Superlative Contest to Include

A Vote on Standard of Teaching

A type of election whereby students may express their opinions on the quality of instruction of local teachers will be a new feature of the annual superlative contest, with possibilities during the assembly hour tomorrow.

After considering several proposals by which such choices could be made, most stipulated that children not which sponsors the election every spring, decided to honor four professors for general excellency of instruction. It was decided that since the teaching field of a few professors is limited to one or two classes, to allow such work is of high standard, with the professor receiving the most votes from a certain class to be the choice of that group.

On the ballot provided for the other election tomorrow there will be a specified place for each student to vote for the professor of his choice. This vote should not be confused with the vote for the most popular professor. In the latter election nominations will be made from the Faculty in the choice of professors for good teaching, each individual student will be allowed to vote for any faculty member he chooses, without his having been named from the floor.

Students are cautioned to fill in the blanks correctly, as votes will not count which are found to be improperly or incorrectly filled out.

Student Teachers Offer Services to Rural School

Educational Project Sponsored
By General Education Board
And Teachers College.

A joint educational project of mutual benefit to the community and the Teachers College, with Miss Elizabeth Donovan, of the college faculty, supervising.

Under ordinary circumstances the Yeomans school would have closed last week, but because of the arrangement of the Teachers College and the G. E. B., with the endorsement of the Yeomans board of trustees, classes will be continued for two additional months. As the trustees have offered their services to pre-vailing the closing of the school after a seven months’ term, the project is being sponsored by the general education board and the South Georgia Teachers College, with Miss Elizabeth Donovan, of the college faculty, supervising.

By May 15 the seating capacity of the hall will be increased by some 50 to 100.

Failure to get materials available for immediate completion was due to the necessity of obtaining bids, Now essen said.

Materials used thus far have been purchased by the college’s part in the project and the job will be bought by the WPA. On arrival of the material, expect- ed by April 14, the crew will be enlarged to approximately 20 men, including brick masons, painters, plasterers and carpenters, etc. for immediate completion. The work will be in progress six weeks longer.

The seating capacity of the hall, after completion, will be increased by some 50 to 100.
When Miss Caro Lane, for four years head of the women's physical education department, assumes her new position as assistant professor in health and physical education at Louisiana State University, June 1, the Georgia Teachers College will have lost one of its more eminent educators. To record the achievements of this genial instructor about whom the 1935 Reflection says, "She only knows everybody worth knowing, but she is a unique character herself," would be to say that she did everything she could to help every cause she thought was right.

The notable accomplishments of the college in which Miss Lane has had a part during the past four years are many. To her should go major credit for the beginning of the health department, the Woman's Athletic Association, city playground supervision, and other deeds of importance and value. When she joined the faculty in 1932 the general health service was negligible. There were no health requirements, no physical examinations, and the college was without the service of a physician. After her initial work in this field and with her continued interest, a physical education program has been made.

In organizing the local unit of the W. A. A., Miss Lane provided young women of the campus with one of the most worthy of our college organizations. Extending her interest toward service to the Statesboro community, the city playground is a success largely as a result of her efforts and personal expense. In social recreation Miss Lane has ever been the person dependable to make the "party go over big." Her ability along this line will be sorely missed.

Coming to the college from the State Department of Education, where she had good opportunity to observe the needs of rural children, Miss Lane should be the qualifications of their teachers. As a result her program of integration with the Training School is unsurpassed by any other department, and her teacher training courses have been directed to ward absolute needs.

Possessed with a genuine love for teaching and a sincere interest in education, Miss Lane's work at this institution has been of the highest order. Her accomplishments will remain her best rewards. When her influence is missed in other ways, students are likely to feel her absence most keenly in the want for individual consultations, the time and thought for which she readily gave to all.
THE GEORGE-ANNE

Band Will Make Extensive Tour

The most extensive tour of the band for this scholastic year is now being arranged, according to President Pittman.

Final plans are yet to be made, but a tentative schedule has been made which will carry the band to three larger cities of the state and several high schools on route.

Letters have been mailed to South Georgia State College, at Douglas; Georgia Southern University, at Statesboro; and to Abraham Baldwin College, at Tifton.

Between the programs the band will give several concerts in high schools of the section, according to present plans.

President Pittman will accompany the band, making short addresses prior to the performances.

Members of the band expect to make the trip are:

W. A. A. NOTES

The girls baseball season has opened under the direction of Janie Dunraven. All girls are invited to come out each Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 4:00 for practice in preparation for the tournament which will be held April 20th.

It might be of some interest to those who were not privileged to attend, to know that Miss Lane's W. A. A. girls were heavily outnumbered by members of the Southern Physical Education Association, in Knoxville, for knowing just what to do when the girls were requested to break at a dance.

The Council members Gaye Deeks and Janie Dunraven back after an absence of three months.

Now that spring has dressed herself in a new spring suit, the riding chairman brought hiccoughing girls picking trails into the woods.

