Sherman Rogers, National Recovery Council, associate editor of the Atlanta Constitution, addressed the students to become leaders, to demand the constitution of the United States and to take care of themselves.

Rogers warned the students of the many ups and downs they would have in life. He advised them to start at the bottom and work up, that success was possible if they wish to be successful. According to Rogers, success is easy if you have plenty of confidence, much work, and patience.

In closing, he stated that they must get away to the coast, to the mountains, and to the sea. Rogers ended by saying something or "the etching.

A FACULTY VIEW ON STUDENT COUNCIL

The purpose of Student Council as stated in the constitution and by-laws is to "preserve honor, high ideals, and to uphold the rules and regulations of the college." The organization of the council came about as the result of a feeling by both students and faculty that such an organization would be conducive to a fine spirit of co-operation between the student body and the faculty members. The type of school spirit needed can never be attained unless students and faculty can work together.

Some of the misunderstandings about the work of the council is due to the fact that little publicity has been given to their work. Student petitions to the council have been considered and in many instances the administration has heartily agreed with suggestions coming from the council. There is a need for a committee from the council and faculty to get together and define the field of work for the student council. A set-up as the following is one plan showing how the work of the council could be improved. Students should send their petitions to the council, and after approval has been given by the council, the petition should then be sent to the faculty for their approval. The president of the school should have the power; there would be no more change going into effect until approved by the president. The faculty should have the right to suggest needed changes and send such recommendations to the council. Recommendations should not go to the president for his approval until they have been approved both by members of Student Council and the faculty.

This institution has been fortunate in that there has been a fine spirit of co-operation between the student body and the faculty. May we continue to give our best thought and effort to such a splendid ideal.

A few days ago a person was heard to make this statement: "I'm sick of making mistakes, and I hope some day I will learn not to make them."

Of course, it is stupid to make the same mistake over and over; but yet if we grow and make efforts to be something worthwhile we are bound to make mistakes. It is quite natural for healthy persons to make mistakes. And there is nothing criminal about making them if we make them from honest motives and learn a lesson from them.

VALENTINE'S DAY

Valentine's Day, the fourteenth of February is, or more correctly was, celebrated in England, Scotland and in different parts of the continent by a very peculiar and amusing custom. On the eve of St. Valentine's Day a number of young folk, girls and boys, would assemble together and inscribe upon little billets the names of an equal number of maidens and boys of their acquaintance, throw the whole into a receptacle of some sort, and then draw them lottery-wise, care, of course, being taken that each should draw one of the opposite sex. The person thus drawn became one's valentine. Of course, besides having got a valentine for one's self, one became, by the universality of the practice, some other person's valentine; but as Mission, a learned traveler in the early part of the last century, remarks, "the man stuck faster to the valentine that had fallen to him than to her with whom he had fallen."

These imaginary engagements, as may readily be supposed, often led to real ones; because one necessary consequence of them was, that for a whole year a bachelor remained bound to the service of his valentine, somewhat after the fashion of the medieval knight of romance to his lady love. At one period it was customary for both sexes to make each other presents, but latterly the obligation seems to have been restricted to young men.

During the fifteenth century this amusement was very popular among the upper classes and at many European courts. From Pepys's "Diary" we see that in Charles II's reign marriage was as popular as single people could be chosen.

Aunt Het on School Teaching

One of my girls had her heart set on being a school teacher. But when I heard of it, I asked. "Why did you choose that?" she said. "I'm so much like 'em, a preacher's wife. It's a high calling, but people expect you to give more'n they pay for."

"You take the teachers here in town. The only difference between them and Christian martyrs is the date and lack of a bonfire."

"They was lured to teach 'em on' they do. They teach the youngster that can learn and entertain the ones that fell on their heads when they was little. But that ain't expected supposed to make obnoxious little angels out o' spoiled brats that never mind nobody, an' wetnurse little wildcats so their mothers can get rest, and make 'em out o' children that couldn't have no sense with the parents they've got."

"But that ain't the worst. They've got to get up plays and things to work the school out o' debt, and sing in the choir and teach a Sunday school class, an' when they ain't doin' 'nuthin' else they're supposed to be a good example."

"Then they don't get no pay for six months an' can't pay their board or buy decent clothes an' on top of everything else they can't hold hands coming home from prayer meeting without some prima donna old sister with a dirty mind startin' a scandal on 'em."

"Ah! Bold, imprudent youth; when time's passed by, with your mind's eye, you'll know illusive truth."

DEAR EDITOR—

Dear Editor:

The letter regarding promptness in the dining hall, brought great results. So perhaps this will help some.

Time after time I have heard the student body asked to contribute to the George-Anne, but only a very few times have I seen anything that anybody except the members of the staff wrote. The paper belongs to the school, not the staff or faculty, but the students do not seem to realize it, as they take practically no part in its publication.

What is the matter with them? Is there is no interest in the success of the George-Anne? Do they not read it? Or don't they like it? If they don't, it is their own fault, for it is their paper.

Could it be that out of 450 pupils only a few have any creative ability, or do they simply despise the paper altogether? Anyways, it is time the student body realized that the paper belongs to them.

I am sure the staff appreciates any criticism and contributions given them.

A STUDENT.

TEACHERS’ BASKETEERS END SUCCESSFUL SEASON

TWELVE GAMES WON BY PROFS

BLUE TIDE TRACED THEIR OPPONENTS TO Emerge WITH ONLY TWO DEFEATS.

The 1933-34 basketball season of the South Georgia Teachers College was a most successful one. The Teachers won 12 games and lost two. Of these two, ample revenge was taken on the opposing teams in the fourteen games played this season, the Teachers compiled 557 points to the opponents 373, or an average of 36.5 points per game to an average of 26.6 points per game for the opponents.

Coach Smith had a goodly number of last year’s varsity men back this year, but he still had a problem in replacing Williams and Hagin. Several new men came in, giving Coach Smith a large squad of experienced players from which to select his team. The first game, played before Christmas, was with Mercer. The Teachers won 42-30. They outplayed the bigger team, taking advantage of Mercer’s lack of condition. The Teachers won in a last half drive that the “Bear” couldn’t stop.

The first week after the Christmas holidays Douglas came to Statesboro for a two-game series. When they played Tuesday night, they added two additional games chalked up in the last column. The score was 34-17 and 43-19. Douglas tied the score for the second game, but the Teachers scored more points for the second time.

The Teachers played the J. E. A. Hardware team of Savannah. In a close game the Teachers won on 27-24, fouls playing a large part of the game. Each team scored about 8 or 10 points on fouls. But once or twice they played old time form—enough close to lose out the season with a victory over the probable city league competitors of Savannah.

Following is the record for the season:

The Teachers meet G. M. C. boxing team Friday night, February 16, in the college gymnasium. This will mark the first inter-colonial match between the Schools and a tournament engagement will be held with G. M. C. at Midledeville some time in the next week or two.

Under the capable coaching of Mr. Russell the fight game has come to have a definite place in the athletics of the college. The following will be expected to give a good account of themselves if called upon: Hale, J. E. A.; Burnley, C.; Teal, C.; Chambless, H.; Ricks, Bedigan, Shippy, and Chambless.

Mr. McKay would be glad to give you some publicity, too, but thinks this column won't be as clever as his brother has taken first place.

Tuesday night, February 7th, Bantu Bowen entertained a group of students at his home on South Main street.
