great crowd who paid a silver dollar for the privilege Tuesday evening.

To have the one man in America whose command of the Democracy of these United States led the party to three times choose him as the nominee for President, is an opportunity of a century. But such was our privilege. After speaking to a vast throng at Claxton Tuesday Mr. Bryan was driven in an automobile to Statesboro by Dr. R. J. Kennedy, who with Hon. J. A. Brannen and Hon. J. G. Blitch, went as a committee to escort the distinguished gentleman to Statesboro.

No living American has traveled more widely and been more honored by kings and potentates than has W. J. Bryan. In his tour of the world Mr. Bryan's eloquence was sought far and wide. He was banqueted and honored by the kings and queens of earth as he entered their respective countries. Truly, we had as our guest and heard one of the foremost men in the history of the world, when we had Bryan.

And the one telling feature of Mr. Bryan's life is the great stress he places upon the higher ideals of life. Christianity and character, for these Mr. Bryan stands unequivocally. For men of such renown and ability to hold up such lessons for mankind, means much for our country. This is a most powerful sermon twice each day, for he often speaks twice a day.

SEES HIS WIFE KILLED AND CHILDREN INJURED.

Family of J. H. Wayland, Editor of "Appeal to Reason," in Bad Automobile Accident.

Pittsburg, Kans., June 9.—J. H. Wayland, editor of "The Appeal to Reason," published at Girard, Kans., saw his wife killed today while they were motoring with their two children. The car swerved and crashed into a telephone pole. Mrs. Wayland was hurled from the car, striking the pole. She was instantly killed. Mr. Wayland and the children were uninjured.

Sent by Rejected Lover. Henry Arnold, Atlanta, Shoots Miss McEwen and Himself.

Atlanta, June 5.—Rejected by the girl he loved, Henry Arnold tonight shot and painfully wounded Miss Claude McEwen, and then turned his gun on himself inflicting a probably fatal wound.

The injuries the girl received, while painful, are no considered serious. The first bullet striking the steel in her corset.

Tonight he asked her to go to the theater with him, and when she refused the shooting followed at Means and Marietta streets.

Wins Fight for Life.

It was a long and bloody battle for the life that was waged by James B. Merriam of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and run down. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." For weeks, coughs, asthma, hay-fever or any throat or lung trouble is cured. 50c & $1.00. Trial bottles free. Guaranteed by W. H. Ellis Co.

PROPOSES TO ERECT A MONUMENT TO KU KLUX.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 5.—Offering $25 as a nucleus, Rev. W. E. Thompson, pastor of the Centenary church, of this city, in an address delivered at the annual reunion of the John B. Gordon camp of Confederate Veterans at Lafayette, Ga., inaugurated a national campaign for the acquisition of a fund to erect a monument to the Ku Klux Klan.

"Were it in my power," said he, "I would erect a monument to the Ku Klux Klan that would pierce the blue vaults of Heaven. It was those staunch men, tried and true upon many a hard fought battle field, that in the face of imposing odds threw themselves in the yawning breach and saved Anglo-Saxon supremacy for the South. Too much praise can not be given these brave men."

ASBESTOS MINES WILL BE OPENED.

North Troy, Vermont, June 7.—The opening of the Oxford Mountain Railway, a road about 50 miles long, running from this town to Windsor Falls, Quebec, is expected to result in the development of a big field of asbestos mines along the Missisquoi valley in the northern part of Vermont. The mines are of the same drift as the Canadian asbestos mines, but have not been worked properly heretofore, owing to their great distance from a railway line.

The uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has made it a favorite everywhere. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all dealers.

TO TEST EXPLOSIVES AS IN COAL MINES.

Remarkable Series of Experiments Will Be Conducted by Mines Bureau.

Pittsburg, June 7.—Plans have been perfected for a remarkable series of mine tests by experts affiliated with the United States testing station of the bureau of mines in this city. The experiments will be made in a mine recently purchased by the government at Bruston, Pa.

Entries 620 feet in length have been tunneled and a steel observation gallery has been erected in the mine. A coal trolley and an incline have been completed and a correct lining of the entries is under construction.

Within a few days coal dust explosions will be made under conditions where the force of the explosions can always be controlled. The force of these explosions will record the time of travel of the explosive wave. It is proposed also to investigate the explosibility of coal dust in pure air and to take tests with small percentages of "fire damp" in the air. Tests for limiting and preventing explosions will be made.

DECREES DEATH FOR "LIBERALS"

Report of Democratic Members of Ways and Means Committee Wool Tariff Submitted to House.

PRESIDENT EVADED FULL RESPONSIBILITY.

Report Deals at Length With Administration's Attitude in Failure to Furnish Data Concerning the Tariffs.

Washington, June 6.—Sharply criticizing President Taft, the report of the Underwood wool bill was submitted to the house today by the Democratic members of the ways and means committee.

Quoting President Taft's addresses after the passage of the Payne-Aldrich bill, in which he declared that "the woolen schedule is indefensible, and I propose to say so," the report says:

"Had the president made these public admissions earlier, while the tariff of 1909 was under discussion by congress, his declaration would have been of real service to the people, and would have enabled them to protest against the betrayal of the public welfare to prevent greed."

The report continues: "The president's silence at that time, and his approval of the act of 1909 makes it impossible for him to evade his full share of responsibility for the failure of revision which he now admits."

The report deals at some length with the attitude of the administration in not communicating to congress data on the "steel trust" and other industries now being investigated and the failure of the tariff board to communicate data on the woolen industry.

"The position of the tariff board appears to be," says the report, "that they, in conference with and under the sole control of the president, shall be the sole judges of what part of the data they collect may be likely to be of service for purposes of legislation; and this situation must be considered with reference to the viewpoint of the president concerning tariff legislation."

"It is, therefore, not impossible that there may be some such delay in the communication to the congress of statistical information contained by the tariff board concerning wool and woolen goods, as there has been in communicating to congress on making public the data by the bureau of corporations concerning investigations of the steel and other industries."

The report maintains that any further delay in the revision of the wool and woolen schedule would be objectionable to the public. In explaining the determination of the committee not to put raw wool on the free list, but to reduce the present duty to 20 percent ad valorem, the committee insists, the Democratic caucus did, that the duty "is not to be construed as an abandonment of any Democratic policy."

"The present situation of the treasury," the report states, "requires that the revenue from customs duties in the immediate future further be maintained as approximately the total of the fiscal year 1910."

All the Democratic members of the ways and means committee, with the exception of Francis Burton Harrison, of New York, signed the report.

The minority report is signed by Representatives Payne, Dazell, Needham and Longworth.

"For purely political reasons," it says "this cold blooded measure is brought forward. If it could become a law it would slaughter sheep as in 1894 and close the mills much more univer-

HEROIC DEEDS DONE WHEN STEAMER SINKS AT SEA.

Boats Loaded With Women and Children While Men Refuse to Crowd Them.

New York, June 7.—Some details of the sinking of the steamship Tabago off the coast of Panama a fortnight ago have just reached this city. More than a score of the passengers and crew lost their lives. Eighty were saved. The captain, an Englishman named Campbell, who was the last man to leave the ship alive, and the pilot, Matthews, are under arrest in Panama City.

According to statements made here there were but three life preservers on the craft. As the boat was sinking, the second engineer, Perivaneh, and a Cuban manufacturer, Cregore, though unable to swim, stated that they would not crowd the already heavily taxed life boats. When there was not a woman or child left on the ship, and not another human being could be carried in the life boats, they calmly lighted cigars and smoked until the Tabago settled. The body of neither could be found.

A herd of steers stampeded from the hold, when the vessel struck, and smashed a life boat which was just being lowered. Nearly every person in the boat was drowned, and many, as they fell, were crushed under the animals. Two passengers, however, found the cattle a godsend and rode ashore on the backs of bullocks.

FOUR DEAD IN CHICAGO.

Hundred Mark Passed in Several Cities. Relief On the Way.

Washington, June 10.—There was scorching weather in the West today, extending eastward through Pennsylvania and the Atlantic states. Throughout the Mississippi Valley temperatures ranged from 90 to 100. Fort Smith, Ark., held the day's record with 102 degrees, while Washington's 92 was the brought even further down by showers.

Relief is promised by the weather bureau only to the Ohio Valley and lower regions where the already dropping temperatures are expected to be brought even further down by showers.

Indications are that there will be practically no change elsewhere though it may be slightly warmer in the Southeast and East.

WILL CLOSE MILLS IN SOUTH CAROLINA TO CURTAIL OUTPUT.

Manufacturers' Association to Limit Production for Two Weeks in July and August Spindles Idle. Staple Improvement Is Strongly Endorsed.

Asheville, N. C., June 10.—The decision to bring about a curtailment of output by the closing of every mill in South Carolina for two weeks in July and August of this year was the feature of yesterday's session of the South Carolina Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

The reports received showed that at least 25 per cent of the spindles in South Carolina are now idle, and have been for some time.

Addresses were made by D. R. Baker, of Hartsville, S. C.; I. W. Williams, of Columbia, and E. J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture for South Carolina, all of whom outlined the steps taken for the improvement of the staple of cotton, and demonstrated the work done by the United States government along this line. The association expressed its sympathy with the work and voted a contribution to further it.

The following officers were elected: President, E. A. Synth, Greenville, S. C.; Secretary, C. S. Manning, Greenville; Treasurer, J. A. Brook, Anderson, S. C.

The morning and afternoon sessions, adjournment being taken at the latter, were held behind closed doors and newspaper representatives were excluded.

Meet Us Half-Way For Better Shoes

The More Men that Buy the Beacon Shoe The Bigger the Beacon Bargain Grows

There is just one dealer in this city who can sell you a better shoe for less money than anybody else. He is the man who sells

BEACON SHOES

$3.00 and $3.50

Beacon Shoes contain more real shoe-quality for the price than any other shoes on foot of earth. By "shoe-quality" we mean Fit, Style, Wear and Comfort. Beacon Shoes are made over a last modeled after a perfect human foot—this gives them Fit and Comfort.

They are Union Made by the famous Goodyear Welt process—this gives them Style and Wear.

It would be hard for Skill, Leather and Machinery to produce a more graceful, practical or serviceable shoe than the Beacon, no matter how many extra dollars were added to its price.

If you think it worth while to wear better, more satisfactory shoes, and save a good round sum on every pair, come to Our Store and look at a pair of Beacon Shoes. You will be convinced, even before you try them on.

Indicative of the aggressive nature of road-building sentiment is a statement recently made The Constitution's scouting party near Jonesboro by Gus Morrow. There is a bad stretch of road in Clayton county between Jonesboro and the Fulton county line. The commissioners have been slow to redeem it, whereupon Mr. Morrow told members of The Constitution's party that the particular link would be redeemed by private subscription.

The county commissioners should not feel particularly pleasant over this development. But its effect will not have been wasted, if it brings them to a closer realization of community sentiment with regard to good roads.

Almost at the same time Mr. Morrow was voicing his very constructive "insurgency," citizens of Dalton, in Georgia, and Chattanooga, in Tennessee, were jointly subscribing to a fund to complete the government pike between these places.

A state means business when its citizens go down in their pockets for improvements the community itself ought to provide. That is what is happening all over Georgia.

The spectacle ought to be an inspiration to that class of individuals who, being fully able to help, stand back, let others bear their share of the burden—but who never fail to report, hat in hand, when dividend time rolls around.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold which settled in my back and kidneys and I was in great pain from my kidney trouble. A friend recommended to me Foley's Kidney Pills and I used two bottles of them and they have done me a world of good." W. H. Ellis Co.

Notice.

I wish to advise those having Sea Island cotton on hand that I will be away from July 1st, and I will not be in the market. I would also advise those having cotton on hand to either put it on the market before that time or carry it over until next season. If you desire to sell I will do the best I can for you, or will handle it for your account and assist you in any way I can to dispose of it to the best advantage. My reason for calling your attention to this matter is because if you are going to sell, in my opinion, it will be to your interest to do so before July 1st, when the market is virtually closed and the buyers leave Savannah.

This definition states the exact truth, based upon the experience of thousands of depositors throughout the world. While you are forming this exceptionally good habit, you are accumulating a fund for future use. Life is worth living when you have money in bank—it gets monotonous when you are broke.

COLLEGE NEARING CRISIS IN HISTORY

"State Must Rally to Financial Support of the Institution," Says President Soule—Legislature Will Be Asked for Bigger Appropriation, to Hold Faculty and Continue Successful Work.

Atlanta, June 19.—That the Georgia College of Agriculture is today in need of more funds, and that it is losing some of its best men because of a lack of funds, is the statement made by Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the college, in Atlanta, Friday. Dr. Soule called at the capitol to talk with some of the state house officials about conditions at the college. He discussed with them the need for increased appropriation, and declared that the successful work that the college has been doing can hardly continue unless the state rallies to the support of the institution.

Dr. Soule pointed out that within the last 12 months 7 of the college's ablest professors have left the faculty because they were offered more remunerative positions elsewhere. "The loss of these instructors has crippled us considerably," he said. "We must have more money from the state to keep our men with us and to continue the work that the college has been doing in training the farmers and farmers' sons of Georgia. We will ask the approaching legislature for $50,000 for extension work, and we must have $75,000 for maintenance. Unless we secure more help from the legislature, the institution will undoubtedly disintegrate."

A pamphlet has been prepared, setting forth some phases of the work at the college and stressing its emphatic advantages. This pamphlet is about to be given a wide distribution, in order that the state and its lawmakers may have opportunity to familiarize themselves with the work being done at the college before the crisis in the latter's fate comes up for settlement one way or the other.

This pamphlet sets forth that the courses at the college serve the interest of every class of citizens who are interested in agricultural development—that these courses provide a liberal education leavened with fundamental scientific training and technical knowledge.

"Each trained man in agriculture is worth $50,000 to the state," is one of the forceful points in the argument of the pamphlet. The plan of instruction includes the class room, the laboratory, and the fields of the college farm. It says that the need for educational leaders in agriculture is apparent everywhere.

"Greater progress has been made in developing the college of agriculture in Georgia in three years than has been made in some other states in 15 years. The college is entitled to a part of the credit for raising Georgia from tenth to fourteenth place in agricultural production."

The pamphlet tells of the increasing attendance at the college and the equipment and facilities for training that are provided there, the extension teaching and demonstration work, the enviable record of the extension work in reaching over 500,000 people in person, of Georgia's leading position in extension work (reaching the farmer at his own home), some concrete illustrations of the value of the service that the college is rendering the boll weevil's coming, and preparations that must be made for it; the needs of the college; the work proposed; the essential necessity for a soil survey; the necessity for stimulating livestock production, and it concludes with this paragraph: "The promotion of the activities of the college through student instruction at Athens, and through extension activities, means increasing the efficiency of the individual farmer, doubling his earning capacity, and establishing a permanent system of agriculture. Can the state afford to neglect the redirection of its most fundamental industry—agriculture?"

Wins Fight for Life.
It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Mershon, of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and run down. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." For weak, sore lungs, obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hoarseness, la grippe, asthma, hay-fever or any throat or lung trouble its supreme. 50c & $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by W. H. Ellis Co.

Your Neighbor's Experience.
How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. Mrs. E. G. Whitting, 360 Willow St., Akron, O., says: "For some time I had a very serious case of kidney trouble and I suffered with backaches and dizzy headaches. I had specks floating before my eyes and I felt tired out and miserable. I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised and got a bottle and took them according to directions and results showed almost at once. The pain and dizzy headaches left me, my eyesight became clear and today I can say I am a well woman thanks to Foley Kidney Pills." W. H. Ellis Co.

LIQUOR BILLS ARE VETOED BY GILCHRIST.

Tallahassee, Fla., June 12.—Governor Gilchrist today vetoed three drastic liquor regulation bills recently passed by the Florida legislature and at the same time approved two bills providing for better prosecution of blind tigers by making federal revenue licenses prima facie evidence. The other bill approved was concerning local option elections.

The anti-screen bill, which provides that saloons shall be divested of all furniture except the bar, and that to be plainly visible from the street, was vetoed on account of flaws in legislative construction. The 9 o'clock closing law was also vetoed, as was the bill prohibiting the solicitation for liquor houses in dry counties, the governor holding in the latter case that newspapers carrying liquor advertisements would be barred in dry counties.

Friday (today) the Southern Express Co. moved into one of the buildings on West Main street.

We understand that they will be only temporary quarters, as we are informed that they will occupy the corner building now being erected by W. S. Prentiss on East Main street, and no doubt they will move there as soon as that is completed.

This is another one of Statesboro's new buildings under construction that will give more business room to our little city. This will give the patrons of this place better express service when they get located.

POSTOFFICE TO MOVE JULY 15.

July 15th the Post Office will be at Their New Home on South Main Street.

New fixtures will be installed and everything arranged more conveniently, and when moved and settled down will give Statesboro one of the best equipped post offices in South Georgia.

This is quite a boost for Statesboro, as their old quarters were too small for the amount of business transacted, so after July 15 Postmaster W. H. Blitch will be at home to the public on South Main street.

TO ERECT NEW BRICK BUILDING.

First Broken This Week for New Two Story Brick Building on West Main Street.

This week the Simmons Co. broke dirt for the erection of a two story brick building on West Main street. This will be one of the nicest buildings in Statesboro when completed and will be occupied by the Simmons Co's big department store. The store now occupied by this concern will be occupied by a mercantile concern.

This is another advancing step taken by Statesboro capital and marks the advancement of Statesboro and Bulloch county.

The morning hours before Tuesday's session was enlivened by the delegates of the Fitzgerald band, who readily proved their contention that they were one of the best bands in the state. Stationed on one of the wide porches of one of the hotels, the band rendered a breakfast concert that caused waiters to do all sorts of cake-walk and contortions as they carried the big and heavily loaded trays of eatables that almost made one forget that there was to be any convention.

"Turkey in the Straw, Ha! Ha! Ha!" "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "My Old Kentucky Home," and many other old-time airs were played while the visitors breakfasted.

Among the hospitable folk who endeavored to make the farmers' stay the visit of their lives was Isidore Gelders, the managing editor of the Fitzgerald Leader. With his automobile at the disposal of all, he piloted them over his good roads of Ben Hill county, of which all the people are so proud.

He was everywhere talking up Ben Hill county, and most of all giving old and new friends a happy time.

An intermittent rain which fell Tuesday morning made Fitzgerald as pleasant as the seashore. The sun was shining through a lot of rain, which seems different from the rains of other sections of the state, as it is a drizzle that dries on clothing quickly, and as one delegate said, "did not seem to be wet water at all."

The hard, sandy soil also dries quickly after a rain.

It was largely through the efforts of C. A. Newcomer, of Fitzgerald, that this enterprising city secured this convention of the Georgia division. He conceived the idea and wasted no effort or time to have the convention come to Fitzgerald. The visitors all pledge their word that he is even showing them a better time than he had promised.

The badges that are being worn by the visitors are the most tasteful that has marked any convention for a number of years. Printed in white letters on blue ribbon, the badges and their inscription can be seen for some distance and are admired by the local entertainment committee.

The white badges worn by the every citizen is a member of this committee. All of them do not wear to white badges, but every one of them is united in giving the visitors the best the town has.

The little boy regarded the pictures of the harem skirt with startling eyeballs. "Does it mean that I am to have twice as many trousers cut down for me?" he shrieked.

"Madam, what ails the child?" asked the stern person in the seat opposite the squalling baby. "Aw, let the woman alone," said one of two 'rah' rahs who sat back, "that's its class yell."—Buffalo Express.

TO CROSS OCEAN IN THREE DAYS

Liverpool to Labrador. English Syndicate Plans New Water and Land Lines.

From New York to Liverpool by rail in three days, beating the record of the Lusitania by twenty-four hours, is one of the possibilities of the next few years.

In a report just made to the Department of Commerce and Labor by Consul Willrich, of Quebec, concerning this important matter, he says:

"The construction of a railway from Quebec to a point on Cape Sir Charles on the Labrador coast, connecting there with a proposed new line of steamships of the Lusitania type, to run between Cape Sir Charles and Liverpool and with a ferry across the Strait of New Foundland, is a project now under way in which a number of prominent Canadian and English capitalists are interested. The representatives of a large and influential English syndicate which has a charter to build a railway in the direction of Cape Sir Charles has lately been in Montreal and got understood to have acquired rights in a railway running out of Quebec in which leading Canadian capitalists are interested. The syndicate's representatives lately left for New York, where they had a conference with Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland, who is taking great interest in the project.

"The line is in New York at the present time," said Sir Edward Morris, who was on his way to attend the coronation in London, "the representatives of a large and influential English syndicate who have acquired rights to a railway running out of Quebec and who have a charter to build a railway in the direction of Cape Sir Charles. I believe the syndicate's proposal will be favorably considered by both the Quebec and Newfoundland governments, and I see no reason in the world why such a route should not be constructed and operated in connection with fast steamships between Sir Charles and Liverpool and with a ferry at that point being about seven miles.

"This route," he says, "is the shortest passage across the Atlantic and with ships of the Lusitania type the voyage from land to land could be accomplished with only three nights at sea. The route would be open all the year; occasional drift and floating ice would be met with, but nothing to obstruct properly built and equipped steamships. From Cape Sir Charles to Quebec is about 1,000 miles, and with a line of standard gauge this could be covered at 60 miles an hour, which means that passengers could be landed in Lower Canada and in the United States 24 hours earlier than by the Lusitania to New York today. This can readily be seen when it is explained that the ocean passage would be 1,000 miles shorter and that 1,000 land miles would be covered at 60 miles would be covered at 60 times as fast as the Lusitania and the Mauretania can travel."

Wins Fight for Life.

It was a long and bloody battle for the life that was waged by James B. Mershon, of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and run down. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." For weak, sore lungs, obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hoarseness, la grippe, asthma, hay-fever or any throat or lung trouble its supreme. 50c & $1.00. Trial bottle free Guaranteed by W. H. I had specks floating before my eyes and I felt tired out and miserable. I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised and got a bottle and took them according to directions and results showed almost at once. IN MEMORIAM TO JEFF D. LANIER.

Died at his home 5 miles west of Statesboro, Ga., Raleigh county, May the 20, 1911, Jeff D. Lanier, aged 49 years, 9 months and 18 days.

He was stricken with paralysis while attending superior court in Statesboro, Ga., on Oct. 25, 1909, and never did recover only to get around a little on crutches, and on May 19th, 1911, he was stricken on the second time and it proved to be fatal.

He was a ray of sunshine in his home, and there is a place vacant that can never be filled and a vacant place in the hearts of those that linger, and carried even down to the grave by loved ones who will so much miss him whom God saw fit in His infinite love to call to that eternal rest, there to sing praise and glory. His great and holy name forever. On the morning before he was stricken in the afternoon he seemed to be getting along as good as he usually did, and after dinner he went in and lay down to take his afternoon sleep and when he awoke, he wanted to get up, and when he raised up from the bed he was stricken.

He was cured for untiringly by his loving and faithful wife. All that was in human power was brought, yet medical skill is as naught when the dear Savior beckons come to that eternal shore. His last words on earth were, "Good-bye to all, I am gone," and his voice was stilled. But for 22 hours he lay struggling for breath. Just at the quiet and calm hour of 2:20 p. m., with a smile upon his lips, his spirit passed peacefully over the river of death, into that great beyond where all is love.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, three sons, three sisters, Mrs. Sallie Hart, Mrs. Missouri Drew, and Mrs. Maggie Ferguson, and one brother, Mr. L. R. Lanier, besides many dear friends whose hearts were wrapped in love for him whom God saw fit to call.

But why should we weep when we feel that he has breathed his life out sweetly in Jesus, and death is only a dream.

We shall meet, but we shall miss him.

There will be one vacant chair. We shall linger to express him. While we breathe our evening prayer.

When a year ago we gathered, Joy was in his said his eye, But a golden cord is covered And our hopes in ruin lie.

True they tell us wreaths of glory Evermore will deck his brow, But still soothes the anguish only Sweeping o'er our heartstrings now.

Sleep today, oh early fallen, In thy green and narrow bed, Dirges from the pine and cypress Mingle with the tears we shed.

Written by his loving niece, NORA B. DREW, Metter, Ga., June 14, 1911.

THE NEWS UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT.

After many years under the management of J. H. Miller, the News makes its appearance this week under the management of J. P. Rudasill. At a meeting of the stockholders Wednesday night Mr. Miller tendered his resignation and J. P. Rudasill was elected to fill his place. It is useless to tell how Mr. Miller has conducted the News, as probably every citizen of this county knows Mr. Miller and how he has striven to build the News up to the standard it now holds and how he has labored with the good people of Bulloch county.

While Mr. Rudasill is a stranger to the people of Bulloch county, he is a young man but has had several years experience in the newspaper business and comes from Canton, Ga., at which place he was editor of the Canton Advance, probably the oldest weekly paper in the state, besides considerable experience at other places. He was also formerly editor of the Coffee County News, at Douglas, Ga. We would be glad for the citizens of Statesboro and Bulloch county to meet Mr. Rudasill. The News extends a welcome hand to all to give us a call. Let us have your news.

With this issue of the News I become editor, and hereafter will endeavor to fill the editor's chair of the News which has been so faithfully done by Mr. Miller. I came among you as a stranger, but trust we will not be strangers long, as it is my desire to meet and live among the good people of this county, also ask your hearty co-operation and your forgiveness for all short comings that I may make.

Although a young man in age I have had considerable experience in the newspaper field and will devote my best efforts to improve each issue of the News, and build up a paper that will not only be one of the best papers in Georgia, but the best, and I know that this is impossible unless I have the support of all Bulloch county.

I have investigated several of the leading towns of South Georgia in search of a location where a young man may settle, but have not found a town in all South Georgia that offers a bright future like Statesboro. I feel that in casting anchor among you I have located among the best people of Georgia, people that like to see a young man build himself up to a high standard.

While Statesboro has grown in the last few years I feel that its growth in the next few years will far exceed that of the past. In all my outlook for a location I have not seen as much building going on as I have here in Statesboro, the growth is remarkable, and I wish to grow and be with the good people of Statesboro and Bulloch county.

With this in view, and again asking your hearty support, I lay off my North Georgia coat and humbly bow to South Georgia and Statesboro, and with God as my guide I trust to be one among you.

VALEDICTORY.

With this issue, after a continuous service of nearly twenty years, my connection with the Statesboro News comes to an end. In giving to the patrons of the paper my parting words, I desire to thank them for the warm support they have given me as its head for all these years. No matter where my lot may be cast in the future I will always cherish the memory of the hundreds of friends I leave in Bulloch county.

In leaving the service of the paper I want to say that I have done the best I could under the circumstances, and though this may have been imperfect, yet it was my best.

I take pleasure in commending to you Mr. J. P. Rudasill, my successor. Mr. Rudasill is a young man of ability and has had considerable newspaper experience for a man of his age. You, of course, will have to measure him by the result of his efforts.

Thanking you again for your many acts of friendship and support I am, sincerely yours,
J. R. MILLER.

Not over 200 can find rooms in the dormitory even after the new building is complete. The progress of the school is the marvel of Georgia educators.

NEW TEACHERS ELECTED TO FILL VACANCIES.

Two New Teachers Elected for Coming Year at Public School.

The Board of Education last week elected Miss Maude McDau, of Lumpkin, Ga., to teach the 4th grade of the public school. Miss McDau comes highly recommended from Lumpkin, and we feel that Statesboro is fortunate to secure the services of such talent as she.

Miss Louise Carmichael, of Tennille was also elected to teach the third grade. Miss Carmichael will no doubt prove capable of holding the position to the highest esteem of all the town as she is an experienced teacher with many years, and we are to be congratulated on having her with us.

This completes the faculty for the coming year, and from present outlooks Statesboro will have one of the most successful school years in her history, as every teacher elected is capable of the position assigned them.

This should encourage the patrons of the school to have their children punctual in attendance as well as studies.

BIG BARBECUE AND GOOD ROADS MEETING TO BE HELD THURSDAY.

ERNEST BRAGG DROWNED NEAR

Rocky Ford Saturday, While in Swimming.

The little village of Rocky Ford was thrown in excitement Saturday when it was known that Ernest Bragg was drowned near there. Ernest was the son of D. A. Bragg and was well known in this county.

From reports it seems that he had gone there to a picnic which was being held, and while there went in swimming and while in the river was suddenly seized with cramp and met his death, with his father on the bank. From reports the boy's father could not swim and was helpless to render him any assistance. His body was not found until Sunday.

Notice.

On and after this date I prohibit anyone from going to my spring for water. This June 14, 1910. J. P. SMITH. June-13-3t.

GOOD ROADS CONGRESS TO BE HERE--BIG BARBECUE AND FREE LEMONADE

We are in receipt of a communication of one of the directors of the South Georgia Good Roads Congress stating that one of the biggest days in the history of Statesboro will be pulled off here Thursday, June 29th, when the congress meets here. People from all over South Georgia will be on hand and give this a big boost, and it is our desire that every farmer of Bulloch county be on hand and hear the big speakers that will be here on that day. We are informed that Congressman Edwards will be here, besides several other important men of the State. This alone should be a big drawing card and we feel confident in saying that every citizen that possibly can will make arrangements to be here.

Arrangements have been made for a big BARBECUE and FREE LEMONADE will be served on every street corner, so be sure and come, as we want every man, woman and child to be here, as there probably is no other question as important to the farmer as the good road question. It has now come to a point that it means dollars and cents in the pocket of the farmer to have good roads, as well as the merchant, doctor or laborer. Don't forget the time and make your arrangements to be here, as we are expecting you in STATESBORO JUNE 29.

Below is the program:

South Georgia Good Roads Association, Statesboro Meeting, June 29th, 1911.

The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting. Road building and needed road legislation will be discussed in open and intelligent manner.

THE STATESBORO NEWS

(INCORPORATED.)

Published by THE STATESBORO NEWS PUBLISHING COMPANY.

Tuesday and Friday.

J. P. RUDASILL, Editor.

Entered at the post office at Statesboro as 2nd. class mail matter.

Be a booster for your home town. Don't be a knocker.

Pull for Statesboro, the capital of South Georgia, or pull out.

Did some one say that Statesboro was going to have a board of trade?

Big Barbecue and Free Lemonade to all that will come to Statesboro Thursday, June 29th, ice water on the side.

John D. Rockefeller is to build a $200,000 home in New York for his son. That's a pretty good indication that John D. has heard from his lawyers on the recent decision and that he isn't worried much.

We received two cotton bolls from M. C. Cowart, of Route 2, which are the very first of this year. Some class to Bulloch farmers.

Its only a few more days until some of the politicians can take a few months' rest. Will it be a much needed rest? Well, we should say yes.

The legislature meets Wednesday with some big bills on docket. The most important is who will be our next United States senator?

Statesboro handles one-eighth of the Sea Island cotton of the world. This is something to boast of, but Statesboro can proudly boast of several things that some other places we know of can't.

What next? New York is to have a building that will cover 50 acres. Atlanta is to have a commission government and Tom Watson has expressed his opinion on the race question.

Why haven't we heard from several correspondents. We are greatly in need of a local representative in every county, and would be glad for you to write us at once. Surely you want to see news from your locality in every issue.

There is some excuse for a man to steal $46,000, as Lee did from the battleship Georgia, but there are some who think the fact that he got married after his arrest shows him to have been irresponsible.

Bugs Raymond has signed to pitch for the Winsted team of semi-professionals. Unless Bugs is a bigger liar than anybody has ever suspected him of being, there is little show for him to hold his job in that town.

Champ Clark says the Democrats will carry Pennsylvania next year. Isn't it about time for some of Champ's friends to suggest to him the advisability of a long rest? This kind of talk is disuading.

The Savannah Press and Daily Courier-Dispatch have quite a controversy about Hon. Wm. Jennings Bryan's speech at Statesboro a few days ago. Say, Statesboro is all O. K. and it only takes the money to make him talk. Would suggest that you Dublin people forget all about that dollar and go after another one, as William Jennings would the Democratic rule with all he collects down this way, but from the looks of the way he is taking it in he will have a fat mule.

INDEPENDENT FARMERS

There is no man in all the country so independent, so much to be envied as the small farmer of the South. For a century the man with a few acres was disdained in the section where now he is almost monarch of all he surveys. A few years ago, however, the great south dawned upon the eyes of the world that they were land poor. Almost at the same time thousands of toilers in the common ranks of men arrived at the conclusion that a home was the greatest essential to happiness. This combination immediately effected a great change. In some localities it is more notable than in others, but gradually it is spreading out over a wide scope of country. Wherever the influence of such an action is felt there is a revolution in progress. It would take almost unlimited time and space to depict the various phases of rejuvenation that are enveloping every community. Progress, advancement and every indication of health, prosperity and happiness are clearly demonstrated in various ways.

Above all looms the wonderful thought of home. Nestled down, perchance in some little valley, high up on a hillside, or over across the way, modern little houses are found. This is an asset of more value than can ever be computed. Where the conditions are found there are sure to be innumerable instances of material advancement.

A little farm can be easily managed nowadays and a great profit made on it. An instance that I know about and one that gives a great deal of satisfaction to people who wish an industrious worker success, is that of a neighbor. For a number of years he worked with adverse conditions confronting him, but at last he bought a little farm on the installment plan so to speak, and he commenced to improve it, and he commenced to prosper.

With a wife to co-operate he had but little other help, but recently finished selling the crop for last year. From nine acres of cotton and one acre of sweet potatoes he made net proceeds of over $500. A couple of acres more of land was devoted to various money crops for which he received comparatively the same amount. Eight acres were devoted to growing the things needed at home.

Wherever the movement toward establishing small farms has gotten well under way and folk are settling thickly there is no convenience that cannot be found. Within a short time I think some rural communities will actually have a waterworks system. Certainly sanitation and other important matters are kept under closer considerations, that is the rule where farms are large and homes isolated. True, however, there are many fine farms over the South already with all these modern conveniences, but nowhere on such a farm can be found the happiness and contentment reigning as it does on the small farm.

One of the greatest advantages usually invariably noted is the improvement in roads. This is one of the surest evidences of civilization and progress. It comes as a second nature, so to speak, whenever farmers get to settling thickly in a section. One thing to be noted, too, is that when a man settles around where good roads are found he is pretty apt to stay there. Where the community is sparsely settled there is no better way to build it up than by building good roads. People everywhere are now realizing that time saved adds more to life and good roads are essentially time savers.

Roads more than pay for themselves within a short time and any section is justified in making a debt in order to have them. In addition to the time saved there are other considerations of vast importance. It comes first in the wear and tear on the vehicles.

then the awful burden imposed on the farm animals. Then there is the difference in the size of the load that can be hauled when the roads are in good shape. It makes more difference than can be enumerated in any mere story of the advantages resulting from such a system.

The little farms present a wider field for diversion than can be found on the big farm where systems must prevail and things be done more or less on a large scale. A little farm of some twenty odd acres furnishes ample room for an acre or two to be devoted to various phases of agriculture. In such instances the theory of experiment is eliminated and the work can be carried on with a certainty of success attending the efforts of the worker, no matter how small he may consider himself. This is the work that counts in the end.

I don't know what I would recommend to a young man that can beat a little farm. True enough, I have seen enough of the failures and privations of country life in the last fifteen or twenty years. I know as well as anyone in the whole world can ever tell just what it means to be out away from the great world, but there is no loneliness so great as to be right in humanity's reaches with hundreds around you and yet never a one that is near and dear. And, besides this life out in the country is changing rapidly, and it is not changing in your section it is time for you to get up and help to manage it for it is as much one man's duty as it is another's, and surely it is some body's work and a work that must eventually be accomplished.

by one man or another. No matter how far advanced a community may be, there is always room for improvement, and nobody should rest satisfied with what has been already accomplished in the struggle for existence.

Judge Newton Morris Intends to Draw up Bill With That Object

(Atlanta Journal.)

Forced to serious reflection by the scenes surrounding the execution of John Withrow, the Fannin county wife-murderer, Judge Newton Morris, of that circuit, who was a visitor at the capital Monday morning, has expressed the intention of framing a bill and having it presented to the legislature at the coming session, providing that henceforth all executions in Georgia shall take place quietly, privately, without any more ceremony than is absolutely necessary, at the state prison farm.

He may or may not suggest that electrocution be substituted for hanging. The former charge is the thing he regards as essential.

Withrow was made little less than a hero of it, it is stated, by certain elements of the population at Blue Ridge, and those elements by no means the least respectable in the community.

Withrow, it is said, was prayed over and cried over and shouted over by people who were sure he was going as straight to heaven as a sinless baby, that it eventually had its effect on public sentiment, says Judge Morris, and though the actual hanging was in private, it is stated, there was first a procession, in which Withrow rode in a hack, smoking a cigar, and waving goodbye to his admiring friends, while other good people in the vehicle sang an inspiring hymn, the purpose of which was that Withrow was on his way to "glory."

Judge Morris is inclined to believe that a considerable reform could be wrought by the bill he proposes to introduce.

TEN REASONS FOR HOME BUYING.

(Omaha Trade Exhibit.)

1. Your home merchants can duplicate the price made by any respectable concern anywhere on goods of equal quality, in the same quantities and on the same basis of delivery and payment.

2. You can examine your purchases in the home stores and be assured of satisfaction before investing your money.

3. Your home merchants are always ready and willing to make right any error or any defective article purchased.

4. Your home merchants help support, through direct and indirect taxation, your schools, churches, libraries and other public institutions.

5. Your home merchants help make a good local market for everything you have to sell, and that market—more than any other one factor—gives your land its present value.

6. Your home merchants are your good friends, ever ready to extend a helping hand in time of need.

7. If this community is good enough to live in and make your money in, it is good enough to spend it in.

8. The best citizens in this community are those who believe in and practice home patronage.

9. Merchants in the distant city give you home merchants cannot give you—and the former cannot and will not do for you many things the latter do gladly.

10. Every dollar kept in circulation in this community helps increase values. Every dollar sent out of this community that could as well be spent here hinders the wheels of progress and helps to build up some other community at your expense.

IT'S DONE, SIR.

One day an employer said to a youth beginning life as a clerk: "Now, tomorrow that cargo of cotton must be got out and weighed, and we must have a regular account of it."

He was a young man of energy. This was the first time he had been entrusted to superintend the execution of this work. He made his arrangements over night, spoke to the men about their carts and horses. He resolved to begin very early in the morning, and he instructed the laborers to be ready at half past four. His master came in and seeing him sitting in the counting room, looked very black, supposing that his commands had not been executed.

A SAD DEATH.

Monday night when the death angel came and claimed John McGuire it marked one of the saddest deaths in the history of Statesboro, as no relatives or kin people of any kind were at the bedside when death came, and the parting was one that will be hard to forget.

John McGuire while in Statesboro had made friends numbered by his acquaintances, and a few weeks ago when it was learned he was seriously ill with typhoid fever his friends were quick in going to his bedside, and he was at once removed to the sanitarium and everything possible was done for his relief but all to no avail, as death slowly approached, regardless of the skilled physicians who so faithfully rendered him assistance.

Mr. McGuire was about 34 years old, and was employed at J. D. Brown's barber shop. His remains were interred in the city cemetery Tuesday morning by his friends.

GOOD ROADS CONGRESS HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

BIG CROWD ATTENDS GOOD ROADS MEETING THURSDAY

Thursday a number of people gathered here from all over the state to attend the meeting of the South Georgia Good Roads Association. The program had been announced in last week's News, so a big crowd, of course, journeyed over to take part in the big barbecue.

About 11 o'clock the meeting was called to order by Mr. Williams in the court house, which was packed to its capacity. Mr. Williams opened with a speech as follows:

Before proceeding with the business of this convention I feel that it might be well for me to explain in a way the origin and the objects of this association.

While all of you who have kept up with the good roads movement in South Georgia know this yet in as much as the object of the organization is somewhat misunderstood in some quarters, I would say that the South Georgia Good Roads Association was organized in the city of Waycross during the month of May.

The association came about as the result of numerous public road meetings, throughout this section. In all of these meetings it has been quite evident that nearly every county in South Georgia is very enthusiastic on the subject of road building, and are very anxious that the work be carried on in the very best way.

These meetings also disclosed the fact that in order to get the very best results from the work done, it is necessary that the various counties co-operate with each other. One county may have a splendid system of public roads, and while she fills her pockets with money, she does not help the other counties.

Some of you who did not make any pledge should realize the fact that the very best results from the work done, it is necessary that the various counties co-operate with each other.

GAVE BAD CHECKS. NOW A PRISONER.

On eight charges of cheating and swindling, totaling more than $800 and embracing several business houses and individuals, Frank H. Ellis was placed under arrest yesterday at Pooler as he was coming to Savannah from Statesboro.

The charges against Ellis were first instigated by the Oglethorpe Savings and Trust Company, of which he is president.

Ellis is alleged to have defrauded $800 by passing worthless checks. The alleged worthless checks were cashed through Mrs. Francis W. Roberts from whom Ellis sublet a studio at No. 14 Jones street, west.

According to the statement made by the police, Mrs. Roberts' connection with the case has been simply that of Ellis' unwitting instrument. It was to her that two of the checks were sent and signed with the name of Mrs. Roberts, which she deposited to cover money she had loaned Ellis.

Ellis spent last Wednesday night in Statesboro and was on his way to Savannah in an automobile when arrested by the officers.

On and after this date I prohibit anyone from going to my office for state. This June 14, 1911.

SUMMER RATIONS FOR HORSES AND MULES

There is a great deal of waste in the nutrition of work stock, for frequently more expensive foods are given than are essential. In other words, a farmer may have a superabundance of corn on hand and attempt to feed it exclusively, whereas, the utilization of some cotton seed meal to balance up the corn would be a much more desirable and profitable practice. Moreover, a ton of corn could be exchanged with material advantage for a ton of cotton seed meal when the relative cost price of each is considered and the nutritive value of the respective tons taken under advisement. It is a well-established fact that animals ought to be fed according to the kind and amount of work they are required to perform. Moreover, the rations should be adjusted to the season of the year since it is unwise to feed heating foods in the summer. Attention to these points would result in materially lessening digestive troubles now so commonly observed. In passing, it is well to emphasize the fact that animals should be fed according to age, younger animals requiring more protein or muscle-building elements in their food and a larger supply of ash material than older animals. Since the young animal not only has to grow, maintain the body and perform work, its ration should be more liberal than that fed to older animals where there is only the necessity of maintaining the body and performing work.

Such a great variety of food-stuffs are available on every farm for the nutrition of the work stock that a little study and effort on the part of the farmer will enable him to adjust rations which will be virtually ideal for the needs of his stock. Systematic investigations have shown that a good ration for a 1,000 pound horse or mule doing hard work, such as would be exacted of them in the preparation of the land for planting or the cultivation of the crop, should contain 25 pounds of digestible protein, 13.5 pounds of digestible carbohydrates and of a pound of digestible fat. The nutritive ratio, or the relation of the digestible protein to the carbohydrates and fat would be 1:3.6. It should be remembered that a pound of digestible fat has 2.25 times the value of a pound of carbohydrates, and the nutritive ratio is arrived at by multiplying the fat by this figure and adding it to the carbohydrates and dividing by the protein. The average ration fed on our plantations is about 14 pounds of corn and 12 pounds of mixed hay or pulled fodder. This ration only contains about 182 pounds of digestible protein, 14.25 pounds of carbohydrates and .72 of a pound of fat. Its nutritive ratio is 1:8.7. It is clearly deficient in protein, though it contains about the right proportion of carbohydrates and fat.

It might be assumed by the uninitiated that it would be a very difficult matter to balance up this ration and make it ideal for the nutrition of work stock, but

Wins Fight for Life.

It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Mershon, of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from lung hemorrhages, and was very weak and run down. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." For weak, sore lungs, obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hoarseness, la grippe, asthma, hay-fever or any throat or lung trouble its supreme. 50c & $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by W. H. Ellis Co.

such is not the case, for if the farmer will replace but two pounds of the corn with two pounds of cotton seed meal he will have secured a ration satisfactory for his stock and will have reduced its cost since he can supply the needed protein much cheaper through the purchase and utilization of cotton seed meal than through the use of corn at its present high price. The addition of the two pounds of cotton seed meal to the ration would result in supplying a 1,000 pound animal with 2.4 pounds of digestible protein as against 2.5 required by the standard. It would also bring the carbohydrates and fat in almost exactly the ration they should bear to the protein, the nutritive ratio being 1:6.3 or almost exactly what the standard calls for. Could anything be more simple? Certainly not, and it is needless to say that this method of balancing the ration would be generally followed did the farmer more thoroughly recognize the destructive influence which follow the use of an improperly balanced ration. It is but another example of the great compensating influences which nature offers to every locality, for while the cereals have not been cultivated as extensively in the South as in the North and West, cotton seed meal is produced in abundance and it supplies that element needed to improve the ration now ordinarily fed to live stock.

It will be found very desirable in maintaining horses and mules in the summer season to provide them with pasture which they can range over at night. This will enable them to relax and to enjoy a well-earned rest. Moreover, the grass gives variety to the ration and helps to keep the digestive system in better condition. The animals should certainly have the freedom of the pasture on Sunday. Moreover, every farmer should make an effort to supply his stock with some green feed at least once a day. Only a limited quantity may be needed, but the green feed exercises the same tonic effect on the animal as greens do on the human being. If any difficulty is experienced in teaching animals unacquainted with cotton seed meal to eat it, sprinkling a little over the green feed will result in their soon acquiring a fondness for it. Green feed regulates the digestive system, helps to keep the appetite on edge and increases the vigor of the animal. Why not provide it in a country where it can be had for twelve months of the year with but little effort. Moreover, make an effort to supply it in the summer season when it will exercise its greater benefits in the animal economy.

DOING OUR BEST.

That shines afar. Without haste. And without rest. Let us each wheel with steady away.

Around the task that rules the day.

And do our best.

This is a pretty little verse which contains an excellent rule of life, if we would but follow it. Our tasks would become infinitely easier, if we always performed them by this rule, thinking only to perform them to the best of our ability. It is the way a thing is done that counts, and not the nature of the task. It may be that the dishes are to be washed, the stockings to be darned, the floor to be swept, a picture painted, a poem written, the same pleasure is to be derived from the performance if we go at it with a willing heart and steady mind, determining to do our best. We are all pupils in the great school of life and this as a character builder is one of the hardest lessons we have to learn.

In an effort to do our best we must entirely eliminate procrastination, for a duty done today is better than a duty planned for tomorrow. In newspaper parlance, this is expressed, "one scoop today is worth two prospects for tomorrow." It is safe to say that the man who thinks most of tomorrow's accomplishment is not likely to take care of tomorrow when it comes, while the man who gives himself unreservedly to the doing of today's task is the better fitted for tomorrow's when they are at hand. However, we should try not to become task-masters for no one ever makes much out of life who works perfunctorily and reluctantly. Delight in work gives strength and skill. No doubt Jesus was an enthusiastic carpenter who went about His work each day with a song on His lips. The fact that our Master toiled and wrought with His hands ought to be an inspiration to other carpenters and help us all in our common vocation to toil cheerfully, soulfully and songfully.

It is easy for us to pity ourselves because certain tasks are ours, when we would rather be doing something else. We are inclined to think ourselves ill-used. We do not like to do a thing because we feel that we must do it. If we could drop the idea of compulsion and consider that we are doing our work because we choose to, whether it be a sense of duty or a desire to please others, our work would be easier and pleasanter. Earnestly try this plan and see "if the way does not grow smoother with the fragrance of blossoms of harmony nodding beside it alone." If we doubt this watch a group of children playing, see with what ease they mix cakes, wash dishes and make dolly clothes, going through with all the routine of housework without getting tired. It is simply fun for them as they are playing.

Inside the mother is making real cakes, washing clothes for larger dollies and doing the same kind of work as the child in the yard, yet she is vexed and nervous all the time. It is not fun—she is doing these things because she must. What a change could be seen if she could bring in the "play" spirit and eliminate the idea of drudgery—how weariness would vanish.

How often do we see young men with splendid abilities and fine education working under a man who is decidedly his inferior in every way. We wonder at this, and upon investigation find some little weakness, some slight defect, some weak link in the chain of his character, which is no stronger than the weakest link. In a great many cases this weakness is a lack of accuracy. Many boys and girls are capable, but they cannot be depended upon to do anything right, this single defect has marred the usefulness of many a man capable in other respects, but lacking in this one thing, which is one of the chief obstacles in the way of success. The careless and indifferent boy or girl should learn that the pernicious habit of half-doing things will finally destroy the very structure of the mind and will certainly prevent his or her full success.

In George Elliott's "Middlemarch" we see an illustration of this in the description of Mr. Minney's prosperity from the time he began to use cheap dyes recommended by his sham-religious brother-in-law, which were soon found to rot the silk for which he had once been famous. It is not the man like Mr. Minney who succeeds but one like Adam Bede, who drives straight the nail and planes true the board.

HOG WORTH $10,000 WAS JURY'S DECISION.

DeBow Claimed Twice That From Road for Killing Prize Winner.

Atlanta, June 10.—After two weeks patient listening to heated litigation in Judge Bell's division of the superior court the jury verdict for $10,000 to J. D. DeBow against the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific railroad as damages suffered by the plaintiff by cause of the death of a very fine hog, known in stock circles as Premier Longfellow's Rival.

Mr. DeBow, who is assistant general counsel for the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad at Nashville, is also owner of the Raverwood Stock Farm, near this city. Premier Longfellow's Rival was a very fine specimen of the Berkshire breed. He had won ribbons and cups at a dozen different fairs and stock shows and was very highly valued. About a year ago while he was being returned from the Louisiana state fair at Shreveport, he received injuries in the railroad yards at Vicksburg from which he died later. Efforts to settle the loss between the owner and the railroad were futile, and the matter was taken into court.

Atkinson & Born represented Mr. DeBow, while Anderson, Felder, Rountree and Wilson defended the suit for the railroad. Evidence by direct testimony and by deposition was introduced in voluminous quantities. Experts from several states were placed on the stand to give their opinion as to the probabilities concerning the claims made by the owner of the hog. In addition to these, ribbons and premiums covering ten or twelve square feet of canvas, said to have been awarded the hog, were introduced, as well as a silver cup some two feet or more in height.

According to testimony, the hog measured about nine feet from stem to stem, was 3 feet high, and weighed about 1,000 pounds. The facts were also brought out that this aristocratic sire traveled in all the pomp and splendor that characterizes the wanderings of the predatory rich, and was accorded every care and attention that could be rendered.

The facts were also brought out that this aristocratic sire traveled in all the pomp and splendor that characterizes the wanderings of the predatory rich, and was accorded every care and attention that could be rendered.

In the petition filed Mr. DeBow asked for $20,000 damages. To the twelve disinterested men, however, who profess to be neither hog experts nor stock enthusiasts, this amount appeared rather too much, so their verdict out this amount in half. The defendant in the suit has several weeks in which to file a motion for a new trial, and such action will no doubt be taken.

Hon. Tom Hudson

Almost in The Race

Americus, Ga. June 26.—What is considered the formal announcement of Hon. T. G. Hudson for governor appears as a leading editorial in the American Times-Recorder in which it declares that if Governor Smith is elected to the senate, the honor of supplying the next Governor of Georgia will then fall to Sumpter, the banner county of Southwest Georgia, and the home of everything that is progressive in agriculture.

Commissioner of Agriculture Hudson is a resident of this county and it is well known here that for the past six months he has been to all intents and purposes actually in the race for Governor, based upon the idea that he would be successful in the movement actively supported by him to send Governor-elect Smith to the senate. Since Governor Smith's first incumbency Commissioner Hudson and he have been close political allies and it is generally understood in this part of the state that to Commissioner Hudson rather than to anyone else is due the thorough organization of the legislative forces that are expected to send Governor Smith to the senate.

Commissioner Hudson is a shrewd manager and his friends here believe that he will not only succeed in his campaign to send Mr. Smith to the senate, but that the thoroughness of his political organization in such as to assure his election to the governorship. Commissioner Hudson openly notified his friends some time ago that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself as commissioner of agriculture, and he has not hesitated to say to the inner circle of his associates that he is looking to be the governorship, and that he expects to get it.

Woman With Crushed Skull

Refused to Take Her Bed

Albany, Ga. June 25.—Physicians are interested in the case of Tony Alexander, a negro woman, who was struck on the head eight days ago by an unknown white man because she cursed in the presence of ladies. The Alexander woman was struck on the head with a piece of 2 by 4 scantling and her skull was crushed. Physicians removed pieces of bone covering a brain area as large as a child's hand, and expected her to die. Instead, she showed signs of steady improvement, and the day after the operation insisted on getting out of bed. It proved impossible to keep her in bed, though warned that she would almost certainly die if she persisted in moving about. Her improvement continued, however, until yesterday when signs of paralysis appeared. The outcome is uncertain. Considering the size of the section of skull removed and the many fractures radiating from the hole, the case is considered one of the most remarkable in medical annals in this part of the state.

T. J. DENMARK STATE BANK EXAMINER

Was Appointed Wednesday to This Office by Governor Smith.

TALK OF COMPRESSION FOR STATESBORO

Mr. R. Simmons is now in communication with some Northern capitalists in regard to a cotton compress for Statesboro.

Special to the News:—T. J. Denmark appointed State Bank Examiner.

The above telegram explains itself. Mr. Denmark has a number of friends here that are glad to learn of his appointment to the office, as this is one of the best appointments to be made under Gov. Smith's administration, and it looks to us as if this would be a square proposition.

Mr. Simmons states that a compress would add something like 10,000 more bales of cotton being handled here, also would enable cotton shippers to get a much lower freight rate, besides this would bring considerable more business to Statesboro. The News agrees with Mr. Simmons and thinks that Statesboro would easily handle 10,000 more bales or more. We think this would be a paying investment for the stockholders. This movement should have the hearty support of all Statesboro and Bulloch county and we feel that it will, and of course this means that we are to soon have a big compress here in the capital of South Georgia.

ATLANTA THROGLED WITH LEGISLATORS.

Atlanta, Ga. June 2.—Atlanta is today thronged with legislators from all sections of Georgia who have come to be ready for the opening session of the 1911-1912 legislature tomorrow. In addition to these scores of politicians have established temporary headquarters here.

The ancient custom of many senators to remain at home over Sunday has been widely disregarded and both houses will open with large numbers present. Both houses are planning to set the tone to serious work immediately. It is expected that the standing committees of the house will be announced Saturday, although this announcement generally does not come within ten days. This will encourage prompt attention to matters of live import.

It is thought that the standing committees of the senate will be announced at the same time the house committees are given out. This will enable the legislature to get to serious work almost a week sooner than is customary.

It is expected that Governor Brown's message to each of the houses will be read Wednesday. The next two days will be consumed with the introduction of bills.

Governor-Elect Hoke Smith will be inaugurated on Saturday. The inaugural ceremonies, according to ancient custom will be held in the house of representatives.

Among the bills which are to be introduced, one which is stirring considerable talk and humorous discussion is that of Representative Claude Payton, of Worth, who will ask that women be allowed to vote. He will also introduce a bill which will also introduce a bill asking that women be allowed to practice law in this state.

Now is the time to paint your house. I have the Paint at right prices.

U. S. AGRICULTURAL TRAIN THROUGH SOUTH.

Washington D. C.,—Plans have been formulated to conduct an agricultural train through the sixteen states comprised in the territory of the Southern Commercial Congress, according to an announcement made today by Dr. Clarence J. Owens, commissioner of the Bureau of Agriculture of the congress. The railroads of the South and the United States Department of Agriculture will co-operate in the effort.

It is sought by this enterprise to interpret the agricultural resources of the Southern states through papers prepared by experts and to exploit the pre-eminent of the section in the number of growing hours, in average rainfall per year and in the character and variety of soil.

An effort will be made to show the relation of education to the agricultural life of the South and to define the attitude of the South towards immigration.

ELECTRIC BITTERS CURE FEMALE ILLS, STOMACH, LIVER AND NERVOUS DISEASES.

CURE FOR "QUITTING" FARMERS, BY PRES. BARRETT

Union City, Ga. June 28.—The Eldest cure for farmers who have left the union is given by President Charles S. Barrett, of the National Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union, in a statement issued to the members. The statement follows:

"Chapter on Quits." "To the officers and members of the Farmers' union: This is a chapter on 'quits,' being for the benefit of the brother who is weak-kneed or faint-hearted, peevish as a chicken with the pip and ready to quit the Farmers' union at the drop of the hat. A smaller percentage are yielding to these special reasons than ever before in the organization's history, but the number needs still to be lessened.

"Just run your eye over a few of these causes for 'quitting,' and if the temptation ever strikes you to use one of them as an excuse, remember that Barrett urged you to pay some strong man to take you back of the barn and give you what you used to get before you ceased to fit neatly over your father's knee.

"You quit because you thought we didn't have co-operation in its true sense.

"You quit because a little of your money was stolen and you imagined you couldn't get another honest officer, at the expense of a little effort.

"You quit because somebody told you you would have a better standing if you didn't run with the crowd of 'one gallus' fellows; you've found out since what a lie that was, but perhaps you have not the manhood to confess it.

"Many 'Quit' Reasons. "You quit because you thought they shouldn't have pensioned Mrs. Gresham, one of the nobles, acts the organization has to its credit.

"You quit because they gave me a present of $1,000—and let me tell you, I didn't want to take it, because I knew just how you would feel.

"You quit because we were trying to do too much.

"You quit because we were not doing enough.

"You quit because a few salaries were raised, and you'd rather give your money to an outside faker than somebody trying to help you and hold enough to tell you unpleasant truths.

"You quit because there were so many poor, ignorant folks in the Farmers' union, forgetting that every man is his brother's keeper, and that the son of that poor devil you turn your nose up at may be marrying your daughter tomorrow or giving you orders the day after.

"You quit because women were allowed to join, yelling that they had no place in our meetings and 'ought to be at home where they belong'—forgetting that the woman makes the home and that one of the first principles of the farmers' union is trying to better the home.

"You quit when cotton reached a good price, or failed to reach a good price.

"You quit because we didn't go enough, or too much, into politics.

"You quit because you thought there were some grand swells among the members, especially the leaders, forgetting that there are just as many in the churches and the secret orders and that it's your duty to stay in and help turn them out.

Union is to Stay. "I could multiply these 'quits' indefinitely. There isn't any use. You'll recognize a good many of them, and be too stuck up to admit it.

"But just let me remind you, brother, that while in some states we are arguing to halt for a spell, and perhaps mark time, this organization is here to stay, from a national standpoint. It is here to transform rural life in America, to get a square deal for the

HAS STOVALL COMPLI-CATED SENATE RACE?

Atlanta, Ga. June 26.—The announcement of Pleasant A. Stovall, of Savannah, that he is a candidate for the Senate before the legislature has made more certain the probability of a deadlock in the legislature the third week of the session, for it is generally stated here in political circles that Covington, Watson and Stovall, if they stay actively in the fight to the end, will, with the strong support Terrell is known to have, so deplete the following of Governor-elect Smith that election of the incoming governor will by no means be a surety, as his friends have been claiming.

Mr. Stovall has opened his headquarters at the Kimball and tomorrow morning will be actively at work strengthening his lines. Mr. Stovall would not talk of his candidacy today beyond saying that he expects to have his name presented and that he is sure, in that event of considerable strength.

It will take 115 votes to elect a senator. Senator Terrell has, it is claimed, more pledged votes than any man named. Watson has probably eighteen on whom he can depend to support him, no matter what way the wind blows or how fierce the battle in the breach. Covington claims thirty pledges and Stovall is known to have some. This figuring would make it appear that neither Smith nor Terrell has a chance to win the first ballot, and then there are some savants who hold solidly to the belief that Covington and Stovall are perhaps before the legislature in the interest of the governor, that they will deadlock if possible, as long as possible, and at the last moment swing their strength unreservedly to Smith and elect him, leaving Terrell with but his original votes.

That is the way the Smith people—that is those not in the inner council are figuring the thing out.

But that is reckoning without Joe Terrell and such a course is not exactly good political strategy in Georgia. Smith was elected governor with a pretty fair majority in the convention, but not such an overpowering landslide in popular vote. It was a hard and tight race between two factions in Georgia last election.

Governor Smith certainly will not have added one vote in his strength when he enters the senatorial list. Rather, he will lose some of it. As he himself has cautiously admitted to a great many of his personal friends throughout the state the last few weeks, a great block of his supporters voted for him to be governor because they believed in his ability to carry this to fruition in the legislature. These people are not taking kindly, by no means, to the possibility of his forsaking the governor's chair.

So, dear Mr. Stovall, to journey far from the turmoil of his legislative supporters, and Governor Smith knows this full well.

He told a personal friend of his in South Georgia recently that he had doubts of the wisdom and justice of his running for the Senate. According to this friend, he said: "The people have put me in the governor's chair. I have every reason to believe that they put me there because they wanted me to carry out certain reforms. I owe those people that service and I owe a duty to the state. I would like to sit in the greatest deliberative body in the world, but don't know."

From this it appears that the powers which put him in the governor's chair are not so tremendously anxious to send him to Washington. Terrell's friends, on the other hand, have taken new heart since they have seen for themselves that practically the farmer, to abolish mortgages on farms, to eliminate the demagogue, to make the government to which the farmer contributes so liberally return to the farmer a little more in taxes.

senator is his old self again. The fighting light is in his eyes and the spring of health, ambition and energy in his voice. And furthermore every supporter that Joe Terrell has anxious to see him sent back to Washington. He has no malcontents, he has no distrustful ones, he has no legions suspecting that his motives in fighting for the seat in the senate chamber are prompted solely by personal ambition. He has no unfulfilled pledges in Georgia. He will make his fight unimpeded, and with consistent unity and loyalty in his ranks. Therefore, while Governor Smith will be battling to control and hold the dissatisfied and suspicious brigades of his division, he will also have to fight a foe unhampered and free to throw every unite of his arm into the line at all times.

And the man to win will have to be able to do that. It will be something of a battle before the smoke clears away and the winner stands to receive the fruits of victory.

But there is a persistent rumor here that Smith has about concluded not to allow his name to be voted for.

There are not many members of the legislature in Atlanta yet, but every train tomorrow is expected to throw off its delegation until it might call the hotel lobbies and whether you wish a diamond or some less costly gem, you will find our store the proper place to make your selection.

MEETING MONDAY NIGHT JULY 17.

BASE BALL FANS TO MEET.

Manager Outland of the Statesboro Baseball team, requests all the fans to meet at the court house Monday night, July 17th, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of reorganizing the team and electing a secretary and treasurer. The management was some few dollars in the hole after last weeks three games and is willing to back the team to the last ditch, but does not feel that he should bear this burden alone, as the team now has should have the support of all the fans here and we want to urge all that possibly can to be at the meeting and reorganize and finish the season here in great style. Statesboro has a great team and by a little encouragement by the base ball lovers we will have some of the best games of the year here during the next two months. Don't forget, and all come up Monday night and be a booster for the home team.

PRESIDENT BARRETT SAVES ITS GOOD INVESTMENT

One of the Best Investments Is Helping the Man Who is Down.

To the Officers and Members of the Farmers Union:
If more men had helped each other over rough places since the world began, civilization and Christianity would be much further advanced than it is now.

The obligation to help the man who is down and out is one of the most sacred—and it isn't confined to your fellow-member in the Farmers Union. In the first place you don't know when you may be in the same fix yourself, and in need of assistance. In the second by helping to put a man on his feet you are saving yourself the expense of having to feed him or his family. So the proposition cuts from the business as well as the philanthropic end.

In this country of quick changes, the man you give a lift today may tomorrow be in position to help you or the organization. So it's good policy as well as a plain matter of duty.

I don't think I ever saw a man so far gone in meanness that I wouldn't try my best to give him even a little ray of life. The man or woman who is cast out of society with the cry of "Unclean!" is the man or woman who most needs help.

You are not going to spoil your hands by picking people up out of the mire. You're much more likely to soil your soul, and lose some good opportunities in life by failing to do it.

One of the most beautiful features about some of the secret

RURAL CARRIER'S SALARY TO BE RAISED.

Washington, July 9.—The 40,000 old rural free delivery carriers in the United States are to receive salary increases as a result of an order issued today by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The order provides for the disbursement during the current fiscal year $4,000,000, which will mean an increase of $100 over the present salary of $900 for all carriers on standard routes, with proportionate increases on the shorter routes.

Congress provided last session for the expenditure of this extra $4,000,000 but left it to the discretion of the Postmaster General as to how much of it should be expended. Mr. Hitchcock decided today to authorize the expenditure of the full amount.

His desire to compensate the carriers for any additional burden which may be placed on them, if the parcel post system he has recommended for rural routes is approved by congress, was the important consideration. Mr. Hitchcock declared today, which led him to make the authorization. The rural delivery system was started fifteen years ago with 15 carriers who were paid only $200 a year. On July 1st, there were 41,562 carriers, their aggregate salaries being $35,763,000.

orders is that they never desert a member, no matter how far he has strayed from the pathway. That ought to be the motto of the Farmers' Union, from the biggest leaders down to the newest joiners.

We have a good deal of that spirit now in the organization. The more we encourage it the more we enhance the prestige of the order, and live up to the principles upon which it is founded.

SWAINSBORO'S TROUBLES OVER THE BOND ISSUE.

Court Puts Halt to Erection of City Water and Light Plants.

Swainsboro, Ga. July 10.—Judge B. T. Rawlings, before whom the case of the state against the city of Swainsboro, motion to validate the bonds and Hon. F. H. Saffold, city attorney, has appeared to higher court.

The city council at the request of Swainsboro's citizens ordered an election to be held in April to decide whether bonds should be issued for electric lights and waterworks.

The result of the election was in favor of bonds by a large majority.

A few have filed objections to the validation of bonds on the ground that several citizens were allowed to vote in this special election who had registered after the election for mayor and council in December, and on the further ground that in the fifth issue of the paper the published notice omitted the words "and electric lights." They also contend that the issuance of $40,000 worth of bonds, in addition to the $12,000 already issued for school purposes, is in violation of the charter of Swainsboro, which provides only for the issuance of $20,000 in bonds.

The city attorney maintains that the charter provides that not over $20,000 in bonds be issued for school purposes, but places no other limitation.

Judge Rawlings, after hearing the case, finally refused to validate the bonds, and as the mills of the higher courts grind slowly, it will be some time before Swainsboro can hope to have waterworks and municipal ownership of electric lights.

Swainsboro, Ga., July 7.—News reached here last night of the killing of a negro, supposed to be named Smith, by Baliff John E. Durden. Baliff Durden had a warrant for the negro and attempted to arrest him. When called upon to throw up his hands the black turned upon Durden and fired four shots. Durden in turn fired upon the negro, who fell dead from the effect of four balls from Durden's pistol.

From inquiry and from observation, we find the citizens, as a whole, in favor of sewerage. In fact we find none who are opposing it.

In our opinion the financial condition of the city fully warrants the outlay necessary to install the system. Funds can be raised by bond issue sufficient for the purpose, and still leave a substantial margin to the credit of the amount allowed by law.

Believing that the future welfare and progress of our city demand this move, we suggest that the mayor and council do at the earliest practical time call an election, as provided by law, and submit to the voters of the city the subject of issuing bonds to the amount of $60,000.00 to be applied to the installing of an up-to-date sewerage system.

Respectfully submitted:

Reunion of the Confederate Veterans

A Reunion of the Confederate veterans of Bulloch county will be held at Statesboro, on July 19th next, will meet in the Court house at 10:30 A.M. where we expect to be entertained by an address from some Confederate soldier not yet determined.

After the speaking the veterans will march to the Jaekel Hotel where they will be joined by their wives who are cordially invited to a dining and other hospitalities by the citizens of Statesboro.

No arrangements made for the sons and daughters at present. Hope, however, that they will attend the reunion and bring well filled baskets and have a good time of their own, and organize on that day into a social brotherhood and perpetuate a memory for the galaxy of your fathers.

Correspondents: We are anxious to have your news as we are to have the news of Statesboro, so please let it come.

Statesboro not only is the leading town of South Georgia, but is rapidly coming to the point where she will compare with Macon when the capital question comes before the people.

Judging from all appearances it looks as if the Statesboro Ice Co. is benefited as well as the people in the recent ice ordinance. Our city fathers are to be congratulated on this ordinance.

Atlanta's council turned down the commission government plan last week, which of course raised some howl with the press.

Boost Statesboro and Bulloch county, boost the farmers and merchants as well as every enterprise in our territory.

A Jacksonville woman recently wore a harem skirt through town, which of course was an eye-catcher.

Mr. J. P. Rudasill, formerly editor of the Cherokee Advance, more recently editor of the Coffee County News, has been elected editor of the Statesboro News, Statesboro, Ga., and is now sitting on the tripod.

The Statesboro News is a Semi-Weekly paper and Statesboro is a thriving city. Tho yet a young man Mr. Rudasill has had considerable experience in the newspaper field and we predict for the Statesboro News untold success under his editorial care. Here's the glad hand, Johnny, may your shadow never grow less.—Cherokee Advance

Mr. J. P. Rudasill, of Canton, Ga., has been elected editor of the Statesboro News, and is now in charge of the paper. Mr. J. R. Miller, who has been so long identified with the News and who has made it one of the liveliest papers in the State, will, we understand, move to Claxton, where it is probable he will get in the newspaper ranks again. Who Pays Advertising Bills.

Did you ever ask yourself who really pays the advertising bills? Your first impulse, of course is to reply that the advertiser pays them.

But this is not the case. The advertiser incurs no real expense in the matter, for the cost of his advertising is, as a rule, returned to him in largely increased profits.

Then who does pay the bills? The purchaser!

No, certainly not. The purchaser or profits by the advertising for he buys cheaper and gets a fresher and better assortment of goods.

Who, then, pays the advertising bills? Why, the merchant who does not seek publicity—the merchant who draws himself into his shell like the snail, and declines all inducement to advertise. The non-advertiser foots the advertiser's bills, as a large proportion of the money he loses through his lack of nerve and enterprise flows its way directly or indirectly, into the pockets of his more business-like competitor.

The small like merchant "pays the freight" in another way, for his stock depreciates and eventually hangs like lead on his hands until disaster strikes him in the face.

These are days when the merchant who would succeed, MUST ADVERTISE, and those who do not are almost certain to fall by the wayside.

Warehouse at Metter

The success of the Union Warehouse at Metter Ga., can easily be seen by the dividends added there this year which was 35 percent.

The Farmers Union has a strong membership here and new members are being added every day. The warehouse at Metter is in good able hands and necessity does not lead to the failure of the leading warehouse in South Georgia.

THE SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

The 4th of July was marked in Statesboro by not only being a sane fourth in the fire works line, but was a sane fourth in the minds of our gallant city fathers, when they, in a joint session in the court house, appointed a committee to investigate the needs of a sewerage system here. The committee met and rendered their report, which is found on the front page of this paper. By so doing our city fathers not only showed that they were alive to every possible move for the betterment of Statesboro, but will consider the voice of the people. The need of sewerage can not be questioned, as every citizen should feel that it is the proper thing for the advancement of the city, and when the election is set there should not be a murmur nor a single vote cast against this progressive movement. Space will not let us go into full details concerning this great movement in behalf of our city fathers, but in a few brief words, we are in favor of the SEWERAGE SYSTEM FOR A GREATER STATESBORO.

TUESDAY JULY 11 1911

FOURTH OF JULY BARBECUE A GREAT SUCCESS.

Many Enjoy Themselves at Big Barbecue Given by Messrs. A. T. McCorkell and Billy Newsome.

Mr. Editor:

Allow me space in your valuable paper to express my appreciation of having been the guest of a barbecue given by Mr. A. T. McCorkell and Mr. Billy Newsome. It was served in the shady grove fronting the residence of Mr. Newsome, a very appropriate place for the occasion.

Mr. James Anderson supervised the barbecuing of the meats, which was slowly roasted over the coals. Plenty of pork, beef, kid, and chicken cooked and the hark was the best I ever tasted.

