Maddox highlights ceremonies dedicating Solms, Victor halls

by Sue Joyce Carson

"These buildings represent infinitely more than bricks, mortar, and steel that went into their construction," declared Dr. H. F. Robinson, Vice-Chancellor of the University System of Georgia as he presented the Solms and Victor Buildings. The two additions were formally dedicated April 21 at the steps of the Armstrong State Administration building. Speaker for the occasion the Honorable Lester Maddox reminded the audience that there is "no time to rest." "This is truly education on the go, truly education on the grow. These buildings are representative of what is taking place in education in great state." The Governor cited a number of figures on future enrollment and present attendance to more vividly show why education must expand.

In further charged that education "cannot be separated from any other segment of society," and that Georgia needs this type of progress in order to advance in industry, per capita income, employment, and opportunity.

In dedicating the two buildings, Maddox said, "Let us see that this campus, these buildings carry forth the goal of these two women and their families." Maddox also praised students at the college for being interested in learning, not in destruction.

Vctor Hall was named for Mrs. Terry Victor, co-author of Southern in Savannah, former vice-president of the Georgia Poetry Society, children's author, and noted Savannah's booster. A portrait of Mrs. Victor will hang in the hall which houses the departments of teacher education.

Dorms to be incentive in Savannah clean-up

It was announced by the Spring Cleaning Steering Committee that the incentive this year for the highest participation by Armstrong State College or Savannah State will be the construction of student housing.

Savannah State College Student Government President, Larry Sims, put forth the idea at the committee's second meeting on April 22nd. The idea was unanimously accepted and Bill VanLandingham, Chairman of the Community Development Corporation, was very much in favor of the proposal.

The housing would be available to college students at a nominal cost and management would come from a group that is associated with the winning school. All funds that are collected above the cost of repaying the mortgage would be applied to a student scholarship.

VanLandingham said in a telephone interview that he was committed to the idea and that inquiries were being made concerning design, cost and land prices. The CDC chairman added that he was pleased with the maturity of the idea and that he felt that it illustrated the desire of the students to get something lasting started.

Gene Smith, President of ASC's Student Government Association and Dick Sensenbrenner, Secretary of Student Affairs, expressed a sincere hope that this incentive would bring the Armstrong students out in force. This is the biggest opportunity that has presented itself to the school in a long time and it is something which ASC needs for its future development.

A further incentive is offered to the organization which has the highest participation on May 10th. The CDC is giving 1,000 dollars to the winning organization to be used in any way the organization wants.
EXPRESSIO OR REPRESSION

If the goal of higher education in to teach students to think and not merely to re-organize memorized facts and figures, if the college is to train students to digest information and synthesize new intellectual products, then does the institution activate this mental digestive force?

The raw material, the meal, must consist of factual information, genuine texts and lectures, but just as enzymes are required to initiate the process of digestion, so glucose to the brain to digest portion of success. The price of success is not a good grade-point average; the average is an organic, that the student was not accepted in a college or school for the sake of physical appearance, wealth, or some other abstract; the wages of such will be un- 26chola, or total neuronism.

In order to broaden the ef- ficiency of a College education universitw throughout the country, we must consider extracurricular activities. The presence of extracurricular activities allows the expression of a wide variety of attitudes and viewpoints, and so many aspects of organization on campus does not indicate that the college itself adopts that group's ideology, nor does it mean that the institution expects all members of the academic community to accept the group's concepts.

There are groups of religious students band together and ask for recognition the accep- tance of many problem, as it does not mean that the college expects all students to be devout and become devout. Indeed few people would question the importance of that group's assembly.

If, however, an association is somewhat controversial, the entire community becomes horrified, they are convinced that the college will be corrupted, and that the found- ing blocks of the community will crumble. The student, they assure, does not possess the ability to make individual judgments; he is too gullible, naive, or imma- ture to assess the situation spontaneously.

