GOOD AVERAGES IN FRESHMAN TESTS

This Year's Class Out-Scoring Others in Five Tests—Boys Rank High.

Results of the Freshman tests, which were announced here during the past week prove that this year's class is above the average. The tests given were: psychology, science, mathematics, history and English. In the five tests given, the girls of the Freshman class held more first places but in the total number of places the boys out-rank the girls.

The results of the psychological tests were: First, D. B. Franklin, of Statesboro, with a score of 53; second, John Swint, of Gibson, 51; third, Malcolm Mann, of Statesboro, 251, and John Swint, of Gibson, 251.

In the mathematics test with a score of 66; second, Ralph Kemp, Statesboro, 51, third, Oliver Fussell, of Woodbine, 45; while Robert Brinson, Dawson, 49.

In the history test Juanita Thomas, of Statesboro, first; second, Margaret Hayslip, Millen, and Malcolm Mann, Statesboro, 45; while Robert Brinson, Dawson, 49.

The tour will include all the cities of a fair population such as Moultrie, Valdosta, Columbus, etc. in South Georgia. The tour will include the Student Council, assisted by five campus organizations, as official sponsors of the day.

The Student Council, assisted by five campus organizations, as official sponsors of the day. Co-operating with the council in mapping out the activities and assuming the responsibility for certain of these are the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations, the Oligarchies and Stephens Literary Societies and the Women's Athletic Association.

Following post custom there will be no classes on Thanksgiving Day. There will be a cost for such classes cut out before and after the holiday, unless arrangements have been made with Dean Rector before the cuts are taken.

A great day is in prospect for the students, alumni and friends of the institution. In the forefront there is to be a day of much activity and entertainment for students and alumni.

FRESHMAN-Sophomore Rush to Be Held in Forenoon; Luncheon for Alumni.

Beginning with the Freshman-Sophomore rush Thanksgiving morning, the Teachers College 1935 Homecoming is to be a day of much activity and entertainment for students and alumni.

A majority of this year's Freshman class prefers reading rather than playing football or basketball. At least, that's what the Woman's Athletic Association found out when they made a survey of what Freshmen preferred in the way of recreation. The basis of the survey was the personal charts filled out at the first of school.

Reading came first with 115 votes, and was followed closely by swimming with 110 votes. The movies were next with 105 and dancing with 100 votes. The football and basketball were at the foot of the list with one vote each.

Can it be that the Freshmen are not interested in athletics? It is not certain, but it is possible that the Freshmen are not interested in athletics.
A VOICE AGAINST WAR

It is doubtful if the voice and the power of the American college press has ever been concentrated on any one point as it is today on outlawing war. All over the nation the sound is being heard, the unequivocal denunciation of war and its methods. For the past several weeks such denunciation has been the number one subject for collegiate editorial comment, according to a count made by the Associated College Press. Not only the college editors, but every student who attends certain conventions either takes part in, or listens to, an organized cry against wholesale slaughter.

For the past two years in the Georgia state Christian association meetings, representatives of a dozen state schools have heard or have had voices in heated discussions against war. On one occasion it took a great deal of persuasion on the part of so-called conservatives to talk one of the groups into witholding its resolution. Yet they had passed from the press. The students of many other states sound less conservative. For example, "The Georgia Anne," states the Michigan publication, "are fortified with indisputable evidence of the dirty, shameful tactics used in plunging the United States into the last war. They are full of hate of the sinister forces working for war today ... they see war ... stripped of the silly romance and glory, a domination of the world to a vainglorious place where young men's guts are ripped to shreds and their quivering brains scattered abroad— to fill the purses of Wall Street and to furnish head lines for the scandal-mongering, sensation-craved news sheets of William Randolph Hearst."

The Columbia Spectator believes that the American college press has ever been stronger than it is today, and adds that the pressure is being felt at Washington.

AS OTHERS TELL US

Gag Legislation

"There is no more important task for national teaching organizations than to help stem the tide of legislation that is calculated to seal America hermetically against ideas," stated the current issue of the Social Frontier in getting off to a running start against loyalty oath legislation, or what it terms, "gag legislation.

