SCHOOL STANDARD HAS BEEN RAISED

Much Interest Shown in Southern Association Membership Granted S. G. T. C.

Students, faculty members and friends of the South Georgia Teachers College have shown great interest and gratification in the action of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in granting this institution membership in the association.

Fully accredited standing in the senior college division is a result of efforts extending over the past few years to meet and satisfy all requirements and standards set up by the association. During this time the library has been enlarged to a great extent, laboratories have been improved, high degree holders have been added to the staff, and various other improvements have been made.

This recognition by the Southern Association means, chiefly, that the status of the graduates will be raised. Any work done here will be accepted in higher institutions throughout the nation without loss of credit in the same field of thought, and degree holders from this college may employed as regularly qualified teachers in Southern Association schools.

Dr. M. S. Pittman, president of the college, and Dean Z. S. Henderson, were in attendance at the recent meeting of the association in Louisville, Ky., where this college was accepted in membership. The band and a large number of students and faculty members gave them a rousing welcome upon their return to the campus.

HOLIDAY SEASON WILL SOON BEGIN

Faculty and Students to Return to Their Respective Work on January 2nd.

The South Georgia Teachers College will begin its Christmas holidays December 20th, and the faculty and students will return to their work January 2nd. Christmas examinations will begin December 16th.

Most of the faculty members will spend the holidays at their homes in Georgia and nearby states.

Dr. Marvin S. Pittman, president of the school, will spend the holidays in Statesboro. Miss Marie Wood will visit in Macon. Miss Caro Lane, head of the physical education department for women, will tour Florida, accompanied by her mother.

Miss Elizabeth Donovan, who is engaged in general education work in this territory will be at Wadley. Miss Lottie Mildred Pierce, commercial, will spend the holidays in Savannah and Charleston.

Weekly Concerts to Begin During Winter Term; Public Invited

Beginning at some time during the winter quarter and lasting through the remainder of the school year, concerts of various types will be given in the college auditorium every Sunday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock. Dean Z. S. Henderson has stated that the general public will be invited to attend these weekly programs.

Leisure arts groups and faculty members are to conduct the series, according to present plans. This will give all those desiring to do so an opportunity to appear on one or more programs during the year.

It is expected that the programs will be semi-classical, and will furnish students and visitors with interesting and instructive entertainment.

Definite announcement will be made when arrangements are completed. The concert given by the leisure arts singing group was expected to have been the first of this series.

PERRY APPOINTED COUNCIL MEMBER

Has Been Asked to Represent Georgia on the National Mathematics Board.

Miss Viola Perry, professor of mathematics, has recently been appointed state representative of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics. Miss Perry has been asked to serve as official representative of Georgia.

It is felt by this council that a much closer union and a greater service can be rendered if there is an official representative in each state. It is the position of each representative to use his own initiative in spreading any information he may obtain concerning the national council and its activities.

Miss Perry has been asked to represent this state at the national convention to be held in St. Louis during the Christmas holidays.

FORMER STUDENT IS COMMENDED FOR BRAVERY IN NAVAL RESCUE

GEORGIA CITIZENS CONGRATULATE T. C.

The recognition given the South Georgia Teachers College by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has brought a large number of congratulatory messages from prominent leaders in Georgia. These letters and telegrams addressed to the George-Anne editor are printed on page three in this edition of the student paper.

Among those expressing their congratulations and best wishes to the Teachers College was Dr. Guy H. Wells, former president who was replaced two years ago by Dr. M. S. Pittman. Dr. Wells, now head of the Georgia State College for Women in Milledgeville, stated that it was the ambition of his life to see the college admitted while he was president, but since that was impossible he gets real pleasure in viewing its success from a sister institution.

PRAISED ALSO FOR ABILITY AS PILOT

Effects Rescue by Means of Radio
Bearings; Directs S. S. Montgomery to Scene.

Frank Screws, former student at the South Georgia Teachers College was commended highly by command of the plane patrol 6-P-4 recently for bravery and a high order of flying.

Screws, U. S. navy pilot, flew for a period of seven and a half hours under hazardous conditions of sea and visibility while searching for a disabled plane. Upon finding the plane he notified the S. S. Montgomery which was eighty-eight miles away. The young pilot, in an open cockpit plane, remained near the scene until the crew was picked up by the ship he had guided to the disabled craft by radio bearings.

Frank Screws was reared in Glennville where he finished Glennville High School in 1927. He then entered South Georgia Teachers College, where he remained for two years.

In his commendation of the pilot, Commander J. C. Daldron said, "You are commended for your bravery and stamina. Your piloting ability is of the highest order and an appropriate entry will be made in your record."

