Families who join Community to Community while in crisis have limited access to support networks. Most of these families are at-risk for homelessness, and disconnected from their neighbors.

How do you help... A Family in Crisis?

1. A Step Up
   Family receives stabilization funds starting at $250 to start putting their lives back on track.

2. A Hand Up
   Family works with a facilitator to build connections to support families from other neighborhoods and income levels.

3. A Connected Community
   Support-Crisis family assists in educating, training, and supporting family to build bond as a group.

   Community to Community builds new connections through:
   - Facilitation between communities of varied income levels
   - Volunteer orientation, cultural awareness, crisis protocols
   - Community celebration after each crisis resolution

Families who join Community to Community while in crisis have limited access to support networks. Most of these families are at-risk for homelessness, and disconnected from their neighbors.