CWA Project to Be Finished by April 1

MORE FACILITIES ARE PROVIDED

TWO NEW CLASS ROOMS AND A SCIENCE HALL ARE INCLUD-ED IN THE PROJECT.

The old training school which is now being renovated and the new rooms that are being added to the second floor of the Administration Building will improve not only the appearance but the adequacy of our present plant very much. This work is being paid for by the federal government and must be completed by April 1st.

The actual construction work is done by experienced masons and carpenters, with the CWA workers to do such odd jobs as mixing mortar and carrying boards and sand. By using these boys to perform such menial tasks it is hoped that the work can be completed even sooner.

Soon the campus should present a very imposing sight to a visitor. With the old training school brick-veneered and its dignity raised by changing its name to the "Science Hall," the attractive new training school, our gymnasium and plans for new dormitories well under way, we will soon have an impressive group of buildings. All that seems to be needed now is the dome on the Administration Building.

ELECTIONS TO BE HELD FOR 1934-35

The Student Council is making plans to announce the date for the spring elections for selecting next year's president and also the editor-in-chief of the Reflector.

These elections will take place some time in April. Editor of the Reflector will be chosen at an earlier date than Student Council officers.

Contrary to custom, a vice-president and secretary-treasurer will be selected by popular vote from the student body. Formerly only the president was elected, the other officers being chosen from the council at its first regular meeting of the scholastic year.

An editor and business manager of the 1934-35 Reflector is also to be selected by popular vote.

Nominations for these offices will be posted and election dates announced at the next student meeting.

DRAMATIC GROUP GIVE "ROBIN HOOD"

Daily rehearsals are in progress for "Robin Hood," the play to be presented by the Dramatic Club on March 30. Mrs. Haslett, who is directing the play, reports that everything is in readiness for a finished performance.

Joe Purvis, who has appeared in many other Dramatic Club successes, handles the role of the dashing outlaw, Robin Hood, easily and with confidence. Playing opposite him is another experienced player, Corinne Lanier. She is well-cast as Lady Miriam who risks many hardships for her lover, Robin Hood. This is the type part that Miss Lanier has done extremely well in several other plays.

Mapearle Williams, James Hall and Lofton Giddens, all of whom had important parts in "Lady Windemere's Fan," are also members of the cast of "Robin Hood." Again the college audience will have an opportunity to enjoy the fine acting of Miss Williams and Mr. Hall and to laugh at, or with, Mr. Giddens. This is the second time

Who's Who Contest Be Held Tomorrow

STUDENTS ATTEND "Y" CONFERENCE

Nine of our students represented S. G. T. C. at the annual Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. conference held at Wesleyan College, Macon, Friday through Sunday.

Every year the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s of the colleges of Georgia have a joint conference. Heretofore it has been customary for this convention to meet at Camp Wilkins, near Athens, but this year the location was changed to Wesleyan. This conference is held during Spring holidays.

The program began Friday night with a reception given by the Y. W. C. A. of Wesleyan. From Saturday morning until the end of the conference, group discussions, reports and various speeches constituted the program. Dr. Alec Smart, of Emory University, was the principal speaker at the conference.

This year the following students went as delegates: Jim Wrinkle, J. D. Purvis, John Bridges, Leonard Kent, I. D. Nichols, Mary Rogers, Henrietta Doster, Elwin Wilson and Miss Mary Small.

CONTEST CLOSES WEDNESDAY NOON

FOR THE FIRST TIME GEORGE-
ANNE SPONSORS ELECTION OF SUPERLATIVE PERSONS.

Had you thought about who's who and why on the campus? Would you like to know who's the most—well, most anything around here?

An opportunity will be given to learn this and similar information when the popularity contest is polled today, tomorrow, and Wednesday. This contest is being sponsored by the George-Anne staff. Since there is to be no annual this year, the staff is attempting to preserve this clash of "superlatives" for other years.

Elsewhere on this page will be found a ballot which must be filled in and signed and placed in the ballot box by Wednesday noon. The box will be found in the auditorium lobby.

The chapel hour Tuesday morning will be given over to campaigning. Everyone who has a candidate will have the opportunity to make a campaign speech. Get your candidate today! Prepare a winning speech for him or her!

Every subscriber to the George-Anne is eligible to vote. Just clip the ballot, fill it in and have it in the balloting box by Wednesday noon.

