GALA MAY DAY CELEBRATION TO BE PRESENTED FRIDAY, MAY 7

CONCLUDES WITH DANCE IN GYM

Affair Will Be One of the Most Colorful Ever Given At This College.

The May Day Pageant this year will be one of the most gala events ever presented at this college if plans now being worked out by Miss Louise McGilvery and the department of physical education are followed.

The festivities will be held in the outdoor theatre by the side of Lake Wells at 5:30 p. m., Friday, May 7. There will be five May Poles wound as part of the celebration honoring Teachers College's newly elected May Queen, Miss Verna Lassetter.

The celebration will represent a folk festival in which representatives of different nations will take part, giving a native folk dance. Russia, France, Germany, Spain, and the Scandinavian countries will be represented by the members of the physical education department. Music will be furnished by the college orchestra under the direction of Mr. William Deal.

In addition to the college students a number of the children in the Laboratory School will participate in the celebration.

The Student Council will sponsor a dance in the college Gymnasium on Friday night, May 7, in connection with the May Day celebration, which the parents of all the students will be invited to attend and join in the festivities.

DESTLER GOES TO ST. LOUIS TUESDAY

Will Read Paper Before Mississippi Valley Historical Association.

Dr. C. M. Destler, head of the Social Science Department, will leave Tuesday for St. Louis, Mo., where he will read a paper before the Mississippi Valley Historical Association. The title of his paper is "The Populist Labor Alliance of 1874 in Illinois."

The paper will be read Friday morning at the annual meeting of the association which is composed of the younger historians in American history who are devoted exclusively to American history. Dr. Destler's subject will deal with the successful effort of organized labor and the Populists to form a political alliance in the mid-nineties in Illinois.

Dr. Destler is expected to return Sunday, May 2nd.

Industrial Arts Teachers Much In Demand Since GEA

A vast increase in the number of inquiries concerning teachers of industrial arts, recently addressed to the South Georgia Teachers College Industrial Arts Department, is the result of the model shop set-up and exhibit held at the GEA in Savannah April 17, according to Dr. Hoyt H. London, director of industrial arts.

Dr. London says that there are now many more requests for teachers of industrial arts than there are teachers available.

The success of the model shop has been largely attributed to the efforts of the members of the new Teachers College Industrial Arts Club and the industrial arts teachers of Savannah. As a result of this exhibit of a model shop, many superintendents plan to add a general shop to their schools as soon as possible.

There was much activity on the part of the Teachers College Industrial Arts Department during the GEA. "The General Shop As An Agency for Human and Material Conservation," was the title of an address delivered by Mr. Ivan Hostettler, professor of industrial arts.

England Endeavors Explanation Of Education Enthusiasts' Efforts

By KENNETH ENGLAND

A group of students, who by some are termed the intelligentsia, have suddenly manifested an interest in certain aspects of our dear old alma mater, and have declared their intention of giving vent to their personal opinion (bigshot bull) one the aforementioned aspects (Ah 'spects this ain't very clear) each Thursday night.

It is my opinion that this group will only do business at the same old stand no longer than it takes certain bovine-shooting (I might even say boot-licking, but I won't because sadly enough, I am one of that number) individuals to get those elusive "A's" which so many who don't get them contend are not of any value anyway.

After this abstruse bit of philosophy, I will attempt to become more lucid in my exposition. For after all, don't we all know that anything that is hard to understand is no good anyhow. I have it on the best authority, namely those who don't understand, that this is true. "We must learn to do things with our hands." Nobody really needs any brains, and some people don't have them, you know.

The secondary purpose of this group—the primary purpose of course

Jimmie Dozier Elected President Of YMCA 1937-38

James Dozier, sophomore, of Montezuma was elected president of the Young Men's Christian Association for 1937-38 in its semi-monthly meeting Wednesday night. Other officers submitted by the nominating committee and approved by the association are as follows: Paul Robertson, vice-president; C. D. Sheley, secretary and treasurer.