It should not be neces- sary to remind the public (student and non-student) that if these "children" were not in college, they would be working, probably married, as in Vietnam. Business provides no safeguards for the naive; salesmen do not carefully point out the fallacies of a contract, secretaries are not continually panned; babies do not say, "be careful, and read Dr. Sp..." Viet Cong don't post signs.

The point is that after high school most people are "more or less" on their own. If a person gets a job he is as "adult," but if he attempts to continue his education he often remains a child in the eyes of the community. If a college cannot teach the student to live, it must not educate, but also compensate for the four years of working experience of the employed high school graduate. The college, however, be given the freedom to proceed in that direction.

How many adults would rush out to "have an erotic"? How many persons would listen to the speech of a devout communist and become immediately converted? Few! Cannot a college student learn to analyze similar situations?

The student cannot learn if he is continually sheltered. In order not to remain gil- ble, one must know that adverse conditions exist. It would be wonderful if man- kind could ignore poverty, slums, war, filthy words, and the Atom Bomb, and by this simple action eliminate them from reality. Unfortunately, refusing to acknowledge the existence of structures in much like ignoring cancer or TB, the results are tragic.

The college therefore at- tempts to expose students to as many areas of life as possible, so that they will be blindless ac- cepted, but so that the student will be better prepared to deal with them.

The administration or the government could deal with this problem in other ways. The alternative to freedom of thought and expression in the college community is simply to teach the students what they must think. This tech- nique has been proved quite successful by the Pavlov Institute, but it seems un- likely that its product would be very useful to society.

Faculty sets-up pre-exam study

At its April I meeting the faculty voted to recommend to President Ashmore the adoption of a new academic calendar. This calendar would provide for quarters of an equal 120 day length. However, the accelerated 8 week summer quarter with its 60 quarter periods would be retained.

Mr. Bernard Comaskey, a member of the Faculty Hand- book and Calendar Committee, stated that the principal purpose of the new calendar is to attempt to eliminate the problem caused by the uneven length of quarters. He cited as one of the new calendar's virtues the provision for two four-week days before finals, which would provide the students with more time for preparation.

Comaskey stated that 9- week quarters would allow for an early date for gradua- tion, thus, the graduation date for the academic year 1969-70 would be June 2, 1970. Such an early date felt Comaskey, would allow seniors to more readily enter graduate schools of their choice after graduation. He also emphasized that the Southern Association does not require a specific number of teaching days per quarter; thus, this new calendar would meet its standards.

Campus Circle-K hosts convention for this district
The Circle-K Club of Armstrong College was the host for the Georgia District Circle-K Convention. The three-day convention was held April 15 to 18 at the new DeSoto-Hilton Hotel. At the keynote banquet on Friday night, convention chairman Ed Gray and host Chairman John Eure made welcoming speeches to the out-of-town clubs. The presentation of the Theme and objectives of Circle-K was made by John Hitchett, President of U.G.A. Circle-K. The banquet was followed by a divisional caucuses for the purpose of nominating district officers.

Saturday morning the Circle-K met in workshops and discussion groups to discuss plans for the state projects and club procedures. Workshops attended by the group included the world "tour the city and go sightseeing." Saturday night banquet was held in the Harborview Room, and had as guest speaker Lt. Governor George T. Smith of Georgia. Lt. Governor Smith forget politics for the night and gave a talk about his life at the state Capitol. After the banquet a dance was held in the Grand Ballroom. The music was by the "Rhoden Scholars." Campus restaurants were filled with Armstrong girls who served as dates for the out-of-town Circle-K members.

Sunday morning delegates voted for district officers. The new district governor and officers are as follows: Governor, Joe Jones; 1st Vice Governor, the moon Fairwell Banquet. At the end of the banquet the new officers were installed. The Circle-K, Berry Todd, received the gavel from past governor and adjourned the convention.

RECENT FEDERAL AIDS CUT FUNDS
College presidents were recently reminded about the laws on* campus. Students who are active in riots on college campuses.

