Freshmen Elect Rutherford Prexy

Spirited Race Calls For Run-Overs;
Only Treasurer Is Elected on First Ballot

In a run-over held Friday, Nov. 13, between Jack Rutherford, of Nashville, and Thomas Harrell, of Mitchell, Rutherford was elected president of the freshman class by a slight majority. At the same time Dekle Banks, of Statesboro, defeated Harold Moore, of Gordon, as vice-president. Venice Thigpen, of Summit, was named secretary over Robert Groover, of Statesboro, and Bill Cheshire, of Ashburn, was elected Student Council representative, defeating Frances Groover, of Statesboro.

In the primary election on Thursday, November 12, John Darley, another Statesboro student was elected treasurer, defeating Wynelle Nesmith, also of Statesboro.

The first election resulted in the elimination of Jane Bateman, running for president; Beverly Edwards, seeking the office of secretary, and Bill Scott as a candidate for a Student Council position.

In the race for vice-president between Moore and Banks, Thursday's balloting resulted in a tie. Results of Friday's run-over gave Banks a very small majority.

A very spirited and close race was witnessed for every position. In many instances the winner could not be determined until the last vote was counted.

Joe Feaster was elected senior class Student Council representative over Harry Robertson by a small majority.

It Happened In Sanford

By SAM STEPHENS

This was supposed to be an editorial, but here I sit at midnight on Saturday wiping cobwebs out of my eyes, listening to a shrill voiced announcer telling how to get instant relief from ulcerated stomach and inspiration refuses to come.

Someone sticks his head in the door and wants to start a poker game, but my last week's allowance was gone three weeks ago, my credit gone four weeks, so I graciously declined.

In the shower room the second-floor quartet begins to swing out with "Sweet Adeline," and in a few moments somebody yells, "Quiet please, I'm sleeping." Somebody else yells, "What in the *!(?!)* do you mean sleeping this early?," and the first is immediately jerked out of bed. A scuffle ensues and in a few minutes Aunt Sophie can be heard running up the steps to put her boys back on the right track of life.

An hour of peace and quiet rules during which time I listen to the romantic crooning of Saturday night hillbillies.

Soon, however, the storm breaks. A party returning from town finds their rooms swarming with pink elephants and purple ducks roosting calmly on their beds. It requires much shouting and running to clean their rooms of the invaders.

After this much time and effort is required to slow the bed down enough to permit the owner to crawl in. I breathe a sigh of relief now that the first shift is over. Just as I prepare for bed someone returning from Strick's and other miscellaneous places, comes in, feeling that it is his patriotic duty to tell me that I have no better friend on the campus than he. Having heard these Saturday night orations before, I dreamingly whistle, "I Love You Truly." Before the imbibor has left I have loaned

Former Lab School Prof Writes Article

McLendon Now Teaches Science At Armstrong

In a recent issue of the Georgia Education Journal, Alvin L. McLendon, former G.T.C. Lab School science instructor, who is now head of the science department of Armstrong College, Savannah, issued a challenge to all science teachers of today.

McLendon pointed out the fact that never before has science been challenged as during this crisis. He says to all science teachers: "No matter what science we teach, or in what grades we teach, we must kindle a consciousness of our own and our country's needs, and teach the things which will aid in meeting these needs."

The former T.C. instructor added that he realizes that each science teacher cannot do everything, but "He can select activities which will be most suitable for war time routine."

He suggests that students put their knowledge into practice by co-operating with the Red Cross.

McLendon closes his message by saying: "This is a scientific war. If science teachers don't keep pupils interested, and teach them more, then they aren't serving their nation as they should."

him seventeen cents (my roommates), a used razor blade, three fags, a cloth to clean his shoes, and promised to wake him up in time to go to church.

I finally get to bed and to sleep. Hardly have I been laid in the arms of Morpheus when along comes someone waking me wanting to know if I want them to wake me in time to go to breakfast. As it is now 4:30 a. m., I reply: "— breakfast and you too. Now get the — out of here."

I am then called an ungrateful so and so, but oh, well, I never did like that guy anyhow even if he did once loan two bits to a cousin of a girl I knew when I was in high school.

Completed disguised I lock the door, let up the transom, stuff the keyhole and cover up with three blankets and two chairs.

And yet some people wonder why we can't catch up on our sleep and work on week ends.