About 12:30 o'clock the table was bountifully filled to its utmost capacity of cakes and pies of every description and every one seemed to enjoy the feast. Refreshments were served, part of a barrel of lemonade was turned over on the clothing of one of the ladies that attended. In the P. M. music was rendered by the young folks, and delightful games participated in, about 75 or 100 people was there to witness the occasion.

This 18th is a District of solid farmers that don't mind running their hands in their "jeans" for the pleasure and success of their community.

As I have expressed my pleasure of attending the barbecue, I conclude this by hoping to attend another just like it in the near future.

A SOLUTION OF LOCAL CONDITIONS.

Some Reasons and Remedies How to Overcome Present Conditions.

Advertisement.

For the past year or two, Statesboro has been confronted with a scarcity of dwelling houses for rent, a condition of affairs that has seriously retarded the growth of our town. After giving the matter our thorough consideration, we have reached the conclusion that the power to solve this problem lies easily within the hands of the property owners of Statesboro, and that in solving it, they will not only contribute to the future growth of the town, but will help themselves as well.

The cause of this condition of affairs is the simple fact that rents in Statesboro for dwelling houses of the better class are entirely too low. We say this after not only making comparisons with rents received in other towns that are equal to Statesboro in population and prosperity, but also after figuring on what rents should be received in order to get a fair return on the investment. The fact of the business is that at present rents now received in Statesboro, a man can get a better return on his money by loaning it out at eight percent, and with better security.

The commission's report shows that there are 2,668 felony and 2,347 misdemeanor convicts in the state. In the last ten years there has been an increase of 428 felony and only 125 misdemeanor convicts. There are 2,312 negro male felony convicts, 61 female and 250 white male felons. There are 3,046 negro male misdemeanors, 170 white male, and 121 negro female misdemeanors convicts.

Property value in Statesboro will only increase as the population increases. You who own property should not forget this fact. And the population of Statesboro cannot increase very fast unless the people can find homes to live in when they desire to move here. And the people of Statesboro who have money to invest, are not going to invest in houses to rent unless they can get an adequate return on the investment. And the money is here and the houses will be built when rents are raised to what they should be.

And not only is this condition of affairs keeping people away from Statesboro, but many of Statesboro present citizens who are able to own their own homes are renting because it is cheaper. They have found that they can loan out the money that it would take to build a home and pay the rents on a house of equal value with the interest and still have money left. This is also hurting the town, because very often this money is invested outside of Statesboro when otherwise it would remain in our midst.

How can it be done? Easy enough. Let every property owner in Statesboro who has dwelling houses for rent take a firm stand. Figure out what you should receive on your investment; then include taxes, insurance, repairs etc., and then ask rents for your property that will cover this. Don't be afraid of a little kicking; people would be willing to borrow your money at two per cent if you are willing to loan it at that rate. And not only that, you will have the consciousness of the fact that you are only asking what is rightfully yours—nothing more.

The time to start is now. Yours very truly,
Fields & Chance.

$3,000,000 A YEAR FOR GOOD ROADS

114 Counties Use Their Convicts as Road Builders.

Atlanta, July, 10.—Georgia is spending $3,000,000 a year in the construction of good roads, according to a statement of the prison Commission in its annual report to the Legislature. That was approximately the amount expended for this purpose during the year ending May 31 last.

In round numbers there are 5,000 convicts at work on the roads in 111 out of 140 counties, half of these are felony and half misdemeanor convicts. There are twenty-four other counties which take their convicts, but furnish them to other counties, taking their pay in work on their own roads done by the counties which are using the convicts. This leaves practically all eleven counties which are getting no use of the convicts. Several other counties, however, have applied for their convicts and are eager to get them as soon as possible. It is believed another year will see almost every county in the state working its own convicts on the roads.

Government report shows that Georgia is doing more good work on her public roads than any other state in the Union. Georgia is building approximately ten miles a day of good substantial roadway. The commission's report shows that there are 2,668 felony and 2,347 misdemeanor convicts in the state. In the last ten years there has been an increase of 428 felony and only 125 misdemeanor convicts.

There are 2,312 negro male felony convicts, 61 female and 250 white male felons. There are 3,046 negro male misdemeanors, 170 white male, and 121 negro female misdemeanors convicts.

Property value in Statesboro will only increase as the population increases. You who own property should not forget this fact. And the population of Statesboro cannot increase very fast unless the people can find homes to live in when they desire to move here. And the people of Statesboro who have money to invest, are not going to invest in houses to rent unless they can get an adequate return on the investment. And the money is here and the houses will be built when rents are raised to what they should be.

And not only is this condition of affairs keeping people away from Statesboro, but many of Statesboro present citizens who are able to own their own homes are renting because it is cheaper. They have found that they can loan out the money that it would take to build a home and pay the rents on a house of equal value with the interest and still have money left. This is also hurting the town, because very often this money is invested outside of Statesboro when otherwise it would remain in our midst.

How can it be done? Easy enough. Let every property owner in Statesboro who has dwelling houses for rent take a firm stand. Figure out what you should receive on your investment; then include taxes, insurance, repairs etc., and then ask rents for your property that will cover this. Don't be afraid of a little kicking; people would be willing to borrow your money at two per cent if you are willing to loan it at that rate. And not only that, you will have the consciousness of the fact that you are only asking what is rightfully yours—nothing more.

The time to start is now. Yours very truly,
Fields & Chance.

STATESBORO BOY HELD ON FORGERY CHARGE.

Gives Forged Checks, Undersigned, as Security for Bill.

Charged with cheating and swindling by passing worthless checks, Fayette Cleary of Statesboro was arrested yesterday by Detective Umbach and is being held pending further investigation. Cleary is charged with having presented J. E. Lamon of No. 340 West Broad street with a check for $12.50 drawn on the People's Bank of this city as security for a bill he owed him and on the strength of which, it is alleged he secured more money, amounting in all to about $2.50.

From this charge it is expected another charge of alleged forgery will develop in that the name signed to the check by Cleary was that of the Fant Fish Company by C. D. Fant, manager, the check being made payable to Mrs. F. L. Cleary and undorsed. By Cleary's own admission the check is a forgery. He says, however, he left it with Mr. Lamon merely as security and intended to return the following morning and redeem it.

"I owed Mr. Lamon a bill of $1.50 pool," he said, "and told him I would get some money from Mr. Fant and pay him the next morning. He wouldn't consent to that and so I wrote out the check with the intention of getting some money from Mr. Fant and redeeming it. Mr. Fant has been a good friend of mine and has cashed a lot of checks for me."

In addition to the charge of forging Mr. Fant's name to a check, Cleary admits another transaction in which checks that were turned down as worthless figured. He says he gave to Joseph Alberino, proprietor of the Union Fish Company, a check for $4, and later another for $6, which Mr. Alberino cashed for him. Both of these checks were drawn on a savings bank in Statesboro where Cleary claims to have funds deposited.

"When I gave Mr. Alberino the checks," he said, "I did not know that in order to get them cashed my bank book had to be presented at the same time, and as that is at home the checks were returned unpaid. I did not learn this until afterward. I had planned to go home to-day and things would have all been straightened out then."

Cleary came to Savannah from Augusta a few days ago. In his effects was found a letter which indicates that he is on probation from Fulton county, which he admits, saying that he had pawned some clothes there which had been stolen by another fellow. Savannah Morning News.

MARRIED THREE TIMES AND IS FATHER OF 32 CHILDREN.

"You know I am a man that had 32 children, so spoke A. B. Burgess, colored, Monday to a reporter of the News, of course this was startling to the reporter, regardless that we are accustomed to hearing snake stories, etc., so of course several questions were put to the negro, so fast that he says, Say Cap, you gwine put that in the paper? The conversation between the negro and the reporter was something like this:

Cap, I han't seen my four brothers for thirty years and want you to advertise and see if I can't learn where dey is.

How many brothers have you? Four, was the quick reply.

When did you hear from them? About thirty years ago, the negro said.

We know our paper will do most anything, but whether it will bring the dead and lost back we can't say, but tell us your name and address and we will try and help you find your long lost relatives.

M. B. Burgess is my name and I live at Arcola, have thirty-two children, and—

Here is where we interrupted the negro: Have thirty-two children and no dogs counted? No sah all boys and girls.

No Billy Possessing nor Teddy Bears thrown in, all children then, good Lord, was the faint reply to the negro's broad grin.

We are used to horrible reports of deaths and most any accident, but this was a little more than the reporter's nerves could stand, and but for the gallantness of the devil (we mean the printer's devil) no doubt there would have been some rash thing done, but after the devil had vouched for the story we proceeded to take in all that poured from the gallant negro's mouth.

I have been married three times, have 10 children by my first wife and two by my second wife and twenty by my third wife.

That's enough, you are excused, exclaimed the reporter, as any man that can live with three wives is liable to have most anything happen to him.

Escaped With His Life.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrelson, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything, I could hear of, for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C. for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." HOKE SMITH GETS LARGE MAJORITY

Gets 155 in Joint Ballot Wednesday—Will Not Resign as Gov. Until December.

The General Assembly of Georgia met Wednesday in joint session and legally declared Hoke Smith United States Senator for the unexpired term to 1915. This was no doubt the most enthusiastic scene ever witnessed in the Georgia Legislature. After the 115 votes were cast, which assured his election the galleries broke forth and went the air with cheer after cheer.

Joe Hill Hall at once moved to have the galleries cleared, which was met with hisses and laughter. Immediately after the election was over the entire body of Mr. Smith's friends filled into his office and showered congratulations upon him and at once demanded a speech which was granted and for a few minutes the Governor made a short speech in which he stated that he would hold the governors office until December, as he said Senator Terrell could finish this term, but we learn that Senator Terrell has resigned, which of course will put the Senator in quite a bad position, as to hold the governors chair until December would mean that Georgia would be absent one senator.

Governor Smith is anxious to remain governor until he can get all appointments confirmed and whether he can do this is a matter of question.

With Governor Smith elected senator this will cause another primary to be held for the election of governor and already several candidates have entered, but the one spoken of most is that of Gov. Brown but he has not consented to enter the race yet. In case Gov. Smith resigns at once this will cause the election to be held at some early date and we predict that several candidates will be in the race from start to finish. Inasmuch as this has come why can't South Georgia put out a candidate and all join together and elect a governor from South Georgia.

Sentiment is strong favoring the election of Mr. Stovall, of Savannah. Mr. Stovall needs no introduction to the people of Bulloch county and we feel that he would poll a strong vote over over the state, if not elected.

This will bring forth more politics, but we hope another such race as the last for governor will not come before the people.

STATESBORO CAPITALIST BUILDING NEW BUILDINGS

Five New Brick Buildings Under Headway, Rapidly Near in Completion.

Besides the new bank building that is now rapidly nearing completion there are at present five new brick buildings rapidly being pushed to completion. This shows the growth of Statesboro, shows a growth that is substantial. With five new buildings going up it means there will be five new business' located here within a short time, not speaking of the two new buildings that are being repaired and put in order, one for the post office and the other for a mercantile establishment, also where the tile establishment, also where the post office moves from there will also be another mercantile establishment. This means that Statesboro is and are already doing a great mercantile business, but when more concerns begin to come it shows that the city is rapidly growing. Statesboro of course will support them and if properly conducted a business of any kind is a paying proposition within Bulloch County.

Watch Statesboro grow.

TRADE AT HOME WITH HOME MERCHANTS.

KEEP YOUR MONEY AT HOME AND HELP YOUR MERCHANTS.

It is true that we are only a short distance from Savannah and since our stay here a reporter of the News has met several of the trains and every day we see some of our people going to Savannah shopping, going down to take advantage of the sale that is on today is the cry on their rush to get off to Savannah to do their shopping they never for once consider that the same article they are going there for can be found here in Statesboro. We can't blame anyone for going where they can do the best but nine out of ten times they could find just what they wanted here in Statesboro and after considering their railroad fare and the trouble of getting there and back they could not for the sake of their lives figure out where one penny could or would have been saved. The merchants of Statesboro carry everything that could possibly be wanted and we know their prices are not one cent higher than them in Savannah, for the sake of our lives we can't see why people will go elsewhere to do their shopping.

Statesboro has a chain of stores that cannot be excelled anywhere, the stores here equal to any that Savannah has; anything that can be found there can be found here. Our merchants are all enterprising and want your business and are willing to offer you all kinds of inducements, then why shouldn't they receive your business. We believe in keeping your money at home, a dollar spent here will do twice as much good to our town as one spent away from here and brought back in material. It has often been said that money spent away from home is a dollar lost to the community. Before going away to do your shopping call and look the merchants line over here, see if you can't place your money here where it will help home industry, be a booster for the home merchant, let them live as well as live.

Take for instance here in Statesboro this week the Statesboro Mercantile Co. has on a sale that is offering greatly reduced prices, prices that can't be beat by merchants in any city.

Trappell Mikel & Co. also are offering 25 per cent. off on all low cut shoes, besides a big cut on all other material they carry in stock.

Oivers store also has on a sale and is offering reduced prices.

J. B. Rushing has just closed a big low cut sale, Ashendorf recently closed a big sale also. These and several more have and are now carrying on big sales and they are our own people, they will appreciate your trade, as well as offering you prices that are as low as anywhere you go.

So when you anticipate doing your shopping do it at home and help your fellow townsman.

Boyd also says that the murderer is still being pursued by track dogs and a large posse of men.

The general belief is that McGriff was arrested, taken possession of by the mob and lynched, as at first reported.

The scene of the alleged lynching is thirty miles from here and all the information secured was by phone. Sheriff Boyd says he is sure the murderer has not been arrested and summarily dealt with as his deputy, Rohberg, has not returned and has not been heard from. Reports are conflicting and the only thing certain is that if the McGriff sought was arrested he was lynched.

SOME DOUBT ABOUT LYNCHING OF NEGRO.

Report at Moultrie Says Man Arrested Was Brother of Will McGriff.

Moultrie, Ga., July 12.—A report is current that Will McGriff, who yesterday killed W. L. Washington and a negro, Phiney, and seriously wounded two others, was not lynched by the mob at Baconton as at first reported. Sheriff Boyd says that McGriff was arrested yesterday afternoon at McGriff had been arrested and was in the hands of a mob. He supposed he was killed as numerous shots had been fired.

Sheriff Boyd, of Colquitt, now says that it was a brother of the murderer that was arrested at Baconton, and his identity was not established. He was lodged in jail at Camilla on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, as a pistol was found in his pocket at the time he was arrested. Sheriff

JOINER ARRESTED TAKEN TO BULLOCK

Citizen of This City Wanted For Alleged Crooked Transaction.

The Augusta Chronicle of July 8 contains the following information about the arrest of John B. Joiner formerly a carpenter in Sandersville, and later an active insurance agent in this and adjoining counties.

J. B. Joiner, a white man arrested here Thursday at the request of the sheriff of Bulloch County, was carried to Statesboro on the afternoon Central train to answer a charge of cheating and swindling Joiner's arrest was effected by motorcycle Policeman Alfred Wilhelm on information and description furnished by the authorities of Bulloch county. He was delivered to deputy sheriff Jones, who came here for the accused man yesterday.

Information received here is to the effect that Joiner is wanted in Washington county, also, there having been warrants issued for his arrest at Sandersville.

It is stated that he was arrested about a week ago by the sheriff at Savannah and was being taken back to Sandersville when he told the deputy some plausible story, promising to follow on the next train, and then made his escape to Augusta.

It is stated that Joiner has been acting as an insurance agent in several counties, getting applications and the original fee on policies, or for insurance, which the purchasers claim was never turned in.

Joiner is said to be of a very good family, and has generally been regarded very highly.

FARMERS HAVE BIG RALLY HERE.

Several Hundred Assemble to Hear Speeches Delivered by Prominent Speakers.

Several hundred people came to Statesboro Tuesday for the purpose of attending the big Farmers Union Rally at which T. J. Brooks was to speak. Long before the hour of the speaking wagon after wagon load of people poured into town and the crowd was rapidly swelled into hundreds.

Pros. Duckworth was also here and made a nice talk.

Mr. Brooks speech was well received and made its impression on the minds of his hearers and for several hours he held his audience at his will.

The Farmers Union is strong in Bulloch county and Mr. Brooks remarked that he had never seen a more interesting set of men assembled at a rally of the Union, which of course is quite a compliment to the Farmers of this county.

Prof. F. C. J. Dickens, president of the First District Agricultural college, was on the ground with the boys. Prof. Dickens is a great believer in agriculture. He has many friends throughout this county who are always glad to see and be with him.

The News extends its columns to the farmers of this section free of charge at any time a meeting or anything of interest it held, we would be glad to have a report of same.

Augusta, Ga., July 1, 1911.

Honorable Sir:

The Protestant Ministers Association of Augusta, comprising practically all the Evangelical churches of the city, together with the Richmond County Law Enforcement Committee, which latter organization originated from the call of more than three thousand voters of the city of Augusta for a law and order movement, beg leave to address you on an urgent and important matter.

We agree fully with the sentiment expressed in Governor Brown's message recently submitted to your honorable body that "law enforcement is the bedrock of civilization." The consequences which we represent—the best, and we believe, a majority, of the people in this city and county—are constantly annoyed and outraged, and the highest ideals of their civilization are continually imperiled, by reason of a most flagrant disregard of the state's law against the sale of intoxicating liquors. And this intoxicating line of lawlessness—for it cannot be otherwise properly characterized—is surely undergirded by the respect for all our laws, especially those meant to prevent extortion, gambling, the social evil and murder. Who cannot see this is either venally or politically blinded.

So nearly absolute is the disregard of the state law against liquor selling that the power of the local police is no longer invoked against it, and juries have contemptuously refused to return verdicts against offenders where the evidence has been as plain as truth itself. Nor is the local shame and disorder resulting from the unbridled reign of liquor lawlessness in Augusta, and in at least one other important center in eastern Georgia, the worst of this sad case. The unbridled distribution of liquor from these centers has flooded the counties of eastern and southeastern Georgia, so that the situation in many of the small towns is only less deplorable than if they maintained whiskey dives of their own. Travel on many of the railroads leading out of these centers has come to be attended by a certain and constant peril on account of the ease and persistence with which drink is distributed to bibulous and drunken visitors.

The invariable excuse given by unfaithful officials pleaded by interested attorneys, and discussed by at least one of our judges, in bono, is, that the so-called near license statute, with its ambiguous clauses and other considerations negatives or else embarrasses the execution of the original clear cut prohibition law of Georgia. Certain it is that this money consideration paid by the near beer vendor to both state and city has been a covert for lawlessness, and for its part the city government has become an impotent witness of wide spread disorder and law infraction, and, at the bar of public opinion, is convicted of complicity in defying the authority of the state.

And now, again, we beg to express an agreement with the late gubernatorial message in the sentiment that machinery should be devised for the enforcement of whatever laws are necessary for the protection of society. That a law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors is necessary to the protection of society there can be no longer a doubt in the minds of those who have taken even a partial view of the evil done the morals and health of humanity by drink.

All the standard works on Medicine and Physiology, all the widely endorsed works of sociology and civic ideals, all the standard and cyclopedias, the bulletins of life insurance companies and the official circulars of most of the great railway systems with one accord deery the drink habit as hurtful and evil, and destructive of life, health and efficiency. It is therefore, not for a moment to be thought that Georgi will go backward in her legislation on this subject.

Not only the health, the morals and the commercial well being of our people demand the maintenance and enforcement of all prohibition law, but the honor of the state demand it.

To resist to substitute for state-wide prohibition any expedient—would be to surrender the honor and authority of the state to a "sentiment" which is alien to the ideals of a vast majority of our people: a "sentiment" fostered by the whiskey business and by venal influences far beyond the radius of the state. To recede one step from our position of state wide prohibition would be to invite a return of our old time troubles with an added horde of evils and disorders.

We therefore earnestly pray that our clear-cut prohibition law may be permitted to stand, but we request and demand the repeal of the so-called near beer statute, the abolition of the locker system, and the elimination from the statute book of any addenda to the prohibition law which have been found to embarrass in any way its complete execution.

Hones Medicines Versus Fakes.

President Taft's recent message suggesting an amendment to the Pure Food and Drugs law in its relation to Prepared Medicines, does not refer to such standard medicines as Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and Foley Kidney Pills, both of which are true medicines carefully compounded of ingredients whose medicinal qualities are recognized by the medical profession itself as the best known remedial agents for the diseases they are intended to counteract. For over three decades Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been a standard remedy for coughs, colds and affections of the throat, chest and lungs for children and for grown persons, and it retains today its pre-eminence above all other preparations of its kind. Foley Kidney Pills are equally effective and meritorious. W. H. Ellis Co.

ONE COW'S RECORD.

It is certainly surprising what a little attention to the breeding, feeding and management of dairy cows has accomplished. On the College Farm at Athens, a pure-bred Holstein heifer, with her first calf, Lady Blanche by name, has made the very interesting record indicated below, she being twenty-seven months old when the lactation period commenced.

She has been in milk for ten months, and during that time has given 5,067.8 pounds of milk, or 52.15 gallons, or better than two and a half gallons a day for every day she was in milk. During these ten months she consumed $13.95 worth of cotton seed meal, her daily ration in the summer when on pasture being two to three pounds of meal with such rough feed as she gathered for herself on a good Bermuda sod, and in the winter time, about 5 pounds of cotton seed meal with 30 to 40 pounds of silage and a little shredded corn stover as a dry roughness. It will be seen that she was fed on materials available on every farm so that it was not because of special circumstances that she was able to make her fine record.

The total cost of feeding this cow for her ten months in question, including the meal and silage consumed, and allowing a good rent for the pasture, was $36.52. The cost of the feed in the summer was about $2.02 a month, and in the winter about $4.15. Her milk did vary by months from 505.2 to 521.1 pounds. The milk was sold at 40 cents a gallon. It was bottled and delivered to customer along with the other cows, but was put up in a sanitary manner and reached the consumer in good condition. Instead of figuring the returns, however, on the basis of 40 cents a gallon, 30 cents has been used. Even then the gross returns from the sale of her milk amounted to $249.45. Subtracting from this the cost of the feed, there still remains a profit of $212.63. The question arises then as to what it cost to deliver the milk. Even at 5 cents a gallon this would only amount to $41.57, leaving still $171.06 net profit.

In this connection it should not be forgotten that the animal has not been credited with the value of the fertilizing constituents contained in the manure, which would reduce the cost of delivering the milk considerably. Moreover, the calf dropped by this cow sold for $50.00 net cash in Athens; so it will be seen that she made after all a profit with milk selling at 30 cents a gallon of about $225.00. This represents the value of three bales of cotton at 15 cents a pound, yet the feeding and care of the cow did not require a greater outlay than would have been entailed in producing three bales of cotton. It is true that she required attention every day and that the dairy business on this account is somewhat confining, but one must also remember in this connection that through the maintenance of cows of this character, it is possible to build up the fertility of the land very materially, and to utilize advantageously at home, our great, concentrated-cotton seed meal.

It will be said at once that this was an exceptional animal, and that there were facilities for feeding and handling her which the average farmer does not possess. It is true that this cow was a pure-bred animal of a breed that has been developed through long years of effort on the part of the owners. In other words, she is not an accident, but she represents the intelligence of the human mind put into the development of a dairy machine; yet there is no reason why thousands of farmers should not maintain cows of equal capacity on their plantations and enough of them at that to add several hundred dollars profit annually to the right side of the ledger, while supplying the towns and cities of Georgia with larger quantities of fresh milk and butter.

Some will urge that they have no silo, and therefore cannot have a grass substitute for the winter feeding period. While, of course, this is desirable, hulled, shredded stover or some of the clover or cowpeas which may be grown and made into hay make a fair substitute for silage. Then in most parts of the state some of the cereals may be seeded in the late summer and will render a succulent crop available for pasture during a good part of the winter season. There is always an abundance of choice cotton seed meal available at prices which enable every farmer to use it with advantage and profit for supplying the concentrated portion of the ration.

It may be urged that the initial investment in cows of this character would be too great and inadvisable in territory infested with ticks. There is some truth in this argument, but it is not necessary to maintain a pure-bred herd in order to conduct a profitable dairy business in Georgia, since a grade animal which cost $35.00 produced on the College farm last year in a single lactation period 5051.5 pounds of milk at a cost of $34.21. She made a handsome net profit on the investment, and she was typical of a large number of cows which are now literally eating their heads off for the owners, but which under proper conditions of feeding and management may be made to pay a handsome dividend. This record has been quoted to show the possibilities of the dairy business in the South and is not a marked exception, as some might suppose, as there are a number of animals in Georgia which have undoubtedly made as good and probably better records, and there are scattered here and there in herds throughout the Southern States.

The approach of the boll weevil makes it necessary that more attention be given to the diversification of crops and the building up of our animal industries. We have the foodstuffs and the general conditions necessary to conducting the dairy business on profitable lines. All that is needed is to direct public attention more towards the importance and profitability of this line of industry, and to have our people realize more completely that the great weakness in our system of agricultural practice is the absolute devotion of their effort to the production of cotton to the exclusion of other lines of business which are equally desirable and remunerative.

Cows Astray.

Strayed from my home, four miles east of Brooklet, March 1st, 1911, five head of cattle. One dark red cow, star in face, horn slightly broken; one light and white cow with unmarked heifer yearling; two three-year-old heifers; one yellow and white the other red and white. Four of the cattle marked—under square in one ear, crop and upper bit in the other. Any information will be gladly received by Full for a greater Statesboro.

Now comes more politics, who will be governor of Georgia? Little Joe seems to be the favorite.

Governors race this year, also one next year along with the presidential election, can some one tell us if there will be any politics in 1913.

Tom Watson, Joe Brown, Joe Terrell and Hoke Smith should now and for ever more hold their piece.

Why can't South Georgia put a candidate for governor, it looks to us as if we might squeeze in a governor, senator or something of the kind.

Will South Georgia stick if they should put out a candidate, this seems to be the big cry around the capital, well let us try and see what can be done.

Get the habit of sending your news to the News, Statesboro, Ga.

Hon. Pope Brown, Dick Russell and others have announced Governor, this is the latest dope.

Now comes Joe and Hoke with a strong argument who should finish the term in Senate. Oh shut up, both of you have had your say, now is the time to quit.

The Georgia Weekly Press, is holding its annual meeting in Cartersville this week, after which they will take a steamer trip to New York, which will of course be some show to a country editor.

Bully for the warm weather, if it continues to make the legislature rush the business.

BUSINESS STOPS WHEN ADVERTISING STOPPE.

Atlanta is one of the best advertised cities in America. It is advertised in every possible way. Incidentally it is one of the big growing cities of America. If Atlanta were to stop advertising - if its merchants were to discontinue their pages and half pages, and sometimes ten-page ads. business in Atlanta would very soon stop. Also there would be no more high water mark records at any rate.

Here's what actually happened in Chicago when the ads. of the merchants did not reach the people daily because of the failure of the papers to print it. It is told by Herbert S. Gunnison Leslie's Weekly:

"This is an age of advertising. We cannot do business successfully without it. Recently when the Chicago papers stopped publication for three days, business in the city stores was practically at a standstill. I remember when certain large establishments in New York boasted that they did not advertise or said that a satisfied customer was the best advertisement. Tiffany, Brokaw Brothers and other widely known houses did not advertise but they do today, and so does every large concern. In those days the merchant sold his goods over the counter and the manufacturer sent out his salesmen but today people buy the goods which they want and which they know something about because of the information given by the advertisements." - August Herald.

THE SEWERAGE QUESTION.

In our last issue we announced our position on the sewerage question, but since our last issue quite a little comment has been circulated on the promptness of the committee to report, and about them not going into details, etc., AND SO NO.

The News is not trying to dictate to any one, nor either are we driving at any one in particular, but from our way of thinking we think that the Mayor and council of STATESBORO did the proper thing when they sat in joint conference with the citizens on July 4th and appointed a committee made up from the COUNCIL AND THE CITIZENS OF STATESBORO, "COMMON SENSE" teaches us and will teach us for years to come that the mayor and council did the right thing.

The committee selected by them at the meeting on July 4th are men that it does not take a century to see the needs and wants OF THE CITIZENS, of course we don't think they surveyed every inch of ground in and around Statesboro, but we know that this committee gave this as much consideration as was necessary to see that SEWERAGE was needed and wanted here in the city we now reside. This committee was selected from far-seeing and broad minded men, men that have the welfare of the town at heart and who are at all times willing to sacrifice themselves for the betterment of the town and in as much as this committee was selected and after giving this due consideration and making it clear to the minds of the people at large, then we should back them to the last ditch, give them the hearty support of all Statesboro, when election is called, show them that we have their report in our minds. "COMMON SENSE" teaches us that no few men would render a decision of this kind unless they themselves thought that it was needed and such was the report of the sub-committee.

Our city fathers as well as this committee should and will have our support in this matter, we feel that they have and will continue to serve the city of Statesboro to the best of their knowledge and as long as this is done we will back them to "frazzle".

We do not fall out with any one for having their own views but we ask that you give the sewerage question due consideration before casting your vote against the same, remember that the health of your family is as much at stake as any one else's.

SMALL FARMS.

These are interesting and suggestive figures. One of the arguments against immigration to the South used to be that land owners in the South didn't want to sell their lands but proposed to keep this heritage for their children. The breaking up of the big farms and the increase of the small farm owners both white and black in the state of South Carolina indicates that this argument no longer has force.

Incidentally the more farm owners there are in a state, the more valuable becomes the whole land of the state and the holders of large tracts of land are realizing that by selling half, they can get large sums of money and at the same time increase a hundred fold the land they keep.

Doubtless labor conditions and intensive farming and the new development on agricultural lines all through the South has much to do with the increase in the number of small farm owners. The next ten years ought to see the South more populous and richer and with more and more small farm owners.

The above from the Augusta Herald, in our minds carries some good advice to the big plantation owners of South Georgia. Bullough county is no doubt different from any county in the state, as we have here very few large plantation owners. The majority of the farmers of this section are men that own their own farm, but to those that have large tracts of land we take the Herald's view and agree that it should be sold to the individual farmer, which would add greatly to the farmer's strength.

REST ROOM FOR THE LADIES.

We notice that the ladies that come from the near by towns and country have no rest room, and lots of times have to go to some neighbor's house or sit around the stores all day, which is very inconvenient to them. There are from three to five hundred ladies coming and going in and going out of Statesboro every week and one-half of them that come here are people that are required to sit in the stores half of the time if not all, when if a rest room was fixed up for them in some nice quiet place near the center of the town it would be of a great convenience to them and would help bring more people to town, ladies would then feel that they had some place to go.

This will add considerably to the welfare of Statesboro, we would like to see our merchants take hold of this and fix some comfort for the ladies.

For Sale.

Will sell at a sacrifice the following property for cash: three shares stock in Citizens Bank of Pulaski, Ga., one good six room dwelling in Ga., one good six room dwelling in the city of Pulaski, Ga., with nice roomy garden and orchard. Reason for selling, need the money, and mean to sell same for cash at once. For further information apply to J. W. Donnadson, Dublin, Ga.

FINE PEACHES.

Daniel Bouie, of Route No. 4, came Friday and presented the editor with some fine peaches. The peaches were on a limb and all were bunched together some what similar to a bunch of grapes. One bunch had 14 peaches on it and was only a foot long while the other one was some smaller. These are the first peaches of this kind reported in Georgia. Mr. Bouie is one of our most progressive farmers and this speaks for his own grade of peaches.

MEMORY OF R. R. CARR.

On Monday morning, April 3, just as the sun was peeping up over the eastern hills, death's angel visited the home of Mrs. R. R. Carr and took away her dear and loving companion, papa, who was a sufferer of pneumonia one week and two days. He was born June 19, 1855 in Wilkinson county, Ga., died April 3, 1911, at Wadley, Ga., Jefferson Co., making his stay on earth 55 years 9 months and 15 days. He was happily married to Miss Alice Cannon Jan 19, 1879, of this union were ten children, two departed this life when infants. He received a sweet hope in Christ when quite a boy, though young as he was he united himself with Concord Methodist Church in Wilkinson county, and there lived a devoted Christian until he moved to Bulloch Co., Metter, Ga. in 1880. He was a great worker in Sunday School at Concord serving as superintendent for years. He joined the Missionary Baptist at Salem Church, Metter, Ga. in 1890 and was baptized by his pastor Rev. Joe Scarborough. He moved to Statesboro, Ga. in 1897 put his letter in Friendship Church, where he lived a true Christian until he moved to Wadley in 1908, he carried his letter to the First Baptist Church at Wadley, where it remained until the blessed Lord saw fit to call him home. He was a kind and gentle husband, affectionate papa, loving son and brother, and a true friend. The church has lost one of its faithful members, mama has lost an affectionate husband, a child a kind and loving papa, and the community its brightest example, whose place can never be filled. He was funeralized by his beloved pastor Rev. R. D. DeWese April 4, at the First Baptist church at Wadley. At the funeral they sang his favorite songs which were, "Asleep in Jesus," "Why Not Now," "I Am Going Home to Die No More."

Oh! it was so heart-breaking for me to stand by that open casket and view my papa's sweet face the last time on this earth, it just seemed like I could not bear it. It has been said that the "choicest" flowers are always plucked first. This saying was verified in the subject of this sketch. Oh! how hard it was to give him up, though we all try to content ourselves by thinking that he is better off in the Saviors tender care than he could have been here, and try to prepare ourselves to meet him in the rest beyond.

But I do hope and believe that he is today in a home bright and fair where no pain or death can enter there. Papa is missed so much at church for he was always there, the days and nights never got too cold and bad for him not to go and carry some of the family, his seat is vacant which no one can fill, no one can cast into the preacher's eye the look of true sympathy so strength giving to Gods messenger as papa did. Of this character it is scarcely possible to do justice without using terms which might seem fulsome to those who did not know him. He was a loyal and saintly man, his good works bled even though often hidden from his nearest friends. Papa always had a sweet smile and kind word for all, and carried sunshine wherever he went, all who knew him loved him. Oh! it is hard to speak the word, that I can never see my papa's sweet face on earth again, can never see his quick foot steps or hear his kind and gentle voice, but he will never come again. I can go to him but he cannot come to me. Seemingly I miss him more and more at all times. Papa cared nothing for the wealth and treasures of this earth, his were to lay treasures for his "home on high" where he is to-day enjoying them with friends and loved ones gone before.

I have heard the last sigh of a dear loving papa and held his pale hand as I stood by his bed, when the angel of death laid his cold

BOYS DISTURBED

PUBLIC WORSHIP!

In Some of Our Churches in the Country—Should be Stopped.

On Sunday night not many weeks past, I happened to have the privilege of attending a church at one of their services, and I could not help but take special notice of some six or eight young lads, age from 16 to 18, coming in the church when services were about half through, making as much noise as they possibly could, in order to let everybody know that "Bill" was in town, "all crowding into an already partly filled aisle, just in order to be near each other for the benefit of conversing, laughing and otherwise amusing themselves, and all during the entire sermon, they would seem to be so enthused they would go as far as to (in a mimic way) cheer the pastor by clapping their hands on their hats, this to avoid being heard farther than their own crowd.

Now boys, you fail to take notice there were others that attended this same service, for the benefit derived therefrom, and they could hear your giging, and otherwise disturbance, both in front and behind you, as well as your pals beside you, and you also overlooked the fact that you have violated a very serious law, regarding disturbing public worship. If you cannot go to church without misbehaving, it will in the long run, save you embarrassment, as well your father and mother, to keep you at home, until you become old enough to recognize the importance of behaving during public worship.

I could not help from paying particular notice to one among this crowd, who all during the prayer, would "Amen" from start to finish, this is not his first attempt at such, and if it cannot stop one way, then it can another.

Young man, you should be very careful how you try to use our churches throughout the country for a house of myth, and those of you who may have been among this crowd should be careful in being too ready to laugh at their hilarious and mimic performances, as you too are just as liable.

The church is a place of grave, solemnity, quietness, and prayer, no one should expect, just for past time to drop in and see how many people's attention they can withdraw from the services; but should join some minstrel show, where you will receive pay for your performances, on the other hand, as such performances as this young man was guilty of has laid himself liable to prosecution and will be pretty costly showing off.

Now I have made no mention of town, or church, but just for the sake of your parents this has been done; but beware young men of your future conduct in our churches, regardless of denomination, or you may be made to suffer for your little fun making, we have your names, also good reliable witnesses.

This has not been the first offense, as I understand; but several.

FROM HOT SPRINGS, ARK.

Hot Springs, Ark., July 12, 11.
To the Editor of the Statesboro News:
Sir—If you will allow me space in your valuable paper I will write a short letter to my friends. I am in Hot Springs, Ark., been here three weeks today. I left home with a very bad case of rheumatism, but I now feel somewhat improved. I will be here some time yet. Hot Springs is a fine town of about 20,000 inhabitants. There are about 40 of those springs, where the water is coming out of the bottom of the mountains almost boiling hot, and there are 23 bath houses here, all under the management of the U. S. government. Besides the government reservation there are supposed to be about 2,000 people bathing daily, most of them for different diseases. When I say bath I do not mean just going in the water a little and then come out. They first go in the warm water, then in the vapor room, then in the sweat room, then take the massage bath, then in the cooling room. It all takes from 1 1/2 to 2 hours. About half the houses here are hotels and you can get good board from $8 to $20 per week. It must be the greatest health resort in the world, as there are people here from all over the United States, and it seems like from everywhere else.
Yours truly,
J. AUSTIN BRANNEN.

Union Rally a Success

The Farmers Union Rally, at Union School House on July 13th was a success. All the adjoining localities were well represented. The crowd gathered from far and near from early morning till after the program had begun. The house was well as the porch was crowded to its full capacity.

One day was a suitable one for an occasion of this kind; it was cloudy and cooler than some we have had. This put a good feeling on the audience and the speakers to the fore. Col. A. M. Deal, though he is a non-union man, opened the program with an eloquent and impressive speech. He told the farmers of the necessity of organization and how the men of other occupations were organized.

The next speaker was Mr. S. J. Cowan, one of the leading Farmers Union lecturers. He is up to his eyes in the matter. The farmer was his main topic. He unraveled him from start to finish, telling him of the advantages they have and the minor uses he is making of them. The audience was very attentive throughout the time of the speaking and seemed to take in most of what was said.

After the speeches the Chairman announced that he thought there would be a plenty of "grub" to come from the wagons and buggies scattered over the hill. This pleased all. After a few minutes all doubts as to the dinner question were settled, when a table several feet long showed forth a bounteous supply of good things. When dinner was over the program was ended and the crowd remained for a while to exchange views. The interest shown during the day goes to show that the day is fast dawning when the farmers will own a greater share of Georgia's garment.

Foley Kidney Pills are composed of ingredients special selected for their corrective, healing, tonic and stimulating effect upon the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages. They are anti-septic, antilithic and a uric acid solvent. W. H. Ellis Co.

J. POPE BROWN ENDORSED BY HOME COUNTY.

Citizens of Pulaski County Adopted Resolutions 1897 Urging Him to Run.

Following the election of Gov. Hoke Smith to the United States Senate on joint ballot of the Georgia Legislature on Wednesday, Hon. J. Pope Brown, of Hawkinsville, who has just retired as State Treasurer, in response to resolutions adopted in mass meeting by his fellow citizens of Pulaski county Wednesday evening, announced his candidacy for Governor to fill the unexpired term of Governor Smith.

From last week's issue of the Bartow Tribune, Cartersville, the following foreword of Mr. Brown and something of his record is gathered, which may be of interest at this time, to wit:

"For several years Mr. Brown has been urged to offer for Governor, and in 1897 the citizens of his home county, Pulaski, in mass meeting unanimously adopted a resolution requesting him to make the race, but being a close personal friend of Allen D. Chandler, who had already announced, Mr. Brown declined to oppose him, and ex-Congressman Chandler was elected. As will be remembered, Mr. Brown had about decided to enter the race for Governor four years ago, but in deference to Hoke Smith he withdrew and Mr. Smith was elected and served two years, and is now just beginning a second term.

"Mr. Brown represented Pulaski county in the Legislature for four years, being re-elected after his first term without opposition. He was Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, and was really the prime factor in the later establishment of the Agricultural Schools, although the bill he introduced to establish an Agricultural College in connection with the State Experiment Station failed of passage.

He was, therefore, a little in advance of the movement. In 1896 he was made President of the State Agricultural Society, although not present at the convention and had in no way solicited the honor. He continued to serve the society for five years, during which time the interests of the Society and of Agriculture in general were greatly advanced and he injected into the system some of his own practical, common sense methods and business practices.

"Under an appointment from Gov. Chandler, Mr. Brown served as Railroad Commissioner for five years, succeeding L. N. Traummel, who died in office, and upon the retirement of Spencer R. Atkinson was made Chairman of the Commission. Mr. Brown was not a candidate for re-election, and later Governor Smith offered him a place on the Commission, but this he declined to accept. When a vacancy was occasioned in the office of State Treasurer by the death of Robert E. Park in May, 1900, Governor Smith appointed Mr. Brown. He was not a candidate for the position and is succeeded by W. J. Speer.

public life stamps him as a pure clean, true man who can be trusted along all lines.

"Although a graduate of Mercer University, class of 1873, Mr. Brown himself says that the four years spent in the school taught by Gov. W. J. North in Hancock Co., was the beginning and ending of his education. In his early boyhood days he was also a student at Cave Springs. After graduating, Mr. Brown took a position in a cotton warehouse, where he both worked and slept, the meanest of his own practical, common sense methods and business practices.

THE MASTER'S WORK.

It is the Master's work we do,
Within our lives he stands;
He walks with our swift-hurrying feet,
And pines our busy hands.

His love it is within our hearts;
His wisdom makes us wise;
His deathless passion in our souls;
His cross before our eyes.

Our weakness and our faithfulness,
Our sins are all our own;
But all the good and true in us
Belongs to Him alone.

O Master, we would live to Thee!
Make us a living word,
Till every heart-beat is Thine own,
And love our sovereign Lord.

—Oliver Huckel.

BIG CROWD ATTENDS REUNION

Wednesday, the 19th, as stated in the News before, was set apart for the old soldiers of Bulloch county. All were invited to attend. The meeting was not to be called to order at 10 o'clock, but long before this time people began to come in town and on every train, large crowds arrived, and it was soon seen that crowds from all over the county would be in attendance.

The soldiers met in regular session at the appointed time, and after all business was transacted several speeches were made by attending veterans and others.

Among the speakers were Col. J. A. Brannen, A. M. Deal and R. Lee Moore.

After the speaking the veterans marched to the Jaekel hotel and dinner served them. The camp adopted some very important resolutions, which are found in this issue. These resolutions are important to the old Confederates, and as the camp is one of the strongest in the state. They resolutions which they adopted will no doubt be taken to the national convention which will be held in Macon in 1912. The citizens of Statesboro are always glad to have the "old boys" meet here and hear their old time war whoops.

Resolved, further that in the case of this camp while in session that any city applying for a reunion, either State or National, shall first guarantee not to advance on hotel fare and to furnish veterans with comfortable lodging other than camping in tents, as was the case at the reunion convenes.

Resolved, further that in the case of this camp while in session that any city applying for a reunion, either State or National, shall first guarantee not to advance on hotel fare and to furnish veterans with comfortable lodging other than camping in tents, as was the case at the reunion convenes.

As published in our last week's issue, the big sale at Chas. E. Cone's is attracting considerable attention from the buyers that grasp opportunities.

As stated in last issue Mr. Cone is offering his stock at a greatly reduced price so as to lay in a heavy stock for the coming fall trade and inasmuch as this sale will mark the closing out of all his stock as he has sold a half interest to Mr. C. H. Anderson. Big crowds are attending this sale each day, which shows that advertising in the News pays and "turns the trick." If you have not attended this sale it would be to your advantage to do so.

Never leave home on a journey without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed and cannot be obtained when on board the cars or steamships. For sale by all dealers.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY VETS WEDNESDAY

Statesboro, Ga., July 19, 1911.—We, the Confederate Veterans of Bulloch county assembled this day in our annual reunion do hereby acknowledge and desire to express our appreciation to the citizens of Statesboro for their kind hospitalities shown us Wednesday. SCHOOL CLOSURES AT DELOACH.

The school closed today, Friday at DeLoach's with several prominent speakers to enliven the occasion. Among them was Prof. E. C. J. Dickens, who was the principal speaker. Prof. Dickens' speech was along the lines of education and agriculture. For some time he held the audience spell bound, pointing out the advantages of these recollections rendered in their speeches delivered to us.

GEORGIA' A NAME TO CONJURE WITH.

The name "Georgia" is still a name to conjure with. The word has been in a far western state orator from the Empire State of the South talk to an audience of Nor-westerners who never saw the hills of Haversham in their morning glory of cloud and forest, who never threaded the flowery bowers of the valleys of Hall along the banks of the river that murmured the "Song of the Chattahoochee."

Talk about Georgia, just Georgia, and those auditors would catch the undefinable subtle something in the air and literally tell themselves house over "Georgia."

One of the best toasts to Georgia recently given to the public is one by Superintendent Lawton B. Evans of Augusta, the city superintendent of schools, and it is as follows:

"Georgia—the last of the original thirteen states, the home of the poor and oppressed, who shielded her sister colonies from invasion of the Spaniards and protected her from the incursions of the savages."

"Georgia—who gave Alabama and Mississippi to the union of states, upon whose soil the cotton gin was devised, from whose shores the first sailed steamship to cross the Atlantic ocean; from whose colony a woman first received a diploma, and one of whose sons first relieved tortured humanity by the application of ether for the relief of pain."

"Georgia—who contributed Crawford, Tombs, Stephens, and Hill to the pages of heroic history, where Lanier sang his 'Song to the Chattahoochee,' where Uncle Remus told his stories to the little boys, and where the silver tongue of Henry Grady told the story of her sons who slept in glory on a hundred fields of battle."

"Georgia the largest state in the South but one, where willing nature is wooed by ardent industry, and the songs of her 3,000,000 children unite in happy harmony, as they sing the praises of the Empire State of the South."

INVESTIGATING THE EXPRESS COMPANIES.

Special to the News. Washington, D. C., July 20.—It is now the most people that the Interstate Commerce Commission has undertaken the investigation of the express companies. The announcement that this policy has just been decided on is misleading, for the Commission has had men in the field for months making a searching inquiry into the business methods of the companies. As a result of this investigation it is believed, the carriers under investigation filed new schedules which are probably intended to meet some of the more serious complaints regarding the manner of conducting the express business. It has been contended for a long time that the express monopoly was making excessive profits. It will gratify the public if something can be done to insure more equitable charges for service and better protection to the customers of the companies.

The Sheep Census.

According to the Census Bureau, the sheep industry has not shown any material change since the last census in 1900. Excluding lambs, because of the difference in the time of year when the census was taken, it is shown that there were 39,470,312 wool-producing sheep in 1910, as compared with 39,852,967 for 1900. Corrected figures are expected to show an actual decrease of about 1 per cent from 1900. Taking the returns by geographical divisions, there was a decrease of about 1,000,000 sheep in the North Atlantic division, in the South Atlantic division there was a decrease of about 154,000, and in the South Central division the decrease was about 163,000. In the North Central division there was scarcely any change, 10,069,451 being reported in 1910, or only some 14,000 more than in 1900. The Western division showed an increase of about 1,000,000 sheep.

It is worse than useless to take any medicines internally for muscular or chronic rheumatism. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by all druggists.

Buffalo Increasing.

The American Bison Society made a careful census and found that there were 2,108 pure-blooded buffalo in North America as compared with 1,917 when the 1908 census was made. Of these buffalo 1,007 are in captivity in the United States, 626 are in captivity in Canada, and 475 are wild. In 1908 there were 1,116 buffalo in captivity in the United States and of these a considerable number was purchased by the Canadian government, but the buffalo census shows an actual increase of about 200. The largest herds in private hands now are at Belvidere, Kans.; Roman, Mont.; Newport, N. H.; Pawnee, Okla.; Goodnight, Tex.; and on Antelope Island, Great Salt Lake.

Stopping Customs Leak

For many years, according to the customs officials, the government has been losing large sums of money annually because the importers of Sicilian lemons did not pay duty on all the sound fruit they imported. When Collector Lusk discovered this leak the authorities set about the making of regulations which would stop the leak. They finally decided to base the amount of duty on the weight of the lemons (which are sometimes water-soaked), on the samples shown by the importers to the trade. The Secretary of the Treasury approved this plan, but the importers protested that it was not fair. "Why not?" asked Secretary McVeh. The importers could make no satisfactory reply, so the order stands, and government will save much money.

Congress Is Weak.

There is no dodging the fact that Congress is anxious to avoid the consideration of legislation at this session except what it simply must take up. Statehood for New Mexico and Arizona, reapportionment, direct elections of senators, Panama Canal matters, Panama Exposition matters, army legislation, conservation legislation, the control of corporations, these are some of the things which are clamoring for attention and which seem destined to go over. An exception may be made of a resolution for the President to invite Latin-American countries to exhibit at the Panama-California Exposition in San Diego in 1915, which Col. D. C. Collier, Director General, here to urge, as that is not looked on as legislation, strictly speaking.

The Handman and Nicaraguan treaties, involving loans, are not likely to go through this session, and there is great disappointment because the countries to the southward are pretty hard up and need the money.

President Will Assist.

An event of international significance will occur July 19, when President Taft will assist in breaking ground for the completion and opening of the Panama Canal. President Taft will press a button which will close an electric circuit in San Diego, Cal., and "break out" a great flag—the President's own flag—especially constructed of unusually large size for the particular event—right over the spot where the ceremonies are to take place. The ceremonies will last four days and will be of unique splendor. The President very cheerfully promised Director-General D. C. Collier that he would do this, for he said, he took an unusual interest in the San Diego Exposition because it will exploit the achievement of Uncle Sam in reclaiming, irrigating, foresting and conserving and it also aims to bring together the Latin-American republics and unite them in an illustration of what has been done in the development of the New World. While not outlined on such a large scale as the Panama-Pacific Exposition to be held coincidentally in San Francisco, the San Diego Exposition, with $2,500,000 already available, has a definite plan, an idea, and promises to be an artistic, financial and industrial triumph.

Game Protection.

The Department of Agriculture has made careful estimates of the number of deer killed last season and it announces that the states for which statistics are available the bag was made for deer. No estimate was made for California and some other states in the West, such as New Hampshire, North Carolina and South Carolina, where statistics were available. The allowances for such states, the number of deer killed in the United States last year is estimated at 75,000 to 80,000. The number of elk killed is put at 2,000, or less, and of moose 3,050.

Penned for Husbands Only

When you bring your wife home a box of candy always eat it up yourself. It will make her glad to see you enjoying yourself.

Don't ever listen to anything your wife is telling you. You might make her think she is your equal.

Always come into the house with a smile on your face. It will make your wife wonder in whose company you have been.

Never talk to your wife at the breakfast table. If you say nothing you can never be accused of saying sarcastic things.

Never commend the coffee. Your wife will be sure to imagine that she can try a cheaper grade and save some of her housekeeping money.

Let the children use all the slang they want to. By doing this you may pick up some forceful new expression yourself.

If you are going to be late for dinner, never take the time to telephone. The servant may quit but your wife won't.

Give your wife a regular allowance, but borrow the most of it back during the week. This will teach her economy and an economical wife is a husband's blessing.

Don't bother to lift your hat to your wife when you meet her in the street. Too much attention makes a woman vain.

Never let your wife know when you are going to bring a friend home to dinner. The little surprises are the spices of life.

Never fail to remind your wife on her birthday how young and slender she looked the first time you saw her. Loving memories are honey to women's hungry hearts.

When your wife is telling a story to your guests, always be sure to interrupt her and finish it yourself. A true woman always appreciates a husband's aid.

Never go to church with your wife on Sunday morning. The offender you go the offender she will expect you to, and you might get the habit.

If your wife says she has a headache, just laugh at her. There is nothing like laughter to lighten life's burdens.

Always believe everything your wife tells you, and by and by she may begin to believe some of the things you tell her.

Never explain where you have been when you have been out late at night. If you do it once you'll have to do it always.

Don't ever take the trouble to be courteous to your wife's women friends. The ruder you are to them the more they will sympathize with her, and all women love sympathy.

Never forget to remove your collar as soon as you get home. An untidy husband excellently chastens an impatient wife.—Selected.

SMITH REMOVES HITCH'S MILITARY "SENTENCE"

Capt R. M. Hitch, Involved for Statesboro Riots, Relieved of Disabilities

Governor Smith Saturday morning signed an order removing all military disabilities resting upon Capt. Robert M. Hitch, of Savannah, who was court-martialed, as a result of the famous Statesboro riots of 1904. Captain Hitch is a brother of Executive Secretary Calvin M. Hitch, and is one of the best known and most successful lawyers of Chatham county.

The disabilities resting against Captain Hitch barred him from holding office or serving in the national guard of Georgia, and were placed upon him by order of Gov. J. M. Terrell during his administration.

Captain Hitch, First Lieut. Georgia A. First Georgia infantry, at Statesboro on August 15 and 16 1904. The troops had been ordered from Savannah to Statesboro to protect Cato and Reed, negroes, who had murdered a family of prominent Bulloch county people.

After the negroes had been tried, convicted and sentenced to hang, a mob of infuriated citizens stormed the court house, overpowering the military, took the negroes and hanged them.

Captain Hitch, First Lieut. A. Morrison and Charles E. Cone, Second Lieut. Henry L. Griner were involved in the court-martial that ensued.

The finding of the court-martial

SOMEbody SWIPED HER GOOD CLOTHES.

When a man is caught in this fix it is sad, but when one of the dark town swells looses her glad rags it is pitiful, so this is a pitiful tale and is almost heart breaking to hear Lula Crawford tell of some one taking advantage of her absence as she was away during her faithful work on the Field's dairy wagon, without her consent taking all her good Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes, well such is the case, Lula was out on her regular rounds Saturday and upon returning to her beautiful little cottage that rests among the shanties at Field's farm was suddenly thrown into a panic when it was learned that some one had robbed all the darkies of their belongings, the intruder took particular pains to get the best in stock, so therefore the dark town population was not so well represented at church Sunday.

At this late hour no trace has been found of the robber or either of the clothes so Lula is still in deep mourning for the loss of her Mary Jane, Hobbie Skirt and almost broke into a cry when she said my Harem skirt is also missing. The Editor would ask that if any trace is found of the above clothes, that they would immediately notify Lula and she promises a great reward.

They are, hereby removed. It is further "ORDERED,"

"That a copy of this order be filed and made of record in the adjutant general's office."

In an interview with Mr. Baeot, superintendent of this road, he stated to a News reporter that the road was soon to begin the erection of a big freight depot with all modern conveniences, which when completed will be one of the best equipped freight stations in the state. Not only are they going to build a modern brick depot, but they are now and have been for the past few weeks laying several thousand feet of side track in Statesboro.

They are now constructing a side track that will reach to the rear of the Statesboro Grain Co., also connect with the new warehouse being erected by the Raines Hardware Co. Besides this they will put in a side track that will run to the rear of Smith's stable, which will enable Mr. Smith to ship and receive all his mules and horses at the rear of his barn.

When these tracks are completed the road will have spent something like $10,000 in side track-ago alone; besides this they have purchased about $35,000 worth of real estate near their depot. This real estate is rapidly being improved with buildings.

"There is little doubt but that the S. & S. is doing more for Statesboro and Bulloch county than any other enterprise in our bounds. The directors of the road have never declared any dividends, all the surplus money has been spent in improvements and at least one-half of that has been spent in Statesboro and Bulloch county, and inasmuch as this road is partly owned by Statesboro citizens it should have the support of the entire town."

Mr. D. N. Baeot, superintendent of the road has been a citizen of Statesboro for some five years and since he has been connected with the road it has gradually been improving. Under his leadership the future can not be predicted, but we venture to say that if he has done so much toward improving the road during his short stay here, he will ere long have one of the best short line roads in the state.

S. AND S. ADDING BIG IMPROVEMENTS

Probably few people in Statesboro realize the value of the Savannah and Statesboro railroad to the city of Statesboro the county of Bulloch. Few people stop to consider the past and present of this road, how it has grown from a mere tram road to one of the leading roads of the state. In 1898 when the road was first brought into Statesboro no doubt this was a mere hamlet; no one ever dreamed of the future of Statesboro and the Savannah & Statesboro railroad, but as Statesboro began her rapid growth the broad-minded officials of the road saw great things in store for the future of Statesboro and at once began to lay plans that would not only benefit the people of this section but would also be of benefit to the road, and as Statesboro grew this road at once began to put in improvements to meet the demands of the people. People at once grasped their efforts and began to put business to the road and by straight-forward business methods and promptness they were at once looked on as the shortest and best passenger line to Savannah, also the best freight line to the East, West and North, and today this road is the best, shortest and safest route to any point in the state besides connecting in Savannah with steamers that will quickly put you in any part of the world.

In an interview with Mr. Baeot, superintendent of this road, he stated to a News reporter that the road was soon to begin the erection of a big freight depot with all modern conveniences, which when completed will be one of the best equipped freight stations in the state. Not only are they going to build a modern brick depot, but they are now and have been for the past few weeks laying several thousand feet of side track in Statesboro.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL ISSUES CATALOGUE.

First District School Has Issued a Very Attractive Catalogue

President E. C. J. Dickens of the First District Agricultural School has issued quite an attractive annual catalogue for his school. The News notices that the press of the State has been so attracted by this little book as to give many complimentary editorial reviews of it and are commending the school under the management of Mr. Dickens in very flattering terms. The book contains some 30 pages and is profusely illustrated with pictures of buildings, live stock, classes, laboratories, etc. The latter part of the book contains the graduating addresses of three of the Senior Class for 1911 upon very practical subjects.

Prof. Rowan and Pres. Dickens are exceedingly busy gathering material and erecting a large two story brick building on the school campus, the lower floor to be used for a dining room and kitchen and is constructed so as to have a seating capacity of 250 people at the table at one time, the second story to be for the President's home and for a dormitory for quite a number of girls.

This building is absolutely necessary to be able to furnish room for the great number of students who have made applications for admission to the school next term.

There is every indication of at least 200 boarding students this fall. The people of Bulloch county have woken up to the realization of what a valuable accession the institution is to them and are enjoying the fact that ours is indeed the largest and best agricultural school in the state. This fact has become general information all over Georgia. President Dickens said the other day, "That he fully believes that Bulloch county will have 50 students at the opening of the school and that seven county will likely have 40". Every other county in the district is represented in making application for rooms.

The News would suggest that every student who entertains an idea of entering this school had better write to the President immediately, get a catalogue and fill out and mail the formal application blank at once. The sooner you do this, the surer you would be to get room.

"DIXIE LAND."

Who knows the words to this, the favorite of patriotic melodies? We all know the music and it never fails to evoke applause, but few of us know the words.

Read the words of this famous song and analyze, if you can, its wonderful popularity. Except for the first verse and the chorus, it is devoid of "rhyme or reason."

The second line of the chorus contains the soul of the song, it is a patriotic outburst, which has come ringing down through the years. It was this one line of song, set in martial measures, which nerved the "boys in gray" to those splendid victories for "Dixie Land," and which today makes this the National air.

For the benefit of our readers, we give the authentic version of the song as it was in use during the Civil War:

I wish I was in de land oh cotton,
Old times dar am not forgotten,
Look away! Look away!
Look away! Dixie land!

In Dixie land whar I was born in,
Early on one frosty mornin',
Look away! Look away!
Look away! Dixie land.

CHORUS
Den I wish I was in Dixie, Hooryay!
In Dixie land I'll take my stand,
To lib and die in Dixie;
Away, away, away down south in Dixie,
Away, away, away down south in Dixie.

Old Missus marry Will, de weather
Will him was a gay de-er-er-er;
Look away! Look away!
Look away! Dixie land!

But when he put his arm around er,
He smiled as fierce as a forty pounder,
Look away! Look away!
Look away! Dixie land.

His face sharp as a butcher's cleaver,
But dat did not seem to grieve er;
Look away! Look away!
Look away! Dixie land!

Old Missus acted de foolish part,
And died for a man dat broke her heart,
Look away! Look away!
Look away! Dixie land!

Now, here's a health to de next old Missus;
And all de gals dat want to kiss us;
Look away! Look away!
Look away! Dixie land!

But if you want to drive way sorrow,
Come and hear this song tomorrow,
Look away! Look away!
Look away! Dixie land!

Dar's buck-wheat cakes an' 'Ingen' butter,
Makes you fat or a little fatter;
Look away! Look away!
Look away! Dixie land!

Den hoe it down an' scratch your griddle,
To Dixie land I'm bound to triddle;
Look away! Look away!
Look away! Dixie land!

FARMERS TO GET WEATHER REPORTS.

Those Living on Farmers' Line to Get Same Service As City People

Through an arrangement perfected between the United States Weather Bureau and the Southern Bell Telephone Company, more than 25,000 southern farmers will receive the daily weather reports by telephone beginning July 1st. The daily weather reports will be furnished the telephone company by the weather bureau, and the report will be read to the farmers by telephone operators. At a given hour each day a general alarm of five (5) long rings will be sounded, calling every farmer to the telephone. When they are all assembled the report will be read. Any farmer who is not able to answer the signal and hear the report has the privilege of calling the operator and securing the information.

Almost every farmer's telephone line connected with the Bell system has six or more subscribers, and by reading the report to each line the work can be speedily accomplished.

This is the first comprehensive and systematic effort to furnish this information without cost to the farmers of the south. The spread of the telephone in the rural districts in the past few years has made it possible to reach such a large number of farmers through the Bell system, and the dissemination of weather news by telephone is one of the many practical uses for the telephone on the farm.

The territory of the Southern Bell Company covers the states of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Virginia and the southern half of West Virginia.

"Tramping"
(A song to the tune of "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean.")
The sunshine lies out in the country,
The sweetness of nature is there;
The long open road, and the meadow,
The firs, lakes and woodland so fair.

Chorus:
Tramping, tramping,
A tramping the long open road for me,
Tramping, tramping,
Where sunshine and laughter are free.

Oh, give me my rest in a hay field,
Oh, give me my food in my hand;
Oh, give me a long road to tramping,
And give me this jolly old band,
Through sunshine, or showers and puddles,
We plod along, care free and gay;
The stars and the night breeze while sleeping,
And laughter and joy all the day,
So swing up your pack on your shoulder,
The long road is calling us all;
With stride that is eager and swinging,
We hasten to answer its call.

Men were never seasick till they went to sea, nor ailsick till they began the conquest of the air; but brought with it a new kind of ailment. Incidentally, it may be observed that this sudden seizure in mid-air may account for some of the wrecks which hitherto have appeared inexplicable. The rapid ascent of 3,000 feet, altering the atmospheric pressure, affects the respiration and the pulse, costing both the lungs and the heart greatly increased labor. Headache and nausea are the result. Just as mountain climbers are made ill by changing their altitude, so it is with aviators, but in a greater degree, because the change in the latter case is made more quickly. An aviator ascends much more rapidly than a mountain climber. But the birdman's descent is worse yet. He is accustomed to come down in ten minutes from an altitude attained by him in an hour or even longer. What is still more strange, aviators report a sudden seizure of drowsiness, like that of men about to freeze to death. The eyes close in spite of all that they can do to keep them open, than which nothing under such conditions could be more dangerous.—Exchanges.

One Cent A Word Column

Attorney Erwin and Accountant Johnson Will Get $150,000

Washington, D. C., July 19.—United States District Attorney Marion Erwin and Accountant E. L. Johnson have succeeded in recovering for the government about $750,000 from the hidden assets of $750,000 from the hidden assets of Col. B. D. Green and Col. John F. Gaynor, the Savannah heritor contractors who defrauded the government of $5,000,000. This is the full amount that the government is likely to realize, and is the result of nearly twelve years of effort. Most of the funds recovered were in bonds and stock. Over $200,000 was in cash. The asset were found in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, and Denver. Some bonds were located in Paris, but they could not be recovered. Over $100,000 has been dug up within the last year.

The compensation, with expenses of Messrs. Erwin and Johnson for their long search will amount to about $150,000.

A search of the official records showed that approximately $500,000 had been recovered from Capt. Carter. A suit in West Virginia to recover $60,000 from Greene is still pending and a civil suit to recover $10,000 from Gaynor's surety also is pending in New York. Total recoveries have consisted of $45,400.85 on Greene's bail bond and $20,631 recovered on some of Gaynor's investments.

Both Greene and Gaynor owe a fine of $531,149.90. Both, however, took the pauper's oath before they left the Atlanta penitentiary. They have sued the government for approximately $4,000,000 alleging abrogation of Savannah contracts. The case is now in the Court of Claims.

First Cotton Opened.

Mr. F. R. Blackburn of route one, has the distinction of being one of Bulloch's first farmers to report his cotton open. Mr. Blackburn came in our office Monday with a bale opened and informed us that he would have about a bale ready to pick the last of next week. He says that he has something like three acres that will produce a bale and a half to the acre. Bulloch will not doubt be about the first county in South Georgia to put new cotton on the market. Bulloch leads, others follow, how is that for a motto among the farmers.

Mr. F. B. Thigpen has returned from a trip to Warm Springs. While away, he attended the first convention of the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce at Barusville, and says that their meeting was quite a success. Officers were elected and the organization was made complete. The next meeting will be held in Tifton.

W. S. Gadley and family of Savannah, are visiting Mr. A. B. Green and family here this week.

Mr. Edgar Borgeson, of Midville, Ga., visited the family of Mr. J. J. Chandler Sunday.

THE BIBLE

It has been said over and over again, until probably the statement has ceased to impress many, that the latter part of the nineteenth century and the early part of the twentieth century has been a time marked by many and strong attacks upon the Word of God. Verily, the Book has been passing through the fires of critical scholarship. No part of it has been free from criticism, and that of the severest kind. Some timid souls, and some brave saints as well, have been made to tremble for the safety of the ark of God. But it is a very striking fact that just at the time that these criticisms have been most severe, the demands for the Bible have been largest and most insistent. Printing presses in Europe and Asia and America have been pouring forth a constant stream of Bibles and of literature bearing on the Bible. We recently came across the following figures concerning the output of one Bible Society, the British and Foreign of London. We quote the whole statement as we find it in the Canadian Baptist:

"During 1909 there were sent out from the Bible House in London, 2,260 cases of Scriptures, weighing 727 tons; during last year the figures were 2,845 cases of the Scriptures, weighing 333 tons. On Tuesday, January 17, 1911, consignments of books were being packed for the following places: Spain, Madrid, Colon, Alcala, Sydney, Buenos Ayres, Rio, Callao, Barbadoes, Rangoon. On Wednesday, January 18, the warehouses had orders on hand for 205,000 copies of the Scriptures in sixty-four different languages and dialects. It must be remembered also that of the Society's total issues only about 28 per cent go out from the London Bible House. The remainder are for the most part printed in the countries where they are distributed and read."

And who would believe it if it were not proven, that the collectors of this society alone sold over 50,000 copies of the Scriptures last year in Spain. The Book is carrying the message of life in every direction, and the entrance of the Word giveth light.—Christian Index.

FARMER JONES BOUGHT NEW AUTOMOBILE

How he Learned to Drive the Machine Before Trying it Out on The Roads of His Section.

Atlanta, July 17.—Farmer Ahasverus Jones, of Middle Georgia, came to Atlanta last week and bought an automobile of leading make and latest model. He bought it after the local agent had taken him to ride in it half a dozen times and explained to him all the details of operating it so he could begin using it as soon as he got home.

The agent also furnished a chauffeur who saw the car safely delivered to the farm.

Three days afterward the agent got the following letter from Farmer Jones:

"Dear Sir: I like my new car, but the differential is not working well. Please ship me a new differential gear at once."

short a time was almost as hard to believe as that anything could have got the matter with it so soon.

The agent supposed maybe his patron had merely got terms mixed, and wanted a spark plug or a monkey wrench. He wired and the instant answer came, "I know exactly what a differential is and mine is wrong."

So down to the farm went the agent. He got there about 10 o'clock one morning. Nobody was in sight at the house, but out in the barn he heard the noise of a ginery or a threshing machine in full operation. Astounded because it wasn't the season for cotton ginning or harvesting wheat, he went to the barn door and peeped in. No, it wasn't a gin; it wasn't a threshing machine; it was the automobile.

Farmer Jones had jacked it clean off the floor, with all four wheels suspended in the air. Then he had cranked it up and climbed in and taken hold of the steering gear, opened wide the throttle and thrown in the clutch. The wheels were flying at great rate. Every minute or so Farmer Jones would turn an imaginary curve, and blow his horn at an imaginary pedestrian, retarding the spark when he came to an imaginary hill, just as the agent had taught him in Atlanta. He had been practicing that way for three days past. He did not intend to show himself to his neighbors, he said, until he had full control of the machine. "What was the matter with the differential?" Well the agent could see for himself how curious the wheels acted. Sometimes one went and sometimes the other, and sometimes they went in different directions,

The housewife says: "Our summer trip. Won't cost us much this year; I've planned just how to save some coin."

Her husband says: "You dear!" "Yes," she replies, "we don't need much. For our vacation rest, I'll get but six new gowns while you can have your oldest pressed."

Escaped With His Life.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrelson, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything. I could hear of for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." Its positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, and all bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at W. H. Ellis Co.

The agent was a little sore. "I didn't sell you this car for a stationary monkey-engine," he said. "Now you watch." So he lowered the car to terra firma, swung it around to the door, opened the throttle and out she swung as easily as you please, both hind wheels doing their work perfectly.

Farmer Jones is still wondering why they wouldn't do the same way when the car was jacked off the ground. The agent couldn't fully explain to him, for that's what makes the mystery of the differential.

BOOZE WAS SLACK IN CITY SATURDAY NIGHT.

One Dry Night in History of Statesboro.

Saturday night was no doubt the driest night for some few Saturdays in the history of Statesboro, according to the story told by the thirsty crowd that generally wait for the Saturday express to arrive, when they may take their, or maybe more and enjoy their Sunday, the usual express came in Saturday, but when the boys called for their small package they were advised that there was nothing doing, no nothing doing in the line of booze this time because the express company absolutely refused to ship whiskey. This will cut the usual disturbances short that have heretofore been taking effect every Saturday night in the dark town district.

His remains were interred in the cemetery at that place Friday.

BULLOCH ROADS ARE THE BEST IN STATE

Declares W. B. Blood, of Kellogg's Toasted Corn
Flake Company.

In an interview with the News reporter, Mr. W. B. Blood, who has been in Statesboro for three or four days advertising Kellogg's Cornflakes, stated that he had traveled about three thousand miles over the roads of Georgia in this big advertising automobile truck and says that he has not found roads that would equal Bulloch's roads. He also says that the crops of this county are second to none, that better crops can be found in this county than any other county in the State.

Mr. Blood was very favorably impressed with Statesboro and Bulloch County and says that he will give us a good word wherever he goes.

Mr. Blood is traveling through every county in the state and to have such remarks made about our roads and crops shows that Bulloch stands out as the leader.

The general public is most cordially invited to attend these services.

EXPERT FARMER OF CHATHAM COUNTY VISITS STATESBORO

Inspects The Big Canal and
The Agricultural School.

Bulloch County had quite a distinguished farmer visit her farms Wednesday. At an invitation of Manager Baco of the Savannah & Statesboro Railway, Prof. J. M. Johnson, the superintendent of that famous Model farm which the Savannah Chamber of Commerce is conducting, visited the big tract of land owned by the stock company of Statesboro and Bulloch county men and which is located at Tucker, 14 miles east and on the Savannah & Statesboro Railway. He was met at Ivanhoe by Mr. Baco, R. E. Donaldson, W. G. Raines, W. B. Martin, and Prof. E. C. J. Dickens of the Agricultural School and accompanied back to Tucker. There they left the train and walked over the big 3300 acre farm and inspected the canal which Mr. Baco is digging with the big steam shovel.

