THE NEWS. EVERY FRIDAY. Published at Statesboro, Ga. By The Statesboro News Publishing Co.

The military of the death of Alfred. The great is to be celebrated in Washington, England, in October. It will then be a big affair.

Canada is discussing the advisability of increasing the salary of the President of the Dominion. Sir Wilfrid Laurier now receives $800,000 annually. Many think that should have been three times that sum.

John Jenkins, President of the North American Trade Association, gives it as his opinion that "as far as the iron and steel trade is concerned, Mr. Carnegie's policy of aiding the makers of the world in America's control will not be realized."

Nothing gives a truer illustration of the advance of civilization than the improvement of the postal systems of the world since the last century. The London Post Office averaged 70,000 letters in 1801, rising to 200,000 in 1850, to 2,000,000 in 1870, and to 8,000,000 in 1900.

It appears from several recent cases in New York City that a man who commits a crime, like the forgery of a check, in order to get married, or to provide, ought not to be treated harshly. This looks like introducing a bit of French sentiment into the administration of justice. The best excuse would be that the act showed a weak mind.

A professional gambler who died in a noble battle, the fight of the other day, confessed in his last moments that his only occupation was the cheating of unwary passengers in public places in the smoking room of several of the well-known transatlantic steamship lines. He was married for many years by his gambler's wife, but that kind had been extremely rare.

Commenting upon the enthusiastic reception and very successful result of the dramatization of a popular novel in Baltimore the other night the Baltimore Commercial says: "Novelists of the period will do well to remember that they have two contributions to make to the world: one is a story, the other is a play. The latter is the more difficult, but the more profitable. The price of the novel is the price of the novel."

It appears from President Eliot's report of last year's work at Harvard that boys enter college a trifle younger than when a generation ago. The average age of students entering Harvard is now 17.5 years, as compared with 17 years a generation ago. The reason for this is that the average age of students entering Harvard is now 17.5 years, as compared with 17 years a generation ago.

Alfred C. Harnsworth, the English newspaper publisher, has this to say to young men: "I think it is noticeable everywhere that young men are becoming more and more of a different type. They have to do so. It is one of the necessities of the time. Part of the necessary strenuous life, you can't live over. One of the necessities of the time is that you must be a different type. They have to do so. It is one of the necessities of the time.

The sentence of political offenders in Russia to service in the army is not a new thing. The new feature is the application of this form of punishment to (intermediate and secondary students at the universities. For many years it has been a practice to withdraw political convicts from the Siberian mines on account of riotous conduct and allow them to serve out their term in the army. Care has been taken, however, to keep such men in regiments which have been assigned to severe duties at places remote from the more settled districts. This policy, however, is now being changed. The new feature is that they are sent to the front to do the "dirty work of the world" just after they have been released from the mines and were subsequently transferred to the army service.