W. A. A. REPORTER.

MISS CARO LANE

Head of the women's physical education department, Miss Caro Lane has resigned from the Teachers College faculty effective June 1st. At that time Miss Lane will assume the position of assistant professor in the newly created school of health and physical education at Louisiana State University.

The L. S. U. department will be headed by Dr. A. D. Browne, formerly of the George Peabody College, whose hope it is to make the new Louisiana department "the best in the country."

While a member of the local staff, Miss Lane introduced the health service for students and organized the Women's Athletic Association, and was instrumental in obtaining a recreation park for children in Statesboro.

Selection of a successor to Miss Lane has not yet been made.

In the evening there will be the annual May Day dance which will also be great night. This affair will be in charge of one of the campus organizations.

PAPER SHOULD NOT HAVE CANDIDATES

Students Say The George-Anne Should Not Take Sides In Campus Elections

The George-Anne should not take a definite stand for or against any candidate in the forthcoming students elections, according to opinions given a number of the staff members when asked to express themselves on the question.

Regarding to the question, "Do you think The George-Anne should take a definite stand on campus politics in view of the coming student elections?" a majority of those interviewed answered negatively.

A few of the opinions are quoted below:

William Cherry, president of the Student Council:

"We understand that The George-Anne as a manager of campus life without any partisanship as concerns individuals or local groups. In view of this understanding, it does not seem how a paper which belongs equally to each student could support actively one candidate or one group in any election. It is entirely the responsibility of the paper to sponsor the highest qualities which a candidate must necessarily possess to be the support of any considerable portion of the student body."

Elizabeth Walton, member of junior class:

"I think the paper should give a good conception of the abilities of all candidates."

"Gee," Oliver, member of sophomore class:

"No, because The George-Anne is supposed to be a paper for all the students, and if it took a stand in favor of one person or group against another it would not be fulfilling its function."

Harri Wimley, member of sophomore class:

"No. The George-Anne is the voice of the entire campus rather than of any particular election. It would tend to make the student body look biased in its opinion. Also since there is no other publication through which he might retaliating and defend himself, it would place the candidate discriminated against at a disadvantage."

Grace Cronley, president of Y. W. C. A.:

"No. I don't think the paper should take a definite stand. Each person should vote as he thinks best without being influenced by any group."

"Dodie" Lambright, Sports Editor of the George-Anne:

"No. The George-Anne is a non-partisan paper and is a possession of the students, and it would tend to the student body to become biased in its opinions. Also since there is no other publication through which he might retaliate and defend himself, it would place the candidate discriminated against at a disadvantage."

THE GEORGE-ANNE

Florence Daley Elected President

Florence Daley was elected president of the Dramatic Club Monday night to succeed Eloise Graham. Others elected were: Ruth Buxton, vice-president; Joe Buxton, secretary; Thelma Harrison, treasurer; Ben Jones, stage manager; and Louis Buxton, assistant stage manager.

The club will present a three-act play this quarter. At present the play's title is "Ghosts," by Ibsen and "Three-Cornered Moon," by Tolstoy. A decision will be reached shortly, and the play will soon go into rehearsal.

Editors Denounce "Grading" System

Hardly a week passes that the subject of grading knowledge with marks rather than knowledge, the emphasis where it should be—on knowledge—does not arise. The most recent case in point is the grading system on the forestry board and active in state ceremonies as guest of the Statesboro Chamber of Commerce and the college.

President M. S. Pittman, who expects to take a definite stand in the George-Anne's weekly publication at the University of Georgia.

In denouncing the present educational system of placing emphasis on marks rather than knowledge, the Red and Black stated:

"Graduating grades is the most unfair and unjust system of recognition that the educational power that be ever brought forth. Everything is based on marks rather than knowledge. Why not reverse the system and put the emphasis where it should be—on knowledge?"

HERTY PINE TO BE PRESERVED ON T. C. CAMPUS

The pine tree on which Dr. Charles H. Herty hung his first cap and garter for coming in on the forestry board July 20, 1901, has been cut down. The pine, located just off the campus of the college, was cut down by President M. S. Pittman, who expects to have it preserved on the campus.

A number presented last year by Mrs. M. E. Judd, member of the state forestry board and active in state P.T. A. affairs, will be placed on the Herty Pine after it has been definitely located.

The tree was christened the Herty Pine last April 15, when Dr. Herty was a visitor on the campus for ceremonies as guest of the Statesboro Chamber of Commerce and the college.

It was on the same date that Dr. Charles H. Herty hung his first cap and garter for coming in on the forestry board.

The matter considered by Mrs. Judd reads: "On this tree, on July 20, 1901, is supposed to be a paper for all the students, and if it took a stand in favor of one person or group against another it would not be fulfilling its function."

"Gee," Oliver, member of sophomore class:

"No. The George-Anne is the voice of the entire campus rather than of any particular election. It would tend to make the student body look biased in its opinion. Also since there is no other publication through which he might retaliate and defend himself, it would place the candidate discriminated against at a disadvantage."