Committee leaders elected for next year include William Gerkin, social; David Proctor, social welfare; Frank Mulling, vesper choir; Copeland Ozier, membership. Bill Chamberliss is pianist for next year and Bill Ware is chorister. Gesmon Neville will manage advertising for the "Y" next year.

The YMCA is sponsoring a soft ball team for the intra-mural league, and each member of the association has voted to contribute 15c for a ping-pong table to be placed in the living room of Sanford Hall. The table will be constructed by "Y" members who have had courses in industrial arts.

No nominations for officers were made from the floor.

being to get "A's"—is to discuss the features (rather worn for their age, as are certain human features much in evidence here) of the college from the viewpoint of the students. This group meets every Thursday night in the fortress of Miss Dunlap and Dr. Carruth, in the methods room in the basement, where all useless articles are given a final resting place.

Anyone who is interested in having an audience for his senseless chatter is urged (if nobody's urged the attendance will probably be nil) to come and froth at the mouth until some one else bubbles over and drowns him.

This group has as another purpose the desire to aid in the blossoming of personalities; of course, it can't help some personalities that have already blossomed too flamboyantly and are already somewhat wilted.

Those two of you who still wish to join the group after reading this essay of dejection (if more than two come next Thursday I'll know nobody read this — my noble efforts overlooked—sad end of a genius) must have calloused feelings (this is no part of the physical anatomy) and must not have big toes for they will be trod upon indiscriminately. I might even wax poetic and say with hobnailed boots, but I never was poetic and I always tell the literal truth.

CANDIDATES FOR STUDENT OFFICES MUST REGISTER BY 6 P. M. TODAY

MAY 4 IS DATE FOR ELECTIONS

Class Elections Will be Held During Chapel Hour On That Date

This afternoon at six o'clock is the deadline for the registration of all candidates for student council offices, according to announcement of Kenneth England, chairman of the election committee. All students who intend to enter the election must turn in their names to England by that time of their names will not be in-time or their names will not be in-

The election will be held May 4 to fill the following offices: President, vice-president, and secretary of the Student Council. When these three officers are elected, they will designate one of their number to serve as treasurer.

The various classes will have their election of class officers on May 4 also. These elections will be in charge of the respective class presidents.

The reason for the requirement of registration by the stated time as given by England is that the records of the candidates must be investigated and passed upon by the Student Council which meets Tuesday night. The qualifications for candidates for student council offices are: A scholastic average of "C", previous residence on the campus of one year, and the candidate must be an interested leader of students. Other minor requirements may be

BACHELORS ELECT FIELDS PRESIDENT

Fourteen Men Will Be Issued
Bids To Join the Club.

Will Hill Fields was elected president of the Bachelors' Club at a meeting held Monday night. Other officers who were elected at the same time are: Leroy Roughton, vice-president; James Dozier, secretary, and David Proctor, treasurer.

New members for the club were also voted on at the meeting. Fourteen men were selected for membership. Initiation will probably be begun during the month of May, culminating with the annual banquet and dance.

Old members of the club will be invited back for the occasion which will include a banquet at one of the Statesboro hostels and a dance at the new Woman's Club house.

Those who have been invited to join

STUDENT ELECTION

Election talk is being heard all around now. The George-Anne will not support any candidate, the only part which it will take in the election being from the news viewpoint.

However, everyone is urged to go to the polls and vote when election day arrives. There is nothing more disgusting than to hear people complain about the way student affairs are governed, when, if the truth be known, these same people were the ones who last year refused to cast a vote for any candidate.

So don't fail to go and vote for the persons you honestly believe will make the best officers of our Student Council.

WHAT COLLEGE CAN DO FOR YOU

The editor of the College Heights Herald, student newspaper at Western Kentucky State Teachers College, Bowling Green, Ky., has aptly summed up what a student has a right to expect from a college education. We quote:

"In any attempt to sum up what one has derived from college the elements of doubt, uncertainty, and mishapen interpretations naturally arise. The benefits or detriments which one receives cannot be stated numerically, they go far deeper than mere words can express. Regimentation of the mind vanishes and there develops an appreciation of the finer things in life with a consequent submergence of the baser elements of one's nature.

