GLEE CLUB WILL USE NEW SYSTEM

The Glee Club working with an entirely new system this year is divided into two choruses, a girls' chorus with 35 members and the boys with 42.

Previous to this year the Glee Club was limited to 32 members, eight to each section of base, alto, soprano and tenor. This year the membership is unlimited and anyone who wishes to sing may take part. Formerly there were try-outs held by Mrs. E. L. Barnes, but this year there will be no try-outs.

At present the girls are being trained in voice production and control, while the boys are working on harmony and ear training. The men are practicing barber shop tunes such as "Sweet Adeline," etc. The two sections may be united before Christmas, according to Mr. Deal, chorus leader, with seventy-seven members in the Glee Club, there will be better tone quality and greater volume than ever before.

No plans for trips have been made at present, but there will probably be some later in the quarter.

I. R. C. HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF YEAR

The International Relations Club of the Teachers College met Thursday, October 8th, at the home of Dr. C. M. Destler, head of the History Department, and organized their work for the year. The club will meet once each month, according to Carolyn Blitch, president. The meeting will be held on the first Thursday of each month.

The club was divided into five groups during the meeting and each of the groups are to support a different presidential candidate and present the platforms of their chosen candidate. A great deal of interest in the approaching campaign is thereby created.

The group as a whole had three topics which were discussed during the meeting. They were:

1. Balancing the Budget.
2. Unemployment.
3. The Four Alternatives of Government.

The club officers are: President, Carolyn Blitch; secretary, Elizabeth Deal, and treasurer, George Carter. The members are as follows: Carolyn Blitch, Elizabeth Deal, Sudie Lee Akins, Lillian Simmons, Mary Cromley, Roger Carter, Dessie Holton, Glenn Sowell, Christine Caruthers, Roy Rantlen, Hilda Bowen, Sarah Lee Darby, Virginia Hughs, Winston Byrd, Grace Cromley, Juanita Thomas and Eugene Bell. Faculty sponsor is Dr. C. M. Destler, with Mr. W. H. Bennett and Miss Hester Newton acting as members and co-sponsors.

The next meeting will be held the first Thursday evening in November. The place of meeting will be announced later.

Executive Council Of Science Seminars Named by Carleton

Appointment of an executive council to administer the Science Seminars being held this quarter in Science Hall, was announced today by Dr. Carleton, of the Science Department. Members of the council are Vernice Bacon, Minnie Chance, Marion Smith, Florence Daley, Mary Brent Smith, Nina Moore, Joe Baird, John Daniel Deal and William Garrison.

Seminar groups thus far formed include those for the study of fossils, astronomy, photography, aquaria, bird banding, general physics and general biology.

Student membership is limited to one seminar only with meetings as posted in the Science Hall. Students not taking science courses as well as those who are in science work are welcome to attend these seminars, according to Dr. Carleton.

Accomplishments to date include construction of a fossil cabinet and

Bachelors To Have Banquet Saturday

The fall banquet of the Bachelors Club will be held at the Norris Hotel on Saturday evening, October 31st. In addition to the members and their dates, a number of those who have graduated are expected to attend. Dr. C. W. Smith and Mr. W. H. Bennett have been invited as faculty guests.

The decorations will carry out the Hallowe'en motif, and an appropriate program has been arranged, according to announcement of Roy Rabun, president of the class.

After the banquet, the guests will convene to the Woman's Club room for a dance, with music furnished by Carl Collins and his orchestra.

Elsewhere in this issue may be found a list of the members and their date.

Miss Ruth Bolton and Miss Marie Wood are the faculty sponsors of this organization.

Dr. Pittman Attends Wesleyan Centennial

President M. S. Pittman attended the closing of the centennial celebration of Wesleyan College on Friday, October 23rd.

On Wednesday of last week Dr. Pittman was present at the regional meeting of the Georgia Education Association at Tifton, and went from there to the G. E. A. meeting at Americus.

FIVE LYCEUM ATTRACTIONS TO BE PRESENTED DURING SCHOOL YEAR

Stroup Will Review "Gone With the Wind"

Dr. Stroup's review of "Gone With the Wind," by Margaret Mitchell, will be the feature of the joint program for the two literary societies Wednesday evening. The program is arranged in accordance with the review, it was revealed by Dr. Stroup.