NOTED SPEAKER TALKS TO STUDENTS

Dr. Anthony Is Regular Visitor Here

Dr. Bascom Anthony, outstanding Methodist minister, spoke to the students and faculty here Thursday at a special general assembly.

Dr. Anthony, who retired from active service as a pastor several years ago, has been visiting the college here once or twice a year for several years. In the past he has spoken to the summer session students as well as during the regular sessions.

The noted minister, who for many years lived in this section of the state, talked to the students Thursday on the meaning of the word "educate." His talk which was filled with humor was happily received by the students.

On Wednesday night, before speaking at the college on Thursday, he spoke at the Methodist church in Statesboro. Dr. Anthony is known throughout the state for his religious writing in several of the state papers.

LIBRARY ACQUIRES NEW BOOKS

Twenty-Three Best Sellers Added Last Week

During the last few days twenty-three new books have been purchased for the library rental shelf. Most of these books are current best sellers, according to Chas. H. Stone, head librarian, who supervised the purchase of the books.

For those who go in for deeper reading, Stone especially recommends "Assignment in Brittany," by Macenness; "Sabotage," by Sayer & Kahn; "They Were Expendable," by White, and "Days of Ofelia," by Diamant. For those who prefer lighter reading the library offers "Get Thee Behind Me," by Spence; "See Here, Private Hargrove," by Manor Hargrove, and a mystery story, "The Case of the Careless Kitten," by Gardner.

All of these books are now catalogued and available for immediate use.

A new feature which the library staff is adding is the placing of all new books on a special shelf at the left of the loan desk. This is not a picked group of departmental books, but is made up of all new books acquired. Heretofore each new book as soon as it arrived was placed on a shelf with other related material. This new system, however, will give students and faculty members a chance to see exactly what is new in the library. The books will stay on this special shelf about a week.

B.S.U. Has Delegates At Macon Meet

Baptist Students Will Have Party Next Week

Georgia Teachers College had two delegates to the State Baptist Student Union Convention held in Macon on November 6, 7 and 8. They were Lewis Hinely and Sam Stephens. At this convention were over 200 students from thirteen different colleges of Georgia.

Some time this week, the local B.S.U. will sponsor an informal party at the Baptist church. All students on the campus who are Baptists, or those who have shown preference for this church are invited. The exact date will be announced later. The purpose of this party is to get all Baptist students together in an "all-out" effort to improve church and Sunday school attendance. It is hoped that a large number of students will plan to attend. It is an annual affair and has always proven one of the most enjoyable events of the year.

ANNUAL DEAN'S REPORT RELEASED

Reveals That 50 Grads Won Advanced Degrees

Out of 721 graduates who have received degrees from Georgia Teachers College since 1929 (when the first degree was awarded) approximately 50 have received advanced degrees from other institutions, the seventh annual Dean's report, released over the week end, revealed.

The first graduating class in 1929 had four graduates. By 1934 the number jumped to 26; in 1936 there were 54; in 1938 there were 96, with the largest class in 1941 showing a total of 120 degree graduates. The report shows that the first normal diploma graduates were in 1926 and the first junior college in 1934. The first summer school graduation was held in 1941. The total number of graduates since 1926 is 1,284.

The following graduates have received advanced degrees since leaving Georgia Teachers College: W. R. Alexander, M. A.; Eugene Bell, B. Pharmacy; Knapp Boddiford, M. A.; Sidney Boswell, M. A.; J. D. Cherry, M. A.; Mrs. Cherry Waldrop Clements, M. A.; Johnny Cox, M. A.; Albert Deal, M. D.; Hazel Deal, M. A.; William Deal, B. M.; George Donaldson, M. A.; Elizabeth Edenfield, M. ## MID-TERM REPORTS MADE BY DEAN

One-Fourth Students Receive Unsatisfactory Reports

Twenty-five per cent of the students enrolled here at Teachers College received unsatisfactory reports on the first half of the fall quarter's work, it was revealed by the dean's office last week.

This is a slightly higher percentage than the average for the fall quarter for the past four years. The fall quarter of 1939 listed twenty-two percent of the total enrollment as receiving unsatisfactory reports. Fall quarter of 1940 shows 23 per cent, 1941 as 22 per cent, and the first quarter mid-term reports of 1942 shows an increase to 25 per cent.

Among those receiving unsatisfactory reports, ten students received two, and four students were doing unsatisfactory work in three courses.