This companion plane rescue by young Screws was effected when the fleet was maneuvering at Midway Island.

EMINENT WRITER TO LECTURE HERE

George F. Milton, Ranking American
Historian, to Address Students
January 10th.

George Fort Milton, editor of the Chattanooga News, who has gained eminence in American historical ranks through his books and lectures dealing with situations in the South and throughout the nation, is to deliver an address at the Teachers College January 10th.

Editor Milton has not made known the subject of his lecture here at that time, but it is expected to be "The South Looks Ahead." If not this, the address is likely to be centered around certain aspects of the negro situation in the South, or on the subject "Can Education Educate."

Milton has received most recognition from his reappraisal of reconstruction, published in 1930 under the title, "The Age of Hate," and from his study of the causes and responsibilities of the War Between the States recently published under the title, "The Eve of Conflict."

NAME DELEGATES TO INDIANAPOLIS

Committee Selects Students
From Each Class to Attend Volunteer Convention.

Daris Raulerson, Grace Cromley, Will Hill Fields and Frank Mulling were selected as Teachers College delegates to the Indianapolis convention of the Student Volunteer movement at a meeting of a committee made up of Dean Henderson, sponsors and representatives of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. and the four class presidents. The faculty member who is to accompany the delegation has not been chosen.

The object of the convention is to enlighten the youth of today on the perturbing questions with which they are faced and to bring nations into closer contact with each other. Matters of world-wide importance will be discussed by leaders of the United States and a large number of foreign countries.

A Merry Christmas to you.

Visitors' Day seemed to be a success.

What has become of the student employment bureau?

It looks as if somebody is in for a great trip attending the Indianapolis convention.

With examinations on hand, now is the time for students to show their loyalty in developing an honor system.

Work is progressing very nicely on the new athletic field. Wonder if it is to have modern arrangements, shower facilities, press box, President's box, etc.

After a full year in the doldrums, it seems that the Dramatic Club is on its feet and doing things again. The performances Thursday evening were quite creditable.

RECOGNITION

A few years ago the South Georgia Teachers College made application for membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Since that time no effort has been spared to correct certain specified weaknesses in order to gain admission to this association which covers twelve states and includes most of the important institutions of the South. Thursday, December 5, 1935, saw the admission of the Teachers College into the association. That date, in years to come, will be among the outstanding in the institution's history.

It took more than merit to become a Southern Association college; it took fight, and plenty of it, to get in at this particular time. We students, therefore, should be mindful of and thankful for the splendid work of the men who would not come back from the Kentucky meeting defeated. With such leadership there is no goal impossible for S. G. T. C.

The Southern Association is the second standardizing agency in which the Teachers College has gained admission since becoming a four-year institution. The American Association of Teachers Colleges was the first. These groups are exclusive of state associations.

THE TEACHING PROFESSION

There are few professions which appear less lucrative than that of teaching school. This statement is only too true in the state of Georgia, though the Empire State stands not alone in the distinction. Nor is the type of teaching done in many schools worth paying for, however little the amount may be in actual cash or moral support. Indeed, there are numerous persons in the profession of pedagogy who should be elsewhere. But they never will be elsewhere until the better teachers—the very salt of the earth—see that they are removed by seeing that better teachers replace them.

As prospective teachers we may as well face the music, and do whatever we can to alter the words and the tune when our chances come to do so. We find skimpy salaries paid teachers in every section of this state; we find poorly trained people being allowed to enter the profession and use it as stepping stone to something they think is higher; we find listless minds in refuge in the school rooms, presuming to teach and train future American citizens; we find many who cannot obtain other positions turning to teaching as a sustaining factor. We find, to be brief and truthful, the state in a mess insofar as our chosen profession is concerned. Philip Weltner, former chancellor of the University System, said that was why he loved Georgia so well—because it was in such a mess.

Yet can more be expected from a profession which has as little unity of purpose and strength of organization as the teaching profession? Hardly. But we can work constantly toward bettering our situation and expect very worthwhile results.

The state of Georgia has a number of excellent schools—some that are as good as any in the nation. Georgia has these and we should not forget this fact, nor should we allow others to forget it. But taken as a whole, Georgia schools do not hold a high enough standard. If this situation concerns anyone, it should concern us—as future teachers—as well as those now in the field.

If we are to enter the profession we should know what it is all about. We should be interested in educational problems and controversies, and be qualified to strive toward the proper solution of such problems and controversies for the improvement of our profession.

We have, then, what has been discussed above, inadequate organization and many incompetent teachers. When our opportunities come, we should do something about these conditions. If they do not come, then let us meet them.