The law which will apply to federal funds from students who are charged guilty of acts (including secondary statutes) by courts of law.

President Nixon said: "The purpose of this new law is to eliminate the present tactics of disruption, anyone so convicted may be deemed to have been assassinating the processes of free inquiry which are the very essence of the community which will not protect itself against such assault exhibits precious little re- spect for intellect, compared to which the issue of public order in very near to van- nisi.

The acts involved include the Higher Education Act of 1965, the NDRA act of 1968 and a wide range of other funds provided for in recent acts.

Armstrong aids Mental Health, sponsors Week
Mental health Week is being sponsored by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has scheduled a forum in four parts, one of which is being sponsored jointly with the American Psychological Association and other national organizations including Armstrong State College.

The forum is to be held by the Jewish Educational Alliance. Among these subjects to be discussed are the following: Childhood Distrust, Sinility, Alcoholism, and Sensitivity Training (presented by Armstrong State College on Wednesday April 30).

Panelists for Wednesday’s discussion were members of the Human Relations Institute, a joint venture between the Habersham YMCA Family Center and Armstrong State College.

The Mental Health Tape has been released in advance of Mental Health Week, Sensitivity Training is "one of the most effective tools that we have today..." Sensitivity Training, according to this group, is "one of the most important projects to be done in the field of person and group communication."

The Mental Health Association is an affiliate of and cooperative with United States Public Health Service and other associated agencies, both public and private. "It is supported by the foundation, and is a member of the Georgia and National Associations for Mental Health."

A traditional feature of Armstrong State College campus life will be renewed again today and tomorrow with the observance of Pioneer Days. This year will feature several new attractions as well as the usual traditional forms of entertainment that have marked the Pioneer Days festivities of the past.

Events will commence at 12:30 on the afternoon of May 1 with the official town-opening. The name of the official, who will preside over the ribbon-cutting, had not been announced as deadline time.

The first entertainment feature on tap is the "Mad- don 500," scheduled to begin at 12:45. This event, inspired by a photograph of Governor Maddox that recently appeared in Esquire, consists of a backswords bicycle race. The contest is open to all, and it is rumored that the winner will receive a bit part in the movie "Advance to the Rear."

At 1:30 the tug-of-war contest, annual feature of Pioneer Days, will be held, followed at 2:15 by judging of the best beard and most authentic pioneer dress among the students. A prize of $10 will be awarded the beard growing contest winner, and twp prizes of $5 each will be awarded respectively to the male and female winner of the pioneer-dress contest.

Today's activities will be concluded with two annual events, the pie-eating contest at 2:30 and the egg toss at 3:30.

Two main events feature Friday's entertainment. One is a concert by the Porno-Secco singers at 12:30. And the other, a new feature of Pioneer Days, is a sports car race, scheduled for 3:00 p.m.

The Porno-Secco singers are Columbus recording artists. The duo, Susan Taylor and Don Williams, have recorded such singles as "Time," "I Can Make it With You," and "Look what you've done." They have three LP's to their credit: "Time," "I Can Make it with You," and "Shadow of time." Taylor and Williams are accompanied by Teddy Trigg on guitar and Bud Campbell on bass. Their concert is scheduled to be held on a bash shell which has been rented for the occasion by the Savannah Art Association.

The sports car race will be composed of student drivers, who will prove regulation sports cars. The race will be held in a roped off section of the parking lot of the college. Entrance requirements for students who wish to participate in this contest will be announced at a future date.

Many student organizations will participate in this year's Pioneer Days by setting up various kinds of booths during the two days. And, unlike the past practice, this year these organizations will be free to use the money they make from their respective projects for whatever purpose they desire.

One booth that has traditionally been a source of participation and particular interest during Pioneer days will again be part of the festivities. This is the dunking machine, sponsored by A Phi Aups which affords frustrated students an opportunity to satisfy their impressed hostile desires by dunking the particular faculty member of their choice.