"Studies, music, appreciations, social activities, books, and the arts, all blend to lend to one's college life a balance and perspective which cannot be gained elsewhere. Trivialities vanish, the haziest corners of one's mind are refurnished and made to gleam while the unimportant matters that loomed so large in years past are placed within the strata where they rightfully belong—in the category of non-essentials.

"College builds the mind, the heart and the soul. Squalor, meanness, and cowardice are not the lot of one who has derived the full measure of goodness which college has to offer. Ability to use the full power of the mind, to assimilate details into an organized pattern, and to accomplish by dint of individual effort that which would have once seemed impossible are the results of attending college.

"College student—No matter what your position in life may be, no matter what your background be, no matter what your ultimate ambition may be, drain your school of all it has to offer. Neglect not to glean to the last iota all that you can as you go through school. It is an experience, a part of your life, and a worthwhile venture which cannot be recaptured once it has gone."

DIGGINGS

Mr. Leonard Kent must think he is still teaching high school by the way he has been acting up in law class.

The spring atmosphere seems to have everybody going—from the campus to the lake.

Wonder what Nell Starkey is up to now! Things looked pretty dark Sunday night.

Have you heard about Kay Brice's different loves—at least a new one a week?

We wonder how Miss Veazy likes the idea of the Little Store opening every night!

We all wonder how a senior feels when a freshman taking her boy friend away from her. More power to you, Little Mary.

Don't Cone and Mincey wish they could have toured the world with T. C.'s band!

Sue's house party romance seems to have "Gone With the Wind." She must be taking time out to develop a new line these days.

The coming election shouldn't be worrying Goat—he has the whole of Dixie behind him.

Did Jimmie and Snag have a misunderstanding or what? They both went home!

The scene is Mr. Russell's 9:15 literature class. George Carter is expounding . . . "and when the weather gets cold the alligators exude steam which to an observer appears as if the alligator was smoking." Roy Rabun, waking up at this point: "Cigars or cigarettes?"

Among the campus celebrities who were away over the week end were Bobb Harris and Harvin Mulkey, who presumably left for Vidalia. However, we have it from a reliable source that their true destination was a place called Billie, or is it Willie?

What was it that a certain professor said to Goat Oliver the other day when he was sitting on the campus with Little Audrey? Ask Audrey.

Is Bill Winn all that much interested in nature study that he must go down by the gate every day to look at the trees.

One thing that troubles us is this. Is or is not Pauline being true to Alton Settles. You can't keep up with these town girls. And it's a long time until June, isn't it Pauline?

What has Helen McGarrah been up to that she doesn't want published. We're not quite sure yet but maybe by the next edition of the George-Anne, we'll be able to give you all the details.

Henry Knight is due a word of thanks for his good work in keeping Doris' name out of the dirt column. However, if they don't continue to be good, we'll let you know about it.

I'm calling in the printer's devil,
With a good bit of haste,
To furnish four lines
To fill this space.

ODDITIES of NATURE

By BOBB HARRIS

The Praying Mantis

Will all you good brothers and sisters come up near the front, now, and join with me in a few moments of deep tho't? I take my text today from the book of nature, which is not a book at all. It is, in reality, every day life and our experiences. The pages are the "Pages of Time" and the chapters are divided according to the different phases of life. My message to you comes from the chapter on Insects. I shall use the well known "Praying Mantis" to bring out my point. Instead of preaching, I shall give a mild oration. Ah, good brethren and sisters. . .

This common and unnoticeable little fellow is known as the most devout of all the insect world. He is in a continual prayerful attitude. He gets his name from the way he "lifts his beefy arms to pray." There is no such thing as back-sliding with this creature. Fine hair-like cleats on his back feet present this. Denominations and factions have no place with him. All his fellow worshippers wear the same, simple green gown and assume identical postures. . . Arms folded under the chin and gazing ever upward. Consistency is the pass word in their apparent worship—"never a minute's let-down."