The percentage listed for four years shows that the figure is approximately the same over a period of years, regardless of the size of the See MID-TEM, page 4

A touch of mysterious Orient will be evident when the Masquers present the stage adaption of James Hilton's best seller, "Lost Horizon," in the college auditorium Monday night, November 29, at 8:30.

The scene of play is in a Tibetan lamasary in Shangri-La, the mythical Garden of Eden from whence came, according to the Japanese who misinterpreted one of President Roosevelt's statements, Capt. James Doolittle and his American flyers to bomb "rising sun" cities.

The plot revolves around the conflicting forces which are presented when an airplane bearing three Englishmen and an American crashes in the valley of Shangri-La. With the promise of a long life of happiness and leisure before them if they remain in Shangri-La, the four react to the Chinese culture in a way that has made "Lost Horizon" a favorite with audiences throughout the nation.

With a superb cast playing under the direction of Miss Mamie Jo Jones, and aided by weird lighting and sound effects, the Masquers promise to keep, literally speaking, everyone on the edge of his seat.

The cast is as follows: Conway, "Red" Prosser; Mallison, Parrish Blitch; Helen, Jane Bateman; Chang, Hargaret "Pop" Raulerson; Miss Brinkelow, Beth Stanfield; Barnard, Harold Waters; the High Lama, Tiny Ramsey; Lo Tsen, Venice Cifton; Ailing, Nancy Wardlaw; Myra, Sue Breen; Elizabeth, Martha Wilma Simmons; Wyland, Dekle Banks; Rutherford, Richard Starr; a Tibetan, Jimmy Gunter.

Costumes are in charge of Dot Remington; Leila Wyatt heads the make-up committee; properties will be handled by Sue Breen and staff; Wayne Culbreth will serve efficiently again in the all-important job of stage manager, and the lighting effects will be supervised by Jimmy Gunter.

"Lost Horizon" is produced by special arrangement with the Dramatic Publishing Co., of Chicago.

NAT'L BOOK WEEK OBSERVED HERE

Lab Schools Have Display

The young people's department of the library is presenting the annual National Book Week from November 15th to 21st, featuring the theme, "Forward With Books."

The Elementary Laboratory School has arranged several displays on tables in the basement of the library. One concerns books of the United Nations. This theme is carried out by posters with native costumes of the various nations and flags of twenty-nine United Nations displayed. There is also a display of books written about the different nations.

Another display is made up of books and pamphlets on the war containing information about the various branches of service and the school's part in the war.

"Good Books, Good Friends," is the heading of another display by the grammar school. Also presented is the "Land of Make Believe." This is a doll show and one of the dolls will be crowned "queen of the fairies."

There will be a display of books from all the fields of knowledge and students are asked to vote on their favorite book.

The Lab High School will exhibit model airplanes.

LETTER TO SERVICE MEN

The George-Anne has received a number of letters from ex-students of Teachers College who are now in the various branches of the armed services expressing appreciation for the copies of this paper they have been receiving. They also ask that we continue the policy of printing service addresses, a column which began in the last issue, as an aid to them in renewing college friendships via mail. They say that even though service addresses change frequently, letters are always forwarded to the new address.

We are glad to receive these letters, and want you service men to consider the George-Anne as a personal letter from every student at your Alma Mater. We would like for all of you to continue sending us addresses of service men that have not already been printed.

SOCIAL CLUB SITUATION

Looking over news coming in from social clubs this week, I count nine active or existing, social clubs, fraternities and sororities on the campus, holding charters authorizing their functioning.

In the constitutions of every one, it is stated that organization was for the prime purpose of promoting scholarship, fellowship, good will among students, and various other ideals for the advancement of closer relationship between students and faculty. When these purposes are being achieved, social clubs are a distinct asset to any campus.

As personal opinion expressed not only in this column, but as stated to me by other students and some of the faculty who have thought on this situation, the number of clubs on the campus is far too large, considering the small student body this year, unless every club breaks down some of its clannishness and prejudices and sets out to achieve those ideals set forth in their constitutions.

The Pan-Hellenic is commended for its joining of sororities and having their dances together and not as individual clubs. The Bachelors made another step in the desired direction last week when they threw open the doors to their Cabaret and invited all students to come, with or without dates, and without cost.

It is not the business of the administration to make changes in the existing club situation. It will have to be the students. As social clubs, there has been a start in what some say is the desired direction, but it would be well if these moves were accelerated, and thought about more seriously during this year of small enrollment.