Automobiles took the party from Arela to Statesboro where dinner was waiting them at the Jaekel Hotel.

Talking to the News of the undertaking, Prof. Johnson was full of enthusiasm. He said: "That drainage movement is the biggest farm improvement in your county for years. It is a pronounced success. That big ditch will absolutely dry that big tract to where it will be one of the finest farms in the county. It will teach your people and in fact the people of this vast section that these supposed low lands are in fact the best lands of the state. Much and lasting credit is due Manager Baco for his patient toils and skill in doing the surveying and carrying the work to successful termination. I regard it as the realization of Baco's dream. Some men doubtless looked upon it one time as a vision, but you watch them now come to see in it a real and valuable lesson to farmers. The great holders of that big farm have a gold mine when that farm is developed. All they need to do is to put cash into it and develop the property."

Prof. Johnson is a member of the Board of Visitors of the State College of Agriculture and was once one of the professors of that great College. He naturally went to see our Agricultural school. Talking to the News he said: "I have heard so much of the success of your First District School that I wanted to see for myself. Indeed it is all that is said for it. I found that a busy bull. In the office Prof. Dickens has things in business shape like a bank, he knows just where the school stands at home and in the District. So great is that pile of application blanks for admission that it means a large student body. So he plans and Prof. Iowan, the able Professor of Mechanics is directing in the building of a large new building for a dining room and dormitory. It will be a beauty and a great help to the school, but the thing which struck me is the farm. I walked over it from side to side, it is well laid out and splendidly cultivated. It shows the results of different fertilization and cultivation. Pres. Dickens, Prof. Harper (my old student whom I was glad to see doing such good work) and Mr. Barr the superintendent all seem to work in perfect harmony together, it is the best ordered crop I have seen. I have this to say, if Prof. Dickens and his faculty manages the school room

New Railroad Basket Picnic.

Editor Statesboro News:

August 5th we will have a basket railroad picnic at the end of the railroad at the Waldburg Waters place. There and then we will vote on two lines, one to Claxton, and one to Pembroke, and proceed to build the one chosen. Parties of Statesboro, Brooklet, Claxton and Pembroke and intermediate sections who are interested in the railroad are invited to come with their families and enjoy the day. We will have speaking, band music, barbecue, and free rides over new railroad during the day. It will be practically decided that day whether the road will be extended to the Seaboard Railroad or to the Zetterover timber, and go the opposite direction to Oliver, the success or failure of that day will be an index of the intelligence, enterprise and progress of our people here, can we afford to put our heads under our wings and sleep until this opportunity has passed, or will we take advantage of it to give us advantages that our liberal and progressive neighbors enjoy, this is now a matter of our choice. We can act and have the road, or do nothing and let others have it. Which will we do? If people don't act and reach out they never get things. Of course part of the institution as well as they do the farm, it is no wonder that the whole state looks upon this as the leading District Agricultural school of Georgia.

I thoroughly enjoyed my visit to your county, the big canal and the big school, the two are a great blessing to the already famous Bulloch county."

"The Uptown Church."

Is offering you larger things than you are now experiencing. Come next Sunday and receive the blessings in the feast of good things offered to you there. The themes for study will be as follows:—

Morning—"Life more abundantly," evening—"The two great contrasts," Wednesday evening prayer meeting—"A sick prophet and how the great Physician treats his case."

Sunday School at 4:30 in the afternoon.

care Statesboro News.

We have men who are void of intelligence, sympathy and enterprise and never help their neighbors, and we always have some of that kind, but I appeal to the intelligent element of our community, who live for the pleasure and happiness of their neighbors as well as their own, to come over and help to secure the greatest and most important need of our country, the new railroad. We may never have an opportunity again offered to us. Will we show our appreciation of this opportunity to have equal advantages of others by having a railroad.

"Home and Mother"

Two wonderful words! Fraught with untold meaning, yet, all too often ill-appreciated. The author of "Home Sweet Home" had no soul found voice in those appealing verses, and all the world sings them.

The following beautiful address comes quoted in one of our exchange. We take pleasure in passing it on to our readers.

"Home and mother! What tender associations are linked with home and mother! What pleasing memories and deep emotions it awakens! It calls up the fondest memories of life and opens in our nature the purest, deepest of consecrated thoughts and feelings. The father's and mother's love, the sister's embrace, the brother's welcome—wherever the heart wanders it carries the thought of home with it. The home is the foundation of civilization. The influence of home perpetuates itself. We cannot honor with too deep a reverence the home affections; we cannot cultivate them with too much solicitude. When the home affections are duly cultivated all others follow or grow out of them as a natural consequence. If we have fervent and noble affections such as give power to the human heart, such as make it supremely beautiful, let us cultivate all the feelings that originate as from a radiant point—in the home circle.

The home should be dedicated to love and truth, to all that is tender in feeling and noble in nature. The language of the home should be such as would not stain the purest lips, nor fall harsh on the most refined ear. In the home where true courtesy prevails it seems to meet you on the threshold, a delightful atmosphere. What an enduring tenderness is the love of the mother to her child, a love that transcends all other affections. Now, let me say to the young man, when you have a home with a loving mother in it, speak kindly and even calmly and tenderly to her, for it is but a little while and you will see her no more. Others may love you when she has passed away, but never again, never while the time is yours shall the love of woman be to you, as that of your old trembling mother has been. Alas! How little do we appreciate a mother's tenderness, while she is alive. But when she is gone, when the cares and coldness of the world comes withering to our hearts, when we experience how hard it is to find sympathy—then how, how few love us for ourselves, how few will befriend us in misfortune. It is then we think of the home and mother we have lost. Who has stood at the grave of a mother and not remember her kind words? Years may pass, memory may prove treacherous, but impression once made by a mother's influence remains.

Too frequently the effect of prosperity is to render the heart cold and selfish; but the heart can never forget the memory of home and mother. Situation for good, a constant inspiration in which home can be considered, it is a powerful stimulant to noble action and high and pure morality. So value is the love of home, that every man and woman should value it as he or she values his or her worth. Home is a little world in which the duties of the great world are daily rehearsed. But, ah, how the memory of home and mother will bring to the heart a thrill of joyful recollections, and thus inspire new courage to take up the burden of life.

BACK IN HARNESS.

Sunday morning and evening Bro. W. K. Dennis was again at his desk after an illness of several weeks, although weak and not able to stand he delivered two talks that went deep into his audience. Bro. Dennis' return will be welcomed by the Methodist church as well as the town at large and it is to be hoped that he will be able to fill his appointments hereafter.

Brother Dennis ranks among the leading ministers of the State, as soon as he is physically able to again be active the Methodist church of Statesboro will be the scene of some of the ablest sermons ever delivered in the State.

6000 VISITORS IN STATESBORO LAST MONTH.

How does this sound, something like 6000 people passed through the gates of Statesboro last month. There was something like 3000 registered at the Jackel Hotel and allowing 1000 at other hotels and boarding houses, with 2000 people that did not register at any hotel. This is going some for a town this size and if a boosting word would be said to every stranger that enters our town how would it be until Statesboro would be the talk of every stranger that comes here. He would go away and begin talking of Statesboro.

Once you get it before the people talking of our town you will soon see the results, and a little hot air is not costly, and goes a long way.

Take a town of this size with 6000 people going and coming here each month, not including any big days, you can put it down in your pipe that this is going some. Statesboro has greater advantages than any town in this section and if we do not grasp them it is our own fault.

Next month we will give an actual count of all the visitors that come to town and register at the hotels, but in the mean time we want to ask that every citizen of Statesboro get the boosting habit and tell every stranger that sticks his head in our limits that we have the goods and we are going to have the greatest town in the world.

Get hot air properly going and it will bring better results than any remedy you can apply, mix her well and put it into every stranger that comes. You simply can't build a town unless you put plenty of hot air to the outsiders. After we get them here we can show them what we have then, it will be a different tune. All we want is to get them here and then they will see what we have and be a citizen of Statesboro and Bulloch county.

PROGRESSIVE FARMING

Mr. Johnson of Savannah was in Statesboro this week and while here was driven over some of Bulloch's farming lands and remarked that "Bulloch county has the best crops I have seen this year."

This little remark, "Bulloch" means that it hit the spot. Bulloch has the goods. Our farmers are made of men that know how to till the soil and are putting forth efforts that will bring forth returns for many years to come.

The farming lands of Bulloch can produce greater yields than any county in the State of Georgia but we have a great amount of lands here that are not in cultivation which should be put up in small farms and advertised and bring good class of immigrants to our country.

We still have room for improvements and why not take advantage of same, advertise our lands and show what they produce. To do these things and do them properly we should have a farmers club, say a farmers ROOSTING CLUB. Get all the leading farmers of the county interested, also the farmers Union, meet and organize some Farmers Club and have this club for the benefit of better farming, other towns have Board of Trade and similar organization, then why shouldn't the Farmers come together and organize something that will be of benefit to them as well as to the merchants, doctors and any other business man.

We are anxious to see the farmers come closer together and are willing to do everything we possibly can to help this cause and would like to have several interesting articles on this subject from our farmers.

"Keep my commandments and I will stay with you, and I will give you peace, and the world cannot take you from me; neither will I leave you, nor forsake you."—John 14:18. "I will be with you, and will comfort you."—2 Cor. 1:3. "I will be with you, and will comfort you."—2 Cor. 1:3. "I will be with you, and will comfort you."—2 Cor. 1:3.

There is a passage of Scripture which reads: "Know ye not that your body is the temple of God?" And so long as God abides in our bodies, we cannot help but praise His name. God's spirit is always a welcome visitor in the soul of man. It is joyfully received, for there is no other way in which to receive it; it works good in whomsoever it dwelleth. In the preacher, it goes out in words of edification and comfort; in the layman in words of praise and supplication.

We find words remain in the spirit of the Lord when He takes His abode in our souls; for the joy that He brings detracts us from all earthly things, and we care only to praise His just and holy name.

We, the living children of God, are blessed above the inhabitants of the earth in that we feel our sorrows changed into inexpressible joy by the presence of the Holy Ghost within our souls.

Christ is the one great healer in whom we may most confidently trust. He not only destroys the work of Satan in the soul of regenerate man; but He changes sorrow into joy. He draws us irresistibly into the sweet region of the love of God; and here in this region we magnify the Lord and feel the unfathomable depth of His joy.

ANTIS CLAIM TEXAS BY 10,000 MAJORITY.

Legislative Investigation and Re-submission of Vote to the People Now Being Considered by Defeated Faction. Houston, Tex., July 24.—At 10 o'clock this morning Chairman Hall of the state-wide, conceding that the anti-prohibitionists will have a majority not exceeding 5,000 on the face of the returns. He claims frauds have been practiced, and will resort to the courts. Legislative investigation and re-submission vote to the people are under consideration.

At 10 o'clock this morning Chairman Walters, of the anti-prohibitionists, says the returns up to that hour indicated that the majority for anti-prohibition would be slightly above 10,000.

After 36 hours of ballot counting, the "wets" maintain a slender lead of hardly more than 5,000 in unofficial returns. Unless the vote yet to come is different in favor from that up to the present time, the remaining ballots cannot swing the election to the "drys." This morning's returns, while meager, showed a slight continued advantage for the liquor supporters.

The boxes yet to be heard from are mostly in sparsely settled sections, remote from wire, rail or even automobile communication. They are both prohibition and anti-prohibition territory.

The hope of the prohibitionists that these missing returns would wipe out the anti-prohibition lead was almost gone by eleven o'clock today, and only a bigger surprise in their favor than has yet occurred in the long count can revive their predictions of success.

SMITH TO TABLE W. & A. PROBLEM.

Atlanta, July 24.—It is announced today that Gov. Hoke Smith proposes to take hold of the alleged violation by the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad of its lease contract of the Western & Atlantic, and take steps to force compliance.

It is claimed the lease requires that the Western and Atlantic shall not charge more in proportion for a haul between Georgia points and Chattanooga. Beyond the limits of the state, than for hauls of the same distance within the state; but that considerably higher charges are made.

Former Governor Joseph M. Brown is now being attacked for failing to take steps against the issue, because just before leaving office he turned the matter over to the Railroad Commission, expressing the view that that body must should fix rates on the Western and Atlantic.

The attack is made, of course, incident to his prospective entry into the race for governor.

FIRST JUNE WEDDING.

"What a morning that was of the world's first wedding! Sky without a cloud. Atmosphere without a chill. Foliage without a crimped leaf, meadows without a thorn. It shall be in church—the great temple of a world, sun-domed, mountain-pillared, sapphire-roofed. The sparkling waters of the Gihon and Hiddekel will make the fount of the temple. Larks, robins and goldfinches will chant the wedding march. Violet, hyacinth and burning incense in the morning sun. Luxuriant vines sweeping their long trails through the forest aisle—upholstery of a spring morning. Wild beasts standing outside the circle, on-lookers, like family servants from the back door gazing upon the nuptials: the eagle, king of birds; the loquat, king of insects; the lion, king of beasts, waiting, carpet of grass like emerald floor, the human pair to walk on. Hum of excitement, as there always is before a ceremony. Grass blades and leaves whispering, and the birds' chatter, each one to his mate. Hush, all the clouds. Hush, all the birds. Hush, the waters, for the king of the human race advances, and his bride. Perfect man, leading to the altar a perfect woman. God her father, gives away the bride, and angels are the witnesses, and tears of morning dew stand in the blue eyes of the violets. And Adam takes the round hand, that has never been worn with work or stung with pain, into his own stout grasp and says: "This is home of my home and flesh of my flesh." Tumults of joy break forth and all the trees of the wood clap their hands, and all the galleries of the forest resound with carol and chirp and chant, and the circle of Edenic happiness is complete; for while every quail hath answering quail, and every fish answering fish, and every fowl answering fowl, and every beast of the forest a fit companion, at last man, the immortal, has for mate woman, the immortal.

FOR RENT—Four desirable rooms to rent, address Box 315, Statesboro, Ga.

FOR RENT—A heavy movement and made preparations.

The melons have moved gradually, and except in one instance, the demand has been good. At one time several weeks ago the market in New York became so congested that the consignees would not accept delivery from the railroads, as a consequence of which the latter refused to accept any melons for shipment. The congestion was quickly relieved, however, and conditions returned to normal in two or three days.

Prices all along have been unusually good. More than once they have brought $125 a car, which is above the average and which was responsible for the heavy movement. The quality of this season's melons, it is said, is above the average.

Indications are that the melons will continue to be shipped over the Central at the rate of about 75 cars a day for ten days yet. All of the crop will have been shipped in two weeks.

So far the Central has moved The many friends of Mr. J. W. Miller regret to learn of his illness. Mrs. Miller is very low but we hope for her a speedy recovery.

A NEW INDUSTRY FOR BULLOCK.

The Agricultural School continues to practice what it preaches—that scientific farming pays—and many of our people who have seen the crop on the school farm tell the News that it is the best crop in the county.

They also say the farm will make 50 bushels of corn and a bale of Sea Island cotton per acre.

But this is not all. Prof. Dickens says that his farm superintendent, Mr. Barr, makes more than he can use. Even the garden has an immense surplus. Prof. Harper, with the help of some of the students is operating a canning business. They are to can tomatoes, corn, beans and other vegetables.

President Dickens says: "These tables will be like wheat at the mill, when we undertake our task to feed 200 students. We have been sending hundreds of dollars to Philadelphia for this class of goods. We now propose to keep some of it at home."

Bouncing Big Watermelon.

Mr. H. F. Warnock of Stillson Ga., enjoys the distinction of raising one of the largest watermelons in Bulloch County. Mr. Warnock sent the News one this week weighing 61 pounds and informed us that this was a baby to some of his shipping. We are indeed thankful to Mr. Warnock for this melon and must admit that it is the largest we have seen. Mr. Warnock has been shipping melons for sometime and is considered one of the leading farmers of this section, we can easily vouch for Mr. Warnock's success as a farmer as the melon was rich and juicy. Drop in to see us in town, Mr. Warnock, as we are anxious to see the man who raises melons this size.

RECORD BROKEN BY MELON CROP.

Shipping 750 Cars Daily. So far 2,262 Cars Have Been Handled Over Central.

With an average of 75 cars daily being shipped over the Central of Georgia Railway and the movement to date totalling 2,262 cars, this season's watermelon crop gives every promise of being a record breaker.

Probably never in the history of watermelon raising in Georgia has the crop for a single season been so large. The Central has been rushed to accommodate the melons, and very little difficulty was experienced in handling the melons rapidly.

While the crop is proving a surprise in that it is a record breaker, the Central traffic officials, the Central traffic officials, had anticipated a heavy movement and made preparations.

The melons have moved gradually, and except in one instance, the demand has been good. At one time several weeks ago the market in New York became so congested that the consignees would not accept delivery from the railroads, as a consequence of which the latter refused to accept any melons for shipment. LAND DRAINING IN BULLOCH COUNTY

Prof. Johnson Returns Enthusiastic After Inspection of Arcola's Three Mile Ditch.

Draining 9,000 acres of rich farming lands in Bulloch county, D. N. Baot, superintendent of the Savannah and Statesboro Railroad, and his associates in a land development company, have constructed a ditch or canal nearly three miles at Arcola.

Prof. James M. Johnson, director of the Model Farm, at the special request of Mr. Baot, paid a visit to this scene of land reclamation yesterday and returned highly enthusiastic at the progress in approved drainage that has been made there.

According to Prof. Johnson's estimates by the draining of these 9,000 acres of rich and naturally fertile soil, suitable for general farming and trucking, as well as for cotton growing, 150 farms have been reclaimed that will repay any and all expenditures in time and money that may be laid out in their cultivation.

"Mr. Baot and his associates in the land company at Arcola have between 8,000 and 9,000 acres of land which they are developing for farming and colonization purposes. Prof. Johnson said: 'The land lies on either side of the Savannah and Statesboro Railroad, thirteen miles southeast of Statesboro. It is flat and almost perfectly level. So level that there is considerable portion on which there is no natural drainage to make it safe for agricultural purposes. Some two years ago Mr. Baot began a careful survey of the land to ascertain the level, the ponds and the natural slope. From a special point of view it seemed that the land offered but little opportunity for drainage, natural or artificial. But when the engineer's level had been put on the land a slope varying from three to ten feet a mile in a certain direction was found.

"Mr. Baot next ascertained that practically every pond could be tapped by a main ditch gradually ascending the slope. Having these facts at hand he mapped out the exact course that this ditch or canal should follow. He then encountered the difficulties of having to cross the lands of other parties. However, not to be thwarted in the good work, he purchased outright one tract in order that he might control the main outlet of the canal. He was also able to interest the other owners whose land had to be crossed to him the right of way and contributed somewhat to the defraying of the expenses of opening a ditch across their own lands.

"At present Mr. Baot and his land company have nearly two miles completed and opened. The ditch varies in depth from five feet at the shallowest point to ten feet or more at the deepest places. It also varies in width at the top from 25 feet at the widest point to perhaps 15 feet at the narrowest part and will average from 16 to 18 feet. At the bottom it is about 3 feet in width.

"Three-quarters of a mile is yet to be excavated. The work of excavation is progressing at the rate of 100 feet a day. In all there will be something like 40,000 cubic yards of dirt handled in making this ditch. It will cost between 4 and 6 cents a cubic yard for the excavation.

"With a set of laterals which may be easily laid out and cheaply constructed as occasion may warrant, this work will transform the entire 9,000 acres owned by the company and the between 600 and 800 acres owned by other people from a section that formerly was but poorly suited to agricultural purposes into one of the most desirable and easily tilled districts in the whole South.

"The soil is similar in all essential respects to that in many parts of the coastal region. Naturally it is well suited when properly drained to practically all the farm crops grown in this climate. On a small field in this tract now under cultivation for the first time cotton is growing. The stalks are now shoulder high and by actual count they are bearing from 50 to 100 bolls apiece and in some cases as many as 125 bolls and give evidence of making a full weight bale per acre.

"Just down a narrow roadway from this tract is a field of corn in which are many stalks averaging two ears apiece. This field is good for from 10 to 50 bushels per acre and this the first year after the land has been put under cultivation.

"Perhaps of more importance though is the adaptability of this land to some of the trucking crops. The soil in physical qualities is practically identical with those in the Chatham strawberry district of North Carolina. Doubtless a big strawberry industry can and will be developed at this point within the next few years. Other fruits, such as figs, pears, and grapes, are now growing at certain spots in this vicinity. The regular trucking crops such as potatoes, beans, lettuce and others of those valuable crops will be at home in this soil.

"Mr. Baot is the pioneer in this work. He is a hustler in any business he undertakes and from what people who know him say of him the success of an enterprise is in his hands. The ditch is Mr. Baot's vision realized. Members of his company speak only in praise of his work and do not hesitate to say he is the father of the enterprise.

"When the ditch is completed and a few laterals have been opened in the lower and flatter places, the general water level in the district drained will be lowered from three to five feet, or I might say that the flat piece of land will be raised that much higher. Nine thousand acres of land will be made suitable for dwelling places for white people. Room will be made for 150 to 160 farmers on lands that are naturally fertile enough to guarantee good returns for all labor and expense put out on them in their cultivation. Not only this, but the enterprise being in the nature of a pioneer work will serve as an object lesson for the whole South."—Morning News.

ATTORNEY COOPER IN BEHALF RAWLINGS BOYS

The first step in another effort to have the three Rawlings boys, Jesse, Leonard and Milton, pardoned from the penitentiary was taken Monday, when attorney John Randolph Cooper, who made the noted fight to save the elder Rawlings from the gallows, filed an application with the prison commission and had a conference with Governor Smith.

It is probable that no action will be taken on the application for pardon until Judge Patterson the third member of the prison commission, is able to be present at the hearing. At present he is confined to his home at Griffin by illness.

Since Attorney Cooper filed his former application in behalf of these boys, the complexion of the prison commission has changed and Governor Brown has been succeeded by Governor Smith.

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. H. Kent, 1214 Little Pema St., Strater, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills.

PULASKI BANK.

Bank Examiner T. J. Denmark is in Statesboro, having just returned from an examination of the Citizens' Bank of Pulaski. Mr. Denmark declined to give out a statement, but it is understood from reliable authority that the condition of the bank is not what has been currently reported.

It appears that the bank had made a larger number of loans than the current funds on hand would justify and also that a considerable amount of overdrafts has been allowed by the cashier. This exhausted the working capital of the bank and for the present the bank is closed.

But we understand that the loans and overdrafts are good and that in a very short while business will be resumed. There are ample assets to cover all the indebtedness of the bank and pay off all the depositors. We also understand that the assets are considered ample to cover the capital stock, so that no one will suffer loss.

A. M. Reese, from Savannah, has been employed as cashier and just as soon as the books can be straightened out the bank will be opened for business again. The officers and directors are all men of good standing, personally and financially and it is their purpose to protect all their depositors against loss and to have the bank opened again in a very short while.

Foley Kidney Pills will check the progress of your kidney and bladder trouble and heal by removing the cause. Try them.

TO BATTLE AGAINST A COMMON DISEASE.

An Expert on Hook Worms Is Now in County for That Purpose.

(Savannah Georgian.) It will be recalled by our readers that John D. Rockefeller, a few years ago gave a million dollars, the income of which is to be used to inform the people about and encourage the eradication of the hook worm in the South. The prevalence of the hook worm has long been known, but it is only in the last few years that even physicians have recognized how extensively this little pest has impaired the health of the youth in many sections of the South. It has been found, however, that perhaps no other one thing causes as much poor health among white children.

Under the plan of the commission in charge of this work a certain number of men are assigned to each state, to lecture on the bad effects of hook worm and various phases of sanitation and hygiene and to make examinations to see whether individuals are infected.

More people, men and women, are suffering from kidney and bladder trouble than ever before, and each year more of them turn for quick relief and permanent benefit to Foley's Kidney Remedy, which has proven itself to be one of the most effective remedies for kidney and bladder ailments, the medical science has devised.

THOSE WHO CAN VOTE IN THE SPECIAL PRIMARY

An interesting question is agitating the minds of many of the best lawyers in Georgia, and that question concerns the qualifications of voters who may desire to vote in the primary election at which Governor Smith's successor will be chosen, providing the primary is not held until after January.

The law appears to be very clear on the subject of special elections that may be held during the same year the regular election is held or during the succeeding year, but in this instance, if the gubernatorial primary is held in January or February it will be in the second year after the general election.

Prominent attorneys agree that there is nothing ambiguous about the poll tax requirements. Those who may vote are those who have paid all taxes due at least six months before the election, except when the election is held within six months from the expiration of the time fixed by law for the payment of taxes.

The time fixed by law for the payment of taxes is between October 1st and December 20th. If the primary election is held during January or February of next year persons who have paid 1910 tax six months before the date of the primary will be qualified to vote, as far as the tax requirement is concerned, as six months before the primary date the 1911 tax would not be due.

But the registration question is one which has some of the lawyers wool-gathered. Representative Lawrence said that he had not had time to look up the law, but he heard the question discussed in Atlanta and there seemed to be a probability that the General Assembly may be called upon to amend the registration law.

The best law that could be found in the Georgia Code of 1911 applicable to the impending contingency is Sec. 611, page 247 under the head of "Additional Registration Law."

"Any person who has registered for any election occurring before the said next general elections, be listed and entitled to vote at such intermediate or general elections; and fifteen days before any intermediate or special election the said tax collectors shall file with the county registrars an accurate and complete list of all names signed in said voter's books since January 1, of that year, and not before filed with such registrars.

This section has been construed to mean that all voters who were registered for the last governor's election are qualified to vote in the approaching primary, provided they have paid all taxes due to six months prior to the date of the primary.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Aris Concord, Mehl., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a house you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most reliable throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequalled for lagrippe, influenza, hay-fever, croup, quins or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by W. H. Ellis Co.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

The trustees have decided to add to the Statesboro Institute a commercial or business department, and have elected Prof. Frank M. Waters to the principalship of the department.

Prof. Waters was reared in this county and is a member of one of our leading families. Having first obtained a good literary education, he then prepared himself to teach the commercial courses, bookkeeping, typewriting, shorthand, etc., by a full course in one of the best business colleges in the country. He then taught in a college in Ohio, and for the past two years has been at the head of the bookkeeping department of Macon & Andrews Business College of Memphis, Tennessee, and his work there has been of a very high order.

With this valuable training and experience he will certainly make a success in Statesboro. There is no reason why our boys and girls must be sent away from home to obtain business training. We believe the trustees of the school have made a wise move in adding this department and in selecting Professor Waters as teacher. His rates will be very reasonable. He will offer a course in bookkeeping and a course in shorthand—the latter to include typewriting. He will also offer a combined course. Tuition for the combined course will be $7.50 per month; for the single course $5.00 per month. Commercial correspondence and penmanship included in all the courses.

A representative of Draughn's Business College was here last week with a proposition to the JABUS HALL CONVICTED.

Jabus Hall, who was arrested a few days ago and lodged in jail here, was tried Monday before Justices Holland, Boyd and Rountree and found guilty by the Superior Court with strong evidence against him, for the murder of Alonzo Smith, who was found dead in the woods some days ago. Evidence was strong against Hall and it is believed by the sheriff that he has the right man run down. He was placed back in jail to await court. Sheriff Donaldson was on the job in this case and in less than two weeks after the negro was found he had run Hall down and had him placed in jail, which is a clever piece of detective work.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

trustees to establish a branch of Draughn's college in connection with the school, but they elected Professor Waters instead. The fact that Draughn's college considers this a favorable location for a branch indicates the possibilities of such a department in our school.

In the interest of building up the school and increasing its sphere of usefulness, we urge our people to patronize the commercial department.

GOV. SMITH TO HOLD ON UNTIL DECEMBER.

Should a situation develop in Washington, whereby the vote of Mr. Smith would be needed for the passage of legislation pending in the Senate, he would, according to an "authoritative" statement reported in the Atlanta Constitution, immediately resign the governorship and take his seat as United States Senator from Georgia. Unless it is "demonstrated conclusively" to him that one more Democratic vote is needed, he declares that he will continue to discharge his duties as Governor until December. The Governor is said by the Georgia papers to have been carefully looking into the situation at the national capital with regard to the probable vote on all important measures before the Senate. He is quoted as being quite positive that all these "will either be passed or defeated by such a majority that one vote more or less will be of no consequence."

It is unfortunate that the question should have been complicated with political discussion, thinks the Atlanta Constitution (Dem.), for, "it is one of law," and Senator Terrell's interim term "expired with the meeting of the legislature." The Atlanta Journal (Dem.), a consistent Hoke Smith supporter, cannot refrain, however, from seeing the political side when it says in a general review of the situation:

"It is the old proverb exemplified again, 'We have piped unto you and ye have not danced, we have mourned unto you and ye have not wept.' In other words, it is impossible to please the folks that haven't got the votes."

The old manager of The New Statesboro Restaurant, Geo. Condon, has returned to Statesboro and now has his old position.

DEATH OF HARLY HALL.

Ocella, Ga., July 25, 1911.

Never in the history of Ocella has there been such a shock to the people, as when the news spread on that Harley Hall was dead, the people were stirred up, both white and black. On last Wednesday morning, July 19th, he said he did not feel so well, so he decided he would not go to work. He stayed around his home all the morning. After he had eaten his dinner he hopped on his cot and he had planted around his house, after which he went down town. He was down town about one hour, and he decided he would go back home. He was home about thirty minutes, when his wife noticed that he was acting queer; she saw that he was sick and called for Dr. Layfield, who came at once. On the doctor's arrival he saw that he was in a dying condition, so they called in another doctor, Dr. Ashley, but before the doctor arrived he was dead. Telegrams were sent to several parts of the state and out of the state for his relatives, but none of them succeeded in getting here but his father and mother and one of his aunts. He was the son of Alex Hall, of Statesboro, Ga. He leaves a host of relative and friends to mourn his death. He only had one in family, his wife. They had been living here for six years, during five years of which time he had been with the Paulk Co. His brother, S. R. Hall, and his wife and his father and mother don't know how to show their grief to the Paulk Co. for the kindness and courtesy they took with him. They gave him a 800 burial and furnished everything that was necessary for his funeral. His remains were interred in the Ocella cemetery on Friday morning at 11 o'clock. The Paulk Co. business was closed during the services. The attendance was great. Harley Hall was one of a hundred that made the success he did. The Paulk Co. say they never expect to get a man to fill his position as he did because he was a man that was always strictly at business. He will always be remembered in Ocella.

OUR COUNTRY'S PROGRESS.

With Bulloch county yielding one-eighth of the world's cotton crop, and Statesboro the biggest Sea Island cotton market in the world, we have in this, a county to be proud of. Statesboro is bound to grow so long as it is so largely patronized by this, and adjoining counties, and the various businesses of Statesboro are amply able to fill the wants of their customers.

The growth of Bulloch county and Statesboro, has within the last few years, been very remarkable. Nearly all the land in the county is now cleared up and it won't be long before the very low land will be taken in. We have a right to be proud of such a growth and should be glad that we are citizens of this county.

However, the continuation of progress depends very much upon home patronage, and as a rule the people of this county not only believe in, but do patronize their home institutions. It is right to patronize your home merchant so long as he can supply you with what you want. However, there are a few articles he cannot advantageously carry and these can be bought elsewhere with no hurt whatever to the county. We should also patronize our home lawyers, doctors and other professional men so long as they meet successfully our requirements.

NO MORE LIQUOR ADS IN THE NEWS. ALL WHISKEY ADS IN THE NEWS CEASE

"Self praise is half scandal." True, but we feel that it is in keeping with propriety to call attention to the omission of all liquor advertisements from our columns. We feel that it is a worthy and right step, and one which will meet the sincere commendation of our people.

While the doing of a simple duty needs no praise, yet when the performance of that duty affects the public interest, it is well to let the public know. Therefore, not in a spirit of boasting, but with a sincere desire to have our position fully understood, we beg leave to announce that no more liquor advertisements will appear in our columns.

Many local-optionists, professing to be opposed to the liquor traffic, argue that liquor can not be controlled or driven out by legislation and that the only way to fight it is to "create a sentiment" against it. We are willing to do our utmost towards creating sentiment against its sale and immoderate use. To this end, we are willing to show our faith by our works, to the extent of closing our columns to all advertisements of the "stuff." It means to cut off several hundred dollars of revenue each year, but right is better than dollars.

JUDGE FITE AND THE PRESS.

Last week Editor Shope, of the Dalton Citizen, published a criticism of Judge A. W. Fite's charge to the grand jury in Whitfield county, connected with humorous terms. But the judge did not think it was funny and he issued an attachment for the editor for contempt. When Shope was haled into court the judge furnished a written apology and retraction which he told the editor he must sign or go to jail. He signed. One of the conditions was that the apology and retraction should have editorial position in the paper.

Some week or two before the Georgia weekly editors met in Carversville, the home of Judge Fite. At a banquet a five-minute limit was put upon the speakers. It is reported that Judge Fite got the floor for a talk to the editors and held it for the balance of the evening. It is said that this act "fired" the boys, particularly those that had a five-minute speech up their sleeves. Whether Shope was one of these we are not advised. Anyhow, it is said that among other things the judge very properly and very earnestly emphasized the advice that the editor should always write and print his convictions; that if he were an editor he would do it if his good right arm withered at his side.

But it seems that Shope followed the advice too literally to please the judge.

It is recalled that about two years ago the editor of the Chattanooga Times printed something about Judge Fite which displeased the court, and a writ of attachment for contempt was issued for the Tennessee editor, but it could not be served outside of the state, and the aforesaid editor indignantly keeps on his own side of the line—Macon Telegraph.

SHALL WE CHANGE THE CALENDAR? AT THE AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL.

The British government is consulting other nations on the important question of a possible change in the calendar, so that the same day shall always fall on the same day of the week. The proposal is that New Year's Day shall not be considered a day of the week or of the month. That would leave 364 days, which would divide exactly into 52 weeks, or four quarters of 91 days each. Each quarter will contain exactly 13 weeks divided in two months of 30 days each and one month of 31 days.

Easter Sunday and all movable feasts and dates depending upon it, would be fixed to fall every year upon the same day of the same month as well as on the same day of the week. Easter in that case would always be Sunday, April 14, and Christmas would always be Monday, December 25.

To provide for leap-year a special holiday, to be called Leap-Year-Day, would be inserted between June 30 and July 1, and this would not be a day of the week or a day of the month.

A bill for this purpose is now before the house of commons—Christian Endeavor World.

HOME—PRESENT PERILS AND PROPER SAFEGUARDS.

The following article, which recently appeared in a church paper published in Pittsburg, contains so much of truth in it that we owe no apology to our readers for passing it on:

One of the perils of the home is the idleness and ignorance in which so many of our girls are raised. The writer makes this statement: "Except to be a drunken father, or a society-crazed mother, I do not know of a factor in the home which will destroy so much good money and so irretrievably play havoc with the family finances and with morals as an idle, helpless child." He made a test of four hundred girls in a Western correctional institution. Almost all of them came from our national "middle classes," and most of them have working and earning fathers and mothers living. Of the four hundred girls only eighty-nine could be trusted to do plain cooking, only fifty-three understood general housework, and only thirty-five had a trade or a profession. More than seventy-five per cent of these girls, from our so-called "middle classes," were idle and helpless—and most of them were there for incurability!

Which leads me to another important point, and that is the poor discipline and entire lack of discipline which exists in so many homes.

"I do not here lay down maximums for the management of children. I know that oftentimes the fault of incurability lies with the parents as much as with the children. I know that all the creatures called girls are not fitted to be mothers, nor all the creatures called boys to be fathers, when they grow up. But I also know this, that if parents would get in closer touch with teachers, and visit the public school more often, and attend Sunday school with their children, there would be many cases where they would have their untimely eyes opened to manifestations of that incurability long before it grew to such proportions that the authorities have to take it in hand. There is a good old adage which says: 'Not all black sheep were born black,' and this I might patch another, and make it say that neither do the black sheep become so in a single night."

"Germany, recognizing the parental tendency to favor the daughter in idleness, has devised a number of laws, and is preparing others, which go so far as to provide a fine for the parents who fail to educate a daughter into practical useful work before she is eighteen years of age. He writes: 'You are forbidden to have idle or ornamental children.'

"France and England are now following closely on the German heels. We think of France as a frivolous nation, but according to Monsieur Cambon, former ambassador to the United States, the majority of French families and the close intimacy preserved between parents and children on all matters relating to home management and home finances, is an eye-opener for us and our lack of system. When we read how thoroughly French daughters are made to understand the exact state of the family finances; how they go daily with the mother of a trusted family servant and learn systematically the art of preparing and serving the food, we do not wonder that the French people have money to lend to other nations—so much money that the interest alone amounts to three hundred and sixty million dollars a year.

"In connection with the careful training of the French daughters to buy and prepare, it is important to note that, as a result, the average price of a meal for one person in a French family is two cents, while in Germany it is three cents, in England it is five cents, and in the United States it is eight cents. Waste is one of our perils. The report on the home food waste in this country shows that thirty-five per cent of all supplies brought for the American kitchen are thrown away. If any one wonders whether the French economy would necessitate poor meals, let them remember that the French have the reputation of the world over as cooks 'par excellence,' and if you wonder whether it might not be good for their health, you have only to consult statistics to learn that their death rate per thousand is lower than that in England, Germany, Russia, Italy, Spain or the United States.

"A woman who is responsibly connected with the largest retail dry goods store in the world says: 'I need at least a quarter of a million of girls every year. They represent every industrial walk of life from the farmer's daughter to the banker's heiress. One point of similarity is to be noted about almost every one of them—money to them is water trickling through the fingers. What it cost a father or mother to produce the money for them apparently never enters their minds. The spirit of false show and display is upon them, and the truth of the real value of money is the last thought in their minds."

"Dr. Weaver, a German consul in Chicago, brings the charge that the American boy as a class is quite as weakly pampered, and backs up the statement with some illustrations which may be new to us. Here is one: 'Not so very long ago, he says, we received at the consulate a letter from a great manufacturing concern of this United States. It stated that it desired to immediately employ sixty capable young men with mechanical training, and our assistance was asked in securing the young men. The least pay offered was $75 a month, and promotion was certain if the work was well performed. Through us and technical colleges of the country, as well as through certain scientific newspapers, the sixty young men finally were secured.' And I want you to notice the result. The nationalities of the sixty were: Germans, 16; Belgians, 15; French, 10; Polish, 8; Bohemian, 5; English, 3; American, 2; Hungarian, 1. Fifty-eight of these youngsters were born abroad, and had been brought up from the foreign viewpoint of work. 'That we are right and you are wrong,' he continues, 'seems to me to be proved by the fact that most of the important work in the United States today is being done by foreign-born; not by American-born children. Go into any great establishment where brains are required with work, and see whether my words are not true.'

"You may wonder whether, in taking up these lines, I am not diverging from my subject. I am not. Drunkenness, vice, crime, divorce and all the so-called great evils, would not make the inroads upon our homes which they do if these lesser evils were obliterated. Modern strenuousness, modern industrial methods, modern social methods, modern multiplicity of entertainments and amusements not to mention clubs—clubs for men, clubs for women, clubs for children—all lead from the home. They have led from it until home life today is reduced to a minimum, compared with what it was but fifty years ago. We are so busy with outside reform that there is danger of our waking up some day to the fact that our homes need reforming."

"The school, the Church, the State, can never take the place of the home, and the home must be a unit. 'All in the home must be one in the home,' as the old Saxons proverb puts it; or as Schiller has it: 'Where child and parents stand together, there can be no stress of wind or weather.'

CONVICT SHOTS GUARD
Waynesboro, Ga., Aug. 1.—The negro convict Steve Simmons, who to day killed a convict guard and escaped, was shot and killed by the sheriff's posse, after a chase of several hours. The negro, after the killing of G. Deck, the guard, had three cartridges in the pistol he had snatched from the other guard, Mr. Jeffers, and after being rounded up by the dogs and posse emptied the contents of the pistol at Sheriff Joiner of Screven county without effect. The negro was in a muddy place with the embankment of the creek between him and the posse, and after being shot either fell in the creek or attempted to cross and went to the bottom under fifteen feet of water. His body is being dragged for, but up to this hour has not been recovered.

The other negro convict who escaped has not been captured. In the posse were sheriffs from Burke, Jenkins and Screven, the bloodhounds of Burke and Screven being used. Other court officers were present in the posse and nothing like a lynching was pulled off.

Burke county has had but one lynching and that was years ago, caused by parties living outside of the county. The people here are law-abiding, although several incidents have wrought them up to an intense pitch.

Mr. Deck's remains will be carried to his home at Rocky Springs for burial.

Simmons shot and killed Mr. Deck early this morning and fled with another convict, Otis Blount. Several of the negro convicts ran when the killing occurred, but came back.

Mr. Jeffers, deputy warden, had reprimanded Simmons and when he was close enough the negro snatched his pistol and Mr. Deck was called to stop the negro. Mr. Deck was reading and as he raised his head and fired at the other guards. All seemed panic stricken for the minute and the negroes escaped in the swamps.

Simmons was serving a six months' sentence for gambling. After his first day on the gang he escaped and it was only last week that he was captured and placed on the road again.

Mr. Deck's body was brought to the city in an automobile and carried to Mrs. E. G. Walters'. He was 33 years old and had only one brother in the county who is also a guard on the gang. He is survived by his parents and several brothers. He was a quite popular man and was a candidate to fill the unexpired term of Hon. Julian L. Fulcher, who died before taking his seat.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—Reports on the growing cotton crop of 1911 received by the department of agriculture continue to indicate that the yield this year will be one of the greatest, if not the greatest, in the history of the industry. The condition of the crop on July 25 as announced today was 89.1 of a normal crop.

This was nine-tenths of one per cent above the average on July 25 for the past ten years.

Based on the average condition of the crop on July 25 for the past ten years and the average yield per acre for the same period, the condition reported today, if it should continue, would indicate a final total yield of 207.25 pounds per acre, which upon 34,000,000 acres, the estimated final acreage, allowing for the abandonment of 3 per cent of the acreage, means a total cotton crop of 14,093,000 bales of 500 pounds each. This estimate is unofficial.

Flag of the Free.

We have devoted a little space for two or three issues to reproducing some of the famous patriotic songs. The list would hardly be complete without Joseph Rodman Drake's well-known poem, with the above title.

In the rush of business and the confusion of politics, we are prone to forget the struggles of our fathers and the vicissitudes of fate and fortune which in the early years centered around the "Star and Stripes" and made it the object of a nation's love and devotion. We need to refresh our patriotism occasionally by reading one of these stirring poems.

We have no apologies to offer for devoting space to the following:

The Most Neglected Organ of the Body is the Liver.

Nowadays everybody treats the stomach—but it's the liver that counts. If you suffer from constipation, bad blood, half sick miserable feeling—it's your LIVER nine times out of ten.

And today doctors are recommending and endorsing.

SIMMONS' LIVER PURIFIER

because it's the one liver remedy that energizes the liver, brings back its natural function strong and young again.

Tell your druggist you want SIMMONS' LIVER PURIFIER—and nothing else; emphasize SIMMONS' (in yellow tin boxes only), and insist upon it. It's the one cure that cures—the liver remedy that does its work without prying or sneaking.

LET THE CAPITOL REMAIN IN ATLANTA SAYS CITIZENS. PETITION SIGNED BY FIVE HUNDRED SIXTY TWO CITIZENS.

The following strong array of names of Bulloch County tax payers signed to a paper circulated around Statesboro for a few days shows in no uncertain terms how the people of this county stand in the movement inaugurated by the people of Macon looking to the removal of the State Capitol to that city.

The list was not carried out of Statesboro except to register being presented to the citizens of the town and the farmers who came in during the few days that it was kept open. The original was mailed to Messrs. Williams and Murphy our two representatives, yesterday morning.

It is unnecessary for us to comment on the personal of the names signed to the paper, the people here know them and know they compose a fair representative body of our citizens. It is said that less than two dozen people declined to sign the paper, they were without exception citizens of the town. Only one farmer refused to affix his signature to the list. The sentiment expressed by the great majority of those signing was that they were opposed to any removal at all, and a few signing stated they had no objection if Macon came across with the dough to defray the expenses of the new capitol, provided the "dough" was in hand before the folks voted. The following is the list:

GEORGIA—Bulloch County.
To Hons. J. W. Williams and J. M. Murphy.

We the undersigned tax payers of Bulloch county, being opposed to the laying of the great tax burden necessary to the removal of the State Capitol to Macon, therefore petition you to strike names from the bill providing for same.

LAURENS COUNTY CLAIMS TO HAVE BEST 12 ACRES CORN GROWING IN U. S.

Offer to Put Up $500 Against $500
if Any Community, East, West, North or South Will Average
Over 150 Bushels to Acre.

Dublin, Ga., Aug. 2.—The Dublin Chamber of Commerce has been authorized to challenge the corn growers of the United States, excepting those of this county, to match or better the yield on 12 acres of corn now in process of growth in this county. The contest to be for a purse of $1,000, one-half to be provided by the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, through J. E. Smith, Jr., who offers to donate the sum and the other half by the party who desires to contest the claim that this is not the best twelve acres of corn in the United States.

The corn in question is a 12-acre field owned by Messrs. D. A. Thomas and J. T. Mercer, near Tingle on the Wrightsville and Tennille Railroad, in this county. Competent experts say that it will average more than 150 bushels per acre. Messrs. Mercer and Thomas have quite a reputation as corn growers, having made 1,050 bushels on nine and a half acres last year. The 12-acre plot on which they are counting so strongly this year adjoins the acreage planted last year.

The fame of this plot of corn has extended so wide and is of such magnificent growth that visitors, with no other purpose in view, have come from as far as Tennessee, Kentucky, North and South Carolina, while several attaches of the Department of Agriculture at Washington have been sent here to look at it and to make reports upon it. It will be published in due course, and will be distributed by the department.

Some faint idea of what the corn is may be had when it is stated that Mr. Smith, who is one of the leading business men and farmers of the county, standing erect and without moving from his tracks touched with his hands eight-five well grown and good-sized ears of the corn. Competent judges declare that there are several acres of the corn that will produce more than 2.0 bushels to the acre. Contestants should write the Dublin Chamber of Commerce their desire to enter the race that additional information be sent them.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But of ten germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see the pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Bidwell, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c. at W. H. Ellis Co.

VARDAMAN ELECTED.

Former Governor Wins Hands
Down Over Percy and Alexander.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 2.—Incomplete returns from yesterday's democratic primaries in Mississippi show that former Governor Vardaman is the lead by not less than 15,000. At Vardaman's headquarters a bulletin was issued claiming that his majority will be 20,000 and it is not improbable that this estimate will be fully verified. United States Senator Percy and Mr. Alexander have both conceded defeat.

PORTAL

Dr. Alderman of Metter, visited here this week.

Misses Tyler and Hale, of Waynesboro, Mrs. DeLoach and son, of Millen, and Mr. Hatcher of Augusta, have returned to their respective homes after a week's visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. DeLoach of this place.

Mr. Frank Smith, of Macon, visited friends here this week.

Portal was almost deserted Tuesday, as a large crowd went down to the Portal Sunday School picnic at Tybee. Everyone reports a grand time.

Reports come in of a great deal of damage to cotton, the result of the exceedingly dry weather. Dr. Clifford Miller, of Jenkins county visited here this week.

The Misses Aaron, of Aaron, Messrs. Arthur DeLoach and LeRoy Aaron attended Sunday school here Sunday.

The farmers were made to smile on Wednesday when the much needed showers came.

Mr. Snel, of Macon, visited friends here a few days ago.

Seemed to Give Him a New Storm.

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Young, Editor of The Sun, Laake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

LOCAL TAXATION URGED

BY PROF. JERE M. POUND.

Educator Takes Position Against Election of School Commissioners by People.

Gainesville, Ga., Aug. 2.—In his address before the Teachers' Educational Institute here Professor Jere M. Pound took a position against the election of county commissioners by the people.

The cause of great a percentage of illiteracy among the people school commissioners should be selected by those acquainted with the duties of the office, says Mr. Pound.

Stating that "taxes were a tribute paid for happiness," Mr. Pound argued for local taxation public schools. The figures given by him that in Hall county there are 580 children of school age who can neither read nor write were a surprise to many in his audience.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an anesthetic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Streator, Ill., was so had from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley's Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well, and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley's Kidney Pills are in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills.

BLITCH DOTS.

The farmers of this section are taking advantage of the clear weather to save their fodder and fodder pulling is the order of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Crumley delightfully entertained a host of their friends on last Saturday by sumptuous ice cream supper.

Among those present were Misses Lillie Metts, Bertis Metts, Clara Cannon, Callie Watkins, Della Cannon, Bertis Cannon, Carrie Boyd, Minnie Brown Cusick, Cannon, Messrs. Sylvester Cannon, Menten Cannon, Early Metts, Ed Cannon, Wiley Rodgers, also a goodly number of elder people and children. Ice cream and cake were served, also a quantity of fine melons. All report having had an enjoyable time. The only fault we found was the date was not set for the next one.

Miss Dora Stuckey has been visiting relatives in Laurens county for the past three weeks.

Miss Lillie Metts visited Miss Callie Watkins last Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Whitaker were the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malgon Wood, on last Saturday and Sunday.

Guess what two young men took their best girls to Friendship last Sunday and the girls ran in at the church door to avoid the young men's assistance because they were minus their coats. "Wear your coats next time, boys."

Otis, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Lounney Brannen, had the misfortune to get his leg broken last Thursday. We are pleased to learn he is getting along nicely.

BROW NEVES.

Blitch.

If the drowth keeps on the people around Blitch will not get more than a half crop of cotton.

Mr. N. B. Akins and family have been visiting relatives in Liberty county.

The meeting at Sand Hill Church Sunday, had a fine dinner, and there was a large crowd present.

Mr. Edie Whalin has just returned from Milledgeville where he visited his drother who is in the asylum and states that he is some better.

If the meetings keep on around Blitch there ought to be some christians.

The fodder in this section is drying up pretty rapidly and the people are pulling it pretty rapidly to keep it from all drying up.

A weeks rain and then a wet spell would be a fine thing in this section to fill up the wells and branches that are dry.

The big ginney near M. R. Akins will soon be in operation, and then there will be something doing when the cotton gets plentiful.

Mrs. M. E. Jackson and mother have been visiting relatives in Emanuel county near Garfield, Ga.

The little son of Mr. N. L. Brannon had the misfortune to get his leg broke.

Advance Information.

Dr. J. M. Buckley, the well-known editor and divine, addressing a New York City Sunday school, related an incident that greatly interested the children. He told of meeting a ragged, hungry-looking little girl in the street on a wintry day, and when he questioned her she related a pitiful tale of a sick mother and younger brother and sister without food. After giving her a silver dollar, the good doctor followed at a safe distance to see what she would do with the money.

"Now children, what do you suppose was the first thing she bought with that dollar?" said Mr. Buckley.

"Hands up!"

"Up went the hands, and one child after another ventured a guess, but none proved correct. Finally a little boy, whose hand alone remained, was asked for his answer to the question.

"A bucket," he sang out.

"Correct!" said the doctor. "There's a boy who thinks! Now, come up here on the platform and tell us why you think it was a bucket."

"I want these boys and girls to learn to think too."

"Be because," stammered the youngster at last, moved by the sight of the money. "I was over in Hoboken last Sunday and heard you tell the story there."

A KENTUCKY GIRL AND THE PRINCE OF WALES

A Kentucky girl was being taken through the royal stables at St. James palace, London, when some of the king's horses were being prepared for a railroad journey by having their legs banded. The groom who was taking her through the stables told her that King Edward dearly loved his horses and whenever he took them with him on a railroad journey he always had their legs banded to prevent them from being hurt by the jolting of the cars. The Kentucky girl who was much interested in what they were doing, told the groom she knew a much better way to bandage the horses' legs, and if they would allow her she would show them how to do it.

The groom pointed to a gentleman who was standing near by, directing the operation, and said he would have to ask his permission for her to do so. The permission was soon given and the girl knelt down and showed them how she banded horses' legs. The gentleman came over to her and asked her if she was from, and she said that she was born on the Bell Meade farm in Kentucky where the finest Kentucky horses were raised, and he told her he had heard of them. He also told her of his father's and his own love for horses, and he showed her through the royal stables and told the groom to take her to the royal riding school near by.

As he was leaving, the groom touched his hat very respectfully, and the American girl asked who the gentleman was, who had been so kind to her, and the groom replied, don't you know that was His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales?

Most of us cannot give our horses as comfortable a stable as King George can, but we can all treat them with love and kindness, for no animal has served man more faithfully, and surely none deserves a greater reward than the horse. So let us be good to him to them at all times.—Selected.

Eighty-eight per cent of all trades are closed to men and boys who are known to be saloon patrons. In spite of this fact the saloon advocates claim that the saloon is a respectable institution and a valuable adjunct to our industrial life.

Old Superstitions about Marriage.

Despite the fact that the large majority of people in this age believe in few superstitions, there are still a number of beliefs concerning love and marriage which are given credence. Some of them are pretty, a great many are silly, but all of them are interesting in relation to how they could have arisen.

Have you seen a girl stumble up stairs and laugh as if she enjoyed the spill? Well, this fall means that her wedding day is near at hand and is considered an infallible sign. Have you ever seen a pretty girl bowing three times to a new moon? She does so in the belief that the little ceremony will bring her a new sweetheart.

Every girl knows it is unlucky to marry a man whose surname commences with the same letter as her own. The old couplet "Change the name, not the letter, marry for worse and not for better," holds as good today as it did in bygone ages, though why it should be considered unlucky for Miss Smith to marry Mr. Smalley is beyond the comprehension of the unsuperstitious. However, there is many a girl who has refused a man for this reason.

There is another superstition which a girl in love don't dare defy. It is the belief that her sweetheart must not be watched out of sight, for this pretends that the meeting will be a last one. If she has several admirers and wishes to learn which she loves best she must pluck a rose and name each petal after an admirer. The petals should be thrown into a stream and the one that disappears last is the favored suitor.

There is no end of superstitions concerning the wedding day itself. One is that the bride who sees herself in the mirror fully arrayed in her bridal finery will be unhappy all her married life. Another concerns the ring. If it is dropped by the nervous bridegroom, matrimonial misfortune will result. The wedding day itself must be favorable as to weather, for "happy is the bride the sun shines on." And rain portends evil. In Germany, however, the bride prays for rain, for "every drop brings a new joy."

If the bride sees her bridegroom before he sees her she will rule through life, and vice versa. There is a little verse which instructs lovers as to when they should wed:

Marry when the year is new,
Always loving kind and true;
When February birds do mate,
You may wed, nor dread your fate;
If you wed when March winds blow,
Joy and sorrow both you'll know.
Marry in April when you can,
Joy for maiden and for man.
Marry in the month of May,
You will surely rue the day.
Marry when June roses blow,
Over land and sea you'll go.
They who in July do wed,
Must labor always for their bread.
Whoever wed in August be,
Many changes are sure to see.
Marry in September's shine,
Your living will be rich and fine.
If in October you do marry,
Love will come, but riches tarry.
If you wed in bleak November,
Only joy will come, remember.
When December's snows fall fast, Marry and true love will last.
—Sovereign Visitor.

But it now. Now is the time to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. For sale by all dealers.

SENATE LIFTS DIRECT TAX ON GEORGIA DOGS

Substitute Bill Passes, Making Him Personal Property The Original To Repeal.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 12.—The annual speeches in defense of the faithful dog, deluged the Georgia Senate with waves of oratory this morning, when a bill to repeal the dog tax, sponsored by Messrs. Edwards, Kincaid and Oliver, was placed upon its passage.
The bill was favored by the Senate in substitute. The committee changes made dogs personal property and allowed the owners to return their valuation with their personal property. It made the dog tax an ad valorem tax. The committee's substitute was adopted by a liberal vote.
Senator Dickinson was the strong supporter of the original bill. Bills passed in Senate:
By Senator Edwards, Kincaid and Oliver—To make the tax on dogs ad valorem instead of special.
By Senator Felker—To allow newspapers to exchange advertising for mileage.
By Turner and Jones—To incorporate the town of Gray, Jones County.
By Hall, of Echols—To elect judge of county court by popular votes.
By Le Sueur, of Crawford—To fix the time of holding superior court in Crawford County.
By Kent of Montgomery—To change the time of holding superior court in Montgomery County.
By Melton, of Terrell—To prohibit sale of near bear in Terrell County.
By Melton, of Terrell—To amend act establishing city court of Dawson.
By Hiers, of Colquitt—To establish a board of county commissioners of Colquitt County.
By Stephens, of Johnson—To change the time of holding superior court in Johnson County.
By Nix and Wilson of Gwinnett—To amend act establishing a board of county commissioners.
By McCurry, of Hart—To abolish city court of Hartwell.
By Lort and Jones, of Washington—To amend an act chartering the town of Tennesse.
By Senator Harris—To make Rockmart, Polk County, a state depository.
By Fields, of DeKalb—To amend act establishing board of road and revenue for DeKalb County.
By Belwine, of Fayette—To amend charter of Fayetteville.
By Youmans and Waller, of Emanuel—To amend act establishing city court of Swainsboro.
By Alexander, of DeKalb—To amend charter of Decatur.
By Slade and Wohlsender, of Muscogee—To provide for election

HOOPER ALEXANDER INGOVERNOR RACE?

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 12.—Is Gov. Hoke Smith going to Hooper Alexander, of DeKalb, as a candidate for the gubernatorial succession?

Signs protest that this is the trend. It is known that no one yet in the field or "among those mentioned," is believed to represent sufficient strength to carry the Smith wing to success in the gubernatorial Marathon.

It is rumored that Governor Smith and his close advisors have about decided that the gentleman from DeKalb is the man on whom their strength should be concentrated. If he does run, of course, he will run on a prohibition platform, and this may bring the liquor question into sharp issue in the campaign.
Mr. Alexander has always been a most ardent champion of Governor Smith, personally and politically. He has pressed Smith reforms in the legislature and before the people. The governor's senator has no stronger personal friends or more ardent political followers than Mr. Alexander.

So there is no doubt that he would be more acceptable to the governor personally than almost any other man. That he will make the race on the Smith platform, supplemented by a straight prohibition issue is the growing belief here.

Mr. Alexander's strenuous fight to force the Tipkins bill through is an indication that he wants the people of the state to know what he is doing to help prohibition. Mr. Alexander's entry would probably result in immediately forcing Governor Brown into the race. Mr. Alexander is almost certainly a campaigner as Governor Smith.

MANY WERE ON EXCURSION.

Quite a party of Statesboro citizens will leave tomorrow on the Seaboard Air Line northern excursion to Richmond, Washington and New York. Those who have already secured reservations are Dr. C. H. Parrish, Mr. M. K. Parrish, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Tinsley, Mrs. Josie Rogers, Mr. and J. E. Bowen, Col. and Mrs. Hinton Booth. The party will visit Richmond, Washington, Baltimore and New York. They will be away about ten days.

RUNAWAY CONVICT ROUNDED UP.

This morning Sheriff Donaldson brought in Gus Gilchrist, a chain gang convict who has been at large for the past year or more. Gus was rounded up in August, where he was picked up by one of the detectives in answer to a reward of twenty-five dollars for his arrest. The negro was sent to the gang on a charge of cheating and swindling. He was taken out to the camps this morning.

CHESTER ALLEN.

On Sunday afternoon at the residence of Judge E. D. Holland in Statesboro, Miss Mamie Chester and Mr. Lewis Allen were united in marriage. Judge Holland officiating. The young lady had gone with her parents to spend the day on Sunday at a neighbor's house and on the return home she joined her sweet-heart, and the young couple drove to town and the nuptial knot was tied.

ANDERSON OPENS UNDERTAKING PARLORS

Attention is called to the announcement of Messrs. E. M. Anderson & Son in this issue of the opening of their new Undertaking Parlor on South Main street. A few days ago the funeral car for this business arrived. It is the best ever seen in Statesboro. The new firm is equipped to handle the business in their line.

YOUNG BOYS FINED FOR FIGHTING.

This morning Mayor McDougald imposed a small fine on Leon Wood and Clarence Hulst, charged with fighting Sunday afternoon at the Central depot. During the fight sticks and brick bats were used pretty freely. Young Wood suffered a severe gash on his forehead from a stick used by Hulst.

S. & S. RAILWAY LEASES WAREHOUSE.

It is reported that the Savannah & Statesboro Railway has leased the large brick warehouse from the Statesboro Storage & Commission Company, on their tracks fronting on Vine street. The report states that Mr. Bruce Donaldson will be the weigher during the cotton season. Owing to the fact that Superintendent Baer is out of town the report could not be confirmed.

LIGHTNING KILLS MULE AND INJURES OWNER.

On Saturday afternoon a heavy thunder storm came over the farm of Mr. Joseph Braumen, out on the Ogeechee River side. Mr. Braumen was hauling lumber at the time, returning from the mill with a loaded wagon to which was hitched a pair of mules. In order to escape the rain he drove up under a pine tree and took shelter. A clap of lightning struck the tree against which he was leaning, and the current ran down the tree within about a foot of Mr. Braumen's head, jumped off the tree and killed the mule standing nearest. The other mule was badly stunned, one eye being put out. Mr. Braumen was badly injured, being knocked down, and remained unconscious for some time afterwards. At last accounts he had recovered.

MOVING PICTURE SHOW FOR STATESBORO.

Mr. T. H. Browning, accompanied by his wife, arrived from Douglas, this morning. Mr. Browning called at the News office and stated that he had leased one of the new brick buildings near the garage, and some time next week would open a moving picture show here. He states that nothing but first class films will be used, and the patronage of the best people will be expected. Mr. Browning of this place states that he has an interest in the business. Announcements of the opening will appear later.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank kind friends for the many acts of kindness done for us and the love and sympathy shown us in the recent illness and death of our husband and father.

Sincerely,
Mrs. J. M. Jones and Children.

IN LOVED UNIFORM GORDON IS BURIED.

Memphis, Tenn., August 12.—Clad in the loved uniform of Confederate gray, the body of General George W. Gordon, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans and member of congress from the tenth Tennessee district, was laid to rest in Elmwood cemetery today. General Gordon died in this city Wednesday after an extended illness.

Veterans of the Confederate and Union armies, representatives of the nation and state, county of Shelby and municipality of Memphis, as well as descendants of soldiers who fought for the north and the south in the civil war, joined in paying tribute to the dead. Former foes marched side by side in the military procession that formed a conspicuous part of a funeral cortege more than a mile in length. The drum corps and old soldiers were followed by the national capital and in turn came state dignitaries and county and city officials who proceeded hundreds of motor cars and other vehicles containing friends and admirers of General Gordon.

The procession passed from the courthouse, where the body has rested at the headquarters of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans since Thursday, to the Second Presbyterian church, where a brief service was conducted by the Rev. R. Linn Cave, of Nashville, chaplain general of the confederate veterans' organization. The general procession ended at the church, the military guard of honor, pallbearers and General Gordon's official staff accompanying the body to the cemetery.

Active pallbearers were composed of close friends of General Gordon residing in this city. They were named by him several months ago, as follows:
J. P. Young, W. W. Carnes, L. S. Lake, E. Q. Withers, R. E. Bullington, A. R. Taylor and L. D. Scott.

The delegation of members of the national house of representatives attending the funeral was composed of Representatives Padgett, Houston, Garrett, Hull, Byrnes, Austin and Sells, of Tennessee; Richardson, Alabama; Lamb and Slem, Virginia; Graves, Arkansas; Thistlewood, Illinois; Kahn, California; Bradley, New York, and Dunthony, Kansas.

On Friday afternoon during a heavy thunder storm, the dwelling of Mr. John B. Kitchens, near Portal, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The bolt struck in the roof, igniting the entire building before assistance could be had. There was no one at home at the time except Mrs. Kitchens, who was in the house, and who narrowly escaped death from the stroke. Being without assistance, she was unable to save any of the furniture, and the entire contents were lost. Building was a good one; one that Mr. Kitchens had worked hard to construct for the past three or four years. We did not learn whether there was any insurance carried on the building or not.

DEBROSSE-WILSON.

This afternoon, at six o'clock, Mr. O. M. Wilson led Miss Louise DeBrosse to the altar, at the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. George DeBrosse, in East Statesboro.

The bride is one of Statesboro's prettiest and most accomplished young ladies, having graduated with high honors from the Statesboro Institute this summer. The bridegroom is a former Bulloch county young man, but is now engaged in business at Bainbridge, Ga. The happy young couple will leave for their home at Bainbridge tomorrow morning.

DWELLING BURNED BY LIGHTNING.

NEWTON RAISES GIANT CORN.

Mr. M. A. Newton, R. F. D. carrier on Route No. 2 from Stilson, brought us in a lot of giant ears of corn this morning raised on his farm. The ears are the largest we have seen this season, some of them measuring nine and a half inches around and thirteen and a half inches long. He used five dollars worth of fertilizer on two and a half acres, and made one hundred and thirty bushels.

BROOKLET GETS HER FIRST BALE.

Mr. J. B. Martin received the honor of hauling the first bale of cotton here this season. It weighed 455 pounds and was sold to Mr. J. C. Lanier for 12 1-8, it classed good middling. The Brooklet ginney pulled off her first bale last season on Aug. 10th, so the first bale this season was one day later.

Little Joe is still saving wood. Wonder how long before he finishes that barn on his Cherokee farm?

The eleven District Agricultural Schools have opened the eyes of the people of Georgia. And the one in the First District leads them all.

Reports from all over the cotton belt say that the short cotton crop is damaged at least twenty-five per cent by the hot wave.

The Georgia Legislature has been wrestling with the beer bill, at the same time killing time to attend a beer drinking at Macon. Consistency, thou art a Jew.

Attention is called to the card of Col. H. M. Jones which appears in this issue. Col. Jones is a Bulloch county boy who has entered the legal profession. We predict for him a successful career in his chosen profession.

Isn't it getting about time that the citizens awake from their snooze and take another look over the question of the great necessity for sewerage in Statesboro?

They are making the dog taxable on the ad valorem basis. This will leave it up to the tax payer's conscience to say what the dog is worth.

It looks like "Farmer Pope Brown" and Plain Dick Russell are having all the fun to themselves. There will be others to ward the wind up.

It is reported that Alf Harrington would enter the race for congress in the new twelfth against Dudley Hughes. Then we may expect to see the fur fly.

By all means let Hooper Alexander go in the race for Governor. There is one thing about Hooper and that is, you can always find where he is at.

Cotton is coming in rather slow, only about twenty-five bales having been received here up to the present time during the season. Good cotton is selling at eleven and a half cents in this market.

If Hoke Smith saves the people of Georgia one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in needless appropriations, maybe there is some virtue in his having stayed at home after all.

Five thousand bottle of beer are said to have been consumed at the Macon barbecue where two hundred members of the Georgia Legislature were fed and drenched a few days ago. These tactics were once applied to scorch the brother in black, now they are working "on off" on the people elected to look after the interests of the people.

TIPPINS BILL GOES BY FOR SESSION.

The famous Tippins anti-beer bill which has had the attention of the legislature and the public in general for the past week or two, was side-tracked by the House Rules Committee yesterday, which settles its fate for the session. In the event it was taken up by the house and passed, it would be impossible for it to get through the senate in time to become a law this time.

RE-APPORTIONMENT BILL PASSES HOUSE.

It is now certain that the re-apportionment bill making twelve districts in Georgia will be passed this session. It went through the house on yesterday by practically a unanimous vote and has been transmitted to the senate, it is said to be pretty nearly solid for the measure.

Under the bill the First congressional district loses two counties—Emanuel and Toombs being transferred to the new twelfth district. This will leave ten counties in the First, with Bulloch on the upper end of it instead of being in the center. This bill also settles the congressional booms of two aspirants, as far as this district is concerned, it takes both Enoch Giles of Toombs and Alf Harrington, of Emanuel.

Ware county is now about the liveliest section in all South Georgia. The folks down there are busy advertising the advantages of their section. We understand that they expect at least a thousand and home seekers in that county during the coming winter.

IMITATION BUTTER FACTORY IS RAIDED

Uncle Sam's Men Break in the Doors of Hopkins' Parlor Stand Catch Two.

Battering down the doors of Thomas Hopkins' Parlor Butter stand at 186 Whitehall-st., at 9 o'clock Tuesday night, Revenue Agent J. H. Surber and Deputies J. J. Drakeford, H. L. Scott and J. W. Martin closed in on two employees, C. C. Hubbard and George Winfrey, while in the act of coloring oleomargarine by wholesale.

Arrested them and captured about 500 pounds of the finished goods and the apparatus. The breaking in at the doors brought down ten city detectives and policemen who had been tipped off that a burglary was being committed. Revenue Agent Surber quickly informed the police of what was doing, and his men were let alone.

As the revenue men came in the door, Hubbard and Winfrey turned down the light by which they were working. The breaking in at the doors brought down ten city detectives and policemen who had been tipped off that a burglary was being committed. Revenue Agent Surber quickly informed the police of what was doing, and his men were let alone.

At 11:30 o'clock the revenue men raided the residence of Thomas Hopkins, but he was not to be found. The officers are now looking for him, as the business belonged to him and he is considered the chief offender.

Hubbard and Winfrey were at the Federal building during the night and had a preliminary examination before Commissioner N. A. Brown Wednesday morning. They were held to the Federal grand jury in $500 bond each.

They were represented by attorneys and have made no statement. The government authorities have taken careful samples of the stuff which will be preserved as evidence. The bulk of it will be put in cold storage.

For twenty-two days the revenue agents have relentlessly been on the trail of the law-breakers, as evidence had accumulated that someone was putting a great deal of colored oleomargarine on the Atlanta market as creamery butter. It is estimated that over 200 pounds was daily sold and that the head operator must be mopping up a profit of at least $30 daily by swindling the government out of its just tax, and defrauding the public by selling colored oleomargarine as first class creamery butter.

If there is one thing Uncle Sam is strict about it is the protection of consumers of colored oleomargarine. The government statutes requires that every dealer shall publicly brand the stuff as oleomargarine and let every customer

Charges Nickel For Shave Dollar For Wedding.

There are frequently married in the police court couples who, to escape prosecution decide that it is better to live together as man and wife. These weddings are mostly among the citizens of Parktown. A license has to be secured and the services of a preacher obtained of course.

Now, there is in a barber shop on Deatur street, within a few doors of the police station, a negro barber who is also a preacher. This barber-preacher has an eye to business and makes as much extra coin as he can. He caught onto the police court weddings and soon established himself as the official police court preacher. He made a fixed charge of $1 for each wedding. He has become so well known that he now has a monopoly of the wedding business in the police court.

This barber-preacher is named J. W. Spearman. He was a preacher before he was a barber, but finding that dispensing the gospel was not remunerative enough he took up the trade of a barber. Preaching is now a side line.

Barber-preacher Spearman, it is said makes from $15 to $20 a month as the official "tie-man" of hymeneal knots under police jurisdiction. When he first began to preside over police court weddings, in the goodness of his heart he gave credit. But he soon found out that his kindness was imposed upon. His rate of $1 per wedding is now a strictly cash basis. Many people who pass along Deatur street have read with wonder a sign on which was printed: "Shaving 5 cent; hair cutting, 10 cents; couples married for $1 each." While Barber-preacher Spearman's marriage ceremonies are very brief, he says that they are long enough to be binding and elaborate enough to constitutional a full $1 worth.

How what he is buying. The government tax on colored oleomargarine is 10 cents, on uncolored oleomargarine only one-fourth of one cent. A cunning dealer can buy coloring matter for as long as any drug store, and two teapoonfuls will richly color as much as 60 pounds of the stuff. A dealer who is violating the law can buy the white oleomargarine from the packing houses at 10 to 15 cents per pound, color it and get 30 to 50 cents per pound for it as creamery butter.

The penalty is a heavy fine or imprisonment, or both. Revenue Agent Surber and his staff of deputies were warmly congratulated Wednesday over the capture and uncovering of a scheme to defraud butter consumers of Atlanta.