The Student Council has certainly put in a full term's work. That body of student representatives have not failed in a single endeavor this term. This is due, of course, to the attitude of the student body. Student government may not be impossible in a few years.

Indications seem to point toward an enlarged enrollment here during the winter quarter. An unusually large number of applications have been received from prospective students desiring to enter at that time. If no more than the usual number fail to return after the holidays the student body is sure to be enlarged.

T. C. ON PARADE

Street scenes during the recent Roosevelt keedo in Atlanta:

“Well, hell-o. When and how did you come?” Etc. Etc. Etc.

“Well, sir, if it isn't T. C. in the flesh. When did you come?” Etc. Etc.

“How do you do? Are you here for the week-end?” Etc.

“Hell-o! Fancy meeting you here.”

“Hey!”

“Hi!”

(Silent thought: “There goes someone from T. C.”)

It might easily have been T. C. ON that way, so often were PARADE familiar faces seen.

Somebody said it was just like Statesboro on a busy day. Which wasn't such an inaccurate way of putting it, as T. C. really was on parade, though present students were greatly outnumbered by those who previously have attended the Teachers College. Going down Peachtree street, for instance, one might have seen the leggy young man who two years ago, was the victim of buckshot while crossing a cane patch on his way to the football field. Fleming Roach will never lose or outwear the moniker given him by local students as a result of that escapade, “Cane Patch.” Some of Roach's classmates of that year even went to the extent of writing a play centering around the incident and producing it in chapel. That was after any possible complications could have set in, however, and after C. P.'s big thin ears had had the buckshot picked out by Aunt Sophie. Even now C. P. reddens slightly at the mention of sugar cane.

Other old-timers the keedo visitor might have seen included Billy “Mame's Nephew”

Gwynn, who had stepped a good distance down into his top coat, and Chauncey Brinson, Dublin's example of how short short men can grow. These boys, including “Cane Patch,” are now at the University. Another “former” the visitor could have seen (if he been had real fast about it) was the tall Shaw man from Claxton. A former Blue Tide football star, Shaw was the signal caller in the huddle which resulted in the formation of the Delta Sig frat on this campus. The D. S. branched from a similar organization on the Tifton college campus a few years back. Hal Clements, the young Romeo who feels alright when he goes to basketball games involving the Teachers quint, was still another old man to be seen roaming about the city introducing his friends to everyone he knew.

And so on down Peachtree. By keeping a watchful eye, one could have seen many other familiar faces. There was Leonard Kent, for instance, the plump young fellow who made good in college. And he wasn't doing so bad on Peachtree, judging from the

GEORGIA EDUCATORS AND EDITORS EXTEND CONGRATULATIONS TO T. C.

FOR MEMBERSHIP IN ASSOCIATION

Dr. Guy H. Wells, Former President,
Writes Letter Commending Type of Work Done Here.

Following are messages of congratulations to the South Georgia Teachers College for having become a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. These messages, as will be noted, have come to this paper from educators, editors and state leaders.

The George-Anne is happy to bring these letters and telegrams to the student body and other readers. The first letter is from Dr. Guy H. Wells, former president of the institution, who, despite his removal to another college in the University System two years ago, has maintained an interest in the Teachers College and has given his support to its admission to the Southern Association. Dr. Wells is vice-president of the association.

GUY H. WELLS,
President,
G. S. C. W., Milledgeville.

"I wish to congratulate the South Georgia Teachers College upon its recent success in achieving membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. This is a remarkable record for a school to achieve in ten years. The students will now receive the highest approval of their work that can be received in the colleges of the Southern states.

"I happen to know all the circumstances leading up to the membership in the association. While many people have had a part, the most credit, I think, goes to your president. He started to Louisville on the last trip and ran the wheels off his car in the first thirty miles and had to return home for help. This was a bad omen according to the superstitious. Very few would have had such a steady heart to continue. After he arrived in Louisville by means of another car, he was told by the heads of the two main committees of the association that it was impossible for the college to be considered for membership this year on account of a ruling by the executive committee and the council to the effect that all schools applying for membership hereafter would have to submit to a long survey requiring two or three years. This seemed to settle the matter, but not so for Doctor Pittman.