"OTHELLO" NEXT LYCEUM NUMBER

The Avon Players, with Joseph Selman, will present Shakespeare's "Othello" in the college auditorium Wednesday evening, March 28, at 8:15 o'clock. This play will come as the second lyceum number of the spring term and will be very entertaining as well as worth while.

Last year the Avon Players presented Shakespeare's "Hamlet," which was thoroughly enjoyed by a capacity audience. Joseph Selman, who played the role of Hamlet will again take the leading part in "Othello."

"Othello" ranks with "Macbeth," "Hamlet" and "King Lear," as one of Shakespeare's greatest tragedies.

Other members of the Avon company appearing in the cast of "Othello" with Mr. Selman are Miss Mary Martha Kytte, Robert Selman, Miss Eugene DuBoris and Harold Selman.

George-Anne's Superlative Contest

In this issue the George-Anne sponsors its first Who's Who and Superlative Contest. Below is the ballot which must be filled in plainly with the name of the person chosen for each place and signed. These votes must be in the ballot box, which will be placed in the lobby of the auditorium, by Wednesday noon.

Be sure to write plainly and sign your name.

THE NEW TERM

The new term, the spring term, the last term of the year has begun. Anyone could easily detect this by the actions of the students. Last week we had a "woe be gone" expression on our faces, this week everyone seems happy and filled with the spring atmosphere. No one seems to have the proverbial "spring fever." Everyone is starting the new term with as much vigor and cheerfulness as the spring brings in with it.

The new terms means the turning over of a new sheet in classes. All past records can be forgotten and all bad marks can be put aside and each one covered with a new determination and a higher ideal. Let the last term be "by-gones." Take the clean slate and make it count for the most. Let us make the marks we have been intending to make for the past two terms. Let the winter term be a stepping stone to the good work we are going to do in the future. May the last term really be the climax of the year's work!

The new term was given a good beginning in lyceum attractions last week and another one, especially good is expected this week. These will be among the numerous spring entertainments, which will be somewhat climaxed by the May Day with the queen.

Most students look forward to this term as it means the return of outdoor activities which have been missed during the fall and winter months. Among these are swimming, rowing, golf and tennis. Many tournaments will be run off in various sports.

The new term ushers in with it baseball. The students enjoy this as it is an outdoor sport and is popular with young and old alike. Not only is baseball the main inter-collegiate game for the term, but also the one to be used in most physical education classes.

Let's remember that the spring term is short with many interruptions such as spring holidays, May Day, etc., and make the new term count for as much as possible in every way.

"Taint no use to sit and sigh
For the things you've let slip by;
Whilst the light is in the sky,
Ketch the one on the fly.

"Sighing when the ship is tossed
Don't bring back the haven lost;
Best to keep your self-command,
Hope for land, hope for land!"

SPRINGTIME MUSINGS

Someone has had, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," or as it has been paraphrased, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to what the young lady has been thinking of all winter." In this respect T. C. seems to be going the way of all flesh. More couples are seen in the hall in animated conversation — discussing the weather, perhaps; the "Little Store" has increased in popularity, and the D. S. boys are riding once more. But let the girls remember that word "lightly" in that little sentence and consider it in all of its meanings.

"O spring—
Thou art the self-same thing thou wert before
As fair and jocund; but I am no more
The thing I was."

Stevenson says, "Let him feign never so carefully, there is not a man but has his pulses shaken when Pan trolls out a store of ecstacy and sets the world a-singing."

In case you don't know spring is here these are considered signs: Straw hats, desire to dig, heavies "stickin'," sitting in the park, need a new suit, silhouette dresses, dogwoods blooming, desire to eat green stuff, "ain't the days getting long?" and "it's very becoming, madam."

Yes, we're on the CWA now! All of the old musty books in the library are being removed daily from their dark corners and given a thorough dusting, and the dormitory windows are glistening. We don't see why they don't give some one a job of removing the books from under Mr. Donaldson's chin every time he comes to class; or some one to rush out in the hall and "Sh-h-h" for Miss Michael when she feels it is needed; and to keep up with Mr. Wells' hat; or either to carry Dr. Taylor's brief case for him.

Spring seems to be doing something to Dr. DeLoach's sense of humor. A few days ago Fred Page and Charlotte Taylor were talking together and Dr. DeLoach walked up and asked Charlotte if she was talking biology. Fred says perhaps Dr. DeLoach thinks he would be an interesting "case" study. And then in one of Dr. DeLoach's zoology classes Charlie Munch was gently nodding—due to the soothing influence of the professor's voice and the balminess of the spring weather. And up walked the professor and dropped a book on Charlie's feet. His only explanation was that he was trying to kill a bird. What kind of a bird is Charlie? We would like to hear Dr. DeLoach's classification.