Last November they captured a colored oleo maker, and they kept so thoroughly in touch with the butter market that a crooked dealer can not get by with the scheme for any length of time in Atlanta.

LAURENS VOTERS HEAR POPE BROWN

Judge Russell Was absent and Joint Debate Did Not Take Place.

Dublin, Ga., August 19 (Special).—Hon. Pope Brown spoke at Dublin today to a crowd estimated at 3,000.

Judge Russell was not present and there was no joint debate. The speech of Mr. Brown was little different from his Wavercross speech.

There was plenty of dinner for every one and the Dublin concert band furnished music for the occasion.

In the forenoon there were some speed exhibitions by some of the local autoists which hardly could be called races, however, as there were no regular entries.

The speech delivered by Mr. Brown was well received by those who were present.

Not A Pair of Bloomers For The Woman Convict.

Iola, Kan., August 10.—D. B. D. Smeltz, judge of the municipal court here, was defeated in his effort to enforce his judgment that Mrs. Ella Reese, a city prisoner convicted of a vicious offense, should don bloomers and join the men members of the chaingang in working on the streets.

There were three reasons for this. First, the judge was unable to find a pair of bloomers in the town; second, his order was defied by Commissioner G. C. Glynn, and third the people here apparently had sympathy with the sentence inflicted upon the woman.

Unable to find the sort of attire ordered by Judge Smeltz, the jailer delivered Mrs. Reese to the foreman of the street department dressed in her usual clothing. Commissioner Glynn ordered the foreman to return her to jail at once. "I will not permit a woman prisoner to do such work," he said. "It is a disgrace even to suggest such a thing."

When Judge Smeltz learned that his orders had not been obeyed, he said emphatically that Mrs. Reese must go to work.

"If she does not work," said the judge, "she will stay in jail until she concludes to obey the court."

TENANT HOUSE BURNED.

On Thursday night a tenant house on the farm of Mr. F. D. Fletcher, near the city was burned. Henry Harmon and wife, colored, were living in the house at the time. The contents including nearly half a bale of cotton belonging to Mr. Fletcher were destroyed. The negroes were away from home at the time. Saturday afternoon Harmon's wife created a scene on the street corner near the Simmons Company, by weeping while the throng passed. Marshall Kendrick inquired the occasion of so much weeping and waiting on the public streets, the answer was: "They excuse me of burning my own home." Marshall Kendrick allowed one tear to drop on his club and ordered the woman to dry away her tears and move on or she would be run in. She moved on.

Attorney at Law, Statesboro, Ga.

IN MEMORY OF J. H. WOODS.

On the morning of Dec. 16th, 1910, the spirit of our dear grand-father passed away, making his stay on earth 92 years and 24 days.

Since he lost his dear companion about 10 years ago, he resided with his daughter, Mrs. Penie Pelot, and was very feeble for several years before his death.

He had never joined the church but was a firm believer in the Primitive Baptist, and said he wanted to join 30 years ago, but felt too unworthy, so we have the assurance that the dear aged soul is sweetly resting with his Saviour and loved ones gone before.

He and grandmother always attended church faithfully as long as they were able to go. Oh, our hearts are full when we recall the many happy hours spent with our grandparents in their peaceful, quiet home, in years gone by.

They were always kind to every one, and especially to the very poor and needy.

Grandfather suffered greatly, and was almost blind in his last illness. He was a man of great vitality, and never would give up only from pure exhaustion. He left two children, ten grand-children, and twelve great grand-children. His funeral was preached by Elder A. W. Patterson, who spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family, after which the body was interred beside his companion in the old Grimsbury burying ground.

"Farwell dear ones, but not forever. We shall meet to part no more, On the resurrection morn."

Thou hast gone on just before us, O'er the river dark and cold, And ere long we'll go and meet thee, On the streets of shining gold.

Some may think we'll soon forget thee, And our wounded hearts be healed, But they little know the sorrow That is in our hearts concealed.

Forget thee? O, when life shall cease To thrill this heart of mine And not till then shall I forget One look or tone of thine.

Oh, my Saviour, how we miss him, But he is before thy throne. Help us to submit, dear Saviour, Gracious Lord Thy will be done.

ANDERSON WILL BUILD CONCRETE STABLES.

Mr. C. H. Anderson has closed a trade for the old Guyton shop lot with Mr. J. F. Fields and will erect at an early date a large concrete livery stable there. The lot faces on Vine street, seventy-two feet and runs back about one hundred and fifty feet. The building will probably cover the entire lot. The price paid for the lot was three thousand dollars. Mr. Fields bought it in at administrator's sale about one year ago for fifteen hundred dollars.

OIL MILL GINNEY IN OPERATION.

Parties having cotton ready for the gin can now be accommodated at the Bulloch Oil Mill Ginney, which started up last week. During the summer the gins have been thoroughly overhauled and new machinery added, and they now have perhaps the best equipped plant in this section of Georgia. The management announces that they can now take care of a hundred bales of cotton per day. So there will be no long waits if you carry your cotton to the Bulloch Oil Mill Ginney. The chances are you can get it ginned while you wait, and take it on to market.

REMER CONE IS WATERMELON KING.

Mr. R. H. Cone, of Hubert, was in town one day this week. Mr. Cone comes from the very heart of the watermelon growing section of Bulloch county and that means Georgia. Mr. Cone has the reputation of growing better and larger watermelons than any man in the state. He shipped thirteen cars, raised on sixteen acres, using about one hundred dollars worth of fertilizers. Mr. Cone sold his melons on the truck at the station and received over nine hundred dollars for them, realizing about sixty dollars per acre, not after all expenses had been deducted. He now has a fine field of new vine hay growing, and expects to reap two tons per acre, adding forty dollars more in one year. One hundred dollars per acre net on Briar Patch. District land is said to be farming some. But it has been done before. Mr. Cone had other melons and other crops, but he kept tab on this particular patch and the above is the result of his transaction the present year.

COFFIN IS FOUND IN COTTON FIELD

Ghastly Visitor Discovered by the Baying of Dog in Cotton Field of Newt Clary.

On Wednesday afternoon while Newt Clary and family were picking cotton in their field on the plantation of Mr. Geo. W. Simmons, about seven miles east of the city, the faithful dog, which the brother in black is wont to possess, began to bay some hidden object in the tall cotton a short distance from where the negro and other members of his family were working. Attempts were made to call the dog off but he was persistent. Investigation revealed a six-foot coffin found between two cotton rows. The coffin was of home manufacture and was neatly covered with black calico.

Clary naturally advanced towards the ghastly find with a great deal of care and discretion. He made sure there was no unearthly occupant who would all of a sudden burst through the lid and devour him, before he could secure assistance. Making sure on this point the colored brother advanced sufficiently near to perceive that the coffin had been there several days; a rain which had fallen several days before had beat the sand upon the sides of the coffin; there were no tracks discernible, or at least the frightened dainties overlooked this feature in the case. The dog had grabbed beneath the coffin, leading Clary to suspect it held something that attracted him.

Messrs. J. A. Smith and Staff, Tucher, two white neighbors, came over and opened the coffin, to find that it was empty.

The find has created considerable gossip in the neighborhood, but as far as we have been able to learn there is no clue to the identity of the parties who shouldered so much trouble as to build a coffin and place it in the cotton field belonging to the negro.

It is believed that it was the work of parties who want to scare the negro away. A short time ago there was considerable trouble between a former colored tenant of Mr. Simmons and a number of white neighbors. The negro was thrashed and about a dozen men were arrested for the act. One of them has been convicted in the city court and fined. Clary was a witness in the former trouble and had been warned not to testify in a letter which was left at his house by unknown parties.

The Golden Rule.

A young farmer went to his banker a short time ago and asked to borrow $300.00. After consulting the depositors' ledger and noting the condition of said farmer's account the banker said: "Alright sir, you can have it. I observe that while your account is not large yet it is gradually increasing, which shows that you are succeeding. I also note that you are apparently doing all your business with us, which shows that you are our friend, and we always feel like helping our friends." Was the banker's conclusion logical? This bank preaches and practices the Golden Rule.

SMITH READS RIOT ACT ON FINANCES
Tells Senate Appropriation
Committee to Cut $150,000,
All Around.

Atlanta, Ga., August 14, 1911.—
Governor Smith appeared before the Senate appropriations committee this afternoon and read the riot act. He told the committee that it would be necessary to scale down the House bill fully $150,000 to bring the appropriation within the revenues.

The bill carries about $5,000,000 and revenues are estimated this year by the Governor at $5,700,000.
He did not say he would veto the bill if left as it stands, but let the inference that he would have no other course if not scaled, then the committee got busy and after a long session, managed to trim $58,000 out of the bill.

The cuts were as follows:
Academy for Blind, $3,000.
School for Deaf, $2,500.
Soldiers' Home, $2,500.
Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Alto,
$2,500.
University of Georgia, $4,500.
Tech, $5,000.
Georgia Normal at Milledgeville, $25,000.
State College of Agriculture, $10, 000.
Common Schools, $25,000.

The committee also voted to restore power to messenger to name Senator pages. This was changed in the House for the president to make appointments.

The committee will report the bill to the Senate tomorrow, and then have it recommitted in a further effort to cut it down.

The house worked away from 4 to 5:45 on special appropriations.
The resolutions allowing the Third District Agricultural College to sell 100 acres at an upset price of $41,500 passed. Fifteen thousand dollars was appropriated to cover a deficiency in the printing fund; $2,500 was appropriated for the manufacture of hog cholera serum, but an amendment to give it to the farmers free was defeated.
The $10,000 appropriation to the Geological Department for swamp drainage and water survey was defeated, Hall, of Bibb, opposing it.

Turner, of Jones, offered a resolution this afternoon to name a committee of three from the Senate and five from the House to investigate banking laws and report at next session. It passed unanimously.

Joe Hill Hall asked that the following statement be made for him on the Macon charter bill: "There is a mistaken impression current relative to the tax levy of 14 per cent. The city authorities are not required to levy the additional one eighth per cent, for paving but are authorized to levy a tax for that purpose not to exceed one-eighth of one per cent."

MIDNIGHT TRAINS

Via, Vidalia, Dublin, Macon
Over The Seaboard, M. D.
& S. And Southern Ry.

Dublin, Ga., Aug. 15.—Robert M. Martin, managing director of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, and H. M. Stanley, a director and editor of the Courier-Dispatch, left for Atlanta today to confer tomorrow with J. L. Meek, assistant general passenger agent of the Southern Railroad, relative to through train service between Atlanta, Macon, Dublin and Savannah over the Southern, Macon, Dublin and Savannah and Seaboard Air Line road.

The Seaboard and the Macon, Dublin and Savannah have agreed to the service and it remains for the Southern to make the service a go.

It is proposed to have trains leave Atlanta and Savannah every night about midnight, carrying baggage and mail cars, day coaches and sleepers.

It is believed that the service will prove a big success from the start, and an effort will be made to get it started early in September.

The Puzzle of Pellagra.

According to a recently given out estimate there are now not less than 50,000 cases of pellagra in Georgia alone. Cases have been reported from almost every state;
and there is no doubt whatever that the disease is rapidly gaining ground throughout the land.

Nevertheless the medical world is still puzzled over the cause of pellagra. Of the several theories that have been advanced, none has met with general or universal acceptance. Perhaps the most widely entertained hypothesis is that moldy corn used as food carries into the system poisonous fungi which wreck the nervous system, disturb nutrition and so forth. But the maize, or cornbread, theory is at present losing fast with many students of the disease. Persons have been found with pellagra who apparently never ate cornbread or maize in any form.

At present the sandy theory is attracting much attention. The sandy is a sort of gnat which frequently streams and swarms. The theory is that these insects carry upon themselves the germs of pel-lagra, just as the mosquito carries the germs of yellow fever and of malaria. It has even been suggested that one type of mosquito may act as host for the pellagra microbes. Samborn, of England, who was sent by a pellagra commission to Italy to investigate the malady, is the chief exponent of the sandy theory.

It has also been suggested that canned goods in our dietary may be a part in the causation of pel-lagra.

Altho all these conflicting theories as to cause are yet to be sifted and properly appraised, yet many physicians are already reporting good encouraging results in the treatment of pellagra. Arsenic has seemed to work well and it is proposed to try "606" which is an arsenic containing a compound.
Also transfusion of fresh blood has apparently relieved several cases, and we feel that the puzzle of pel-lagra will yet be solved, and that shortly—Georgians.

PROPOSED RAILROAD FROM CLAXTON TO HINESVILLE
Hinesville, Ga., Aug. 14.—In addition to the proposed railroad from Fleming Station on the Atlantic Coast Line to Hinesville, Hinesville may have another.

The announcement in yesterday's Morning News of Shearouse Lumber Company of Brooklet deciding to extend its road to Claxton and tap the Seaboard Air Line increases the interest that is being taken in the proposed railroad from Claxton to Hinesville.

There is now a railroad from Allenhurst on the Atlantic Coast Line, only four miles from Hines-ville, running southeast toward the coast, which has almost reached salt water and is now being extended rapidly by Mr. Dunley, who is operating the Allenhurst mills. The scheme of the Hines-ville people is to connect these two roads by building the link between Claxton and the Dunley road via Hinesville, which is only 25 or 30 miles and would give a direct line from Brooklet to the sea.

This would open up a section of country through Bulloch, Tattnall and Liberty counties which in addition to being heavily timbered, cannot be excelled in the state for health and agriculture. The route would cross four railroads leading to Savannah, the Seaboard Air Line from Montgomery, the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard from Savannah to Jacksonville, besides an outlet on the Savannah and Statesboro road where it leaves Brooklet. It would also have the advantage of water transportation on the coast of Liberty county.

Col. J. H. Way, who has recently moved to Flemington and has invested $50,000 in Liberty county, will be among the chief promoters. N. J. Norman, Esq., has the matter in hand in the interest of the promoters, but is not giving the public any detailed information yet.

NEW DISTRICTS AS CUT OUT IN GEORGIA.

Atlanta, Aug. 14.—The reapportionment bill passed by the house provides for redistricting of the counties of Georgia in order that the number of congressional districts may be increased from 11 to

As adopted it leaves the Fourth,
Seventh and Ninth districts unchanged. In the First district Emanuel and Toombs counties are transferred to the Twelfth district.

In the second, Berrien, Turner, man are transferred to other districts.

In the Third Clay, Quitman, Randolph, Terrell and Turner are and Crawford, Houston, Pulaski, Twiggs and Wilcox counties are subtracted. In the Fifth five of the present eight counties are retained, but Newton and Walton are transferred to the Eighth district and Claxton to the Sixth.

In the Eleventh, Johnson, Laurens, Dodge, Montgomery and Telfair are transferred to other districts and Berrien is added.

sist of the following counties:

DEATH CLAIMS
J. T. SHUPTRINE.

After a Long Illness. Was One of State's Most Prominent Druggists.

(Savannah News.)
After a lingering illness James Thaddeus Shuptrine, one of the best known druggists in the state, died at his home, No. 308 Bolton street, left yesterday morning. He had been in failing health for two years, and his death was not unexpected, it was a great shock to his relatives and many friends.

Mr. Shuptrine was the first president of the Savannah Druggists' Association, and was at one time president of the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association, and he was the treasurer of the association for many years, resigning last July on account of his failing health.

Mr. Shuptrine was born in 1850, on the homestead plantation in Effingham county. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Shup-trine. The family is one of the oldest in Georgia. Nicholas Shup-trine, the founder of the present family, moved to this country from Salzburg, Germany in 1734, settling in Effingham county. The family has always lived there.

Mr. Shuptrine was educated in Liberty county and moved to Savannah, entering a drug store as clerk, when he was 20 years old.
Seven years later he went in business for himself, and at the time of his death was operating both a wholesale and retail drug and seed business. He was the first president of the Savannah Retail Druggists' Association and was one of the most prominent druggists in the city.

Survived by Wife and Children.
In 1876 he married Miss Sarah
S. Newton, of Effingham county; three children survive him as the result of this union—Herman C.
Shuptrine and Mrs. W. H. Stillwell, both of Savannah, and Mrs.
Eula Johnston, of Savannah; and five grandchildren.

He was for ten years an active member of the Georgia Hussars, and was an honorary member at the time of his death. He was a member of the First Baptist church.

Besides his wife and three children he is survived by two brothers, John S. Shuptrine of Liberty county and Daniel R. Shuptrine, of Saratoga, Ark.

MOB OF NEGROES TAKE POSSESSION OF TRAIN.

Durant, Okla., Aug. 15.—That his train had been captured and boarded by 75 armed negroes at Atoka last night, was the statement made by Conductor J. R. McKee upon the arrival of his train here. He declared the negroes left the train at Caney, Okla., and that the blacks are organizing there. He says he sent the telegrams received here and at Caddo, telling of the seizure of the train.

When messages were received 500 men armed themselves and met the train, but no negroes were aboard.

In the meantime a posse headed by Sheriff Hamilton had gone in motor cars to investigate the report that a woman had been attacked by a negro near Warwick, eight miles south of here. The posse returned and reported the story to be without foundation.

The trouble follows the attack and fatal shooting of Mrs. L. R. Campbell Saturday by John Lee, a negro. He was killed and his body burned by a mob. Mrs. Campbell died yesterday.

CHRALES A. WATERS DIES.

On Tuesday night at 9 o'clock the spirit of Mr. Chas. A. Waters passed to its maker. Mr. Waters had been suffering with typhoid fever, and from the time the physician was called the case was known to have been almost hopeless. The deceased was a good citizen, a son of Mr. T. A. Waters, lived a quiet life with his family at home and had accumulated a goodly share of this world's goods as a result of his hard labor and economy. The remains were interred in East Side Cemetery Wednesday afternoon, where the funeral was conducted by Rev. John F. Eden, pastor of the Baptist church. A large number of sorrowing friends and relatives attended the funeral. Mr. Waters leaves a wife and five children.

DEATH OF MRS. AYCOCK.

On yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Atkins, Mrs. J. L. Aycock breathed her last, after an illness of several days. The deceased had been married only about one year. As Miss Leola Atkins she was known and loved by all who knew her in and near Statesboro. The funeral was held this afternoon at Bethlehem church, where the interment was made.

The death was caused from a complication of diseases, three physicians having been at the bedside during the past few days, but the best medical skill failed to stay the call to go. The funeral services were conducted in the presence of a large crowd of sorrowing friends and relatives. This is the second grown daughter that Mr. and Mrs. Atkins have lost in the past year. The grief-stricken husband and parents have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

HUDSON CALLS ON SOUTH TO UPHOLD PRICE COTTON.

Ask Commissioners of Southern States to Meet and Combat Erroneous Idea That Crop Will Be Larger This Year Than Ever Before.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 16.—Commissioner T. G. Hudson, of the Georgia department of agriculture, is mailing letters to the commissioners of all the other southern states, asking their cooperation and that of the farmers' unions, with the idea in view of having a meeting called to combat the erroneous impression that the cotton crop this year is going to be the largest ever made and to keep the prices from being forced down.

Mr. Hudson suggests that the meeting be called by Tait Butler, of Starkeville, Miss., as president of the Association of Commissioners of Agriculture, of the Southern States.

Mr. Hudson's letter follows: Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 16, 1911. "The impression has been created throughout the country that the cotton crop this year is going to be the largest ever made. This impression has already had the effect of lowering the price of cotton and will carry it much lower unless something is done to put the world on notice that the crop is not such a large one as they would have you think.

"I have traveled all over Georgia and I know that the crop has deteriorated very much in the past month or six weeks, and from what I hear the same is true in your state.

"I think an effort should be made at once to first disabuse the minds of the people about the size of the cotton crop, and then to let the world know that the crop is not such a large one as they would have you think.

"I have traveled all over Georgia and I know that the crop has deteriorated very much in the past month or six weeks, and from what I hear the same is true in your state.

"I think an effort should be made at once to first disabuse the minds of the people about the size of the cotton crop, and then to let the world know that the crop is not such a large one as they would have you think.

get the farmers all over the south to hold a sufficiency of their cotton to prevent the price from being forced down to where it will mean starvation to the farmer. I believe that the southern states commissioners of agriculture should meet at some convenient point within the next two weeks and ask all farmers in the cotton states, especially the Farmers' union, to join us in this cause for a widespread movement. I would be glad for you to write to the president of the Association of Commissioners of Agriculture of the Southern States at once, and ask him to confer with the Farmers' union and other farmers, with a view of calling this meeting at as early date as practicable, and suggest in your letter that the president name the time and place of meeting, after conferring with the heads of the Farmers' union in the cotton states.

"If this meets with your approval, which I am sure it will, I would be glad for you not to delay the matter, but take it up at once.

"I am this day writing a similar letter to each of the commissioners of agriculture of the southern states.

"Very truly yours,
"T. G. HUDSON,
"Commissioner of Agriculture."

Citizens Reply to Article Published Last Week, Concerning Coffin Found in Cotton Field.

In an article which appeared in your issue the 15th, under the head of "Coffin Found in Cotton Field," you referred to some former trouble with the whites and a negro on Mr. George W. Simmons' place. Yes, that is true. Now is it not time to resist? For on the night of the 22nd day of March, 1911, J. J. Wamock was away from home, and on returning about ten o'clock and the family having retired for the night, he walked in and found that some unknown person was in the house. He halted two or three times, and they got out and made good their escape. So things passed on until Sunday night of April the 2nd, when some unknown person went into D. M. Bunch's smoke-house and took some bacon, and the tracks showed to be the same tracks that went out of Wamock's yard, and upon a close examination were found to be the tracks of Tom Gladman, a negro staying with Newt Clary on George W. Simmons' place, so the negro did get a thrashing, and so did Geo. Simmons swear out warrants for the whole neighborhood and have men arrested who had nothing to do with the thrashing of the negro.

As to the coffin being put in Newt Clary's coffin, we know nothing of its existence. It is believed, from reports, that he did the work himself, for just a few years ago he held a society called "The Good Samaritans," and he kept a coffin in his possession, the purpose of which was well known to us. The society mentioned is better known by the name of "The Fo' Day Club." As to the letter referred to, we know nothing of it or its origin. And to the threats for Newt Clary we have never made any except we did threaten to prosecute him for running and selling moonshine liquor in our neighborhood. Yes, we are opposed to negroes stealing our meat and going into our houses after our families have done their day's work. We will add that the next one we catch at any such act, we will give George another case to prosecute, and there will be no use of looking up a negro several weeks for evidence to convict the entire neighborhood. We were only trying to protect our homes and we will be trying the next time. We have done nothing that we are ashamed of. If it is wrong to protect our families from the "Good Samaritans," or "Fo' Day Club," or liquor stills, moonshining, etc., if that be the case, why we did wrong by thrashing "the old Uncle" as he was called in the former trial that was referred to in the article in question, "The Good Samaritans" has been known to run moonshine liquor and sell the same. Now some of you good folks who were so eager to enforce the law on us boys, let's see if you will enforce the law on Newt, or "The Good Samaritan." Now if any one disbelieves or wants any evidence as to the liquor traffic by "The Good Samaritan," they can get it by asking for it. Come, boys, and enforce the law on "The Good Samaritan," or George's nigger. Let's have peace and order in our grand old Bulloch. Or are you like George, when he was told that Newt was a lie. Clary would have been prosecuted before now, but we were advised to leave it off for a while.

On last Sunday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage, Mr. Pratt C. Collins and Miss Lena Theslie Lee were married. Rev. Jno. P. Eden, pastor of the Baptist church performed the ceremony.

Miss Lee is one of Statesboro's most lovely young ladies and has many friends who will regret to learn that she is to leave Statesboro. Mr. Collins is a young man of many good qualities and is well known to the people here, he having been connected with the News for a number of years.

They will leave this week for Cobbtown, where they will reside in the future. The News joins their many friends in wishing them happiness through life.

Candidate Injects Liquor Issue Into Gubernatorial Campaign, Declaring For Local Option.

Lyons, Ga., Aug. 21.—Declaring unequivocally for local option Judge Richard Russell, candidate for Governor to succeed Hoke Smith, recognized the liquor question in the gubernatorial campaign in his speech in Lyons today.

Without quibble, and so positively that his purpose or meaning could not be mistaken, Judge Russell accepted the challenge that promises Georgia a spirited campaign.

The stand taken by Judge Russell on the liquor question is almost certain to develop a distinct line of the prohibitionists on one side and those who are against prohibition on the other, and make a test of strength at the polls that will put the people of the state on record for the first time in regard to the liquor traffic.

It was a direct question from Judge Howell Mann, former judge of the City Court of Tattnell county that brought out Judge Russell's declaration. The judge had gotten well into his address to the voters of Toombs county when the interruption came. The Toombs county court room was crowded with an interested and enthusiastic audience. Judge Russell was in the midst of his plan for the extension of the state road to the sea when Judge Mann asked permission to put a question to the speaker.

"You have a good many friends in this part of the state who want to know how you stand on the prohibition question," said Judge Mann.

Judge Russell said that he would gladly answer the question just as soon as he had finished his discussion of the state road extension proposition. He began by saying his record on this matter was clear.

"I have purposely refrained from injecting the prohibition question into this campaign," declared Judge Russell. "I regret that it is rejected. But I have never traveled behind a mask. I am not two-faced man, for if I was I would have left this face at home and brought the other.

"I feel that under existing circumstances candor requires me to state my position. I would rather be defeated than be elected by evasion or equivocation. I have observed the operation of the present prohibition law and am convinced that it is incapable of enforcement.

BLACKS DECREE MARSHAL'S DEATH.

Rioting at Jakin Stopped by the Heavy Rains—Odum, Alleged Leader of the Blacks, Is Charged With Aiding in Escape of Marshal's Slayer.

Donaldsonville, La., Aug. 19.—Rioting has ceased at Jakin, where an avenging mob killed three negroes and burned numerous buildings, as a result of the killing of Marshal Newberry by a negro last Tuesday night. The marshal's slayer has not been captured. That the marshal's death was decreed at a negro meeting a few days before his death came to light today.

Since early last night heavy rains have fallen, and as a result the mobs have dispersed. Rain set in at early dark and continued throughout the night. With slight intermission rain has fallen all day. This had the effect of cooling off the indignation of the people where persuasion of law enforcement officers failed.

Dick Odum Arrested.
Dick Odum, charged with presiding at the meeting which decreed the death of Marshal Newberry and assisted Charles West to escape by carrying him to the Chattahoochee and putting him on Florida soil, and also furnishing him money to escape, has been caught by Sheriff Emanuel, of Deatur county, and landed in jail at Bainbridge.

There were three divisions of the mob, and the men did not work in an organized manner. Negroes killed were innocent of any connection with the trouble at Jakin.

It is now thought, by the help of the heavy rains, the officers have everything under control, and that the outbreak will not occur again.

Whiskey has given out, and the courage of the mob is failing since that occurred.

It is stated that none of the best people of Jakin or near vicinity had any connection with the crowd that slew the three innocent negroes on yesterday. This mob came in after the people of Jakin and vicinity thought the trouble was over.

He has grown a number of products that old settlers told him would not even take root after planting. Mr. Houck has likewise succeeded with heretofore untried products, one of them being alfalfa.

A Farmer's Logic

Two farmers were discussing the advantages of a bank account from a farmer's standpoint. "But," said the first, "I am so far from town it is inconvenient for me to come in to do my banking." "All the more reason," his companion replied, "why you should have an account. When you have a check to deposit simply endorse it over to the bank and mail it to them. They will credit and receipt you. Then when you buy anything, pay by check. That's up-to-date business." Is the argument not logical.

JUDGE RUSSELL'S POSITION.

Judge Richard B. Russell, of the Court of Appeals, who is making a canvass of the state for the Governorship, has thrown a bomb in the political camp. His declaration for local option on Monday has upset the plans of more than one ambitious statesman in Georgia.
The straight, clean-cut declaration of "Plain Dick," has brought before the people of the state the straight issue of local option vs. state-wide prohibition. The people of Georgia have never before been called upon to settle this question at the polls, and it comes now in such shape that it forces itself to the front.
In our opinion this will be the paramount question in the approaching campaign. It will force all other candidates out of the race except one who will stand for the opposite side of the question. The prohibitionists will readily understand that to put more than one candidate against Judge Russell would divide their forces and demoralize them to the extent that certain defeat would be their portion. There are one man, and one alone will have to face Russell from the prohibition side. The local option forces will recognize in Judge Russell the original candidate on this principle, and therefore will discourage all others from their side of the house. If any others butt in without taking a stand on the question, they will soon be eliminated, as the people will probably turn a cold shoulder to straddlers of every description.
For the past four years the people have been calling for an opportunity to vote on the liquor question, and it now begins to look like they will have that chance in the near future.
In our opinion this will mark the end of the Smith and Brown division in Georgia. A new alignment will come and the victor will cast his ballot as he sees best on this question.
That Judge Russell is an able debater and a tireless campaigner will not be denied by those who know him. He is amply able to take care of himself on the stump and the man that faces him will know he has been in a skirmish when the campaign is over.
The question of local option carries with it the strong position that the people have a right to rule for themselves. On this principle is founded the very principle of local self-government.
Just why the prohibitionists assail local option we have never been able to understand; it was under the rule of local option that whiskey was driven from every inch of territory in Georgia where the sale of it is not openly recognized today. If state-wide prohibition has anything to its credit in the way of driving the sale of booze from any community we do not know where it is. Popular sentiment will back up the law when it is passed with the sanction of the people themselves and until this is done the law is a dead letter and will never be enforced.
Let the people go to the ballot box and record their choice there and when the verdict is registered then let everybody abide the result.
We are expecting some lively old times in Georgia soon.

NO LACK OF CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS IN THIRD.

Cordele, Ga., Aug. 19.—J. T. Hill of Cordele, a prominent attorney of Southwest Georgia, will make the race for Congress from the new Third district. While no formal announcement has been made by Col. Hill, it is expected that it will be forthcoming within a few days, as he has practically decided on this course.
Under the apportionment the Third district is without a congressman and Col. Hill feels assured that he can win easily. There are four counties on this side of Flint river, Crisp, Dooly, Turner and Ben Hill, which are practically assured for Col. Hill, in the event that he makes the race, his friends claim, besides he is well known in all the counties beyond Flint river and has staunch supporters all over the district.
Col. Hill has twice represented Crisp county in the legislature and is well known over the state as a lawyer of ability and with a large practice.
It is understood also that Judge Whipple will enter the race also, though no formal authoritative statement has been received from him. It is currently rumored that Judge Whipple will resign the judgeship of the Cordele circuit, though nothing definitely has been announced. Should he enter the race he will have hundreds of staunch friends who will rally to his support. Judge Whipple is also well known throughout the state and has been twice elected to the judgeship of the Cordele circuit and has a strong following.
It is expected that Hon. Tom Hudson will also be a candidate and that Senator Shepherd, Judge Crisp and Judge Littlejohn of Americus may also make the race. At any rate there promises to be a lively campaign in the new district.

The Treasury Deficit Must Be Left to Them.
Atlanta, Aug. 19.—The information that there will be no call for an extra session and no veto of the special appropriations comes so direct and authoritative that it can almost be deemed ex cathedra.
Governor Smith sees the state's way clear financially for the year to come, and the difficulties which remain at the beginning of another year he will leave to the next legislature.
The appropriations which must be paid during the next twelve months, since the amendments of the bill, will scarcely be more than $100,000 in excess of revenue.

COTTON FROM OLD ROOTS IMMUNE TO WEEVIL.

Waycross, Ga., Aug. 19.—Governor experts have been requested to visit Waycross and report on the feasibility of fighting the boll weevil by a process that costs the farmer absolutely nothing and produces better cotton than the average even without fertilizers.
J. E. McClellan, on a farm 3 miles from Waycross, has some splendid short staple cotton plants that grew from last season's stubble. While all his new crop is green and just ripening, the plants from the last year's roots are loaded with matured cotton. One stalk was counted and found to contain forty-one matured bolls. Throughout his field of fifteen acres, the stalks that grew from old roots can be picked because of their maturity.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTEES CANNOT BE SET ASIDE.

They Will Hold for the Next Year at Least.
Atlanta, Aug. 19.—The appointments made by Governor Smith yesterday cannot be interfered with by his successor in office. It has been erroneously published in Atlanta that the next governor could set them aside. Such is not the case. The appointments ratified by the senate are absolutely effective until the meeting of the next Georgia senate a year hence, and at that time must be confirmed or rejected by the senate. If the new governor chooses for himself officers to the senate, and then it will be within the prerogative of the senate either to retain the Smith appointees in office or put them out for the new appointees.

PRESIDENT BARRETT'S VIEWS ON COTTON CROP.

Says Farmers' Union Head. Has Just Returned From Long Trip Over Cotton Belt.

Atlanta, Aug. 19.—That the cotton crop has experienced a loss of more than a million bales as the result of adverse weather conditions is the statement of President Charles S. Barrett of National Farmers' Union.
He has been on a month's trip throughout the cotton belt and says he has seen conditions everywhere which justify him in making this statement.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTEES CANNOT BE SET ASIDE.

They Will Hold for the Next Year at Least.

Atlanta, Aug. 19.—The appointments made by Governor Smith yesterday cannot be interfered with by his successor in office. It has been erroneously published in Atlanta that the next governor could set them aside. Such is not the case. The appointments ratified by the senate are absolutely effective until the meeting of the next Georgia senate a year hence, and at that time must be confirmed or rejected by the senate. If the new governor chooses for himself officers to the senate, and then it will be within the prerogative of the senate either to retain the Smith appointees in office or put them out for the new appointees.

THE NEXT LEGISLATURE AND THE NEXT GOVERNOR.

The Treasury Deficit Must Be Left to Them.
Atlanta, Aug. 19.—The information that there will be no call for an extra session and no veto of the special appropriations comes so direct and authoritative that it can almost be deemed ex cathedra.

LEGISLATURE AND GOVERNOR MAKE EVEN BREAK.

Some Measures Passed and Others Turned Down. Two Ties on the Executive Session.

Atlanta, Aug. 19.—Viewed in the light of what he got and what he didn't get, Governor Smith came off with about an even break in this legislature.
In the first place the senate stood firm to the last in opposing confirmation of his appointments. So narrow was the margin against it the last day that President Sloan was twice called on to settle the tie, each time casting his vote to prevent an executive session.
It is perhaps the first time a similar situation ever arose in this state. There can be no doubt that Governor Smith must have felt a certain humiliation from this action, for it is no small thing to have the slap direct given to a governor—United States senator by the highest legislative body of the state.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTEES CANNOT BE SET ASIDE.

They Will Hold for the Next Year at Least.

Atlanta, Aug. 19.—The appointments made by Governor Smith yesterday cannot be interfered with by his successor in office. CITIZENS LOCK HORNS OVER BRIDGE.

Two different delegations appeared before the county commissioners on yesterday to present the best points on their respective sides of the bridge question over the Ogeechee.

One delegation was positive that the best interest of the greatest number of people was for the bridge to be built at Dover, while another delegation were equally insistent on the bridge being built on the old five and a half bridge site opposite Cameron.

It is understood that Seven county is willing to meet Bulloch half way on the county line bridge proposition, but until the people at interest decide where they want the bridge built the board deferred action on the matter.

MORE LIGHT ON MYSTERIOUS COFFIN.

A delegation of citizens living in the neighborhood of where the coffin was found in the cotton field last week called this morning and gave us an article for publication giving their side of the negro thrashing trouble which has found its way into the courts.

They say that Clary, the negro in whose field the coffin was found, was known to have possessed himself of a coffin a few years ago for use in initiating members of "The Good Samaritans, or Fo' Day Club," as they term it. It is reported that the coffin was brought into play to try the nerve of the candidates for admission to membership in "The Fo' Day Club." If upon being lowered into the coffin the candidate retained his nerve he was good metal and eligible to membership. If his heart failed him at this point he was kicked out.

The trouble back of all this has already been aired in the newspapers and has now found its way into court. Of course the News knows nothing of this matter except that which comes to us through the regular news channels.

Bring your cotton. We can take care of one hundred bales per day at our ginny. You will not have to wait long for your cotton. We guarantee quick service and good work. Give us a trial.

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA TEST FARMS.

Announcement is made that the Agricultural Department of the Central of Georgia will establish about fifteen "Test Farms" along its line of road in Macon and Georgia this fall. The object is to provide an opportunity for a practical test of the farming methods advocated by the Agricultural College in each State, and to supplement and assist the work of their Extension Departments. The plan followed will be similar to that of the Oklahoma Board of Agriculture. The Railway Company will enter into partnership with fifteen farmers who own land at different points along the right of way, to farm forty acres of their land in accordance with plans and instructions which will be worked out by the Agricultural College authorities, in an effort to prove how much net money may be made on a well balanced farm, properly cultivated under the most improved methods, with proper rotation of crops, and with such variety of same as will produce as nearly as possible all the food stuff required on the farm; while at the same time increasing the productivity and value of the land instead of robbing it of its natural fertility.

The farmers selected to make these tests will receive the assistance of a trained agriculturist employed by the Railway's Agricultural Department to call upon them twice a month and advise with them as to the carrying out of the work. On account of different local conditions, it is probable that the plans for no two of the farms will be exactly alike. Each farmer will therefore, have the benefit of expert supervision and a plan and instructions especially adapted to meet the particular requirements of his own home farm. In addition, he will be protected by a guarantee from the Central Railway to make good any loss caused through failure of the methods prescribed, i. e., in case the products of the farm do not equal in value the expense for seed, fertilizer, labor in planting, and cultivating, harvesting and marketing, and a fair rental on the land. The Railway Company will make good the loss up to a certain amount.

In order that the test may be fair, and in consideration of what is done for him, the test farmer will be required to agree to use such seed and fertilizer and in such quantities as may be prescribed, and to follow carefully all instructions as to methods of soil preparation, planting, cultivating, etc.

Copies of the instructions prepared for each farm will be furnished to as many farmers in that locality as desire them; and though the agriculturist can supervise but one farm in each locality, advance notice will be given of each of his visits so that all who are following instructions can have an opportunity to meet him on his periodical calls at the test farm.

It is the belief of the management of the Central of Georgia Railway that the result of these improved farming methods, if adopted by the farmers adjacent to its lines, would be a large increase in the prosperity of the farmers, and of the railroad which serves them, and they have, therefore, decided upon this test farm work in the belief that such actual visible demonstrations of the most modern agricultural methods will hasten the day when the country traversed by the Central of Georgia Railway will become what its natural advantages entitle it to be—one of the most thriving and successful agricultural sections of the United States.

CHAPTER I.

Destiny and the Babu.
Breaking suddenly upon the steady drumming of the trucks, the prolonged and husky roar of a locomotive whistle saluted an immediate grade-crossing.

Roused by this sound from his solitary musings in the parlor car of which he happened temporarily to be the sole occupant, Mr. David Amber, a man of about thirty, with a strong line with several hooks on it, so he could hunt and fish at the same time. You know these Yankina farmers are deucedly clever. He was surprised to see another goose rise in the air again and again, only to fall to the ground. Upon investigation he discovered that the goose was caught on a hook set at intervals. A second hook set on the line was on the line and the goose had swallowed one of the baits. Following up the line he found it down a hole under a stump. Pulling on the line, he dragged the bird, snapping out an 18-pound green man carp. It's nearly time for some one to get out of a "lobster," and then school can quit.

A French paper is conducting a voting contest for the purpose of deciding what is the opinion of a majority of its readers as the virtues most to be desired in women. Each reader is requested to name ten virtues. So far sixty virtues have been named. The first seven have always been at the top of the poll since the beginning of the ballot, in the following order: Goodness, orderliness, devotion, thrift, gentleness, intelligence and amiability. It is noted that will power comes twenty-fourth in the list, which is a long way down, considering that devotion is third, and which indicates that not a few of the voters are men. The virtue of meekness is the sixtieth and last in the list, and has received only 96 votes, while the votes for the first three in the list ranged between 17,000 and 19,000.

"Atlantic City is getting very moral," not content with regulating bathing suits, the solons have now decreed that no oyster may go through the city without having all its shell on. It seems, however, that the city is now carrying the ludicrous balance of the open exposure to various gages; and the provision of the health authorities is to be regarded as a sanitary precaution and not another act of prudery.

Ohio has more colleges than any other state. It requires special endeavor to raise one institution into fame above its rivals. The University of the State of Ohio, founded in 1824, has achieved this distinction by putting off into the milk of the girls' dormitories the best of the state, and violently ill. Some day civilization will be so general that it will exist even among college students.

One man asserts that blondes are going out of fashion and that big feet for women are coming in. The critics of the sex will immediately seize upon these facts, especially the latter, to prove that women are getting too much over tradition and conservatism in their campaign for more rights, thus sacrificing fair complexion and small feet.

Dr. Wiley, the government authority on pure foods, makes a doleful indictment of the American people. He says we eat too much, drink too much, work too much, and take medicine too much. Would the doctor admit that some of us talk too much? If so, could he do it without a self-conscious blush?

Strange, isn't it, how the tired business man will perk up and take a brighter view of life in the afternoon as the hands of the clock approach the hour of three—that is, when it is not raining and the baseball team is in town.

It is announced by an English ecologist that our winters will gradually get warmer during the next 400 years, but he warns us that after the year 2324 there will be a change for the worse. Let us by all means enjoy the sunshine while we may.

A Philadelphia preacher announces that summer resorts are the starting places of disagreements leading to divorce. It is not likely that his declaration will have a serious effect upon the summer resort business.

The automobile mile record is now 35.40 seconds, and the locomotive is distanced. The aeroplane may, however, become a competitor.

There, the horse—a vigorous black brute with white socks and muscled—ran, apparently under no constraint whatever of whip nor of spur in the saddle a girl leaped low over the horse—a girl with eyes rapturous, face brilliant, lips curled in the least of smiles. A fold of her black habit skirt, whipping out, almost snapped in rode; and she came close to him as he rode. "That is quite true," the girl out to her. "I am your slave."

Without thinking Amber coughed his retort in the same tongue: "You're just yourself lucky you are not dog!" "Nay, hazor, but I meant no harm. I was teasing, being fatigued, in the manner of the babu, when the noise of hoofs disturbed me and I stepped out to see. When the woman was thrown I sought to assist her, but she mistook me for her slave."

"That is quite true," the girl out to her. "I am your slave."

Amber, however, had the forest closed upon the picture, and a cry, a heavy crashing as of a horse, threatened him in the not a horse, a woman's scream of terror, and Amber, in one movement, out into the road again and running at a pace which had been conscious of it would have surprised him.

A short 30 yards separated him from the head in the road, and the horse and rider had vanished. He had no more than gained this point that he was obliged to pull up sharply to avoid running into the girl herself.

Although dismounted, she was on her feet, and apparently uninjured. She stood with one hand against the trunk of a tree, on the edge of a small clearing wherein the area of the local lumbermen had but lately been busy. Her horse had disappeared; the rumble of his hoofs, dimly remembered, was now a distant sound.

So much Amber comprehended in a single glance. With a second he sought the cause of the accident, and, consulting with the figure before him, he blazed that he momentarily and excitedly questioned the testimony of the waiting road.

At a little distance from the girl, in the act of addressing her, stood a man, obese, gross, abnormally dressed with an air of vulgar yet vaguely menacing living, as little common to the scene.

"If ye're lookin' for 't' hotel," he volunteered unexpectedly, "there ain't no hotel here. It's a place where ye'd be best to stay. I'll take ye to it."

Amused, the despised outlander picked up his luggage and followed the railway. His surface attracted him, and he said, planting himself in front of the grating, "But I expected to be met by some one from Tangewood."

"That's the Quin place, down by 't' bay," interpolated the youth from unexplored depths of mournful abstraction. "I'll take ye to it."

Billy Hodges Has Few Compatriots with Whom He Can Exchange Memories of the Overland Stage—How He Blazed the Mail Coach Trail Into the Then Conquered West.

AKLAND, CAL.—"Billy" Hodges, the last of a band of a hundred men who undertook to blaze the trail for the mail and express coach from the Indian Territory to the Pacific coast, is now running an express station at Placerville, Calif. REPUBLICAN INSURGENTS JOIN WITH DEMOCRATS FOR REVISION OF TARIFF SCHEDULE.
WOOL BILL CAUSES SPLIT
Insurgent Republican Senators Come to the Aid of the Regular Democrats.

Washington.—A new majority is in control of the senate, composed of regular Democrats and Progressive Republicans, and a compromise scheme of tariff revision will now be brought forward. It takes the form of a bill to amend the tariff act of 1890.

The truth of this prediction made several days ago was proven beyond doubt when the senate on Tuesday adopted a resolution offered by Senator George of Oklahoma, directing the finance committee to report the wool revision bill.

There is no predicting at this time what the wool bill will be like when the Democrats and Progressive Republicans meet in conference.

The result of the wool motion was to divide the senate into two camps, the wool and the non-wool.

The wool and the non-wool camps are now in a struggle for the wool.

Work of Killing Chickens by Womenfolk Made Easy—Old Corn Knife Will Do the Trick.

Most womenfolk find it no easy job to kill a chicken. Of course they would never be asked to do it if there is a man in sight, or within call, but if she has to do it, the guillotine will help her to do it easily and neatly.

Most womenfolk find it no easy job to kill a chicken. Of course they would never be asked to do it if there is a man in sight, or within call, but if she has to do it, the guillotine will help her to do it easily and neatly.

THIS LAW A BLOW TO BLIND TIGERS

Makes Possession of a Liquor License Prima Facie Evidence of Guilt.

Prohibitionists of the house passed the Felter bill Thursday, making the holding of or making application for a Federal license to sell malt or spirituous liquors, prima facie evidence of selling such liquors. The vote was 121 to 10. Only one amendment was taken on it and that was purely technical.

Representative Lovejoy, of Tennessee, made a strong argument for the measure. In his remarks he stated that in his law practice he had always refused to defend a person charged with violating the prohibition law.

Representative John Murphy, of Bulloch, also spoke for the measure. He stated emphatically that had the Tamm bill ever come to a vote he would have opposed it, but that this measure was consistent and therefore he would throw his support to it. He declared that the prohibition law was being violated now because it was hard to establish the guilt of a party, but with this law on the statute books it would be an easy matter to convict.

As soon as the house completed the vote on its passage, Representative

FINDS MISSING SCHOOL GIRL HUGGING A BABY.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 16.—Breaking into the office of A. W. McDavid, a dentist, at midnight, Chief of Police McSpell found huddled in a corner, a baby at her breast, Miss Jessie McDonald, the high school girl missing from her home for eighteen months. The girl declared she had been held in subject in a house adjoining the dentist's office.

active Wohlwender, of Muscogee, attempted to gain the floor to give notice of reconsideration and thereby blocks its going to the senate for concurrence, but Representative Lovejoy, of Troup, was ahead of him and moved that it immediately be transmitted to the senate. The motion prevailed. The senate will concur in the amendment and the bill will become a law.

Nearly every "blind tiger" takes the precaution of providing himself with a Federal license rather than take chances of provoking the government, and under the new law the books of the internal revenue collector will show state or city officers all holders of license, thus furnishing evidence of guilt. Collector Henry S. Jackson states that his record of licenses is always open to the public.

EDWARDS SITS IN CHAIR OF SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE.

Makes Congressmen Behave While He Presides.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—A special compliment was paid Congressman Edwards today by Speaker Champ Clark when the Georgia congressman was called to preside over the deliberations of the House while special messages from the Senate were being received. It so happened that Representative Mann of Illinois, the Republican member who makes many of the objections for his party, was not particularly aggressive and made no knotty problems of Mr. Edwards to pass upon.

The young representative from the First district used the gavel in first class style and gave evidence that he meant to have the House maintain order and listen to what was going on while he was presiding. He remained in the chair fifteen minutes and was greeted with the shaking of hands by his colleagues when he resumed his seat.

Stop That Dandruff before it kills your hair. You know dandruff is a germ disease and it leads slowly and surely to baldness and there is only one way to cure dandruff and that is to kill the germ that causes the trouble.

Greasy salves will never do this. ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP kills the germ and are guaranteed to cure dandruff, itching scalp and all other germ diseases of the skin and scalp.

ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP are the true scientific remedies for these afflictions. To show our faith in ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP we have instructed the druggist selling them to refund your money if you are not satisfied with the results from the very first bottle and the first cake of soap.

We can afford to make this offer because one bottle of ZEMO and one cake of soap are sufficient to show their healing qualities and if used according to directions they will effect a permanent cure.

WHITE MAN HELD FOR TWO MURDERS

Negro Mother And Girl Slain In Camden County; Robbery The Motive.

Kingsland, Ga., Aug. 16.—For the murder of Mary Randolph, a negro woman, and her 13-year-old daughter, at Kinlaw, near here, last night, the alleged motive being robbery, L. A. O'Berry, a white man of this place, against whom suspicion was quickly directed, has been arrested and is being held in jail.

Officers are said to have taken $88 from O'Berry's mouth after his arrest and it is alleged that this is a portion of the booty taken from the slain woman.

The officers allege that O'Berry saw the woman cash a check yesterday and that he then planned to rob her, the double murder following.

The case has aroused unusual interest throughout this section of Camden county. More people, men and women, are suffering from kidney and bladder trouble than ever before, and each year more of them turn for quick relief and permanent benefit to Foley's Kidney Remedy, which has proven itself to be one of the most effective remedies for kidney and bladder ailments. The medical science has devised.

PLEADS FOR BETTER TREATMENT EMPLOYEES.

Edwards Wins Fight for Improved Conditions.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—Representative Charles G. Edwards of Georgia tonight on the floor of the House made a strong and convincing plea in the name of humanity for additional room for the employees of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving in Washington.

Into a small building which will not comfortably house more than two hundred persons, there are crowded nearly two thousand, and so many cases of tuberculosis have resulted from this congestion that physicians and humanitarians have been begging for relief. The employees, men and women, come from every state in the union. The conditions surrounding their present employment and the manner in which they are herded like so many cattle, are declared to be short of disgraceful.

The proposition to erect a new building was advocated by Mr. Edwards and others interested in sanitary and general uplift work was successful and a new building in which some of the employees will work soon will be erected.

FARMERS UNION ORGANIZES CLUB AT UNION

Judge R. B. Russell and J. Pope Bfown, Candidates for Governor, Attend.

Union, Ga., Aug. 18.—A great number of people gathered at the school house near here today and enjoyed the very interesting speech of S. J. Cowan, of Swainsboro, State Speaker and Organizer for the Farmers' Union. Short speeches were also made by two of the gubernatorial candidates, Dick Russell and Pope Bfown. Fully two hundred farmers and the candidates' friends from nearby towns with a fair representation of the weaker sex were present and enjoyed the hospitality of our good neighbors at the open. The pleasure of the occasion was marred occasionally by a few showers of rain but in spite of this all expressed their selves as having had a good time.

Mr. Cowan was the speaker for the afternoon and delivered a clean-cut and forceful talk in behalf of the Farmers' Union immediately after the club had been organized. The speaker urged his hearers to line the women up with them, encourage them and get their help and cooperation and also get women members to the Union as they were not only helpful in getting up the nice dinners but their society and influence created confidence in the men. Mr. Cowan quoted the old saying that the wife is spoken of as the "better half" and in many cases it could be truly said that she is the better two-thirds, but yet they persist in leaving her out and not so much as taking her into their confidence. He spoke at length on loyalty and harmony in the Union and at times the speaker was very witty and his hearers showed their appreciation of his excellent eloquent speech laughter and applause. He said the farmers were becoming so educated and wearing such fine clothes that you could hardly tell them from other people. The speaker quoted several causes that would tend to hold the price of cotton down and explained the methods of speculators. He laid stress on the fact that many farmers would invariably pick out the best stalk stalk of cotton in his field when the majority would be that of the bumblebee variety, show it to his friends and commenting on what a fine crop he would have this year, and the consequences would be that he would get a low figure for his cotton. Mr. Cowan urged the members of the Union to keep life in the Union and mentioned a church in the rural districts for an example, stating that everyone look an interest in it and it was necessary to attend regularly in order to keep it in existence. He believed it a wise idea to have speakers make semi-annual rounds of the different Unions as a means of encouraging the members. All were so pleased with Mr. Cowan's speech that they expressed a desire to have him re-

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL OPENS NEXT THURSDAY

TWO HUNDRED APPLICATIONS ALREADY IN. NEW BUILDING BEING RUSHED TO COMPLETION.

Next Thursday morning the fall and winter term of the First Congressional District Agricultural School will open. The president informs us that already more than two hundred applications are in for rooms during the next term. The Board of Trustees, in order to provide for the steady increase in the attendance at this school, provided for another building, work on which is being pushed as fast as men can do the work, so that the large three-story brick dining hall and dormitory above can be brought into play to accommodate the students. Bulloch and Screven will rank first in the number of students, with Tattnall bringing up a close third. There will be students from every county in the First District and from Emanuel and Towns, now a part of the new Twelfth District, but still a part of and beneficiaries of the First District Agricultural School at Statesboro.

It is a matter of pride for the people of the First Congressional District that the First District Agricultural School has taken its place at the head of all schools of its class in Georgia. The First of the State School Commissioner to the Legislature, as well as that of the University of Georgia shows that the First District School leads them all on every count. It is largest as to student body, largest as to farming and makes a better showing financially.

So great is the demand for room that a large new, three-story building is being built now. President E. C. J. Dickens has been known for years as a leader and builder. His work at this school shows how great service he is rendering to the boys and girls of our district. We learn that practically all old students will return and dozens of new one are asking for room.

To those who know the facts it is no wonder how the school leads. Prof. Dickens is a good man, and a man who literally lives for his students. They love him like a father.

Tattnall is not claiming her share of the space. Even Bryan county has more students than Tattnall. This should not be so. Let the boys and girls of Tattnall write Prof. Dickens at Statesboro for a catalogue and then enter the school at the beginning of the fall term.

GILES MAY ENTER SOLICITOR'S RACE.

A report reaches the News that there is a strong probability of Hon. E. J. Giles, of Towns, entering the race for solicitor general of the Middle Circuit. We understand that Col. Giles had intended making another race for Congress in the First District, but the re-apportionment bill cut him out of the district, and therefore changes his plans.

In the event Col. Giles enters the race there will be some warm campaigning in the Middle Circuit. With Lee Moore and Bob Hardman all of whom are veteran campaigners, looking horns with Giles it looks to us like it is going to be interesting.

People Along Line of Railroad Holding Meetings and Subscribing Stock.

The extension of the Shearwood Railway from Brooklet to Claxton and Hagan is a certainty seems to be true from the manner the folks are rallying to the enterprise on the route.

A meeting will be held at McCorle's store in the 44th district, about five miles north of Claxton, today, and the prospects are bright for the road coming that way. A meeting was held at Claxton last Tuesday, but no definite steps were taken to get up the subscription expected from that place owing to the fact that the people were engaged in court, and another meeting will be held in a few days when the people of Claxton and Hagan will have the question confront them straight, as to whether they want a railroad or not.

Governor Hoke Smith May Not Resign Till December.

His Opponents Want to Get Him Out of the State Soon. No Truth in the October Rumors.

Atlanta, Aug. 22.—If anybody in Atlanta knows when Governor Smith intends to resign and go to Washington as United States senator, that person can't be located by the newspaper contingent.

The published rumor that the governor intended to resign before October 15th proved to be absolutely groundless, so far as any authoritative source was concerned, and the governor himself declared at first hand that he had never said anything even to intimate friends that could have given rise to it. He hasn't said when he is going to resign.

Governor Smith's friends still believe he will resign about December 1st in time to go to Washington for the regular winter session of congress.

Out of the State.

His enemies—political, of course—want to get him out of the state as soon as they can, for no particular reason which they state at this time, except that they have put themselves on record from the first as being opposed to his holding the gubernatorial chair, while he is a United States senator. In fact, those same people objected as strenuously as they could to Governor Smith's holding the executive chair even before he was elected senator.

The published rumor that the governor might resign early in October was not really a rumor at all, but rather a presentment of suggested reasons why it might be a good idea for the governor to go then.

A Farmer's Logic

Two farmers were discussing the advantages of a bank account from a farmer's standpoint. "But," said the first, "I am so far from town it is inconvenient for me to come in to do my banking." "All the more reason," his companion replied, "why you should have an account. When you have a check to deposit simply endorse it over to the bank and mail it to them. They will credit and receipt you. Then when you buy anything, pay by check. That's up-to-date business." Is the argument not logical.

OUR CONGRESSMAN AT HOME AGAIN.

Hon. Chas. G. Edwards, member of Congress from the first district, has returned. In conversation with a reporter of the News one day this week Mr. Edwards stated that it was his opinion that the Democrats stood an excellent chance to win the next presidential election. He revived Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey was far in the lead for the nomination at this time.
He said this was the opinion expressed by the best political forecasters in Washington.

While Mr. Edwards regrets the loss of both Toombs and Emanuel from the First District, he seems not to be worried over the outlook as the district now stands.
He believes he is strong enough to defeat any man now mentioned for the place, in fact with Randolph Anderson out of the race
there is really no one mentioned, since Herrington and Giles were cut off into the new Twelfth district.

It is understood that Mr. Anderson will make the race for mayor of Savannah at the next election and will therefore be eliminated from the Congressional contest.

It is generally conceded all through the district that Edwards will be hard to defeat. Those who have opposed him in the past admit his strength, and many of them say they will support him in the future.

Charlie Edwards is a hard worker and has accomplished more for the district since he has been in congress than any man who ever preceded him.

REAPPORTMENT

BILL BUTCHERED.

Engrossers Make Serious Mess of Measure. Putnam in the Seventh. All Because of Clerical Errors—Is a Genius of Simplified Spelling—May Have to Come Before Legislature Again
Before Effective.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 25.—The reapportionment bill as it left the engrossing clerk of the house of representatives, is a beautiful document.

Not only did it switch unfortunately Putnam county out of the eighth district, where it was supposed that it was peacefully sojourning and put it in the seventh, along with some northwest Georgia counties miles away, but it exhibits some simplified spelling that would turn Brander Matthews and T. Roosevelt green with envy.

Plain old-fashioned Murray county has become "Murey."
Dooly is rechristened "Doely."
The third "in" in Tattnell is cut out as superfluous. The "other" part of Meriwether has acquired an "a." Lumpkin, a distinguished Georgia name, appears without a "p." The county that bears the name of the famous Polish count who served in the revolution, had become "Poluska."

The mistakes in the bill, which has now become a law, will mean that the next legislature will have to amend it, for Putnam county isn't going to stand for staying in the seventh.

When it is remembered that the bill did not have plain sailing in the legislature, it is easy to see just why Randolph Anderson, of Chatham, and Senator A. O. Blaklock of Fayetteville were visitors at the capitol Friday morning.

Mr. Anderson is the author of the bill, and he is strong for it as it stands. He told the governor that he was going to see if there was some method whereby the bill could be changed without going back to the legislature for amendments for a clerical error.

Senator Blalock fought the bill in the senate, at least some phases of it, and is sure that if the bill goes back to the law-makers next session it will meet with some changes. A year will have elapsed and a lot of people can decide in a year that they don't like the new congressional alignments.

The engrossing force not only made a batch of the reapportionment bill, but the new game law was also slaughtered by the penwielders of the house.

One section that prohibited the killing of turkey hens, pheasants, grouse and other imported game for a period of five years has been reversed. The bill should have said that "they must not be killed prior to December 1, 1916," the law really says "from December 1, 1916," which means that their slaughter will go on.

PRESIDENT BARRETT'S VIEWS ON COTTON CROP

Says Farmers' Union Head. Has Just Returned From Long Trip Over Cotton Belt.

Atlanta, Aug. 19.—That the cotton crop has experienced a loss of more than a billion bales as the result of adverse weather conditions is the statement of President Charles S. Barrett of National Farmers' Union.

He has been on a month's trip through the cotton belt and says he has seen conditions everywhere which justify him in making this statement.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTEES CANNOT BE SET ASIDE.

They Will Hold for the Next Year at Least.

Atlanta, Aug. 19.—The appointments made by Governor Smith yesterday cannot be interfered with by his successor. In office.
It has been erroneously published in Atlanta that the next governor could set them aside. Such is not the case. The appointments made by Governor Smith and not ratified by the senate are absolutely effective until the meeting of the next Georgia senate a year hence, and at that time must be confirmed or rejected by the senate. If the new governor chooses he can send his own appointments for these "fices to the senate, and then it will be within the prerogative of the senate either to retain the Smith appointees in office or put them out for the new appointees.

Attack Like Tigers.
In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuses attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see the pimples, boils, eczema, and strength and appetite fall.

This condition demands Electric bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T.
Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red

THE NEXT LEGISLATURE AND THE NEXT GOVERNOR.

The Treasury Deficit Must Be Left to Them.

Atlanta, Aug. 19.—The information that there will be no call for an extra session and no veto of the special appropriations comes so direct and authoritatively that it can almost be deemed ex cathedra.

Governor Smith sees the state's way clear financially for the year to come, and the difficulties which remain at the beginning of another year he will leave to the next legislature.

The appropriations which must be paid during the next twelve months, since the amendments of the bill, will scarcely be more than $100,000 in excess of revenue.

tion will be heard at my office on first

LEGISLATURE AND GOVERNOR MAKE EVEN BREAK.

Some Measures Passed and Others Turned Down. Two Ties on the Executive Session.

Atlanta, Aug. 19.—Viewed in the light of what he got and what he didn't get, Governor Smith came off with about an even break in this legislature.

In the first place the senate stood firm to the last in opposing the confirmation of his appointments.
So narrow was the margin against it the last day that President Slaton was twice called on to settle the tie, each time casting his vote to prevent an executive session.

It is perhaps the first time a similar situation ever arose in this state. There can be no doubt that Governor Smith must have left a certain nomination from this action, for it is no small thing to have the snap direct given to a governor—United States senator by the highest legislative body of the state.

Administration Measures.
In measures advocated by him, Governor Smith secured the anti-lobbying bill, the general education bill, bills to make up deficiencies in public buildings and contingent funds, bills for constitutional amendment to increase borrowing power from two hundred thousand dollars to five hundred thousand dollars, bill for constitutional amendment to require corporations to pay taxes September first, and the labor burden bill, although the assembly took away his power to appoint the labor commissioner.

He missed fire on the following bill for ten-day session of the assembly in January to inaugurate the governor, he'll change time for electing state and county officers from October to November, drummers' mileage bill.
Measures of importance passed and not advocated by the governor were the game and fish bill, state auditor, re-apportionment and others.

All told, Governor Smith just about got a "dog fall" out of this legislature, although it was conceded to very largely hold to his views on public matters.

IOWA UNDERSTANDS RACE QUESTION.

The News is in receipt of a copy of the Adams County (Iowa Free Press, edited by Mr.
R. G. Weisell, published at Campling, in a fine section of that state.
The editor made some sensational comments on the race question, referring to some articles sent to him by J. A. Brammen, Esq.

The editor shows that he is not afraid to speak his opinions on a matter that is getting to be an important issue with the people of the North and West.

Mr. Weisell, like a sensible man, admits the right of the South to manage the negro question without any meddling from the Northern people. He sees the dangers that confront the people of the Northern section and tells in his paper the plain truth to his readers.

The president of the Chamber of Commerce of Macon is calling for Joe Hill Hall's resignation because he refused to be a party to the grafting of the state to the extent of ten thousand dollars to be paid in premiums to be juggled away on favorites at the State Fair. The people of the entire state owe him a vote of thanks.

The Southern statesmen who have just returned from Congress are telling their constituents to hold cotton for thirteen cents. It may be they don't know what they are talking about. Who knows?

If you are not already a member of the Tattal county boosting club you should join.

DEMOCRATS FILLED CAMPAIGN PROMISES

Champ Clark Says the Party Set Good Example. Record Is Sur- prising. "It Has Dumbfounded Our Enemies." Declares the Speaker of the House.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives, in a review of the work of the first session of the sixty-second congress declares that the Democratic party set a good example for Democrats everywhere and the party had redeemed every promise it made in the campaign of 1910, when the Democrats wrested control of the house from the Republicans.

"At this session the Democrats have made a record which has surprised our friends and dumb-founded our enemies," said Speaker Clark. It has put heart and hope into Democrats everywhere. The extra session was extraordinary not only in the sense of being a special session called by the president but also in the amount and quality of work done in the house by the combined Democrats and republican insurgents and the combined Democrats and republican insurgents in the senate and especially by the unanimity of action developed by the house Democrats.

"It was predicted freely, vociferously, enthusiastically and confidently by the 'stand-pat' press and orators that we would go to pieces, which was the day of the Democratic caucus on January 19th, but fortunately for them in that caucus everything was done unanimously. They then said surely we would go to pieces as soon as we reached the tariff question, but again they were disappointed and we did not go to pieces at all. We are more thoroughly united in the house at the end of the session if possible than at the beginning.

"We have set a good example to Democrats everywhere. Snered at for years as a party of mere negotiation and as being utterly lacking in ability for constructive statesmanship we passed through the house more constructive legislation and better than has passed through any house in the same length of time in twenty years.
We have set the pace in that regard for future houses.

"We redeemed every promise made in order to carry the elections in 1910. We have reconciled, we passed the reciprocity bill, the wool tariff bill, the free list bill, the cotton bill with the senate amendments which included the iron and steel schedule and the chemical schedule; we submitted for ratification a constitutional amendment providing for popular election of senators of the United States; we passed a bill for the publication of campaign expenses before the election; we liberalized the rules making the committees elective by the house, we passed resolutions to admit New Mexico and Arizona, and we passed a large number of other bills of more or less importance. It is a record of which we may well be proud and on which we will sweep the country in 1912.

The average politician is now trembling in his boots. He just don't know which side is going to be the strongest on the liquor question. Therefore he is afraid to jump.

With Georgia's increase of millions of taxable property we see no reason why the schools and the Veterans too, shouldn't be cared for.

Send us the News from your community and we will gladly publish it each week.

THE LIFE, ILLNESS AND DEATH OF MRS. CHARLEY LEE NEVILS.

To my knowledge her life was bright, pure, sweet and true and she was at all times trusting in her true, loving saviour. She loved everybody and treated everybody so loving and kind she was loved dearly by everybody that knew her. Her death was such a shock to her many friends who knew her and regret her departure. She loved her God and she realized and knew without His power and mercy we could do nothing. She had such a sweet and pleasing disposition. Through all of her afflictions and long sufferings she did her blessed God's command and endured her afflictions with all patience. She was never heard to even murmur a word of worry about her suffering condition. She took all of her medicines so good and sweet. We all loved her so dearly, but though God called her tender, sweet voice away from us. He is tenderly calling His loved ones home to rest, and we do feel and pray that our loss of her sweet voice may be her gain of a great victory in Heaven, that she may wear a crown with Jesus. She let her light so shine that others may see she seemed perfectly reconciled to God's blessed will. She is absent, her sweet voice is silent and oh, how we miss her and regret her death; but the most blessed thing of all she talked with her Almighty God on her dying bed and called to her dearest mother and said she was happy, she felt good and was the happiest thing in the world. Oh, isn't it grand, and oh, what a great consolation to stand by the bedside of our dying loved ones, with the death angels staring them in their faces and hear them talking with their merciful Saviour who hath pardoned them of their sins. Oh, let us each moment we praise our blessed God for all His mercies He hath bestowed upon us.

She is gone but not forgotten. She and her husband, Charley Lee Nevils were so loving and devoted to each other, they were the pride of each one's life; they were so kind and affectionate toward each other. The few married months they spent together were the most happy ones of their lives; it was love peace and happiness. Oh, we cannot understand why such an affectionate and devoted couple should be separated, though God's will be done, and not ours. They were the happiest couple I ever saw joined together. They were one of God's joined couples; they were the same the day she was taken sick as they were the day they were married. She said she would die for him, which we all know she did. Her husband Charley's life is a perfect wreck. He seems so sad, lonely and desolate at all times, and at such a loss without her and her sweet smiles and sweet voice to speak sweet cheering and comforting words to him. All this has passed now, all he had gone and left this old sad world of sin and sorrow, so now he will have to look to his blessed God for all his comfort, peace and joy. We are to look to him for all things and we know without His help and mercies we are unable to do anything.

Why should I weep, when my heart can feel no pain?
Why should I sigh, when death in Christ is gain?
Victor over sin, through Him who once was slain,
I shout eternal praises, Glory to His name.

It is a matter for the citizens of Tatnall county to be proud of that the tax returns for this year show such a healthy increase. Tax Receiver, John R. Purcell has his books in beautiful shape, and they show the following interesting figures:

Total amount of returns for 1910. 4,635,992.00
Gain over last year. 655,513.00

Hagan leading with $916,538.00
Glennville next with $297,274.00

Accused of Stealing.
E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklin's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. RECORDS BROKEN

BY THE WIND.

No Casualties Reported, Unusually High Wind Keeps Up Well Into the Night.

(Morning News.)

Savannah has passed through the most violent hurricane in the history of the city.

There were no casualties in the city proper. While several fishing parties have not yet been accounted for it is not known that any lives were lost in the waters or on the islands adjacent to Savannah.

Although the wind continued high in gusts until late midnight last night, the barometer was continuing its climb that was begun in the morning, after the storm center passed Savannah. At night Forecaster Boyer expressed the belief that the weather will begin to clear up today.

Storm Records Are Broken.

With an eighty eight mile wind between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, the greatest wind velocity ever recorded in Savannah, went on the records. During the several times during this period that terrific gusts registered 96 miles an hour, but 88 miles highest for five minute periods, from which the records are made. It was blowing at that rate at 3:05 o'clock. The barometer went to 29.02 inches, the lowest mark ever recorded in the Savannah bureau.

It is, of course, impossible to estimate the property loss occasioned by the hurricane. There is no way in which this can be computed because of the nature of the damage done throughout the city. It is probably a fact that there was not a home or business house in Savannah that did not sustain some damage. The rain was driven into home after home and countless walls were ruined.

Every Section Suffers.

The picture was the same in every section of the city, from Chatham Crescent in the extreme southeast to Yamacraw in the extreme northwest. The factory districts, too, bore marks of the storm's fury, yet no building was wrecked, so far as could be discerned at any point in the city. It was because of the number of paces that suffered that the total property loss is bound to run high.

The streets are littered with twisted signs, broken telephone telegraph, electric and trolley wires; uprooted trees, limbs of trees and sections of chimneys. Fences are down and the brand of the hurricane is in evidence wherever the eye rests. Yet strange to relate there was little tin in evidence on the streets. Occasionally the wind managed after hours of labor to rip off a section of a shed or automobile house, but there was no unroofing of dwellings. With the wind blowing at such a velocity for so long a period it is regarded as remarkable that the damage was not of more consequence. That the hurricane was not more destructive on the water front and at the resorts was due to the fact that the wind was from the west instead of the east and there was no backing up of water.

Business at a Standstill.

Business was suspended in yesterday. Numbers of places did not open up at all and some of those that did open closed during the afternoon. The streets were practically deserted and practically no business was done by the few places that were open. Monday is usually one of the busiest days of the Savannah retailer, but even the cigar stores closed early in the evening. There was nobody to serve, ice cream parlors that are open every day in the week suspended business for the entire day.

There was a driving rain all day and the wind remained high until well into the night. There were many anxious inquiries at the Morning News office as to whether the hurricane had really passed and hundreds of Savannahians wouldn't retire, although they had gotten little or no sleep the night before, until they were assured the storm center had passed Savannah and there was no further danger of a return engagement. When the weather bureau closed at 9:40 o'clock the wind had dropped to 36 miles an hour. It was still raining. The rainfall for the twenty-four hours was 2.52 inches.

STORM'S HEAVY FALLS HEAVILY ON TYBEE.

New Hotel Tybee Damaged. Practically No Building on Island Unmarked.

With yesterday's trains from Tybee came those who had dared the storm the night before, not caring to repeat the experience through which they had passed. These brought stories of an anxious night and damage to property on the island, but no definite news of any casualties. The storm appeared to have laid its hand heavily on the buildings and to have spared practically none of them.