"It happened that Doctor Pittman was a classmate of the president of the Southern Association. Doctor Deidelberg, who is also a member of the all-powerful executive committee. After a night of hard work by Doctor Pittman, this all-powerful committee reversed the decision of the council and allowed institutions that had previously applied for membership to be considered at this session. This opened the door of opportunity once more. It happened also that there were several on the committee whom the college had contacted in the years past. For instance, Doctor Tigert, of the University of Florida, who has visited the school twice and has spoken in chapel; Dean Boyd, of the University of Kentucky. His best friend and co-worker in the University of Kentucky is Doctor Ezra Gillis, who was member of the survey committee of the University System of Georgia some years ago and who visited the college at that time and went deer hunting while there. Doctor Anderson, of Macon, who spoke to the students there recently was also on the committee. These are only a few of the people that Doctor Pittman or the college had contacted in advance.

"After saying all this, I think we must conclude that the two main things that helped to secure recognition and membership in the association were the fine record the school has made and the persistent efforts of the president, Doctor Pittman, in the face of seemingly impossible difficulties. It is needless to say that I am as happy as any of you. It was the ambition of my life to see the school admitted while I was president, but since it was impossible, I get great pleasure in viewing from a sister institution your success. May the students and the teachers continue to measure up to the high standards attained in securing membership in the association.

"Yours sincerely,
"GUY H. WELLS."

H. V. JENKINS,
President, Savannah Morning
News and Evening Press.

"It is pleasing to us as well as a matter of pride to learn that the South Georgia Teachers College has been admitted to membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"As we have been aware of the efforts that have been made to elevate the college to that status where its graduates would be admitted to any University in the United States with full credit, it is most gratifying to us that this goal has been attained.

"We are particularly proud of the fine record the South Georgia Teachers College has made, not only because it is one of the ranking educational institutions in the Savannah Zone territory, but because from its inception many years ago as one of the original A. & M. schools, we have always through the columns of our papers, heartily co-operated in its development.

"With best wishes for the future success of the college, we are

"Yours very truly,
"H. V. JENKINS."

W. T. ANDERSON,
Editor Macon Telegraph & News.

"It is with a great deal of interest and pleasure I learn that your college has been given membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"The remarkable strides your institution has made in the educational world should be and undoubtedly are a source of great gratification to all Georgia. Guy Wells proved to be a regular prodigy in the matter of bringing forces to bear which set your institution's feet firmly on the ground, surrounded himself with a staff of capable people, and in time this was reflected in the success of the students—all of which gave South Georgia Teachers College a solid place in the hearts of the people and in the confidence of the educational world.

"It is gratifying to observe that Dr. Pittman is carrying on valiantly, and is keeping the grass growing not under his feet but out in the wide open spaces where it will do the most good.

"All power to you.
"Yours very truly,
"W. T. ANDERSON."

J. L. RENFROE,
Mayor, City of Statesboro.

"I wish to congratulate Dr. Pittman, the college faculty and the student body upon the honor that has recently come to the South Georgia Teachers College in being given membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"I feel that this position of honor is richly deserved, and will be of inestimable benefit to the college and to the student body.

"Yours very truly,
"J. L. RENFROE."

JOHN PASCHALL
Associate Editor, Atlanta Journal

"It is with a great deal of pleasure that I learned that the South Georgia Teachers College has been admitted to membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. This recognition is a testimonial to the fine work and high standards of your institution. I hope that it will be an inspiration to both students and faculty for even better work in the future.

"Permit me to extend my congratulations and best wishes.

"Sincerely yours,
"JOHN PASCHALL."

M. D. COLLINS,
State Superintendent of Schools

"I congratulate South Georgia Teachers College on its recognition by the Southern Association. We homefolks appreciate the workman-like job you have been doing.

"M. D. COLLINS."

EUGENE TALMADGE,
Governor of Georgia.

"I certainly wish to congratulate South Georgia Teachers College upon their recent admittance into membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"This is a great compliment to your school and will be of great help to the graduates as they go out to find positions or to attend other institutions.

"With every good wish to the faculty and entire student body, I am
"Sincerely yours,
"EUGENE TALMADGE."

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

"We of the Alumni Association of South Georgia Teachers College wish to join in the general rejoicing in the new honor bestowed upon our Alma Mater—that of being elected to membership in the Southern Association. It is a source of delight and gratification to us. It is just another way of saying that South Georgia Teachers College is a growing institution.

"HELEN OLLIFF, President."

STATE EDUCATORS HERE WEDNESDAY

Visitors Had Opportunity to See
College at Work and At Play.

Educators and interested friends from all over Georgia attended the Visitors' Day here Wednesday, December 11th.

The idea behind the planning of this day was to give people a chance to see this school under normal conditions at work and at play.

At 9:00 o'clock the visitors were at liberty to attend any of the college classes in which they were interested. As they arrived they were greeted by a committee of students who gave them a program of classes then in session and conducted them wherever they chose to go.