It has not been decided as yet whether the Oglethorpe Society will continue its activities this year. It is said that if the same lack of interest in the clubs was evidenced this year as last, one club will suffice.

If the Oglethorpe Society continues to function, there will be debates between the two clubs. If not there will probably be debates within the Stephens Society. The clubs meet every two weeks and the programs are short in order not to interfere with studies.

NOTED AUTHOR SPEAKS NOV. 13

James C. Wilson, Explorer and Lecturer to Address Students Here.

A group of five lyceum attractions will be presented throughout the school year, according to an announcement from the Dean's office. The first of the five attractions will be staged November 13th at which time James C. Wilson recent author, traveler and illustrated lecturer, will be featured.

Mr. Wilson comes to the front as an author in his recently published book, "Three-Wheeling Through Africa," in which he relates his experiences traveling 3,800 miles through Africa with only 900 miles of roads. He points out the difficulty of such a fete by explaining that he traveled by motorcycle and that garages were 2,800 miles apart and also that gasoline sells for $4 per gallon. A detailed account of Mr. Wilson's exploration appeared in the National Geographic Magazine for January, 1934.

Other lyceum attractions for the year include: Curtis String Quartet, appearing about the middle of February.

BIDS ARE GIVEN BY FRATERNITIES

Bids were extended by the Delta Sigma and Iota Pi Nu fraternities on October 22nd, to prospective pledges for the fall quarter. Twenty-two bids were given by both clubs to young men on the campus.

Of the twenty-two men who were invited to become a member of one of the fraternities, thirteen are freshmen, four are transfer students and nine are old students.

The prospective pledges were entertained with a picnic Saturday night, the Delta Sigma and their guests at Johnnie Deal's Cherokee Lodge, and the Iota Pi Nu entertained at Rushing's pond. Initiations will probably not be held until the first of next quarter.

Those who were extended bids by the Delta Sigma are Gerald Groover, Frank Olliff, B. H. Ramsey, John Thayer, Jimmie Hines, Reppard Howard, Charles Dominy, Jack Walker, Copeland Ozier, Cecil Waters, Harry Bowen and Clifton Thrash. The Iota Pi Nu's gave bids to Mell Booth, Len Lastinger, Frank Rushing, O. B. Inman, Bill Winn, Derrell Sirmons, Leroy Roughton, Tom Edwards, Copeland Ozier, and Charles Dominy.

New Leader Will Continue Plans Formulated by Former President Doris Stephenson.

Former vice-president, Helen McGarrah, has been elected president of the Y. W. C. A. since the resignation of Doris Stephenson. Miss Stephenson offered her resignation because her practice teaching required her to be off the campus all day and she would be unable to give proper time and attention to the office.

"In taking over the presidency of the Y. W. C. A.," Miss McGarrah said, "I wish to carry out the objectives stated by the former president in a previous issue of the George-Anne. It will be the aim of the organization to create a more Christian-like atmosphere on the campus; to enrich the lives of all students socially and intellectually and to create within each student the desire to lead a happy, useful life.

"I feel that since the enrollment of the Y. W. C. A. is larger than it has ever been before and that the full cooperation of the cabinet may be depended upon, we may be of real service to others this year. We appreciate the attitude the freshmen have taken toward the Y. W. C. A. and are confident that they will be greatly benefited for their time devoted to the work of the organization."

The Y. W. C. A. is planning to sponsor a drive for the purpose of aiding in the feeding and clothing of needy training school children. This will be financed by the proceeds of the Welcome to Dean Davis!

What's happened to the Oglethorpe Literary Society?

Those Lyceum attractions coming here sound mighty interesting.

Judging by the plans being made for this week end, the Bachelors Club seems to be a misnomer for those lads.

Princeton University is tackling a pretty big job when they start trying to eliminate drinking at football games. That's one problem that we don't have to worry about at our games.