All information from Tybee was gained from those who left the island, as telephone communication is cut off.

Early in the storm the help deserted the Hotel Tybee and the wind began to tear off the roof in patches. This let the water into the hotel and the guests who had remained spent a wet and uncomfortable night.

The pergola of the hotel is badly damaged and the walks and bath houses suffered.

At the Inlet Hotel, operated by W. A. Jones, the damage was great. Part of the roof was torn off, the verandas carried away and the dining rooms and the upper bedrooms flooded with the rain.

The Atlantic Club was badly damaged, the worst of which was the carrying off of the west wing of the building.

A great deal of damage reported is at Postoffice Station. The two wind mills that supplied water were blown away and the section houses of the railroad destroyed. The piazza of Miss Emma Wilson's cottage was blown away and part of the roof carried off by the wind.

The windows of S. F. Smith's store at the Postoffice Station were blown in and the stock damaged several hundred dollars.

The front porch was blown off of Dr. A. A. Morrison's cottage.

The cottage of J. J. Joyce was blown off of its supports and deposited on the ground.

The piazza of W. L. Wilson's disappeared before the force of the storm.—Savannah News.

Part of the roof of J. M. Dixon's cottage was blown away.

William Wilson, the fisherman at the Inlet, had two cottages blown down, and lost his fishing tackle and his boats.

Two cottages and section shanties at Estil were blown down. It appears certain from the stories brought to the city by those from the island that not a building there escaped the fury of the storm.—Savannah News.

A Farmer's Logic

Two farmers were discussing the advantages of a bank account from a farmer's standpoint. "But," said the first, "I am so far from town it is inconvenient for me to come in to do my banking." "All the more reason," his companion replied, "why you should have an account. When you have a check to deposit simply endorse it over to the bank and mail it to them. They will credit and receipt you. Then when you buy anything, pay by check. That's up-to-date business." Is the argument not logical.

THE STORM STRUCK US BROADSIDE.

Statesboro in common with this entire section of Eastern Georgia has been in the grip of the storm king for the past forty-eight hours.

Just as it did eighteen years ago on Sunday afternoon, on the fourth Sunday in August, being the 27th day, 1893, a strong northeaster came up, but unlike the storm of 18 years ago there was no rain to begin with, that being left for the second day this time. During the day on Sunday the streets were made well nigh impassable by the fierce sand storm that was blowing, the wind was at a high speed. The wind kept up all Sunday night and Monday morning before the rain came this time.

As far as we have been able to learn there is little damage reported in this county. The high winds blew out some of the open cotton, but this didn't suffer as badly as was expected, although a large percentage of the crop is open in the fields it had not been open long enough to become loose and therefore did not sustain the amount of damage it would have done had it been open longer. The rain fell nicely and was badly needed by some of our farmers, especially those who had sustained damages from the hail in the early summer; these farmers thought at first they were ruined, but their cotton had come out and was doing fine, the drought was damaging it pretty badly and it is believed the rains will do them good. In many cases the young cotton that was beat down by the hail is better than the old cotton, provided seasons strike it right.

The storm did considerable damage to the timber; trees were blown down all over the county.

Reports from Savannah and other points along the Atlantic coast state that great damage was done. The telephone and telegraph wires were put out of commission both locally and in other sections where the storm struck. The worst of the storm seemed to have struck Charles ton.

ONE MAN KILLED AND ONE INJURED

Race Trouble Feared at Indian Springs—Troops Are in Readiness.

TWO NEGRO SUSPECTED AND PUT IN ATLANTA TOWER.

Porter Terrorizes Hotel, Following Altercation With Clerk—Deputies Fired Upon From Ambush With Fatal Result to Jesse Singley. Farmers Missing Near Town.

Jackson, Ga., Aug. 26.—Struck down by Winchester bullets in the hands of assassins concealed by the roadside, one white man, Jesse Singley, is dead and another, J. R. Connor, lies seriously wounded at his home near here. The shooting took place last night about 9:30 o'clock at Indian Springs, at a lonely place in the road near the point where the Floyville and Indian Spring rail road crosses the public road leading to Jackson.

Four white men, Jesse Singley, who was killed; R. T. Thornton, deputy warden of the Butts county chain gang; J. R. Connor and G. W. Thornton, were returning from Indian Spring when the shooting occurred. They were walking, and when they reached a point in the road less than 400 yards from Indian Spring, they stopped to rest and wait for others in the party. Just as they stopped they were met by a withering hail of Winchester bullets and buckshot from shotguns. About twenty-five shots were fired.

When the firing commenced all fell in the road, Singley with a fatal wound on Connor injured in the left leg. The others dropped to conceal themselves from further fire. The fire was returned in the direction from which the shots came by C. T. Thornton, who had a pistol, and G. W. Thornton, who was armed with a shotgun. They heard retreating steps through the thick woods, but were unable to see the parties doing the shooting.

Singley Dies From Wounds.

Singley was picked up some later and rushed to Jackson, where he was given immediate medical attention. He was so weak from the loss of blood that he died shortly after being brought here, his death occurring about 12 o'clock. He was shot through both thighs, the bullets severing the arteries. The bullet was fired from a Winchester, as it pierced the flesh in one leg and continued its course, striking the other thigh. J. R. Connor was wounded in the left leg. He was taken home as soon as possible and given medical attention, and will likely recover.

Two negroes, Bill Turner, alias Bill Shubbs, and his boy, George, were arrested this morning at Indian Springs, on the charge of suspicion. The arrest was made by Sheriff L. M. Crawford, who brought the two negroes here and lodged them in jail. They were allowed to remain but a few minutes, as a large crowd was gathering and feeling was beginning to run high. The prisoners were spirited away in an automobile to Jenkinsburg, where they were taken on the northbound Southern train to Atlanta. The men were accompanied to Jenkinsburg by Sheriff Crawford and put on the train and left in charge of Mack Goodwyn, who took them to Atlanta for safekeeping. Sheriff Crawford did well in running no risk with the prisoners. There is in jail here now eighteen prisoners, including two under life sentence. If a mob had stormed the jail the result might have been disastrous.

Lynching Was Certain. There is no doubt the men would have been lynched if allowed to remain in the county jail during the day.

The trouble that led up to the shooting started Friday afternoon at Hotel Elder, at Indian Spring. Two of the porters were fighting as the result of a tip, when Clerk Guy Lane, of Monticello, in separating them, had to strike one of them over the head with his pistol. In doing so the gun was fired off. After this, Bill Turner and came back and threatened to kill Lane. He was prevented from shooting, however. The negro ran "nuck and terrorized" the whole hotel, frightening very badly about a hundred lady guests. Everybody, from the manager of the hotel, H. P. Elder, to the guests, were thrown into a panic and had to stand for his vile abuse. The negro employs of the hotel went on a strike unless Clerk Guy Lane was discharged. This was done by the manager, H. P. Elder. Lane left for his home in Monticello last night.

Deputy Sheriff O. E. Smith went to Indian Spring late yesterday afternoon to arrest Turner, but the officer was forced to return without the negro, who wouldn't give up without serious trouble. The party fired upon last night were visitors to Indian Spring after supper. They lived nearby, and went down to see how things were getting along after the excitement of the afternoon. Turner and his boy left the road, and when they reached the spot where the shooting occurred, with a Winchester, less than five minutes before the men were shot. The negroes, it is believed, were someone in the party against whom they had a grievance.

Turner and his boy are said to be desperate characters. Their action in terrorizing the inmates of the Hotel Elder, in the afternoon, bears this out.

"News of the shooting did not spread until this morning. People coming to superior court, which was in session at the time, learned of the cowardly attempt upon the lives of Butts' county citizens, and excitement was soon at fever heat. The crowd was assembling an ugly mood when Sheriff Crawford trotted the prisoners out of the jail and hurried them into a waiting automobile and rushed them to Jenkinsburg and then on to Atlanta.

Persons are apprehensive of trouble tonight and Sheriff Crawford and deputies will be at Indian Spring to do all possible to put down any disturbances that may arise.

The remains of young Jesse Singley are in the undertaking parlors of the City Furniture Co., and will remain there until the request is over, before being taken to the home of his parents at Monticello.

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach. "I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngsters, Editor of "The Sun, Laake View, Ohio. FINE PIECE OF DETECTIVE WORK.

The arrests of the two murderers of J. H. Turner, the negro who was murdered some time ago near Savannah, a few days ago, one in Decatur, Ala., and one in Detroit, Mich., was a fine piece of detective work.

Hugh Boggs and Floyd Worley two worthless painters are the parties who murdered the negro for his money, threw him in an old well in Effingham county and drove to Oliver and his automobile for one hundred dollars.

The details of the crime are very brutal, and now that the two men have confessed it is square up to the jury that will try them to give them justice. They deserve the highest penalty the law imposes if they are proven guilty. Believed to Have Been in Statesboro.

We understand that two young men answering the description of the two murderers passed through Statesboro a few days before they turned up in Savannah. They applied for the job of painting the water tank for the Statesboro water works. They hung around here a day or two, and failing to get the job of painting passed on to Savannah, where they got into the trouble that may cost them their lives.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Aris Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and it's the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for laryngitis, asthma, hay-fever, croup, quins or sore lungs. Price 50c. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by W. H. Ellis Co.

Shot Through the Coat. Deputy Warden C. T. Thornton was shot through the coat, the bullet grazing the flesh. It was a close call for the entire party, and had they not dropped in the road when the firing began, there is no doubt the entire party would have been killed.

The assassins were thought to have been concealed in a deep gully near the road. There is a dense piece of woods where the shooting occurred, and the ambushing party had no trouble in making their escape.

Young Singley was the son of Tom Singley, of Stark, a prominent farmer and well-known citizen. He was about 22 years of age.

After the prisoners, who are said to be the guilty parties, were spirited away, there was no demonstration. Trouble, however, is feared tonight.

Guy Lane, the clerk of the Hotel Elder, went to his home in Monticello last night. It is reported that no less than sixty burglaries of Jasper county citizens have crossed the river to-day preparatory to visiting Indian Spring tonight to deal out punishment to the negroes there.

Troops in Readiness.

In Jackson everything is quiet. There was talk of calling out the military company; Jackson Rifles, Company A, Second regiment infantry, national guard of Georgia, but the cooler heads have advised against this. The troops, however, are in readiness. The officers are apprehensive of trouble tonight and Sheriff Crawford and deputies will be at Indian Spring to do all possible to put down any disturbances that may arise.

The remains of young Jesse Singley are in the undertaking parlors of the City Furniture Co., and will remain there until the request is over, before being taken to the home of his parents at Monticello.

Attack Like Tigers. In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see the pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them 50c. at W. H. Ellis Co.

TOSSER WOMAN TO DEATH IN LAKE.

She Declined Marriage, So Her Lover Drowns Her in Lake Michigan.

Holland, Mich., Aug. 26.—Annoyed, he says, because Grace Lyons of Chicago, his sweetheart, broke her promise of marriage, Walter Hopper of Chicago and Philadelphia attacked her on board the steamer Puritan in midlake tonight, and tossed her overboard. Her body has not been recovered.

The steamer was 40 miles from Holland when the woman was thrown overboard. News of the murder was flashed here by wire, and officers were waiting for Hopper when the boat reached the dock. Several people saw his deed and he immediately made a full confession.

According to Hopper, the couple had been living together for a short time as man and wife and were to have been married in a few weeks. Learning that Miss Lyons was leaving Chicago on the Puritan today, Hopper caught the boat and accosted her shortly afterwards. She claimed he had been drinking. A quarrel followed and then, Hopper claims, she declared the marriage could not take place.

They were seated on a box of freight on the lower deck. Suddenly Hopper grabbed her in his arms, rushed to the side of the steamer and dropped her overboard. As he was taken in custody boats were lowered, but it is believed that the body was drawn down by the suction of the wheel. Hopper is 31 years old and Miss Lyons was 26. The prisoner will be arraigned here on a murder charge Monday.

CHURCH QUARREL ENDS SERIOUSLY

R. G. Whidden, Turner County Planter and Church Member, Slays Deacon Lawson. Tragedy is Enacted in Shadow of the Church.

Ashburn, Ga., Aug. 26.—R. G. Whidden, a well-to-do farmer of Turner county and a church deacon living about five miles from this place, shot and killed J. M. Lawson another prosperous farmer and church deacon of that community, today about 11 o'clock a church situated on Whidden's place, then returned to his home and killed himself.

Mr. Whidden had fallen out with his preacher and members of the church and had said that the pastor, Rev. Duncan Massey, should not preach at the church again.

Today being regular preaching day at the church, Whidden armed himself with a shotgun and proceeded to the church.

Rev. Massey had not arrived. Seeing Mr. Lawson, his fellow deacon, Whidden shot him three times, killing him instantly.

Whidden then went home, a short distance away, locked himself in a room and killed himself. Whidden was in Ashburn yesterday and tonight a coffin. Several years ago he built a vault in front of his door to receive his remains when he died.

About seventeen years ago, it is said, Whidden took strychnine with suicidal intent and has never been considered fully at himself since.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

My school will open Monday, the fourth of September. Will accept pupils from five years through fifth grade. Hours from eight to twelve. Tuition $1.25 per month.

Respectfully,
STELLA WILSON.

TWO MEN KILLED.

W. A. Creech, of Barnwell, and W. D. Mickey, of Kline, S. C., Killed as Result of Accident.

Mickey, both of South Carolina, had been killed on board the battleship Ohio as the result of an accident to the anchor gear. The Ohio, which is in Tangier Sound, Chesapeake Bay, preparatory to participating in the target practice of the Atlantic fleet. The official report gave no other details of the accident.

Creech was a native of Barnwell, S. C., was 26 years old and had been in the naval service a little more than four years. His father, Richard R. Creech, is a resident of Kline, S. C.

Mickey, the other victim, was from Mt. Airy, Pa., was 22 years old and had been connected with the navy eight years. His father, H. B. Mickey, lives in Pittsburgh.

BROWN TALKS PROHIBITION.
Governatorial Candidate Addresses Voters of Calhoun and Early.

Albany, Ga., Aug. 26.—Addressing an audience of Calhoun and Early county voters at Arlington last night, Hon. J. Pope Brown placed himself squarely on the prohibition platform as a candidate for governor.

He said that he was not responsible for injection of the issue into the campaign, but that he did not propose to dodge it.

Declaring that he had always been a prohibitionist, and had voted the prohibition ticket whenever the opportunity was offered him, he said he still held the views, and would make the race on that platform.

A NEGRO RIOT.

Fight at Church Sunday Will Probably Result in Death—Negro Was Captured.

Lexington, S. C., Aug. 28.—In a drunken row at the negro Baptist church in the upper part of town yesterday afternoon, Joe Summers shot and fatally wounded Gregg Jones, both negroes. As soon as Summers shot Jones he made an effort to escape but was soon captured by Sheriff Miller, who was early on the scene.

Jones is shot twice—once in the groin and once in the thigh, the wound in the thigh being considered quite dangerous.

"Big Meeting" started at the church today, and it is said that a considerable amount of blind tiger liquor was in evidence.

A week ago today one negro shot another at a negro church across the river in Dutch Fork. The negro who did the shooting in the latter case mentioned made his escape and has not been arrested.

METTER HAS FINE WATER.

BUILDING BOOM

STRIKES METTER.

Our sister town of Metter shows more substantial buildings in course of erection than ever before in her history. Everywhere you turn new residences and stores are going up, warehouses are being erected to take care of the ever increasing business the town is doing.

Metter has developed into one of the best cotton markets in this section and ranks second to Statesboro alone as a trade center in this section. Her stores are all filled with fine stocks of merchandise and her cotton buyers are giving the highest market prices for cotton. A large ginney operated in the town turns out fifty or sixty bales per day, this of course is a ready market in Metter, to say nothing of the cotton that comes there from other gins. Metter is the distributing point for fertilizers, mules and general merchandise for that section of Tattnall across the Camoochee river, and a large territory in the fertile section of lower Emanuel. She of course draws a large trade from the upper section of Bulloch. Situated as she is in a fine territory there is no wonder she is thriving.

A movement is on foot for water works and lights. A large planing mill has just been established and her union warehouse has been doubled in size. Metter is one of Bulloch's substantial cities, and one that is rapidly forging to the front.

SCOUT CAR

PASSES THROUGH.

The scout car for the round state tour to be pulled off later in the fall passed through Statesboro on Saturday. The car was in charge of Fred Lewis of the Atlanta Constitution. The party remained in Statesboro only a short while and proceeded on their homeward journey via Swainsboro, Adrian and Dublin. The car was out for the purpose of locating the route to the south of us, the route having already been established through here.

A photograph of the car and its occupants was taken during the short stay here.

COTTON OFF 50 PER CENT.
Emanuel County Crop Unusually Hard Hit.

Swainsboro, Ga., Aug. 30.—Damage to crops in this county can hardly be estimated. More than half of the cotton was open in the fields at the time the storm began, hence the most of it is now buried in the sand in varying depths. The cotton that still remains in the boll is barely hanging and a rain tonight, which the clouds indicate, doubtless will beat that out.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL HAS BIG OPENING

In Spite of Bad Weather Yesterday Marked Largest Enrollment in History of School.

Yesterday at noon opening exercises of the First Congressional District Agricultural School were held. The largest body of students ever recorded at an opening day answered the roll call. Just one hundred and eighteen answered at noon, and later arrivals during the day swelled the enrollment until Prof. Dickens informs us that one hundred and forty-two were seated at the supper table.

The exercises were opened with a statement made by Prof. Dickens, stating that owing to the inclemency of the weather, a large number of the students had been detained until later in the week, and perhaps until Monday.

A passage of scripture was read by Rev. L. A. McLaurin, of the Presbyterian church, and prayer was offered by Rev. John E. Eden, of the Baptist church, after which words of welcome were spoken by Revs. McLaurin and Eden; and Hon. J. W. Williams and Col. B. Lee Moore.

The work on the new building is now going up rapidly and it is hoped by the early part of next week several rooms will be ready for occupancy. A large force of men are at work and the building will be completed as early as possible. The full faculty were present with the exception of two members who were delayed by missing connection on some of the railroads.

The student body comes from every county in the First Congressional District. For the first time in the history of the school Chatham is represented, two young ladies from Milledgeville are here attending school, which brings in Chatham for representation.

The prospects are that the enrollment will go to two hundred within the next two weeks. Making this by far the largest school of its kind in the state.

ITS RUSSELL AGAINST POPE
BROWN.

It is now clear beyond all question that the race for Governor to fill the term made vacant by the resignation of Governor Smith (when he resigns), will be fought to the finish between Judge R. B.
Russell and Hon. J. Pope Brown.
This is inevitable notwithstanding a determined effort on the part of other politicians to muddy the water.

An issue over which the people of Georgia are divided from the mountains to the sea coast has been raised, an issue upon which the people desire to record their selves and on which they have a right to be heard.

At every session of the legislature the whiskey question sticks up its head. It is an issue before the men who sit to Atlanta and insomuch as they haven't settled it so far, now it is up to the people to settle.

The entire voting population of Georgia are the most competent set of jurors to sit in judgment upon this question as well as all other questions and now that Judge Russell has declared unequivocally for local option and Hon. J. Pope Brown just as straight for state-wide prohibition, the issue is formed, and the people of the entire state accept it as such.

Other candidates may butt in and try to side track the main issue if they want to but very little attention will be paid them.

This is no time for straddlers on the question of most interest to the people of the state.

As we understand it, Judge Russell is satisfactory to the local option element and they are backing him to a man. He is the man who originated the issue and injected it in the campaign. It is he who has given the people an opportunity to vote on a question that has been kept away from them until this time. He will undoubtedly get the undivided support of five people who believe his way.

Hon. J. Pope Brown is a man of ability, he has a state wide reputation and has been a consistent prohibitionist all of his life. He accepted the challenge thrown down by Judge Russell and now the issue is formed and for the first time in the history of the state the people will have an opportunity to pass upon their own rights.

That's local option itself, and local self government, too.

An effort has been made to side track Pope Brown, for others, but Mr. Brown has been side tracked before and will hardly stand for it again. Unless he will agree to step out it is more than the prohi-bitonists dare to do to trot out another candidate; this would divide their forces and make their fight hopeless.

The race will be between Russell and Pope Brown, and all other entries had as well shelve themselves for the time being.

CARD OF THANKS.

The undersigned take this method of expressing their sincere appreciation and gratitude to the neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness and words of consolation during the illness and death of their son and daughter, Mrs. J. I. Aycock.
Respectfully,
J. I. AYCOCK,
Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Atkins.

MAY ESTABLISH POSTAL SAVINGS BANK HERE

Postmaster Blitch has received the blanks from the Post Office Department at Washington, asking for information regarding the establishment of a Postal Savings Bank in connection with the post office at this place.

It is the policy of the department to establish such banks in connection with the larger and there are already a large number of them in operation in different parts of Georgia.

Statesboro being one of the few second class offices in this section of Georgia it is natural that the government would consider the establishment of one of their postal banks here. Statesboro and Dublin are the only two second class offices in this section of Georgia, and it is very probable that one of the government banks will be located here.

A full statement of the receipts and disbursements of the office has been mailed to Washington and something will probably be heard from it soon.

lowing resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, that in the approaching election for the Twelfth Congressional District of Georgia which will take place next August, we had no candidate. And whereas, we have in the Hon. Alf Herrington a son to the manner of Emanuel county, a man of talent and ability and one who has served the Democratic party long and faithfully, and one capable of filling any office in the gift of the people.

Therefore, he it resolved that that we, his friends and admirers as well as the friends of good government hereby present the name of the Hon. Alf Herrington to the voters of the Twelfth Congressional District and respectfully ask them to give this, our proposed consideration, for the high office of Congressman.

Resolved Second—That the sec-

WHAT IF "LITTLE JOE"
SHOULD ENTER?

A persistent effort on the part of a few politicians in Georgia may result in the entry of Ex-Governor Joseph M. Brown into the gubernatorial scramble. The announcement comes that he "is sure to enter" at an early date.

We have believed all the while that Gov. Brown would hesitate a good while before he entered this race; he has more to lose by running and getting defeated this time than any man we know of. He would wear the inevitable distinction of being not only the only governor in Georgia who failed to come back, but would bear the record of being the only one who has made three races for the same term and defeated each time.

Gov. Brown was defeated by Gov. Smith in the August primary in 1910 and then allowed Mr. Watson and a few others to use his name in the regular election of the same year. This will be denied by some of the Governor's friends, but is true just the same. He was defeated again on that occasion, being the second time for the same term. Now that Gov. Smith has vacated the place to accept the senatorship, Gov. Brown is going after his same term the third time. He evidently believes in the doctrine of "if at first you don't succeed, try again."

It had been the intention of Governor Brown to enter this race earlier in the year, but Judge Russell's declaration for local option at Lyons put "Little Joe" to thinking some. If there is one question in Georgia that Joe Brown is sincerely afraid of it is the whiskey question, and he bears the distinction of having straddled it more than any other man we know of, with the possible exception of Governor Smith.

The entry of Gov. Brown will mix up things. In our opinion it will change the political complexion of the state, it will settle the whiskey question for good and all ways by the overwhelming election of Pope Brown on the prohibition-Hoke Smith ticket.

It couldn't possibly mean anything else, for the reason Judge Russell already being in the race, pledged to the local option view, would of course draw more largely from the Joe Brown element than he would from the Hoke Smith element. Russell has always supported the Brown faction, and it is an acknowledged fact that Gov. Brown has always had the whiskey support in all his races. He will not have it this time, while he may have some of it, if he cuts much of a figure he will cut the thing up so that Pope Brown will have a walk over.

If the prohibitionists can't win against such a divided house as that would be they may just as well call off the dogs and quit; they could run anywhere or under any circumstances.

The News is taking no active part in this race, we believe either of the gentlemen named would make a splendid executive, but if Joe Brown enters the race and Judge Russell continues in it, you will see that excellent gentleman "the farmer from Bullock," occupy the Governor's mansion the next term. He will make a splendid Governor, and in that case the legislature at its next session will very promptly spread the Tiffin's bill on the statutes or something even more drastic than that. In that case you couldn't buy a bottle of cough to court to swear against the man who sold it to you; and as for a drink of booze, that would come from the legislature, and would make things better, and maybe it wouldn't; in any event we would all have the pleasure of testing its benefits.

In the meantime we will watch the game as it progresses.

MADERO MOB STONES REYES

Serious Political Riot in Mexico City Streets.

AGED GENERAL IS FORCED TO FLEE.

Many Are Wounded. Partisan Police Deal Gently With Rioters.

Mexico City, Sept. 3.—Stunned and forcibly robbed of 3,000 pesos today by a mob of Maderistas, in the principal thoroughfare of the capital, Gen. Bernardo Reyes, candidate for the presidency in opposition to Francisco I. Madero, was forced to abandon an effort to address his constituents and to run the gauntlet of a jeering crowd upon whom the police had received orders not to fire except as a last resort.

Repeatedly the police charged the turbulent element, however, and the records of the Red Cross, the White Cross and the commissaries account for forty-three wounded as a result of the day's disorders. Most of these were injured by stones, but many show bruises and gashes made by the savages of the mounted police.

The stoning of the aged general was the climax of a riot that began about 10 o'clock this morning and had not been entirely quelled at a late hour tonight. Since its beginning police and soldiers have patrolled the streets at short and regular intervals, but on account of the government's desire not use the iron hand, the heavily armed horsemen had but an intimidatory effect on the rabble.

Call Open Air Meeting. Placing their faith in the word of government that equal guarantees would be given all parties in the campaign and trusting Madero's word that he would welcome honest opposition the backers of Reyes last week called an open air meeting for today. It was announced that Gen. Reyes would make his initial speech of the campaign, the site selected being in front of the big $10,000,000 national theater in course of construction.

Early this morning groups of Maderistas began forming and threats of interference with the Reyista meeting were heard. Shortly before 10 o'clock the partisans of Reyes began to gather in Avenida Juarez, and clashed near the western end of the Alameda. Into this turbulent scene Gen. Reyes, his son, Rodolfo, and a group of party leaders drove in an automobile.

Far outnumbering his supporters, the Maderistas crowded about the machine, making further progress difficult. Stepping from the car the general rebuked the mob for its conduct, but his words provoked louder jeers, supplemented by a rain of stones and other missiles. The automobile walked the length of the Alameda to the scene of disturbance, a distance of 4 blocks, the rowdy following and throwing stones the while.

Police Act Gently. Mounted police who had been trailing the crowds now rode their horses into the center of the mob which gave way before them. Entering a building facing the theater, Reyes and his escorts went to the second story from where Reyes stepped onto a balcony with the intention of addressing the crowd, now grown to great proportions.

Such was the disorder, however, that Reyes' escort attempted to dissuade him from making the effort. The old general would not be deterred and raised his hand for silence. Instead the tumult grew and chunks of marble and rocks gathered from the grounds about the new theater were hurled at the white-haired figure.

A number reached their mark and yet Reyes stood despite the efforts of his son to induce him to seek shelter. For twenty minutes he remained there dodging missiles which wrecked the windows and signs wrecking the front of the building.

The police, hated by the populace as the instrument used by Diaz to maintain order, had drawn their sabres and charged the crowd. Content with momentary success and remembering their orders to deal gently with the mob, the police reformed following the charge and took up their position on the opposite side of the street.

Rabble Stone Police. Emboldened by the knowledge that the police did not attempt drastic measures, the rabble turned their attention to hurling upon their ranks a shower of stones.

For more than an hour the fight between police and mob continued. For the most part the police took their medicine stoically, riding into the mass of shouting humanity, trusting to the force of the rush to keep the crowd moving.

Inside the building Reyes' friends had succeeded in convincing him that it was useless to try to carry out his programme. The party had an automobile brought to the entrance and in it they started for the Reyes home in Santa Maria.

The chauffeur drove the car down Avenida Juarez at racing speed and the troop of mounted police which had been detailed to act as Reyes' escort galloped far in the rear. The flying automobile escaped most of the rocks hurled at it, but the escort of police in the rear were stoned at every jump by the crowd which now lined the avenue of the Alameda.

Less than a hundred yards away in the center of the Alameda the usual Sunday band concert was in progress and the hundreds of promenaders were in ignorance as to what was transpiring until a squad of mounted police clattered almost into their midst and reined their horses onto their haunches, facing the avenue into which the rioters had begun to pour.

Several Reyistas Victims. Once free of the crowd, Reyes made the discovery that he had been robbed of 3,000 pesos ($1,500 gold). Rodolfo Reyes fell for his watch and it was gone. Notes were compared and it was found that at least a dozen of the Reyistas contingent had been the victims of pick-pockets.

By a circuitous route the party went to police headquarters, reported their losses and then proceeded to the Reyes home. There the general rested during the remainder of the day, denying himself to almost all callers. A few blocks away in the home of his son, indignant partisans discussed the events and considered the advisability of pursuing the campaign in the face of such odds.

Meanwhile, in the center of the city, the authorities still had the problem of dealing with the rabble. Orders were sent to the army headquarters and soon a troop of cavalry appeared on the scene, ostensibly to assist the police in restoring order. The army is not

CHASTAIN, THE MIRROR MAKER. (Copied from the Miami Metropolis.) Mr. T. A. Chastain, the well known mirror maker, who practically has a national reputation in plating, etching, beveling and polishing mirrors, leaves Saturday night for Key West where he will do considerable work in his line. During Mr. Chastain's stay in Miami he has made in the neighborhood of five hundred mirrors of all sizes, ranging up to the immense plates in the Seminole Club and Zapi's saloon. The mirrors in the Seminole Club are the largest in this part of the state and on them Mr. Chastain has put forth his best efforts, the workmanship of which can not be excelled. Two of these mirrors are 6 1/2 by 7 feet, while the other two, though smaller, contain twenty-five square feet each. Mr. Chastain uses nothing but pure silver in his work, which differs greatly and is far superior to the common mercury process of plating in general use. He will be absent about six weeks and upon his return will bring the finest stock of mirror glass ever brought to Miami, and at which time he will go to Palm Beach to work on the mirrors in the immense hotels at that place. Mr. Chastain is now in Statesboro for a short stay.

JEERS CAUSED FLYER'S DEATH

Norton, Kan., Sept. 1.—John J. Frisbie, the Curtis aviator, was killed by a fall today at the Norton county fair. Frisbie met with an accident yesterday and only went into the air again today when driven to do so by the taunts and jeers of the crowd.

Frisbie fell about 100 feet and the engine of his machine fell upon him, crushing his left side and chest. He lingered for an hour before he died.

Frisbie had been giving exhibitions at Elmwood Park for several days. Yesterday his machine acted badly and he had a fall of forty feet, but beyond bruises and a shaking up was not injured. He announced that he would not take the air this afternoon, but when his statement was communicated the crowd hooted and shouted "Fakir" and refused to listen to explanations.

Wife Sees Him Fall. Frisbie announced that rather than have the big crowd go away with that impression, that he was willing to do his best and would attempt a flight. He ascended from the track without difficulty and attained a height of 100 feet, but in attempting to make a turn the plane tipped and Frisbie lost control. As he came crashing to earth the spectators could see the aviator trying to right the machine, but as it approached the ground one of the wings crashed into a barn and the biplane, glancing off, struck the earth with Frisbie underneath.

Frisbie's wife, son and little girl were witnesses of the accident and Mrs. Frisbie was prostrated when she saw her husband fall. Tonight she bitterly denounced the action of the spectators in forcing her husband to make the flight with a disabled machine.

CAN CANDIDATES STRADDLE ISSUE

Advice From An Atlanta Wag to Ex-Gov. Brown, Prohibition As a State Issue Now.

Atlanta, Aug. 30.—With this unique invitation, "Be game, colonel, come on in; the water's fine," a local wag has the following to say of the gubernatorial situation:

If Hon. Joseph M. Brown wants to remove his loneliness in being the only governor since the adoption of the constitution of 1877 who did not serve twice, omitting the succession of Judge Boynton of Griffin to Governor Stephens, why then let the distinguished Cobbite get into the ring.

If his friends think he can run in this race and straddle the local option-prohibition fight, as he did in the first race, then they will learn a few things about the present temper of the people that they don't know now.

For Local Option. Judge Russell knew that the only chance he had for the governorship was to come out squarely for local option. He already lived that way, but for a while doubted the political wisdom of injecting it in the campaign, but the astute judge put his ear to the ground and he heard a rumbling, and the judge was glad that Judge Mann asked him the point blank question down at Lyons, so that he could declare himself.

Hon. J. Pope Brown had his ear to the ground, too, and being a "prohi," he decided that it would be better for him to join issues with the judge, and he did.

Must Come Out. And if Mr. J. M. Brown wants to run again he'll have to toe the mark and declare himself one way or the other. There'll be no blowing hot and cold in this campaign. The issue is square cut, and the candidate that tries to wobble the issue will not get very far more than a corporal's vote. Be sure, "Colonel" Brown, come out in the water's fine."

May Be Issues, Not Men. It remains to be seen, however, whether the wag is right on the question of prohibition cutting a great figure in the coming campaign. The position of the candidates may be known, but the question may be relegated for bigger issues.

Do not allow your kidney and bladder trouble to develop beyond the reach of medicine. Take Foley Kidney Pills. They give quick results and stop irregularities with surprising promptness.

SMITH RESIGN EARLY IN NOV.

Said He Will Give 30 Days' Notice of Resignation to Committee. Primary in December.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 3.—Governor Hoke Smith will resign as governor between November 1 and 15 and be ready to assume his duties as United States senator when congress convenes. The governor, it was stated, authoritatively last night, will give thirty days' notice of the date of his resignation, to enable the state executive committee to arrange for a primary for the naming of his successor.

The primary probably will be held about the middle of December and the election is expected to be set by John M. Slaton, who will be acting governor for the first week of January.

Hay Fever, Asthma and Summer Colds

Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled with Hay Fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience.

TO HOLD UP THE COTTON CROP

Farmers Will Have $200,000,000 Put at Their Disposal to Hold Entire Crop for Thirteen Cents.

PLAN IS A SUCCESS.

Telegram Sent to Smaller Organizations Announcing This Fact and Urging Dissemination of Information Dealing With the Situation.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 26.—It is almost certain that the South's cotton crop will be held, at least until after the national convention of the Farmers' Union meets at Shawnee, Okla., September 5, 6 and 7.

Emmett Cabanis, former president of the Georgia Farmers' Union, and A. C. Davis, secretary of the national organization, arrived in Atlanta from the East this morning and went into conference with Charles Barrett president of the union.

Both Mr. Cabanis and Mr. Davis report their trip to the money centers as successful—so successful in fact, that they say $200,000,000 will be placed at the disposal of the Farmers' Union to hold the price at approximately 13 cents.

Telegrams to the president of the state organizations were sent out from Atlanta Saturday urging the state forces to be ready to distribute circulars to the members of the union—circulars which are being prepared at the national headquarters.

Although Mr. Barrett dwelt in generalities Saturday and consistently declined to discuss the details of the gigantic scheme by which the cotton crop is to be held, it is known that at least one Eastern firm stands ready with $60,000,000 to back the deal.

Mr. Barrett is also making an effort to have the date of the convention of the commissioners of agriculture, recently called, to be changed until after the national convention in Oklahoma. He hopes to have the commissioners meet at Memphis on September 12, so that many of the delegates returning from Oklahoma can attend the commissioners' convention also.

More people, men and women, are suffering from kidney and bladder trouble than ever before, and each year more of them turn for quick relief and permanent benefit to Foley's Kidney Remedy, which has proven itself to be one of the most effective remedies for kidney and bladder ailments that medical science has devised.

DIES FOR MURDER OF BILL BAILEY.

Rouse Brave on Scaffold. Sylvester Man's Crime Was Unusually Brutal.

Sylvester, Ga., Sept. 1.—William Rouse today paid the death penalty for the murder of William Bailey in 1909. He was hanged at the jail here while a crowd estimated at 500 people surrounded the building.

After a long visit from a clergyman, Rouse walked to the scaffold unassisted and without a quiver. In a brief talk to inmates of the jail and officers he stated that he was prepared to meet his judge.

The crime for which Rouse was convicted was one of the most brutal in the state's criminal annals. According to the state's evidence, Rouse attacked Bailey after a quarrel in the former's home and while the latter was unarmed. After wounding his victim, who fell prostrate on the floor, Rouse is said to have severed Bailey's jugular vein and windpipe with a knife. Rouse then placed a pistol in Bailey's right hand overlooking the fact that Bailey's right arm had been shattered by a bullet.

Having made sure of Bailey's death, Rouse set above the body and imbibed a bottle of whiskey while he sang "Bill Bailey Won't Come Home."

WATSON FAILED TO SHOW UP.

Large Crowd at Reidsville Disappointed at Failure of Populist Leader to Appear.

One of the largest crowds ever assembled at Reidsville was that which met to listen to an address of Hon. Thomas E. Watson on Thursday. All railroads entering the town brought in extra cars loaded to the platforms and the wagon roads fairly belched their loads into town. At eleven o'clock the large court room was crowded to suffocation and others were waiting outside.

The crowd was greatly disappointed at the failure of Mr. Watson to show up. A rumor was afloat that the speaker had spent the night before in Statesboro and his appearance was looked for and the people refused to leave.

SAVANNAH & WESTERN TO GO TO CLAXTON.

Sister City May Get New Road From Southeast. Movement Is Well Under Way.

We learn there is a movement on foot to build the Savannah & Western Railway to Claxton. The road is better known in this section as "Tuten's Road." It leaves the Seaboard at Norden, a small station in Bryan county and runs to Willie, a new and growing town in a prosperous community, Liberty county.

It is also rumored that this may form a link in connection with the Shearwood Railway, which is building from Brooklet to Claxton, the Tuten line to form part of the link between Claxton and Hinesville, and onto a connection with the Atlantic Coast Line at some point on their line below Hinesville. This line would tap some of the best timbered and farming lands in South Georgia and would be a paying proposition from the very start.

W. J. Oliver and Party of Financial Backers Make Inspection Tour of S. A. & N. Property.

Mr. W. J. Oliver, owner of the Savannah, Augusta & Northern Railway, accompanied by a party of friends, who are said to be financial backers of the scheme to extend this road, passed through Statesboro on Wednesday. The party arrived here at noon from Augusta over the line of the S. A. & N. Ry. Messrs. Stevens of New York, and Seymour of the company were with Mr. Oliver. The party took dinner at the Jaekel, where they were joined by a number of Statesboro citizens.

Messrs. Brannen & Booth, attorneys for the S. A. & N. Ry., and Mr. L. W. Armstrong, general manager of the road, with headquarters here, joined the party in a trip to Savannah on a special over the Savannah & Statesboro Ry. General Superintendent Baugh of the latter line, also accompanied the party to Savannah.

Messrs. Oliver and Stevens made no attempt to conceal the object of their visit here. It is understood that Mr. Stevens, who is a man of large wealth, is taking an interest in the road and was looking over the property. Mr. Stevens expressed himself as being highly pleased with the property and the country through which the line runs. Of course we are all getting acquainted with railroad dope and one man knows about as much as another what is going to happen, but it begins to look like there is some signs of encouragement in what is transpiring in the S. A. & N. Ry. matter.

Messrs. D. J. Gay and E. E. Parrish Purchase Farm From N. L. Horn.

On Thursday last Mr. D. J. Gay and Mr. E. E. Parrish purchased from Mr. N. L. Horn his place, consisting of about one hundred and forty-four acres, located six miles north of Statesboro. We did not learn the consideration.

The sale was made by Fields & Chance, Statesboro's progressive real estate firm, and is only one of a number of deals they have making recently.

A. G. Daly, assault and battery. Fined $50 and cost.

Lester Covant, for disturbing school, plea of guilty. Fined $50 and cost or six months on the gang.

A Farmer's Logic

Two farmers were discussing the advantages of a bank account from a farmer's standpoint. "But," said the first, "I am so 'ar from town it is inconvenient for me to come in to do my banking." "All the more reason," his companion replied, "why you should have an account. When you have a check to deposit simply endorse it over to the bank and mail it to them. They will credit and receipt you. Then when you buy anything, pay by check. That's up-to-date business." Is the argument not logical.

JUDGE RUSSELL AT REIDSVILLE

Gave Cordial Reception. Declares Strongly in Favor of Local Option.

Reidsville, Ga., Sept. 4.—Judge Richard B. Russell, candidate for Governor, spoke to a fair sized crowd here today during the noon recess of the City Court.

In all of its essential details Judge Russell's speech was the same that he delivered at Lyons. He declared in favor of local option, and answered many questions which were asked him from the audience.

The speaker said he strongly favors the construction of a state road to the sea. He declared for better public highways throughout the state generally, for extended and improved public school facilities and for free text books in all elementary branches of education.

Judge Russell was accorded a cordial reception. He has many warm personal friends in Tattnall county who will give him their hearty support. The prohibitionists in this section naturally did not approve of all of the features of the speaker's platform, but he has caused to be pleased with his day's campaigning in Tattnall county.

The meeting was held in the court house. Col. A. S. Way presided over the gathering and the Hon. H. H. Elders introduced Judge Russell. The City Court was adjourned out of courtesy to the speaker who came here to address the voters on the issue of the campaign.

Judge Russell said: "I think that the present prohibition law is a failure. There was as much or more liquor shipped to Georgia in the year 1910 as there was before prohibition went into effect. If I were going to pass a prohibition law I wouldn't let the rich people of the city buy all the liquor they wanted and pay for it either cash or time, and make the poor man go without it. The poor man has as much right to buy good liquor as the man paying a hundred dollars a year to belong to a locker club."

"It is not a just law and certainly is not a prohibition law when a man can go to the locker club and buy any kind of whiskey he wants."

"He says that he has a right to know as he has received notification that he is an honorary member of six locker clubs; he is in favor of local option, that it should be left to each county as to whether they should have whiskey, and that he is in favor of laws being passed that make the place of delivery of liquors the place of sale. He believes that the question should be put before the people."

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach.
"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Young, Editor of The Sun, Laake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

Notice, Position Wanted.
Any one needing a bookkeeper, assistant bookkeeper, or clerk will please communicate with me. I have had several years experience in the business, can give good reference, and guarantee satisfaction.

1910-T1 CROP BRINGS A BILLION

It Was the Most Valuable Crop Ever Raised in America. Average Price Was 14.00 Cents Shown by Hester's Report. The 1910-11 Crop Was 12,120,095 Bales, He Says.

New Orleans, Sept. 5.—"No American cotton crop ever grown has sold for as much as the one just marketed, the total value, including the seed, having been $1,030,000,000."

This remarkable statement is contained in the detailed statistics of last season's cotton crop issued today by Col. Henry G. Hester, secretary of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange.

With 1,700,000 bales less than contained in the bumper crop of 1908-09, the crop just marketed netted the South $254,000,000 more. The 13,511,000 bale crop of 1906-07 brought $222,000,000 less than the past season's crop.

As a whole the crop averaged within a shade of strict middling, and the farmer was paid an average of 14.60 cents per pound, or $75.60 per bale.

Secretary Hester puts the crop of 1910-11 at 12,120,095 bales, an increase over that of 1909-10 of 1,510,427 and a decrease under that of 1908-09 of 1,705,362.

The increase in Texas over last year was, in round figures, 582,000 bales in the group of "other Gulf states" embracing Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri, Oklahoma, Utah, Kansas, Arizona, California and New Mexico it was 704,000, and in the group of Atlantic states, including North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Kentucky and Virginia, 224,000.

Report by States.
Mr. Hester's report of the crop by the different states is given as follows, in thousands of bales: Alabama, 1,207, against 1,078 last year.

Florida, 68, against 66 last year.

Georgia, 1,853, against 1,927 last year.

Louisiana, 273, against 282 last year.

Oklahoma, 924, against 566 last year.

Mississippi, 1,329, against 1,121 last year.

North Carolina, 794, against 676 last year.

South Carolina, 1,231, against 1,184 last year.

Tennessee, 424, against 316 last year.

MORE MONEY FOR ALTAMAH BRIDGE

Will Cost Thirty Thousand. J. L. Highsmith, Advocate of Bridge, Is Coming to Savannah.

(Savannah News.)
J. L. Highsmith, of Baxley, who has taken a leading part in the move to build a bridge across the Altamaha river, near that place, notified Chairman F. C. Battey of the Road Committee of the Savannah Automobile Club yesterday that he will come to Savannah Wednesday with a contractor who is ready to build the bridge.

It is Mr. Highsmith's idea to create further interest in the bridge here and to secure further subscriptions to the stock to be issued to those who subscribe for the undertaking. Already $1,200 has been subscribed here but the subscriptions have not yet tallied up to what must be had in order to build the bridge and the effort now is to get more money pledged by Savannahians.

Atlanta has subscribed $5,000, according to Mr. Highsmith, and it is believed that Savannah should do even more than Atlanta because the interests of this city in the bridge are so much greater than those of Atlanta. The statement of Mr. Highsmith is that the bridge can be built for about $30,000, and that considerable other subscriptions will have to be made before this amount is reached.

Mr. Battey will meet Mr. Highsmith and the contractor when they arrive Wednesday and show them around or arrange to have this done by someone else. It is Mr. Battey's idea that the people of Savannah should respond very liberally to the move, as the building of the bridge will remove a great barrier to Savannah's progress which has always existed and which cannot be overcome except by the bridging of the Altamaha.

Mr. Battey thinks the responses to the appeal for subscriptions to the stock in the bridge should be generous. Mr. Battey believes that the bridge would in time become a paying proposition, but is rather inclined to the belief that the counties between which the bridge is to be built will take it off the hands of the stockholders within a comparatively short time.

SMITH TAKES UP W. & A. PROBLEM.
To Settle Rates Dispute. Lessees to Be Given Hearing Soon by Governor.

Atlanta, Sept. 1.—Gov. Hoke Smith has now under advisement the matter of annulling the lease of the Western & Atlantic Railroad as now held by the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis. He and the attorney general have been going over the matter carefully.

The lease states that the road shall charge rates per ton mile for through freight no higher than those fixed by the state Railroad Commission for local business. The Governor is given authority to nullify the lease, if its terms are violated.

The complaint against the state road was made by the Atlanta freight bureau, alleging that the road was using a combination of Georgia and Southern classification.

The complaint which was made when Gov. Brown was in office, was found to be well founded, but no action was taken at that time.

It is reported that Gov. Smith will call upon his lessees to show evidence why the state should not charge local classification for the entire trip from Georgia to Chattanooga. It is probable that a day will be set for a hearing before the Governor in the near future.

DEATH CLAIMS ROGER Q. MILLS.

Statesman and Soldier. He Formerly Represented Texas in U. S. Senate.

Corsicana, Tex., Sept. 2.—Former United States Senator Roger Q. Mills, of Texas, a leader in state and national Democratic politics for many years, best known perhaps as the author of the Mills bill, died at his home here today, aged 79.

He was a noted Confederate soldier and one of the best known statesmen in Texas, although born in Kentucky.

He entered the war as lieutenant colonel of the Tenth Texas infantry, later succeeding to the command of that regiment. At Arkansas Post in January, 1863, he distinguished himself by withstanding for weeks a superior force of Union troops.

His congressional career began in 1872 as representative-at-large from Texas, followed by four terms as congressman from the old Fourth district. He was elected United States Senator in 1892, serving until 1899, when he resigned.

Thirty Years Together.
Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Aris Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and it's the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hay-fever, croup, quins or sore lungs. Price $1.00. 14 CENTS ASKED FOR COTTON Farmers' Union Votes to Hold for This Price. Fifteen Cents After October. Little of the Proceedings Is Made Public.

TO FIGHT SPECULATION.

They Propose to Get Behind the Scott Anti-Gambling Bill to Prohibit the Use of Mails or Interstate Commerce for Furthering Contracts When There's No Intent to Deliver.

Shawnee, Okla., Sept. 6.—This year's cotton crop will be sold for fourteen cents during September and October, 15 cents thereafter. This was the agreement reached tonight by the cotton growers of the South attending the National Farmers' Union here.

Little of the proceedings of the union was made public today, although aside from the price the farmers ask for their cotton, good roads, parcels post and dabbles in cotton futures will be discussed by the convention.

Members of the union say parcels post will be favored by the farmers and that the delegates will organize for the Scott anti-gambling bill, prohibiting the use of mails or interstate commerce for the furthering of contracts for the delivery of cotton, where there is no intent to make actual delivery.

The report of the livestock commission urges diversified farming and stock raising and tains the statement that "one million additional milk cows and an equal number of mother sows properly distributed through the South would easily add $10 per bale to the price of the cotton crop."

The congressional immigration committee recommends increasing the tax head excluding illicit adults from America and the fixing of foreign steamers for bringing to this country undesirable that could be rejected on the other side.

WORK BE RESUMED ON S. A. & N. RAILROAD.

W. J. Oliver of Knoxville and Frederick C. Stevens of New York so Announced Yesterday.

(August Chronicle.)
Plans were made public here yesterday by W. J. Oliver, of Knoxville, well known throughout the country for large real-estate dealings as a contractor, and F. C. Stevens, of New York, best known as former superintendent of public works of N. Y. state, of the proposed resumption of construction work on the Savannah, Augusta and Northern Railroad, by which it will be extended to Savannah on the south as its port and to some point beyond Knoxville in the West or Middle West or a terminus in that part of the country.

Mr. Oliver and Mr. Stevens accompanied by W. A. Seymour and T. A. Wright, arrived in Augusta yesterday morning and spent the day here in conference, part of the time with several prominent business and professional men, more or less interested in the construction of the new railroad. Mr. Seymour is the personal representative of Mr. Oliver as an engineer, and Mr. Wright is his legal counsel.

Mr. Stevens is the millionaire who backed Mr. Oliver financially in his effort to secure the $5,000,000 contract on the Panama canal and who will probably furnish or secure the finances for the present railroad project. Mr. Stevens said yesterday when asked if he represented his own interests or other large interests, that he represented both his own and the interests of others. He is a man of large affairs as well as of large wealth.

In discussing the plan for the development of the property, Mr. Stevens said that the line from Statesboro to Stevens' Crossing, now in operation will be extended to Savannah by one of three arrangements, that is by building its own line, or making truckage arrangements with the Statesboro and Savannah railroad or by building a connecting link to the Brinson Railroad and using its tracks into Savannah.

Northward from Stevens' Crossing the road is graded to Louisville, but this may be changed so as to include Midville in which case some of the work will have to be regraded, and the construction of this distance will be completed and put into operation. The engineering firm of J. G. White & Co., has been engaged to make the necessary surveys from Louisville to Norwood, 40 miles northward on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. The surveys will then be extended toward Knoxville and will locate the line to touch either Elberton, where a connection will be made with the Seaboard Air Line and also with the Southern Railway toward the north, or it may be run to Athens where it will also cross the Seaboard. From whichever point is decided upon, the surveys will be carried on to Knoxville, where the connection will be made with the Knoxville, Sevierville and Eastern road.

Mr. Stevens is impressed with the agricultural and other possibilities of the country through which the proposed railroad will pass and says they will build a road that will serve all varieties of interests along the route. When asked if he had any other developments pending in the South, he said he was connected with a tropical company that was thinking of making Savannah a port of inlet for its products.

FLOOD IS DEVASTATING THE CHINESE EMPIRE.
Loss of Life Runs Into Thousands It Is Estimated. Property Loss Is Heavy. Cotton and Rice Crop in Valley of the Yangtze-Kiang Obliterated.

Pekin, China, Sept. 5.—The great flood which is devastating a part of the Chinese empire extends from Ichang, in the province of Hupeh, to Shanghai, on the coast, a distance of about 700 miles. The banks of the Yangtze-Kiang have been obliterated, except in the highlands and around the walled cities and towns. So far the loss of life can only be estimated but it is believed thousands of persons have been drowned. Farmhouses and brush have been submerged throughout the entire distance, or have floated down the river. The loss to the cotton and rice crops is extensive. Shanghai trade has been seriously affected and the cotton and rice crops in the Yangtze-Kiang valley have been completely destroyed. The consequent famine will doubtless be more severe than of late years. The Liaohing, in Manchuria, also is flooded. Many have been drowned and a serious famine in that section is certain.

ALL FOR DE.
SEABOARD TRAIN SERVICE AS HAGEN SEE.

The following editorial comment is clipped from yesterday's issue of the Savannah Morning News. Mr. Godbee, voices the sentiment of the great majority of the people of this section in the effort to get better passenger service on the Seaboard Air Line:

(Tatnall News.)

Seaboard Train Service as Hagen Sees It.

In the effort for the improvement of the wretched train service between here and Columbus—a service for which the Seaboard Air Line is responsible—we are getting a glimpse of what business men in the territory outside of Savannah affected by this service think of it. Yesterday we published a statement from a Hagan banker. Hagan is a town only fifty miles from Savannah, and yet, according to Mr. Godbee, cashier of the bank of that town, it takes 39 hours to get from Savannah an answer to a letter—so long as it does to get from Atlanta an answer to a letter.

Does the Seaboard Air Line think it is doing justice to Savannah when it provides a train service that permits towns within 50 miles of her to communicate by mail with Atlanta, nearly 300 miles away, as quickly as with her? Can it pretend that it is giving Savannah an adequate train service under such circumstances? And if it admits that it isn't giving Savannah a square deal what reasonable excuse has it? We are sure it doesn't claim that Savannah hasn't been kind to it. It can point to no instance when Savannah hasn't been ready to do all in her power to further its interests. What possible reason then can it have for this handicap of Savannah's business, this miserable train service which withholds from Savannah business men the facilities for doing business in the territory so closely tributary to her. It looks almost as if there were a settled purpose to keep Savannah's business men out of that territory. It certainly isn't trying to aid them in doing business in it.

And that territory is growing and developing and developing all the time. Mr. Godbee, speaking for the hundreds of business men—business men who are as anxious to get in closer mail touch with Savannah as Savannah business men are to get in closer mail touch with it, says:

"I have watched with deep personal interest the fight that you gentlemen are making for better train service between Savannah and Columbus.

The inadequacy of the present service is more keenly felt each season. The growth of business in this section has increased rapidly in the last four or five years, following the cutting of the timber and thus opening up thousands of acres of land to the farmers and the natural sequence of banking, merchandising and manufacturing."

Yes, that territory has been growing, and is growing and developing, but has the mail service between it and Savannah been improved? What has the Seaboard Air Line done to help the people of that territory to get in closer touch with the chief port of the state—the city in which the products of that territory are marketed? Has it done anything? Does it propose to do anything? And yet it pretends to be a live, up-to-date, progressive railway system.

Doesn't it believe that it would be more profitable to it to have the reputation of being such a railway system than that of a system that doesn't seem to know that the country, particularly the South, is moving, developing and growing? Wouldn't it pay the Seaboard Air Line better to assist in developing the country between Savannah and Columbus by giving it an adequate mail service than by withholding such a service on the plea that there is no money in it? We believe that all progressive business men would answer in the affirmative. We are certain that the business men of the territory in question and of Savannah would.

LONG CHASE IS OVER.

And Youths Must Be Tried for Death of Savannah Negro. Boggs and Worley Arrive in Atlanta in Care of Officers Who Trained Them—Got Worley in Detroit.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 2.—After a chase lasting weeks and trailing two youths to Savannah, Augusta, Birmingham, Decatur, Cincinnati and Detroit, Deputy Sheriff Meldrum, of Savannah, and Detective Thomas Hewitt, of Augusta, ran down and arrested Henry Boggs, alias Jones, and Johnnie Worley, alias "Gold Tooth," believed to be slayers of Albert Turner, the wealthy Savannah negro, found dead early in August near Savannah.

It was learned that these two young men hired Turner to take them out from Savannah in an automobile. The negro had sold some property that day and the youths thought he had $500 on his person. However, the money was left at home with Turner's wife. The boys are said to have slain the negro and thrown his body in an old well, then drove the car to Oliver, where they sold it for $100. The two officers trailed them all over the country. Wednesday Boggs was arrested in Decatur and Worley in Detroit. The officers left Atlanta tonight with the suspects in charge. It is said the case is very strong against them and there seems no doubt of their conviction. The slain negro was worth several thousand dollars and was prominent in Savannah. Boggs and Worley live in Decatur, Ala.

SUGAR IS STILL SOARING.

Raw Sugar Market in New York Excited. Prices Advance Twenty Points. Biggest Gains That Have Been Made in Years.

New York, Sept. 5.—The raw sugar market was very strong and excited today and prices scored an advance of twenty points, one of the largest individual advances made in years, and at the same time new records were established both here and abroad. Sales of centrifugals were made on the basis of 556 against 536, the closing quotation of last week.

Very little sugar was offered at these figures and some offers were made at ten points above. The strength was due to reiteration of bad crop news, indicating very small crops both here and abroad.

Refiners in the independent field marked up refined quotations from 10 to 15 points per hundred pounds or 645 to 650 for standard granulated.

LIQUOR REVENUES SHOW $12,000,000 INCREASE.

BROWN WILL TELL WHERE HE STANDS

Announcement Is Expected From Former Governor Soon. Decision of Gov. Smith to File Resignation by Oct. 15, Effective in 30 Days, Will Make the Campaign Livelier.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 4.—The seeming positive assurance that Governor Hoke Smith will file his resignation before the 15th of October, as predicted a week or two ago, has so clarified the political outlook that it is not improbable that Governor Joseph M. Brown will make known his intentions regarding the coming campaign within the next two or three weeks.

It is stated that Governor Smith's resignation will be so drawn that it will not take effect until November 15. The filing of the same however, will enable the state executive committee to make plans for holding the primary to elect the new governor, and it is probable that the same will occur before the Christmas holidays.

Letter From Columbus.

A citizen of Columbus writes him:

"There are a lot of former Smith supporters in this section and over the state who state that they are for Joe Brown against the field."

A very prominent clergyman in another city has written the former governor as follows:

"I learn this morning, but not officially, that you have decided to run for governor. Nothing would please me better than to be assured that this report is true. I have been over the state some and find that there is a strong sentiment in your favor. The general opinion is that you will receive an overwhelming majority. Your old friends are loyal to the core, and hosts of others are now strong for you. No one can tell what the future may develop, but everything looks Brown to me. I assure you of my hearty support."

A prominent lawyer of Oconee county writes:

Nothing could induce me to overstate or overestimate your strength here, for I feel I would wrong you if I did so, and I desire you to know that I feel this way about it; so, in perfect candor and sincere friendship, I desire to say that I never saw a man so strong in this county as you now are. It would be utterly useless for any other candidate to try to carry this county. The change has been the greatest I have ever seen. It would be incredible if I did not see and hear it every day. I have no doubt that you can carry two-thirds of the votes in this county by a simple announcement of your candidacy."

It is probable that the writer of the above knows 99 per cent of the voters of Oconee county personally.

From Colquitt County.

From Colquitt county comes the "I and all your former friends and supporters here in Colquitt county will be delighted to see you enter the race for governor again."

"Should you run, my county will cheerfully give you a greater majority than she rolled up for you last year, which majority then numbered 412."

A business man of Bremen, Harlison county, has the following to say:

"The present political situation and candidates in the field are not at all satisfactory to the people of Georgia. I firmly believe you are stronger than you ever were. I assure you of my support."

Such letters have been piling in on the former governor for nearly two months. He has been so busy with his private affairs that he has had little time for political matters, and has done nothing more than answer the communications.

However, he may give the matter determining attention in the next week or two.

ANOTHER NUISANCE FOR STATESBORO.

Editor News:

The good citizens, fathers and mothers of Statesboro, are again pained to see their young boys and even their little baby boys take their hard earned money and feed it into another damnable slot machine and cultivate the desire to get something for nothing. It seems as though there is loadstone in the machine, it just simply pulls them there in crowds.

I again ask the good people of Statesboro if they intend to sit idle and let such examples and temptations be put before the young boys while they are young and are easy to be led astray. Now is the time to train them as you want them to grow, so that they will be a credit to you, and not a disgraceful gambler, as they will be if such is allowed to be run in town. I haven't a boy, but I feel that it is my duty to call the attention of those that have them, before it is everlastingly too late. Let's everybody that has boys and those that haven't any, that feel an interest in the up-growing generation, get together and see if there can't be some remedy for such nuisances as the slot machine that we have in our midst.

CITY SCHOOL OPENS WITH FINE ENROLLMENT.

On Wednesday morning when Prof. Wright and the other members of the faculty opened the fall term of the Statesboro Institute they met the largest number of pupils who ever enrolled as students on the first day of the Statesboro public schools.

There were somewhere in the neighborhood of three hundred and fifty certificates issued and several more to be issued later.

Revs. McLaurin, Eden and Denis assisted in the opening exercises by reading passages from the Bible and leading in prayer.

They were followed by Messrs. McCroan and Booth of the Board of Trustees. Prof. Wright delivered a short but fine address setting out the plans under which the school would be run during the term which was then open.

After this Hon. Rafe Simmons who was present, arose and delivered one of his characteristic addresses. Mr. Simmons made a good speech and was liberally applauded by the large crowd of patrons and pupils.

The school is now well under way and all the places in the faculty are filled. This bids fair to be the most successful term in the history of the school.

WILD CAT FOUND IN FOWL HOUSE.

Mr. Wiley Waters, living on Mr. N. M. Plake's place, about 2 miles from Brooklet, was awakened by his chickens making a terrible noise. He went out with his gun to the scene and at once discovered a large cat. He shot it and his aim was good. The varment was as large as a good sized dog. Mr. Plake and others knew of the cats being around in the vicinity, as very often young pigs would be missing.

The fall term of the Brooklet high school opened on Wednesday. There was a large crowd of patrons out to witness the opening exercises, and the enrollment is the largest in the history of the school. Revs. Carmichael and Richardson conducted the devotional services, while Prof. J. E. Brannon, County School Commissioner, and Prof. J. L. Newbern, principal of the school, delivered addresses.

Brooklet has a state-wide reputation as being a first class educational center, her people taking an active interest in the school. The handsome new school building is now in use for the first time.

OWN FARMERS.

Says President Brooks, If Farmers Don't Co-Operate and Conserve Interests.

Shawnee, Okla., Sept. 5.—That the farmers of America will be owned and controlled by trusts within the next thirty years if they do not co-operate and conserve their efforts was the warning issued today by President L. J. Brooks, of Tennessee in his response to the address of welcome at the opening session of the National Farmers' Union.

United States Senator Thomas P. Gore, who followed Brooks, took up the cudgel for cooperation and his speech was confined mostly to amplifying the statements of Brooks.

"You farmers will be buried deeper in misery than ever if you do not co-operate," declared the blind senator. "More attention must be given to business if you are to be successful."

Former State Senator Campbell Russell in his address of welcome on behalf of the Oklahoma Farmers' Union denied a statement recently made by the secretary of the State Bankers Association that the cotton crop of the state for 1911 will net the planters $75,000,000. "Every intelligent farmer knows that this year's crop will do well to bring $45,000,000," said Russell. "That is if the present prices are maintained."

Secretary A. G. Davis of the National Union, is receiving a number of letters and telegrams from farmers in the cotton belt urging the delegates to pass a resolution to hold cotton for 13 to 15 cents.

All of the remaining meetings will be executive. More than 300 delegates are in attendance. Every delegate represents 5,000 farmers. A great number of telegrams from commercial clubs, newspapers, business men and bankers of cotton growing states were received today pledging support to any "holding plan" the national union may adopt. While nothing official has been given out regarding the price that farmers will be asked to place on their cotton, it is said the convention probably will agree on from 13 to 15c.

Reports from the upper section of the county and the lower section of Emanuel are to the effect that that section was visited by one of the heaviest rains ever known, one day during the week. Much damage was done to the crops.

BROTHER DROWNS RESCUING SISTER

12 Year Old Willie Lee Swims to His Death at Life of Hope.

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 11.—Giving up his life to save his sister, Willie Lee, a 12-year-old boy, Sunday swim to his death in the Isle of Hope river, while the screams of his mother, who witnessed the tragedy from the shore attracted help that rescued the girl.

The girl, Ethel Lee, is 16 years old. She and her brother were bathing in the river in front of Major C. S. Hardee's place near the eastern end of the bluff, when the girl, getting out too far, stepped into the deeper water of the channel and went down. The boy, who was looked upon as an excellent swimmer, immediately went after her.

J. G. Hardee had just come in with a boat, accompanied by his son, J. G. Hardee, Jr., and Julian Barcombe Schley. They were walking up from the water when the mother's scream announced the danger to her children. J. G. Hardee ran out on the wharf, near the end of which the children were struggling in the child, and swam out after them. The girl was fighting desperately to keep her head above the water, and time and again was seen to push her little brother's head up.

He struggled to keep the head above water.

But the brave little swimmer had disappeared, not to be seen again until three hours later, when his lifeless body was recovered.

SPEAKER CHAMP CLARK VISITS HIS OLD HOME

Louisiana, Mo., Sept. 11.—Speaker Champ Clark, of the house of representatives, is being entertained today by the home folks, all Pike county and the greater part of the population of the Ninth Missouri congressional district joining to make his homecoming from Washington an epoch in Missouri history.

It was here that Mr. Clark landed from a steamboat thirty-six years ago as a young attorney from Kentucky. Republicans as well as Democrats of the district were placed on the various committees for arrangements of the day's affair.

Two afloat, while a strong tide swept them down the river. As Mr. Hardee came near them, both disappeared again, but a portion of a partly deflated "water wings" which the girl wore had floated to the top. Following this Mr. Hardee came to the point where a moment later the girl's head appeared. The girl had loosened her grip on the boy, and had become separated from her.

Mr. Hardee swam with the girl to the shore and Julian Schley, wading out to him, took the girl to shore as Mr. Hardee plunged back for the boy.

But the brave little swimmer had disappeared, not to be seen again until three hours later, when his lifeless body was recovered.

With the exception of a representative of an American tobacco company, most are Baptist missionaries.

The flood situation in China is the most serious in years. From Hankow, come reports that the troops are driving the flood refugees from the cities. The English papers in Shanghai say: "We suppose that half the population of the Yangtze valley must be supported through the coming winter or starve. Probably this is the most appalling disaster in the history of China."

HARDMAN MAY RUN FOR GOVERNOR.

As a Prohibitionist, Commerce Statesman Says He Is Considering It.

Atlanta, Sept. 9.—Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, former member of the senate and several times a member of the house and one of the authors of the present state prohibition law, practically stated in an interview today that he will be in the race for governor.

"You may state that I have the question of entering the race for question of entering the race for consideration," he said.

"My ideas are that Georgia needs, above all else, an efficient business administration in which the interests of all classes of people and all industries, great and small, shall be protected.

"I would bend my best efforts to the improvement of the progress of agricultural affairs in Georgia and feel I am in some way qualified for this work through the lifelong interest I have taken in agriculture. It will be recalled that I was the author of the first bill providing for the teaching of agriculture and civil government in the Georgia schools.

"If I enter the race it will be as a prohibitionist for I have always been identified with prohibition and am still its advocate. My connection with the prohibition bill is well known."

30 AMERICANS IN CENTER OF RIOTS

Fear Is Expressed for Safety of Missionaries. No Word for Three Days. Believed They Are Being Escorted to Safety by Chinese Troops. American Warships Cannot Reach Scene.

Peking, Sept. 9.—For three days no messages have been received from hundreds of foreigners gathered at Ching Tu province for safety from the mobs which have been running riot in the surrounding districts for some time past. The Chinese viceroy ordered the foreigners to leave the city and it is believed they are now making their way towards the Yangtze-Kiang, about 300 miles away, by cart or river, through a country where anti-foreign placards have been posted for many weeks.

It is understood the foreigners are under escort of the Chinese troops but it is considered questionable if these troops would oppose their own people should an attack be made on the foreigners. There are British gunboats on the Yangtze-Kiang, and the forces which extend from Ching Tu to Chung King. The American ships were ordered up river but were unable to proceed above Ichang many hundred miles from Ching Tu. The Americans among the refugees number 30.

Will Announce in Very Few Days, Is Inside Tip. Pressure Too Strong. Unbroken Stream of Letters Urging Him to Run.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 9.—It has been stated here today on what is regarded as the best authority that Joseph M. Brown will announce for governor within a few days. While he has not said so himself to newspaper men here, it can be accepted as a fact that he will declare that he is going to enter the race is so pronounced that he cannot decline it. He is receiving still, it is said, an unbroken stream of letters urging him to run. The most of these letters are, of course, from his old friends and former supporters but many of them come from those who have opposed him in his former races. They urge that he has a good record as governor, and that he is the only governor that has not had a second term. They tell him that he will make a winning race.

BEATTIE A GAY SINGER.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 10.—Between puffs of the perpetual cigarette, Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., who has been sentenced to pay the penalty of wife murder in the electric chair on November 24, tonight was the gayest of the gay field county jail. Hearing two of his guards singing in the court house yard, a short distance away, over her boys, and let me join in with you," Beattie's clear tenor rose high above the voices of his companions as the three sang, "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie."

DISAPPOINTING TO HIS FRIENDS.

In our last issue, we expressed the belief that Gov. Smith would be able to reimburse the people of the state for his failure to go to the United States senate when he was chosen to the place, by reason of the fact that there was important action knocking at the door of a governor supposed to have the real interest of the state's welfare at heart. We had in mind, of course, the state's contract of lease with the N. C. & St. L. Ry. the terms of which had been annulled by the lessee.

It was our hope that Governor Smith would be able to compel the lessee of the state's property to comply with the terms of the lease.

Ex-Governor Brown having been severely criticized for his failure to do this, we had faith in the ability of Gov. Smith to accomplish what Gov. Brown had failed to do.

It was a source of great disappointment when the friends of Governor Smith read in Sunday's papers the report that he had followed in the foot steps of Governor Brown and returned the papers in the case back to the Railroad Commission without action.

As the state has no authority to compel the performance of the terms of this contract.

If it is getting time that those who prepare leases by which valuable property and franchise rights are leased away at great profit, were held accountable for it. If the terms of the lease cannot be enforced it seems to us that it will be up to the state to operate the property in its own name when the present lease expires.

BULLOCH SOIL MAP READY.

The first copy of the Bulloch county soil map has reached our desk, and those who have seen it pronounce it a fine piece of work. It will mean the saving of thousands of dollars per annum to the farmers of this county by reason of the fact that the United States Government has laid before their eyes the exact nature of the soil that lies beneath their possessions. If they will now apply business methods, and apply to that soil the exact treatment that scientific agriculture tells them to do, the increase in the productivity of the soil will be enormous.

This map cost the government over four thousand dollars to get it up, and is the first one of the kind ever sent out from any county in the First Congressional District, and one of the few in the state.

The people of Bulloch are indebted to Congressman Chas. G. Edwards for this piece of work. It was due to his efforts that this survey was put on in Bulloch and it was due to his persistence in the work that it was pushed to a successful completion. The department has placed at his disposal about twenty-five hundred copies and he is busy mailing them out to the farmers of the county.

Mr. Edwards has again shown his ability to do things, and again he has secured something of great value to the people of Bulloch county. He has done things that no other congressman would attempt to do, things which his enemies laughed to scorn and which his friends followed from a far away distance. But he has done it. LOUD KICK GOING UP AGAINST TRAIN SERVICE.

The people living along the line of the Savannah, Augusta & Northern Railway are loud in their protestations against the poor passenger service given them by this road. They say practically all connections with other roads has been cut off. For instance there is no regularity of train service. It is so seldom that the connection is made in Statesboro with either the Savannah & Statesboro Railway or the Central for the out-going morning trains that the people who are living along the line of the S. A. & N. have quit attempting to use the road to get out towards Savannah or anywhere else in the morning.

They say that it is a frequent occurrence that one run per day will be cut out without any notice being given, for instance the train will come down in the morning and not make the return trip until late in the afternoon.

Parties living along the route either drive to Statesboro or to some point on the Central Railroad to get to Savannah.

Representatives of the road say the reason the service cannot be made is the fact that an attempt to run a double daily train service over the line is more than the road can do, and an attempt had been made to discontinue one train, but the people along the line filed objections. They claim they can give a prompt service with one trip each way per day, but cannot make it with a double daily schedule.