Speaking of the influence of music and spring, we must say that Leonard Kent seems to be among the susceptibles. After hearing the King Male Quartette he says that he feels like chasing all of the cows around the campus and purloining their bells. And, oh, what music we would have!

AS ONE FELLOW TO ANOTHER

We have as fine a gymnasium as any college in the state! It is the aim of our physical education department that it should always be a pleasant place for recreation.

But—some students on our campus have forgotten how to care for the gymnasium. They have forgotten that they are not the only ones who play basketball on the court.

Carelessly and without thinking, they spit on the floor while playing and never consider how insanitary and unattractive it makes the entire building appear.

Come on, fellows! Can't we stop so bad a habit while it is yet hardly begun?

A STUDENT.

"Round the World On a Penny"

(By Anita Willets Burnham)

And why not? With "cauliflower only three cents a head" in Paris, surely everything else would be just as cheap. At least the Burnham family decided to see if this were true, and they turned out to be very remarkable travelers. They managed to see Europe and then to circumnavigate the globe, for Ma Burnham to "paint a picture every day," and for all the rest of the Burnham family to thoroughly enjoy their trip. Baby Ann, aged nine months, was rolled through Europe in a go-cart; she even managed to get lost in a Cathedral, to be found sleeping peacefully in her cart. The family happened to be in Spain on Carol-Lou's fourteenth birthday. A Spanish movie was her treat, except that it turned out to be an American Western thriller. Even Bud earned his keep by working in a blacksmith shop for a day to get a wheel on Ann's go-cart fixed. Dad took care of finding hotels and Sis was always ready for first-aid for any of the family. They find this trip to be such a good one that they start out again after several years of talking about their first. They see China, Japan, India, Egypt and go back home through Europe again. Although the family did not keep together, for in Egypt Sis married Ed, who turns out to be our own Dr. DeLoach's son! "Round the World On a Penny" is decorated with the amusing sketches of the entire family and places of interest by the author, Carol-Lou, and little Ann. IDA MAE HAGIN.

"The Daughter of the Samuria"

(By Etsu Inagahi Sugimoto)

Written with simplicity and full of humor, this is a delightful autobiography of a woman of feudal Japan. Although bound by many generations of Japanese tradition, Etsu-bo, much to the regret of her parents, became a modern American. Etsu-bo's childhood experiences, her fear that her own boldness in asking questions was making her too much like a man, her lack of interest in the identity of the husband chosen for her, her wonder and curiosity in America, combined with the beautiful and significant Japanese stories, make the book not only very entertaining, but educational as well.

VIRGINIA EDENFIELD.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

The frost is on the pumpkin,
The fields are brown and bare;
The wind moans through the leafless trees
And winter's in the air.

My summer suit is frazzled
And the seat is mighty thin;
I wore it out a-wiggling
To help the home team win.

There was no thought of winter's cold,
My mind from care was free,
While I cut loose and spent my gold;
Now no one pities me.

Oh, well, I've got to be a sport,
We boys must have our fun;
A butterfly in summer time
And in winter—just a bum.

BLUE TIDE OPENS BASEBALL SEASON

As the "Professors" go into their third week of practice, their chances for retaining the league title grow brighter. Although only two regulars from last year's nine are back, a goodly number of new men are slated to fill their positions still better. The pitching staff seems to be weaker, but the fast and elusive infield is expected to make up for the deficiency. In the infield at present we have Woods at the initial bag, Dubose at second, Hines at short, Chambliss on third and Martin as catcher.

In the outer garden we have Spears, Stein, Shippey, McKneely, Griffin, Hensley and several other prospects. Besides the regular infield, the Teachers have a second infield almost as fast as the first. It consists of Arnold, J. Riggs, Carruth, Smith, Hinely and Wilkes.

The Teachers open their home season with B-P. L., playing Thursday. The season's schedule may be seen elsewhere in this issue.

King Quartette Delights Audience

The first lyceum attraction for the spring quarter was given in the auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 20th. The program was a musical entertainment by the King Male Quartette. The quartette was composed of George Scott, Frederick Seman, Gustave Johnson and Lloyd Seimore King.

The program was one of much variety. A unique feature of the company and one that made their program most enjoyable was the instrumental novelties and costume sketches. These instrumental novelties included selections on the accordion, banjo and piano. Very beautiful melodies were also played on the Swiss bells. Variety was again given the program when one of the members gave several readings.