H. G. D. Munden of the latter are a dairy exchange, sponsored by Delta Chi; a "Dry Martini" with sandwiches sponsored jointly by Delta Phi Upsilon and Phi Kappa Theta; a water-balloon toss, sponsored by the Baptist Student Union; a "Little Red Schoolhouse," sponsored by the Student Education Association; and a General Store, sponsored by the Wesley Foundation.

Pioneer Days chairman Richard Mangan expressed an expectation that this year's activities would be the most varied and entertaining yet to be held for this annual event.

Citing the various innovations in this year's format, Mangan went on to express the hope that the student body would respond favorably to these forms of entertainment and participate in them in order to insure a successful campus activity.

PIONEER DAYS SET TO EXPLODE IN ACTION

The Porno-Secco singers will give a concert Friday, May 2 as part of Pioneer Days.
Student Center construction scheduled to end in August

The new student center building is scheduled to be completed in August and should be fully operational by the beginning of fall quarter. This new dining area will provide three times the service capacity over the dining area of the present student center. This expected increase in size will be enhanced by the fact that persons using tables for eating and the like will be in the old student center. The dining area will be opened at 10 a.m. in the morning and will close at 2:30 so that it can be cleaned and made ready for dances and banquets. The front lobby will be a formal lounge area and will include a coat room for users.

Delta Chi goes national Phi Mu

Delta Chi has recently been accepted by Phi Mu as the Kappa Omicron chapter. The chapter was initiated on April 9 at the home of Mrs. Pulfer Dearing. Phi Mu, the first national sorority on the Armstrong State campus, held its first national meeting in Chicago several members by the Statesboro chapter.

On April 19 the chapter resumed its function as a national chapter. The four new members are among the national members along with the members of the Statesboro chapter.

Government workshop to aid college communications gap

Ten Armstrong State students have been selected to attend the Student Workshop of State Government May 9 in Atlanta where 500 Georgia college students will confer with Georgia legislators.

According to Ed Bacon, chairman, the purpose of the workshop is to establish a closer communication between government leaders and Georgia's student population, and to encourage student involvement in state government.

The following Armstrong students will attend the workshop: Bob Butler, Joe Kelley, Nick Childs, John Leffler, Garry Evans, Francesson Snderson, Don Graver, Jim Pinard, Tom Lovett, and John Eure. The students were selected as a cross-section of the college.

Pinter production set as May 14-17 offering

"The Homecoming," play by Harold Pinter, will be presented by "The Masquers" from Armstrong College May 14-17.

The students of Armstrong have already been in contact with the cast of the play. Harold Pinter when three years ago Frank Chew directed the "Birthday Party." The following year saw the presentation of "The Caretaker" as well as many sketches by the same author.

Harold Pinter is a London-based playwright who has among other distinguished bring British theater. Pinter is closely concerned with two problems of the modern theater and the failure to have meaningful communication. The story of "The Homecoming" is as follows: Max, Andy Harrison, Sam, Jerry Leney, Rod Ferguson, Teddy, Charles Edwards, Joy, Clay Doherty, the only American character Ruth is interpreted by Yvonne Tenney. The play is a family story, the story of a family who lives in a house where one son who comes back from America to meet his wife. From this meeting came unusual and surprising events.

In an election characterized by several firsts, the Students of Armstrong State College voted a little better than 1.5 - 1 for John Eure as SGA president for the 1969-

70 school year. Eure was third highest vote-getter in an election that saw a record 497 students turn out at the polls. Don Graver, newly elected SGA treasurer, got his opponent, Albert Lodge, 317 to 150, in gaining the most votes cast for any office. The vice-presidential race was somewhat closer with Francis Berry out-polling Mike Heremes 298-215. Eure, with a total of 288ballots, received more votes than Bill Hagen (80) and Richard Hillman (150) combined. The Student Conduct Code was approved by the student body by about a two-to-one margin 300-137.