Here's hoping for more chapel programs as excellent as the one put on by the students last Wednesday. As a master of ceremonies, Fred Astaire doesn't stand a chance with Kenneth England.

Congratulations to the Statesboro High School on the fine paper which they are publishing—The Hi-Owl—or as Editor D. B. Turner, of the Bulloch Times, insists on calling it, "The Hoot Owl."

Looks like T. C. is going to have to start looking around for a tactful way of dropping a hint to Santa Claus that we need a library building on the campus very badly. It's getting so that a number of students must carry chairs into the library at night so they will have some place to sit. With the increase in survey courses it becomes more and more necessary to study in the library and space facilities at T. C. are not adequate to meet the needs of the students.

THE REFLECTOR

Each year the senior class publishes the Reflector, student year book. And in the past it has truly been a reflector of college life as it is lived from day to day. One needs only to turn the pages to recall happy memories of former days.

But for the Reflector to be a complete success it should contain the picture of every student in the college. The photographer stayed on the campus for two weeks but some of the students, through thoughtlessness or neglect, did not go to have their pictures made at the appointed time. This might have seemed like a little thing to each person, but when a large number thought the same thing quite a lot of unnecessary trouble and confusion resulted.

Lillian Simmons, the editor of the Reflector, and her staff are working hard to make it the best year book ever put out at this college, but they need the help of every student.

FRIENDLINESS

Cheer up, students! Smile! Greet your fellow students with a friendly word.

Perhaps you say you are not acquainted with their names. Chances are, however, that they would like to know you and be your friends. Why not start speaking to the other students and maybe stopping for a friendly word or two.

In the past it has been the custom at T. C. to have a friendly, congenial group of students and faculty members. It is a worthwhile tradition. Let us continue it this year.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATING

What has become of intercollegiate debating at T. C.? Are the future teachers of the state of Georgia to be deprived of an opportunity to develop their talents along this line? T. C. always has and continues to be among the leading educational institutions in other forms of education. Why should it fall behind in this?

Two years ago Dr. Destler gave his services to the debaters and we had two debates. There should be someone else on the faculty who can help this year. If not, intercollegiate debating should be turned over to the literary societies and let a team be picked from them.

A number of debates can be procured. Stetson, Tampa, Florida and Georgia have open dates on their schedules. Let's get behind this and push T. C. forward among the best.

AS OTHERS TELL US

WHAT IS IT ALL ABOUT?

"We have a rendezvous with destiny." In those few words President Roosevelt issued last summer a warning and a challenge to America of today. As college students, interested in our little problems, we are too prone to forget that we are the ones who will have to come face to face with destiny. We can equip ourselves mentally in the classroom, physically on the athletic field, socially in our campus relations, and still, if we fail to inform ourselves and take a definite stand on the tremendous issues of today, we shall be mere passive on-lookers on life.

Modern science has given us such a power to make or destroy that the next war will probably wipe out civilization. In cold statistics we are told that war will come within the next ten years. If it is to be prevented, we will be the ones who will prevent it. We have had too much of abstract pacifistic idealism, and too little of militant and practical opposition to war. We must take a stand.

The world seems to hang in the balance between the extremes of Communism and Fascism. It is useless to say that our country can never come to this. Yet most of us hardly know the difference between the two. If we are to meet the issue, we must learn what the issue is.

There are many other things. Crime, with the new type of college-trained criminal, using all the facilities of modern science, challenges us. Crooked advertising is a menace. The problem of capital and labor must be solved. What do we know about them and what are we going to do about them? Unless we prepare, we are going to find that we have isolated ourselves in our little college world and are at sea when we come face to face with the great problems of today. First we must learn what it is all about if a few years hence we are going to face the responsibility that is ours. Today is the time to begin.—D. C., in Erskine Mirror.

DEAR EDITOR—

While not an appointed spokesman for the student body, I feel that in expressing my opinion, I am also voicing that of the majority regarding the opportunities for physical diversion among the students.

In our bulletin for the year mention is made of the new golf course completed in 1934, of the fine tennis courts, of opportunities for rowing and many other clean, wholesome exercises.