Types of music ranged from classical to humorous. One selection was given in German and one in Swedish.

Co-eds of the University of Michigan answering to the name of Helen have formed a "Troy" club.—Agnostic.

ALL-STAR FIVE BE ANNOUNCED TODAY

An all-star intra-mural team has been selected by the participants in the tournament which ended last Monday night. The "Pirates," captained by Emden McCranie and consisting of Martin, Pitchford, Settles, Sirmans and Kennedy, won first honors by defeating Captain Thornton's "Blue Blazes" 35 to 19 in the final game of the tournament.

Ancelon Powell was declared captain of the all-star quintet by virtue of his receiving the most votes. The teams are as follows:

First team: A. Powell, forward; H. Martin, forward; I. Kennedy, center; E. McCranie, guard; W. McKneely, guard.

Second team: H. Kimball, forward; G. Murrow, forward; B. Thornton, center; E. Downing, guard; A. Settles, guard.

George-Anne Staff Host At Dance

The George-Anne staff was host to the student body and faculty at a dance in the Gymnasium Saturday evening.

During intermission each guest was given a newspaper and some pins. For the two best costumes made from this paper, without the aid of scissors, prizes were given. Delicious punch and wafers was served.

The Gymnasium was attractively decorated in newspaper streamers and banked greenery.

Tennis Tournament Held This Week

W. S. Hanner, tennis coach, stated that the pairings for the men's tennis tournament will be held this week end, and actual playing would begin Monday.

Any male student is eligible to participate in this tournament. The time of the contests will be any time suitable to both contestants. Come out and try your hand at the net game. The W. A. A. will gladly loan you a racquet and balls.

K-I-G-Y

In the spring a young man's fancy and a young lady, too, I imagine. We all agree with every one else, we don't want any yellow journalism on this campus. There is nothing like young love—ask the faculty as well as the students; so let's do everything we can to help the campus lovers out instead of "making couples like Kat and Sid afraid to love."

There is nothing as sweet and lovely to look upon as the blush of innocent girlhood. It was indeed a pleasure to witness the downcast eyes and rosy blush of our shrinking violet, Evelyn, when Gordon came to tell her good-bye.

Sara and Robert were feeling the effect of spring Tuesday during the program of the quartette. Beautiful music and the favored one—but a young lady and gentleman under the spell of Dan Cupid never notice music.

Then our charming little Eloise and her dear little friend in town. Spring has meant a great deal to those two, perhaps more to Eloise, as she has a pin. Isn't it nice and so unusual to find a platonic affair like theirs. Girls, you know the boys are what you make them.

Alice and Buster make such a sweet couple. They are both so quiet and retiring; but Alice believes she has found her true love. His pin certainly becomes her.

Mary is too shy and shrinking. She doesn't know that we have dethroned that horrible old Kigy and that sweetness and love rule. Come on, Mary, bring your pin out and wear it. Everybody loves a lover, you know.

Have you noticed Fleming and Mapple? Their affair seems to be coming along nicely—especially since she has begun to recite love stories about him.

DRAMATIC GROUP GIVE "ROBIN HOOD"

that Lofton Giddens has had a slightly comical part, and he is expected to provide much amusement.

It is guaranteed that even Laurence Shippey's best friend won't know him when he's made Friar Tuck. Mr. Shippey does character parts expertly as those who saw the one-act play, "Cabbages," will no doubt well remember.

As Guy of Gisbourne, the villain, Howell Martin makes the most of his opportunities to display his dramatic ability.

In addition to those veteran performers above, the cast includes Irene Enecks, Isabell Cross, Burnie Mallory, Marvin McKneely, Wilson Wilkes, Doris Raulerson, Elmo Biggers and Emory Allen.

With such a talented cast "Robin Hood" can not help but be a great success, and surely no one will want to miss it. The prices are 20 cents each or two for 35 cents. Come and bring a date and support the Dramatic Club.

Happenings in The Training School

(WALTER DOWNS)

Interest and enthusiasm are the two words that express the atmosphere of the Training School the first week of the spring term. Thirty student-teachers have been given their teaching assignments and at this early date many of them already have their work in hand in such a way that every indication points toward a valuable experience for them in their preparation for teaching. Gradually the time given to supervised teaching is being increased. All student-teachers this term are giving much more than one hour of actual work in the class room. Some spend two hours each day planning and working with the children.