SAYS BULLOCH IS LAGGING BEHIND.

For several years past Bulloch county has had her praises sung from the mountains to the sea, she has been heralded far and wide as the most up to date, most wide awake agricultural county in the state, and we had persuaded ourselves that this was true.

Mr. Chas. B. Aarons, of Aaron station on the S. A. & N. Ry., who by the way, is one of Bulloch's most progressive farmers and business men, tells us he has recently returned from a week's trip to Dublin and Laurens county. Mr. Aarons says he traveled over a considerable portion of Laurens county, and was surprised to see how much the farmers were ahead of his neighbors in Bulloch. He stated we were away behind in our methods of farming; while our lands were the equal of the Laurens county lands in every respect, yet the farmers up there had walked away from us. He says he saw while in Laurens county some of the best crops he ever saw in his life. He saw plenty of cotton that will make from two to two and a half bales to the acre. While there he visited the twelve acre corn field that the Dublin Chamber of Commerce has been blowing so much about. He would not attempt to estimate the amount of its yield, but said it was unquestionably the best field of corn he had ever seen in his eyes.

Mr. Aarons visited Capt. W. B. Rice's thousand acre farm near Dublin. He says it looks like a garden spot all over. A Western syndicate had recently offered Mr. Rice one hundred dollars per acre for the entire farm, which would be one hundred thousand dollars for the tract. Mr. Rice refused the offer. Mr. Aarons will put on some new methods as a result of his trip to Laurens county.

"VERY DRY" IS THE NEWS

Early Returns Indicate That Maine Will Stand by Constitutional Prohibition. About 3,000 Majority for Prohibitionists.

Portland, Maine, Sept. 11.—Returns from 533 out of 629 election districts in the state give: For repeal, 57,180. Against repeal, 59,009.

As a majority of the towns yet to be heard from are conceded to be for prohibition, a victory for the retention of constitutional prohibition is indicated by about 3,000.

Portland, Maine, Sept. 11.—Bath, the first place to count the vote in today's special election, favored repeal of the prohibition law 1,138 to 463. In 1884 Bath voted for prohibition, 90 to 414. The city of Rockland today voted for prohibition by a large majority, the city of Saco did likewise.

WINS BATTLE WITH SNAKE.

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 8.—E. W. Copley saved himself from death in the folds of a python by breaking the snake's neck.

The snake was sixteen feet long, weighed 250 pounds and was angry. Copley had had the snake on exhibition in a museum and took it to his home to give it fresh air.

The owner and an assistant started to carry the reptile away in a basket. The assistant stumbled. The snake was aroused, wrungled itself around Copley's legs and was preparing to throw coils around the man's body when Copley seized the snake's head above the jaws, snapped it suddenly backward and killed the reptile.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuses attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see the pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail.

This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Rudahn, of Tracy, Calif. "I have often found 'hey make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health." Try them 50c. at W. H. Ellis Co.

TWINS ARE BORN IN DIFFERENT TOWNS.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 9.—Girl twins were born in different towns to Mrs. Pisker Strenczurn of Agawam. Mrs. Strenczurn left to visit Springfield friends. The first manifestation of the work was under a strange roof in Agawam, four miles from here. A taxicab brought Mrs. Strenczurn to Springfield. The second twin was born in this city.

Dr. E. C. Collins, the attending physician says the incident has no counterpart in his experience in 3,000 births. Moreover, he is sorely perplexed as to how he is to fill out the birth certificates required by law, but to be on the safe side has practically decided to file certificates of birth in both Agawam and Springfield.

"At that," said Dr. Collins, "the authorities of each will telephone me to ask 'Where is that other twin?'"

"The legislature may have to pass a special act to straighten out this tangle."

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one. So there's no guesswork in this evidence of Thos. Ariss Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequalled for laryngitis, asthma, hay-fever, croup, quins or sore lungs. Price 6c, $1.00. UNIQUE JAIL IS TO GO.

Orville, Cal., Sept. 9.—Western Pacific trainmen running from Orville to Gerlach bring word that that town is to lose its jail, which is said to be the only one of its kind in the country.

The jail consisted of chains attached to a telegraph pole. On the post was nailed the sign "Gerlach City Jail." Offenders, after being found guilty, simply had the chain attached to their ankles and were left there to spend their term. Others were kept there awaiting trial in a justice court. Now word has been received that a new portable steel jail is on its way to Gerlach in which prisoners are to be confined in the future.

Gerlach is a division point on the edge of the Nevada desert. Its total population is less than one hundred, but like most new railroad towns, it has a large proportion of undesirable citizens, whose presence made a jail a necessity.

NEGROES HELP TO LYNCH A NEGRO.

He Was on a Rampage. Arkansas Demon Kills Several of Both Colors.

Augusta, Ark., Sept. 9.—After he had slashed the throat of Mrs. Albert Vaughan, daughter of a white farmer, shot and killed one of his own race and assaulted an aged negro, Arthur Dean, a negro, was taken in hand by a mob of white men and negroes today and hanged from a mill shed on the principal street of Augusta.

Dean started on his rampage early yesterday. Gaining entrance to the home of Tom Lignon, a negro farmer, he drove Lignon's children from the building and attacked and aged relative of the farmer. Next he made his way to the dwelling of Dennis Clark and firing from the roadway killed Clark, who was seated at a window.

At the home of J. T. Bostleman, a farmer, he encountered Mrs. Vaughan, and when she resisted his attack drew a razor across her throat. Mrs. Vaughan died several hours later.

The negro then made for the woods, but was captured this morning near Bald Knob and returned to Augusta. A mob was in waiting and the lynching followed.

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach. "I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Young, Peters, Ohio.

"The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all druggists.

NEGRO ENTERS LADY'S HOME

Crouches Under Door Steps and Pulls Mrs. Johnson's Foot--Bloodhounds Fail to Find His Trail.

On Tuesday night about 10 o'clock, when Mrs. Vonie Johnson, living about two miles from town, was sitting on her door steps, she noticed a slight shaking of the steps but paid no attention to it, and a few minutes later she thought she felt something touch her foot, and an object of some kind jerk itself back under the steps. Before she could raise an alarm a negro stuck his head out from under the steps and grabbed her by the foot. She then screamed, calling to her son who had retired for the night, and the negro ran out from under the house and escaped through the field. A telephone message brought Sheriff Donaldson and Deputy Sheriff Jones to the scene.

The blood hounds had been came but refused to follow the trail which had grown cold in the meantime. The sign of where the negro had crouched under the steps and crawled under the house and ran off through the field was clearly discernable but the trail being cold the dogs refused to follow it a very great distance.

SEVERE WINDSTORM SWEEPS ILLINOIS.

State House Damaged. Property Loss Will Amount to Hundreds of Thousands.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 13.—Spreading ruin in its wake, one of the most disastrous wind storms ever experienced in this city held Central Illinois in its grip for three hours this morning. The damage will total hundreds of thousands of dollars.

One death is reported from Taylorville, where Raymond Ives, a lineman, was electrocuted while repairing broken wires.

By far the largest single loss was that sustained by the state when he wind carried away a large portion of the new copper roof of the capitol. The loss at the state house is estimated at $50,000. The wind in this city reached a velocity of nearly 70 miles an hour.

SHERWOOD LIME SHOWS ACTIVITY

Representatives of the Lime Mix and Mingle With Claxton People.

On Tuesday a delegation of representatives of the Sherwood Railway were in Claxton mixing and mingling with the people, looking to the extension of this road to Claxton. In the party were President J. N. Shearouse of Brooklet, and Col. Hinton Booth, one of the attorneys representing the road.

While there was no public meeting held, yet the situation was thoroughly canvassed, and the matter of further subscriptions left to local committees.

In the meantime a survey is being made on the Claxton end of the line. It is the purpose of the management to locate definitely the line so that parties living along the route will know just what to expect.

A reporter for the News called upon the railroad authorities after their trip to Claxton and asked what was the status of the case. The answer was that "it takes money to build railroads," and the idea seemed to prevail, however, that the people of Claxton would come up with their share of the burden in order to reap the great benefits to be derived from this important line, and the hope was expressed that at no far-distant date trains would be running into Claxton.

PULASKI BANK GOES INTO COURT.

On yesterday the Citizens Bank of Pulaski filed suit in the City Court against about thirty parties who were alleged to have been overdrawn in their accounts with the bank before its suspension of active business some time ago.

Some of these accounts are disputed by the parties and the matter will have to be settled over the court table.

Including this batch there was the largest number of suits filed on yesterday for the October quarterly term since 1909. The lawyers all worked hard through the day preparing their suits. About sixty in all were filed.

Mr. Blank's Mistake

"I made a bad mistake today," said Blank to his wife. "I went to pay that subscription to the daily, which was $5. I found out afterward that I handed the agent a $10 bill and didn't notice it until he was gone—guess he didn't either. I suppose the fellow is honest and I'll get my money back, but it'll be some trouble." "I've been telling you," said his wife, "that you should deposit your money in the bank and then pay by check. Then you won't be making such mistakes and having so much trouble."

Was she right? She was. We invite one and all to open a checking account at our bank.

SOIL SURVEY OF BULLOCH COUNTY

ISSUED BY GOVERNMENT.

Congressman Edwards Will Distribute Copies.

So Will Endeavor to Get Full Report, Including Soil Map and Key on Oatham County Soils
Next Winter.

(Savannah News.)

Congressman Charles G. Edwards returned to Savannah yesterday from a trip of several weeks through Tattnall and Bryan counties, during which time he paid a visit to his parents, Mr.
and Mrs. T. J. Edwards at Daisy, Tattnall county.

Mr. Edwards received yesterday from the bureau of soils, Department of Agriculture, at Washington, a copy of the report on soil survey of Bulloch county, which has just been issued. The report is most comprehensive in its scope, including a soil survey map and key to enable the farmers of Bulloch Co. to determine the exact location and character of the soils on their farms.

An analysis of the various soils is also printed in the report as well as valuable suggestions as to the various kinds of fertilizers which should be used for the different soils and the kind of crop which would thrive best in the different soils.

Bulloch's Soil Inspection.

Mr. Edwards secured the soil survey of a full county in the First Georgia district, through Milton Whitney, chief of the bureau of soils. The report was compiled by Charles N. Mooney, R. Hardison, David D. Long and W. C. Byers, all experts of the Department of Agriculture, who made a careful inspection of the soils of Bulloch county.

A description of Bulloch county is given in the introductory part of the report, stating the location of the county and tracing the course of the river, which flow through it. The climate, rainfall, history, mail service and crops of the county are dealt with at length.

The report says: "Twenty types, exclusive of swamp, a non-agricultural type of soil, were found in Bulloch county, representing seven soil series. The Tifton series is represented by two types, a sandy and a sandy loam. The latter type, agriculturally is the best and most important soil in the county as well as over much of South Georgia. The Tifton has been derived probably from more than one geographical formation, under good drainage conditions; and a characteristic of the soil is the presence of an abundance of the iron sandstone and claystone pebbles already mentioned.

Description of the Soil.

"The Hoffman series is of small extent and is represented by some small areas of a fine sandy loam and coarse sandy loam. It occurs in high, well drained situations and seems to be derived from the older formation only, having that peculiarly mottled sandy clay subsoil formation.

"The Norfolk series is the most extensive and widely distributed in the county, and is represented by the largest number of types, which range from fine sand to coarse sandy loam in texture. It seems to be derived almost entirely from the younger formation and is found under moderately good drainage conditions. The series is characterized by grayish to light yellowish soils, underlain at varying depths by yellow sandy clays.

The Portsmouth series has been derived entirely from the younger formation. The types are found in the "flatwoods" section and along streams and in bays and are characterized by dark colored surface soils with drab colored subsoils, caused by poor drainage conditions which have favored the accumulation of decaying vegetation in the surface soil and by the presence of water, which has inhibited oxidation of the subsoil.

Four types were separated in this series.

"The Scranton series, represented by three types, is derived from the same materials as the Norfolk and Portsmouth, but under conditions of drainage intermediate between the two; the areas are intermittently wet and dry. This has resulted in a surface soil similar to the Portsmouth types, but the oxidative processes have been active enough to produce the yellow colors in the subsoil found in the Norfolk subsoils.

Coxville Clay Loam.

"The Coxville clay loam is a single representative in the county of a series more fully represented elsewhere in the Coastal Plain. This type and also Muck occur in depressions in uplands.

"Swamp is a nonagricultural type occurring as first bottoms of alluvial origin along the Ogeechee river, and the smaller streams and branches throughout the county. At present the areas are in a more or less wet condition throughout the year and support a water loving vegetation.

"The Tifton sand occurs scattered over the rolling part of the county in numerous small bodies, which in all form a considerable area. It occupies the rougher topographic position on sharply rolling divides at the heads of streams and the steep slopes and knolls along streams. The surface is uneven and the areas well drained, as its position would indicate. The heavy subsoil enables it to retain moisture fairly well compared with any soil in the county, excepting the Norfolk sand. It is a poor soil, but with the applications of fertilizer it is made to produce average yields of cotton and corn. The surface soil being deep, it gives better results with short-staple than with Sea Island cotton. Being well drained, it is naturally a warm and early soil and would be well adapted to trucking.

"The Tifton sandy loam is found in the rolling section of the county. It is an extensive soil type, though occurring in numerous areas, none of very large extent. It occupies inter-stream areas and divides, which have flat to gently undulating tops and slope gradually toward the stream courses on each side.

Best Soil of County.

"The Tifton sandy loam is considered the best soil in the county and is highly prized. It produces the largest crops of cotton, with minimum applications of fertilizers. It is the only soil that produces Sea Island cotton profitably, an average yield of about one-half bale to the acre being secured. It is not uncommon to obtain one bale or more to the acre in favorable seasons with proper cultivation. Short staple cotton, with an average yield of about one-half bale, also gives yields of one bale or more under the best conditions. Corn does fairly well.
Cowpeas grow luxuriantly, and peanuts also do well. Cowpeas are more certain of fruiting on this soil than on any of the other types.

"The Norfolk sandy loam is the most widely distributed and most extensive soil type in the county. It is found in all parts from the "flatwoods" to the higher rolling uplands. Agriculturally, the Norfolk sandy loam is one, as with its depth of sandy surface it makes too much weed.
Short-staple cotton does better, ordinarily giving yields of about one-half bale to the acre. The type is capable of producing higher yields than this, as much as one bale or more to the acre having been secured with liberal applications of fertilizer and proper cultivation. Corn makes good yields as are secured on any other soil in the county with ordinary fertilization. By special care to matter of preparation and fertilization yields of 100 bushels or more of corn have been secured.

The average yield is about 25 bushels per acre. Sugar cane is grown on the lower slopes along the streams and yields well, the quality of the syrup being good and the color light, especially on the deeper phases of the type.
Oats do well, and the leguminous crops, such as cowpeas and velvet beans, grow luxuriantly. This is also a soil that is well adapted to trucking, but with the exception of producing some watermelons it has not been used for the purpose.
In the "flatwoods" sections, along the railroads, watermelons have been developed to some extent. The average yield is one-half earload to the acre, which gives a fair profit to the grower.
It would be a good soil for the growing of Irish potatoes. Sweet potatoes are now grown for home use.

Land Values Increasing.

A large part of the type has been cleared and is under cultivation.
As a general rule the planters and tenants on this soil type are prospering and the land is increasing in value. The present prices range from $10 to $50 an acre, depending on nearness to towns and railroads.

"The Norfolk sand is one of the most extensive soil types of Bul-loch county. Very little of this type is under cultivation. It is loose and leechy and not readily improved. Only a small area of Norfolk fine sand, another type,
is to be found in Bulloch county.
Some of it occurs in the Brier Patch district.

"Norfolk fine sandy loam is also scattered in Bulloch county, as is the Norfolk coarse sandy loam.
Hoffman coarse sandy loam and Hoffman fine sandy loam are also scattered over only a small area.
"Scranton sand occurs in the Bay district. It is considered a rather poor type of soil, though better yields of corn and oats.
Only a limited area of this type has been cleared and cultivated.
The Portsmouth sand is more or less extensive in the "flatwoods" section of the county. Water loving vegetation thrives in this soil.
Portsmouth fine sand, also only extends over a small area. Portsmouth sandy loam is also found in the "flatwoods" district. In its present condition it is of no agricultural value."

Bulloch Farmers Prospering.

Muck, Kalmia sandy loam, Kalmia sand, Coxville clay loam and swamp are the other types of soil to be found in Bulloch county. None are very extensive.

The report states that the farmers of Bulloch county are prospering under present high prices for farm products and are in a position to make improvements. They are building commodious houses and fencing all the lands, woven wire fences are being built.

"Further improvements will be brought about by adopting cropping systems designed to improve the soils. Rotation in which the leguminous crops will find an important place should be followed.
A greater diversity of crops would insure more certain success, reducing the cotton acreage, growing more of the other staple crops, and gradually introducing a number of trucking crops.

"The live stock on the farms should be replaced by good breeds adapted to the conditions, and should receive better care.
Winter cover crops for pasturing should be afforded them. On the whole the outlook is promising and is still capable of much greater development along agricultural lines."

Mr. Edwards, when he first succeeded in securing the soil survey, secured the names of a large number of farmers and progressive business men of Bulloch county who desired copies of the report when issued. About 1,500 names are on his list. He had but 2,000 copies of the report allotted to him, but has made arrangements

"The reports, complete as they are with map and key," said Mr.
Edwards, "will prove to be of inestimable value. I was born and reared on a farm and I know that the farmers in most cases do not study the wants of the soil and then go about satisfying those wants. They buy large amounts of fertilizer and spread it all over their farms, not taking into consideration the fact that character of the soil varies and that the different soils need different kinds of fertilizer. This report will enable them to tell the exact kind of soil on their farms and the kind of fertilizer to use on them. Better results should be brought about by a better knowledge of the soil.

FARMERS DESIRE FOR 15c. COTTON

Montgomery Convention Delegates Say Staple Is Worth It. IS 12,500,000-BALE CROP.

All Cotton States Will Be asked to Ratify Action.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 13.—Five hundred farmers, and many bankers, congressmen, United States senators and business men representing every cotton growing state in America, declared in convention today that the farmers' cotton is worth 15c. a pound and resolved that the farmer should hold his cotton for that price. The resolution followed a committee report that the crop in America would not exceed 12,500,000 bales.

For financing the crop of this year, a resolution was adopted to the effect that the farmer should deposit his cotton in a warehouse and use his receipt as collateral until he could sell his cotton at not less than 15c. There was also a resolution urging that the several state legislatures provide for a system of bonded warehouses.

Declaring that organization among the farmers and co-operation among them with the bankers and financiers was the solution of the problem, the convention resolved itself into a permanent organization to be known as the Southern Cotton Congress, and adjourned to meet in Atlanta at the call of the president, E. J. Watson, commissioner of agricultural of South Carolina. States Will Act. The meeting in Montgomery is to be followed by a similar convention in every Southern state to be called by the commissioner of agriculture of each state. By these conventions the action of the congress is to be ratified and reinforced by further steps toward securing a better price for cotton.

Among the speakers at the convention today were Senator E. D. Smith of South Carolina, Congressman J. Heflin of Alabama; Congressman Henry D. Clayton of Alabama and Dudley M. Hughes, congressman from the Third district of Georgia. Oscar W. Underwood, majority leader of the house of representatives, chairman of the ways and means committee, sat in the audience.

It was Senator Smith who perhaps made the speech which decided the congress in its naming the price of cotton at 15c. for Congressmen Heflin wanted to make the price 15 or 14 cents with 14 cents as the minimum. Congressman Clayton in his speech declared his belief that in years' time the world would be using 25,000,000 or 30,000,000 bales of American cotton.

Dr. W. E. Hinds, state entomologist, delivered a very instructive address on the destructive work done by the cotton caterpillar.

Only an Average Crop. W. P. G. Harding, president of the First National Bank of Birmingham, Ala., was down on the program of the cotton growers' convention for an address on financing the cotton crop, but he not only touched on this subject but went deeper, discussing every phase of the situation.

Market Crop Gradually. As to financing the present crop Mr. Harding said: "My advice as to the financing of the present crop of cotton is to fix no figure at which you will sell your crop, but to market it gradually. If the price is not satisfactory and you are obliged to pay an urgent debt, sell just enough to meet your needs but hold on to the balance of it, letting it go month by month until the entire crop is sold."

Mr. Harding gave it as his opinion that it would be difficult for banks in the larger cities to aid directly in the holding back of the cotton crop, but declared the merchants and local banks must do their part.

Mr. Harding advised the adoption of co-operative methods, even if they be "trust" methods of producing and marketing the crops.

"I have heard some intimation that the officers of your farmers' organizations may run a risk of prosecution under the Sherman law when they ask you to organize, to limit your production, to diversify your crop, to hold back a portion of your products and to market them in a sane and scientific manner. I do not believe you are violating any law of God or man when you combine in an attempt to secure full value of the products which your soil has yielded as a result of the sweat of your brow and your brawn and muscle. No law can stand that seeks to deprive an honest man of the fruits of his labor which enriches not himself alone, but his state, his section and his country."

Bumper Crop Report Untrue. President C. S. Barrett of the Farmers' Union, in addressing the Southern Cotton Growers' Conference today declared that all reports of a bumper cotton crop are absolutely baseless. He likewise denounced as false any statement to the effect that the Farmers' Union is a combine to hold up civilization, and before he concluded he charged the existence of a conspiracy to hamper down the price of cotton.

After a few introductory remarks Mr. Barrett said in part: "I state unequivocally that reports, government or otherwise, foreshadowing a large cotton crop this year are absolutely unfounded in fact. I can speak with authority for the machinery employed by the Farmers' Union has ascertained that cotton conditions virtually in every state are different. The crop will not come up to expectations in volume. The man who is looking for a bumper crop is deceiving himself or has been deceived. "If I correctly interpret the purpose of this meeting, it is to stand between the farmers of the Southern states and the loss of several million dollars through unwise marketing of cotton. The Farmers' Union has just concluded its annual convention at Shawnee, Okla., and I am confident that there the representatives of more than 2,000,000 farmers formed plans that will bring to naught any conspiracy that may exist to secure for less than its real worth the staple that is still the South's main dependence."

He invited the co-operation of every man in a movement to bring for cotton what it is worth. Estimate of Cotton Crop. Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 13.—Estimate of this year's cotton crop recommended by the committee on statistics and adopted by the Southern Cotton Growers' Convention at the morning session Wednesday is approximately 12,500,000 bales. This estimate was reached on figures presented to the committee by the call of states, each state being represented by its agricultural commissioner or his authorized assistant and by figures submitted by President Barrett of the Farmers' Union. On the call of states the estimate arrived at reached only 11,271,000 bales. The estimate as made by the Farmers' Union at Shawnee, Okla., was 11,747,000 bales, and revised estimate by President Barrett was 12,052,000 bales. An average was made of these three estimates and a percentage added for increased acreage, improved conditions, etc., and a general estimate of 12,500,000 bales made. On the call by states the following figures were submitted: Alabama, 1,100,000 bales; 10 per cent less than last year. Arkansas, 900,000 bales; a slight increase over last year. Florida, 600,000 bales; slight increase. Georgia, 1,800,000 bales; 25 per cent deterioration since July 25 last. Mississippi, 1,200,000 bales; 5 per cent less than last year. North Carolina, 650,000 bales; 650,000 bales; 16 per cent less than last year. Oklahoma, 600,000 bales; 30 per cent off from last year. South Carolina, 1,215,000 bales; condition, 69; 5 per cent less than last year. Tennessee, 350,000 bales; 15 per cent increase over last year. Virginia, estimated crop, 16,000. Texas, estimated, 2,450,000 bales; condition 67, crop 3 to 5 per cent less than last year. California, estimated, 12,000 bales. Louisiana, 300,000 bales. All other states, estimated crop, 4,000 bales.

Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled with Hay Fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience. W. H. Ellis Co.

ETNA'S ERUPTION A REAL DISASTER. The Entire Crest of the Mountain in State of Ebulition.

Catania, Sicily, Sept. 13.—The eruption of Mount Etna assuming the proportions of a real disaster. The lava stream whose path crosses the railway line circling the volcano, is approaching the railway station to the north and especially threatening the depots at Moio and Alcantara, which were abandoned today. Squads of laborers were at work today taking up the railroad tracks and removing all portable material to places of safety.

The entire crest of Mount Etna appears to be in a state of ebullition. An exact count of the number of fissures is impossible because of the smoke which shrouds the whole mountain, but there seems to be more than thirty openings, all belching smoke and lava.

The gravity of the eruption of Mount Etna is indicated by the abandonment of the railroad stations of Moio and Alcantara at the north of the volcano. Alcantara marked the limit of the lava flow in the eruption of 1879. Moio was threatened at that time, but escaped.

The eruption means great suffering for the peasantry. The slopes of Etna with an area of more than four hundred square miles, support a population more dense than that of any portion of Italy. There are sixty-five cities and villages in the entire area and the number of inhabitants which obtain an excellent agricultural living from the fertile lava beds total more than 300,000.

H. C. Rood Ventures Out Too Far and May Lose Arm.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 17.—H. C. Rood, a traveling salesman of Hartford, Conn., was attacked by a 12-foot shark while bathing at Pablo Beach, a resort near here, and as a result had his left arm badly lacerated and will probably lose the member.

Rood, who is an expert swimmer, ventured too far out into the surf and when warnings were shouted at him turned just in time to see the approaching fish. Fortunately the shark could not swim good in the shallow water and just managed to catch the swimmer's arm. Rood started for the shore frantically and managed to escape a second attack.

He was placed in an automobile and rushed to St. Luke's Hospital, this city.

TAFT SAYS CROP BABIES BE NATION'S BUMPER CROP

BE NATION'S BUMPER CROP

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 18.—President Taft again took issue with his predecessor here today in an address at the state fair grounds. Probably for the first time in the administration he brought up the question of "race suicide," the old issue on which Mr. Roosevelt expatiated from time to time. But Mr. Taft did not take the view that Mr. Roosevelt expressed.

The president remarked: "If care is not taken the crop of babies will increase more than any other crop the nation produces."

But Mr. Taft did not mean he is really afraid of a big crop of tots. He made it plain that what he feared was that the farm crops would not keep up with increase in the number of small mouths to feed unless scientific methods of farming are more generally observed.

C. W. PORTER.

JOSEPH M. BROWN IS STILL SILENT

Impression Strong That He Will Be in the Race for Governor.

Atlanta, Sept. 18.—Former Gov. Brown doesn't know himself whether he will run for governor or not and furthermore he admits it. Meantime Col. J. Pope Brown, former state treasurer, and Judge Richard B. Russell are shelling the South Georgia wire-grass section, lining up the prohibition and local option forces.

Ex-Gov. Brown said today: "I have not determined when I will make any definite statement relative to the matter. Neither have I any fixed idea as to what my position will be."

This was the answer he made in reply to the report that he would definitely announce tomorrow what he intended to do. It was evident from his attitude that he was in no hurry to make up his verdict and that it may be a week or ten days before his final declaration comes.

When it was suggested that the injection of the prohibition question has been made an issue of paramount importance Governor Brown admitted that it was fraught with difficulties. He declined, however, to discuss the question, because, he said, it had political significance, and he was determined to say nothing at the present about politics.

"The governor's office is one of importance and dignity," he said, "and I see no occasion for haste as regards the election of Governor Smith's successor. He hasn't resigned yet, though I have heard that he will retire the middle of next November."

"When I retired from the executive office I was happy in the thought that I would have some leisure and relaxation, but I have had a very busy summer. Personal affairs have taken a great part of my time and heavy mail from people all over the state has required much attention. I have received upwards of four hundred letters a week and these must be answered."

It is stated, notwithstanding the governor's reticence, that he is seriously considering entering the race. Indeed, it is reported that his candidacy has reached the point where campaign plans are being considered.

HE WILL AND HE WON'T.

For the past few months the reading public have heard a great deal about the threat to "Little Joe" Brown into the race for governor, but each time they set a date they call for more time.

The truth of the matter is those who have been boosting Governor Brown have never been sure of their ground. As long as they could keep the fires burning under the old Smith and Brown factions there was a chance for "Little Joe," but they are beginning to realize that with Governor Smith eliminated it has had the effect of eliminating Governor Brown. Lots of folks would vote for Joe Brown simply because they wanted to record their vote against Hoke Smith. In fact "Little Joe" has been a negative proposition all the while. But now we have other men and other issues to meet. The prohibition question overshadows everything else in this campaign and the effort to shelve it will not work.
Unless this question can be sheled, it has the effect of shoving everything else except the two men who are leading the fight on the opposite sides of this question.

Judge Russell is ably defending the ideal option side of the question and Pope Brown is just as ably and acceptably looking after the prohibition side of it.
and of course there is no room for a man who heretofore has had no convictions either pro or con on the question.

The local option people will make the effort of their lives to repeat the present state-wide law and in this they are not inclined to take up time with a man who has no record on their side and who is not able to go out and cope with his opponent on the stump. They have a man who measures up to what they want, and they certainly don't want another one to butt in and divide their forces. They have one candidate and that is all they want. So there is no room for Mr.
Brown on that side. Suppose he were to decide to take the proposition side of the question? He would meet with something like this: The prohibitionists would look upon him as a joke. He has never been with them and has no record behind himself on which to stand. They already have an excellent candidate, one who has been a consistent prohibitionist all his life, and one who can defend his principles with ability on the stump or through the press.
The prohibitionists don't want to be divided, they are fixed with a candidate and don't want any more.

Then where is the demand for "Little Joe?"

Of course he could get the vote of all those who were on neither side of the question, but the strid-ding vote is not an inviting one and in our opinion Gov. Brown's real friends will advise him to stay out this time.

GRAND JURY YOUR REMEDY.

The News has received another complaint from a citizen on the slot machine for publication, which we decline to publish, for the reason that enough has been said.

These machines are being run clearly in open violation of the law, the man conducting them is just as guilty as he would be if he were dispensing whiskey over the counter in Statesboro, or conducting a keeo room. It is against the law and the place to go with this case is before the grand jury which will meet in a short time. There is no need to howl and squeal through the newspapers. If you have got back bone and mean business get your witnesses and make a bee line for the grand jury room as soon as that body is organized for business and they will do the balance.
It is safe to say the machine will close down without the shedding of tears from fathers who can't keep their boys away from it.

If the grand jury don't indict them it will be because you fool around and don't put any responsible witnesses before them. But if you do there will come a batch of indictments as sure as you do it.

The Savannah police pulled one just like this one this week; the one pulled in Savannah was what is called a cigar slot machine;
this and the soda water slot machine are all on the same order.
There is no question about the law on the case, and there is no question about what the grand jury will do, but there is a question as to whether these fellows will have the back bone to appear before the grand jury with intelligent, responsible witnesses, or not. If they do not, then there is no question about what they say in these columns. Our space is not to let to a stringless backbone set who take their troubles out in print and take it out in complaining and whining, when they have a sufficient remedy for these evils at hand.

Let's see now what is going to happen.

DIFFERENCE HAS BEEN SETTLED.

It will be of interest to the public to know that the difference existing between the sons of Mr.
John T. Brannen and Messrs.
Fields and Chance for the past few days has been satisfactorily adjusted. The real estate dealers went out and secured an option on the lands of Mr. Brannen and began to advertise it for sale, a page advertisement appearing in our last issue. Some objections to its sale was raised by members of the family, and for a time it looked like the matter was going into the courts, but we are pleased to state that the trouble has all been adjusted and the property goes on sale.

By reference to a page ad. in this issue you will see what is offered, which includes some of the best property in the county.

Superintendent D. N. Baco, of the Savannah & Statesboro Railway, is going to make an experiment in the strawberry business.
He has just received a large shipment of plants and will grow them for the market.

Mr. D. J. Brinson, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of the county, living near Brooklet, is advertising his farm for sale in this issue. Mr. Brinson is thinking of moving to Grady county where he will join his brother and spend the balance of his days there.

Messrs. F. D. and M. D. Oiliff and P. C. Waters have purchased from the Shearwood Lumber Company the Mikell place in the lower part of the county, containing several hundred acres of the best land in that section.
The price paid was twenty thousand dollars. The new owners will cut it up and sell it out in small tracts.

EARTHQUAKE SHAKES WORLD

Shocks Recorded Here. Scientists Believe 'Quake Occurred in Sicily.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—
A heavy earthquake was recorded on the seismographs by the George town University observatory here during the night. The shocks lasted an hour. Father Torndorf, director of the observatory, said today the center of the disturbance apparently was about 4,500 miles from Washington and he believed it was connected with the eruption of Mt.
Etna, on the island of Sicily, in the Mediterranean.

The seismograph records which which were observed early today showed the earth tremors began at 10:59 o'clock last night. The heaviest shock came at 11:06 p.
m. This greatest movement was followed shortly afterwards by two shocks of lesser intensity.
The shocks continued, growing more feeble until they died away about midnight.

The latest eruption of Mount Etna has been in progress for a week. The flowing of lava from its crater has been accompanied by numerous earth shocks.

New York, Sept. 17.—An earthquake of serious proportions was recorded early today on the seismograph at Brooklyn College.
The quake began at 11:06 Saturday night and continued until 12:33 a. m., reaching its maximum at 11:09. Prof. F. J. Gloyer of the college, estimated it to be at a distance of 6,000 miles though in what portion of the globe he could not say.

boro looks mighty good to him however.

The Savannah and Statesboro afternoon train leaves here now at 3 o'clock, instead of 3:45 as heretofore.

Dr. John I. Lane, mayor of boro today.

Messrs. E. Daughtry and A. J.

day for a short while.

Mr. J. H. Gross, of The News,

LESS LIQUOR. BETTER BRAND

Under Local Option Law. Judge Russell Discusses Issues at Hinesville.

Hinesville, Sept. 18.—Interrupted on several occasions by Jos. Parker, Esq., Liberty county's representative in the legislature, and W. B. Stubbs, Esq., of Savannah, Judge Richard B. Russell, candidate for governor, held his ground here today and impressed his large audience with his frankness in discussing the prohibition question.

Judge Russell spoke during the noon recess of court and was heard by a large and enthusiastic crowd. He spoke of his Liberty county family connections and of love for the historic old county. He made it plain that it is not his purpose to dodge an issue in the present campaign and that he is ready to declare himself on any question that arises and stand by that declaration. There will be no equivocation or side stepping so far as he is concerned, Judge Russell assured the people of Liberty county.

That he is preaching the highest morality of any candidate, was the declaration of Judge Russell. He believes in local option, he said, because it is the fundamental principle of Democracy. He believes in the people governing themselves, and called attention to the fact that the present prohibition law is violated openly in every community that is opposed to it. He thinks that the people in each community should say whether they want prohibition. If this were done, he said, there would be a more healthy respect for the law.

Several times Representative Parker and Mr. Stubbs interrogated Judge Russell on his ideas of local option law. Judge Russell said that the same legislature that passed the prohibition law, passed the locker club law and near beer law. He said that Georgia hasn't a prohibition law as it stands now. He said that under local option there would be less liquor in the state, but it would be better liquor. He reiterated that a local option law is the only Democratic law and that the people of the state have a right to vote on the question.

Judge Russell spoke on the importance of good roads and went over the ground that he covered in his Lyons address. He touched on free school books; more and better education for the boys and girls of Georgia; the pensioning of all Confederate soldiers and the extension of the state road to the sea. Judge Russell was introduced by A. S. Way, Esq. The judge, who is a member of the Midway Society, was enthusiastically received. He left this afternoon for Pembroke where he will speak tomorrow.

Judge Russell arrived in Savannah late last night from Hinesville and registered at the Pulaski House. He was very much gratified with the enthusiastic reception that was given him in Liberty county and was assured by his friends there that he will carry the county. A "Plain Dick Russell Club" has been organized and his campaign will be well looked after in Liberty.

A traveling man who attended the meeting at Hinesville and who returned on the same train with Judge Russell, said the meeting was doubly interesting because of the interruptions by Mr. Stubbs and Mr. Parker. He said that when Judge Russell said that the legislature that passed the prohibition law also passed the near beer law and the locker club law Mr. Stubbs declared that he questioned the facts of the statement.

MEYER ADMITS ROBBING KENNEDY

Marcus Brown, Jr., the Pawnbroker, Was Dismissed.

(Savannah Morning News.) The ir statements admitting they had stolen the Kennedy of Collins, Ga., was the cause of Kyah Meyer and Rosa Burroughs being bound over to the city court by Recorder Schwarz yesterday by larceny after trust charged with cheating and swindling. The case against Marcus Brown, Jr., the pawnbroker, was dismissed, as there was no evidence against him. Mr. Brown was arrested by the police say, on the statement of Meyer, who told the police he had carried the coat secured from the pawn shop back to Mr. Brown and was given $1 as his part of the money received from Kennedy in payment for the garment. In police court Meyer denied having any transaction with the pawnbroker. This was the only evidence against Mr. Brown, and the case was dismissed.

Kennedy came to Savannah Friday looking for negroes to go back to Collins to pick cotton. He met Meyer and Rosa Woodruff. They promised to go, if he would get some clothes out of pawn for them. Kennedy did so, and then went to the Union Station accompanied by the negroes. He gave Meyer his coat, pistol and whiskey to hold, and went into one of the waiting rooms. Meyer and the woman slipped out while he was gone. When arrested Meyer had the property in his possession.

Accused of Stealing.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs, cuts, cures, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Only 25c at W. H. Ellis Co.

PHILLIPS & CREW CO. ARE COMING.

The announcement that the Phillips & Crew Co., of Savannah and Atlanta, is to conduct another of its week piano sales in Statesboro, will be received with much pleasure by the residents of Statesboro and vicinity. Those who attended the sale conducted by this company last May found much to attract them, and it is safe to say the sale this time will meet with as much success as it did last spring.

During their sale here last spring the Phillips & Crew representatives made a splendid impression upon the residents of Statesboro by their gentlemanly conduct, and general cleanliness in their business dealings. The company had been noted for years in Statesboro for its clean business policies, but the week sale conducted here served to enhance the good opinion which had been formed.

As usual the sale will be conducted by Manager John S. Banks, of the Savannah Branch of the company, ably assisted by Mr. W. W. Williams, Statesboro representative of the company. There will also come from Savannah one or two other good salesmen who will assist in the present enterprise. Yet residents of Statesboro need have no fear of any member of the staff of this company, as the Phillips & Crew Company always selects its representatives for their gentlemanly bearing, and from among young men who are noted for their clean habits, as well as uprightness. All of the representatives of the company move in the best circles in their home cities.

It is useless to mention the fact that the Phillips & Crew Co. is the oldest music house in Georgia and during its nearly fifty years of existence has always held the reputation for honest business dealings in every particular. Those who have dealt with the company will say it is a pleasure to deal with such people.

The company will have its usual large display of pianos in the Bank of Statesboro New Building. There will be such well known standard makes of pianos as Knabe, Fischer, Hardman, Phillips & Crew Co., and many others which this company is sole representative in this state for. The pianos will range in price from $300 up and there will be instruments to suit the tastes of everyone.

This sales is to be conducted so the residents of Statesboro will have an opportunity of seeing and hearing pianos before selecting one. This custom of taking the pianos to the homes of the public so they can hear them for themselves is an excellent one. Those who are considering the purchase of a piano will do more than well to wait until they get a chance to select from the stock to be displayed here.

The company will again endeavor to entertain the local public with daily concerts during the week here, and much interest should center around these concerts.

LAW IS POPULAR SAYS WARDEN

Report That He Finds Difficulty in Securing Warden Is Pronounced Untrue.

(Atlanta Georgian.)

J. E. Mercer, state game and fish commissioner, has written the following letter to the Georgian:

In the Columbus Enquirer-Sun this week, the Savannah News and probably other papers in the state, appeared an article dated Atlanta, stating that there was a lack of the interest in the game law and that the commissioner was experiencing difficulty in securing warden on account of alleged apathy on the part of sportsmen and friends of the law in the counties of the state. The report has no foundation in truth; indeed, quite the reverse is true.

A large number of applications are pouring in by every mail and the greatest difficulty in this department is the matter of selecting between the applicants or candidates for warden in many of the counties.

The law promises to become one of the most popular on the statute books, and as soon as the necessary printing can be finished warden will be appointed in every county of the state.

Until warden are appointed clerks of the superior court will be supplied with license blanks and a supply of printed law, and other necessary instruction.

SPAIN IS SHAKEN BY GREAT STRIKE.

Alleged That Revolutionists Are Behind Labor Troubles. Martial Law Has Been Proclaimed in Some Cities. Probable That Constitutional Guarantees Be Suspended Throughout Kingdom.

Madrid, September 18.—A general strike which has behind it revolutionary support has broken out at Valencia, a maritime city of Spain, 190 miles southeast of Madrid.

Martial law has been proclaimed. Streets are occupied by the troops.

The telegraph wires out of Valencia have been cut. Just before communication with the city was broken off it was reported serious disturbances had occurred.

The population of Valencia is about 220,000.

The government is considering a suspension of constitutional guarantees throughout Spain in case the situation resulting from the many workmen's strikes becomes more serious.

Strikes are general at Bilbao and Sargossa and partially successful at Cadiz, Huelva, Valencia, Seville and Gijon. It is expected that the workmen will go out at Barcelona, Coruna and Ferrol, and that the movement will become genuine in these cities. A general suspension of work at Valencia and Gijon will be accomplished by the leaders soon, it is believed.

The ministry of the interior states that the Barcelona police have discovered a revolutionary plot directed by Spanish and foreign anarchists and a certain political group, whose methods provide for general strikes and violence against property.

BROWN LIKED THE SPRINGFIELD MEETING.

Says It Was the Best He Has Had During His Campaign.

Atlanta, Sept. 19.—Col. J. Pope Brown, prohibition candidate for governor, was a the capital this morning to confer with friends about business matters and politics. He had just returned from Effingham county and was enthusiastic over the reception given him at Springfield yesterday. He says it was the best meeting he has had since he opened his campaign.

"I was asked what my position would be with reference to the large cities where the prohibition law is being flagrantly violated," said Colonel Brown. "I told them I would consult with the attorney general, ascertain my powers in the premises as regards this question and assert those powers to the extent of my ability."

Colonel Brown says his answer was pleasing to the audience.

JUDGE SHACKLEFORD TAKES COMMISSION.

City Court of Athens. Says He May Institute Ouster Proceedings for Job.

Atlanta, Sept. 18.—Thomas J. Shackelford, whose appointment as judge of the city court of Athens, the Senate failed to confirm, came here today, secured his commission and took the oath before Gov. Hoke Smith.

He was informed today that Judge H. S. West, who refused to relinquish the court to him, because of the Senate's failure to confirm, has instituted injunction proceedings before Judge C. H. Brand in the Superior Court, to prevent him, Shackelford, from going on the bench.

The case is set for hearing Saturday. Shackelford says he may himself institute quo warranto proceedings to oust Judge West. He declares there is no record of Judge West's appointment by Gov. Brown ever having been confirmed by the Senate.

BIG CIRCUS COMING.

Wednesday, October the 18th, the famous, world-renowned circus of Sells Brothers and Forepaugh will exhibit in Statesboro. This was announced yesterday, when it became known that the mammoth circus had contracted with the Central of Georgia Ry. to pull in sixty-five car loads of exhibits in and out of Statesboro on the 18th.

Sells Brothers and Forepaugh's is perhaps the largest circus on the road today. It will be really the first big circus that ever exhibited in Statesboro, while it is true that Robinson's was here about five years ago, yet it is not half as large as the one announced for this place on the 18th of October.

WILL PAY TEACHERS THIS WEEK.

Gov. Smith Makes Arrangements to Borrow $200,000.

Atlanta, Sept. 18.—Gov. Smith stated today he had perfected arrangements for borrowing from six Georgia banks $200,000 which will be available on Sept. 20 for the purpose of paying the school teachers of the state.

The payments will be made this week. By inquiry in New York city Gov. Smith found that Georgia could also get the money there if necessary, at the same rate of interest which will be paid to the Georgia banks, 2 per cent.

When the new constitutional amendment increasing the governor's borrowing power to $500,000, goes into effect it may become necessary at times to go away from home for some of the money.

MAY FIGURE ON SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

Mr. Arthur Pew, of Atlanta, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon for the purpose of going before the city council on a proposition to put in a sewerage system for the city. He was informed that the reason the matter was dropped, it was found that the present city charter did not authorize a sufficient bond issue to meet the requirements of the sewerage expense. The present charter only allows about $30,000 additional to what we already have. Mr. Pew states that he has just completed a contract for the city of Eastman at an expense of two thousand dollars per mile, and that nine and a half miles were laid. He thinks this would be sufficient for Statesboro, and the entire plant cost the city $19,000. Of course this sheds a new light on the question and the city council may take the matter up again. If a system can be put in at Eastman for $19,000 it is interesting to Statesboro.

Mr. Pew was the head engineer for the old Savannah, Dublin and Western railway, which was graded through this county twenty-five years ago. He remembers a large number of the older residents who lived in the southern edge of the county at that time, many of whom have passed away. He says he remembers having ridden through Statesboro horseback en route to Ogechee to take the train at that time, the town was then a little borough of a few smoky shanties. Today he finds a progressive city with electric lights, water works, and a business district the equal of any town of five thousand people in the South. The matter may take on renewed interest as a result of Mr. Pew's visit.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD "BEATS" HIS WAY IN ORDER TO JOIN HIS "DADDY."

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 20.—Badly burned by cinders and almost exhausted, seven-year-old Albert Kettler was taken from the "blind baggage" of a passenger train here yesterday, after "tramping" all the way from Seattle. He came in on a fast train from which he once had been thrown off but which he boarded again as the train pulled out of the station. The child left his mother in St. Louis to come out here to his father from whom he was separated when his parents were divorced and custody of the children was given the mother. After the child was revived somewhat at the station he demanded that he be taken to his father. He declared he had come to stay and it is evident efforts to keep him away from his father must be extraordinary.

Drastic Measures to Stop Spread of the Revolution. Arrest of Workmen's Committees and Political Agitators Ordered. In Some Cities Riots Fired Public Buildings.

Madrid, Sept. 20.—The government has ordered the arrest of workmen's committees and political agitators in the disturbed districts. Three hundred persons were imprisoned here last night. The general strike in this city called for today was prevented by the action of the authorities. The railways were running as usual.

Thirty thousand men in the building trades received an order this afternoon to strike and it is believed that they may go out. Troops are stationed at the principal points of the city. Arrests were made during the night in several provincial cities. At Barcelona 158 persons were apprehended and many were taken into custody at Bilbao, Seville, Valencia and Sargossa. There have been disorders in small industrial centers. At Jativa and Carcagete rioters set fire to the public buildings and tore up the railway tracks.

HOKE IS MAKING 'EM COME ACROSS.

Now that Governor Smith has announced the lessees of the State Road to appear before him next week to show upon what authority they have violated their contract with the state on the lease of the Western & Atlantic railway, there is a stillness that pervades the camps of the opposition newspapers equally as noticeable as was the house-top acclama-tions when the governor sent the case back to the Railroad Commission about two weeks ago and asked for more detailed information upon which to act. At that time he was likened unto ex-Governor Brown, whom it was said did likewise. The editorial in this paper deprecating the fact that this case could not be pushed to an immediate conclusion was seized upon by the Macon Telegraph and other anti-Smith papers and paraded as having condemned the governor for having denied the governor for having acted, which was not true, however.

Now that Governor Smith is straight on the trail of this crowd the folks are expecting something to happen. The action of Governor Smith in sending the case back to the Railroad Commission cannot be compared with that of Gov. Brown in the least.
In the case of Governor Smith, he sent it back immediately and asked for an early reply with further data on which to proceed.
In the case of Governor Brown the case was pigeon-holed for at least a year, until just before he went out of office, and was then sent back to the commission. In the case of Smith it shows that his acts tend to show that, his sympathies are with the people, and in the case of Brown it looks like he was running with the railroads. That's the difference.
But we will wait and see what is going to be done about it.

BULLOCH SHOULD HAVE MODEL FARM.

Why is it that Bulloch county doesn't make an effort to secure the location of one of the Central of Georgia Model Farms, fifteen of which are to be located on their lines?

Bulloch county lies broadside of not only the main line from Savannah to Atlanta, but the Dover-Dublin branch splits the county wide open, traversing about thirty-five miles of her territory. Laurens county, located at the very uppermost end of the Central's branch line, has secured one of the farms, and while Bul-loch county, contributing more to this system than any other rural county perhaps in the state, seems to be making no effort
whatever to get one of the farms.
The Central of Georgia is going to spend thousands of dollars annually developing agriculture along its line.

There is no county in the state that can produce a larger variety of farm products than Bulloch.
We are inclined to think that the authorities of the road would look with favor on the establishment of one of their farms in this county, and would probably do so if the proper effort was made to secure one.

Why don't some progressive Bulloch county farmer, who has a good farm, take it up with the Industrial Department of the Central Railroad?

Parties who bought fertilizer of the undersigned, will find their notes at Sorrier & Brannen's office.

STATESBORO NEWS WILL HAVE NEW OWNERS.

Yesterday afternoon at a meeting of stockholders, whose purpose is to reorganize the States-boro News, was held, and a proposition from the present owners looking to the sale of the plant, was accepted.

This deal has been on for several weeks, and came to a close yesterday afternoon. All parties who held stock in the old company will hold a small amount in the new company, but there will be no large blocks of stock held by any one man or syndicate. The stock in the re-organized company will be widely distributed, there being more than fifty stockholders when the company is fully organized and placed on its feet.

The additional stockholders are made up of the solid, progressive men of the town and county, every town almost in the county contributing its share of stock.
Among the towns represented in the new company are Statesboro, Sifton, Metter, Brooklet, Register and other sections of the county. In addition to this there are several stockholders living outside of the county. The object of the reorganization is to give to the people of the county a paper equipped in every respect to meet the demands of a wide-awake, progressive community.
Some new improvements will be added and the new business will start out without a single dollar indebtedness. It will be run on a cash basis and such methods will be adopted that will insure to the people of the county a first class news service. A meeting of stockholders is called for Tuesday afternoon in the court house for the purpose of electing officers, at which time, of course, an editor and business manager will be selected. Mr. J. R. Miller has been running the paper temporarily for the past few weeks, pending the consummation of the present deal. During all this time there has been no name carried at the mast head as editor, but it was generally known, of course, who was running the paper. A notice of meeting of stockholders appears in this issue.

Stockholders Meeting.
All stockholders in the States-boro News will meet in the court house on Tuesday afternoon next, Sept. 26th at four p. m., for the

This September 22nd.

ternoon at four o'clock, Sept. 26, zation and election of officers of

A large crowd is expected in town today to visit the show. We trust everybody will come who wants to come, but that they will all tell the truth about it. P. S.—

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 20.—Offi-

& St. Louis Railroad, were notified today by Gov. Hoke Smith to appear before him on Sept. 29, and answer to accusations that they have been violating their lease of the Western & Atlantic Railroad in the matter of freight charges from Georgia points to Chattanooga. It is said that the road is charging higher rates than are legal. The Western & Atlantic is owned by the state of Georgia and is operated under contract by the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis. Its lease stipulates that through rates shall not exceed local rates provided by the Georgia railroad commission. The case was brought a year ago at the instance of the Atlanta freight bureau, and other shippers and was recently taken up by the railroad commission.

A liberal membership of 53

MATTER OF RAISING MONEY FOR CAMPAIGN

Gov. J. M. Brown May Not Run for Governor After All. The Question of Financing His Campaign.

Atlanta, Sept. 19.—If he can discover some means of raising the funds necessary to finance his gubernatorial campaign, ex-Gov. Joe Brown will enter the race for the governorship of Georgia. If not, nothing doing for "Little Joe."

This is about the way that the candidacy of the former governor looks at present. If one may believe the straight-out statement of Gov. Brown, he does not know himself whether he will make the race or not. And yet it is whispered among the political wise say that the liquor issue cannot be dodged in the coming gubernatorial race.

As matters rest today, ex-Gov. Joe Brown is thought to be losing strength by his dilatory methods. As a matter of fact, however, the report that his announcement is delayed for financial reasons is given the greatest credence in the state capital.

It was stated on the best authority a few days ago that Gov. Brown would enter the race some time this week, and that he would at the time of his announcement name his campaign manager and

SHOOTS BRIDE; THEN HIMSELF

Cordele Barber, J. T. Hudson, son, Probably Mortally Wounded Beautiful Daughter of ex-Sheriff Lyons of Jessup—There Were No Witnesses.

Cordele, Sept. 17.—J. T. Hudson, a barber here, this afternoon shot and probably fatally wounded his bride of seven months, and then turned the pistol on himself in an attempt to take his own life. The bullet penetrated his breast. He is expected to live.

Mrs. Hudson, who is 20 years old, ranks as one of the most beautiful young women in South Georgia. She is the daughter of ex-Sheriff W. B. Lyons of Wayne county, and a sister to Archie Lyons, who were charged with the murder of M. Fleming Smith at Jessup in December, 1908. She figured prominently in eliciting aid for the defense of her father and brother while they were in jail in Savannah, Brunswick and Cordele.

Cause for Tragedy.
Soon after the long trial in Cordele during the latter part of January at the conclusion of which her father and brother were released by the verdict of the jury in their case, Miss Addie and Hudson were married, she being his second wife.

A few months later W. B. and Archie Lyons, together with their family, moved away from Cordele and it is thought probable their persistent efforts to induce Mrs. Hudson to follow them was a contributory cause to the homicide.

Hudson was reared near Cordele, where he has many relatives.

The shooting was not witnessed by anyone else. It is not yet known whether the shooting followed a quarrel as Mrs. Hudson has not recovered sufficiently to be able to make a statement, and Hudson himself, who is seriously wounded, has made no statement about his case.

The barber used a .38-calibre pistol, shooting his young wife through the left breast. Turning the weapon upon himself he immediately fired at his own heart, but the bullet went a few inches wide of the mark. It made an ugly gaping wound, but the doctors say he will probably recover.

open his headquarters in this city. "Of so," says Joe Brown.

"I have not determined when I will make any definite statement about the matter," said the former governor today. "Neither have I any fixed idea as to what my position will be." It is the impression here that Joe Brown has fully made up his mind as to entering the race, and that it is only a question of declaring his platform that is delaying him. As Judge Russell has already declared for local option, which Mr. Brown is also said to be in favor of, it is thought that the ex-governor will remain "on the fence" until compelled to declare himself in the issue.

Weakened by Delay.
With such a strong candidate as Col. J. Pope Brown heading the prohibition ticket, the politically wise say that the liquor issue cannot be dodged in the coming gubernatorial race.

As matters rest today, ex-Gov. Joe Brown is thought to be losing strength by his dilatory methods. As a matter of fact, however, the report that his announcement is delayed for financial reasons is given the greatest credence in the state capital.

SAYS HUSBAND DIDN'T INTEND TO KILL HER.

Shooting Was Accident. Mrs. Abbie Hudson Completely Exonerates Barber.

Cordele, Ga., Sept. 18.—Mrs. Abbie Hudson, who on yesterday afternoon was shot by her husband, J. T. Hudson, a barber, the bullet entering her left breast and finding lodgement there is suffering intensely, though the wound is not regarded at present as a fatal one.

The husband, who was also shot through the left shoulder at the same time, the bullet plunging its way through the fleshy part of the arm, is improving and was able to be on the streets today.

Hudson, in a statement made to F. M. Lawrence, a fellow barber and a close friend, claims that the shooting was accidental; that he and his wife were sitting on the bed-side; that he was showing his wife how he had wardened of a slight difficulty with some one in the early part of the day, when suddenly the pistol was discharged, resulting in Hudson being shot in the shoulder, the bullet then entering the right breast of Mrs. Hudson.

Hudson also claims that only one shot was fired. According to Mr. Lawrence, at a late hour at night, Mrs. Hudson a statement to him and a brother of J. T. Hudson, that the shooting was accidental, and completely exonerated the husband of any murderous intent either upon her or his own life.

A case was made against Hudson by the city charging him with disorderly conduct and discharging firearms in the city limits. He was arrested, but gave bond in the sum of $250, and was released.

His case was called today but was continued until Sept. 25, at which time developments may shed more light on the affair. There are many conflicting rumors in the city over the affair which has excited much interest among the citizenship.

MAN AND WOMAN ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY
Money Found on Woman. Victim From Country and Well Supplied With Cash.

(Savannah News.)
Charged with robbing Joseph C. Graham, of Adrian, Ga., of $109, Mamie Moore and A. C. Futrell, an employee of the Central of Georgia Railway were arrested late last night by Detectives Umbach and Rivers.

According to the police Graham came to Savannah on a train on which Futrell was working. He told Futrell he intended to get drunk, it is said. Accompanied by the railroad man got some whiskey, and in a hack went to the house where Futrell was staying with Mamie Moore, as man and wife.

The party went to a house on the east side. Graham and the woman went in, while Futrell waited on the outside. The inmates of the house became suspicious and sent for Detective Umbach. The detective went in to the corridor, and in a few moments Mamie Moore came to the head of the steps and called Futrell, who went to her. They were arrested.

The woman was searched and $14.86 and Graham's pistol were found in her hand bag, and $109 in bills was found on her person. Graham had $257.28 when searched at the police station. He had been drinking and was locked up as a witness.

Mamie Moore is charged with robbing Graham of the money, and Futrell is charged with assisting her in the robbery. They will be given a hearing by Recorder Schwarz.

Every foot of this tract is as fine pebble land as there is in Bulloch County. Fifty acres cleared and under high state of cultivation; almost no trouble to clear balance.

Good small house. Here's your chance to get one hundred acres of the finest Bulloch county land without a foot of waste land on it.

Tract No. 5 (Home Tract) 150 acres on both sides of public road; 140 acres of the very finest pebble land with nearly 100 acres under cultivation. Balance can be cleared with but little trouble. Nice large dwelling with an abundance of barns, sheds, buggy and wagon houses, and other outbuildings. Also one good tenant house with barn and outbuilding. Plenty of timber for plantation purposes and some good saw mill timber.

There is no farm land in Bulloch County that is better than this property, and but very little that is as good. It is simply the very best.

See us at once, as we expect to close the entire proposition out at the earliest possible date. Prices much less than other lands of similar quality can be bought for.

TERMS: One-third Cash; balance one, two and three years, with interest from January 1st, 1912, at 8 Per Cent.

GOV. BROWN A CANDIDATE; MAKES THREE-CORNERED FIGHT

"Little Joe" Responds to the "Calls of Thousands" and Comes Out for Place Smith Will Vacate. Opposes Pope Brown and Dick Russell.

MAKES ONLY BARE ANNOUNCEMENT NOW.

Formal Statement Later. Expect He Will Take Conservative Prohibition Stand.

Atlanta, Sept. 23.—Former Gov. Jos. M. Brown today issued his announcement for governor, following a conference with his friends held here.

Gov. Brown's announcement is brief, merely stating the fact that he has decided to get into the race, on account of the insistence of many friends, in addition to many who were formerly opposed to him.

Gov. Brown has decided to make no extended statement at this time and it may be two or sign, I now feel it my duty to respond to the calls of thousands of my friends, and of many of our other fellow citizens in every part of the state, who have formally opposed me, and hereby announce that I have determined to be a candidate in the pending Democratic primary for Governor of Georgia.

Terrell vs. Smith.

Gov. Brown's announcement was not given out until late this afternoon but the rumor got out that it was coming, and in forecasting it the Journal stated that an interesting feature of the meeting of Gov. Brown's friends was that former Senator Jos. M. Terrell should offer for the senate in opposition to Hoke Smith, in the event of Gov. Brown's election.

It is also stated that Dr. L. G. Hardman of Commerce, one of the authors of the state prohibition law, is still a probability in the race, and that if he enters he will that direction in whatever he has to say on this subject.

What he will do to counterbalance the absence of the strong Hoke Smith sentiment, the presence of which has heretofore been the source of his greatest strength, remains to be developed.

A strange and somewhat mysterious feature of the situation is the fact that some of Governor Brown's former strong political friends have recently been indulging in the "gentle art of knocking." They have been "saying things" not calculated to help much in a political campaign, assuming this attitude because they have are not as close to the ex-governor as they used to be, or whether they are not in his confidence because they have been assuming this attitude, is a question nobody seems prepared to answer.

Anent the "Knockers."

It is also strange that these unpleasant and perhaps ungenerous remarks are always accompanied by the statement, "Still, I am for Joe Brown and will support him if he runs."

Mr. Brown's real friends consider that those who are circulating remarks of this kind, have turned against him for a purpose; there is a reason, it is charged, why they did not want him to enter the race. Some of them, it is alleged, had an eye on other candidates; or there may be other reasons.

The former governor, it is stated, has decided to enter the race only after very careful consideration. He and his friends have gone over the situation as it appears in every section of the state. Every county has been considered, and conferences have been held with men from nearly every one of them.

Fight of His Life.

From these conferences the former governor and his friends have concluded that he can win and he is going into it for the fight of his life. They realize that he might have had easier sailing if he had gotten into the fight earlier, when the agitation against Hoke Smith for failing to hustle off to the United States senate was at its height. But Mr. Brown was opposed to a long campaign. He did not believe the people of the state wanted it, and he thought things would be more favorable for him if he held back at that time, and waited until it was definitely known when Governor Smith would leave the executive office. The soundness of that political opinion may now be put to test.

Joe Brown's announcement means that several others who have been hanging on the edge, looking for an opportunity to get into the race, may now keep out of it. Others may stay out.

Among these are Murphy Candler, railroad commissioner, who recently stated that he would not make the race with Joe Brown in it, but that he might run if Joe Brown did not; Dr. L. G. Hardman of Commerce, former legislator and one of the authors of the state prohibition bill, who was all ready to lift his banner to the breeze, and was merely waiting for something positive and emphatic from the ex-governor, and finally, President John M. Slaton of the state senate, who will be governor ad interim when Governor Smith resigns, and who said he would give $1000 to Joe Brown's campaign, but that if Joe Brown did not run, he would run himself.

Judge Russell in Lead.

Up to date Judge R. B. Russell

appears to have had the best of the running. As between himself and Pope Brown, he has stirred up considerably more enthusiasm wherever he has been, and had it been left to the two of them there would probably have been little question as to the outcome.

Judge Russell spoke to an enthusiastic crowd of his followers in Atlanta last night, following Judge Spencer R. Atkinson, his campaign manager. His friends are now predicting that he will carry Fulton county regardless of the entrance of Joe Brown into the race. An enrollment of 2,500 Russell voters in Fulton county is claimed at his headquarters. This is about one-sixth of the county's voting strength with a full registration.

INFANT'S DEATH.

The infant of Dr. and Mrs. James Brannen of Savannah, died at the home of Judge and Mrs. H. B. Strange on South Main street, this morning. Mrs. Brannen had been visiting Mrs. Strange, her sister, for several weeks. The interment was here yesterday afternoon in Eastside Cemetery.

DEATH OF MISS ROBINSON.

On Sunday afternoon the angel of death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Robinson, living out on the Ogeechee river side, and bore away their 22-year-old daughter, Miss Laura. The deceased was a victim of typhoid fever, and had been ill for the past two or three weeks. Her condition was thought to be as favorable as could be hoped for until a short time before her death when a severe hemorrhage set in, resulting in her death. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of all their friends in the loss of their daughter.

Notice.

Those indebted to my father, Dr. M. M. Holland, will please come and settle same.

AS HE SEES THE SITUATION

Never in Better Shape to Hold Cotton for Good Price.

SOUTH HAS AWAKENED.

President Farmers' Union Calls on Business Men of All Kinds to Line Up With Cotton Grower to Get a Legitimate Price for the Fleecy Staple.

Union Point, Sept. 19.—President C. S. Barrett, of the Farmers' Union, who has just returned from the national convention of that organization at Shawnee, Okla., and from the cotton growers' congress at Montgomery, has issued a statement in which he states the impregnable position of the Southern farmers, and urges them to stand shoulder to shoulder to win the fight for fair prices during the opening season. Mr. Barrett also brands as absolutely without foundation the reports of a bumper crop, and declares the world will pay a legitimate figure for the staple if farmers, in cooperation with business men of the South will conduct the proper sort of campaign. His statement follows:

The South Awakened.
To the Cotton Growers of the Southern States:

The recent convention of the Southern cotton growers at Montgomery, Ala., has satisfied me that the South, as a unit, has at last wakened to the need of co-operating and of making a vigorous fight for insuring a fair price for its main staple, cotton. I do not remember to have attended a more enthusiastic gathering, a more representative one, or one more patronized by prominent, hard-headed business men. Commissioners of agriculture of the Southern states, and men in close touch with every class of farmer, were present. The inconspicuous of opinion was that cotton should be held for 15 cents. This was in line with the verdict of the national convention of the Farmers' Union at Shawnee, which decided that cotton should not be sold at prices prevailing, and should be held and financed for a higher figure. At Shawnee, more than a thousand telegrams were received from various parts of the South, declaring that the organization would work toward the end of holding the staple, and helping needy farmers, until the market reached a correct price.

At Montgomery the Hon. Thos. Heflin, congressman from Alabama, and myself, were constituted a committee to supervise publicity and propaganda. There is no doubt in my mind that concerted measures will defeat the movement to bear cotton, and will insure a just level throughout the selling season. Now is the time for the friend of the farmer to prove his friendship by substantial aid. Cotton is the best collateral in the world. The banker and the small merchant can, and I believe will, accept it as such in cases where "distress" cotton might otherwise be thrown on the market only to glut it.

It is to the first interest of the business men of the South, whether bankers or merchants, to join the farmers in this movement for their rights. Even one-fourth of a rent off the just price for cotton means a loss of millions visited upon every trade channel. It resolves itself simply into a question of letting the world know, by our actions, that we are going to market and not sacrifice our cotton. If the business man and the banker fails in his duty, if the public man fails in his often-repeated protestations of loyalty to the farmer, they will all suffer in similar degree. With regard to cotton, we stand or fall together. An unjust price for the farmer means lack of prosperity for the merchant, the banker, the business man—whether in the city or country. A just price means prosperity for all in same proportion. The mills of New England after a season of curtailment, are resuming operations. Does this look like there is an absence of demand for cotton?

It is incumbent upon us not to sell our birthright, not to yield the results of the year's toil at the behest of market manipulators.

You are in better shape than ever to make this fight a winning one. You have no excuse for failing in it. You have grown hogs, corn and other foodstuffs the past season, are less in debt, less under the domination of the mortgage, than at any period in Southern history. You whipped the gamblers before when you were head over ears in debt. If you don't do it now, almost debt-free, you deserve little sympathy from yourself or the world.

As never in history, the farmer and business men of the South are prepared to battle side by side. The conference at Montgomery proved that.

My present purpose in this hour is to press upon all Southern elements the necessity of keeping the pledges of co-operation given at Montgomery, and of representing to all Southerners the prime duty and self-interest of participating in a movement that means the welfare of the South, without regard to business or location.

GATES' WILL FILED IN TEXAS PROBATE COURT.

Beaumont, Tex., Sept. 19.—The will of John Warner Gates was filed for probate here today. The application for probate states that the estate will amount to more than $5,000,000. James L. Autrey, of Houston, who filed the application, said this amount had been fixed as a matter of formality.

A bequest of $3,000,000 to the "Gates old people's home" at West Chicago, Ill., was revoked in a codicil.

SLAVE TRAFFICKERS ARE HEAVILY FINED.

Meridian, Miss., Sept. 20.—In the federal court here yesterday afternoon Dr. R. W. Shaw, of Sumter county, Alabama, was fined $500 and Daisy Harper, of Meridian, $250 for violating the white slave law. The case grew out of the alleged abduction of Laura Jones, a 15-year-old girl, to Alabama, where she was detained several days by Dr. Shaw for immoral purposes.

Attention, Farmers!

In order to induce you to allow us to use the oil in your cotton seed, we have decided to make you the following unprecedented offer:

We will gin your cotton and furnish bagging and ties, and give you back all the meal and hulls from your seed all for the oil that comes out of the seed.

There has never been such a liberal offer made before.

THE STATESBORO NEWS.

(Incorporated.)
J. R. MILLER, Editor and Business Manager.

Published Tuesdays and Fridays,
At Statesboro, Ga., by The Statesboro News Publishing Company.

Entered at the post office in Statesboro, as 2nd class mail matter.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

After an absence of a little more than three months the name of the undersigned appears again today at the masthead of the Statesboro News as editor and business manager, a position held by us for the past twenty years, with the exception of the brief period since June.

We have really been in active charge of the paper since Aug.
15th, but not until yesterday was it made official.

The Statesboro News therefore, goes under new management, or to be more exact under the old original management, the change taking place with this issue, while the property does not change hands until the financial arrangement has been completed which will be within the next few days. At a meeting of the stockholders held in the court house yesterday afternoon, a new set of officers were elected, a list of which appears elsewhere.

When we tendered our resignation in June it was our opinion that all concerned would be benefitted by the change. The officers of another town had made us an attractive offer, and it looked best for us to accept it; it also appeared best at that time that there should be some new blood injected into the management of the Statesboro News, a young man having been employed from another part of the state to step in and straighten out the kinks which our shortcomings had left as an unwelcome inheritance to the business. Just how far the plan was successful will be painfully remembered not only by the general patrons of the paper, but by those financially interested, for some time to come.

It is a source of deep gratification that we realize the fact that the people among whom we have spent all our life have that degree of confidence in our ability to run a newspaper, that they will go down in their pockets and subscribe to stock for the purpose of placing us back in charge and at the same time placing the business on a solid financial basis. It shows to us they endorse our administration of the paper's editorial policy.

It will be our highest endeavor in the future to give the people a paper that they will feel represents them and the best interests of this great county and section.

To that end we ask the earnest co-operation of the people, and assure them our best efforts are behind the business.

GOV. BROWN ANNOUNCES.

The definite announcement of ex-Gov. Joseph M. Brown that he would be in the race for governor came through the daily press on Sunday. While it had been expected for some time that he had the matter under consideration and would probably make the race, yet it was not expected at this particular period.

The entry of Governor Brown makes it a three-cornered race, the expected entry of Hon. Dupont Guerry will make it a four-cornered race. Then it will be "the devil catch the hindmost."

It will be interesting to know in what measure of support the announcement of Gov. Brown will be received, on this point depends a great deal. In this particular section the ex-governor has always been very strong. In his first race against Hoke Smith, Chatham gave him the largest majority in the entire state. As far as we have been able to see the former Brown support in this section has been absorbed by the Russell boom, declaring as he did for local option some time ago, the people of wiregrass Georgia who favor that doctrine, seemed to have lined up behind him.

"Old Plain Dick," and as far as can be ascertained the entry of ex-Governor Brown has had little or no effect on this situation. In Savannah for instance where the Joe Brown sentiment has always been rampant, there is absolutely no Brown support; in fact the people there who have always supported him, and who implored him sixty days ago to enter the race, now bitterly resent his entry. They say when they appeared to him to make the race on his platform he hesitated and continued to hesitate until another had declared and had been reported. Russell's photograph will be found in most all public places and the entire population seem to be standing behind his candidacy.

In Bulloch it looks like the entire former Brown support has gone to Russell regardless of the entry of "Little Joe," or what his platform may contain. We understand that this is true in Tattnall, Liberty, Effingham, Screven, Bryan and other counties of the First district. One of the best posted politicians in Bryan county, a man who has always supported Brown and bitterly opposed Smith, stated on yesterday that Bryan county would give Russell a larger majority than it had ever given Brown or Estill. It looks like Russell is going to walk away with the First district counties.

Pope Brown is being supported by the prohibition element here and elsewhere throughout the state. It is said the prohibition strength is greater in middle and north Georgia than it is in this section, therefore Pope Brown will be found to grow more and more in strength as this section is left behind him.

