Ms. Kirbylene Stephens

Long-time friend of the Zach S. Henderson Library, Ms. Kirbylene Stephens, passed away November 15. When Ms. Stephens graduated from Georgia Teachers College in 1955, President Zach Henderson asked her to work in his office as his secretary. That began her 32 years of service as secretary to six Georgia Southern University presidents, beginning with President Zach S. Henderson in 1955, and ending with Interim President Harry Carter in 1987. In 1987, she became Director of Special Projects and Associate Director of the Alumni Association. She retired from Georgia Southern in 1992. Her connection with President Henderson made her a strong supporter of the Henderson Library, and she became a member of the board of Friends of Henderson Library in 2009. She will be greatly missed.

EBSCO Databases: The good news and the bad news

November 30, 2009

Final Update: MEDLINE with Full Text has just been restored.

3rd Update: All should be fixed by Wednesday morning, Dec. 2, according to EBSCO.

2nd Update: All have been restored except MEDLINE with Full Text, which hopefully will be soon.

Update: We still haven't received an estimated "fix" time from EBSCO. In the meantime, we recommend the following alternatives to the databases that have temporarily disappeared:

For America History & Life and Historical Abstracts, use World History Collection.

For MEDLINE with Full Text, use MEDLINE.

For PsycINFO, use Psychology & Behavioral Sciences Collection.

We'll update this when we know more.

Welcome back! We have a couple of updates on our EBSCOhost Databases.

First, the bad news...Some of our EBSCOhost Databases have been unavailable since at least this past Friday due to an updating error by EBSCO. These include America History & Life, Historical Abstracts, and PsycINFO. GALILEO is working with EBSCO to fix this as soon as possible.

And the good news is that EBSCO is now offering its databases for your mobile devices! You'll find this listed in GALILEO as "EBSCOhost Mobile Academic." Details below:

More computers available

November 30, 2009

Welcome back! We've opened a classroom on the first floor so that people can use the computers.

This is Room 1308, the room nearest the stairwell on the east end of the library (the end nearest to Russell Union).
