DORMITORY BIDS TO BE ACCEPTED

In the Office of President
Pittman On May 19.

WORK WILL START SOON

On Structure for Use of Junior
And Senior
Students.

Bids for a new dormitory to house 160 men will be accepted in the office of President M. S. Pittman, May 19, and construction will begin soon thereafter, it has been disclosed.

The building, a red brick structure with stone trimmings suggesting the colonial type of architecture, is to be located on the northwest section of the campus near Herty Pines.

It is expected that the new dormitory will be for the exclusive use of junior and senior men and a few faculty members, though no definite announcement has yet been made to that effect. In addition to the 80 rooms provided for student occupation, there will be a large reception room and a basement for a new heating plant.

Each room will be equipped with lavatory and will have outside exposure. There will be six bath rooms,

President M. S. Pittman and Dean Z. S. Henderson this week will begin a series of graduation addresses which will carry them to many high schools throughout this section of the state.

Every year these officials and various members of the faculty make commencement addresses at many of the Georgia schools.

Dr. Pittman and Dean Henderson have not announced their subjects, but it is expected that their addresses will be on educational topics.

No definite announcement has yet been made as to where other members of the faculty will make commencement addresses.

Former Teacher May Be Named Secretary
To G. E. A. This Week

Mr. Ralph H. Ramsey, principal of the Fulton County High School and a former summer school teacher here, is expected to be the choice of the board of directors to replace Mr. Kyle Alfriend, resigned, as executive secretary to the Georgia Education Association. A successor to Mr. Alfriend is to be chosen at a meeting to be held next Thursday in Athens.

Mr. Ramsey taught here during the summers of 1933 and 1934 at the request of Dr. Guy H. Wells, who was president of the college at that time. He taught courses in education and curriculum, and during his work won liberal praise for his ability as a teacher. Since 1934 he has been on the summer school faculty at the Georgia State College for Women, at Milledgeville, where Dr. Wells is now located.

In addition to being principal of the Fulton County High School, Mr. Ramsey has served one term as a member of the state legislature.

In the event Mr. Ramsey is elected by the Georgia Education Association board of directors and accepts the position, he will assume office on October 1. Whether or not he will

WILL ADD 11TH
GRADE IN FALL

Two New Teachers Will Be Added
To Present Staff to Meet
State Requirements.

With addition of the 11th grade, the local Training School will be brought up to standard high school level next fall, according to information given by Director W. L. Downs.

Two new teachers added to the regular staff of supervisors in the high school department will meet the faculty requirements of the state accrediting association, according to Mr. Downs.

Construction of a building to house laboratory equipment and care for crowded conditions will not begin for at least a year, the director said. Until that time the college industrial arts, home economics and science departments will share their equipment with the Training School, and every available space in the present building will be utilized.

The plan of the 11-grade school has been outlined to State Supervisor T. J. Dempsey, Mr. Downs stated, and

Over Two Thousand Visitors
See Ceremonies in Outdoor Theatre By Lake.

Before a throng of over two thousand spectators May Day festivities were celebrated by the Physical Education Department of the college Friday afternoon. The setting for the occasion was the lovely outdoor theatre with the lakes forming a shimmering background.

The program began with the gathering of the villagers in multi-colored costumes to pay homage to the Queen of the May. Then followed a scarf dance which was very lovely.

The Queen's entrance, heralded by bugles, brought the audience to their feet while the procession marched toward the throne. First came the Ladies in Waiting, attired in green glazed tarlatan, carrying garlands of ivy. Mattie Cain, maid of honor, immediately preceded the Queen. She wore yellow glazed tarlatan, and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. Next came the tiny flower girl and boy, Susanne Smith and Fielding Russell Jr., and the crown bearer, W. S. Hanner Jr. Helen Godbee, Queen of May, entered alone wearing a beautiful gown of white satin and white glazed tarlatan. Her arm

SOPHOMORES SOON TO BE TESTED
BY STATE

Members of the sophomore class are to be given state tests in English, Mathematics, History, and Science during the next six weeks, according to Dean Z. S. Henderson.

