Youssef Salhi Received a CLEC Grant

March 11, 2016

Youssef Salhi, M.A., was awarded a $2,000 Campus Life Enrichment Committee (CLEC) grant for Fall 2016. The grant will be used to host Maha Marouan, Ph.D., Associate Professor of African American Studies and Women Studies at the Pennsylvania State University.

Her work focuses on the intersection of race, gender, and religion in the construction of female subjectivities. Her most recent publications include Witches, Goddesses and Angry Spirits: The Politics of Spiritual Liberation in African Diaspora Women’s Fiction, (Ohio State University Press, 2013); a co-edited volume on Race and Displacement: Nation, Migration and Identity in the Twenty-First Century (University of Alabama Press, 2013); and a documentary entitled “Voices of Muslim Women from the US South.”

She speaks four languages: Arabic, French, Spanish, and English, and lives between three continents: Africa, Europe, and the United States of America.

Posted in Faculty, Faculty Highlights, Foreign Languages
Foreign Language Faculty Research Project Approved

March 11, 2016

Angela Pinilla-Herrera, Ph.D., and Ana Hernandez, M.Ed., had their research project approved by Georgia Southern University's Institutional Review Board.

Their sociolinguistic study aims to describe the profiles of Hispanic-origin adults living in rural and semi-rural areas of South Georgia. They will examine Spanish and English language practices, the factors that influence them, the role of social networks in Spanish maintenance, linguistic attitudes, issues of identity in relation to language use, and perceptions of various topics concerning the Latino community in the United States.

Posted in Faculty, Faculty Highlights, Foreign Languages, Research