It is interesting, if not particularly stimulating, to note that during the past spring loyalty oath laws for teachers were enacted in Arizona, Georgia, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, Texas and Vermont, bringing the total to twenty-two states which have passed some form of bill making loyalty pledges or oaths mandatory for teachers. Similar legislation was defeated last spring in Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin. Evidently commenting on this situation, Robert Quillen said in one of his daily quips: "This is a free country now, and nobody can tell you how to act and what to think, unless you're a school teacher."

The Daily Illini, University of Illinois publication, takes the swell out of the swell-headed T. C. spirit alive and vital depends very largely upon the interest shown by graduates in their Alma Mater. We wish for the Alumni Association the greatest of achievement, and stand willing to lend any possible support to the organization.

During the 1935 Homecoming an event of major importance in the lives of present and former students, and let us have the aid of all the graduates in making for an alumni group which will be powerful in its influence in bettering the school situation of this state.

Come and be with your classmates and friends at the scene of some of your finest experiences. The South Georgia Teachers College welcomes you back.

PITTMAN STATES WAR IS BLUNDER Addressed Savannah Rotary Club at Luncheon Last Week.

"War is a stupid blunder of an unnecessarily complex society," declared Dr.

Vin S. Pitman, president of the South

Georgia Teachers College, in an address Wednesday before the Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting at the Hotel DeSoto in Savannah. His general theme was "What Good Business

Has a Right to Expect of Education

Today."

Dr. Pitman distinguished between business and big business for large profits. He pointed out that merely accumulated money is not good business. He maintained that it is good business only when all society shares fairly in the products of the right type of business which is itself good for society.

Dr. Pitman based his talk on the five following points:

1. That education should touch efficiently the stupidity of war, and shall create constructive attitude and procedures for guaranteeing peace.

2. Education shall teach the wastefulness of crime and shall work for its elimination by creating good citizens and promoting public attitude for the effective enforcement of law.

3. Education shall teach intellectual comprehension of the communication and social problems of this machine age, and develop a civic conscience such that its products may be elec-tively available and its benefits may be fairly shared.

4. Education shall teach the citizens of America to earn their livelhood, carefully, efficiently, joyfully; that they shall capitalize their increasing-ity for both the individual and for society.

5. Education has a right to expect of the intelligent citizen an understanding of the contributions that eduation has made and is making and should make. Good business purely as a matter of good business will pro-

TEACHERS WIN ONE LOSE ONE, THE ONE BEAT COCHRAN, LOSE TO 'BAMA STATERS AND TIE APPALACHIAN.

Keeping up their 500 average, the Profs. have, out of their last three contests, won one, dropped one and played one scoreless tie.

In one of the most thrilling games ever played on their home gridiron, the Teachers went down before a heavier, more experienced Appalachian State Teachers College eleven only after sixty minutes of football during which no one was certain of the outcome. The final score was 20-20.

The Emas Teachers scored early in the game and were beginning to reel on their laurels, when their Georgia brethren opened up an offensive that couldn't be stopped. Going back to work the Troy gridders scored another marker in the second quarter to lead by one touchdown at the half.

The Georgia Teachers held the ball in mid-field all during the third stanza, neither team scoring. A hectic final quarter followed, in which the Profs. scored two touchdowns and the Alabama Teachers one. Extra points accounted for the victory.

Middle Georgia College

T. C.'s most ancient rival went down in defeat on its home field before a Blue Tide that couldn't be stopped, scoring two touchdowns on long drives. Heath went over standing up after racing over the weak teachers' defensive while Grady stepped out in the offensive five-yard line. From this point the Teachers went down before a heavy, more experienced Alabama outfit to a tie.

The campus and a few of us in particular are anticipating the greatest Homecoming ever... A real game, old students returning, a big feast, and, believe it or not—a dance promise to make this Turkey Day a day we won't soon forget.

The footballers returned from Boone, N. C., one at a time and at hours ranging from six Sunday afternoon to the wee small hours of Monday morning. Again the bus broke down and the team after ridig six hundred miles in something that rides like a freight car and playing a hard game were forced to get out and hitch-hike home.

Just a word about one of the most loyal supporters that T. C. has ever known, Mr. C. E. Cody, of Savannah. Mr. Cody has been ill for some time but is steadily improving. Here's hoping he can be with us for Homecoming.