These tests will be sent out from Athens to all sophomores in the University system and to a large majority of those in the private schools of the state.

The purpose of the tests is to measure the student's knowledge of facts and his ability to use these facts intelligently. The grades will be determined according to the normal curve based upon scores in the state.

These grades will be used as a basis for advising the student on his major in his senior college work, and the choice of a vocational profession.

They will not be the pass-fail type of tests and will have no influence upon the student's grades in courses which he is now taking. They will, however, be entered in the registrar's office to become a part of permanent records.

The schedule for the tests is as follows: English, May 7; mathematics, May 13; science, May 20, and history, May 26.

Scores will be available during the summer quarter, if not before the end of the spring quarter.

DO YOU READ?

When Norman Thomas inquired recently of the attitude of University students toward world affairs, he was told that the average student spends his first two years trying to have such a good time that he must spend the last two making up bad grades incurred during the first two—leaving no time for consideration of the affairs of the world.

If this statement was an exaggeration its conclusion did contain a reasonable amount of truth.

It has been said that one is incapable of grasping the significance of contemporary events without a knowledge of what has gone on before them. A basic understanding of history is essential to an enlightened public attitude.

But history is not all written on pages yellowed by time. Just as today's habits become tomorrow's traditions, so do today's events form the historical background for the future. History is in the making every day, and those who do not keep up with contemporary world events let a vast amount of potential background slip by to be recovered only in part if at all, and then possibly warped by second-hand prejudice.

Today's world events are or will be important in the lives of every individual. With so many countries abandoning democratic government, it is well that the people of America, especially those of the college-trained class, should not only know but also understand what is going on around them.

The responsibility for a more currently enlightened University product is one that must be shared. The academic curriculum, the policy of the faculty, and the attitude of the students that should be directed toward more acquaintance with happenings outside the forty-acre fence.

More classroom treatment of contemporary events is to be encouraged, and students should avail themselves of each opportunity to keep up with things. From many standpoints the facilities for this purpose are inadequate. But the first and immediate need is for more students with the will to seek a knowledge of current events and public affairs. The way will follow.—The Daily Texan.

AN ADMIRABLE CHOICE

If and when directors of the Georgia Education Association name Mr. Ralph Ramsey executive secretary to succeed Mr. Kyle Alfriend, who has resigned, they will have made an admirable choice. Mr. Ramsey is well qualified for this important position both in training and personal fitness.

The rise of Mr. Ramsey to eminence in state educational affairs has been through a series of jobs well done. The Georgia Education Association needs a person of his calibre to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Alfriend's resignation.

The G. E. A. under the direction of Mr. Alfriend has shown meteoric improvement. The Georgia Education Journal has risen from a place among the mediocre periodicals to assume a position of leadership among national educational publications. Membership in the state association has increased to approximately ten thousand. During his term of office Mr. Alfriend has been faithful in promoting laws enacted in recent years for public school benefit. For his many services, Georgia school teachers are grateful to him.

We hope that in the future teachers will have opportunity to look for leadership in Mr. Ramsey. Those who have had contact with him in the past know the kind of service to expect if he becomes secretary. To those who are not familiar with him, we are proud to make his recommendation. A man better qualified for the place and with a more genuine interest would be difficult to find in the state.

Directors of the G. E. A. should be commended if Mr. Ramsey is elected and accepts the secretaryship. His selection would be a most happy choice in the eyes of those who are anxious to give education in the state the leadership of some of its best citizens.

AS OTHERS TELL US

After congratulating the Mercer student body for refusing to take part in the recent students' "strike" in the interest of international peace, The Macon Telegraph went on to argue its case in fine manner. We print part of the editorial:

"There is no disposition in any quarter to oppose any reasonable measure for the cultivation of peaceful relations among the nations of the earth. There can be no criticism of student organization to foster the idea of peace and good will.

"But the very notion of a strike carries with it a connotation of resistance and defiance to established discipline, when, as a matter of fact, there was nothing the students were called upon to resist. . . .

"When the advocates of unpreparedness are able to cite a single instance in the history of the human race where a war was averted because a nation was unprepared it will be time enough to lend a more attentive ear to that theory. . . .