Just One Way

By HARRY ROBERTSON

AT THE STORK

Last Thursday night I made my way Down to the Bachelor's Cabaret. I entered the door and amid furs and sable A garcon escorted the way to a table. Two orchestras played, and my date and I danced To one, then the other, I felt so entranced That when "Rock" started beating it out on the drums I let loose with a Planters, a Rook's Riskey of Rum, And I spun on the floor after trying Grandad; Yet Brannen's Blue Moon was the best that I had. It turned out to be a dance "fit to please." The singing was fine but I'll take the the strip tease!

SKELETON WHO'S WHO

An interesting sidelight to who's who happened last week when it was announced that a creaky Emory skeleton was awarded the coveted honor of who's who.

It came about by a campus wag turning in the name of E. G. Dooley and listing his merit for W.W.A.S.A. U.C. Imagine if you can, how gleefully he banged his bones together when he heard he'd achieved fame.

Six students at T. C. and students at colleges and universities all over the country were honored as Dooley was. Several papers gave prominence of the story. A Miami Daily editorial writer stated that the knowledge of such an error would tend to lower student ego. If the writer should see the crestfallen attitude his ego would probably suffer justly.

DISC WHIRLIGIG

We're agrog over a certain man whose measurements are quite up to standard. He's "Mr. Five by Five." "There Are Such Things" is rapidly taking the limelight with "Serenade in Blue." Tommy Dorsey has the best recording. "White Christmas" continues to hold forth on the hit parade. "Move It Over" is a comical song making the rounds currently, though it doesn't quite make sense. Let's not overlook "Manhattan Serenade" (try Harry James) and "Juke Box Saturday Night" (look at Glenn Miller's version).

SUGGESTION DEPARTMENT

The Student Council needs a complete set of rules governing elections. Too many boners and misunderstandings have arisen already this year to continue without them. At present there are no fixed rules concerning the ballot, voting place, time, announcement, etc. . . . Another important issue is the chapel attendance twice weekly. Last year attendance was dropped to twice a week, giving the faculty Monday and the students Friday. Friday's chapel period was to be in charge of the Student Council, yet so far we have not seen one student program. Why not let the students have one chapel period each week, reduce the chapel period to one, or discontinue compulsory chapel attendance. We won't even mind called exercises providing the speaker is as interesting as Bascom Anthony. A spittoon might be needed, however, as a permanent stage fixture.

Through The Keyhole

FLASH! Somewhere on T. C. campus: LOST—Maisie's heart, enroute from treasure chest of Henry Spier to inner sanctuary of Percy Harvey.

Jesse Hamby decided long ago that he doesn't like girls who tease.

We can't tell you about Helen Thigpen, as column space is limited.

Five letters in one day, and from her husband too. More power to you, Winona.

Rev. Edwards says, "Oh, what must I do to please them," and she sees Dekle slowly slipping from her clutches.

Blalock is competing with strong opposition. Just ask Agnes and Edwena; or better still, ask Wallace and B. L.

Virginia Lovett is grabbing at straws again. Let's hope Denver proves a substantial straw.

Derman Hartley has placed his name on the social register at Stilson. He is replacing Blalock, of the Blalock, Brannen and Rooks social team.

The Ellison-Rutherford match seems to have lost some of its flame. We wonder why?

Advice to freshman boys: Don't the hearts of our boys at war. That is worse than sabotage.

Advice to freshman boys: Don't shoot a line to the girls, 'cause they will get it sooner or later!

Have you ever been in love. Neither has Faye Jones, but she would like to be.

Our choice of Alumni Cassanova's is Sailor Boy Lee Williams.

Walter Johnston was in somewhat of a seventh heaven last week end. Quote: "The shortest week end I ever floated through." Unquote.

Tillman's girl is always saying to him, "Stop looking at her." Stop looking at who and why, Virginia?

Mildred Nancy Wardlow and Tiny—Boy! oh, boy!

It is bad indeed that the dirt from the Bachelor's Cabaret could not appear in this issue. The Bachelors always have the choice and distinctive dirt wherever their socials are held. We must close our eyes to further dirt, but if you didn't make headlines this issue, look out for next time.

Thanksgiving—War Style

In a little over a week we will be going home for Thanksgiving holidays. Even though our country is in the midst of a world war, let's pause long enough on November 26th, to realize that we have many things to be thankful for. While many of our so-called pleasures have been curbed, it is well for us to remember that we can still go to church on Sunday and worship according to our choice and conscience. When we hear the roar of an airplane above, if we notice it at all it is with idle curiosity, and not with fear that tons of deadly bombs will come hurtling down upon us.

