Inter-Collegiate Debaters Meet Florida Freshmen

"PROF" ORATORS UPHOLD NEGATIVE

ESPEY AND GIDDENS SHOW UP
WELL IN NON-DECISION
FRAY.

Bob Espey and Lofton Giddens met real opposition in the University of Florida freshmen Friday evening when they met them in a discussion of the medical question. Making their first appearance against a university team, the two pre-law students hammered away at the opposition unrelentingly and drove home their points in splendid style. The debate was no-decision and hence no exact results can be given, however, there was little doubt in the minds of the audience as to the winner of the contest. The Teachers upheld the negative of the question: "Resolved, That the several states should adopt legislation providing to its citizens, at nominal cost, general medical care and the services of hospitals and clinics."

The opposition sought to present a plan for government intervention in the medical profession as a panacea for the poor health conditions in the United States, however, this plan was punctured with so many holes by the Teachers that it looked like last summer's coat.

Robert Espey, from Montezuma, Georgia, is a junior and came to South Georgia Teachers College from the junior college at Cochran. While there he took part in the inter-society debates.

Lofton Giddens, from Eastman, Georgia, is also a junior and came to this college in 1933. During his first year here he won the inter-society debate for the Stephens Society and later won the Andrew Kingery medal for public speaking.

This was the first of a series of debates being sponsored by the Student Council and the second contest will be held in April when the Teachers meet Mercer here on the same question.

Calendar of Events (Spring Term)

April 2—Dr. Jernigan, professor of history, University of Chicago, subject: "New Dealers and Social Planning."

April 5 or 8—University of Georgia Glee Club.

April 17—Debate, Mercer University.

April 19—WSB's Royal Hawaiians.

April 24—Debate, Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College.

May 10-11—Music Festival.

The George-Anne Visits Alumni Throughout All Parts of Nation

There are many interesting events and high spots in the life of each copy of the George-Anne. One paper has recently completed a tour of the United States from Georgia to Maine.

A copy of the March 4th number of the George-Anne was sent by Armine Davis to Harriet Wynn, a student at the University of Georgia, and who lives in Milledge Hall. Now, there are two former T. C. students living in this same residence hall—Elizabeth Fletcher and Martha McElveen. Thus, the third stop in the George-Anne's itinerary was their abode.

Here it remained for some time, because Martha and Elizabeth wished to devour its entire contents.

Secure in Miss McElveen's evening bag, the paper attended the annual Kappa Alpha costume ball, given in Woodruff Hall that week end. Here, amid numerous John Paul Joneses and Four Roses, its majesty met many outstanding former students of its Alma Mater. Among these were: Claire Hicks, Polly Mincey, Carolyn Mundy, George Boswell, Otis Shivers, Chauncey Brinson, Ralph Brinson, Cliff Hooten, Bob Cherry, Fleming Roach, James Hall and Hubert Coleman.

The little "G.-A." was somewhat "whipped" after such a night's round of greeting old friends and dancing to the music of Jack Dale and his Georgia Bull Dogs. So, Sunday was spent in quiet rest under the cover of a new stamp and wrapper in the Athens postoffice.

Monday found the periodical well on its way to Bill Proctor, Philadelphia, Penn. Bill was a daughter of T. C. back in '32 and is now attending a medical college in Philadelphia.

With edges frayed by many fingers and the print dimmed by much handling, this George-Anne finally found its requiem in a corner of Miss Proctor's scrapbook.

BACHELORS PLAN SPRING EVENTS

ANNUAL BANQUET, PICNIC,
INITIATION AND HOUSE PARTY TO FEATURE QUARTER.

When spring makes its official debut here next quarter, the Bachelors—known to beware of skirts—will begin a series of entertainments, parties and merry-makings which will somewhat appease that unaccountable yearning that causes young men's fancies to turn toward something foolish.

At least it looks that way, judging from the spring social season which is planned by the club. First, there will be a picnic at Lovers' Hill or Lester's Pines. The second and fourth weeks will be dedicated to the inviting and initiating of pledges. Then comes the annual Scandal Revue and chapel program, which will be closely followed by a week-end party at Riverside Park honoring new members. The last and biggest affair of the season will then be near—the spring banquet and the return of Bachelor graduates to the scenes of their college days.