"A mass movement to make the world honest would have everything to commend it, but in the meantime the history of the League of Nations and the disarmament treaties is still fresh in mind. . . . There has probably been never an hour since the Paris peace treaty was signed that Germany has not been, first surreptitiously and then openly, violating her obligations, culminating in the march into the Rhineland. Mussolini was bound in the most solemn manner to observe the political independence and territorial integrity of Ethiopia. So was Japan as to China. So was Turkey as to fortifying the Dardanelles. And yet economic greed and the lust of personal ambition have led one dictator after the other to take steps which promise to plunge the world again in blood. Neither China nor Ethiopia could preserve the blessings of peace by unpreparedness."

Beer, or Not to Beer; That's the Question

Whether or not students, or others, if they wish, can buy beer at the Country Store is a question which will be decided next Friday at a special session of the Bulloch Superior Court.

Mr. Cecil Kennedy, manager of the Country Store, at that time is to be given a hearing on a mandamus petition against the Bulloch county commissioners for refusing to grant him a beer license. The application for license was declined by the commissioners on the ground that the Country Store is within 300 feet of the college campus, therefore prohibited by law.

The petitioner will attempt to show that his business establishment is located some 500 or more yards from the college campus.

Hearing is scheduled for 10 o'clock Friday morning.

The entrance of the Queen was then burlesqued by a group of clever jesters with Jeff Stewart acting as their Queen of the May.

After the Queen had been crowned a program of dances was presented for her enjoyment. This entertainment ended with the winding of the May poles and the sailors' group from the sophomore class was adjudged winner by the Queen.

A picnic supper by the lake completed the afternoon festivities. Later in the evening a dance was given by the Student Council in the Gym. The dance floor was beautifully decorated in blue and white bunting and streamers, illuminated by indirect lights. As this was a quarterly guests' dance a large number of students and their friends enjoyed dancing until 11 o'clock.

TEACHERS TAKE THREE MATCHES

Shell Plays Well for the Profs; Teachers Lose Both Doubles Matches

Taking three out of six matches the Teachers tennis team broke even against the Mercer team in Macon Thursday. Shell, rangy Prof number one player, did outstanding work on the Teachers' team, while Cagle played well for the Bruins. Riddle won his singles match only after the last game had gone to duce score fifteen times.

In the singles matches Shell won from Orr 6-3, 6-3. Cagle, who gave a real exhibition of tennis, won from Settle 3-6, 6-3, 8-6. Carroll, who has climbed from sixth place to third in the last two weeks, defeated Flour-nay 6-3, 6-2. Riddle won from Watt 6-2, 11-9.

Shell and Settle, in the doubles, lost to Orr and Cagle 6-3, 3-6, 5-7. Parker and Small, Mercer freshmen players, defeated Riddle and Carroll 6-1, 9-7.

"Dodie" Lambright To Head Sigma Delta

"Dodie" Lambright, of Brunswick, was elected president of the Delta Sigma fraternity for the 1936 fall term at a regular meeting last Wednesday night.

Other Officers elected at that time were Wayne McKneely, vice-president; Abie Green, secretary; Bill Garrison, treasurer, and R. H. Morton, chaplain.

Formal installation of officers will take place at the annual banquet to be held May 16. The new officers will assume their duties next fall at the beginning of the regular school year.

SEASON OPENS IN SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Eight Teams Now Organized; Double-Header Scheduled For This Afternoon

The 1936 spring soft-ball season was initiated last Wednesday afternoon when the Praying Stewards took down the Delta Sigma team 12 to 7.

Eight teams have already been organized in the league and at least one game will be played every afternoon in the "Westcott Stadium" behind the boy's dormitory. The Praying Stewards are off to a good start, and boast of having the best organized team in the league. Other teams that look especially strong are the Delta Sigmas, who are handicapped by lack of pre-season practice. Crook's Specials, under the guiding hand of "Big Hearted" B. L., and the Iota Pi Nu's.

