"Y" CABINET AT TECH CONFERENCE

Activities of the Teachers College Y. Manual workers in the school have been elected the cabinet meeting in Atlanta Sunday, October 28th. The cabinet, composed of "Y" presidents of various schools, met at the Tech. "Y" first and heard annual reports from its members.

The T. C. report, in addition to stating the year's proposed program, included explanation of the "Y" manual meeting, the new reading room, and magazines and newspaper subscriptions.

Representatives from larger state schools expressed interest in the "Y" ventures. It was pointed out that fewer chapel assemblies might tend to larger audiences at religious meetings. It was further pointed out that the larger institutions, where it is an easier matter to get into a rut and remain there, the leisure arts program in effect might tend to larger attendance at religious meetings. The cabinet meeting in Atlanta Sunday, October 28th, was attended by Miss Elizabeth Donovan of the Training School, A. S. Singley of the education department, and Walter Downes of the Training School attended the meeting of the First district regional convention of the Georgia Education Association held in Lyceum Theatre and Monday, October 28th and 29th.

Dr. Pittman was the principal speaker at the Sunday night session, speaking on "Our Changing Civilization."

To the students of Monday Miss Claxton spoke to the elementary teachers on "The New Deal and Health."

The meetings of the association were held in the Lyceum Methodist church and the high school auditorium. Approximately six hundred teachers from this section attended.

STUDENTS AND ADVISORS DISCUSS PROBLEMS ON DIFFERENT CAMPUSES.

RESIDENT WELLS WILL FETE TEACHERS TEAM

Wells will fete Teachers team immediately following the T. C. M. G. M. C. clash in Milledgeville Friday, November 15th. Dr. and Mrs. Guy H. Wells, of the Georgia State College for Women and formerly of South Georgia Teachers College, will entertain the Blue Tide squad, Coach Shaw, the cheer leaders and all former T. C. students attending G. S. C. W. with an informal reception and dinner.

The old governor's mansion, occupied by eight of Georgia's chief executives, will be the scene of the reception. Dancing will be enjoyed in the historic old ballroom.

Dr. and Mrs. Wells have followed the event every game played by the teachers this season.

BLUE TIDE FETED

Stagehands' business men were hosts to the teachers' football team at a dinner Saturday evening at one of the downtown hotels. After dinner the players were further entertained at a dance.

This is the second fine gesture accorded the Blue Tide by the business men. Earlier in the season they declared a half holiday to open the home schedule.

These gestures mark an increasing interest in T. C. affairs, it seems, and each season brings new courtesies from the townpeople.

President Wells Visits on Campus

Dr. Guy H. Wells, president of the Georgia State College for Women, and the former president of South Georgia Teachers College, was on the campus for a brief visit Sunday, October 28th.

Dr. Wells attended vespers and made a short talk on "Truth," which was the theme of the program. "Every man," he said, "should seek the truth, live the truth and help others to live it."

He commended the attendance of the vespers service and spoke very favorably of improvements in the administration.

Students thanked

The school, and particularly Mrs. Landrum and Miss Bellan, wish to thank those students who participated in the serving of the motorcade Thursday for their fine co-operation and efficient service.

Five hundred and sixteen cars were in the "Y" parade and practically everybody was served while on the campus.

FACULTY ATTENDS LYONS MEETING

President Marvin S. Pittman, Dean Z. S. Henderson, Miss Caro Lane of the College of Education departments, Miss Jane Frazare and Miss Elizabeth Donovan of the Training School, A. S. Singley of the education department, and Walter Downes of the Training School attended the meeting of the First district regional convention of the Georgia Education Association held in Lyceum Theatre and Monday, October 28th and 29th.

The T. C. delegation, composed of Dr. Pittman, Miss Lane, Miss Donovan and Mr. Downes appeared on rogram.

EDUCATION FOR TOMORROW

(Editor’s Note: The following editorial written by J. E. Caruth, of the Education Department, is in keeping with the theme of National Education Week, November 5-11.)

The National Education Association gives four great trends in education during the past eight years: General reduction in expense and heavy cut in costs per child, with reduction in staff have come at the same time as a heavy increase in enrollment. Inequalities have increased, and serious restrictions of opportunities has resulted.

Along with these, one other trend is recognized. The responsibility on the school has increased. Youth has been forced out of industry and employment. It is the responsibility of the school to absorb. Expenditures in the efficient administration of schools to this end is to be regarded as ‘the Great Investment’ by society for its ongoing.

Weakness in the school have been revealed. These must be eliminated. Wasteful expenditure and poor budgeting is to be avoided through better trained and efficient administration. The school is working to rid itself of faults which have existed without known value. Throughout the nation serious thought is being given to a critical study of the aims; to a restatement of the objectives, and to the development and presentation of subject matter for the attainment of these objectives.

The extent of social change and the breaking away from the accepted standards of value have brought a strong challenge to the institutions for the socialization of the young generation. The concept of social efficiency as advantageous upon the school the task of best development of each and every individual according to the needs and capacities of each. Physical efficiency is placed first, and defects and weaknesses are matters of equal concern with efficiency in language or in the social and moral aspects of the life.