After that, little remains to be done except send certain of the fairer sex who leave T. C. as students away with a stamp of approval by the club.

It is estimated that about 25 new men will be invited to join the Bachelors this year.

STUDENTS WILL ATTEND "Y" MEET

Y. M. AND Y. W. C. A. TO SEND DELEGATES TO WESLEYAN CONFERENCE.

Students from South Georgia Teachers College will attend the Student Training Conference of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. of Georgia, which will be held at Wesleyan College, Macon, March 21-24.

The keynote of the conference will be "Training for Leadership," and interesting speakers have been secured for every session. The program includes the following well known religious workers: Raymond R. Paty, dean of men at Emory University; Dr. Ed F. Cook, pastor of the Mulberry Methodist church, Macon; David M. Braswell, director of athletics, West Georgia College; Miss Mary Jane Willett, national student Y. M. C. A. secretary; Emmett Johnson, director of religious activities at Emory University; Miss Polly Moss, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at Georgia State College for Women, and Miss Agnes Highsmith, of the University of Georgia Voluntary Religious Association.

The Wesleyan conference this year promises to place major emphasis on the actual training of students for Christian association work on the local campus. Every college in the

EXAMS TO CLOSE WINTER TERM

CAPACITY ENROLLMENT EXPECTED FOR OPENING OF SPRING TERM.

Tomorrow will mark the close of the winter quarter and the beginning of spring holidays for students and faculty alike. As soon as exams are completed a general exodus will begin and by Wednesday morning the campus will be deserted. The student body will scatter in many directions; some will go home, but a large number will use this time to visit friends. As has been the custom in the past, there will be a number of students who will attend house parties. The Iota Pi Nus and their guests will spend the holidays on St. Simon's Island, while the Delta Sigmas will sojourn at Yellow Bluff. There will also be other house parties given by individuals.

The enrollment for the spring term is always exceedingly large, and this year will be no exception. The short six weeks' term has always been popular with school teachers in this section who are working on their degrees, and over a hundred new people are expected for this short session.

state will have delegates in attendance.

Officers of the state association are: President, Claud Green, University of Georgia; vice-president, Caroline Dickson, Agnes Scott; secretary, Ruth Vinson, Georgia State College for Women, and treasurer, Rayford Kytte Jr., Georgia Tech.

GET IN THE SWIM!

Of all the sports offered at T. C. swimming is the one most appreciated, for it brings both pleasure and exercise. It is one of the best activities for bringing spontaneous joy to the individual, for it can be indulged in by all ages, students and faculty. Swimming and its allied branches of water sports furnish wholesome and natural forms of exercise, and are a means of developing good posture, grace and poise. By properly supervised swimming, like T. C. has on its campus, the highest ideals may be inculcated, such as courage, self-confidence, leadership, a democratic spirit, good sportsmanship, self-sacrifice and heroic service. These ideals form a vital part of one's training for citizenship.

If you don't know how to swim, this is the time to learn. T. C. offers you wonderful opportunities. A nice equipped swimming pool, directors and a Dolphin Club, composed of the senior life-savers of the campus, who are willing to help you.

The weather might be a little chilly and the water cold, but that's just what one needs to wash away the spring fever and pep one up for the coming baseball games. Seek the swimming pool immediately after spring holidays for a plunge, so T. C. will have more and better swimmers.

INTERCOLLEGIATE COMPETITION

This year, for the first time in the history of the school, our athletic teams, debating teams and other organizations have met groups from the larger colleges and universities of this state and also of Florida, Alabama and North Carolina. In all these encounters, T. C. has acquitted herself with distinction. It is a fine thing for a college to come in contact with a number of other institutions; these contacts contribute much to the experience of all students concerned. Becoming allied with outstanding institutions causes this college to grow and become known outside of the state as well as within its borders. Therefore such contests should be encouraged; they have the wholehearted co-operation of the entire college and all its patrons from the surrounding towns. Here's to bigger and better competition for T. C.!