Alas! Dear friends, things are not what they seem. After a closer study of our Mantis one learns that he is somewhat of a hypocrite. His praying turns out to be "preying." His prayerful attitude is, in reality, a crouch to spring and cut his neighbor's or anybody else's throat. This deceiving little wretch even stoops so low as to eat its own mate while she or he is busy praying. There is no forgiving or reasoning in his heart. When he meets a foe it's a battle to the death. The folded hands are unfolded as quick as a flash and the sword-shaped sides are used to deal death. He continually destroys his own kind and any other insect.

Although he can't gossip and whisper, he resembles man in that his head can be turned all the way around. He uses this as an aid to gape at his fellow worshippers.

Now good brothers and sisters we'll all rise and sing the first fifteen verses of "Ain't No Bugs On Me" and dismiss.

the club are: Mell Booth, Copeland Frazier, Frank Mulling, Oris Wood, Henry Bagley, William Adams, Eli Hill, George Kinzy, Roger Carter, Howard Waters, Edward Zachert, Charles Stanfield, Thomas Shearouse and Derrel Simons.

In order to be eligible for membership in the club a student must have been in college a year, live on the campus a year, and have a scholastic average of not less than "C."

The Bachelors' Club is the oldest social organization at Teachers College. Miss Marie Wood and Miss Ruth Bolton are the sponsors of the club.

SPORTS

By LEROY ROUGHTON

Following the precedent established last summer by columnists like Walter Winchell, Dodie has this week secured the services of a guest columnist to carry on the good work in this section of the paper.

Why he got me to write the column I have no idea since about the only thing I know about sports is what I have learned in Coach Wrinkle's physical education class, and that isn't much, because, although the class meets only three days a week, I haven't been able to attend more than once each week thus far. I try to go on Monday's because usually there isn't a good picture on at the show that day or if there is it is also shown on Tuesdays so I don't miss anything.

But after getting out there and galivanting around that track on Mondays I am so sore that it takes me the rest of the week to get where I can walk.

You know, that track business is about as pointless a thing as there is. You go out there and line up and when the signal is given you start off running as fast as you can and run around that track two or three times (that is, if you're not one of those fellows like Bill Ware who carouse around and smoke old nasty cigarettes and consequently can't run around the track more than one time) and when you stop you are generally at the same place you started from. And what have you got?

There is one fellow out there that I can beat running and he is Major Cowart. And maybe I wouldn't be able to beat him if it wasn't for the fact that I race him on Mondays when he's had a nice restful week end and is just not in the mood for running very far or very fast.

Let's talk about chapel. Here's how one fellow described it:

CHAPEL

Struggle inners,
Giggling sinners;
Ancient of Days,
Absent gaze;
Speeches long,
'Nother song;
Amen.

SOFTBALL GAMES BEGIN THIS P. M.

Jeff Stewart's Team Seems To Be Best Bet to Cop Intra-mural Championship.

The intra-mural softball tournament gets under way this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the field back of Sanford Hall. Eight teams have been formed and practices have been held during the preceding week.

Jeff Stewart's team seems to be the leading contender for the championship, according to Coach Breezy Wrinkle, with the Delta Sigmas and Abie Abelson running close for second place.

Other teams which will enter the competition are as follows: J. D. Lee, Jimmie Dozier's YMCA team, Iota Pi Nu fraternity, and "Big Bear" Smith will organize two teams.

The tournament will be a double-round robin, that is, each team will play each other team at least two games before the season is closed. The schedule is being worked out by Coach Wrinkle and will be posted on the bulletin board in the postoffice. Mr. Wrinkle stated that there would be several games each afternoon and that each team would probably play three games each week until the winner is decided.

What do you sell?

Salt.

I'm a salt seller, too.

Shake.—Los Angeles Junior Collegian.

Priscilla Prather Elected President Of W. A. A. 1937-38

Priscilla Prather was elected president of the Woman's Athletic Association at a meeting held last week. Saralou Darby was elected vice-president, Ruth Clark, secretary and treasurer, and Vivie Johnson, publicity chairman.

Much enthusiasm and interest has been shown in the campus baseball tournament, according to announcement by Dora Brinson, under whose direction the affair has been staged.