The feature event of the day was the chapel program sponsored by the Student Council and carried on entirely by students. The plan was to give as nearly as possible a cross-section of the daily college life of an average student.

John Blount led the devotional at this assembly and Grace Cromley directed the group singing. Bob Espy spoke on "Student Activity," and Elizabeth Watkins talked about "A Day at T. C." The musical part of the program consisted of special numbers by the orchestra, a piano solo by Helen Godbee, and several numbers by the quartette.

After this program the visitors spent about two hours in the laboratory school, where they were given typical examples of the work that is being carried on there.

At noon the school men and interested students met with the officials of the state department of education for an hour's conference.

During lunch students entertained the guests from their own sections of the state.

For an hour after lunch under the direction of Coach Smith, Miss Lane and Mrs. Bowen, approximately 500 students were engaged in some sort of play activity. The whole Training School was at play at the same time.

This is the first time that a program of this sort has been attempted. Back of it was the idea to stimulate a better relationship between the college and educators throughout the state.

The man out West who traded his wife for a cow should have waited until Secretary Hull got his Canadian treaty through. He might now be able to get a better bargain.

Only Stewart of last season's state championship cage outfit is back—the rest of the first five being made up of second and third stringers. And to make things worse, Stewart is having considerable trouble hitting his stride. Carter is holding down the guard position vacated by "Breezy" Wrinkle and is steadily improving. With a little more game experience this boy, it is our prediction, is going to look good. "Flash" Golden, hard-driving forward from the freshie outfit, is looking good at one of the forwards while "Fake-duck-dribble" Purvis is playing the hole-position. Donaldson is at center.

The second string promises to push the varsity men for their jobs. Ryals shows plenty of improvement at the pivot post. Warren and Robertson are playing the guards, with Abelson, Sowell and Townsend alternating at forwards.

A holiday road trip for the basketballers through South Georgia is in the offing. The Professors will add to their rep in Norman Park, where they will meet "Phoney" Smith's team; in Dixie, where they will tackle the Swift team on Stewart's home court, and in Albany, where they will lock horns with the Blues, a team famous throughout the South.

Brother meeting brother will be the feature of the game in Norman Park, when those two famous Mercer stars, the Smith brothers (minus the beards), send their respective cagers onto the court. "Phoney," considered by many the greatest ball-carrier the Southern football has ever known, is coaching his first Norman Park team. A grudge battle! Here's hoping the Blue Tiedde can rise to the heights to which it usually does in such scraps.

Bill "Dixie" Stewart gave an exhibition of guarding which reminded fans of the one Wrinkle put on Kendricks last year in holding "Jake" Hines to three foul points while getting twelve for himself. Stewart is the nucleus of Coach's team this season, and, although he still hasn't hit peak form, looked better than anything on the floor against the All-stars.

The boxing team suffered severe losses due to graduation when "Fullback" Smith and Deal tucked dips under their arms and said adieu to the T. C. ring. With only a few of last season's pugilists reporting for practice, the boxing outlook looks rather dreary, especially since matches are being booked with some of the best boxing teams in the state.

The cauliflower sport saw some real action Friday afternoon when Coach Russell sent his boys through the first elimination bout of the season. Strickland looked good against Hogan. Bowen took a close decision over "Palooka" Roughton; Josey punched his way through T. Edwards' defense; Riddle and Spurgeon Edwards drew; Harrison flattened Hartshorn's nose with a beautiful left-hand punch; Carter and McKinney fought a real hair-raiser, Carter getting the nod.

If only the physical education department could get the students to participate in activities as they did last Wednesday for the visitors. The campus was literally alive with playing students. It looked good.

SMITH RELEASES COURT SCHEDULE

Teachers Squad to Take Three-Day Road Trip During Holidays.

Coach "Crook" Smith has completed a tentative basketball schedule for the South Georgia Teachers College 1935-36 season. It is likely that other teams will be added before a final schedule is released, and that a few dates may be changed before all contracts are signed.

Following is the tentative schedule just released:

December 19, Norman Park, Moultrie; 20, Swift & Co. of Moultrie, at Dixie, Ga., dedicating a new shell; 21, Albany Blues, Albany.

January 4, South Georgia State, Statesboro; 8, Western Kentucky State Teachers, Statesboro; 11, Middle Georgia College, Statesboro; 13, Rosenbloom Celtics, Statesboro; 17, Albany Blues, Statesboro; 21, Savannah J. E. A., Statesboro; 24-25, open; 31, Mercer University, Macon.