GEORGIA PROGRESS DAY

Georgia Progress Day as sponsored by South Georgia Teachers College on March 8th and 9th was a very significant event in the history of education in Georgia. By bringing to the campus the leading educators and state officials of higher education in Georgia, Dr. Pittman's primary purpose was the making of a comprehensive study of the teaching profession in the state.

The concert given by Savannah High School Glee Club, under the direction of William A. Eyler, was a fitting opening to the conference that is to affect public education in the future. Music, as produced by this high school group, brought to the visitors' attention the real part of education that the average girl and boy in Georgia is missing.

Chancellor Weltner, in the opening address of the progress conference, set forth that if the teachers of Georgia would render the best service to the child—they should think of teaching as a profession, thereby focusing their entire time on the service they might render the child.

The aim of the Progress Day was again brought out in addresses by L. M. Lester, head of teachers training in Georgia, and Kyle T. Alfriend, secretary of the Georgia Education Association. Mr. Lester pointed out, "If a college recommended a graduate for the teaching profession, and that person really wants to teach—then there is a place for him in the public schools of Georgia." Mr. Alfriend said, "Teaching ought to be a profession—not for you or me, but for society and the child."

What South Georgia Teachers College is doing towards preparing teachers for the schools of Georgia was brought out in a talk by W. L. Downs, director of the Training School. Mr. Downs explained the plan of in-service teaching now in operation at the college under the sponsorship of the General Education Board. Miss Elizabeth Donovan, supervising field teacher; Miss Bertha Hagin, teacher-student, and Miss Helen Enecks, student-teacher, explained the actual working of the plan and gave their interpretation of the values of such a project.

Georgia Progress Day brought the leaders of Georgia education to a full realization of the facts facing their profession, and gave them an approach to the solution of current problems in education.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!

The bugle has blown. It is 3:15 and behold a beautiful damsel comes treading down the hall carrying a chromium tray and aluminum percolator with some small pink glass cups and saucers, with cookies neatly piled high on a small dish. She passes hurriedly by students who gaze hungrily after her, and alas! passes into the president's office.

It is time for our president to have his coffee.

"The old order changeth, yielding place to new," and so the kitchen rates a new stove. It will be installed during the spring holidays, and this isn't all—the entire kitchen will be renovated. When asked what will be done with the old stove, Mrs. Landrum said, "It will be given to the first couple to get married after the new one is put in." A close race is expected between certain faculty members and the student body to get the stove!

STUDENT OPINION

Dear Editor:

We are not criticising the administration or student government. All we know is what we see or hear. However, at times we see or hear things that are not doing the majority of the students any good and are not approved by the majority of the students. Of course, things like this are certain to happen in some degree, but there are a few maladjustments for which we can find no plausible explanation.

One thing which has given cause to much comment lately is probably due to an error in that section of the 1934-35 bulletin which tells of the expenses of the college. It says that board was (then) $16 per month. It did not say three-week or 21-day months included, if there are such things, nor did it say that board was $48 a quarter, payable in three equal installments. Nevertheless, we had to pay 12 weeks of board when there are only 11 weeks in the winter quarter. The clerk said when we asked him about it, that the extra week's board was to cover an extra week in the fall quarter for which we did not pay. In the fall quarter there are exactly 84 days of regular session or 12 weeks. It was rumored that the Student Council would look into the matter, but if they did, they kept their findings a secret.

Another puzzling situation is the decrease in the quality and quantity of food since the increase in board. We have great respect for our dietitian and are not discrediting her in any way, knowing that she is doing the best she can under the circumstances. But how can hotels and boarding houses in town offer lodging and better meals, on a smaller scale, for practically the same price? Some say we are sacrificing our food to feed important visitors, for we have had several tribes of important visitors lately. It was understood, however, that all visitors were to pay 25c per meal, so there is still no light. Someone should offer an explanation for a situation which is the cause of so much discussion among the student body.

Absences from chapel have caused much comment from members of the faculty lately. We are inclined to believe that an occasional variation of the chapel program, so that a little entertainment could be derived, would help the attendance. Long, dry, educational lectures are a guaranteed means to keep the average American college student away from chapel, at the expense of quality points or any other penalty. For instance, we know of a case where the Student Council denied a group of students the right to put on a chapel program because the program was too entertaining. If this continues, we can guarantee the vacant seats in chapel will continue also.