The rumor that Dupont Guerry will enter the race as a straight prohibition candidate is interesting if true. If Mr. Guerry should go into the race, he has the ability to meet Judge Russell on the stump, a qualification not now enjoyed by any other candidate in the field. In that case it would be a warm race; the prohibition-ists would rally around Guerry and the local optionists would back Russell; then it looks to us that both Browns would be eliminated from the race and the fight between state-wide prohibition and local option would have a fair test. In the meantime the game grows more interesting every day.

EDWARDS FAVORS THE MOVEMENT

Says Unless Crop Can Be Mar-ketted at a Profit Cotton Growing is Doomed.

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 23.—Congressman Charles G. Edwards urges in an interview today that the movement for holding cotton be given strong support, and he has sent a check for $100 to J. T.
McDaniel, of Union City, treasurer of the committee recently formed at Montgomery, Ala., to further the holding movement.

Mr. Edwards said:
"Unless cotton can be marketed at a profit above the cost of its production, cotton growing in the South is doomed."

"Magnificent trade balances are maintained for our country by the South's money crop, and it is, therefore, not only of interest to the South, but to the whole country that the farmers should get a profit on the cotton crop."

"In my opinion, the combination of spinners and New York speculators can best be dealt with by fighting them with their own fire. In union there is strength," and if the farmers will combine and agree to a plan, such as outlined in the Montgomery cotton conference, whereby the cotton crop can be gradually placed on the market, as the pressing needs of the manufacturer demand it,
the farmers and not the spinners will be in command of the situation and will get better prices for the crop."

"All intelligent cotton producers should realize that their salvation depends upon their getting together as quickly as possible and upon their standing together until this fight for better prices is won."

"If they will but get together and pull together under the proposed plan, so that the market will not be glutted at any time, it will only be a question of a short time before the farmers and not the spinner will make the daily quotations of prices."

"This movement for the holding and gradual marketing of the crop is a wise and good scheme and it should strongly appeal to the Southern people as being the solution that confronts our cotton farmers."

"If the farmers will stand together, they will win, but failure and low prices will be the result if they fail to stand together."

"I am glad of an opportunity to contribute financially and to render any possible service to this important movement, which means so much to the whole country, especially to the people of the South."

REPUBLICANS WORK TO SIDETRACK TAFT.

Nation-Wide Conference in Chicago October 16 to Select Head of Ticket. Houser Heads the Movement. Progressive Wing of Party Will Work Against Nomination of Taft in Convention.

Washington, Sept. 23.—A nation-wide conference of anti-Taft Republicans will be held in Chicago October 16, to consider plans for conducting and developing the movement to nominate some other man than the president as head of the national ticket in the 1912 campaign.

Announcement of this gathering was made by the officers of the Progressive Republican campaign committee from their headquarters in the Evans building in this city. The fact that the invitations had been issued became known today, and in answer to inquiries Walter L. Houser, chairman of the organization, made a statement as to the plans. It had not been intended to make formal announcement for a day or two.

Harvest for 1911 Is Estimated at Gain of 50,000 Tons.

New Orleans, Sept. 21.—That Louisiana has usurped the center of the stage as far as the sugar market is concerned because of the shortage of the 1911 crop, is the opinion of those interested in the marketing of the product in this city.

A committee of four prominent commission dealers and planters are now in New York and said to be in a position to dictate to the so-called sugar trust as to the price of this year's crop, which will be the first to reach the market and relieve the present shortage.

The 1911 crop of Louisiana sugar is estimated at 350,000 tons, about 50,000 tons more than the crop of last year, and if disposed of at the present market level will represent a gain of about $17,500,000 as compared with last year's prices.

The committee now in New York is composed of Charles Godechaux, Ernest A. Burginras, J. C. Lebourgeois, Earle Knoblock. It is said this committee controls the sale of about 300,000 tons. If not successful in getting 5 cents per pound or better from the trust it is said the committee will sell wherever the market is most favorable.

Accused of Stealing.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton,
Me., boldly accuses Backen's Armies Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs, cuts, cures, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Only 25c at

DANCING IS RUIN OF COLLEGE STUDENTS.

Such Is Verdict of at Least One Methodist Minister in United States.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—One Methodist preacher somewhere in the United States believes college students of the country are going straight to the bow-wows, down the dancing toboggan. This clergyman announced his conviction in a straw vote of Methodist preachers throughout the country taken by A. W. Harris, president of Northwestern University, the largest Methodist university, who asked for general criticism on the Christian standing of students.

The vote, however, was almost unanimous in declaring that Christianity is not foreign to students.

Another minister charged colleges with allowing young men to lose caste in the Methodist faith.
He cites a case where a dyed in the wool Methodist was turned out of school a full-fledged Episcopalian.

"THE UPTOWN CHURCH"

is trying to meet the requirements of God and the demands of the people in their needs of every character. The pastor seeks to have nothing in view but the great mission on which his Master has sent him. He believes that there is nothing in this world more practical than the Christian religion, and there is nothing so good. Next Sunday morning he will preach the first of two sermons on "Business in Religion," and the following Sunday the other on "Religion in Business." Next Sunday evening the subject will be "Courtship and Marriage."

The Sunday School is growing and the prayer meetings are interesting. Come and let us help you. All who come will be cordially welcomed.

RAILROAD EXPERT LOOKING OVER S. A. & N.

On yesterday morning Mr. Nicholson, a representative of a large financial syndicate, came into Statesboro, over the Central, and immediately went out over the line of the Savannah, Augusta & Northern Railway, a special train being in waiting for him. He made his stay in Statesboro very brief, going directly to the S. A. & N. depot, giving out no information whatever. He was accompanied to Midville by Superintendent L. W. Armstrong, of the S. A. & N., where both gentlemen spent the night.

It is believed that Mr. Nicholson represents interests who are expected to finance the extension of the road, and the object of his visit here at this time is to report on the value of the property.

HAVING ROUGH SAILING GETTING COTTON PICKERS.

Messrs. Sam Helmet, of Register, and M. A. Newton, of near this place, had an experience akin to that of one of our Tattall county neighbors this week in getting cotton hands out of Savannah.

There are hundreds of loafing negroes in Savannah who will promise to come out to pick cotton, provided they are given money to buy tickets and a little extra for other needs. In nine cases out of ten they intend to jump their contract. This was done in the case of Messrs. Helmet and Newton this week, and the sooner our people learn to let their loafing class of labor alone the better it will be for them. It is discouraging to make a crop and then have it stolen from you in that manner.

BARAGAS.

There seems to be some attraction with those boys of the "Up Town church." Their class room was crowded to overflowing last Sunday and it is thought that they will have to use the Sunday School room this coming Sunday. Meet with them some afternoon. They are finding something to benefit them there.

Attention, Friends.

Having accepted a position with the firm of Messrs. W. C. & O. S. Crumley, of Brooklet, I take this method of asking my old friends and customers to give me a call, where I will appreciate their patronage and do my best to merit a continuance of their patronage and esteem.

HAMP LEE DESERTS FAMILY AND DEPARTS.

After having disposed of his farm about three miles east of Statesboro, together with all his personal effects, J. Hamp Lee, went into the house and informed his wife on yesterday afternoon that it was his intention to leave her. With this statement he jumped into a buggy standing in front of the door and drove rapidly to town. Mrs. Lee notified her brother, Holland Newsome, who had happened. Newsome, accompanied by his sister, came to town in pursuit of the fleeing husband and brother-in-law, who was driving a horse and buggy which he had sold to Newsome, together with the crop in the field. When Lee learned that his wife and brother-in-law were in hot pursuit, he drove out of town very hurriedly, going back down the Savannah road. Later in the afternoon warrants were sworn out for him, and his arrest on a charge of wife desertion and several other minor charges, was sworn out.

Lee is said to have carried off more than two thousand dollars in cold cash, leaving his wife and several small children practically penniless. The farm, though a small one, was desirably located. It had been sold earlier in the week to Col. F. T. Lanier, at $75 per acre.

BIG CIRCUS IS COMING.

The advertising car, No. 1, of the Forepaugh and Sells Bros. circus, was in town one day during the week and a large number of bill posters were sent out all through the adjacent territory. It is given out that car No. 2 will be here next Wednesday to post the town and territory again and Wednesday week still another will be here. The advertising manager states that fifty cars of sights will be turned loose on Statesboro, that the street parade will be more than two miles in length, and that the show itself is the biggest on the road. It is said that it costs this circus seven thousand dollars a day to maintain itself on the road, therefore you can imagine what we will have here on October the 18th. Arrangements have been made here for supplies for the one day here, which is something like this: Four tons of hay, one ton of straw for animal beds, one hundred bushels of oats, one hundred bushels of corn, two cords of wood, eight hundred loaves of baker's bread, two thousand pounds of beef, etc., etc.

There are about six or eight hundred people, laborers and actors, along with the big circus. It is positively asserted that the entire circus will be here. They will show the day previous in Augusta and the day following in Savannah, going to Waycross on Friday and Jacksonville on Saturday following. Therefore, it is seen they have recognized Statesboro as being in the class of towns that can take care of the mammoth circus. It is probable that there will be the largest crowd of people in Statesboro that day ever seen here before, as people will travel a long ways to see a first class circus.

HOPES FOR ANOTHER.

Guerry Says He Is Not Too Poor To Be Gorman of Georgia. "But I Am Too Poor to Get to Be Governor"—Fears for Fate of the Tiffin's Bill.

(Augusta Chronicle.)

The following correspondence from Hon. DuPont Guerry, of Macon, which will add interest to the state campaign at this time, shows conclusively Mr. Guerry's attitude toward the situation as it stands. The correspondence explains itself:

Macon, Ga., Sept. 27, 1911.
Editor Augusta Chronicle:

As recent correspondence with my friend Hon. L. J. McConnell, of Royston, Ga., has resulted in certain publications in the Atlanta Journal and other papers, I like my principal letter to him to be published also, that my position on the gubernatorial question may be seen as heretofore set forth, and I now enclose you a revised and abbreviated copy for such publication. Yours sincerely,

DuPont GUERRY.

Letter to Mr. McConnell.

The letter to Hon. L. J. McConnell referred to by Mr. Guerry, is as follows:

Macon, Ga., Sept. 20, 1911.

Hon. L. J. McConnell, Royston, Ga.

My Dear Sir: Yours of the 18th was received yesterday evening and I assure you was and is most highly appreciated. While I led what you truly call "the moral and prohibition forces" of the state in their temporary defeat in 1902, the struggle we then made resulted immediately in some of the vital reforms for which we contended and later on contributed to the election and re-election of a governor and several legislatures who have accomplished other and still greater results; chiefly that of the enactment of state prohibition which was the chief plank in our platform.

All the reforms so instituted are now triumphant except that of state prohibition and that has been and still is naturally most opposed because most reformatory; that is to say because it interferes most with rignism in politics and administration and wickedness in business and social life. As a rule the laws that are most difficult to enforce against evil are exactly those that are most needed. The very fact that a punitive law is easily enforced proves that there was little or no reason for its passage.

I never supposed that state prohibition would be automatic and I fully anticipated concerted and persistent effort on the part of opponents to prove that it would not prohibit but I am nevertheless, disappointed to some extent in the measure of its enforcement so far. However, I am not among those who have lost either faith or courage, but rather among those who are more determined than ever to make prohibition prohibit and to prove there is sufficient moral manhood in this state, to protect our elections and administrations from degradation and debauchery, and our women and children and others from the ruin and wretchedness, which liquorism has caused and fostered, or permitted by non-enforcement of law has been causing and will continue to cause, until outlaws are convinced by punishment that they can not secure the repeal of this wise and beneficial law by violating it.

The enforcement of the law, however imperfect, has accomplished much good already.

While those among us of little faith may be wavering in the convictions, "our friends the enemy" are to some extent tiring of crime as a business and of politics as an investment. Should the law be persistently enforced, those of them who do not change for the better or move out of the state, will be comparatively few and harmless, and will soon be skulking like other criminals instead of posing as victims and martyrs.

Local option under the present conditions of the issue means simply all the liquorism that remains as an anti-state time reason. I am a local optionist.

It is my recollection that when I was a candidate in 1902, on a state prohibition platform, the Hon. Pope Brown was a candidate on a local option platform, and that when he retired from the race he supported Col. Estill, although the latter was an outspoken local optionist.

Recently he declined to declare one way or the other on the question of state prohibition until Judge Russell declared for local option and then (according to the newspapers) saying in effect and somewhat complainingly—that Judge Russell had forced the issue, he therefore declared for state prohibition.

In view of his record and present attitude I fear he can not make us as strong and positive a champion of state prohibition, either in the campaign or in office as the situation demands. Reaction or retreat now from state prohibition to local option would be disaster for the cause for a generation or longer.

Ex-Gov. Brown is a local optionist and may appear in the race in a new variety of that species, but not as an effective or protective state prohibitionist.

I have hoped and still hope to be able to expose the candidacy of some state prohibitionist with a record, and with the unshrinking courage of positive convictions. Although the prospect at present is gloomy, state prohibitionists should reserve and preserve their solidarity and strength for close quarters and then wield them assuredly in the right direction.

As prohibition is a governmental question it is necessarily a political, as well as a moral and economic question. It can no longer be evaded or repressed. It is here to stay until liquorism is gone, and he sooner that happens the better for purity and peace in politics, to say nothing of our personal and social welfare.

The governor for the short term may not be able to accomplish much of a positive character one way or the other, but being in, and for a short term only, his incumbency will give him strength for the ensuing term and if he should be a local optionist he would upon election, be very influential in any effort to repeal or impair the present law.

Besides, you know, it requires short term, defeat, by veto, the Tiffin's bill, the passage of which would greatly strengthen and aid in the enforcement of the present law.

You can easily see the unpublished program of the opposition. I sincerely thank you for your kind and complimentary words about myself and, but for the reasons I will mention, I might agree with you in your opinion that I would be in the approaching primary the logical candidate for our cause; but my presidency of Wesleyan College for six years has caused me to be lost sight of as a public man, although I am sure I am not less fit for the office for that reason.

Besides you know it requires some money to make such a race, without spending a cent for illegitimate purposes. I found such to be the case in 1902 and came out of the campaign much reduced financially and with my business much impaired.

While, as president of Wesleyan, I received as much salary as I deserved, I owned still less when I retired from that position, and would have had for some time little business, had I not accepted the standing invitation of my friend and former partner, the Hon. Joseph Hill Hall, to rejoin him in the practice of law.

I am not too poor to be governor, but I am too poor to get to be governor.

I am not very ambitious and beyond doing what I can in future as a citizen for the good of my native state, I have no disconcerting aspirations.

Writing to you as a friend in the utmost frankness, I think I can say without just condemnation for vanity that our campaign in 1902 accomplished more for the people of Georgia, although we were defeated, than some administrations have done during one or more terms.

The moral and mental conditions for such a result existed and it seems to have fallen to my lot to help in the warfare for the relief of the people, without the achievement of personal success.

If we can now only retain and maintain the policy of state prohibition—a peaceful crusade of humanity against "man's inhumanity to man"—and also our other reforms, I shall be content to live and die a defeated candidate and a private citizen.

Yours sincerely,
DuPont GUERRY.

ATHENS ENOCH ARDEN FINDS DIVORCE STAYS

After Eleven Years' Separation R. L. Henley Returns—Seeks Minister Again. Family Goes West With Four Small Children. Three Separated, Divorce Follows and Later Father Returns Not to be Recognized.

Athens, Sept. 23.—Parallel to the classic of Enoch Arden, a case here in which, however, when the husband returned after the years he met the obstacle of a divorce decree instead of a second husband and in which, too, the denouement was modified to fit the last chapter of a well-ending romance, was the story which finished in Athens this week. This is a "they married and lived happily afterward" story.

A little more than eleven years ago, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Henley, who had then been married for a few years, left their home in White county and traveled across the plains to settle in Texas. There were four children—a boy of eight and a baby boy of a few months only and two girls in between. In Texas, in some way that they cannot now understand, the father and mother separated—the husband going further toward the land of the sunset and the mother coming back with her children to the mountain home in Georgia. The years passed and not a line ever came from the husband. Inquiry, time after time was in vain, in effort to locate him. The mother and children moved to Athens, where a sister of Mrs. Henley lives. The children grew and were educated. The mother secured a divorce from her husband several years ago, on the grounds of desertion. Then she heard he was dead.

A few weeks ago she received a letter from him and then a few days following he stepped unheralded upon the steps of the home on Pulaski street, was ushered into the parlor by his own daughter, now almost a grown woman, and ignorant of whom she was welcoming in a formal manner.

Through the hall, while he was sitting waiting for Mrs. Henley, a young man of 19 or more passed, a traveling salesman for one of the hardware houses here. There was a meeting and a reconciliation.

After testing his sincerity by making him wait for a week, Mrs. Henley consented to become his wife again and for the second time they stood before the minister—Rev. M. L. Troutman, pastor of the First Methodist church, the mother having literally run away from her family of four children to marry their father the second time.

From tracing the world as the special agent for the Standard Oil Company, and has gone on special commissions to almost every land under the sun in the past seven years or more—this modern Enoch Arden will now settle down. He has a fine position in Portsmouth, Va., and with his wife and two of the children, he will in a few days move to that place to live.

DON'T WANT REFORM IN ATLANTA.

By a vote of two to one the voters went to the polls in Atlanta and snatched the new charter proposition. All three newspapers have been heralding from day to day the virtues of the new charter, telling about the reforms so badly needed and so sincerely provided for in this new charter, and made us believe at this distance there was going to be a veritable walk over for the charter crowd. But as the campaign neared its end the finish of the charter crowd could be seen even this far away.

It is evident that the average citizen don't want reform, he likes the article but he wants it to come in broken doses. Gov. Smith can tell lots of experience along that line. He went into the governor's chair in 1908 by a landslide; he did nothing but what he promised to do, and the same people snatched him under before he had been in office nine months.

The man or set of men who go out to help mankind, to aid in the uplift of the race, so to speak, has undertaken a thankless job.
No, the people don't want reform; they don't want cleanness in politics, and they will walk over the lifeless form of the fellow who has worn his life out in their behalf.

We believe the campaign in Atlanta for a change in the form of government was waged for the benefit of the masses, who walked up to the polls and literally spat in the faces of those who were attempting to save them from their own fool selves.

But such is life and such is the way of the world, and what's the need to shed tears about it.

POPE BROWN DEVELOPING STRENGTH HERE.

A party who went to the trouble to take a straw vote here this week on the gubernatorial question, reports that there is considerable Pope Brown sentiment here. The man referred to is not a supporter of the cold water candidate either. Judging from other sources heard from it looks like Pope Brown has the best of it in Statesboro, the Smith faction and prohibition vote seem to be lining up for him pretty solidly. It will be remembered that in the last race Hoke Smith carried the court house district by a small majority, carrying the town of Statesboro two or three to one.

It was reported that a number of farmers who were in town with cotton for sale, also expressed themselves for Pope Brown. The other seemed to be largely for Russell, only a small number expressing an intention of supporting "Little Joe." Several of the rural carriers, however, report a strong sentiment out along their routes for "Old Plain Dick." Two parties who have been out in different portions of the state, returning home this week report a good deal of Joe Brown talk where they had been, though it seemed divided up somewhat.

It is announced that Hon. R.
L. Berner will speak here in a short time in behalf of the candidacy of Pope Brown. Berner is one of the best stump speakers in the state, and great store is laid upon his coming by the followers of the Palaski county candidate.

It is evident that there is going to be some heavy campaigning in this neck of the woods as the campaign grows older.

ARE WE LOSING PACE WITH OTHER SECTIONS?

We understand that the high water record for a corn yield in Bulloch this year will be less than 75 bushels to the acre, and her cotton will yield less than a bale to the acre. While a few patches go over a bale to the acre, yet the average is far below.

We understand that there are shown at the Tifton fair samples of corn from a patch which is expected to yield 250 bushels to the acre, with 200 as certain. Now this corn hasn't been gathered as yet, and the most damage we know that can be set an acre of corn, the high yield reduction process, is to put actual measurment to it; there is a great deal of difference between actual measure and an estimate. But there are other entries over at the show that claim nearly 140 bushels, cotton yielding more than three bales to the acre,
etc., etc.

It is evident that our South Georgia brethren are waking up to better farming methods than we are doing in Bulloch. With a soil as good as there is anywhere in this section, there is no reason why Bulloch should suffer in comparison with other South Georgia counties.

Why, they are reporting two bales to the acre on the state farm, on the old washed out hill sides of Baldwin county. Now, don't that put the test to this section? It is evident that they are outstripping us in their methods of farming.

Why can't the Bulloch county farmers try their hand at increasing their yields? While they have done wonderfully well in the past few years, still these reports show

we are lagging behind. A Bul-loch county farmer came back from Laurens county a few weeks ago resolved to adopt new methods on his farm. One trouble with Bulloch county folks are they are inclined to stay in the same old rut in which their daddies trod centuries ago. Let's see some one pass the one hundred bushel mark to the acre in Bul-loch next year. And let us find out if Bulloch county soil cannot be made to yield three bales of cotton.

There ought to be a handsome prize offered to the man who will accomplish either of these things.

NEW MOTOR COMPANY FOR STATESBORO.

arrangements to open an automobile business. He will handle the dition to this will run a regular next to the Southern Express the best on the market, and there is no reason why the new business should not do well here.

MR. DUPONT GUERRY'S CON- TRIBUTION TO THE CAM- PAIGN.

(Morning Evening News.)

We cannot help but think that the Hon. Dupont Guerry's letter to Hon. L. J. McConnell, of Ray-ston, which has been given to the press, is an untimely and ill-advised contribution to the present campaign in Georgia. It is an echo from the past—a futile registry of complaint, which appears to have no practical purpose that we can see except to injure the cause to which the writer claims to be devoted, and, of course, he can have no purpose to do that.

What may be the comparative merits of the claims of Mr. Dupont Guerry and Mr. J. Pope Brown to represent the prohibition sentiment of the state we do not know and we do not care. The interests of the issue as it has arisen in this campaign are not wrapped up in the personality of the candidate who represents it, but is involved in the credit of the people at the ballot box and in the bearing this will have on the present and future legislation in Georgia. The next governor of Georgia alone cannot make or unmake prohibition legislation.
That is the province of the legislature which is already in office and which would presumably be responsive to the wishes of the people as registered in the election.

The Hon. J. Pope Brown has already occupied the field, effected his candidacy and organized his campaign along fairly promising lines. He has taken up the challenge of his local opponents and assumed the championship of the prohibition side of the issue and has been generally accepted by prohibitionists as a worthy and responsible exponent of their cause. We have reason to know that he declared himself committed to the cause of prohibition on principle from the outset of the injection of this issue, and that he hesitated to be a party to dragging it into the issues of the campaign because he was persuaded that the best interests of the cause lay in keeping it out of factional politics.

Mr. Guerry, in his letter, confirms the practical wisdom of these views when he admits that while he was defeated on the issue in 1902 the cause of prohibition has since made considerable headway by the mere force of moral teachings and influence alone.

We cannot see any possible benefit that can accrue to the cause of prohibition from Mr.
Guerry's attack on J. Pope Brown, nor could we foresee any result but assured defeat for it.
Mr. Guerry should carry out his suggestion of jumping into the campaign at this juncture and attempting to lead the prohibition vote away from J. Pope Brown.
Certainly it would appear a more seemly course for one as much interested in the success of the cause as Mr. Guerry to enlist his eloquence and talents as far as practicable in aid of Mr. Brown's candidacy, the success of which could not but ensure to its benefit.

As to the personal considerations put forward by Mr. Guerry, we fear they are untimely and unfortunate. The people of Georgia have had a surfeit in the recent past of personal politics and the rare anything but disposed to enter on a new chapter of them. There have been not a few great issues fought out and settled in the recent political history of the state and it necessarily involved the participation of men of strong personality and engendered politics of an intensely personal nature.

But the people are tired and want a rest from this sort of politics for a while, and we shall be surprised if they do not out it out in this campaign.

THE MAN TO BEAT TAFT.

Augusta Herald Says Princetonian Is Man With Whom to Beat Taft.

(Atlanta Georgian.)

American politics is undergoing a great change—not an upheaval as some who dislike the change would call it.

Upheaval is a word used to liken a change to destruction—earthquakes and the like.

This change that is taking place is a healthy change—a sup- porting of common sense prin- ciples by the men of our nation and a turning to the political party that is showing itself most strongly in favor of these prin- ciples and of the greatest good to the greatest number.

Such a turning has meant turn- ing to the Democratic party and to a great degree away from the party that has been in power for the past twenty years.

Congress has shown the largest evidence of this wonderful change, and now it is quite plain that the people are looking to- ward a Democratic president in 1912.

Georgian is convinced from this, however, even if it is outwardly, own conviction were not by the necessary to that the one thing, success the assurance Democratic is the next presidential election, row selection of Governor Wood- Wilson as the nominee.

Because we believe this we have for a long time been print- ing in this column each day news stories and editorials from the best papers of the country, giv- ing our readers an opportunity to thus to know, and knowing, to select Woodrow Wilson as their choice to represent Democracy. This is being done by us with- out even a suggestion from Gov-

RAISED BANK CHECK AND SKIPPED.

On Thursday afternoon, R. L. Hodges, a comparative stranger, presented a check at the Bank of Metter for payment, the amount on the face of the check being forty dollars and seventy-four cents, drawn by Mr. M. F. Jones. An effort to communicate with Mr. Jones over the telephone failed, and the signature being found to be genuine, the cashier paid the check. Later in the afternoon it was found that the check was a forgery and had been done by a man named "four."

GA. GETS $40,000 PEABODY FUND AT ONCE

Governor Smith Brings Good News From Peabody Board Meeting.

(Atlanta Journal.)
Gov. Hoke Smith returned to Atlanta Friday morning, after attending the meeting of the Peabody board in New York city. He brings the good news that the $40,000 which he has procured for the establishment of a school of education for teachers, in connection with the University of Georgia, will be immediately available.

A meeting of the university trustees will be called within the next two or three days and actual work will soon begin. The entire $40,000 will be devoted to the erection of a building for the new department of the university. It will be called the George Peabody building. Ten thousand dollars has been appropriated by the state for the annual maintenance of the school. It will in all probability be headed by Prof. T. J. Wooster, and he will have able assistants.

"I believe that the establishment of this school will be a splendid contribution to the educational progress of the state," said Governor Smith.

"My hope is that this school will be able to furnish special courses of study during the year for county school superintendents in addition to the summer school which it holds for rural teachers."

ITALIANS EXECUTE 3,000 AT TRIPOLI

American Consul Moves Because of Danger From Turkish Cannon Fire.

Frankfort, Nov. 2.—A dispatch to the Frankfurter Zeitung from Tripoli, under date of Oct. 31, says:

"The American and Austrian consulates have been removed to the interior of the city because of danger of their old locations. Turkish shells have fallen in the neighborhood of the German consulate."

At least 3,000 natives were executed by the Italians."

Italy Increases Fleet.

Frankfort, Germany, Nov. 2.—The Frankfurter Zeitung's Milan correspondent says that the Italians are strengthening their active fleet with ships from the reserve. Twenty-three gunboats are proceeding from Spezia to Tripoli.

Whole Fleet Sails.

Malta, Nov. 2.—It is reported that the whole Italian fleet has left Tripoli for Turkish waters. The Italian government has suppressed direct sailings between Tripoli and Malta, owing to the leakage of news to foreign papers.

All the mails from Tripoli have now to run the gauntlet of censorship at Sicily.

Tripoli Bottled Up.

Constantinople, Nov. 2.—The commander of the Turkish forces at Tripoli telegraphs his government under date of Oct. 30 as follows:

The Turks have occupied all the forts surrounding the town. The Italians are demoralized and do not dare venture outside the fortifications."

Cruise Joins Land Fight.

Tripoli, Nov. 2.—The Turks this morning brought up a few guns to the south of El Mosri and opened fire. This was not effective, as most of the shells failed to explode. The Italian artillery soon silenced the guns and forced the enemy to retire.

About 3 o'clock last evening Turkish appeared before the line of defense and forced the Eighty-second Italian Infantry to fall back from their position. The cruiser Carlo Alberto soon located the Turkish artillery and by a well-directed and vigorous fire silenced it.

Will Drag Germany In.

London, Nov. 2.—The Daily Telegraph's Constantinople correspondent says a sensation has been caused by the revelation that Hattin Bey, the ex-grand vizier, is impeached for neglect in the defense of Tripoli will declare that the German ambassador repeatedly assured him that Italy would never send a regiment or a ship to Tripoli and for that reason his cabinet had not considered it necessary to dispatch troops or was material to Tripoli.

HOKE SMITH DISCUSSES COTTON AND POLITICS.

Says Growers Are Holding the Staple and That in East Rank and File Wants Progressive Democrat for President.

Atlanta, Nov. 3.—In the opinion of Governor Hoke Smith, who returned from New York today, where he had been attending a meeting of the Peabody trustees, the east thinks the cotton growers of the South are holding their cotton now and will do so until prices go up to much better ones.

The governor expressed the view that this idea permeates financial circles in New York to a very considerable degree, and it has caused some uneasiness there. Attention has been directed to the published fact that the India cotton crop is reported about one million bales short, and this has had the general tendency of steadying the market.

This feeling is reflected somewhat in the market, within the past few days, as cotton has shown a steady tone and is making healthier advances.

Governor Smith also stated that he found two prevalent sentiments in Gotham relative to national politics. On one side the financial interests want the Democrats to nominate a conservative candidate, the names of Hanftan and Underwood, being most frequently heard. Among the rank and file, however, he says, the sentiment is for a Democratic candidate of progressive ideas.

Gov. Smith announced that the $40,000 from the Peabody fund had been made immediately available. He will ask Governor McDaniel, president of the board of trustees of the state university, to call a meeting at once, so plans can be formulated for beginning work on the building.

He expressed the view that the development of the chair of pedagogy in a school for teachers at Athens would make a splendid contribution to the education progress of the state.

FIRST ARREST UNDER NEW GAME LAW.

The first arrest for violation of the new game law passed by the last session of the legislature was made Thursday afternoon by Game Warden F. C. R. Jackson.

Those charged with violation of the law were Messrs. G. L. McKell and W. L. Street. Mr. Richardson caught the two gentlemen coming in with a fine string of squirrels and placed them under arrest. They are charged with violating the law by going out of their limits to hunt. They both deny that they have violated any law and have demanded trial and acquittal. There was considerable rioting displayed between Mr. Richardson and Mr. Street at the time of the arrest and the two came near mixing up with each other.

Begin at The Bottom

That's good advice. First because it is the sure way; second, because for the most of us it is the only way. A step at a time, one dollar piled up beside another, careful, conservative, saving—these things will bring you gradually but surely up the ladder of success. Men fail because they get in too big a hurry, too anxious to grab at the golden apples just out of reach. Stick to your ladder, stick to your job, stick to your saving habit. The fellow who goes up like a sky rocket usually comes down like a thousand of bricks.

THE COTTON MARKET.

There has been little or no change in the local cotton market during the past few days. The market on short cotton has been around eight and a half cents, while Sea Islands have been selling at from seventeen to twenty-one cents. The offerings have not been as heavy as they would had the market been higher, a good many farmers are either holding their cotton at home or storing it in the warehouses.

It is believed by local buyers that the cold wave that has swept the Western cotton belt will have a good effect on the market.

Underhose

FULLY GUARANTEED TRADE

For Men, Women and Children

WIN

We are not willing to sell any guaranteed hose except the best. We have investigated them all. Underhose meet every demand, satisfy every test.

We offer them to the public.

Hundreds of families who read this advertisement are not fully satisfied with the wearing quality of their hose. Either it is ordinary "guaranteed" hose, coarsely made and finished, or the most expensive brands sold without any guarantee that it will wear a week, a month or a day.

To such people we extend a pressing invitation to call at our store this week and examine Underhose—the latest refinement in guaranteed hose.

Underhose are for men, women, misses and boys. They are different from the ordinary hose in several ways that count for extra wear and value. The makers issue a signed and registered guarantee with every box that Underhose will give satisfactory wear for four months. This guarantee is endorsed by ourselves and means just what it says—new hose if Underhose fails to give eminently satisfactory wear.

The difference between Underhose and other brands is in the extreme care and consistency that the makers have put into it. Such quality has never heretofore been put into any hose. The finish is equal in every way to the finest hose made. The threads are exceptionally well spun and carry an unusual amount of tensile strength. The weave is exceptionally close and the "feel" is soft and resilient like fine silk.

A special feature is the dyeing. The celebrated Wendell used in dyeing this hose gives permanent lustre without injuring or hardening the fabric and will not change or crack or lose its lustre in wash.

Underhose comes in a beautiful variety of stylish colors and in all sizes. We are glad to sell it and glad to recommend it as unquestionably the best value of any hose at or near the price.

Come in the store any day this week and examine this best of all guaranteed hose. Take home a box on trial and test them out. You have four months to determine to your satisfaction that they are all we claim for them and you are protected by the printed guarantee ticket in the box. Get Underhose for the boys. That will be a good test.

RATES ON COTTON ARE SUSPENDED

Galveston-New Orleans Rivalry Causes Clash Between Commission.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Spirited commercial rivalry between the cities of New Orleans and Galveston was reflected again today when the inter-state commerce commission suspended proposed tariffs filed by the southwestern lines, making advances in the freight rates on cotton and cotton lint. The tariffs were to have become effective on November 5, but were suspended until March 1, 1912, practically the end of the cotton year.

The action of the commission accentuates the conflict of regulatory authority, which in numerous instances has arisen between federal and state commissions.

According to information received recently by the interstate commerce commission, a vigorous effort was being made to divert cotton export traffic originating at Texas and Arkansas points, from New Orleans to Galveston. The railroad commission of Texas is said to have notified railways operating in Texas that they must make lower rates for cotton from Texas points to Galveston or suffer a reduction in their general freight rates.

In practical compliance with this demand for lower rates, the lines operating in Texas with the interstate commerce commission are cutting their rates on cotton from Texas to New Orleans, and thus left in effect combinations of local rates, which are much higher than the through rates. These are the tariffs that the interstate commerce commission has suspended pending an inquiry into their propriety.

The tariffs already suspended, and such others as may be filed will be suspended affect not only the originating carriers, but practically all of the rail lines and steamship lines operating from the south to the north and east.

A complaint from the New Orleans Board of Trade is pending before the interstate commerce commission, in which an attack is made upon previous advances in rates made by lines operating in Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The whole question will be fought out before the commission in the near future. It then will be determined, so far as the interstate commerce commission is concerned, whether interstate traffic lawfully may be interfered with by a state railroad commission, in according to the shipping rates of its state rates that are preferential over those given to shippers or cities in another state.

Snow in Texas.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 2.—The entire Panhandle section of Texas is covered with 6 inches of snow, the heaviest this early in the season in a number of years. The snow belt extends far into Western Oklahoma, with freezing temperatures reported all over north and central portion of the state.

Reports from the cotton belt of Texas are strongly indicative that where the freezing point was not reached last night or today, the rapid descent of the mercury tonight forecasts that it will go far below the freezing point before tomorrow.

BLOWN OUT TO SEA, LIVED 30 DAYS ON FISH HE WAS ABLE TO CATCH.

New York, Nov. 2.—Blown out to sea in a rowboat from the coast of South America, Arango Rodriguez, a Spaniard, drifted about for 31 days and was nearly dead and despairing of rescue when picked up by the British steamer Klaria, which reached New York today. Rodriguez was on the verge of collapse but explained that at Caracas he hired a small boat to go fishing and was blown off shore by a storm. He had on board a demijohn of drinking water but for food had to depend upon fish he was able to catch. After the demijohn of water was exhausted he managed to trap enough rain water to quench his thirst.

ITALIANS ARE ACCUSED OF BUTCHERIES

British Officer With Turks Makes Serious Charges.

English Agitation Against Alleged Atrocities by Italians in Tripoli Receives Impetus by Telegram Detailing Horrors in War Zone.

London, Nov. 3.—Agitation against alleged atrocities by Italians in Tripoli, which has sprung up in the British press and is supported by a few members of the house of commons since news of reports arrived here from English newspaper correspondents concerning recent occurrences in Tripoli, received impetus tonight by a telegram received from Herbert Montagu, a second lieutenant of the Fifth Fusiliers. He telegraphed from Souk-el-Chana by way of Dohat on the frontier of Tunis, as follows:

"I feel it my duty to send to you the following telegram, and I beg you in the name of Christianity to publish it throughout England. I am an English officer now voluntarily serving in the Turkish army here.

"As you know already about the ferocious resistance which the Turks and Arabs are offering the Italians, I will only express my admiration of their bravery and fortitude which would warm the heart of any Englishman or of any true soldier in the world.

"Imagine my feelings when on entering and driving the Italians out of Arab houses which they had fortified and were holding, we discovered the bodies of some 120 women and children with their hands and feet bound, mutilated and torn. Later on at (the name of the town was lost in transmission) we found a Mosque filled with bodies of women and children mutilated almost beyond recognition. I could not count them, but there must have been 300 or 400.

"In this European war are such crimes to be committed? Cannot England do something to stop such horrors. In our civilization and times you can hardly believe it, but it is true, nevertheless. I myself have seen it, so I know.

"I know we are getting news of further massacres of women and children who are discovered on different farms lately occupied by Italians. The idea of the Italians when they slaughtered the innocents obviously was one of revenge for their heavy losses in battle.

"We are at this moment under a heavy shrapnel fire, so you must excuse me if the sentences are somewhat disjointed. There is also an aeroplane circling over our position and directing the enemy's gun fire on us."

Lieutenant Montagu's message is dated November 2.

CHINA RELIEF ON HER STRONGEST MAN

Hostilities May Cease Since Yuan Shi Kai Rules. He is Nong-Glose Together, but Not Fighting.

Pekin, Nov. 1.—The appointment of Yuan Shi Kai today as Premier of China will be followed by a cessation of hostilities on the part of imperialists and the opening of negotiations with Gen. Li Yuan Hong, leader of the revolutionists at Hankow.

An imperial edict providing for important administrative changes also accepts the resignation of the ministers, until Yuan Shi Kai returns to Peking. Prince Ching will continue to perform the duties of Premier and the present cabinet will remain in office.

All the ministers attended a secret session of the National Assembly today, which, it is understood, practically agreed to the demands of the disaffected Lan Chau troops. A member of the war board was appointed to confer with the troops and express the assembly's views.

COTTON GINNING

CARRIED ON WITH GREAT ACTIVITY

Government Report Shows That of the 1911 Crop 7,740,634 Bales Have Been Ginned to October 13—Gains Made in All States Except Oklahoma.

Washington, Oct. 25.—Cotton ginning throughout the South since the picking of the crop of 1911 began, has been carried on with greater activity this season than in any year in the history of the industry, and has resulted in the unprecedented quantity of 7,740,634 bales of cotton ginned to October 13.

The census bureau report, issued at 10 o'clock today, showed that greater quantities were ginned during the season in every cotton state except Oklahoma.

There were 2,316,000 bales more than during the record crop year of 1904, and 7.7 per cent of this year's total crop of 13,687,310 running bales were ginned to October 13, and 1,444,468 more than the big crop year of 1908, when 48.1 per cent of the year's crop of 13,432,131 running bales were ginned to that date.

Throughout the growing season various conditions caused the crop to mature much earlier than in most previous years, and harvest conditions have been excellent in most districts of the cotton belt.

In Texas the ginning surpassed previous record by more than 600,000 bales; in Georgia by 428,000 bales; in Alabama by 138,000 bales; in North Carolina by 129,000 bales, and in South Carolina by 132,000 bales.

The census bureau's third cotton ginning report showing the number of bales of cotton of the growth of 1911 ginned prior to October 13 was issued at 10 a. m. today. The number of running bales, counting round, half bales, with comparative statistics to the corresponding date for the past three years and the percentage of the total crop ginned to that date in those years, is as follows:

United States, 7,740,634 bales, compared with 5,423,628 bales last year, when 46.9 per cent of the entire crop was ginned to October 13; 5,534,967 bales in 1909, when 51.9 per cent was ginned, and 6,296,496 bales in 1908, when 48.1 per cent was ginned.

The number of round bales included were 5,340,5 compared with 4,063 bales last year, 88,716 bales in 1909, and 118,720 bales in 1908.

The number of sea island bales included were 40,034 compared with 25,691 bales last year, 36,482 bales in 1909, and 32,013 bales in 1908.

FOUR ACRES AND A LIVING.

(John L. Cowan, in November World's Work.)

A unique settlement is the village of San Ysidro founded two years ago in southern California. The forty families who live there are not socialists or free thinkers. They are simply poor men who want freedom.

Owing to the mildness of the climate a "little-lander" need not put more than $100 into the building of his house. His land he can buy mostly on credit. He purchases only as much as he and his sons can cultivate comfortably without "hired help"—usually about four acres.

There is no such thing as a hired man or a hired girl in San Ysidro. Every man is his own boss. There is plenty of social intercourse, but the settlers have carefully avoided the rock of commercial ownership.

The enterprise is still, of course,

Anderson, S. C., Oct. 29.—The Chinese revolution is having a serious effect on the cotton mill industry of the Southern states, according to J. D. Hammett, president of several of the largest mills in South Carolina and a member of the Executive Committee of the American Cotton Manufacturer's Association.

In a statement issued today Mr. Hammett points out that many of the Southern mills manufacture goods solely for export to China and scores of orders already have been cancelled because of the Chinese war. He estimates that fully thirty mills in South Carolina alone are dependent on the Chinese trade.

DEMOCRATS SURE OF VICTORY NEXT YEAR.

Governor Wilson Says It. He Addresses Crowd at Texas State Fair.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 28.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey today declared Democratic success in the elections of next year a certainty, described the party as controlled by the real progressives of the country and urged that if the Democrats acted wisely a large part of the progressive Republican vote might be gained.

Gov. Wilson's political talk was at a luncheon which preceded his address at the Texas State Fair, where he was the guest of honor this afternoon. Earlier in the day, an hour after his arrival he spoke to several thousand persons at the First Baptist Church upon "Life and the Bible." To-night he delivered an address at Fort Worth and returned to Dallas at midnight.

He will leave early tomorrow for New Jersey to take he stung in the legislative campaign in progress in that state.

Incidental to his political utterances Gov. Wilson discussed currency reform briefly and took issue with the National Monetary Commission.

In elaborating upon his contention that big business is concerned in its particular interests and not in the welfare of the people, Gov. Wilson cited the so-called monetary plan as an example.

"Aldrich's outfit went to Germany and brought back their proposition which embraces the banking system of Germany," he said. "They did not take into consideration that conditions here are different or that the system there is unsatisfactory. It would not be acceptable to the bankers themselves if they understood it."

WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO CHINA.

(Atlanta Journal.)

The news from China runs fast and furious. One dispatch tells of Gen. Li Yun Heng being proclaimed "President of the Republic," and straightway comes another which declares that peaceful negotiations between the Imperialists and the rebel leaders are soon to begin.

There seems little doubt that the government at Peking is growing more and more wobbly. For some days past it has been doing its utmost to placate the revolutionists by dismissing unpopular officials and summoning back to power those who are close to the people.

Whether this policy of conciliation will bring quietude remains to be seen. Russia, who has particular reason and opportunity to keep well informed on conditions in the empire, seems to think that the present disturbances are local in character and are the result of racial antipathies rather than any deep-seated motive of political reform.

It is, nevertheless, evident that the revolutionists are well organized and that behind their present activities lie years of careful preparation. They are plainly bent upon overthrowing the Manchu dynasty, which the native Chinese consider a usurper, as indeed it is. And from outward appearances they are no less determined to end the rule by cabal that now obtains at Peking.

The existing government has been unable to secure from foreign bankers a temporary loan as a war fund. It finds one province and city after another falling in to the hands of the revolutionists. Its army lacks spirit for the fight. Naturally, therefore, it would welcome an opportunity to treat with the rebels upon fairly satisfactory terms.

It is hardly to be expected, however, that the latter will accept any half-way proposition. The backbone of Manchu power seems to be cracking, and whatever form the impending change in China's government may take, it will doubtless be radical.

IS REPUBLICAN PARTY DRIFTING TO LILY WHITES?

This Question is Agitating Negro Republicans of Macon, Who Were Barred From a Meeting.

(Macon News.)

"Is the Republican party in Georgia drifting to Lily-Whiteness?" is a question that is now agitating the negro Republicans of this section of Georgia.

In an editorial in this week's issue of the Macon Dispatch, a negro paper, this question is asked. The editorial states that last week a meeting of leading white Republicans was held in Macon, and the negroes were excluded because the session took place in the Dinker hotel, which is "exclusively white." It is declared that Clark Grier of Dublin, J. L. Barnes and Cliff Vigil of Macon, and others were present. It is intimated that a protest will be made to the more prominent white Republicans in Atlanta.

DR. COOK DRIVEN FROM STAGE IN COPENHAGEN.

Riotous Scenes Occur During the Explorer's Attempt to Speak. Only Few Friends There.

Copenhagen, Oct. 24.—Dr. F. A. Cook's theatrical attempt to-night to vindicate his reputation by a lecture in the hall where two years ago he addressed the royal family and some of the most prominent people in Denmark under the auspices of the geographical society on the occasion of his triumphal entrance into the capital, resulted in extremely riotous scenes. Dr. Cook finally was compelled to retire ignominiously by the back door.

Ever since it was announced that Cook was returning here to lecture the newspapers and the people of the city have been strongly stirred and threats of violence were freely circulated. Fifteen hundred people were assembled in the hall tonight and a great crowd outside greeted Dr. Cook with an uproar of insulting cries. He was escorted by police, however, and no violence was attempted.

The meeting within the hall was turbulent throughout. A small fraction of the audience supported Dr. Cook, and applauded his efforts. Others hissed continually with the result that the two sides almost came to blows.

The lecture, illustrated by lantern slides, was for the most part a re-petition of his former talk. Dr. Norman Hansen, the Danish explorer who formerly supported Cook started trouble by loudly denouncing Cook as a pure swindler. The climax was reached when an alleged picture of the North pole was thrown upon the screen. The audience was so hostile that Cook stopped his lecture and withdrew. He was escorted by a strong detachment of police to his hotel through side streets.

PEKIN SEIZED BY PANIC BOTH SIDES MASSACRE

The Imperialist Victory at Hankow May Have Been Arranged in Advance as a Step Towards a Compromise with the Manchus.

REBELS DIVIDED INTO TWO PARTS.

One Would Keep Rulers While Other Wants Manchus Sent Into Exile.

Pekin, Oct. 28.—The report of an imperialist victory in the vicinity of Hankow, which has been received from the Minister of War, Gen. Yin Tehang, has revived the drooping spirits of the administration.

Additional comfort has been found in the conclusion of a loan agreement which Chinese officials say has just been arranged with a Belgian syndicate having French and British connections. The loan is for $18,000,000, the price being 96, with 6 per cent interest. The syndicate receives 4 per cent commission.

The financial groups representing the four nations interested in the railway loan with the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany, took under advisement a proposition for a loan of $8,000,000, but the United States financiers decided that the present is an inopportune moment.

Panic Pekin.

This afternoon the diplomatic body held a meeting and considered the request of the victory of the province of Chi Li for permission to police Tien Tsin with troops, which is contrary to the international protocol of 1902. The ministers, however, decided to permit the victory to do so owing to the serious conditions prevailing. The ministers decided also to authorize the consuls at Hankow to deal temporarily with all questions cropping up, but the seizure of foreign vessels carrying anything which may be called contraband of war threatened by the rebel leader, Gen. Li Yun Heng, cannot be permitted.

Regarding the appeal of Shanghai business men through the consuls that a thirty-mile zone around Shanghai be declared neutral, the ministers declined to assent on the ground that it was a matter for decision by the powers.

Panic prevails at Peking.

Both Fear Massacre.

The Chinese are alarmed owing to a report that the Manchu garrison intends to begin a massacre if it meets with reverses at the hands of the rebels in the south. The Manchus are said to fear a massacre on the part of the Chinese. Both continue to desert the capital.

A fortnight ago when the government began to take drastic measures the Chinese spirit seemed quelled. Now, since the defeat of the imperialists on Oct. 20 and other evidences of Manchu weakness, revolution is talked openly.

The reported capture of Hankow by the war ministers may, however, have dampened the ardor of those who seem ready to go over to the revolution. One of the legations has a report from Hankow tonight that the rebels retired before the imperialists without serious resistance. This causes the belief that Yin Tehang's victory may have been prearranged. Upon the receipt of the report from the war minister, Yuan Shi Kai immediately issued orders that railway traffic between Peking and Hankow be resumed Monday. It is thought that Yuan's negotiations with the rebels may have provided for their retirement to Han Yang.

FOR WATER WORKS AND LIGHTS.

A meeting of the citizens of Claxton was held at the town hall on Monday night for the purpose of discussing the proposition to authorize a bond issue to defray the expenses of installing a water and light plant for the town. A large number of citizens responded in the call and after a thorough discussion of the matter it was decided to call another meeting for Monday next when a full expression of the citizens can be had.

Water and Lights are the pressing needs of Claxton; this was admitted by every citizen present at the meeting on Monday night, and it seems to be the general impression that very little opposition will develop to the issue of bonds. It is the purpose of those in favor of the proposition to submit a thirty-year issue, payable in installments at different periods during this time, and it is believed that these bonds can be disposed of at a very low rate of interest, and placed at or above par.
There is a demand for this class of securities and there will be no trouble in placing them with some of the big trust companies.

Claxton is perhaps the largest town in Georgia, denying itself these necessities as well as luxuries and it would be surprising if any number of citizens should oppose the bond issue for lights and water.

FIRE AT BELLEVILLE.

Mr. George Brewton, one of the citizens of Belleville had the misfortune to lose his barn by fire one night last week. Along with the loss of the barn went nine bales of cotton two buggies, and one horse, and other articles of minor value. The barn was in a light blaze when discovered, and the horse perished before it could be rescued from the burning building. The exact cause of the origin of the fire is unknown.
There was no insurance on the building or contents and therefore all is a total loss.

JIM CHITTY IN TROUBLE.

Jas. G. Chitty well known to agent traveling in an itinerant manner through this section for many years is in serious trouble.

He having been arrested in Savannah on a warrant issued from Lake City, Fla. The Florida officials came to Savannah and carried Chitty back with them after securing requisition papers. The trouble at Lake City might have been fixed had other troubles of a similar nature not shown up from two or three other sections, viz:
that of securing cash on checks
when he had no funds in bank.
One sad feature of his troubles is the death of his daughter while the father was locked in jail awaiting the arrival of the Florida officers. Chitty was allowed was allowed to attend the funeral of his daughter in Savannah on Thursday in charge of an officer.

CLAXTON WILL WAIT ON RAILROAD.

The latest developments in the matter of the extension of the railway from Brooklet this way are that all work along that line will be discontinued until the road is completed to Egypt on the main line of the Central of Georgia Railway. Mr. Shearouse takes the position that it is more important to complete the link to the Central than it is to connect with the Seaboard Air Line, his road already being connected with this line via the Savannah & Statesboro at Brooklet.

A surveying corps is now busy locating the line north of Brooklet in the direction of Egypt, and it is announced that active work will be started on this extension in a few days. Mr.
Shearouse authorizes us to say,
however, that he has by no means abandoned his intention to build to Claxton, but expects to take up the work on this end of the line as early as possible, but will intermediate the other end in the meantime towards Egypt first. It is rumored that this line will be pushed on to Springfield and to a point on the Seaboard's Columbia division. But this is in the distant future.

ROUND STATE TOUR TO LUNCH HERE.

It is announced that the people composing the round state automobile tour will take lunch at Claxton en route to Savannah to attend the Grand Prize races.
There are about forty entries in this tour and Claxton will have them within her gates on Wednesday before the races in Savannah next day. This will be the first run over the new round state highway, and our citizens will no doubt turn out and give our visitors the glad hand. They will be accompanied to Savannah by a number of local people from Claxton, Glennville, Reidsville, Hagan and other points in Tattall county, adding to their long line of automobiles, making quite an imposing array. They will come here from Baxley via Reids-ville.

HOLD THE 1911 CROP; AND CUT ACREAGE IN 1912.

This is the Plan Adopted by the Conference of Governors at New Orleans to Get Immediate Relief From Low Prices.

New Orleans, Oct. 3.—The farmers of the South must withhold from the market every remaining bale of the present season's crop of cotton and follow this with a concerted and binding agreement to reduce next season's cotton acreage at least 25 per cent if they hope to restore the South's great money staple to a normal price level and retrieve the losses sustained by reason of the present low prices.

This is the plan which the conference of Southern governors adopted at its concluding session to secure immediate relief from the depression at the price of the staple.

As a means of securing permanent relief from such conditions and to guarantee the cotton farmer in the future against the necessity of glutting the market with his supplies in the opening of the season, the conference adopted resolutions favoring the establishment in every cotton growing state of state control in the warehouse and the collection and the periodical publication of statistics bearing upon the world's demand and consumption of cotton.

GEORGIA-CAROLINA FAIR BIGGER THAN EVER.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 2.—With only a few days intervening until the opening of the Georgia-Carolina Fair the officers and directors are busy getting ready for a show which will eclipse any previous one. There are reasons why the Georgia-Carolina Fair, which will be held from Nov. 6th to 11th inclusive, should be bigger and better in every way than ever before and eclipsing by far even the magnificent show of last year. This year the conditions promise to be ideal. The farmers are making splendid crops this year in almost every locality in eastern Georgia and western South Carolina and with their pockets full of money a person is much more likely to become enthusiastic over his fall fair than if he had made a poor crop and was hardly doing more than paying expenses.

The greatest one feature added to the fair of 1911 will be the corn show. From 25 counties of Georgia and South Carolina there will be splendid corn exhibits and a large portion of the main fair building has been set aside for the corn show. The corn show will be a free attraction, unlike at many places where an admission fee is charged to see this exhibit alone.

The poultry show, which is always one of the best if not the best attraction at the entire fair, will be better than ever this year for much more space has been added to the poultry building and number of birds this year will be much larger than ever before.
The visitors at the fair last year were greatly impressed with the splendid poultry display and the new that it will be better than ever this year is bound to cause much pleasure.

The agricultural and live stock exhibits promise to be better than ever before and the educational exhibit of the Georgia State College of Agriculture will be one of the most interesting features of the fair.

A moving picture show put on by the International Harvester Company which will show every stage in the growth of corn and wheat from the time that it is planted until the time it is made into meal and flour, will also be a fine attraction.

The amusement feature will be

WHOLE FAMILY POISONED As Result of Eating Toadstools Mixed With Mushrooms.

Brunswick, Ga., Oct. 31.—Mr.
and Mrs. W. H. Taylor and Miss Lula Taylor, living at the Oaks, at Parkwood, near this city, are seriously ill the result of poisoning.

Saturday night the family had mushrooms for supper, and it is supposed that among them were one or more toadstools, which caused the poisoning.

Medical aid was summoned from here yesterday, and Mr.
Taylor and Miss Taylor are reported to be better, but the condition of Mrs. Taylor is still critical.

Deck Russell's campaign management are sending out a cartoon, showing the whiskey pouring into Georgia by the barrel from every state adjoining us. Nothing was said about what pours into the country counties.

early part of the week has interfered with cotton picking and other farm work.

GOES TO JAIL TO ESCAPE HIS BRIDE.

He's 32 and She's 40. Atlanta's Children Ask Habeas Corpus Writ for Him.

Atlanta, Nov. 1.—William W.
Marlin, 32 years old, has gone to jail to escape his 40-year-old wife, a trained nurse, whom he recently married.

Marlin has been placed in the hospital ward, where he went voluntarily at the court's suggestion, until a habeas corpus case brought by his two daughters for the recovery of his person from his wife can be determined by the court.

When Mr. Marlin was seriously sick a short time ago Miss Margaret Glass, a nurse, took care of him until he recovered, then married him. She took him away from the home of his daughters, and while the old man says she mistreated him and he wants to get away from her, he declares he loves her still.

He receives a pension of $20 a month and has a little property, which appears to be the chief bone of contention. The habeas corpus case will come up for a hearing Saturday.

ATLANTA MAN FALLS HEIR TO FORTUNE.

Old Sea Captain Left Him Twenty Thousand Dollars.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 30.—John T.
Casey, an Atlanta has inherited a fortune of $20,000 in a romantic manner from an old sea captain, John F. McLaughlin.

Capt. McLaughlin died in March, 1892, and was buried at sea. Claims against the estate were afterwards proven by the finding of a piece of poetry bearing his signature, which he wrote at Shanghai, China, in 1870. His signature was shown on two insurance policies for $10,000 each, and the money was paid over to the Atlanta man, only living relative. The poetry was as follows:

John F. McLaughlin is my name.
China is my station.

And in the service engineer
Is my chief occupation.

Ireland is my Fatherland
And America my nation—

When I am called from earthly stage

Heaven is my expectation.

So when I'm dead and in my tomb
And all my bones are rotten

This little book will tell my name
When I am quite forgotten.

Joe T. Casey, the heir to the little fortune, has left Atlanta and is now residing in the North.

"Little Joe" has put out a platform upon which all will agree. It reads more like the Lord's prayer than anything we have seen lately.

The Chinese government is in a pitiful plight. Begging the Revolutionists for succor. The day is fast dawning when China will be a republic with a liberal form of government.

STATESBORO, GEORGIA, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1911

VOL. 11, NO. 59.

JOURNAL POLITICAL FORECASTER HERE.

On Saturday night Ralph Smith, the Washington Correspondent of the Atlanta Journal came to Statesboro to look into the political situation in Bulloch, following up a series of articles started in the Journal. The Atlanta Journal as we understand it is not supporting any candidate for Governor in this race, and the object of Mr. Smith's canvass is to give information to the public as to how the straws are blowing.

Mr. Smith met a number of our representative citizens nearly all of whom were of the opinion that Judge Russell has an overwhelming majority in Bulloch. Only one man interviewed out of about fifty claiming that any other candidate had even a look in Bulloch.

A Statesboro News reporter called on the Atlanta Correspondent and asked him from his observations over the state what he thought of the race he replied:

I think that possibly Pope Brown may have a slight advantage over the field at this time, but I expect Judge Russell to win in the end. Joe Brown does not seem to be in the ring at all except in widely separated localities. For instance, Joe Brown will carry Jackson the home county of Judge Russell, he will probably carry Bibb and Hall counties and a few others, Pope carry a catch of counties in Southwest Georgia, and in Middle Georgia, Russell will carry all this section towards the coast, he will carry Richmond, Fulton, and Floyd, and all the other counties in the mountain section of the state, Russell will also carry Clark, and he will carry Cobb, the home county of Joe Brown.

Mr. Smith left for Albany Sunday morning.

Hunters Are Acquitted.

Messrs. W. L. Street and G. L. Mikell were given a preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon on a charge of violating the new game law. The case was heard by Judges H. D. Holland and J. W. Bountree. It was brought out that the accused did not kill the squirrels in question, but they were killed by two negro boys residents of the 48th district, in which the hunting was done and even to Messrs. Mikell and Street. After hearing the evidence against Mikell, and he being acquitted, the case against Street was not pressed.

Railroad is to be Built to Hinesville

Hinesville, Ga., Nov. 4.—Hinesville, the county seat of Liberty county, is to have a railroad, if plans of Joseph B. Way of Flemington, who has been interested for several months in the plan to organize a company for the purpose of constructing a railroad to this town and who states that he has secured the necessary pledges and that the company will be formed and the railroad built, are successful.

It is proposed to start the new line either from McIntosh or Walthourville, on the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, and run it via Taylor's Creek to some point on the Seaboard Air Line. This will make the road about twenty five miles long. It is eight miles from Hinesville to Walthourville and Taylor's Creek is about fourteen miles from Walthourville.

SHOT UP THE STORE WHEN FOUND SHORT

Three Men Wounded by Atlanta Book-keeper Yesterday.

PANIC IN THE PLACE

Mose Garrison Didn't Say a Word When Confronted; Just Pulled a Gun and Began Shooting.

Chronicle Bureau, Kinsell House, John C. Reese, Mgr.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 4.—Confronted with a charge of shortage in his accounts, Mose Garrison, an assistant bookkeeper in the office of J. P. Allen & Co., a prominent Whitehall street firm, pulled his gun and began using it with deadly effect.

J. P. Allen, proprietor of the establishment, was wounded through the neck, C. E. Pollard, an expert accountant, was wounded in the back, and S. J. Hays, another accountant, was wounded in the arm.

A panic immediately ensued in the store, and customers on the first floor rushed to the rear and those on the second floor came tumbling down stairs. The doors were closed and in a few moments an officer was on the scene and placed Garrison under arrest. He was handled roughly before he would give up his gun.

The two accountants have been checking over the books of the firm for several days. Garrison and another man had charge of the books, and it was charged that a shortage existed in the C. O. D. department.

Mr. Allen charged Garrison with the shortage, and without a word Garrison pulled a revolver and began pumping bullets at everybody in sight. Mr. Lewis, an employee, leaped out of the small office, thereby escaping injury. But Mr. Allen was struck down at the second shot, and Pollard and Hays were wounded before they could get out of the crazed man's way.

The three wounded men were rushed to the hospital, where it was stated that none of them had been fatally injured. Garrison was locked up on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

The affair created a tremendous sensation, due to the prominence of the parties.

Maine Remains in Prohibition Ranks

Augusta, Mo., Nov. 6.—Maine retains constitutional prohibition. Gov. Plaisted and his council late to-night decided to accept the corrections in the vote of four towns cast in the special election in September, thus reversing the result as indicated on the face of the first official returns.

Returns on election day, Sept. 11, indicated a majority of about 300 against the repeal of the prohibition amendment, but later the official count showed a majority of 20 for repeal.

It was found by comparison, however, that in four cases the figures of the town clerk were reversed from their early returns and in each case the clerks claimed the error to be in the official figures. After hearings on the subject the Governor and council took the matter under consideration and the result was the unanimous to-night that Maine retained constitutional prohibition by 753 votes.

Sale of Valuable Lands.

Attention is called to a half page advertisement in this issue of the property belonging to the Perkins Lumber Co. Among the property to be disposed of is the tract of land lying between Claxton and Hagan, about one hundred acres. This land, located as it is, is a very valuable piece of dirt. Lying broadside the two towns, it affords an opportunity to some man or party to buy it in and subdivide it into five and ten acre lots. On the property are about sixty houses. These could be handled to advantage if the right party had the land. The owners state that the land will be placed on the market, and if you let it slip it will be your own fault.

Rogers Property Didn't Sell.

Partially owing to the illness of Col. R. Lee Moore, trustee for creditors, and a failure to agree among the creditors, the property belonging to Dr. J. T. Rogers, in South Statesboro, was not placed on the block yesterday, as was advertised. When some slight differences are fixed between the creditors, the property will again be advertised and sold.

Mr. F. M. Hendricks of Port spent the day in Statesboro yesterday.

Rev. W. O. Darney, of Mill Bay, spent the day in Statesboro yesterday.

Mr. John Q. Hendricks came down from Port yesterday.

Begin at The Bottom

That's good advice. First because it is the sure way; second, because for the most of us it is the only way. A step at a time, one dollar piled up beside another, careful, conservative, saving—these things will bring you gradually but surely up the ladder of success. Men fail because they get in too big a hurry, too anxious to grab at the golden apples' just out of reach. Stick to your ladder, stick to your job, stick to your saving habit. The fellow who goes up like a sky rocket usually comes down like a thousand of brick.

GREAT FARM LAND AUCTION SALE!

Davisboro, Ga., Washington Co., Nov. 21st, 1911

THE LAND.

This land is located at Davisboro, in the edge of town. Each one of the 26 lots will be a paradise of a farm. They must be seen to be appreciated. The land is comparatively level, has a gray and a red top soil, with a red clay sub-soil. 20 bales of cotton, plenty of corn, etc., is not unusual to one plow on this land. Ten bales of cotton, with ample corn, is the nearest failure registered. Positively there are not 10 acres of poor land on the entire tract; 18 of these lots have houses on them and every lot faces the public road. 900 acres of the original tract are in cultivation this year, which will give plenty of cleared land to each of the lots.

THE TOWN—Davisboro is a thriving little town of about 1,000 inhabitants, located on the main line of the Central of Georgia Railroad, 60 miles east of Macon, 60 miles west of Augusta, in the finest and most prosperous farming section of the South. Two banks, two warehouses, twenty good stores, three good churches, excellent high school. Inhabitants are of the highest type. Labor is plentiful. You cannot find finer roads in the state than they have in this section.

This will be the greatest Auction Sale ever pulled off in this section of the country. There was 1,300 acres in the original tract, which was the finest big farm in Georgia. This has been cut up into 50-acre lots, which will positively sell to the highest bidder.

You have never had, nor will you ever have again, the opportunity to buy such valuable farm lands at your own price. Come buy this land and we will rent it for you next year to an advantage. Your greatest opportunity to buy a home or make an investment.

Bill Minor Caught;

Tom Moore Killed.
Waynesboro, Ga., Nov. 4.—While rousing in a box car at St. Claire the slumbers of old Bill Minor and Tom Moore were rudely disturbed by the negro porter on the Georgia and Florida Railway calling out, "Is it cold in there?"

This gave a clue to the searchers who were on the lookout for the two criminals, and J. W. Whittell summoned help and surrounded the car. A demand was made for the two to come out. Old Bill came out slowly, and, upon being told to throw up his hands, he put up one hand and held the other one on his gun, a 32-calibre magazine pistol, which he reluctantly left in his pocket, and put up the other hand.

Moore showed fight and was shot in the face by William Salter. Two shots were fired by Tom and one at him.

Early in the morning old Bill Minor was brought to Waynesboro for safe keeping, and when he was placed in the sheriff's office a crowd surrounded it to get a look and talk to the famous old train robber whose record for escapes almost equals his record for crime. He thanked Commissioner Gresham for some favor done him.

Deputy Sheriff Samuels, who charge of him, told Minor was looking for him all day. Bill replied that he came; why didn't he come says he was in the swampst in the best of spirits and nothing had happened. He will escape if the opportunity sends itself.

He was needed as to where he been spending more time escape from the place there or several miles, he says he spent most of the time was in Georgia.

Tom Moore, who was with Minor who was killed while resisting arrest, was sentenced to life in the penitentiary for killing his brother. Moore was in search of some papers that he considered important in his case and was accompanied by Minor. He had a case in Augusta against some insurance company who carried the policy on his brother's life and he had several mistrials with it. It was for this case that he was searching for papers when he and his pal were surprised at St. Claire. Moore hoped to reopen the case at some future time. He was a young man, about 20 years of age, and his chances for commutation were good. He had been a trusty for the past two years, being allowed much freedom during that time. Minor is about 60 years old, a native of Kentucky. He will be kept in jail here until the state authorities come after him.

The reward of $300 offered by the Southern Express Company for the capture of Bill Minor will be paid to the persons responsible for his capture upon the filing of affidavits and proper proof. The express company received the first information of the capture of Minor through the Georgian Saturday morning and officials stated that the reward would be paid promptly when the proper action had been taken.

"Old Bill" Minor, the train robber recently recaptured at Waynesboro after his sensational escape from the state prison farm, will be sent back there at once despite the fact that he laughs at it and says it is the easiest place to escape from he has ever tried.

Chairman R. E. Davison, of the prison commission, stated that Minor would be sent back to the farm, and that he might try to escape if he wants to, but will not find it so easy a second time. He is to be double shanked and kept in the main stockade where guards will be constantly on the job.

Chairman Davison is going to take him at his word and says he will not be allowed to go near the hospital, no matter how sick he pretends to be. There are certain reports in connection with Minor's escape from the farm which the Prison Commission will investigate.

Begin at The Bottom

That's good advice. First because it is the sure way; second, because for the most of us it is the only way. A step at a time, one dollar piled up beside another, careful, conservative, saving—these things will bring you gradually but surely up the ladder of success. Men fail because they get in too big a hurry, too anxious to grab at the golden apples just out of reach. Stick to your ladder, stick to your job, stick to your saving habit. The fellow who goes up like a sky rocket usually comes down like a thousand of brick.

HODGES FINDS HIS HOME.

Readers of this paper will remember that about a month or so ago we printed an account of a check being raised from four dollars to forty by a man named C. R. Hodges, drawn on the Bank of Metter by Mr. M. F. Jones.

The man who did this work had gone out and picked cotton for Mr. Jones, and received payment in check. The work of raising the check was a clever piece of forgery and showed that the man who did it was not an ordinary day laborer traveling from post to post earning his bread by the sweat of his brow. Efforts were made to catch him but he eluded his pursuers and now he has shown up at Thomasville, where he touched one of the banks for more than seven hundred dollars. He has already been indicted and tried and sentenced to serve eight years in the penitentiary.

Thus it seems that he has now reached the haven he has been searching for for some time. In the meantime the bank at Metter is still out their thirty-six dollars.

G. B. JOHNSON ARRESTED.

Deputy Sheriff Shaw, of Tift county, was in town on Wednesday and placed under arrest Mr. G. B. Johnson, of Pulaski, who is charged with cheating and swindling. Mr. Johnson accompanied the officer back to Tift Thursday morning where a preliminary hearing will be held. It is charged that Mr. Johnson gave a check for fifty-two dollars on the Bank of Polk and when the check was presented there was no funds to meet the check, in fact it is said that Mr. Johnson had never had an account with the Bank of Polk. Mr. Johnson was seen by a News reporter and stated that he had done business with the bank at Tift near by for some time but had never drawn a check on the Bank of Polk. Mr. Johnson, who has been a prominent citizen of this county all of his life, purchased some farm property in Tift county last spring, which explains why he was transacting business in that section.

NEGRO COTTON PICKERS TRY FLIM FLAM GAME.

Mr. William Rogers of Undine, returned from Savannah Thursday afternoon where he went looking for cotton pickers. He secured the promise of several negroes to accompany him home, all of them asking advances, of course, as usual they set in to flim flam the farmers who try to get them out into the country to work. They kept jumping Mr. Rogers until when he reached Dover he had only four the last one having escaped just below Haledondale, where he jumped from the moving train. He left his well filled suit case on the train, and Mr. Rogers thought perhaps he had left some valuables in it. When it was opened a lot of brick bats rolled out of it. Fortunately, however, this particular con had obtained only a small sum in addition to his ticket. He was working the game all right, and it was lucky that no more was invested in him.

CASTLEBURY WANTED AT METTER.

J. S. Castleberry, a slick all round scoundrel who has been working in this section as an insurance agent, is under arrest in Savannah, charged with floating a worthless note on Mikell Bros. in exchange for booze and cash. The note was to be cashed by one of the banks at Vidalia, the bank in question answered over long distance phone that there was nothing doing and Castleberry was placed under arrest. When the paper reached Metter telling an account of the arrest of Castleberry, Mr. G. L. Williams, cashier of the Citizens Bank, swore out a warrant for him, he also having touched Mr. Williams for ten dollars on a worthless check drawn on the Vidalia bank.

6968,172 BALES OF COTTON GINNED UP TO NOVEMBER FIRST

This Exceeds the Previous Record for Same Period, in 1908, by 1,777,000 Bales—Greater Than the Ginning to November 14 of any Any Year According to the Government's Report.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—With a total of 6,968,172 bales of cotton of the growth of 1911 ginned prior to Nov. 1st, announced today by the census bureau, the promised record breaking cotton crop of this season is fast being made ready for the manufacturer. At no time in history of the American cotton industry has so great a crop been ginned to this time of the year.

The amount ginned to Nov. 1, exceeds by 1,777,000 ginned in 1908 the previous record. It also is greater than the ginning to November 14 of any year, being about 200,000 bales more than was ginned to that date in 1904, the record year. This would indicate that the crop was at least two weeks earlier in maturing and reaching the gin than in previous years total crop, based on ginning reports would therefore probably be more accurate if figured on the November 14 reports of other years. In previous record years, about 70 per cent of the total crop has been ginned to that date and a rough estimate of this year's crop might be placed at a minimum of 11,000,000 bales. Commercial experts estimates however, range up to more than 15,000,000 bales.