February 1, Norman Park, Statesboro; 4, J. E. A., Savannah; 8, Beckley Tech (Beckley, W. Va.), Statesboro; 14, Mercer University, Statesboro; 15, Middle Georgia College, Cochran; 21, Oglethorpe University, Statesboro.

The Teachers will leave at noon on December 19, for a three-game road trip before the holidays. Coach Smith is sending his boys through a fast pace in getting ready for the trip.

W. A. A. NOTES

We were delighted to have so many of the old W. A. A. Council members back with us during Thanksgiving. Helen Olliff, Vic Cone, Mary Jane Hodges and Elizabeth Burns were back and were full of interesting details about their jobs.

The soccer tournament will be completed within the next few days. Much interest has been shown by the girls and much credit is due Mattie Cain, soccer manager, for the success of the tournament.

Immediately after the Christmas holidays basketball practice will begin. Laura Hickey is manager for basketball and she is planning to have not only inter-class tournaments, but also games between the girls' social clubs.

W. A. A. REPORTER.

STUDENTS NEED TO HAVE INOCULATIONS

From the statistics of this year's report on inoculation, it is evident that students are not co-operating to their best ability. Out of the 145 students who were supposed to take the typhoid shots there have been only 77 to report, leaving non-reporters at a total of 68.

Out of the 76 students who needed inoculation for diphtheria and smallpox, only 24 have reported, leaving 52 who need treatments.

BASKETEERS WIN OVER ALL-STARS

The '35-'36 edition of the Blue Tide basketballers won an extra-period victory over a team composed of their former team-mates Friday night by a score of 37-32. The Teachers came from behind in the closing seconds of play to tie up the score at 28 all, and then scored nine points in the extra period, while the all-star aggregation was able to sack up only four markers.

The All-stars forged into the lead in the early part of the game and did not give up until the half ended with the Profs. out in front by a one-point margin, 13-12.

The Stars again took the lead as the second half began and again held their margin until only nine seconds of playing time were left, when two foul markers tied up the score.

Carter broke away for five points in the extra five minutes allowed to play off the tie and put the Teachers in the lead.

Joe Beall, former Teacher, made two beautiful long shots good for four points.

Beall was high with 13 points, followed closely by Stewart with 12.

The All-stars boasted "Jake" Hines, "Jake" Smith, "Coonie" Riggs, "Old Man" Pafford and Joe Beall, all former Teachers, in their line-up, with Proctor and Lester strengthening the squad. Coach Smith started Stewart and Carter at guards, Donaldson on the pivot, and Purvis and Golder at forwards, with Warren, Ryals, Goolsby and Townsend seeing quite a bit of action.

FROSH BANQUET GIVEN SATURDAY

Social Activities End With Brilliant Affair as Guests Enter Into Spirit

The Freshman banquet held Saturday night was a brilliant climax to the social activities of the year. Those present, including boarding students, day students and faculty members, entered into the spirit of the occasion and made it a very successful event.

Christmas decorations were simply but effectively placed in the dining hall and gymnasium. Red and green streamers were strung at intervals along the walls of the dining hall and clusters of vines were set in baskets. Candles and covered lights cast a soft glow over the room. The gymnasium was decorated along the same scheme.

Mr. Deal's ensemble opened the night with a musical selection, at the close of which Dr. Pittman said grace. Frank Mulling, president of the Freshman class, extended a welcome, to which J. D. Cherry responded in behalf of the student body. A delicious dinner of four courses was then served.

After dinner was served, Bill Ware, talented freshman, rendered a vocal solo. Priscilla Prather entertained the group with a reading, "Thought for Christmas." Mr. Deal's ensemble played again, this time followed by a talk from Dean Henderson. At the conclusion of the Dean's talk, a chorus, led by Malcolm Mann, sang Christmas carols outside the windows of the dining hall. As the concluding feature of the program Mr. Mulling expressed his deep appreciation to all giving their assistance in behalf of the banquet.

Entertainment was then shifted to the gymnasium, where a dance lasted two hours, with "Ozzie" Deal and his orchestra playing.

looks of a pretty young damsel clinging to the arm next to his heart. But who wouldn't? The wind in Atlanta simply isn't the sort we have down here. It'll sho cutchu. Kent and his friend made an interesting picture, on account of he wouldn't lower his nose from the customary high tilt, and his friend had hers tucked away in a black fur. Still other familiar persons could have been seen by a observer from T. C. on his jaunt down the famous Atlanta boulevard, including the Pafford brothers, Jake Riggs (who spent his time looking for Shaw), the Daly lady from S'boro, and many others. Now for the trip back to school:

Assuming that the visitor returned by way of JOHN GAISSERT Milledgeville, who dya imagine he would have seen? None other than the big boy from Sparta, old John Gaiisert, fatter than ever and still nervous. 'Tis possible that he hasn't recovered

W. A. A. Soccer Tournament Ends

A woman's soccer tournament has been under way lately under the direction of Mattie Cain. Thirteen teams were in the competition, ten from physical education classes and three from the college classes. The captains of the physical education teams were: Myrtle Ollivant, Locella Elton, Dorothy Freeman, Mildred Brannen, Norma Harvey, Florence Daley, Alma Jones, Mildred Scott, Elizabeth Hollingsworth, and Priscilla Prather. Leaders of class teams were as follows: Freshman, Dorothy Bunn; sophomore, Carrie Freeman, and the junior and senior, Mattie Cain.

The tournament ended Thursday, and the winners were honored at a picnic supper Friday.

AT THE MOONPICTURE HOUSE: Hell-o Students.

Do you ever go to the show? But I'm sure you do. I know everybody saw "Anna Karanin" and Will Rogers in "Old Kentucky." Stop! Look! and Listen on Monday and Tuesday. Another of the ten greatest stars of Hollywood is playing here in "I Live My Life." No other person than Joan Crawford. Hooray! Just the one we need to make us forget exams.

Wednesday is here with that good looking, nimble-footed George Raft and Joan Bennet in "She Couldn't Take It." That is a marvelous picture with love, murder and music to cheer the hearts of all these forlorn co's and ed's who will have passed that exam if the teacher had just asked what they studied.

Friday and Saturday that good old double feature.

from the jolt he suffered when an admiring friend of the fairer sex presented him with candy and other delicacies while in school here in 1932. John would have sent his regards to "the Graham," a staunch friend and classmate of no meagre standing.

Also in Milledgeville one could have seen Sid Stapleton. But his cordial invitation to spend the night would have been so warmly received that one could never have told. . . . There was one little tale to be discovered in Milledgeville worth bringing to the attention of the students, however, and that would have been the home-town name of LeRoy Roughton. Strange that no one here has ever thought of it, because Joe Palooka seems to fit like a glove.

The real spicy news of the entire trip might have developed right in Milledgeville. That is if the visitor who had been to the Atlanta keedo had run across one of Coach Smith's old college cronies. The story to be learned at that time, though very interesting, and sworn to be authentic, could not have borne retelling on the campus. It concerns another angle to the already multiple history of how the Smith man got his nickname, "Crook."

Just take it from one who did make such a trip. That story about Coach is a peach!

W. A. A. GIVES EMBLEMS

Several young ladies have recently qualified for emblems which are presented by the Woman's Athletic Association. Among those who are to receive the letters are: Mildred Brannen, Mattie Cain, Grace Cromley, Gwendolyn Dekle, Janie Durrence, Eloise Graham, Sara Remington, Louise Rosier, Kathryn Simmons, Lillian Simmons and Mildred Smith.

Louise Rosier has been elected by the Woman's Athletic Association to act as a sponsor for recreational activities among the Training School girls. It is the aim of the W. A. A. to give its aid in overcoming obstacles presented by the constant changing of student teachers.

Mildred Smith has been re-elected as the W. A. A. Council volleyball manager for next year.

Y. M. and Y. W. C. A's. Sing Christmas Carols

The Y. M. and Y. W. songsters made their traditional serenade before dawn Sunday morning and brought good cheer in the form of Christmas carols to the citizens of Collegeboro and Statesboro.

The serenaders, composed of members of the "Y" cabinets and vespers chorus, further ushered in the spirit of the season by leaving beautiful wreaths at the doors of the members of the faculty and citizens of Statesboro who are closely connected with the "Y's."

Girls are often advised to marry a man who has saved his money, but generally a man who is smart enough to save his money is too smart to get caught.

Presenting the Digger

Since the students have raised such a howl for more dirt, it seems up to me to dish some out. Here goes, and remember, you asked for it.

Maybe everything isn't "Love & Kisses" with Jake and Henrietta any more. If you want to know why, ask Alma.

It must be love when Ethel Mae takes Heath to a dance even if he doesn't dance.

Can it be that Ducky has given King Jim, Hearn, and a few others the run-around in favor of "Angelo"?

And did Coonie blush and "aw-aw" when someone dedicated "Love In Bloom" to him and Hickey at the Epicurean dance.

Here's an orchid for Rabey: Tho' Carroll is running first string with "Puggy," he still goes out for the team.

What Dux Domina left her date flat at the dance to come out to school to get Nattie?