Basketball questions: Will Stewart play? Will Youmans return? Can the Profs beat the Celtics? Will the team hitch-hike to its games? Can Coach arrange games that will really show the merit of his team?

Another term descriptive of Hines—and by a freshman girl: "Holding Jake is like eating Jello with a fork."

Two new men added their names to the list of scorers in the Cochran game when Heath and Grady came through to score touchdowns after "Jake's" boys had bottlenecked the Teacher scoring threats, Hines and Fulford. These boys are looking good.

Ferarra and Guy were injured in the Appalachian game but will probably be in shape for the Turkey Day riot.

Let us extend on the part of T. C. athletes and lovers of sports, a most cordial invitation to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with us. Unless plans go astray, we can offer you a grand and glorious Homecoming.

We notice that Coach is planning to give the varsity basketball players "T" jackets again this year as he has already looked the Celts their game here on January 13th.

Basketball practice began last Tuesday with about twenty men out, only seven of whom were old men. Only Stewart and Hines of last season's first string are back in school and there is some doubt as to whether they will be in uniform when the Teachers take the floor for their first game some time before the Christmas holidays. Several of the freshmen squad bid fair to make places on the varsity. Ryals, Warren and Robertson placing high amongst those coming up to the varsity. Old varsity men are Stewart, Hines, Purifoy and Lonergan.

A tentative schedule has been made which includes Colleges of Charleston, Middle Georgia, South Georgia State, Mercer, University of Tampa and the Tuskegee Celtics.

STUDENTS ATTEND YMCA CONFERENCE

Plans Formulated for Ensuing Year—Activities To Be Centered Around World Peace.

At the last state conference held at Emory University, the local Y. M. C. A. was represented by George Carter, Hearn Lumpkin, Bob Espy, W. H. Fields and Mr. Bob Winburn.

At the state meeting plans were formulated for the ensuing year when the "Y" activities are to be centered around world peace movement.

One of the highlights of the conference was the report given by George Carter on the recently initiated "Buddy Groups," which was put into effect last year by the 1934 president, J. D. Jurves. Mr. Rohrer, state director of Y. M. C. A. activities, felt that this could be made a most vital effort in bringing about a closer fellowship among "Y" members.

In commenting on this Mr. Rohrer said, "It is here that the real work of the "Y" can be best manifested in its influence on the students in our colleges as well as in the high schools throughout the state."

The next Y. M. C. A. conference is to be held at the University of Georgia on January 5, 1935. It is hoped that an even larger delegation will be able to attend this meeting.

Though the ball was too slippery for effective passing. Several pass attempts would, without a doubt, have resulted in scores had it not been for the condition of the field.

Riggs was again the defensive star of the day, assisted by Fulford, who was shifted from his position at fullback to end for this game.
STETSON TIDE'S TURKEY DAY FOE

PROFS SEEK REVENGE FOR LAST YEAR'S DEFEAT BY HATTERS.

Stetson will furnish the opposition for the Blue Tide in its annual homecoming classic. This year the Hatters take the place of the Newberry Indians, who have been the foes of the Teachers for several seasons. Last year Stetson took the Teachers by a 16-0 score.

Coach Smith's proteges will face an uphill battle according to reports from DeLand, the home of the Hatters. By comparative scores, Stetson and Newberry are about equal, but algebraically the former have twice the number of the latter and are stronger all around. With the Hatters, as usual, the question of the outcome is forecasted by pre-game dope.

The Teachers are in excellent shape, there being only two minor injuries among the players. First-string blocking half, temporarily out with an injured hand as is Guy, will be back in shape for Thanksgiving day.

Psychologists at a California college have discovered that a kiss, by causing extra pulsation of the heart, shortens the average life three minutes. At that rate most of us have been dead for some time. — The Technique.

Words of personal mention about the boys who have won the Blue and White for Toby this season, and who, although most of them are now men, will always themselves be proud in playing one of the toughest schedules that the Teachers have ever attempted.

Crow, lanky, left-footed Gainesville lad, has held down his end in fine fashion, played a swell offensive game as blocking guard, especially in the Appalachian State game.