The census bureau's fourth cotton ginning report of the season is issued at 10 a. m., today and showing the number of running bales, counting round as half bales, of cotton of the growth comparative statistics to the corresponding date for the past three years, is as follows:

United States: 9,968,172 bales, compared with 7,345,953 bales last year, when 63.5 per cent of the entire crop was ginned to November 1; 7,017,849 bales in 1909, when 69.7 per cent ginned and 8,191,557 bales in 1908, when 62.6 per cent of the crop was ginned.

The number of round bales included were: 68,943 compared with 81,183 bales in 1910.

The number of bales of Sea Island cotton were: 56,133 compared with 40,504 bales last year; 55,237 bales in 1909, and 45,479 bales in 1908. The distribution of Sea Island cotton by states were: Florida, 20,874 bales, compared with 15,191 bales last year, 19,740 bales in 1909, and 19,064 bales in 1908. Georgia, 33,793 bales, compared with 22,490 bales last year; 31,277 bales in 1909, and 21,802 bales in 1908. South Carolina, 1,363 bales compared with 2,823 bales last year; 4,220 bales in 1909, and 4,613 bales in 1908.

Ginning by states, with comparative statistics and the per centage of the total crop ginned to November 1 in previous years, follow:

Alabama: 1,089,376 bales compared with 748,878 or 62.8 per cent in 1910; 676,331 or 65.0 in 1909; 891,067 or 66.9 per cent in 1908.

Arkansas: 443,505 bales, compared with 324,769 or 42.7 per cent in 1910; 472,232 or 67.7 per cent in 1909; 536,735 or 53.9 per cent in 1908.

Florida: 55,973 bales compared with 38,924 or 57.9 per cent in 1910; 45,664 or 72.8 per cent in 1909; and 43,234 or 61.2 per cent in 1908.

Georgia: 1,906,256 bales compared with 1,241,825 or 65.5 per cent in 1910; 1,384,913 or 74.9 per cent in 1909; and one 1,387,641 or 70.2 per cent in 1908.

VOL. 11, NO. 61

Begin at The Bottom

That's good advice. First because it is the sure way; second, because for the most of us it is the only way. A step at a time, one dollar piled up beside another, careful, conservative, saving—these things will bring you gradually but surely up the ladder of success. Men fail because they get in too big a hurry, too anxious to grab at the golden apples just out of reach. Stick to your ladder, stick to your job, stick to your saving habit. The fellow who goes up like a sky rocket usually comes down like a thousand of brick.

For County Superintendent of Education.

GEORGIA—Bulloch County.

To the voters of said county: By reason of some irregularity in the last election in the matter of selecting a school superintendent for this county, it has become necessary for another election to be had for this purpose. At the request of my friends I hereby announce as a candidate for this office, to be voted on at the primary for the selection of a governor on Dec. 7, 1911. I shall appreciate the support of the voters of this county and if elected promise a faithful administration of the duties of the office.

This Nov. 11, 1911.

ATTENTION, DEMOCRATS. For County Superintendent of Education.

I take this method of announcing myself a candidate for the office of county superintendent of education, subject to a Democratic primary if one is held. Feeling that I am prepared to discharge the duties of the office in a fair competent manner, I will appreciate the support of my fellow citizens.

F. BARTOW STUBBS DIES AT HIS HOME IN MACON.

MAYOR McDUGGALD WILL SERVE AGAIN.

There has been a decided change in the status of the municipal campaign since our last issue. In order to avoid factional strife at this time all parties concerned have united in asking Mayor J. A. McDougald to allow the use of his name before the primary soon to be called and he has consented to do so. It is therefore probable that there will be no opposition to Mr. McDougald, his administration having proved eminently successful and it was his expressed intention not to stand for re-election that caused the talk of other candidates. This turn of affairs we believe will give general satisfaction.

SHOWS OUTSIDE FORCE BLEW UP THE MAINE.

Havana, Nov. 14.—Exploration of the bottom of the Maine today about 140 feet off the bow, revealed a plate identified as forming a portion of the outer hull of the ship on the port side near the keel under the magazines, as having been blown inward, the upper part being folded inward. This apparently could result only from an external pressure.

The engineer in charge and the other officers are maintaining reticence, but the discovery is strongly confirmatory of the theory of an external explosion.

One body was recovered from the boiler room. It was that of an unusually tall man.

BODY SENT TO ENGLAND.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 16.—When the steamship Khalif steams out of Savannah for Liverpool with a cargo of cotton it will also carry the remains of Mr. Thos. F. Harrison, Jr., a cotton buyer who was killed near Savannah Saturday night in an automobile accident. Mr. Harrison was well known to the local cotton trade and his tragic death caused deep regret. It was known that in the event of his death he desired that his remains be sent back to England, and his wife has arranged with the captain of the Khalif to carry them back there. She will also probably accompany them.

NEGRO FOUND GUILTY OF KILLING CONDUCTOR.

Louisville, Ga., Nov. 16.—Will Thompson, the negro who killed Conductor Humphrey, of the Augusta Southern railroad, at Avera last January, was convicted of murder in the first degree in the superior court here today.

At the time of the killing there was considerable excitement and a mob was formed to lynch Thompson. He escaped from the mob, however, and was captured some months later in Lincoln county. Fearing another attempt Sheriff Smith would not bring Thompson back to this county until his trial. Sentence has not yet been passed.

"NO GREATER GLORY THAN REARING OF CHILDREN."

—Monsignor Falconio.

New York, Nov. 14.—Mgr. Falconio, who is going to Rome, delivered a message to American womanhood before the Krop Princessin Cecille sailed today. He said:

"There can be no greater service, no greater glory, than the rearing of children. The woman who looks properly after her home and children keeps her husband's love. First of all, a good woman should have in mind the proper care of her family. She is a citizen of the home and if she fulfills adequately the duties of that citizenship she will have no leisure for outside affairs. There can be no higher mission on earth than the care and education of children, and her heart and soul should be in her home. Women of the country should exert their powerful influence to end the divorce evil, the greatest peril of the day. It is undermining the life of families and society in general."

Cardinal-to-be Farley also had a message to deliver to the American people. The archbishop went to the affecting scene. His farewell injunction was: "Men, honor and love the home woman. No other can compare with her in dignity and honor."

TWELVE LONG YEARS.

John Jenks, alias Lewis Good, run, wanted in Butts county for the murder of a negro twelve years ago, was arrested by Sheriff Donaldson and the authorities of Butts county were notified. An officer came here and carried the negro back to Butts county this morning (Saturday) where he will be tried on the charge of murder.

Since the negro's escape from Butts county he has spent most of his time in Bryan, Bulloch and Tattnall counties.

JOHN M. SLATON NOW GOVERNOR

Chief Justice Fish Administered the Oath at 9 O'clock Thursday Morning in Presence of Friends.

J. G. PERRY NAMED PRIVATE SECRETARY.

Other Secretaries Will Be Appointed in Few Days—What New Governor's Signature Will Be.

(Atlanta Journal.)

Hon. John M. Slaton, president of the Georgia senate, was sworn in as governor of this state Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, the ceremony taking place in the reception room adjoining the executive office at the capitol. Only by a small gathering of the friends and relatives of the new governor was the ceremony witnessed, starting just at the stroke of 9 and consuming barely 2 minutes.

The oath was administered to him by Chief Justice W. H. Fisher, of the Georgia supreme court, and the first official act of Governor Slaton was to have that oath recorded on the executive minutes. "I think the proper signature that I should make to all state papers," he said in a short speech he made, "is J. M. Slaton, president of the senate and acting governor. The constitution contemplates that he president of the senate shall perform the duties of the governor in the period following a resignation."

Soon after taking the oath the new governor announced that Mr. J. G. Perry, of Camilla, Mitchell county, Ga., would be his private secretary during his session in office. Mr. Perry was secretary to Hon. J. M. Terrell during his service as United States senator. It will probably be a day or two before the other secretaries will be announced by the governor.

Among those present at the ceremony Thursday morning were Mrs. John M. Slaton, Mr. W. F. Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Waldo, Judge Lumpkin, Judge Samuel Atkinson, former Attorney General John C. Hart, Secretary of the Senate Charles S. Northern, Judges Warner Hill and Arthur Powell, of the appellate court, Judge Beverly D. Evans, State Senator Harris, former Senator J. C. Jarnigan, former Representative Charles Reid, Hon. Walter McElrath, the representative from Fulton county; B. M. Blackburn, Steve R. Johnston and a number of other Georgians.

Missouri Supreme Court Reverses
$50,000 Judgment.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 14.—
The Supreme Court of Missouri today reversed a judgment of $50,000 which Sam B. Cook, formerly Secretary of State, had obtained against the St. Louis Post-Dispatch for alleged libel.

The suit grew out of an editorial publication commenting on the failure of a bank and criticizing Secretary of State Cook for delaying to close the institution because of its solvent condition.

The court held that the editorial was pertinent and justified and that it was printed on good faith and in the interest of public service.

which built many of Great Brit-was capitalized at $4,000,000. The failure came from competition work on which has been stopped.

not stand for appointments of ne-which brings them in close con-

Prof. E. C. J. Dickens received a telegram late Thursday an-death of his cousin, Mr. C. D. Hy-

Soperton. The message came to-late for the Professor to catch a train and hence he missed getting to the funeral.

An event of much interest to the people of Statesboro was the wedding of Mrs. Tera L. Brannen young attorney of our city and has many friends. Mr. and Mrs.

Hunter are at home to their friends at the home of Mr. and

IT TAKES THE RING

TO KEEP THE GIRL

The custom of giving an engagement ring at betrothal time goes down to us from traditional times, and has endured because of its pretty and symbolic meaning. It still has a beautiful significance, and whether you wish a diamond or some less costly gem, you will find our store the proper place to make your selection.

This is the one time of all that you must be sure you are getting something reliable, and when it comes from us you can rest assured it is good. Our Spring Stock is being selected up to date. Also, we have added some addition to my optical plant, in the way of new grinding machinery. Proper attention to the examination of the eyes

GOVERNOR'S THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—Governor Smith, by proclamation, has fixed Thursday, November 30, as Thanksgiving day, it being the same set aside by presidential proclamation. It reads as follows:

"In accordance with the custom of setting aside a special day after the harvest time each year, as a day upon which we can manifest our gratitude to God for His manifold blessings and in recognition of our dependence upon Him, I, Hoke Smith, governor of the state of Georgia, do hereby designate and proclaim the day set apart by the President of the United States, namely, Thursday, November the 30th, 1911, a legal holiday and a day of general thanksgiving and prayer throughout the state.

"Let us gather in church and home, remembering the peace and prosperity that are ours, forgetting and forgiving all bitterness towards one another, and in true Christian spirit of gratitude to God and good will to men, unite in praise and thanksgiving to Him for His goodness and mercy, asking His guidance that we may go forth strengthened for future service.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the executive department to be affixed.

Dated at the capitol, in the city of Atlanta, this the fourteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eleven, and of the independence of the United States the hundred and thirty-sixth.

HOKE SMITH, Governor.

JEALOUS CRAZED MAN KILLS GIRL IN AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 15.—Crazed by jealousy, Ed J. Brazil, a white cotton mill operative, shot and killed Carrie Bell Duncan, a 16-year-old girl, in the presence of Brazil's sick wife this morning. Before the man could reload the single-barreled shotgun and turn the weapon on himself, his wife, though weak and feverish from illness, wrestled with him and prevented him from accomplishing his purpose.

Officers soon arrived and placed Brazil under arrest. Brazil and his wife and the dead girl and her family lived in the same tenement house.

He was enamored with the girl and was insanely jealous because of her alleged acceptance of attentions from another man. While the Duncan girl was in the room with the wife, and just after she had prepared for the Brazils, the husband seized a gun and blew the girl's brains out.

The wife is prostrated and Brazil refuses to talk, although letters found in his pocket stated that he loved the girl, was jealous of other men and that he intended to kill her and end his own life.

Begin at The Bottom

That's good advice. First because it is the sure way; second, because for the most of us it is the only way. A step at a time, one dollar piled up beside another, careful, conservative, saving—these things will bring you gradually but surely up the ladder of success. Men fail because they get in too big a hurry, too anxious to grab at the golden apples just out of reach. Stick to your ladder, stick to your job, stick to your saving habit. The fellow who goes up like a sky rocket usually comes down like a thousand of bricks.

CITY CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN.

At a meeting at the Court House on Friday night the regular annual "giving account of stewardship" will be heard, and a primary called for the election of mayor and council to serve another year. The mayor and finance committee have engaged Mr. D. F. McCoy to make an abstract of the books and doings for the past year to submit to the mass meeting. As far as we have been able to learn there is nothing doing in the way of more than one ticket in the approaching election. Mayor McDougald will probably have no opposition. Just whether all five of the council will be returned or whether they want to serve or not is not known at this time.

MAY BRIDGE

OGECHEE RIVER.

On yesterday a delegation from Screven county appeared before the Board of County Commissioners of Bulloch at their regular meeting, asking that this county meet the sister county half way in building two bridges across the Ogeechee river, one at Dover and one at Rocky Ford.

The delegation was composed of Mr. Orin Burke and Mr. J. A. Lee. Mr. Lee is chairman of the Board of County Commissioners of Screven county, and stated that his board stood ready to join Bulloch in an effort to give the people a crossway at the two points mentioned, provided, of course, that the cost is not too great.

The situation at both of these points was discussed thoroughly, the one at Dover is not complicated; there it means a new bridge from the start; the one at Rocky Ford means either the taking over of Capp's bridge and repairing it, or building a new one along the old crossing a short distance below. It is said that the piling in the river portion of that bridge is sound and could be used. The Capp's bridge has been discontinued as a toll bridge, and opened to free travel; this means, of course, that the owners take no risk of accidents made while crossing it. It is understood that the owners are willing to sell the bridge to the two counties at a nominal

SAVANNAH COURSE CLAIMS A VICTIM

J. D. McNay Is Killed Practicing for Races. Mechanician Is Badly Hurt.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 20.—The Savannah automobile race course claimed its first victim today, which was the first day it had been thrown open for practice of those who are entered for the races next week. J. D. McNay, driving a Case car, lost control of his mount at the Montgomery cross roads and the car went off the track, turning over. McNay was killed and his mechanic, named Maxwell, was badly hurt. McNay was placed in another car and rushed rapidly to Savannah hospital, but was dead when he got there. Maxwell is badly hurt, but his injuries are not fatal. This was the second accident of the morning on the course. Joe Dawson, driving a Marmon car, having been in a collision a little earlier with several other drivers and a touring car which was on the course.

Dawson Badly Hurt.

Dawson is hurt so badly he may not be able to enter the Vanderbilt cup race or the Grand Prize race. The other drivers in this general mix-up were Knipper, in a Mercer, and Barnes, in a Mercer. They were not hurt. Nickrent was driving the car in which Dawson was riding when a touring car came along on the course and the four cars ran together, the drivers apparently becoming confused. The Mercer cars were badly damaged.

McNay's Neck Broken.

McNay's remains were carried to a local undertaking establishment. His body bore few marks to show what caused death, but it is believed his neck was broken. McNay began his racing career in Texas, but has been on all the famous tracks of the country.

SLATON ISSUES ELECTION CALL

Special Election for Governor on January 10th.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 20.—The special election to fill the vacancy in the governor's office created by the resignation of Governor Hoke Smith will be held on January 10, 1912.

The call for the election on that date was issued this afternoon by Acting Governor John M. Slaton, who at the same time ordered a special session of the general assembly for January 21 to canvass the returns and declare the winner. The inauguration exercises will be held on January 25.

As the result of the gubernatorial race will be decided in the primary election to be held on December 7th, the date fixed by the state executive committee, the special election will be little more than a formality.

At the time the election is being held for governor the people will also vote for the first commissioner of commerce and labor who is to be elected at that time.

ENGLAND MAY DECLARE WAR AGAINST GERMANY.

England on Verge of Taking Sides With France in Morocco-Congo Affair.

London, Nov. 20.—Knowledge that England was on the point of going to war with Germany in support of France, in the Moroccan trouble and it being generally known that the government had apparently consented to Russia's advance upon Persia, has precipitated a storm of criticism over the extreme secrecy with which the nation's foreign affairs are conducted.

Foreign Secretary Grey has promised to make to parliament on November 27 a statement of the empire's foreign relations.

VIDALIA CITIZENS ARE INDICTED.

Charged by U. S. Grand Jury With Delaying Mail.

(Savannah Press.)

Fifteen residents of Vidalia, members of and sympathizers with labor organizations, have been indicted by the grand jury of the United States court on charges of obstructing and retarding the United States mails.

The parties made defendant in this action are alleged to have stopped two mail trains on the Georgia and Florida railroad and forcibly removed therefrom trainmen who were in the service of the company at the time the strike was called. Both trains operated between Augusta and Vidalia. The road operates between Augusta and Madison, Fla.

The trains were held up on separate occasions. There are not many defendants as there are indictments, some of the parties being indicted twice.

The indictments were returned into court in Savannah last Friday. The marshal was returned shortly to arrest the defendants and they will be brought into Savannah to give bond.

The trouble for which these are indicted grew out of the strike on that road on Sept. 30 and Oct. 4, when trains were held up and delayed from getting through with the government mails.

OBITUARY.

It is with feelings of great sadness that we chronicle the death of Delmer Hendrix, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hendrix. He was born March, 1894; died Oct. 28, 1911, making his stay on this earth 17 years, 7 months and 4 days.

He was stricken with meningitis, and never rose from his bed again. Although suffering much he bore it cheerfully, portraying even in his hours of greatest agony, a hopeful spirit and a desire to inspire those around him in the same way.

Being a youth of great promise, just entering into a bright young manhood, his end, to our finite minds, seems unthinkably sad. In his unassuming wholeness, called him, and left us to mourn the loss that might have been.

Knowing him intimately for the past year, especially in the capacity of teacher and pupil, I feel justified in saying that his life was a shining example. He was a hard-working, docile and intelligent, an obliging schoolmate, a faithful and affectionate friend, and above all a loving and dutiful son.

It is hard for us to give him up, but we mourn not as they who have no hope, but take courage and look forward to a blessed reunion on the glorious resurrection morn when they that die in the Lord shall meet Him at His coming and He shall "turn their mourning into joy, and will comfort them, and make them rejoice from their sorrow."

May a compassionate Father temper their bereavement to the sorrowing parents and help them to know that He doeth all things well.

DEMOCRATS AFTER "RULE OF SEASON"

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—Amendment of the Sherman anti-trust law at the coming session of Congress is to be undertaken in earnest by Democrats of the House, according to a declaration today by Representative Henry of Texas, ranking member of the Committee on Judiciary.

In addition to anti-trust legislation the Judiciary Committee also has decided upon revision of the injunction statutes and the laws regulating indirect contempt cases.

Efforts of the committee will be directed chiefly toward elimination from the statute of the "rule of reason," as interpreted by the Supreme Court.

A law providing trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt of court and modification of the injunction restrictions are regarded by the Democratic leaders as essential to fulfillment of the party pledges as expressed in the platform of the Denver convention.

HUNTERS GIVE WARNING TO LAX GAME WARDENS.

Quail Being Slaughtered Out of Season—Where Are the Lawful Protectors?

(Atlanta Georgian.)

"Where are the deputy game wardens? Why are they not on the job?"

Any light upon the above questions will be appreciated by a number of Georgians, headed by Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue W. J. Martin, who, as true sportsmen, want to put a stop to the swiftly approaching extermination of the quail by the alleged laxity of those officials who are paid by the state to prevent quail shooting out of season.

The matter has been brought to the attention of local sportsmen by Mr. Martin, whose duties lead him to make many expeditions into the country where quail and game abound. Upon many occasions lately he has found men with dogs, shooting quail to their hearts content, despite the fact that the open season for quail does not begin in Georgia until December 1, and that game wardens have been appointed by the state game commissioner in every county, and they in turn have named their own deputy game wardens to see that those who shoot quail before the open season are dealt with by the law.

Two occasions are cited by Mr. Martin when hunters were seen by him flushing and shooting quail without apparent regard for the game laws.

Last Friday, says Mr. Martin, he had occasion to go into the woods between Peachtree road and the Roswell road. While there he says he met two different hunting parties with dogs, hunting quail as though December 1 were far in the past. Monday, Mr. Martin spent the day in Clayton and Fayette counties, and while there says that he saw many hunting parties flushing quail and shooting them with indifference to the fact that deputy game wardens should have been patrolling the community.

"This apparent laxity on the part of the game wardens," said Mr. Martin, "is outrageous. Like many other hunters I know of, with whom I have talked over the matter, I am fond of small shooting, but I realize that if the game laws are not obeyed, the extermination of the little bird is sure to result. The matter should be brought to the attention of the state commissioner and something should be done to force his deputies to fulfill the duties for which they are paid.

WORKED ON GANG NEAR HOUSE HE HAD ROBBED.

Burglar at Atlanta Didn't Like That, So He Fleed.

Atlanta, Nov. 14.—This burglar had a sense of the eternal fitness of things and it was violated when he was set to working in front of the very house for the robbery of which he was sent to the pen. His name was Oscar McLendon, and the home he robbed was sent to the pen. His name was Oscar McLendon, and the home he robbed was that of Rouben Arnold, one of Georgia's best known lawyers. The booty he secured was worth $2,000.

When he found he was working in front of the house he had robbed, he thought it time to make his escape, and since this morning has not been heard of, although city and county police are after him and several rewards have been offered for his capture.

One of the saddest funerals that has occurred in this county in some time was that of Ruth Lee, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. Charles Lee, of Claxton. A large number of her school mates came over to pay their last respects.

POTATO LIKE A FOOT ARRIVES FROM MAINE.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—From Arrostock county, Maine, comes a potato that resembling so closely a human foot that, according to the pedigree that accompanied the spud to J. J. Barnes-Fain Company, of Atlanta, who are the proud possessors of the freak of nature, the farmer who picked, plucked or dug—however they get potatoes—became terror-stricken at its sight, believing that murder had been done on his place.

The potato is truly a curious looking object, with its five appendages, looking exactly like toes of a man suffering from a club foot. The vegetable is just about the size of a human foot—size 14.

LEPER IS STILL AT LARGE.

Escaped From St. Louis and Now Can't Be Found.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—A leper who escaped from quarantine at St. Louis is at large somewhere in the country, according to a report just issued by the Public Health and Marine Hospital service. He is 27 years old, was born in California, lived for a time in New York city, then in Maryland, Pennsylvania and other Eastern states.

In April of this year he reached St. Louis from Pittsburgh, where he was placed in quarantine June 4, after examinations made by the city bacteriologist. He got away the following day.

OTTOMAN EMPIRE CRUMBLING FAST

With National Treasury Impoverished, Her Forces Are Losing on Land and Sea. Treaty Expected Soon. Holy War Has Commenced in Tripoli and Can Not Be Quelled.

Constantinople, Nov. 14.—With her national treasury impoverished by the war with Italy and with her military forces steadily losing on land and sea, the Ottoman empire is finally on the verge of stuning for peace, taking the best terms possible as indemnity for the loss of Tripoli. The Sublime Porte is expected to take action looking toward peace some time this week. Such representations are either being made to the powers or will be according to information from an authentic source. Turkey has at last become convinced that her forces are no match for Italy.

However, it is believed that the formal declaration of peace will not end hostilities in Tripoli. The turbulent tribesmen who have declared a holy war against the Christian invaders will probably keep up a long and bloody campaign until they are either subdued by the strongest of measures or are annihilated entirely.

THE GUBERNATORIAL SITUATION.

As the gubernatorial race draws nearer its finish we find as would be expected, the friends of all three candidates claiming the election.

The latest developments seem though to favor the election of Judge Russell. His management seems to be more definite in their claims; this together with the admission of many of the conservatives of the opposition, rather forecasts the election of Russell.

It was expected that when ex-Governor Brown entered the race that it would have a tendency to divide the opposition vote to Pope Brown. The very reverse of what was expected has happened. "Little Joe" seems in this case to have thrown off the old "sheep hide" that he has been wearing all these years, obtaining votes from the local optimists, claiming to have been with them, at the same time keeping a weather eye on a lot of temperance women agitators. But in this case things got where "Little Joe" could stride die no longer and finding that the local optimists had already been provided with a candidate, went back to his first love, and went back home to the prohibition camp. So it is now a question which of the two Browns will get the bulk of the prohibition vote.

Both seem to be good prohibitionists, with "Little Joe" seemingly having the advantage in the record over Pope. The prohibitionists like Len Broughton and that crowd of cranks, who denounced "Little Joe" for everything that was mean in 1908, when he was elected, are now out advocating his candidacy from the house tops, so to speak.

Taking the state over, the situation seems to be about this: In Middle and Middle South Georgia Pope Brown will get a pretty strong vote, with Russell running second and Joe Brown third. In Northeast Georgia Joe Brown will get a small slice, but it will be rather a small one, with Russell taking almost as many counties, and Pope Brown running third. In the First Congressional District Russell will carry practically every county in it, including of course the old First as it stood before the re-apportionment. He may miss one or two counties but his friends believe he will carry them all. In the Seventh Congressional District the opposition to Russell acknowledges that "Old Plain Dick" will make a practically clean sweep of things, carrying almost every county. The same is true of the Ninth and the Fourth. He will get half the counties in the Eleventh, and about half in the Tenth, and will make a good run in the Third and Eighth. His weakest spot seems to be in the Sixth. Russell will carry two-thirds of the Fifth, including the Big City of Atlanta and Fulton county. It is believed in Atlanta that he will beat Joe Brown in Cobb county, which is the home of the ex-governor, Pope Brown having not even a look in there. Russell is conceded all the big six vote counties with the exception of Bibb, that is a race between the two Browns. The prohibitionists supporting one, and the blind tigers the other.

We believe it is pretty safe that Russell will go into the convention, if there were to be one, with a majority of the county unit votes.

DARSEY THINKS RUSSELL ALL WRONG.

In this issue will be found a communication from Rev. B. W. Darsey, who takes a few hot shots at Judge Russell.

Mr. Darsey, like all the balance of the prohibitionists, looks upon the question of submitting the liquor question to the people for settlement as the monumental crime of the age. In this they confess by their acts that they do not believe a majority of the people would vote their way.

Mr. Darsey is in error when he says that this question was submitted to the people in 1907. If our memory is correct we had no issue in that campaign on the prohibition question. The successful candidate for governor at that time stood for local option, just like Judge Russell stands now, viz: the Hon. Hoke Smith. And again if our memory is not very much out of joint, the Rev. B. W. Darsey was one of the Hoke Smith shouters in that campaign, voted for local option then but thinks it a crime for a man to stand for it now.

The legislature passed this bill at the instance of a lot of prohibitionists, men and women, who thronged the capital from day to day, many of whom didn't represent the sentiment of the people in their respective counties who were not given an opportunity to vote on the question.

In every legislature since then, when the question came up touching the whiskey question, the prohibitionists have invariably fought every amendment to submit anything to the people. They are scared to let it go to the people.

The spirit of his position is that the few shall rule the many, that the many are not capable of taking care of themselves. He is opposed to the great underlying principles of local self government and therefore has no place in a party that has always stood for this. He belongs to that class who would like to see the automatic few meet and dish out to the common people that which they think they should have without ever consulting them about it.

Mr. Darsey's doctrine would have suited the policies in vogue in the dark ages when the average citizen was never consulted about the question of government and knew better than to open his mouth, these things were not considered a part of the business of the average, common, everyday citizen, just like he thinks the prohibition question should be settled now.

Mr. Darsey, like all other prohibitionists, confuses the whiskey along with the question of murder, rape, burglary, etc. Now that might catch a fellow who didn't have a thimble full of sense, but nobody with one eye and one-third sense would pay any attention to such tommyrot. Whiskey is the product of the orchard, field and vineyard, it is distilled in a fluid and put up for the use of mankind, unfortunately a great many men cannot restrict themselves to its proper use. It is regrettable that the weaknesses of men brings this question up, but this does not justify the classing of it along with the crimes mentioned above. Their effort to do this is an effort to prejudice the question before men who are too weak to think for themselves.

Just why it is that every man who is in favor of local option is classed as a whiskey man is hard to say, except that it has become a crime in this advanced age of the world's civilization to stand for that principle of the right to govern ourselves by the majority rule, a principle that our forefathers waded through the hardships and privations of two bloody wars to preserve. Two-writer has never voted a whiskey ticket, at the late residence of S. H. Kennedy, deceased, the following described property to-wit:

THE W. C. T. U. WORK.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union was organized here in Statesboro about one year ago and since that time the membership has grown considerably. Below we give quotations from some very celebrated Christian people:

"Had alcohol never been discovered and were it then in my power to portray the effects of such a discovery, all men, without exception, would declare it impossible to conceive of any more diabolical plan for the degradation and destruction of the human race."

Our greatest foes are the manufacturers and the distributors of alcohol."

It is inconceivable that any intelligent, rational man can deny the necessity for strong, united action to rid the land of both manufacturer and distributor."

Dr. Howard A. Kelly of Johns Hopkins hospital of Baltimore.

Over one hundred counties in the state have had prohibition for years. They have outgrown counties similarly situated which have permitted the sale. There is no doubt that prohibition is wise from an economic standpoint. The overwhelming sentiment of the white people of Georgia is for prohibition, and the law will be enforced."

Hoke Smith, Governor of Georgia.

It is high time that we pledged ourselves, the best test is in us, to destroy this destroyer, alcohol, that is striking at the standard of our citizenship and the character of our people, that would actually blast our chances, not only of taking liberty, but of carrying the gospel to the world."

Circumstances have forced us to move into new quarters by January 1st, and it is our earnest desire to have our entire stock fresh from the mills, in keeping with our new store, and we certainly appreciate the patronage of our many friends in Bulloch and adjoining counties, and for this reason we have decided to give an opportunity to purchase their fall and winter supplies at moving prices, and beg to request that you do us the honor to visit our new store, where we will be in position to serve you better than ever.

HARVESTER TRUST FINED $50,000

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 14.—The supreme court of the state of Missouri today granted a writ of habeas corpus against the International Harvester Company and fined the company $50,000 in the case of the state of Missouri against the company.

The International Harvester Co. of America, Commissioner Brace found, was used merely as a selling agent by the Harvester trust, the New Jersey corporation, in evasion of the Missouri laws which prohibit the licensing of the trust because of its enormous capital of $120,000,000.

Recent dispatches from Washington stated that although papers in the government's dissolution suit against the concern have been prepared, no action will be taken pending the result of conferences between Attorney General Wickeshaam and attorneys for the company. The government, it was reported, was ready to permit the trusts to adjust its organization to interpretations of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The case was begun in 1907 by Attorney General Hagley. Last spring the Harvester company filed its brief in the supreme court, declaring Special Commissioner Theodore Brace's report showed it had done no injurious acts and had in no manner restrained trade.

Later the company filed another brief with Commissioner Brace, contending it was a "good trust." In September Mr. Brace reported back to the supreme court that the company was a trust and combine formed for the purpose and with the effect of destroying competition.

The original action was a quo warranto, which asked that all franchises and privileges of the company in Missouri be revoked, and that its property be confiscated or a fine imposed.

The filing of the exceptions and arguments took up months before the case came up to the present term of court for a final decision. Wall Street heard news before Decision Was Given.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 14.—Wall street learned of the Harvester trust decision today before the state supreme court met here. The judges expressed indignation at the "leak" and declared they would order an immediate investigation. International Harvester stock declined 3 points in the forenoon.

$2,500,000 FOR GOOD ROADS IN GEORGIA.

This is 1911's Record Now. Secretary Wilson Says South Has Spent $14,000,000.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Speaking of the advantages of good roads and of what is being done in that direction, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson declared today that nearly $14,000,000 has been expended during the present year for good roads in the Southern states alone. The Secretary will speak on the subject at the good roads congress to be held next week in Richmond.

"Reports to the department," said Secretary Wilson, "show that Florida spent $1,505,000, Georgia $2,500,000, North Carolina $4,505,000 and South Carolina $1,100,000.

"The 'The department is co-operating with state or local authorities in practically every state, and reports show that over 200,000 miles of roads were built during the past twelve months.

BIG McNAMARA FUND MAY CAUSE HOT FIGHT.

California Delegation Wants to Appropriate $50,000 for Defense Fund.

(Atlanta, Journal.) Labor leaders are making a strenuous effort to prevent the introduction into the convention of the American Federation of Labor now in session here, of a resolution framed by the California delegation appropriating $50,000 for the defense of the McNamara brothers.

A large sum already has been raised for this purpose by private subscription and the leaders contend, it is said, that whatever money is needed for the McNamara defense can be obtained in this manner without drawing upon the funds in the none too well stocked treasury of the federation. Opponents of the resolution assert that the leaders are fearful lest it precipitate a fight on the floor since some of the delegates are known to be opposed to such an appropriation.

The convention already has placed itself on record pledging continued "moral and financial support" to the McNamaras in a telegram sent yesterday by President Gompers by direction of the convention. Delegates have but one more day within which to present resolutions. The California committee must decide shortly what they intend to do. A stormy conference at labor headquarters Tuesday night is said to have ended without any decision being reached.

IDENTITY OF WOMAN WHO GAVE HOSPITAL UNKNOWN.

Omaha, Neb., Gets the Building as Gift From Former Memphis Woman Who Left $250,000 Estate.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 14.—The identity of "Anna Wilson," the woman whose gift to the city of Omaha of a $50,000 building for an emergency hospital precipitated acrimonious discussion, many persons opposing its acceptance on the ground that the property was "tainted" has just been learned.

She was Margaret Alice Platt, who mysteriously disappeared from Memphis, Tenn., in 1867, according to a story printed today. The same year "Anna Wilson" arrived in Omaha and for more than thirty years was a well-known character of the city. She left an estate of $250,000 wholly to charity. She died four weeks ago.

TWO U. S. CARDINALS SAIL FOR ROME, ITALY.

30,000 Roman Catholic Children Cheer Archbishop Farley and Mgr. Falconio.

New York, Nov. 14.—Thirty thousand Roman Catholic school children, each carrying a papal and United States flag, took part in an impressive farewell to Archbishop John M. Farley and Mgr. Diomedeo Falconio, the retiring apostolic delegate at Washington, who sailed today on the steamship Kron Prinzessin Cecilie en route for Rome, where they will be elevated to the cardinalate by Pope Pius X on the 27th of this month. Grandeur and simplicity were blended in the farewell which was accorded the dignitaries.

"God bless our cardinal" rose in a chant from thousands of childish voices ringing through St. Patrick's cathedral like the antiphonies of choral service.

BIG CROWDS WILL GO TO THE RACES.

Unless all signs fail Bulloch county will be almost depopulated next week on account of the immense crowds who will attend the automobile races in Savannah. All railroads leading out of here are going to run special trains with low rates, and this, together with the large number who will go down in automobiles, will make this county very much in evidence at the big event. This is about the season of the year when the average fellow is ready to go to Savannah anyway, and it looks like he is going to take advantage of this occasion.

GEORGIA AND COTTON STATES BREAK RECORD.

More Cotton Ginned to November 14 Than Ever Before, Georgia's Record Figures Already Passed.

Washington, Nov. 21.—In no previous year has so much cotton been ginned to Nov. 14 as during the present season, the census bureau's report today showing a total of 11,269,986 bales, which is almost a million and a half bales more than was ginned to that date in the record year of 1904.

The feature of today's report, however, was the figures of Georgia, which show 2,103,979 bales had been ginned to Nov. 14. This quantity of cotton is more than ever grown in Georgia before, and by the time the final ginning reports are received it will have far surpassed the previous crops of any year. Every cotton state except Mississippi and Oklahoma showed a greater amount of cotton ginned than during the past two years.

While the total was greater than any other year the amount ginned between Nov. 1 and 14 this year was not so large as that ginned last year during that time. Only 1,299,081 bales were ginned this year, compared with 1,369,279 bales during the period a year ago.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—The census bureau's fifth cotton ginning report of the season, issued at 10 a. m. today and showing the number of running bales counting round as half bales, of cotton of the growth of 1911, ginned prior to November 14, with comparative statistics for the corresponding date for the past three years, is as follows:

United States: 11,269,986 bales compared with 8,780,433 bales last year, when 75.9 per cent of the entire crop was ginned prior to November 14; 8,112,199 bales in 1909, when 80.5 per cent was ginned and 9,595,809 bales in 1908, when 73.3 per cent was ginned.

The number of round bales included were 76,011, compared with 93,304 bales last year, 123,757 bales in 1909 and 173,908 bales in 1908.

The number of bales of Sea Island cotton included were 71,199 compared with 56,634 bales last year, 68,945 bales in 1909, and 56,701 bales in 1908.

TO KISS HIS DYING BABY. STRIPLING IS SENT HOME FOR A SINGLE SAD HOUR.

(Atlanta Journal.) In order that he may kiss his dying baby before the little one breathes its last, Thomas Edgar Stripling has been taken from the prison farm to Columbus, Ga., under heavy guard, and will be permitted to spend an hour or two with his unhappy wife and family.

The necessary orders were signed early Tuesday morning by Governor Slaton, with the concurrence of Chairman Davison of the prison commission.

The action was the result of a heart-rending letter received Monday by the governor from Mrs. Stripling. She told how she and her ten children had suffered actual destitution since the husband and father had been taken from them, and that her distress had now been rendered almost unbearable by the approaching death of one of her little ones.

In the name of humanity she begged the governor, if he could not see his way clear to sign a pardon or parole, at least to accord her husband the privilege of returning home if only for a moment for a last look upon the face of their dying child.

The governor and Mr. Davison were profoundly touched by the letter, and decided at once to grant the request. As a necessary precaution, Stripling is accompanied by two guards, who are instructed not to take the slightest chances with their prisoner.

The Stripling case is recalled by all Georgians.

Thomas Edgar Stripling killed William Cornett in Harris county years ago and was convicted of murder. Shortly after beginning to serve his life sentence, he escaped, and disappeared. After a decade or more he was located in Danville, Va., where he had become chief of police and was a highly regarded citizen. He was brought back to Georgia. The whole South watched the outcome of the appeal for pardon. The pardon was recommended by the prison commission, but was turned down by Governor Brown, and Stripling went back to prison. Gov. Hoke Smith took no action in the Stripling pardon appeal, and Governor Slaton will take none.

SIMMONS COMPANY'S GREAT SALE.

There was one place in Statesboro yesterday that gave the lie to the impression that times were hard, that was along the counters of the Simmons Company. Their Great Removal Sale, notice of which went to the public in our last issue, had carried to the people the news that there was such a cut in prices of staple, everyday need stuff that the store was thronged from morning until night. Every clerk was run all day long to wait on the eager buyers.

One reason for this is, the prices named were such that it commanded attention; the people who have got to buy goods in the face of the present low price of cotton are going to buy them where they can get them the cheapest, and they are taking advantage of the things that this firm is offering.

Just received big lot men's and boys Sample Hats at 1-2 the regular price.

Road Superintendent Cox informs us that he will finish the work of grading the Savannah road to the county line this week, and will then move on the road between Emmitt and Pembroke, which will be graded and put in first class shape to the county line in that direction.

A tenant house on the farm of Mr. D. A. Brannen, near Emmitt, was burned on Monday afternoon. The negro who was living in it lost two hundred and ten dollars in cash which he had laid up in the house as a result of his labors this year, together with his household effects.

In this issue will be found the announcement of Mr. J. M. Fordham, who tells his friends that he is a candidate for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the Democratic Primary for the nomination of county officers. Mr. Fordham is a good, deserving man, he is a cripple, and would appreciate the place. It is believed that he will make a strong race.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 15.—Curt Jett, serving a life term for the Breathitt county assassinations and Henry Youtsey, serving a life term for the assassination of Goebel, both of whom have grown religious in prison, were rival candidates for president of the penitentiary Christian Endeavor society. Youtsey was declared winner, but the balloting was so close that Jett has filed a contest with Warden Mudd. The race finally became partisan, the Republicans lining up with Youtsey and the progressives with Jett.

MAGAZINE PUBLISHERS INDICTED FOR FRAUD.

Officials of Columbia Stirling Publishing Co. Suffer for Wrong Use of Mails.

New York, Nov. 14.—Indictments charging the use of the mails to defraud were returned today by a Federal grand jury against Frank Orin, president; John F. Barkin, Lee Sidwell and Eugene V. Yates, members of the Columbia Stirling Publishing Co. All of the accused men were already under arrest and are now out on bail.

The company is now in bankruptcy and A. Gordon Murray is the receiver. It is charged that after a circular was sent out announcing a dividend payment on September 1 an examination of the books showed there not only was no surplus, but that the company had lost almost a quarter of a million dollars in the first three months of its existence. Postoffice Inspector Dickson made the statement that more than $1,000,000 had been obtained through the stock donation.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 15.—John Willis Worley, on trial for the murder of James H. Turner, a colored restaurant keeper and automobile driver, was this afternoon adjudged guilty in the superior court and sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. The young Alabamian pleaded self-defense, declaring the dead man had drawn a gun on himself and begged the co-defendant, who is now facing trial on a similar charge. Judge Charlton did not finish instruction to the jury until long after midnight and the jury did not retire until 3 o'clock this morning. Turner was killed on the Augusta road following an automobile ride contracted for by the two defendants and his body thrown into an abandoned well.

The young man stated that the difficulty followed an attempt on the part of Turner to charge them an exorbitant rate for the ride.

Brass Band and Auction Land Sale at Wesley on Thursday the 23rd of this week.

The band I have employed for the above date has few, if any equals in the south. Out of 22 bands at general reunion of the Confederate Veterans in Little Rock, Ark., last May, it was the most noted. It is no tin pan arrangement with three months practice, but a band of real musicians that you would go farther to hear a second time.

The town of Wesley is located where the G. & F. R. R. from Augusta to Madison crosses the Central R. R. from Dublin to Savannah. It is not near enough to any town to hurt or be hurt, being 20 miles south to the next town, Vidalia. Nor is it built on short lived public works. Instead it is backed by one of the richest farming sections in Georgia.

The surest guaranty of its bright future is the unselfish and progressive people behind it. Proof that it has such people is the remarkable growth. Only 8 months ago the depot was the only building. Now there is a brick building 90 feet by 120 feet, containing a bank and general supply business; a cotton gin; a 19-room hotel nearly completed; several costly dwellings, and lumber is on the ground for several more. A deal has just been made for a brick dry kiln and novelty works, and also a drug store. A guano factory and marble yard are quite certain. I have yet to learn of a town with such a history and brighter future.

On Thursday of this week you will have an opportunity to buy lots in the very heart of the business and residential sections at your own price. Such easy terms will not keep any one from buying at least one. Only 15 per cent is required on that day, and balance in monthly or quarterly installments without interest or taxes. No contract to run longer than January 1st, 1913. 8 per cent discount at any time. Lots range in size from 30 feet by 90 feet to 70 by 200 feet. Though times are financially hard just now, remember that it is the time to invest. Our richest men have become so by taking advantage of such times. You may feel sure that no one would put on a sale at this time unless forced to.

Don't forget the date and the place---Wesley on Thursday of this week

A FEW WORDS ABOUT R. B. RUSSELL

Mr. Editor: I have carefully noted Mr. Russell's platform with his request, begging people to assist him in his race for governor. His platform is fairly good with the exception of that part in regard to the prohibition question. He says that he favors its repeal. I am surprised that any man of his standing would favor the turning loose of one of the greatest evils the devil has ever invented upon our people. But we have lived to almost anything to get into a fat office. It is considered by all good people that the liquor traffic is the greatest curse the world has ever known. He says the people should say by their votes whether they want prohibition or not. Well, that was an issue in 1907, and they voted for temperance men to the legislature and they passed the prohibition act almost unanimously.

There is a law against murder, against burglary, against larceny and other crimes. Why not have them repealed and leave it to the people to say whether they want them or not. When this prohibition law was enacted the whiskey crowd howled and tried to make it appear that the state was ruined, but the state has prospered ever since. The last four years there has been a whole new Georgia, such a wave of prosperity before. Many homes that were blighted by the whiskey traffic are now in good circumstances and happy. But Mr. Russell says the prohibition law is a failure. It is true the law is violated too often, but that is no pretext for their being repealed. God Almighty never enacted a law but what is violated, but that don't prove that the good Lord was wrong in making such laws.

But Mr. Russell and the whiskey crowd say that there is more liquor used now than there was before we had this law. If that, now, is true why do they want the law repealed? Oh, what inconsistency! If we have local option everywhere, the big cities would vote wet, and they would supply the rural districts and have them debauched. Let us not go backward, but press onward and upward.

COUPLE WEDDED IN COURT BY RECORDER

Statesboro Couple Go To Police Court To Marry.

From the Morning News. With Sergt. J. J. Deignan presiding, and Robert L. Colding, Esq., as best man, Recorder John E. Schwartz yesterday in police court married a couple from Statesboro.

Romer H. Groover, and Miss Fannie M. Rigdon came to Savannah Saturday to have the ceremony performed, but in anticipation of the wedding the prospective groom indulged a little too freely in intoxicating beverages and it was necessary for Patrolman Long to give him attention. The couple were married in the court room, but his honor did not think it necessary to keep them waiting and asked Sergeant Deignan, who was on duty at the court desk, to do the ushering. They came in, and with Sergt. Deignan in the chair, the wedding ceremony was read by Recorder Schwartz.

There was a deadly stillness in the court room while the couple were being made man and wife, but at the conclusion of the ceremony when Recorder Schwartz told the groom to salute the bride and Mr. Groover clasped her in his arms the court room resounded with the laughter of the large crowd of spectators. The couple left for Statesboro in the afternoon.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE HAD NO QUORUM

On account of a lack of attendance, caused partly by illness of one or two members, there was no meeting of the Bulloch County Democratic Executive Committee on Saturday. The committee has been called together again Thursday of this week, when the question of calling a primary for superintendent of education, and providing for the holding of the state primary on December 7th will be taken up.

Per County Treasurer.

I take this method of announcing to my friends and the public generally that I will be a candidate for the office of County Treasurer for Bulloch county in the next Democratic primary called for the purpose of nominating candidates for this place. Feeling that I am competent to discharge the duties of this high office and assuring the people of my sincere appreciation, I respectfully ask their support when the primary is held.

Respectfully, J. M. FORDHAM.

A Card to the Voters.

I have had a talk with the State School Superintendent over the phone, and he advised me that the State Board has not declared any of the applicants ineligible, and the State Board will act on the matter at an early date.

Before you promise your support to another man, please wait till you hear further from me. I am still in the race to the finish.

Very respectfully, B. R. OLLIFF.

HODGES RETURNED MONEY FOR RAISED CHECK.

Our readers will remember some time ago of the experienced Bank of Metter had with a fellow named C. R. Hodges, who raised a check on them from four dollars and made it read forty dollars, thus obtaining thirty-six dollars too much. The bank people inform us that Hodges, who is now serving an eight year sentence in the penitentiary for touching a bank at Thomasville for several hundred dollars, about the time he made the raise at Thomasville and soon after leaving here, learned that Bank of Metter was close onto his heels, so he sent them their thirty-six dollars back. The father of J. S. Castleberry, who touched the cashier of the Citizens Bank of Metter out of ten dollars, was in Metter soon after and paid up the shortage of his son. But, like Hodges, Castleberry had other troubles, and is now in jail at Fitzgerald on a similar charge.

The remains of Martin Hodges, colored, were brought in on Sunday morning from Fitzgerald, where he died on Saturday. Martin was well known in this county before he went out to Fitzgerald.

Begin at The Bottom

That's good advice. First because it is the sure way; second, because for the most of us it is the only way. A step at a time, one dollar piled up beside another, careful, conservative, saving—these things will bring you gradually but surely up the ladder of success. Men fail because they get in too big a hurry, too anxious to grab at the golden apples just out of reach. Stick to your ladder, stick to your job, stick to your saving habit. The fellow who goes up like a sky rocket usually comes down like a thousand of brick.

JOE WOODS STILL IN JAIL.

Man Four Times Convicted and Doomed to Life Imprisonment Addresses Letter to the Public.

Joe Woods, the slayer of Wink Mikell, whose case the supreme court has just passed upon is still in jail here, the authorities awaiting the arrival of the supreme court remitter, which has to come back and be recorded as part of the court proceedings here, then directions from the Prison Commission as to the disposition of Woods will be forthcoming.

Realizing his fate Joe has addressed the following letter to the people:

Nov. the 20th, 1911.

I this day, Joe Woods, will take the greatest of pleasure in thanking the good people of old Bulloch for the kindness which they have shown me since I have been in prison. The jailors and officers have been kind to me and the good ladies have shown me many favors and God knows I never will forget their kindness as long as I live, and I do hope and trust to the good Lord that there will be better and happier days for them, for God knows my heartfelt thanks are with them all.

I do want to say to the good people throughout this state and county, it is mighty hard that I have got to go to the penitentiary for the rest of my life for something God knows I did not help, and I do hope and pray to my God that the good people will see where I have been treated wrong before it is too late. If poor old Wink Mikell could only raise his voice at this grave this morning and speak to the good people of the county, I would go home rejoicing for God knows I have told the truth and I can meet my God with a clear conscience and I will say to all that some day we have all got to stand before a just and true God and the ones that swear lies against me and caused the good people to take my liberty, they will see it again at the resurrection day. I want everybody to pray for me and my darling little motherless children, Oh, it is hard for me to know that I have got to give up my liberty and leave my poor little children for something God knows I could not help; but if it is the good Lord's will for me to go and suffer, His will must be done, not mine. All I can do now is to pray and beg God to show the good people where I have been treated wrong and where I have told the truth, and I do hope and pray God we can all get some day where there is no troubles nor sorrows. Will close with my best wishes to all.

LESTER JOHNSON IS ARRESTED.

Sheriff Donaldson returned from Savannah this morning, accompanied by R. Lester Johnson against whom there are two or three charges of selling whiskey. It seems that Johnson had telephoned his counsel to meet him in Savannah to discuss the question of coming back and giving up.

Col. J. J. E. Anderson went down to Savannah to meet him and while the two were in conversation in a restaurant the Bulloch county sheriff walked in, unexpected to either. The sheriff smiled and said, Lester, let's go home." Johnson replied that he was ready to come. The case will come up for trial at the city court next week.

FOUR DEATHS IN FAMILY IN FEW SHORT WEEKS.

Members of Three Generations Taken From Household at Fitzgerald.

Fitzgerald, Ga., Nov. 23.—The Varndell family, of this place, have met with much sorrow within the last six weeks, four deaths having occurred in that time and all in the same house.

The last death was that of Geo. Varndell, a grandson of the late Mrs. Varndell, who died October 12, of pneumonia. The second was that of Harry Varndell, a son, who died of fever, and the third, the death of Mr. McDowell, a son-in-law of Mrs. Varndell, who died of paralysis. This week the friends and neighbors of the family were called upon to follow to her last resting place the aged Mrs. Amanda Varndell, of 74 years, who had cared for and nursed the three members of the family who preceded her. Her death was due to the infirmities of old age, being hastened, no doubt, by a fractured limb, which accident occurred while she was nursing her grandson. Although these deaths were all in the same house, the causes were all so varied that no significance is attached to the locality.

"RUNNING TOGETHER LIKE BROTHERS."

History is repeating itself, in a former campaign for governor a few years ago we heard much of a lot of aspirants for the Governor's chair charged with "running together like brothers." This time the race is a deep bag on election day and never saw peace in the light of anything that looked like a comfortable vote.

We understand that this program is on again, that the wings of the prohibition party, one supporting Joe Brown and the other Pope Brown, will try the back back lodge in the coming election. In counties where "Little Joe" seems to be the stronger, the prohibition vote will all be polled for the ex-governor. On the reverse, in counties where the Pope Brown element of the prohibitionists stands the best show the adherents of "Little Joe" are expected to give way and vote for Pope. This is done in order to carrol the county unit vote on one of the prohibition candidates that is strongest in the various counties.

It's the field against Russell and local fusion. They will vote for either of the other two in fact they don't care which.

But "Old Plain Dick" has got ten dodging and squirming, and he will have them doing worse on election day. He is the only candidate running in this race standing square on the Democratic platform of local self-government, and he should receive the solid vote of all people who believe in the Democratic principles as advocated by the fathers during the past ages.

DEMOCRATS OF BULLOCH WILL HOLD FREE PRIMARY.

At a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee held in the court house on yesterday, rules were adopted governing the approaching primary on Dec. 7th. Chairman C. H. Parish presided, and Col. J. L. Renfro, the secretary, was present to record the proceedings. The roll call showed nine out of twelve militia districts represented.

The question of financing the coming primary was the knotty problem to be handled. It was finally agreed to hold it free of cost, a call of those present pledging this for their districts, and a resolution was passed asking the managers in the other three districts which were not represented to do the same thing. The plan was to ask the magistrates and notary publics as far as possible assist in the holding of the primary, and call for volunteers from among the free holders. In this case it was suggested that it would only be fair to give those who acted without pay this time the privilege of holding the general election on January 10th, when the county will pay the regular fee.

A resolution was adopted asking for the use of the registration list used in the elections of 1910 without any additions being added to it. Owing to the fact that there is no separate list for the forty-fifth and the Metter district it will be necessary for those two districts to vote together this time as heretofore, all voting at the old voting ground of this forty-fifth district.

An assessment of five dollars each was made on candidates for County Superintendent of Education, and it was ordered that all those who paid in their five dollars by Friday, Dec. 1st, could have their names inserted on the official ballot. After Dec. 1st no entries will be allowed.

The meeting was a harmonious one all the way through. Reports outside the meeting state that the people are not worked up to a very high pitch on the gubernatorial question as yet, though a fairly good vote is expected.

With the prohibition party divided and the Democratic party united, we see no reason why Judge Russell shouldn't win the governorship in a walk.

It's getting about time to march out another lot of Joe Brown speakers. Maybe Dr. H. H. Fletcher-Johnson could be induced out again. The last heard of Fletcher was when two negroes and one white man met his appointment in Banks county last week.

Seab Wright has given his O. K. to Pope Brown as the prohibition leader and Len Broughton and Hammond and Andrews and Wilbrougham and company, directors of prohibition legislation, say "Little Joe" is the real prohibition article. Now the average prohibitionist will have a pretty hard time choosing, we grant, but why should there be any hesitation among Democrats?

The politicians are divided between the two Browns, and while they are scrapping among themselves over the prospective pie the common people are going to hand this governorship plum to "Old Plain Dick." Watch what we are telling you.

For County Superintendent of Education.

TO THE VOTERS OF SAID COUNTY: By reason of some irregularity in the last election in the matter of selecting a school superintendent for this county, it has become necessary for another election to be had for this purpose. At the request of my friends I hereby announce as a candidate for this office, to be voted on at the primary for the selection of a governor on Dec. 7, 1911. I shall appreciate the support of the voters of this county and if elected promise a faithful administration of the duties of the office.

This Nov. 11, 1911.

B. R. OLLIFF.

ATTENTION, DEMOCRATS.

For County Superintendent of Education. I take this method of announcing myself a candidate for the office of county superintendent of education, subject to a Democratic primary if one is held. Respectfully,

HE DEMANDS LIFE OF PRETTY WOMAN

Who Killed Husband—Alleged Mrs. Patterson Killed Because She Was Caught.

Denver, Col., Nov. 22.—A beautiful woman, whose life-story features the cardinal elements of human nature, braced herself in a chair in a crowded court house today and heard a lawyer for the state of Colorado, charge her with premeditated murder of her husband, then demand that the state take her life as penalty.

The woman was Gertrude Gilson, said to have been plucked from obscurity and trained for a season of luxury by a Chicago millionaire, then married to a youth picked for her by her admirer. It is for the youth's death Mrs. Patterson faced trial today.

Special Prosecutor Benson outlined the case for the state. He declared the state expects to show that Mrs. Patterson was surprised in a compromising position by her husband. Circumstances, he outlined, were such as to jeopardize her chances for success in a divorce suit scandal. So, declared the prosecutor, she armed herself, lay in wait for her husband at a point where she knew he went for morning walks, then, when he came along, inveigled him to an isolated spot and shot him in the back—deliberately, premeditatedly.

The prosecutor asked for a verdict of first degree murder.

The discovery of his wife in a compromising position by Patterson was described by the prosecutor in this wise: "On the Saturday night preceding the shooting, which occurred on Monday morning, the state would show by witnesses," he said, "that Patterson accompanied by a friend, whom the state has been unable to find, paid an unexpected call at his wife's home. We found her, the prosecutor asserted, sitting on the porch, with George W. Strain, a young Denver man, and that when Mrs. Patterson saw him she God, here comes my husband."

"The state would show," said Benson, "that Mrs. Patterson had told Strain of her husband's temper, and that Strain had come armed."

Mrs. Patterson upbraided Strain saying his actions would interfere with her divorce case, and then asked him for his revolver, which he gave her. The state will show, Benson said that on Monday, Mrs. Patterson met her husband, and after waiting some distance with him shot him. A witness of the shooting will testify that she fired the second shot while her husband was on his hands and knees.

After the prosecutor's outlining of the state's case the first witness took the stand. He was George W. Strain, an illustrator, who described the circumstances surrounding his lending to Mrs. Patterson the pistol with which, two days later, she killed her husband.

SARAH BERNHARDT, 66 TO MARRY AN ACTOR 20

New York, Nov. 21.—The engagement of Sarah Bernhardt, the actress, to Lou Tellegen, a Flemish actor, who has played minor parts in her company, is announced from Paris, according to cable advices received here. Mme. Bernhardt is 66 years old, while Tellegen is only 26. She is the widow of Jacques Donia, a Greek actor, who died in 1889. The famous actress is already a great-grandmother.

ROUND STATE TOURISTS CHECK IN AT AMERICUS

Autoists Met at Andersonville and Escorted Into Town.

Americus, Nov. 22.—All the cars in the "round-the-state" tour checked into Americus this at 3 o'clock.

Committees met the tourists at Andersonville, twelve miles from town, and escorted them to Americus.

Open-handed hospitality is being showered upon the visitors tonight, with receptions at the Elks club, the Country club and the Hotel Windsor.

The only accident marring the trip here occurred as the first cars were entering Americus, when a big Buick 50, driven by Mr. Swan, of Covington, was sideswiped by the car following and turned entirely over. A. E. Coogler, of Covington, sustained a fractured collar bone. None of the other occupants were injured.

THE THOROUGHBRED SPORT

This is the sad story of one of the most thoroughbred sports known to the history of hazards, says the Popular Magazine. His name was Sullivan; he had blue eyes and red hair, with a brogue to match his coloring. John Hays Harwood, the mining engineer, met him in prison in South Africa at the time when Hammond and other prominent men were held as captives by the Boers in connection with the Jamestown raid. The engineer and the Irishman became well acquainted.

"Probably you wonder why I'm in here," said Sullivan one day when the thermometer had gone as high as 115 in the shade. "Well, I'll tell you; I got into a little trouble and I pleaded guilty to it."

"Five years," said the judge. "Your honor!" I cried out. "I'll throw heads and tails with you to see whether it shall be ten years or nothing."

"And would you believe it, Mr. Hammond—that judge got mad and added on the five years anyhow. And now I'm serving that extra five. What's the use of being a sport?"

DESPERATE GUN BATTLE OVER YOUNG BRIDE

Husband Pursues His Wife and Her Escort. Her Father is Injured by Bullets of Companion Who is Riddled With Lead. No Arrests Made.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 21.—C. F. Perry, a fruit grower, was killed, and T. W. Green wounded in a desperate gun battle today near Valaha, Lake county, Fla., which resulted from the deceased being overtaken in the woods with the six-months bride of T. H. Pantley, Jr., by the angry husband and the young woman's father.

Pantley, it is said, had for some time suspected the intentions of Perry, a neighbor, toward his young wife, who was not as they should have been.

When the husband returned to his home this morning after an absence of several hours, he found his bride absent. He immediately told her father, T. W. Green, of his suspicions and the two armed themselves and started in pursuit.

Perry and Mrs. Pantley were overtaken in the woods. Perry sought cover behind a tree and opening fire with a revolver shot the young woman's father in the wrist, missed Pantley and then shot Green in the side. As Green fell to the ground, he shot Perry twice. As Perry fell, Pantley discharged both barrels of his shotgun into his prostrate body.

Perry died before medical attention could be summoned. Pantley and Green have not been arrested.

WIFE'S DEATH CALLS HIM FROM HIS DYING MOTHER.

Rome, Ga., Nov. 23.—Summoned from the bedside of his dying mother by a telegram calling him of the desperate illness of his wife, Wm. R. Melbane reached home to find that the wife had breathed her last a few moments before he arrived. Death came after an illness of only ten days from a sudden attack of jaundice.

The couple had been married only a few months, and the wife, who was only 24 years old, was Miss Mary C. Deas, of this place. Mr. Melbane was called to North Carolina twelve days ago on account of the desperate illness of his mother. He was notified by wire Monday afternoon of his wife's illness, but was unable to reach Rome in time to see her alive.

PHOTOGRAPHS FOR GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS.

(Affairs at Washington.) Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine for November. As the members of the cabinet and the discreet government of actual pass in and out of the white house they are greeted in the "National Magazine" by the photographer. It is proposed to have photographs perform this function, as they announce trains in the Grand Central station, New York.

The energetic secretary of agriculture has been the most frequent target for the newspaper men. He has a soothing way of saying the familiar words. He does not snap "Nothing of importance," as former Senator Beveridge and others were wont to do. Taking off his spectacles in a contemplative manner, with a far-away look, he thinks the matter over carefully before he utters his answer with better "copy" man in the cabinet than "Uncle James Wilson." He knows news and how to give it out. His long service in making out pension records has taught him how to meet the searching interrogations of those in quest of news.

NO MONEY, NO REPORT.

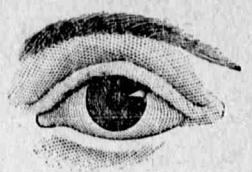

Queer Situation Has Arisen in Trial of Florida Shaker.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 23.—A queer situation has arisen in the case of Egbert Gillette, the Shaker, who is to be tried shortly at Kissimmee for the murder of Sister Sadie Marchant, another member of the colony, who was "assisted out of life" by Gillette and Sister Elizabeth Sears, who administered chloroform to her at her request when they believed her to be in the last throes of consumption.

The county authorities ordered a chemical analysis of the stomach of the dead woman. When the chemist sent his bill for $75 the county commissioners refused to pay. He said the prosecuting attorney would never get the report until the bill was paid.

The prosecuting attorney does not have any idea what the analysis showed, or whether it would help him in the case. As the case is to go to the grand jury five days hence, and the commissioners do not meet again until later, it is probable the case will be brought to trial before Attorney Jones can get the bill through the board. Thus he will be deprived of what may be important evidence.

FIFTY MILLION CASH OFFERED IN FIGHT FOR HONEST PRICE

Bankers of New York Come to Aid of Cotton Growers. To Handle Entire Crop. Will Advance $25 a Bale on Stock at Once. Charge is Only $1 a Bale. Growers to Name Date of Sale Under Plan. Would Not Violate Law.

New York, Nov. 21.—New York bankers who have been conferring here for the last few days with representatives of the governors' conference and the Southern Cotton Congress, announced this afternoon that they had raised a fund of $50,000,000 to be placed in the cotton belt states for the purpose of handling the cotton crop of 1911 and enabling growers to participate in any rise in the market.

The negotiations were conducted on behalf of the South by Governor Emmet O'Neal of Alabama, Senator Bailey of Texas, who has been, advising his colleagues as to the legal aspects of the proposition; E. B. Watson, president of the Permanent Southern Cotton Congress, and Commissioner of Agriculture of South Carolina, and Clarence Ousley, editor of the Record, of Fort Worth, Texas, representing the governor of his state.

The bankers who will furnish the fund, according to the statement, are headed by Colonel Robert M. Thompson, of the brokerage firm of S. H. P. Poll & Co. of this city. The financial support of several of the strongest banks in New York has been given to the plan, the statement continues.

Charge $1 a Bale.

The plan proposes to advance the grower $25 per bale upon his cotton, based on the market value at the time of the loan. No interest will be paid upon the loan, the only charge being $1 a bale, which is regarded as a legitimate minimum charge for expense of grading and handling. The cotton is not held, nor taken from the channels of trade, but is placed at the best advantage. The grower is given the right to designate the day of sale prior to January 1, 1913, and will participate in any advance in price to the extent of three-fourths of the raise of the market.

Details of the plan are yet to be worked out. It has been decided, however, to place the fund through state committees named by the governor or commissioner of agriculture of a state and these committees shall be empowered to sell when cotton reaches 12 cents and compelled to sell when it reaches 14 cents, regardless of advice from the growers. Provision against any violation of the Sherman anti-trust law is contained. The promoters believe, in a clause empowering each committee to name the day of sale in the event the market climbs to 12 or 13 cents.

Now Up to the Farmers.

"Of course," reads the statement, "everything depends on the acceptance of the plan by the individual farmer in connection with his pledge to reduce acreage the coming year."

Following is the announcement of the plan issued after today's conference: "The announcement was made here today following conferences that have been in progress for several days between prominent bankers of New York and leading representatives of the South, such as Governor O'Neal, of Alabama; Clarence Ousley, representing Governor Colquhoun, of Texas, and E. J. Watson, president of the permanent Southern cotton congress, and commissioner of agriculture of South Carolina, that a proposition has been presented to these gentlemen, representing respectively the governors' conference and the cotton congress, composed of producers and business men bankers of the South, which means the placing in the cotton belt of about $50,000,000 immediately for the handling of the cotton crop of 1911.

"In other words, the proposition is to give the farmer $25 per bale advance on his cotton without interest, charging him only $1 per bale to cover expense of grading and handling, letting him turn over the cotton to the holders, who will advance him $25 per bale, and give him the opportunity to designate the date of the sale prior to January 1, 1913, and to participate in any advance in price to the extent of three-fourths of the rise in the market. It is calculated that by the present ordinary holding process, the farmer takes all the chances of the rise in the market. By this plan he takes no more chance than he did before and has every opportunity of maximum participation in the rise of the market, merely paying the debts he has to pay and saving the losses sustained by country damage and by loss of weight and warehouse charges.

To Keep Within the Law.

Provision is made against any apparent violation of the Sherman anti-trust law in that each committee named by the governor or commissioner of agriculture of each state has the power to name the day of sale if cotton reaches 12 or 13 cents, which, according to the testimony gathered, gives only a close legitimate profit on the cost of production.

"Of course, everything depends on the acceptance of the plan by the individual farmer in connection with his pledge to reduce acreage the coming year. The individual farmer alone can make success possible.

The undertaking is fathered by a number of bankers of which Col. Robert M. Thompson is the head, he being a widely known bull and of the firm of S. H. P. Bell & Co., bankers and cotton men, and all necessary machinery for caring for the cotton has been provided. The committee here have been assured by a number of the strongest banks in New York of a thorough backing of these already strong interests.

"These gentlemen here, as well as President Barrett, of the National Farmers' Union, consider the plan acceptable to the growers, and they are tonight returning to their respective states to present it to their people, and if it be agreeable to the producers to put it into immediate operation. Senator Bailey, of Texas, who is here, has been advising as to the legal aspects of the proposition."

Watson's Comment.

President Watson, of the Southern Cotton Growers' Congress, commenting on the plan tonight, said:

"We have carefully considered the whole thing in all its phases. I can't say what the growers are going to do. The financial end is strong. It holds out prospects of fine results, and stops any effort at a corner of the market. It seems to insure an honest price for cotton, and to safeguard the commodity, which is the very keystone of American finance. Someone besides the farmer may make some money out of it, but as that is done the farmer is being assured several dollars a bale more than he would get under the present iniquitous marketing methods. We are therefore willing to submit and recommend the proposition to our people and, if they wish to accept it, then help them to make it effective, as we can."

"There is no doubt but that the holding and reduction of acreage pledge, the movement we have been pushing so successfully, has checked the downward tendency of prices under the persistent hammering up to this time. So far we have fought the battle unaided; now that money to the extent of $50,000,000 is offered, we may fight harder, and in the end we hope to put a check to methods of marketing of a nationally important commodity which the federal government ought to have wiped out long ago."

BOARD IS HIGH IN SAVANNAH.

The hotels and boarding houses are reaping a rich thing out of the crowds coming in for the races. We are informed that rates are sky high in all the hotels. Rooms that were once one dollar per day have doubled, trebled and in many cases run to four times as much in price.

Since the Sereven House was torn down rates have advanced and the service decreased; the writer was in Savannah two weeks ago and three of us were put in one room in the Pulaski; there were two small beds, which amounted to cots, and one bed. We were charged a dollar a piece, and when a kick was made to the porter he answered: "Since the Sereven was torn down, boss, we give our own price, and don't care whether the folks like it or not." This was before the wholesale butchery was put on for the races.

Since the accommodations are so few and the guests are so many we give our own price and we don't care who likes it. That's about the way the thing is in Savannah now in an aggravated form. We understand that at the Desoto ten dollars per day is about the minimum. People in nearby territory will run in there morning and out at night as a

LEADERS OF LABOR MUST STAND TRIAL

Justice Wright Rules Against Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Morrison, the labor leaders, must again stand trial in the supreme court of the District of Columbia on charges of contempt arising out of the Buck Stove and Range case.

Justice Wright today handed down a decision overruling the motion of the labor leaders for a dismissal of the proceedings under the statute of limitations. The court held that contempt of court is not classed as criminal and consequently not subject to the bar of the statute of limitations.

The supreme court of the United States recently dismissed the original cases against Messrs. Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, but gave the lowest court the right to renew the proceedings.

At this time the controversy between the stove company and the American Federation of Labor had been settled. Notwithstanding this, Justice Wright took the ground that the dignity of the district supreme court's orders had been violated and again cited the labor leaders to appear and defend themselves.

In addition to overruling the plea for abatement under the statute of limitations, Justice Wright dismissed the motion which charged the court with unreasonable delay in making the charges of alleged contempt. He held that the charges were without merit.

Justice Wright declined also to grant the request of Gompers and his associates that the testimony be taken in open court. He gave the respondents three days in which to agree with the committee of prosecutors upon the appointment of a commissioner to hear the evidence.

charged also that it would not be necessary to await indictments from the attorney general before the grand jury could proceed in its own district. There is a vast volume of interstate commerce in cotton done through the Savannah district—and that is only one of many federal court districts in the South wherein the same is true. Suppose the judges in all of them were to follow Judge Speer's lead and set their grand juries at work along a line where the attorney general of the United States seems averse to treading except softly and with the utmost caution, if not positive reluctance—what a heap of interesting information, not to say valuable information, these cotton states grand juries might unearth! The possibilities in such "probing" would seem to be practically limitless. But would the Southern grand juries indict anybody? The cotton markets of the country—all business, indeed, on both sides of the Atlantic—will await with keen interest the outcome of Judge Speer's novel experiment.

When the Ill-Fitting Stocking "Pleads Guilty"

"Give the devil his due"

Bad shoes are not always to blame for bad feet. Not all the corns and bunions, tired and aching feet, "drawn" soles and ingrowing nails are caused by bad shoes. The ill-fitting stocking must plead guilty to much foot trouble.

A stocking too tight in the foot may choke the circulation, bind the toes together and bend them under. A stocking too thick in the foot may cause the shoe to feel too small. A stocking too thin may bring you a blister from shoes that would not rub if the stocking were fitted right. A darned stocking makes a corn, a seamed stocking irritates the sole of the foot. Above all, if the dye in the stocking is poisonous, or not fast color, all feet troubles are made worse. One reason why we call our stockings is their wonderful comfort, due to their being knitted on machines that respect the shape of the human foot. At the toe and heel especially Winderhose are knitted with extreme care for correct shape—not too tight nor too loose—just "cozy and comfy." Made in several weights, you can fit them to your favorite shoe. As for the dye, it is not only pure and non-poisonous, but "everlasting."