The government has spent a great deal of money through the CWA and other agencies to give us a golf course which is now being used as a cow pasture. The tennis courts are not kept in such shape that they can be played upon. In fact all facilities have so run down that a physical education program outside of physical education classes is almost impossible.

While we realize that the upkeep of the various sports facilities would run into a considerable sum, would it not be wise to strive to remedy the situation in regard to this? Since the object of modern education is to turn out "four-square" men it seems that facilities for physical education recreation would not only aid in a physical way, but would be a solution in part both to the social part of our life and also aid us in gaining the right mental attitude.

It has been said of T. C. in past years, that our program of physical education came closer to touching every member of the student body and aiding them more than any school in the University System. Are we able to say the same now?

G. E. A. Opposes Tax Limitation Measure; Park Gives Reasons

Hon. Orville A. Park gave three reasons why he opposed the 15-mill tax limitation amendment to the state constitution in his address before the First district regional meeting of the Georgia Education Association held here October 15th.

Mr. Parks' three reasons were as follows:

1. The revenue is needed for the schools.

2. A sales tax substitute would be unjust and inequitable.

3. The provisions would allow rich out-of-state property owners to be released from making huge sums in tax payments.

Dr. Thomas Alexander, of New College, Columbia University, made some very pointed and encouraging statements in his discussion of the "New Curriculum" before the association.

Ralph L. Ramsey, executive secretary of the Georgia Education Association, called for a fight on the part of the teachers to make Georgia a high-ranking educational state.

DRAMATIC CLUB TO MAKE DEBUT

Some time during Thanksgiving week the Dramatic Club headed by Dr. Stroup will present three plays, "The Little Shepherdess," by Andre Rivoire; "Bread," by Wilbur Braun, and an old-fashioned and highly humorous melodrama, "He Ain't Done Right by Nell."

The casts of the plays are as follows:

"The Little Shepherdess"—Florence Daley, princess; Doris Wallace, "The Little Shepherdess;" Bill McCleod, shepherd.

"Bread"—John Curtis, James Hussey, Stella Curtis, Thelma Harrison, Betty Curtis, Winona Aldred, Jim Curtis, Willard Clanton.

"He Ain't Done Right by Nell"—Nell, Winona Aldred; grandmother, Julia Reese; Vera Carleton, Audrey Clifton; Mr. Carleton, James Lynn; Mr. Hilton Hayes, Derrel Simons; Madeline Calhound, Laura Watkins; Jack Logan, John Allen.

The most unusual of the plays is "He Ain't Done Right by Nell," with its old-time villain and hisses. The players are expecting the audience to enter into the spirit of the play and hiss the villain and cheer the hero. The audience will also enjoy the subtle humor of "The Little Shepherdess" and the tragedy, "Bread."

All three plays will be presented on one bill and an evening or real entertainment is assured for those who see them.

The acid test of an individual's interest in any public work is a contribution.

Large Audience Attends Lecture By Dr. Destler

"The Dawn of Conscience," presented last Thursday by Dr. C. M. Destler, was the second of the series of lectures on the "Humanities," following Dean Z. S. Henderson's talk on "The Primitive Form of the Family," given October 8th.

In his discussion, Dr. Destler traced the development of morals and conscience in the early civilizations of Egypt, bringing to the packed audience of the lecture room a vivid picture of the conditions making up the religions and philosophies that existed in ancient Egypt.

"Pre-Homeric Art" is the title of the third lecture which will be given Thursday night by Miss Mary Small.

No scheduled date has been set but will probably appear the first week in February, according to the Dean.

Jerold Frederic, pianist and an eminent figure upon the musical horizon also, will be featured on our lyceum program for the year. The exact date for his appearance has not been made definite, although he may be scheduled this quarter.

THE TEA POT
GRILLE

Everybody had fun last Saturday night at the dance. The Tampa boys were all cute. Hickey's hopes were shattered when she found her Tampa Flash told all the girls the same thing.

There is one very happy boy on the campus from Griffin. No, not Wayne, but Jimmie Hines.

Miss Veazy's idea of clean wholesome fun was in evidence last Sunday night when the big happy family gathered around and ate apples.