SPORTS

Among the Athletes

Spring is in the air! T. C. baseball team has started the annual grind for the coming season which is expected to be the best in the history of the school.

There is an indication that there will be a number of new men in the line-up this year. Substitutes from last year and freshmen ought to get the call for several positions that were left open by graduation. There are a number of letter men who have returned to take up where they left off last year. Jake Hines, "Bish" Ratley, Joe Stein, Inman Chambless, Alan Arnold, Howell Martin, Dubose will get the first call, having had experience on last year's team. There are numbers of new men that show possibilities such as George Cliett, catcher; General Lee, pitcher and first base; George Kinzy, third base; Holder Watson, Paul Robertson, Gene Davis, outfielders, and George Abelson, Chason Harrison and Lanny Alexander, pitchers.

From all early outlooks it won't take the team long to round into shape to start the ball rolling.

Coach Smith has lined up one team with Cliett catching Arnold on first, Martin holding down second, Jake Hines playing short, Kinzy or Lambright on third, Davis in left field, Watson in center and Stein in right.

The schedule has not been completed but it will be announced after spring holidays. The Teachers expect to play the Boston Braves in Savannah. This game has not been definitely scheduled.

The Blue Tide's track team will start practicing under the direction of Coach Westcott after spring holidays. There were about twenty-five boys signed up for this sport. This is relatively a new sport at T. C., and a lot of work will have to be done. A track is being made back of the boys' dormitory and next year a cinder track will be made on the football practice field.

About four meets have been scheduled with G. M. C., Douglas, B. P. I. and Cochran. All efforts are being made to get a meet with the Georgia freshmen. It has been promised that if the team develops enough it will be sent to Atlanta for the Tech relays.

Buster Deal and "Fullback" Smith, the two leather punchers, who won the right to go to Charlotte for the Southern A. A. U. fights, lost out in the first round of the meet.

Buster Deal lost in the second round of his match when he was butted and knocked out. He broke his man's jaw in the first round. "Fullback" Smith lost out in the first round of his fight.

Captain Wayne McKneely led a fast-stepping team to a meager victory in the finals of the intra-mural basketball tournament staged in the Alumni Building here March 12th. Bowen's team was runner-up, losing out in the finals by the small margin of three points. Thrilling flashes of action were produced by Bell, nucleus of the Bowen team's attack.

There were so many excellent ball players in the tournament that the judges found it very difficult to pick an all-tournament team.

Coach Smith's sharp-shooting Panthers were a top-heavy favorite in the tournament, but were nosed out in their first game.

The winning team will be awarded a chicken supper in the near future. Referee Jim Wrinkle should be complimented for his splendid service throughout the tournament.

Prospects for an excellent tennis team are very good this year. With the returning of Wilkins Smith, co-star with Munch, in the spring term the strength of the team will be greatly added to. Other members of last year's team are Settle, Stapleton and Wrinkle.

If the Team proves its merit during the playing season, Mr. Hanner, Tennis coach and instructor, may take the team to Georgia-Tech to play in the tournament there, where the members of the team will encounter some of the best college tennis players. As soon as spring holidays are over Mr. Hanner plans to start the school tournament to select the champion of the school and to sift the players for the team. Mr. Hanner urges all boys interested in making the team to start getting in shape and make the old members of the team hustle for their positions.

T. C. Basketeers End Fine Season

The final game of the season, a victory over the University of Georgia, ended one of the best basketball years that South Georgia Teachers College has ever had and enabled them to claim the state championship for 1934-35.

The record for the year lists fifteen games won and only three lost. Only one college team holds a victory over the Professors this year and that team is the South Georgia State College at Douglas, a team that the Teachers later defeated twice. The other two defeats were at the hands of the World Champion Celtics and the Atlanta Y. M. C. A. The Celtics won over the Tidesmen by six points, and the Atlanta team defeated the Teachers by one point in a game that went into an extra period. The Atlanta team later won the amateur championship of the South, winning each game in the tournament by large margins.