Grace Cronley, president of Y. W. C. A.:

"Dodie" Lambright, Sports Editor of the George-Anne:

Men in Senior Class Lead in Scholarship

Winter term grade point ratios show that men of the senior class maintain the highest average of any group on the campus during the past three months. The ratio for the senior men is 3.88, or approximately a "B" average. Members of the Student Council raised the second highest ratio and the International Relations Club third highest.

On an average, the grades made by classes, groups and clubs during the winter term were higher than those of the fall, according to Will Hill Fields, assistant to the Registrar.

In the social groups the Episcopalian ratio fell from second place to fourth, as the Episcopalian Club held first place for the fourth consecutive year. In the departmental clubs the International Relations Club raised its average from 3.28 for the fall term to 3.72 to maintain its lead. The YMCA cabinet fell from 3.39 to 3.15, and dropped from first place to fourth in campus groups. The George-Anne raised its ratio from 3.67 to 3.83 and went from third to second place. The Student Council raised its average from 3.58 and second place to 3.83 and first place in this group.

Following are the ratios, furnished through the courtesy of Miss Viola Perry, Registrar.

Grades are computed by dividing the number of quality points earned by the number of courses carried. A grade-point of 2 represents a C average; a grade-point of 4 represents a B average. White that of 6 means an A average. A student must have a grade-point of 2 before he can be awarded a diploma.

ANNUALS WILL BE READY BY MAY 15

All Material in Hands of Engravers! Work Has Already Begun On Proof Reading.

May 15th has been set as the approximate date on which the annual will be delivered, it has been announced by the staff of the Reflector. The remaining portion of the book was sent to the engravers March 20th and work has already begun on proof reading.

The theme of the annual is the pine tree and the part that it plays in the industry of Georgia. The book will be printed in brown ink on heavy paper. The color scheme of the cover is green and gold with a round picture of a gazing globe.

The art work of the Reflector, which was done by Lolo Trappole and Virginia Wrenn, under the direction of Miss Mary Small, is composed of linoleum prints of various industries of Georgia.

The 1936 Reflector will be about the same size as the 1935 edition.

Things you have to do. If we are successful in the Yeomen community in doing this, we will have done good work. We expect the boys to learn something after all and expect them to do necessary jobs around the school house in such a manner that they will be able to do construction work around their own homes, such as making shelves and other useful things. The girls should be taught to carry through decorative ideas they have by making aprons, curtains and other objects. The whole idea is to have the students utilize the materials which they have about them.

Assisting in the Yeomen project are six students of the Teachers College. They are: Doris Rauderson, of Nashville; Hazel Elliott, Junction City; Frances Dalton, of Little Rock; Gladys Waller, Swansea; Mildred Smith, Mccassas, and Tyra Saturday, of the Yeomen community. Other than having necessary expenses paid by the general education board, the only reward these teachers will receive will be 25 courses credit toward their B. S. degree.

The daily schedule is so arranged that pupil will be free to go home at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Donovan has written all parents in the community that it is realized that it is the time of year when help is greatly needed on the farms, and that the school is cooperating with their needs in this regard. Until then, the students will be running a daily schedule from 8 a.m. till 2 p.m., with most of the school work to be done between 8 a.m. and 12 noon.

Miss Donovan for the past two years has been supervising teachers in various schools in this territory, but by the new arrangement will be able to devote all her time to the Yeoman school.

There are 162 students in the Yeoman school.
SPRING FOOTBALL GETS UNDER WAY

Coach Smith Outlines Practice For Four Weeks' Training Period; Urges New Men to Try Out.

A call has been made by Coach B. L. Smith for boys who are interested in football to report for spring practice. About five weeks of work has been outlined by Coach Smith in which candidates will be schooled in the rudiments and groundwork of practical football.

The boys were put through the pace last week in line blocking, forwarding and passing, and signal drills. There are several prospects who have never been out for the team before and who may develop into useful material in the fall. Coach Smith is giving special attention to these men and urges that any boy, whether or not he has played before, report for practice if he is interested.

Among those who are now working out are Thomas Grady, J. C. Golden, George Abelson, Paul Robertson, Fred Allen, Page Tanks, Donald Shaw, Lyle Maxwell, Bob McNeil, Alton Settle, and Derrick Mincey.

Tentative matches have already been scheduled with B.-P. I. and tentative plans made for meets with the Georgia freshmen. Coaches Wrinkle and Westbrook are rapidly whipping the Prof team into shape. Information that this year's squad will be much better balanced than was the 1935 edition.

A large number of candidates for the dash has lessened the coaches' worries in this department. Material is not as plentiful, however, in the distance runs and weight events. It is believed by Coach Westcott that the team will make a good showing in the dash events, the pole vault, the hurdles, and the jumps. The most notable weaknesses are in the distance runs, the weight events, and the high hurdles.

A practice meet has been planned for Monday afternoon between the Teachers' and B.-P. I. squads. The meet will be held here Monday afternoon to prepare for the district meet to be held here April 11 for class A and B and C schools. About fifteen different events will be run at the meet, and the Teachers' track team.