What's to be done about all the cute freshmen girls that were stood up by their dates? Some upperclassmen boys came to the rescue, but their efforts to make a little time were nipped in the bud when the girls were sent to the dormitory.

Jesup's Harper was here Sunday looking for his Gussie Gluck. Did he find her? He found Miss Veazy, but he didn't succeed in getting her out of the auditorium during dates. Will the sweet soul who turned off the lights keep them off a little longer next time? Did anyone make first base in that short time?

It seems like old times now because Dot and Flash are at it again. Did you notice that they never say a word, they just sit and look at each other.

And did you hear about the break Sybil Strickland made before James Deal? Ask her about it. It's really worth hearing.

Major Cowart's better half is back at Recovery—recovering after a big week end at her Alma Mater.

DID YOU KNOW—

That George Washington married a widow who had two children, John Park Curtis and Martha Curtis?

That Washington was devoted to these children, and they loved and respected him dearly?

That the boy, John Curtis, left what is now Columbia University to get married, and later died of fever at Yorktown, while serving on Washington's staff during the Revolution?

That the girl, Martha Curtis, was an invalid, and died early in life?

That Robert E. Lee's father, Richard Henry Lee, was the one who said of Washington: "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen?"

That only one woman, John Adams' wife, was the wife of one president and mother of another president?

That her people objected to her marriage to John Adams as they thought she was throwing herself away because she stood higher socially than he?

That John Adams always began his letters to Mrs. Adams with "My dear friend"?

That Mrs. Adams hung out the family wash to dry in the East Room of the White House?

That the last words of John Adams were: "Thomas Jefferson still survives"?

Sanford Hall will be completed by December 15th, according to definite statements made by those in charge of construction work on the dormitory.

Plastering of the walls of the rooms and halls will begin this week and electrical wiring in the building has already gotten well under way.

The roof is now water-proof and shingles will be added early this week.

FACULTY LECTURES

The faculty lectures are given on alternate Thursday evenings at 7:15 o'clock in Room 5. They are sponsored by the social science and humanities courses and given by the faculty members for the purpose of stimulating interest in special divisions of subject matter touched by the courses. These lectures will not be confined to the instructors of the surveys and humanities courses but will be for others who have a special interest in some other field.

Music Club Officers Announce Program

Students of piano, voice and violin met together Saturday, October 10th, and organized a College Music Club. The following officers were elected: President, Grace Cromley; vice-president, Faye Foy; secretary and treasurer, Julia Reese; membership committee, Roy Dukes, Winona Aldred; program committee, Gladys Thayer, Horace McDougald; transportation committee, Marion Carpenter; reporter, Cora Oliver Page; hostess, Mrs. E. L. Barnes.

The purpose of this organization is to give students more opportunities to perform before other members of the club, and the public also, to further music study and to create more interest along these lines. The first regular meeting was held at Mrs. Barnes' home Thursday, October 15.

At present only music students are eligible to be members. Later other interested students will be asked to join. Regular meetings will be held twice each month. The next meeting will be held November 5th.

AN APOLOGY

In the directory of student organization officers published in the last issue of the George-Anna the Women's Athletic Association officers were omitted. They are as follows: Elizabeth Watkins, president; Laura Hickey, vice-president; Priscilla Prather, secretary and treasurer; Lillian Simmons, publicity manager.

Assistant EditorCOLLEGE WILL BE
HOST TO TEAMSTwenty-One High School Teams
Will See Teachers Play
This Season.

Twenty-one high school football teams in Southeast Georgia will be invited to attend Teachers College football games this fall as guests of the college.

Last week at the Teachers-Tampa game five high school teams and their coaches witnessed the game as guests. These were Claxton, Millen, Statesboro, Vidalia, and Emanuel County Institute. Four of the five teams that made up last week's list are coached by T. C. alumni. Cliff Hale is coaching at Vidalia, George Hagins at E. C. I., B. A. Johnson at Statesboro, and James Sullivan at Claxton.