Among those teams that the Teachers defeated this season are: University of Georgia, College of Charleston, one of the leading teams of South Carolina, and the J. E. A., of Savannah, one of the leading amateur teams of this section. The latter two were victims of the Blue Tide twice.

Coach Smith was fortunate in that he had a veteran team to work with this year. He had the best material that he has had for several years, but nevertheless, felt the loss of Jake Smith, one of the best basketball players ever developed in the state of Georgia. Using his set-up play on the offense, Coach Smith developed a high-scoring machine that tallied 905 points in 18 games. The defense was not as good as it should have been, but opposing scorers were held to a total of 574 points.

Bill Stewart was the high point man for the season, closely followed by Ebb Youmans. These two men were the main cogs in the scoring machinery. Stewart was high point man in game after game, occasionally yielding the honor to Youmans, and once or twice to Hines and Middlebrooks. Hines played his usual good game this season, although he did not get as many points as customary. His floor game and defensive work were greatly superior to anything in that line that he has shown in the years before. Middlebrooks, a new man, fitted into the system perfectly and performed steadily, offensively and defensively. Wrinkle, playing a new position, confined most of his activities to holding the opposing players down. Capable substitutes were on hand ever ready to enter the games. Wilkes seems to be the most improv-

We still insist it's great to be a girl. It wasn't blue and white jackets or T letters that the girls' basketball team received last Friday afternoon after practice, but it was something just as grand and a surprise, too. It was food—in the form of fried chicken, potato chips, tomatoes, rolls, pickles and real punch, topped off by ice cream and cake. Was it a feast! The best we have ever attended, and all on the account of Mrs. Dyer, our coach. Not satisfied with giving her time and energy freely in the coaching of our basketball team this season, Mrs. Dyer decided she wanted to do something else for us, so the result was this perfect feed. Thanks a thousand times, Mrs. Dyer, not only for the feed but for your unselfish services given the basketball team during this quarter. We are truly grateful to you, and also to Miss Lane, who has helped us so much, not to mention the elegant banquet she gave us in Savannah.

Practice for the girls is over for this year, and the season has been a successful one, even if we didn't play but two off-campus games. These two games were played with the First Baptist church from Savannah. The first game in Savannah was lost by a close margin and the game played here against the same team was an overwhelming 49-15 victory.

Eleven girls out of Mrs. Byron Dyer's refereeing class are expected to receive rating for girls' basketball refereeing in the state of Georgia in a few days, as was announced last week.

These girls have been coached and directed by Mrs. Dyer, who is a class A rating referee in Georgia. They have studied Spaulding official playing rules for 1934-35 girls' basketball and rules for the officials and their duties, for the last three months. Practical refereeing has been done in the varsity practice in the afternoon, and several of the members of the class have refereed games between Statesboro High School and other teams. Their work was highly praised.

All the tests sent out by the national rating board have been passed by the girls and they did their practical examination last Friday afternoon in practice. They were judged by Mrs. Dyer. All individual records were sent to the national rating board last week and the class is now awaiting their return.

DEDICATION

This week's sling is dedicated to those people who have figured so prominently in our scoops for a long time and who will not return next term. To Duncan, Herrington and Price we extend sincerest thanks for all their contributions.

Still at large in West is one 8x10 photograph of one blonde from Cussetta. Al no longer claims it and the Diggers are in need of suggestions as to an appropriate way of presenting it to one of our social science professors. We had thought of placing it on his desk, but that would be childish. What have you to suggest?

Two members of Pat Roberts' Anderson family hold the spotlight in today's newest cases. Brannen and Ida Kent are seeing a great deal of Andrew Mathis and Gene Davis these days.

Since when do Plymouth automobiles have steering wheels on the right side? Right or left, Rae McKown says she was not driving and yet one of Statesboro's gents was on the right side and Rae seemed to have been somewhere near the gear shift.

Honey's promise to let people do as they wished for 15c at the Training School benefit was carried out fully. We saw no restrictions.

Time for the house parties has at last arrived! But alas! many of the notables are not going for reasons of their own. This necessitates many changes. For one, there's Flicker and Moody; Wayne and Barbara will not be there, neither will Eloise be with Dodie. Instead she has gotten ambitious again. This time it's Charlie Joe Mathews.