An effort is being made every term to bring the heads of the college departments into closer touch with the students doing their teaching assignments. Teachers colleges cannot do their best work until there is a complete unified program tying up the material of subject matter courses with the work of the student-teacher in his supervised teaching. Too often students are unable to take their experiences in college courses and reconstruct them into meaningful material on the level of the elementary and high school grades. The closer together the college departments and the Training School are brought the greater will be the advantage of the student in his preparation for teaching. The responses that have been made on the part of college instructors have been most helpful and greatly appreciated. Everything will be done in the future to make the work of the two units more closely related.

A large number of the college students are participating in the activities of the play ground. This is a most valuable experience if these students come to the Training School with the desire to better understand children and to help them develop the best ways of playing together. The children are normal as far as their difficulties are concerned. The play ground does not present an ideal situation but it does offer a learning situation for those who wish to find out how to direct successfully children in play.

The supervised teaching done by the students off the campus during the winter term was most satisfactory. Miss Jewell Green and Miss Edna Bennett were in the Portal school and Mr. Alton Ellis was at Warnock. These student teachers are of one opinion in that this experience has been most valuable. The most gratifying feature of this part of the teacher training work to the administration is the fact that these young people were loath to give up their teaching and return to the college classroom. This is an excellent indication of satisfactory work done. Each one of these young people was asked at the close of the work if he or she were open for a position another year. This question was asked by some of the administration of the schools in which the teaching was done. The same thing can be said about the two girls who were in the field before Christmas. Those students who wish to do the above type of supervised teaching next year should make it known to the director of the Training School before the end of the spring term.

On Monday, March 19, the four supervising teachers with the director of the Training School spent a most pleasant and profitable day in the Waters Avenue school in Savannah. This school is outstanding for the fine program of citizenship development. This program is actually functioning in the lives of these children. This can be readily observed in all phases of the children's activities. The program centers around the Midget Savannah organization which provides all student leadership necessary for the administration of the plan.

The mayor and council of Midget Savannah, Miss Riley, the principal and all the teachers did everything possible to make the visit most valuable. At the close of the school day a luncheon was given in the kindergarten room in honor of the guests. The midget mayor was toastmaster and no Kiwanian could have been more versatile in handling the situation.

The children of the Training School had a great time Thursday, March 22. At 11 o'clock the entire number with teachers and some student-treasures walked up to the State Theatre, where Mr. Macon had made special arrangements for them to see the picture, "Alice in Wonderland." Two days before, it was a common occurrence to walk into a room and find the teacher and children either reading or discussing the book. After seeing the picture it was most interesting to get the reactions of the children. On the whole it was enjoyed but a few early adolescent boys found the preview of the "Telegraph Trail" more interesting.

"The Necklace," one of DeMaupassant's stories—Burnie Mallory.

"Smile and Slumber," words by Hugo and music by Gounod—Eloise Preetorius.

"The Pipers," a violin solo—Grace Cromley.

Invitations to the French Club will be extended at an early date.

Wednesday evening, March 15, the Bachelors Club held its regular meeting in the art room. A very interesting program was rendered by Miss Marie Wood, Miss Ruth Bolton and Miss Ethel Wood, sponsors of the club. After this the members of the club retired to the Home Economics dining room and were served refreshments. The program as well as the refreshments paid tribute to St. Patrick's Day.

ALPHA TAU SORORITY

The Alpha Tau Sorority met in the Training School auditorium Thursday, March 15, at 6:45 o'clock.

After the business session, a program on "St. Patrick's Day" was presented. New bids were voted on. The meeting adjourned and a social hour was enjoyed in the little parlor at 10 o'clock.

The sorority members and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Dyer were present.

ATHLETIC PLAN IS BIG SUCCESS

The Woman's Athletic Association announces that its recent plan of lending athletic equipment is highly successful. The association initiated the practice of making it possible for students to use tennis rackets, golf clubs, oars, balls, bats and horseshoes three weeks ago.

This equipment may be obtained during the hours from 4 until 6 every afternoon.

The officers of the athletic association wish to commend the students on the co-operation and the enthusiasm which they have displayed during the last few weeks.

In the first week the equipment was used thirty-one hours. Girls used tennis rackets twenty-one hours, boys only six. The golf clubs were used only one hour. The second week showed a decided increase with the rackets being used forty-eight hours by the girls and only two and one-half hours by the boys, but golf clubs were used twenty hours.

During the four weeks there is a total of 304 hours, but it shows that the girls take advantage of this opportunity more than the boys. The girls have been out playing for 164 hours and the boys only 140 hours.