Saturday when the Professors meet Middle Georgia College here, Reidsville, Sylvania, Swainsboro, Hinesville and Douglas will be guests. For the Gordon game Glennville, Baxley, Jesup, Lyons, Hazlehurst and Brunswick will be guests and for the Brewton-Parker game Waynesboro, Louisville, Dublin, Wrightsville and Soperston will attend in a body as guests of the college.

W. A. A. NOTES

The members of the Women's Athletic Council entertained Miss Louise McGilvery last week with supper at the Tea Pot and a theatre party afterwards.

The W. A. A. Council is busy organizing for the coming year a program that will give every girl interested in sports a chance to participate in some activity. Through the guidance of each member of the council it is hoped that more interest than ever before will be shown in tournaments and individual sports. All girls interested in the activities on the campus are invited to come out and join in making this year one of the greatest.

The W. A. Council anticipates attending the Sports Day sponsored by the University of Georgia W. A. A. in Athens, the week end of November 13th.

The W. A. A. is planning to issue a quarterly pamphlet the last of November concerning the work being done by the council.

Wednesday, a Georgia ball tournament was organized for all girls on and off the campus. This is under the direction of Louise Watkins, who is in charge of volley ball for the coming year. Much interest has been shown in this new activity and great returns are expected from the tournament.

Music Is Theme
Of 1937 Reflector

Music has been selected as the theme for the Reflector, according to Miss Lillian Simmons, editor of the 1936-37 annual.

"This theme was selected because of the emphasis that has been placed upon music at the college," Miss Simmons said.

The work on the Reflector is progressing rapidly, according to the announcement. It is hoped that the student pictures will be completed today.

TAMPA DEFEATS
BLUE TIDE 27-0

The University of Tampa football team overwhelmed the Blue Tide team by a score of 27-0 here Saturday, October 17th.

The Teachers played a good game, but were unable to withstand the powerful attack of Tampa. The visitors resorted but little to an air route so well did their ground game click, and only one of the four scores resulted from a pass.

The spectators witnessed one of the best running backs in the south in Rodriguez, who made several long runs, one resulting in a score. It seemed practically impossible to stop him for no gain, so elusive was he. Several times the Teachers seemed to have the Tampa offense checked, only to have Rodriguez get away for a first down.

Only one time did the Blue Tide seriously threaten to score. A series of passes and runs carried the ball from mid-field to the Tampa 15-yard line, only to have a Tampa back intercept a pass and run it back out of danger. At no other time did the Professors have possession of the ball within Tampa's 25-yard line.

Rodriguez was easily the outstanding star for Tampa. Riggs, Inman and Dominy played heads up defensive ball for the Teachers.

The line-up was as follows:

Tampa		Teachers
Hoy	LE	Crowe
Muench	LT	Abelson
Gunnore	LG	Estes
Clinton	C	Riggs
Tramontana	RG	Inman
Farnell	RT	Dominy
Patterson	RE	Miller
Rodriguez	QB	Lambright
Chancey	RH	Grady
Beynon	LH	Oliver
Cox	FB	Golden

"Football is Losing Some of Its Appeal," says a headline in the Savannah Evening Press. They're telling us? Looks as if ambitious young reporters can still get away with calling us the "Bon-Ami's." However, we'll bet a year's subscription to the George-Anne against the price of a good bottle of beer that within the next month they will have to find a new name for us. The law of averages is bound to see us through.

Guess you've all heard about the swimming meet down at Stetson by this time. One reason for the result being as it was is that their backs could use the Australian crawl stroke on the end runs, while our boys, using the inferior breast stroke, were left completely submerged. Another suggested cause of the defeat was the supper-colossal hotel that Coacher put the boys up in. Aside from other things, they had feather beds. At about 1 o'clock in the morning "Coonie" Riggs says to Heath, "Let's swap sides now. It's my turn to sleep on the feather awhile."

Dr. Ralph H. Crowe, M. D. (Maiden's Dream), was in hog-heaven last week at the Statesboro High-Waynesboro High football game. It all happened when the boys started on a long run and didn't stop until they had run into one of the fair young spectators and knocked her as cold as the water the Blue Tide gets to take showers with. After a big rush, Dr. Crowe got there first and scooped the damsel up in his arms. After about five minutes of the old doctor's special treatment, having had years of experience in such cases, the sleeping beauty opened one eye, took a look at Crowe's manly torso, sighed, and lapsed into the realm of Morpheus for about fifteen minutes.