We can go to bed at night without being afraid of being awakened by air raids unless it be a practice alarm.

When we go to a grocery or department store, our purchases for the most part, are determined by our needs and the family budget—not by orders from a selfish and ruthless dictator.

With 95 per cent of the world involved in this war, it is something to be thankful for that we live in a country which is on the side that stands for law and order, liberty, equality before man and God, and Christianity.

When you go home next week, don't forget these things. Don't just say "I am glad I have these things." Show that you are truly thankful by your conduct during these holidays. Keep your celebration sane, safe and sober. Refrain from things which will prove too expensive. Avoid traveling except when absolutely necessary, and don't get mad at the bus company when you have to stand up. Get mad at Hitler, Hirohito and Co. Take out your anger in buying war bonds and stamps and co-operating with anything your government asks.

Remember that each time you do that you are helping to set the "Rising Sun"—and brother, that's something to be thankful for.

Unsatisfactory Reports

Elsewhere in this paper we have given you the dean's report at mid-term. Unsatisfactory school work has no place in this war. Maybe we were wrong when we said that the student body of Teachers College was backing the war effort.

Our government has thoroughly stressed the importance of seriously and conscientiously pursuing scholastic activities as necessary to the successful carrying on of the war. Yet, despite this plea by our government, one out of every four students on this campus is doing unsatisfactory work in at least one course. Perhaps many of you will say, "But why all the fuss; after all this is no higher percentage than is usual." This is entirely true. Statistics show that in the past several years, 25 per cent of the students were doing unsatisfactory work at mid-term. But, students, you must realize that these are not normal times, so please do not try to compare the present figures with those of the past.

This is one of the greatest student problems facing us today. It can be solved only by the students as individuals. If everyone will comprehend the situation and realize that by doing unsatisfactory work he is a "bottle-neck" to the war effort, I believe we can entirely eliminate unsatisfactory reports from the school's program. If you believe it, then we will do it.

Too Bad, Tojo

We're young, Tojo. We were born in the seventeenth century and yours was an old nation at that time. Maybe America is still too young, too innocent, to conceive of the brazen trickery and two-faced deal you handed us a year ago. But we have a temper, Tojo, and there's a few things you forgot to consider before you aroused our ire with that bully stab in the back.

With a little reflection you've remembered them, though. You forgot that we're great-grandsons of the men who instigated universal freedom—those patriots of 1776. We're grandsons of another fight for freedom—the one we call the Civil War. We fought that one out among ourselves, Tojo, but we decided once and for all that we wanted universal freedom within our boundaries regardless of race or creed. We're sons of the Marne, Chateau Thierry and Argonne Forest, and we're experienced and tough.

You've recalled these things since Pearl Harbor, though. You met us in the foxholes of Bataan, or Corregidor and on the Coral Sea, and we'll tangle more freely in coming months. Too bad you forgot who we are, Tojo.

Dean Speaks To Bugger Daggers

Dean Zack S. Henderson addressed the members of the Bugger Dagger Club Wednesday night, using for his subject, "Economic, Political and Social Set-Up After the War." He commended the Bugger Daggers for their persistent high scholastic average.

W. B. Moye, faculty sponsor of the club, and Abbie Mann, student sponsor, were present at the meeting. Zeke Daughtry, president of the club, introduced the speaker.

Delta Lambda Delta

Among the delightful affairs given by the college crowd was the rush party Wednesday afternoon by the Delta Lambda Delta social sorority at the home of Miss Pruella Cromartie on South Main street. A unique form of entertainment centered around a "First Aid" theme. Refreshments consisted of assorted sandwiches, potato chips, mints and Coca-Cola. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Neil are sponsors for the sorority. Miss Cromartie is president, and Miss Katherine Ellison vice-president. Rushes invited were Misses Nancy Wardlaw, Beverly Edwards, Jane Bateman, Ruth Johnson, Margie Parkerson, Hattie Swan, Margaret Bunn, Betty Jo Rocker and Velma Rocker.