Improvement of outcomes in the lives of individual pupils is expected through the work of intelligent, conscientious professionally trained teachers. The more adequate support of the school. But the full and complete work will be attained only through the active cooperation of the parents and other agencies and in the life of the child. To prove worthy of this larger measure of confidence on the part of society and make the stimulation, and win the confidence from the various forces that must work together, is the great challenge before the school.

THE GEORGE-ANNE CRITICISM

There is not a person on our campus who does not have some duty. It may be upholding the scholastic record, it may be labor, or cooperation with the administration in the things that affect the school.

Duty is carrying on, promptly, faithfully, and without being pessimistic, the tasks now before us. It is to fulfill the claims of today so the claims of tomorrow will be cleaner and easier.

Do we feel it our duty when we criticize unjustly and without reason the readjustments made in our school curriculum? After thinking of the change from all angles and from the standpoint of the group, is there much left to criticize that is wrong in our present system where it is in our power to change are our bitterest critics who just for the sake of criticizing. “Be sure you are right and then go ahead.”

Our “now system” of chapel is enjoyed by most everyone. We look forward to it. It is true also that this is only an experiment of our board, but there is hope and believe that it will prove to be successful.

More criticism, most probably, has come from our change in dancing. Some of us have always danced “cheek” fashion. After having seen the beauty, grace and ease of “non-cheek” dancing, can we still want to do the things we have been taught to do? Remember, we are not alone. People are needed by each. Nothing is good or fair alone.

May we always offer suggestions and constructive criticisms, but only when we have the best interest in mind. Blame where it is due. May we always be ready to help make our school the best it can be.

ATHLETIC CONDUCT

Whether or not it is pertinent for us to speak editorially of our football visitors is inconsequential when the subject is considered from a viewpoint of doing good. Our visitors from Cochran last week, despite the fact that they lost the game, brought to us some of the most honest fighting we have seen. They conducted themselves in a manner worthy of note. In the dinning hall they were gentlemen; on the gridiron they were clean fighters, and in mixing with our students they were congenial enough. In other words, they did what many feared they would not—judging from past relations both here and in Cochran—they behaved themselves.

We’ve had players in our dinner hall yelling and disturbing as only half-drunk men can yell and disturb. Not often, but it has happened. This is not our fault, of course, but it may become our fault if all our guests act gentlemanly—if we will all act that way ourselves.

Anyway, the dining hall is no place to become strung. Before criticizing, consider the rights of others, the grace and beauty of yourself and the school.

Our student government is one of the finest things on our campus. We are proud of it, are we going to sit idly by and criticize while some one else is working? Remember that it is needed by each. Nothing is good or fair alone.

May we always offer suggestions and constructive criticisms, but only when we have the best interest in mind. Blame where it is due. May we always be ready to help make our school the best it can be...

T. C. on Other Campuses

Dear Mary:

School simply isn’t the same place now that so many of the old students have gone. Polly Mincey was here last week and she says that she and Carolyn Mundy are having a swell time at Georgia, but they both miss T. C. Incidentally Carolyn has her ear up there with her, so you can imagine what fun they have.

Cliff Hooten, Kappa Alpha; Wink Wilkins, Phi Delta Theta; Otis Church, Chi Psi; Claude, Alphas and John Burgeson is teaching and coaching in Waynesboro and says that he is positive that he’ll win the conference championship in basketball and baseball.

Mary Wolf is at Waynesboro, and from what I’ve heard, she is planning to go to Columbia in the summer.

Evelyn Owens was over several weeks ago from Bath, S. C., who spends most of her time going to Waynesboro or Augusta after school hours.

I’ve just about written out, so I’ll stop now and write more some time.

Love,

JANE

DEAR EDITOR—

So many students are disappointed in the band, we wondered if it wouldn’t be a good idea to appeal to you to see if we couldn’t get everyone ticking up and going. We’ve all had high hopes for our band this year. With the new band director, we hoped to do wonders. But it seems like all the musicians have struck.

Not only are the students becoming disappointed, but we are hearing criticisms from the people in town. They seem to think the high school is getting ahead of us. We’d hate to think that the high school could have a better band than ours, as interested as Dr. Pittman is in music.

Students, can’t we talk it up and see if we can have a band of which we can be proud?

Emphatically yours,

A STUDENT.

Random remarks on the high points of the Appalachian game: Hines breaks off-tackle, cuts back and races seventy yards to glory and the first touchdown.—Middlebrooks takes out the last man on the play.—The entire left side of the T. C. line breaks through and blocks Appalachian's kick in the end zone resulting in a safety.—Middlebrooks attempts to become adept at the art of punt-blocking. He is getting at it, too; also at recovering fumbles.—"Deanie" Bell gets lured and sits in the A. S. T. fullback's face. Personal nomination for the best pass of the day: The one on which Hines left his feet and made a seemingly impossible catch of Anderson's pass—it was a honey. For the best defensive play: The way the " Hilly Filly" line held T. C. three times inside the 10-yard line. Figures: The Teachers completed 7 out of 16 forwards and 2 out of 2 laterals. Appalachians completed 6 out of 13 forwards and 1 out of 2 laterals. Appalachian kicked eight times for an average of 42 yards. T. C. punted six times averaging 30 yards. Individual gains: Hines, 130 yards; Anderson, 63 yards; McKneely, 13 yards; Fulford, 10 yards.