As it is customary at about this time every year, we will start feeling out one thing and another about the possibilities of the football team getting sweaters this year. It is not customary to always give awards to the team. It would probably split the Athletic Association's treasury wider open than the infinitive in the above sentence, but would every other year be too often? If the cold showers keep up, maybe enough money could be saved from the coal bill to pay for them.

SO RED THE NOSE

By BOBB HARRIS

'Twas the night after the big game. Not a drunk was stirring, not even the referee. The mellow, unharmonious strains of "Sweet Adeline" soured the air which was already fragrant with the essence of corn. The tune rang out above the roar and rattle of a knocking and oil-hungry motor. Elmer, the driver, and our hero swung on to the steering wheel, which had evidently been drinking by the way it swayed. Or maybe Elmer had been partaking of refreshments because his nose and his driving both looked suspicious—Hic! . . . Now on with the story.

He pulled up to the curb in front of his home from which a light shined brightly from a window displaying the silhouette of a nervous, angry father, carrying either a baseball bat or a shot gun over his shoulder.

And so little Lord Pickled Pink pulled himself together and descended from his half fenderless and paintless wreck of a chariot and swaggered or staggered toward the steps. He balanced on the front porch with one hand and pulled off one shoe and tied a knot in the string of the other with the other foot. Hic! . . . pardon. He then fell up the steps and into the drawing room where he drew a deep breath and looked into the eyes of his father.

"Hello papa, ole boy, ole boy. . . . Why you're wobblin . . . be sh-till."

"Son, have you been drinking?"

"Shirtingly not, Papa, I have dizzy spells."

"Well, how was the game?"

"Shwat game?"

Two loud wracks or explosions rang and then silence.

Moral:

"It isn't whether your team played so hot, It's whether you remember the score or not!"

FROM ME TO YOU

Dear Bill:

So you're a picture show fan, too! I know you'll be interested in some of the pictures that are going to be here next week, and the ones coming soon.

"Stage Struck" will be here next week. The leading players are Dick Powell, who is a hard-working dance director, and Joan Blondell, a dumb husband-shooter who furnishes money for the show, and is to be its star. It sounds hot. I haven't seen it, but Jeff saw it in DeLand. He said it was real good, and that's about all I have been able to get out of him about that DeLand trip. By the way, he has a new mustache, of course, I mean Dick Powell in the picture. Let's come down to earth now, and no kidding, it's a good comedy, and you'll enjoy it.

The L. T. C.'s. held their first entertainment of the year October 14th at the Tea Pot Grille in honor of the following guests: Agnes Hodges, Alice Hodges, Lil Baldwin, Rose Lockhart, Martha Ramsey, Margaret Bell, Sarah Daley, Laverne Ainsdorf, Jewel Vandiver, Ann Breen, Dot Cromley, Virginia Hughes, Lorraine Brochet and Irene Borland. Plans are being made for a joint dance to be held at the Armory November 14th.

The next show I'll recommend is "Yours for the Asking," with George Raft, Dolores Costello Barrymore, and Ida Lupino, which will be here this week. In this picture George Raft is the handsome gambler who helps out Dolores C. Barrymore, a "lady in distress," but falls in love with a "little deivel," Ida Lupino, who really does him wrong. You had better see this picture to see how it ends, I know you will be surprised and shocked—I was.

To make a long story short, here's a list of some others you might like to see: "Suzy," with Jean Harlow, Franchot Tone, and Cary Grant. This

DELTA SIGMA

The members of the Delta Sigma fraternity entertained their guests and pledges with a picnic Saturday afternoon and night at Johnnie Deal's Cherokee Lodge. At the last regular meeting it was voted that Dr. R. J. H. DeLoach and Mr. Henry McCormick be invited to be faculty sponsors for the year. Dr. DeLoach, who acted as sponsor last year, will be honorary sponsor and Mr. McCormick will be active sponsor.