Even after a year has gone by, Sugar still can't decide whether it's Barton or Georgie-Porgie. In my opinion, Barton has a slight edge at present.

Mary Jane seemed to have the situation well in hand Thanksgiving. That was just what Hugh needed.

Another gal who can't make up her mind is Prissy. Music hath charms, as Oozie says, but Willie is such a nice boy!

It seems that someone tried to play our editor for a sucker the night of the D. D. and D. L. D. dances, but they didn't make it.

And my dear, did you see Quat plant one on Miss Veazey at the D. S. tea dance! Remember, the boys are what the girls make 'em.

Why was "I'll Be Faithful" dedicated to Fay at a recent dance? Could it have been because of her success with Guy, Jake and Morris?

Barbara, won't you please be true to Wayne? I'm afraid he'll blow the auditorium up some Sunday nite. Remember, never cross a McKneeley.

The D. S.'s really slung one the other week week-end. Nothing quite so ritzy has been seen in these parts in quite a spell. Those boys kinda spread it on a bit, much to the enjoyment of their guests.

Appreciation Note Extended Seniors

Following the luncheon given in their honor Thanksgiving Day by the Senior class, the Teachers College Alumni Association expressed appreciation in the following letter to members of the group:

"To the Senior Class:

"The Alumni Association wishes to extend thanks and sincere appreciation to the Senior class for the luncheon served in the Training School on Thanksgiving Day.

"It was a real pleasure to be with you and see the good work our Alma Mater is doing.

"Loyally yours,
"ALUMNI ASSOCIATION,
"IRIS (PAT) ROBERTS, Secy."

.. Among The Clubs ..

L. T. C.

Helen McGarrah, Anne Felton, Evelyn Johnson and Frances Watson were hostesses to the L. T. C.'s Monday evening. A contest was given and Mary Cromley won the prize offered.

D. L. D.

The D. L. D.'s entertained with a dance Saturday evening, December 7, at the Woman's Club. The club room was gaily decorated with mistletoe and holly and in one corner there was a Christmas tree. As special guests they had Grace Cromley, Kathryn Simmons, Evelyn Burch, Burice Harrell, Studie Akins, Jean Smith and Eloise Warren.

DUX DOMINA

In a beautiful setting of Christmas decorations the Dux Domina entertained with a dance Saturday evening, December 7, at the Columns' Tea Room. Music was furnished by the school orchestra. They had as chaperones Mr. and Mrs. Fielding Russell, their sponsors. Thursday evening Leah Dora McWaters, Lillian Reddick and Marion Norris were hostesses to a Christmas tree.

TO RAISE FUNDS

The Bachelors Club is making plans to present a "Womanless Wedding" in the auditorium of this school on January 24, 1936.

The proceeds of the play will be donated to a fund being raised to equip the stage with new fixtures and properties. The Epicureans and the Dramatic Club also are making plans to put on plays in the winter quarter to add to this fund.

"A Womanless Wedding" is one of the funniest farces available for amateur talent. There are no women in the play, their parts being taken by the boys, which is expected to add much to the hilarity of the entertainment.

WORK ON REFLECTOR PROGRESSES RAPIDLY

The art work being done on the Reflector of the college is now nearing completion.

In connection with the subject chosen, The Pine Tree and the Part that it Plays in Industry, linoleum prints are being made for main and sub-division plates.

The contract for the printing has been awarded to Foote-Davies Company of Atlanta, and the contract for the engraving to Wrigley Engraving Company, also of Atlanta.

TRAINING SCHOOL SHOWS ACTIVITY

Final Examinations and General Culmination Work to Begin Today.

Final examinations and general culmination of work in the Training School will begin today and last through Wednesday, according to information given out by Director W. L. Downs.

Tuesday and Wednesday will be devoted to final tests in all subjects and on Thursday reports will be distributed and school will be dismissed for the holidays.

During the first part of this week all projects must be rounded out, their purposes accomplished, and the slate must be cleaned for the new set of teachers who will take charge after Christmas.

The ninth grade has worked out projects in science, history and English. In English the children themselves have written and plan to act out a play from scenes in Silas Marner.

In the tenth grade the French classes have been working on French folk dances in costume. This grade has also worked out a history unit and have written and acted several plays in English.

The home economics class has on display all of the things that have been made this year by the different girls.

Health, history and science are the three projects that have been worked out by the fifth and sixth grades.

Most of these projects were devised by the teachers as methods of putting across particular phases of the work in three months, but they were completely carried out by the students themselves.

After the holidays new ideas and new projects will be brought in as a new set of student-teachers start work.