Director Lane presented her Follies again. Such charm and grace has never before been seen on a T. C. stage.

What was the matter in the Goat-Anna fray? General Lee is making amends, though.

Al Henderson's visits to town and round-about places continue to occur nightly. No clues have been turned in yet, but we understand she has a car and always brings him back to the campus.

Elmer Carlyle Brewton has had some revolting in his harem. He is exhibiting a large bandage on his neck! "Hell hath no fury like that of a woman's scorn."

Sugar says she still loves Porgy best, but house parties can change a lot of things.

With "All-Southern" Cone, "Truck Horse" McElveen, Nancy (Fullback) Young and Mary Jane Hodges spending the holidays in Concord and Atlanta, anything can happen. Look out, North Georgia, here comes our All-American Blue Tide!

What were they playing at that L. T. C. party? Bell and Lil Simmons and Julia and Robby were having fun.

Quat is still without a girl of his own—but he has plenty to do in helping other people look after their interests.

... Where Who's Going ...

Mr. and Mrs. William Deal will visit in Savannah.

Miss Marion Groover will spend the time with home folks in Dixie, Ga.

Coach and Mrs. B. L. Smith are to visit Mrs. Smith's mother in Sylvania.

Mayo Cody, Joe Gilliam, Ione Gilliam and George Donaldson will pass their spring holidays in New Smyrna, Fla.

Miss Hester Newton, of the history department, will study the schools of Effingham county during the holidays.

Miss Mary Small, of the art department, and Kathryn Yeomans are to visit in Jesup, Ga., and Charleston, S. C.

Sarah Brinson and Barbara Gray, of Waynesboro, will have as their guest for the week end Mary Davis, of Savannah.

Lilly Ellis will have as her guests at her home in Jesup, Helen James, of Waycross, and Mable Rocker, of Crawfordville.

Guests of the Delta Sigma house party include Eloise Mincey, Laura Hickey and Lottie Rountree, Ernest Harper, Frank Quattlebaum, Wayne McKneely, Gene Bell, Carlton Fender, Carlos Middlebrooks, J. W. Riggs, Alan Arnold, Joe Lambright.

Among those who will attend the Iota Pi Nu house party at St. Simon's Island are Mildred Zeagler, Margaret Owens, Eloise Graham, Mattie Cain, Melba Harvey, Marilyn Mooney, Grace Cromley, Aubrey Pafford, Leonard Kent, Josh Lanier, Charlie Munch, Charlie Joe Mathews, Barton Stephens and Bill Kennedy.

VERSE AND WORSE

THE PROFESSOR THINKS

Here I sit so stern and stiff
And cannot help but wonder if,
Can those in front really be
As dumb as they appear to me.

"Did you take a bath?"

"No, is there one missing?"

There are a few things a boy should know before he goes to college.

There are also a few things he should know before leaving college—but seldom does.

"Who's afraid of the big bad Prof?"

The sleepy freshman cries;
And turns off the old alarm clock
And shuts his little eyes,
And sinks back on his pillow
To dream of pleasant things,
Like lovely gold-haired angels,
But not the kind with wings;
And thinking of the classroom,
He murmurs as in prayer,
"When the roll is called up yonder,
I will not be there."

Mr. Donaldson, sorta griped: "I'm tired of this class talking all the time. It's got to stop. You don't believe, ah?"

Sarah Kate, meekly: "I believe you."

My love is like a red, red rose,
Sweetheart, of thee I sing;
I'll take a nickel's worth of those,
The cerfew shall not ring.

Nit: "There are an awful lot of girls who don't want to get married."

Wit: "How do you know?"

Nit: "I've asked 'em."

Papa swore because the car had a blow-out, but little Audrey just laughed and laughed, 'cause she remembered that there was a fork in the road.

Girls who are bespectacled
Seldom get their neck tickled.
But safety pins and bassinets
Awaits the girls who fascinate.

Take Coach's team, Landrum's food and Pittman's administration,
Put them all together and you have a situation
That forms a good environment for you, my dear, and me;
Some may call it madness, others say
"T. C."