The Delta Lambda Delta sorority entertained with a formal banquet at 7:30 o'clock Friday, November 13th, at the Jaekel Hotel. Those present were Mrs. R. J. Neil, sorority sponsor; Pruella Cromartie, president; Kathryn Ellison, vice-president; Jane Bateman, Marguerite Bunn, Beverly Edwards, Ruth Johnson, Margie Parkerson, Betty Jo Rocker, Hattie Swan and Nancy Wardlaw. After the banquet the rushes each made a recording on the back of the record on which the invitations were sent.

Delta Sigma News

As their fall quarter social the Delta Sigs have planned a picnic at Booth's pond, followed by a card dance at the Woman's Club.

At the club's last regular meeting, the student sponsor, Leila Wyatt, entertained with a delicious chicken supper which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

HOME EC CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Plan To Open Red Cross Bandage Room on Campus

The Home Economics Club at its regular meeting last week elected Hattie Swann as its president for the current school year. At the same meeting plans were discussed concerning the establishment of a Red Cross bandage room on the campus.

Other officers elected were Juanita Wyatt, vice-president; Josephine Griffin, secretary; Faye Jones, treasurer, and Helen Thigpen, publicity treasurer.

Committees appointed by the club included the following:

Program Committee—Juanita Wyatt, Christine Carr, Jean Powell and Hazel Donaldson.

Publicity Committee—Virginia Gilder, Lillian Waters and Billie Harrell. Social Committee—Jeanette Sears, Emily Gordon, Jeanette Browning and Frieda Funderburk.

War Committee—Hattie Swann, Faye Jones, Josephine Griffin, Jean Hendrix.

Duties of the war committee are to see about girls doing sewing for soldiers and refugees, establish a Red Cross bandage room at the college, and boost the sale of defense bonds and stamps.

Miss Ruth Bolton, sponsor of the club, stated that she had applied to Red Cross headquarters for permission to open the bandage room on the campus but as yet had received no answer.

The plan, which met with the approval of the entire membership, if approved by the Red Cross, will allow girls to devote their spare time to wrapping bandages. Heretofore, girls who wanted to wrap bandages have been going to town, but it is believed that a unit on the campus will encourage more participation.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

It's not a pleasant picture to contemplate, but War calls for "blood and sweat and tears." And the Army Medical Corps, with its efficient nurses and its volunteer Red Cross "Angels of Mercy," needs thousands of surgical beds for field and base hospitals on every front.

These beds cost approximately $22 each. They are the latest thing in modern hospital beds, with elevating springs. In some instances surgical cots are used in temporary field hospitals and there is a folding bed which may be used in ambulances. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps can buy many of these beds for the Army. You'll sleep better if you know our boys have every hospital comfort. Buy War Bonds every pay day. Invest ten percent of your income.

FORMER STUDENT RECEIVES "WINGS"

Everett D. Loosier Advances In Navy

The name of another T.C. student was added to the roster of Georgia men now serving their country as flying officers in the navy's air forces when Everett D. Loosier, Thomaston, Ga., was awarded his "wings" and commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla., recently.

During brief commissioning ceremonies, Ensign Loosier was commended upon his successful graduation from aviation cadet ranks by Capt. John D. Price, commandant of the Jacksonville Naval Air Station.

Ensign Loosier completed his elimination flight training at the Naval Reserve Aviation Base in Atlanta, Ga., before reporting to Jacksonville in April.

While studying navy flight technique at Jacksonville, Loosier took ground school courses in addition to practical experience repairing aviation motors. Hours of day and night flying instruction coupled with a strenuous athletic program to condition men for combat air action were all a part of Loosier's rigid flight training curriculum.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar F. Loosier, of Thomaston, he attended R. E. Lee Institute and Georgia Teachers College, Statesboro, Ga.

Two weeks ago the intra-mural league got under way. All teams have a great chance of winning. Parrish, Prosser and Culbreth have shown to be favorites, while Ramsey, Wells and Daughtry are not out of the running by any matter.

The opening game of the season found Parrish against Daughtry. Parrish took the lead and held out playing great defensive ball to win the game 21 to 12.

Prosser and Ramsey met in the second game and the great defensive ball of Prosser's team was the ball game. Prosser's team held Ramsey's team scoreless of the first three quarters and then went on to win 25 to 12.

Culbreth, led by little Beasley who scored 20 points, swept to a 34 to 22 victory over Wells. Wells played brilliant ball for his team but it was not quite good enough.

Two undefeated teams met. Parrish defeated Prosser in the best game of the season to date, 16 to 14.

Two defeated teams met and once again the game was very close. Freezing the ball the last two minutes gave Ramsey a 15 to 14 victory over a hard fighting Daughtry.