The election was also characterized by the largest total number of candidates to have run for office in ASC's history as a senior college. The results of the seminaries follow:

Pirates split two-gamer with Valdosta’s Rebels

Showing signs of definite improvement, the Pirates split a doubleheader with the Rebels of Valdosta State at Grayson Stadium on April 15th. ASC lost the conference opener but came back to win the nightcap, 3-2.

In the first game, the rebels scored in the third and sixth innings. Dan Petrovich, the third ASC pitcher, drew first blood with a lead-off home run in the top of the third frame. The other scorers were Johnny Sturman and Sam Jarrett, the Pirates scored one run in the fifth and added another in the seventh when Lee Rabon, the ASC catcher, scored on the second run of the inning.

In the second game, the rebels scored two runs in the top of the fourth as Craig Courtney’s triple.ASC threatened in the fourth when they loaded the bases with only one out. The inning ended without a Pirate run as Ted Dandridge hit into an unusual double play. He hit the ball to the pitcher who threw out David Smith, the lead runner, at the plate. The Valdosta catcher then threw Dandridge out at first to end the inning.

Petrovich went the rest of the way for the Rebels to collect the win. Dandridge was tagged with the loss. Ray Kellett and Bill Haggie led the Pirates at the plate with two hits apiece. The Pirates used the pitching of Dennis Pruitt and timely hitting of Ray Kellett and David Smith to pick up the non-conference victory.

Armstrong State College won its first run in the second inning when Bill Haggan, walked, stole second and scored on Larry Leadford’s single through short. The Rebel run came in the top of the seventh frame with one out as ASC came back with two out in their half of the seventh inning when Lee Rabon scored on Kellett’s single to left and Doyle Kelley, running for pinch hitter David Lawrence, scored on Smith’s single to center to end the game.

Pruitt got the win to even his record at 3-3. The Pirates are now 6-11 on the season and remain in fifth place in the conference. Four high school seniors win cheerleading posts

Four high school seniors were elected to become members of Armstrong State College’s cheerleader squad for the 1969-1970 in Spring tryouts that were held on April 14th.

Seven girls tried out in the competition that was designed to judge individual and team ability in several areas to include voice projection, poise and jumping. The girls had been practicing under the auspices of the 1969 cheerleaders.

The four competition winners were Marlene Moody (Savannah High), Delores Gibson (Windsor Forest), Susan James (Savannah High), and Pam Keller (Windsor Forest). Miss Keller was the most impressive to the judges with her poise and confidence.

Miss Keller, by virtue of the fact that she received one point less than a perfect score and was the high point getter, was selected as captain.

The judges were Miss Sylvana Sanders, Miss Ellen Matthews, Miss Pat Smith, Coach Bob Bachman, Coach Larry Tapp, Mr. Joe Buck and Dick Sanders. The discerning of the judges was that the girls have very high potential of becoming fine college cheerleaders.

There will be an additional tryout in the fall at which time the other four positions will be filled. In addition, any boys who are interested are urged to tryout at this time.

The addition of males to the cheerleader squad will vastly increase the number of things that can be done.

Green signed by ASC as scholarship player

Armstrong State College signed its first player of the 1963 recruiting season on April 11th in a ceremony in the Administration Building.

Lance Green was the recipient of the scholarship. Green is a 5-10, 150 lb, guard from Lafayette High School, Lafayette, Louisiana. He averaged 13 points a game last season in class AAA ball and led his team to the State tournament. Green also plays baseball, hitting .300 last year and is a high jumper on his school’s track team. He indicated that he will play both basketball and baseball while at Armstrong.

When asked why he signed Green, Athletic Director Bill Alexander replied that “he’s a real blue-chip—an excellent student and athlete. He has maintained a B plus average in college prep courses throughout high school. We’re looking for him to take over the ‘quarterbacking’ of the Pirates after Danny Stell graduates.”

In an interview before the signing, Lance said that the reasons he chose ASC over the other three schools that offered him scholarships that Armstrong was a small school with good academic standards and that he felt he could play a lot of ball here and abroad.