Birge, need we say more? Oil'er, little, loud and a real scrap—a man who plays center in practice and guard in games. "Gus" has played out for two years, knowing that he was playing behind the great center in the state, and kept fighting.

Kessler, even though he hasn't learned the signals and probably hasn't played a good football game, is from Augusta and proud of it.

Guy has shown more improvement than any man on the squad and has changed his -pet at end from one of the doubtful positions on the team to a point of strength.

Adelson, shifted from fullback to the line, has acquitted himself well, playing at guard and tackle, playing left guard and game against Alabama Teachers.

McLemore, this name is synonymous with hard luck; although injured twice during the season, "Bobby" has played a lot of good football this year.

Huntborne, shifted from one position to another, in the line to another all season, has at last shown himself to be versatile as well as consistent.

Hill, a plugger, this boy will play every minute. This boy plays a position at which the best players are seldom noticed—this is the duty of moving the obstructers from the back of the ball carrier—and he has done it well.

Lambright, another man slowed up by an early season injury, "Robbie" is a scrapping little guard.

Adams, cheerful, is the basketball team.—Fulford would we wasted.

The rest of the squad, composed of Crawford, Hoggan, and Adams deserve to be congratulated on the fact that they have stuck with the team. Most of these men are playing their first year of football and have had little chance to get into regular games but they have stayed out and have shown their skills as ball players. No team is better than its reserves. T. C. has only a few, and maybe they're not experts, but they have stickability.

Freshmen Class Won Freedom Last Year in Defenders November 29th

The Freshman will battle Sophomores in the annual color rush Thanksgiving morning at 10:00 o'clock; and if they win, it means freedom for them. Last year the Freshmen were victorious, but the Sophomores promise a different story this time.

The rush will be under the direction of Bill Stewart, president of the Senior class, and he will be assisted by Dean Henderson and ten junior and senior men who will act as officials. To make the contest interesting, the Freshmen have been given the fray only as many Sophomores are there are eligible. This will give the Freshman the advantage of selecting their better men, while the Sophomores will use everyone from Smith on up.

The battleground will be a fifty-foot circle surrounding the colors which will be attached to a horizontal bar ten feet from the ground. Eight minutes will be allowed for the contest.

The use of data is not allowed and any attempt on the part of a foul will be disallowed. However, the conflict will not be halted, and the officials will rule as may be necessary in removing the offending contestants.

This should prove an exciting encounter with the outcome not a thing to be taken lightly, for the colors are a part of their environment.

STETSON HISTORY

Information Gathered by the George-Anne—Institution Shows Growth.

Feeling that there are those who would want more information on the university, whose football team the Teachers play Thanksgiving, the George-Anne has gathered the following information:

Stetson University was established at DeLand, Fla., as a high school in 1863. The name "Stetson" comes from the name of a hat manufacturer in Philadelphia, its most liberal benefactor in its early years.

The institution became the DeLand Academy in 1885, and took its present name and status in 1887.

The Stetson College of Law, first law school in Florida, was organized in 1910. The institution became a member of the accredited list of the American Association of Colleges in 1915.

The enrollment of Stetson University was 611 in 1930 and two years later was made a member of the Southern Association.

ACTIVITIES SHOWN IN VARIOUS UNITS

Laboratory School is Culminating Fall Projects — School Work Reviewed.

The pupils and teachers of the Laboratory school are very busy now working on the culminating activities of the various units which were begun in the early part of the fall. In the first and second grades the interest of the children is centered about a community activity. The development for the immediate future will be the making of a flower shop. The main objective of this part of the project is to get acquainted with the simple principles of science in the growing plant.

In the third and fourth grades a visitor will find a group building various types of houses. They are learning about the evolution of the house from the cave to the large apartment house in the city. In the same room there are all kinds of reminders of Eskimoland, Holland, Norway, Switzerland, Italy, Japan and China. The fourth grade children are on an imaginary trip to these countries and have found out the customs of the children there. In many ways the fourth grade boys and girls are demonstrating the life and customs of the children in many lands.

Study Georgia Pine

The fifth and sixth grades are busy finding out about Georgia, and particularly the value of the Georgia pine. A little later one will find a phase of colonial life wonderfully well portrayed in the exhibits of animals found in a colonial home. These children will give interesting accounts of the experiences of our ancestors during the colonization period.