The next game brought two undefeated teams together, but Parrish seemed too much for Culbreth and Parrish defeated Culbreth 30 to 19.

ACP's Jay Richter Reports from Washington

By JAY RICHTER

Washington, Nov. 16.—Interesting because of his recent official connection with the government is C. A. Dykstra's recent analysis of the official government viewpoint toward colleges. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin, headed the national draft machinery until the appointment of General Hershey. "The government," he said in an address before the American Library Association, "considers America's institutions of higher learning as key centers in the war effort."

"At no time in human history have universities seemed so important in a national effort as they are right now in the United States," Dykstra maintained.

"Universities and colleges are reservoirs for recruiting of fighting men, of specialists for national services, and teachers of men in training," he declared. "Their laboratories are being used 24 hours a day and their plants in general are being made available for national service. Their facilities are being used instead of providing new facilities in many areas."

"The government without question considers them a wartime necessity and it is using them as they never have been used before. Moreover, it is indicating in no uncertain terms that it wants these institutions to carry on their regular training and educational programs so that we may have a supply of men who can meet the challenges of next year, and the year following and so on into the days when we may have peace again. It does not want to face the fact of a lost generation of educated leadership."

America's national policy at this time contemplates the maintenance of vigorous and comprehensive educational programs, not in spite of the fact that we are at war, but because the war effort and the peace effort to follow require such services as universities have to offer, Dykstra explained.

"Such a policy requires from universities adaptability, resourcefulness, an awareness of national needs, selfishness and devotion to the national effort, and willingness to put first things first during a period of world conflict," he asserted.

"To do this does not require the sacrifice of standards or the relinquishment of long time objectives. It means only a temporary redirection of certain activities and changing emphasis where it becomes necessary. Our task in general remains the same, the education of the new generation, the making of citizens, the pushing outward of the boundaries of knowledge, and the serving of our country and our generation in practical ways, which will make our national life more decent and wholesome."

CO-EDS WANTED

Need for nurses is most urgent. Some 55,000 are wanted immediately. A survey of two-thirds of the country's nursing schools reveals that we're going to fall about 19,000 nurses short of that quota. The only way to reach the goal now would be for 19,000 new girls to enroll in nursing courses in January and February.

Decision to become a nurse doesn't necessarily mean an interruption of your college course. Perhaps you can do it simply by including biological, physical, medical and social science in your schedule at the start of a new term this winter.

Estimates of the number of nurses needed have kept growing throughout the war. Some 3,000 a month have been taken from civilian life for army and navy duty. That's 36,000 a year, as against an original estimate of 10,000 for 1942. These figures add up to a migraine headache for local hospitals throughout the nation.

Symptomatic of the trend is the announcement of Civil Service Commission here recently that liberalized rules would permit nurses who completed their training as long ago as January, 1940, to apply for government nursing jobs. The jobs pay $1,620 a year and are open to all who have had nursing training. Apply to the commission here, or by way of your postoffice. For general information on nursing recruitment, write Miss Florence Sedar, National Nursing Council for War Service, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

OTHER JOBS

The government wants photographers and motion picture technicians to fill jobs paying $1,440 to $3,800 a year. Women are especially desired, although men may apply. Free-lance experience may be enough to qualify for any of the jobs and amateur experience is enough for $1,440 and $1,620 positions. Apply to the Civil Service Commission.

Iota Pi News

Plans for the fall formal banquet and dance were formulated and discussed at our last meeting. It was decided that we use some of the local orchestra talent since poor transportation facilities have cancelled all "foreign" band engagements. The Statesboro Woman's Club was selected by the fraternity as the likely place in which to "swing and sway."

Our faculty sponsor, Ruby Crouse, served us with delicious sandwiches, cookie and hot chocolate, assisted by Dot Remington.

EPIES HAVE RUSH PARTIES

Luncheon and Party Rush Week Features

Tuesday night the "Eppies" started their rushing with a "rustic" party at Cherokee Cabin. The cabin was lighted by candles stuck in bottles and by the sorority shield, which was placed over the mantel. After dancing and playing a few games before the open fire, the guests were served "chicken in the rough" supper. Tables were covered with red and white checked cloths. Chicken, fresh fried onions and potatoes and rolls were served in small individual frying pans. Coffee was served in beer mugs with the name of each rushee printed on each. These were given as favors.