The faculty team has won two games and lost one. West Dormitory freshmen have won two and lost one. Juniors and seniors have each lost one and won one. East Dormitory freshmen have lost three. East sophomores have won one and West sophomores have lost three. The cottage students have won three and lost none.

COLLEGE BAND COMPLETES TOUR

Played for Concerts At Various Schools Throughout Southeast Georgia.

The thirty-five-piece college band, under the direction of William Deal, returned to the campus Thursday after a three-day trip through Southeast Georgia, where they played at many of the schools. President M. S. Pittman and Coach B. L. Smith accompanied the musicians.

Concerts were given at the following schools: Armstrong Junior College, Ways, Darien, Brunswick, Nahunta, Waycross, Wacona, Homer, Naylor, Valdosta, Quitman, Dixie, Boston, Ochlocknee, Meigs, Pelham, Camilla, Albany, Cordele, Vienna, Hawkinsville and Cochran.

Those musicians who made the trip are: Dorothy Hodges, Horace McDougald, Gesmon Neville, Marion Carpenter, Thelma Harrison, Edward Carruth, Carleton Carruth, Lyle Williams, Ralph Kemp, Bill Sneed, Gordon Parker, Jess Faircloth, Jamie Aldred, Winona Aldred, Len Lastinger, Carrol Beasley, Robert Brinson, John D. Deal, John Allen, I. W. Bragg, Cora Paige, John Austin, Roger Holman, Frank Rushing, Carl Collins, George McIntosh, Grace Cromley, Virginia King, Paul Robertson, Mell Booth and Frank Aldred.

One of the best school bands in the state, the group was welcomed at many of their stops where they played on similar trips last year. Plans are being made by Director Deal for a trip visiting the schools of North Georgia, which will begin about May 4.

Science Association Returns to Life

With the advent of spring, and growing things, the Science Association has also undergone a renaissance. Surprisingly well-attended meetings at 8 o'clock Wednesday nights investigate and discuss the vagaries of inheritance in various plants and animals, using for experimental material a small fly known as Drosophila. These are bred and their characters are followed.

The major project during the spring is a study of science as it is taught in the various rural schools of South Georgia. The study is approached from the idea that participants are desiring to learn something of how it is done. Photographs are made of projects under way, and a compilation kept for future use.

During the past week a twenty-gallon aquarium was built for the Mannassas school under the direction of Mr. T. A. Bacon. Mr. Bacon is a frequent student on the T. C. campus and expressed an interest in aquaria which could be answered by a project that has been undertaken by the association. The aquarium was built last year, and remodeled this year. The present remodeling was a co-operative affair, with Miss Susan Anne Braswell and Miss Ardelia Mobley responsible for painting, J. O. Wengard, David Proctor, Edward Carruth and Joe Baird busy with general work, Richard Stone and Byron Gnan being the department of assembly. Mr. Charles Downs lended vocal encouragement besides a day and a half of hard work in sanding and removing old paint.

found in the Constitution of the Student Council which is on file in the office of Dean Henderson.

In an interview, England stated that he would advise all prospective candidates to check up on their qualifications before announcing their candidacy. Such investigation, he said, would do much to prevent any dissension which might arise later if it were necessary to disqualify any candidate.

The polls for the general election in which all students are qualified to vote will be in the college gymnasium. They will be opened at 8:15 a. m., May 4, and remain open until 10:15 a. m., when they will be closed to allow the members of the various classes to assemble for class elections. They will be re-opened again at 11:00 a. m. and remain open until 1:00 p. m., when they will be closed for lunch. Again at 1:45 p. m. they will be opened and remain open until 4:00 p. m., at which time they will be finally closed, according to England, who, with Eugene Bell and Roy Rabun, compose the committee in charge of the general election.

Nominations for class offices will be made from the floor. The freshmen will assemble in the college auditorium where they will elect the following officers: President, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and one student council representative.

The sophomores will meet in room 20 and elect a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and two student council representatives.

The junior class will hold its election in room 32 and elect the president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and three student council representatives.

Next year the incoming freshman class will as usual hold its class election at the end of six weeks college residence.