Those teams now in the league are: The Swamp Rats, Abie Abelson, captain; Iota Pi Nu, "Breezy" Wrinkle, captain; Question Marks, Grayson Hill, captain; Praying Stewards, Jeff Stewart, captain; Delta Sigma, Wayne McKneely, captain; Crook's Specials, B. L. Smith, captain; Henderson's Sluggers, Z. S. Henderson, captain, and Cherry's Champs, Jim Cherry, captain.

There will be a double-header today beginning at 3:30 p. m. Crook's Specials will play Henderson's Sluggers, and The Swamp Rats will take on the Praying Stewards.

FORMER STUDENT

C. H. HOLLINGSWORTH

Mr. H. C. Hollingsworth, above, has resigned the superintendency of the Emanuel County Institute, at Graymont-Summit, to accept the presidency of the Georgia School for the Deaf at Cave Springs. Mr. Hollingsworth, a graduate of the Teachers College in the class of 1933, was elected by the State Board of Control to succeed Dr. J. C. Harris, who resigned after being president for 21 years. Mr. Hollingsworth also graduated from high school here in 1910 when the institution was a normal school. He will spend a year in study before taking over his new duties.

Horse shoes are flying continuously back of West Hall as would-be champions practice for the big tournament which is to decide the singles and doubles horse shoe pitching champions of T. C.

Horton, Thigpens, and Henderson

Faculty to Rate Personalities of All T. C. Students

Members of the Teachers student body are to be given a personality rating by the faculty once each year, beginning with the present term, according to Dean Z. S. Henderson.

The points on which the student will be judged are given below in the order in which they appear upon the record sheet.

1. Appearance, attractive bearing, approach, and care of person.
2. Industry, earnestness and application to duty.
3. Judgment, clear-thinking and adaptability.
4. Initiative, resourcefulness and enterprise.
5. Ability to command the respect and co-operation of others.
6. Reliability and sense of honor.
7. Ideals of service and unselfishness.

Each student will be rated as high, medium or low by each faculty member who has had contact with that particular student.

In this way it is hoped to get a more accurate account of each student's personality and ability. The results will become a part of his permanent record.

are showing themselves to be masters of the art, and it is probable that one of these three will be crowned singles champion.

Much interest is being shown in the tournament and the shoes are in use at all hours of the day. Quite a bit of arguing takes place as to who won which point, but all these seem to be settled without much difficulty.

Horton and Thigpens are teamed up in the doubles and are odds-on favorites to win in this department.

In the neighborhood of 75 men have signed up in the tournament, and many set-up matches will probably turn into up-sets before the winners have been decided.

According to a by-stander, one never knows when the next pitch will terminate in a perfect ringer around one's neck.

Above is shown an architect's drawing of how the Boys' Dormitory will look when completed. The new structure is expected to be ready for occupation by January 1, 1937, if not earlier. The building is to be built at a cost of approximately $85,000 as a part of the building program sponsored by the State Board of Regents with federal aid.

Vines and Alumni

By Eloise Graham

Vines to some people means a great tennis player; to others it calls up visions of that character peculiar to the feminine sex—the clinging vine. But to certain of T. C.'s alumni it brings back unpleasant memories of a form of punishment known only to their alma mater.

Back in the period familiarly referred to as the good old days when this college was an A. & M. school, students who strayed from the straight and narrow had to plant a number of vines commensurate with the seriousness of the offense. As a result, the administration building is covered with a luxuriant growth of glossy vines. In that way future students have benefitted from the misbehavior of their predecessors.

Ed. Note: Maxie Alderman, member of the alumni board of directors who now teaches at Bloomingdale, is authority for the above article. She brought this interesting fact to light at the Macon luncheon, along with revelation of other forms of punishment back in '15.

"Sailor, Beware!" is just one of the many song hits sung by, honest and truly, no other than a Heavenly gift to the love-sick co-eds—Bing Crosby. Bing and Ethel Merwen star in "Anything Goes." Well, maybe this is so, take for instance Bob Haines' terror-plane. "Anything Goes," Monday and Tuesday.

Wednesday, a real sho' nuff double feature with "Buster" Crabbe in "Drift Fence" and Marjorie Rambeau in a musical comedy, "Dizzy Dames."