Just before the game Jim Wrinkle was rubbing Anderson's sore leg. Having reached the limit of his endurance, Cohen complained that the liniment made his leg smart. Coach, overhearing the remark, piped up with, "Good, try some on his head."

High points in the M. G. C. game: The return Hines made after snaring Watson's pass. It was easily the best run of the day, coming at a very opportune moment, the broken field run made by Carson, M. G. C. quarter-back, in returning Anderson's kick in the second quarter; the hard game when he cracked Watson, Cochran half-back, on a play through the T. C. line; the defensive play of the entire teammates. Three laterals were completed. Middle Georgia attempted eleven forwards, connecting on two.

Riggins played his usual jam-up defensive game. Hines and Anderson stood out in the backfield. Lam-Black played a swell game at blocking back; scoring our touch- down on a beautiful pass from Bell. In the line the honors were more evenly divided. Riggs played his usual jam-up defensive game. Hines and Anderson were stars in the defensive play as hard to please in the Teachers game. Hines and Anderson stood out in the backfield.

To all Students: Let's give the boys a real send-off to help them win the Douglas game. To the team: Let's break a record and win a game away from home.

Teachin's Scores on M. G. C.

Anderson

Fighting Pros

Beat Cochran

Allied by the best spirit ever shown at T. C., the Teachers triumphed over Middle Georgia College of Cochran Friday afternoon— with the score 6-0. The only score of the game came as a climax to a passer's duel, Hines carrying the ball around his own left end to tally. Teachers College missed an opportunity to score early in the game when Parks and Griffin blocked one of Carson's quick kicks on the M. G. C. five-yard marker. From this point until the closing minutes of play neither team threatened the other's goal. Cochran made a desperate attempt score in the final quarter, filling the air with passes. Carson's placement accounted for her lone score. Line plays gave the Teachers a first down and after two more crashes into the line Hines kicked the extra point. For the South Georgians Hines, Fulford, Griffin and Riggins were outstanding. Starring for Cochran were Carson, Watson, Browning and Malone. In Carson the Teachers met one of the best broken-field runners they have faced this season, and in Watson one of the most accurate passers.

Teachers Down Appalachian

In another upset game, the Teachers outplayed Appalachian State Teachers of Boone, N. C., winning by a score of 22-18. "The Pros" showed a clear advantage for three-quarters of the game, allowing the North Carolina team to score only in the second quarter.

The Teachers scored early in the first quarter when the left side of the line broke through and blocked an Appalachian pass in the end zone. The ball rolled out before it could be recovered, thereby scoring a safety. The second score also came in the first quarter on a beautifully executed off-tackle play with Hines carrying the ball. Appalachian took charge of the game in the second quarter and scored a touchdown and one extra point. Both of these scores came as a direct result of the most effective passing attack the Teachers have had this season. Score at half: S. G. C. 9 and A. S. T. C. 12.

The "Professors" came back strong in the third quarter and scored after holding three successive times inside the ten-yard line. Anderson took the ball over the right side of the line on the scoring play. Try for extra point was unsuccessful.

Teachers scored again in the final stanza on a short pass from Anderson to Lambright. Anderson place-kicked the extra point.

Credit for the best performances of the day go to Anderson and Hines, and in the line to Middlebrooks, Riggins and Cherry.

Miss Mae Wood is organizing a guitar club among the high school pupils. Twice each week at college assembly period she will have a group taking lessons on the guitar. Mrs. Downs and Miss Wood are doing some special work with the children and some very nice groups have been organized. At Christmas time these groups will render a special number on the program.

Miss Lonsfey is doing some excellent work in health. All the children have been given the first typhoid injection and those under seven have had the diphtheria treatment. The health program for both children and student teachers will be made more meaningful because of the assistance of this very fine health officer. The Training School is most fortunate in having her services.

Miss Jane Friend spent last week on the campus. Her work is progressing nicely.

If the Republicans are looking for candidates for president and vice president in 1934 please note that William J. Franck will be President and William J. Franken will be Vice President. The paper is sponsored by Leonard Kent, who is doing superb teaching in the ninth grade. Now is the time to start acclimating the children. The children will place each issue on sale at a penny a copy. Those students who are interested in this type of extra-curricular activity might find it helpful to keep copies of this little paper for future reference.

Miss Elizabeth Donovan has been giving some excellent work in the classroom where student teachers have been working in Bulloch county. Satur- day, November 3, all the student- teachers and teacher-student as- sociates at the Training School were given some very valuable help in summarizing the results of these tests. The tests were given both for survey and diagnostic purposes. Miss Donovan and Miss Friend have acted upon the fine work they are doing. Dr. Pittman made his first visit to the Training School Friday, November 2nd, while the children were engaged in classroom activities. He went into all the rooms making himself known to the children in a most friendly way. The Training School group appreciated the visit and hope he will write more often.