It is not as easy to develop an integrated unit in the high school as in the elementary grades. Regardless of this difficulty there are many activities going on in these grades to enrich the subject matter and stimulate enthusiasm among the pupils. The social science teachers are making the textbook material most vital by engaging the students in such a program as will encourage wide reading. Out of this material the interpretation of subject matter becomes a significant factor in citizenship development.

The natural sciences are presented from the practical viewpoint. If you should visit the science classes you would find the members engaged in working out science problems that (Continued on page 5).

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR CHAPEL HOUR

Educators, Parents and Others Will See School at Work And at Play.

December 11th will be a gala occasion for this college. This day has been designated as Visitors' Day, and efforts are being made to have all persons interested in the school visit the campus and see T. C. at work.

Dr. Pittman has called upon the Student Council to assist him, and definite plans are in the making. Invitations are to be sent to every country school superintendent and principal whose county is represented in the student body. Official invitations will be sent by the council to these people, but the students should write personal letters to those whom they would like to come. This would include the friends and families of the students.

Various state officials are to be guests on this day, among them will be M. D. Collins, state school superintendent; Dr. S. V. Sanford, chancellor of the University System; L. M. Lollar, director of curriculum studies; M. E. Little and M. E. Thompson, state school supervisors, and T. J. Drencepy, state high school inspector.

The program for the day will include a visit to the classrooms and the Training School, a special assembly, a barbecue dinner served in the gym. In the afternoon the visitors will see T. C. at play when the boys and girls will play off some of their intra-ural contests.

DUX DOMINA

The Dux Domena club was entertained Monday by Mistie Cain, Malba Harvey and Lottie Rose Thank in honor of Miss Corrie Oleson, a former president, who is attending Vanderbilt University. The regular meeting was held Thursday night in the home economics room. Mr. Russell, the club's sponsor, gave a talk on "Good Etiquette."

FACTORITIES OUTING TO BE ORGANIZED

Local faculty members have begun an outing club. The plan is that an organization for the members of the faculty be made that they may get away from their studies and get into social atmosphere more often.

The group met the last part of last week and organized. With Miss Truswell acting as director and appointing committees in charge for each week's program. After the business meeting the faculty members present gathered their lunch and went to the mill pond of Col. Hinton, where they enjoyed an evening of eating and singing. The object of this program is to get the instructor away from his work at least once a week and gain him the opportunity of enjoying social contact.

All faculty members are eligible and the club extends a cordial invitation for those who have not yet had the experience of enjoying one of their outing club.

FIVE GROUPS MAP DAYS ACTIVITIES

(Continued from page 1) will be, in addition to the Freshman-Sophomore rush, an alumni meeting and an alumni luncheon. According to present plans students will have a picnic lunch at 1 o'clock, getting tickets for the evening banquet at that time. The football game with Stetson University will begin, if plans do not go astray, at 2:30 p.m. At 6:30 in the evening the Home-coming banquet will be given in the Dining Hall, followed with the Home-coming dance in the Abnormal Building at 9:30.

Each year these home-coming affairs show more improvement in efficient organization. Begun back in the '30's there were few people in attendance, and a program was lacking altogether. It was simply a time for some of the old graduates to come back and visit a day and see the Teachers play Owenton-Parkersville Institute in football, the traditional Thanksgiving for a few years.

In 1933 the first real home-coming was inaugurated. Since then that the day has come to have real meaning in the lives of those associated with the college.

This year provision will be made for former students to register, thereby establishing the first permanent record of the number and the names of the day's visitors.

Dear Alumni:

We are all so busy with our own tasks that it is difficult for us to get together back at dear old T. C. It has occurred to me that the most convenient time, perhaps, of all the year will be at Thanksgiving. For that reason, I am joining with the Student Council and the faculty in inviting every one of you to come back to the campus and spend Thanksgiving Day. Let us meet for an Alumni Association meeting at 11 o'clock in room 4. There are important matters for us to consider. A luncheon will be served at 12:30 by the present Senior class.

We shall applaud our football team to victory in the afternoon and join in the grand homecoming party at night. Hoping to see every loyal alumni at the grand homecoming, I am yours for a still better T. C.