Thursday, Arline Judge in "Here Comes Trouble," and, as if she wasn't enough trouble for one afternoon, they give us a sort of dessert, is the best way I can explain it, Victor Josy and Sally O'Neil, "Too Tough to Kill."

Friday $ $ $ $ $ and "F Man." I've heard of G-men and the ice-man, but never an F-man. Maybe we should look into this.

Saturday, our good old stand-by, Ken Maynard in "Lawless Riders," also "Timothy's Quest."

Please, students, won't you not mark on, tear or take away my show advertisements in the postoffice. I thank you. See you at the show,

In addition to student rooms there will be several faculty apartments, comprising living room, dining room, bedroom, kitchen and bath.

The dormitory is one of the three largest pieces of construction approved by the State Board of Regents for the University System. The project is being sponsored by the regents, in whom the property is vested.

Unlike the present dormitories, the new building will have one rear and two front entrances. The stairs are to be encased in fireproof shafts and will be of stone and concrete. Large corridors will run the entire length of the building on every floor.

Weltner to Deliver Talk On Honors Day, May 30.

DR. PHILIP WELTNER

Dr. Philip Weltner, former chancellor of the University System of Georgia, is to be principal speaker on the Honors Day program here Saturday, May 30th. Outstanding students are to be publicly recognized on that date for scholarship, leadership and service to the college. These students are to be nominated and voted upon by members of the faculty. No announcement is to be made of the Honors Day students until the morning of May 30. Parents of students to be recognized that day will be asked to be on the campus for ceremonies. Twenty-four students were honored last year, 12 for scholarship, and six each for service and leadership.

Plans are Made For Joint Dance

General plans are for the Delta Sigma-Iota Pi Nu joint dance to be held May 16 at the Statesboro Armory.

A tea dance lasting from 3:30 to 5:00 o'clock may precede the regular joint dance on the afternoon of the 16th. Music for the dances will be furnished by a well-known orchestra. Beginning at 6:00 o'clock the Delta Sigma fraternity will entertain its members and dates with a banquet at the Jaekel Hotel, and the Iota Pi Nu fraternity will have its banquet at the Norris Hotel. This affair promises to be the best joint dance ever held here. Many of the old members from both fraternities will return for the dances and banquets.

Invited stags will be admitted by cards only.

D. L. D.

Saturday evening the D. L. D. entertained its members and dates with a navy dance at the Woman's Club. The Club room was attractive in red, white, and blue ships, anchors, and everything nautical. Music was furnished by the Professors.

May I Interview?

Subsidization of athletes by this college is favored by many students, but there is a difference of opinion as to the manner in which this shall be done.

Following are some of the statements made by students when asked the question, "How do you feel about subsidization of athletes?"

Joe Gilliam, member of the sophomore class:

"I think scholarships in athletics should be given if the requirements extend to a 'C' average in scholastic work."

Helen Godbee, member of the senior class:

"In my opinion, all scholarships whether given in athletics or in other fields should be awarded on the basis of academic achievement."

Otto Morgan, member of junior class:

"If scholarships are to be given on a basis of brilliant minds, which are an asset, I believe that a perfect body which is also an asset, should be given consideration."

Gwen Dekle, member of senior class:

"Since the college provides intramural games for those students who do not make the varsity team, I am in favor of subsidization of athletes. However, they should be required to maintain a passing average in their classroom work."

Howell Martin, member of senior class:

"In my opinion we cannot compete with colleges on our level in athletics with voluntary talent from the student body and expect to be favorably represented. I believe subsidization of athletes is necessary to produce a winning team. Since we have ample opportunity for physical education for the less talented people, why not provide for those that have real ability to represent us in the major sports by subsidizing them as an encouragement for their labors—for after all it's hard work playing football."

enough support has been shown to justify recognition, with anticipation of further developments in the future.

At present there are 130 students enrolled in the Training School, 15 of whom are in the 10th grade. It is expected that all in this group will return to the Training School to graduate next year, and that the addition of the 11th grade will bring in other students from rural sections.

The 10th grade was added to the Training School curriculum last fall.