The second rush party was a three-course luncheon held at the Jaekel Hotel at noon Friday. The sorority's colors, red and white, were carried out in the decorations, with red and white carnations in the center of the table with ribbons streaming out to each individual's place which were marked with place cards and favors.

SIGMA GAMMA HAS "HOB" PARTY

Has Traditional Breakfast Sunday Morning

The Sigma Gamma sorority entertained Tuesday afternoon with a "Hobo" party as a phase of rush week. The guests dressed as hobos, hiked to the home of Miss Malvina Trussell, sorority sponsor.

Food was informally served on the lawn of the outdoor kitchen. Little hobo sticks with candy were given as favors.

The sorority closed its activity in rush week with a traditional breakfast at the Rushing Hotel Sunday morning. Green and white, the sorority colors, were used as a basis for decorations. Boutonnieres of white carnations and fern were presented to the guests.

Of those receiving unsatisfactory reports, 31 per cent of the total number were girls and 69 per cent were boys.

BACHELORS "NIGHT CLUB" MAKES HIT

Club Has Banquet and Dance Saturday Night

The Bachelors Club cabaret scored a successful run last Thursday night in the college gymnasium, with a floor show and two dance bands highlighting the occasion.

The theme was that of a night club, and the gym was arranged accordingly with tables around the dance floor and spotlights for the performers. Another feature of the show was the Bachelors bar which served free drinks to the customers. Included among the drinks served to the tables by waiters, who are members of the club, were such names as "Brannon's Blue Moon," "Feaster's Fumble," "Between the Sheets," and "Rook's Rum Rickey." "Miss" Percy Harvey was cigarette girl for the night club, he having won first prize in the Bachelors fashion parade some four weeks prior.

The floor show included a girls' trio made up of Marjorie Parkerson, Pruella Cromartie and Dorothy Remington, and a waltz by three couples. Dancing were Zeke Daughtry and Leila Wyatt, Margaret Raulerson and Beverly Edwards, Harry Robertson and Abbie Mann. Marjorie Parkerson sang the sultry St. Louis Blues. There was a tap dance by Sara Barlow from the Lab School, and an acrobatic dance by Jan Gay from Register. A balloon dance was listed on the program but it was announced by Zeke Daughtry, master of ceremonies, that due to the rubber shortage the act had to be cancelled by order of the government. The last number on the floor show was the inimitable "strip tease" by Jimmy Gunter, who portrayed a woman taking a bath and dressing for a date.

Music for dancing was furnished by the two orchestras of Marion Carpenter, his Dream Girl orchestra and his boys' dance band.

On Saturday night members of the Bachelors Club entertained their dates with a banquet at the Rushing Hotel. Turkey was the feature on the menu:

Members and dates attending were: Margaret Raulerson and Dot Garner, Harold Waters and Abbie Mann, Harold Pearman and Tag Ellison, Zeke Daughtry and Martha Wilma Simmons, George Mulling and Esther Lee Barnes, Jimmy Jones and Sophie

Oliver, Joe Feaster and Hattie Swann, James Harvey and Maizie Reynolds, Harold Tillman and Frances Groover, Dan Chambliss and Helen Thigpen, Lindsey Pennington and Margaret Bunn, Inman Davis and Louise Glisson, Denver Lanier and Virginia Lovett, Thomas Robinson and Dot Fulcher, Buddy Rooks and La Una Driggers, Durward Brannon and Catherine Driggers. Members going without dates were Carlton Stephens and Jesse Hamby.

Miss Bolton, sponsor of the club, was present, and Miss Guill was an invited guest.

Holidays Begin Next Week

As was announced in the last issue of the George-Anne, Thanksgiving holidays will begin at noon Wednesday, November 25th.

Students not attending classes on the 25th and on Monday November 30th, will be charged $1.00 for each class missed on these dates, it is announced by Dean Henderson.

YMCA Has Speaker

Abbie Mann, editor of the 1942 Reflector, spoke to the members of the YMCA at its regular meeting last Tuesday night. The subject of her talk was "Character."

Mr. Russell, faculty advisor of the YMCA was present. Sam Stephens led the devotional.

It was stated by Lewis Hinely, president of the YMCA, that the speaker for the program at its next meeting, which comes on Tuesday, November 24th, will probably be Dr. Rufus Hodges, pastor of the Baptist church in Statesboro. Hinely said that he would like for every boy on the campus to become a member of the "Y".
